Village Ticket.

Officers Placed in Nomination Monday Evening.

The regular village caucus was held at the Hose House last Saturday evening and officers duly nominated for the Village Ticket. Clerk D. F. Clement called the meeting to order and the following caucus officers elected: Chairman, D. F. Clement; clerk, Henry L. Winters; tellers, William Rowley and J. G. Brown. The last year's set of officers were again placed in nomination with exception of one trustee and all by a practically unanimous vote, as follows:

President, Louie A. Hoyt
Clerk, David F. Clement
Trustee, Richard E. Steffes
Trustee, Charles A. Sweet
Trustee, Herman I. McMillan
Treasurer, George G. Glenn
Assessor, William A. Pickard.

Citizens' Ticket.

About a dozen of our citizens met in the Hose House Monday evening and placed the following ticket in the field:

President, Walter L. French
Clerk, William E. Palmier
Treasurer, George G. Glenn
Assessor, William A. Pickard
Trustee, Anton Walstad
Trustee, James Malpass
Trustee, LaR. Sherman

One of the nominated trustees has refused to allow his name to be used and the candidates for treasurer and assessor are the same as those placed in nomination by the regular Village Ticket, hence only four of the above candidates' names will appear on the Citizens' Ticket.

Death of Mrs. Hammond.

Mrs. Lewis Hammond died at her home in this city Sunday noon, aged 20 years, 5 months, and 11 days. Deceased has been a sufferer from consumption for the past six months. She was taken to Ann Arbor for treatment first part of December last but it was found that nothing in medical science could save her, and she was brought home in January. The funeral services were held at the house, Rev. J. A. McKee conducting same, and interment made in cemetery here. Mrs. Hammond was daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eriks and was married to Mr. Hammond only a couple of years ago. Her parents, and brothers and sisters—Mrs. Ada Gilmartin, Mrs. Minnie Scroggie and Jos. Eriks of Bay Shore and Otto Eriks of Lake-wood—were here to attend the funeral.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to thank the many neighbors and friends for the numerous acts of kindness shown during the sickness and death of our beloved wife—Lewis Hammond.

King Edward was 60 when he ascended the British throne and was 61 when he appointed Dr. Osier to a professorship at Oxford. Now the Dr. as good as says that all men over 60 ought to be shot. What do you think of that for ingratitude?

The State Legislature.

A new governor presides over the destinies of Michigan at the present time. In the absence from the state of both Governor Warner and Lieutenant Governor Maitland, who left for Washington last Thursday to represent the state at the inauguration ceremonies, the president pro tem of the senate, Cassius L. Glasgow, by operation of the constitution becomes acting governor during such absence. Not a great number of the legislators went to the inauguration, and no record was taken on that account. On the contrary, the houses have worked through the week with unwonted industry. An item of importance in the business of the house was the agreement of the elections committee upon the Stone primary bill as outlined in this correspondence last week, and its report to the house without amendments and its assignment as the special order for March 22. Mr. Van Kuren of Livingston introduced his bill Monday night and asked that it be printed, but the house on vote refused and it was referred to the elections committee without printing. It applies to all officers except presidential electors, members of school boards and officers of villages and cities of less than ten thousand people. Another measure that has excited much interest was disposed of in the house Tuesday, the senate bill reorganizing the board of health and placing the appointment of its secretary in the hands of the governor. The bill was passed as it came from the ways and means committee, with the amendment limiting to ten thousand dollars a year the amount authorized for clerk hire, in which the senate has concurred, and the act takes immediate effect. The majority in the house was so emphatic that Representative Heald, of Grand Rapids, the only member who antagonized it, could not get the necessary ten votes to order a roll call on a motion of his that would have delayed the progress of the bill. A vacancy in the board of health was occasioned by the recent death of Frank Wells of Lansing, and that was filled last Wednesday by the governor's appointment of Coleman C. Vaughan of Saint Johns. Mr. Vaughan is editor of the Saint Johns Republican and was the senator from the 19th district in the last legislature. The nomination was confirmed by the senate in open session.

Another anti-cigarette bill has appeared, drawn by Representative Mithg of Cheboygan, like Senator Sheldon's bill prohibiting the manufacture, transportation, sale or gift of cigarettes or cigarette paper. The governor of Indiana has just signed a similar bill, which goes into effect in that state in June and is drastic in its provisions. A ward and precinct local option liquor bill was introduced in the house by Representative Hudson of Kalamazoo. It is in response to the demands of the anti-saloon league, and is such a measure as went into effect in Ohio two years ago, after a long and determined contest lasting several years. Ohio is the leader, rather than Michigan, in legislation along that line. Whether she leads us in practical temperance, also, or not, certain it is that there is abundant room for improvement in that respect. In Lansing a week ago, a woman died of pneumonia, leaving eight children all under twenty years and the youngest but three weeks old. Her husband is a drunkard, and was at the time of her death so drunk from drinking the alcohol used to bathe the sick woman that he could not realize the event.

The family is entirely destitute, although they had lived there a dozen years and the husband had work in one of the factories in the intervals between his visits to those institutions which the community maintains to make him what he is and to make beasts like him out of many of the boys. Lansing is no worse than other towns in that respect, and this case is no unfamiliar feature of the stage to which our civilization has reached. When the struggle for better things shall have gone on long enough, and the communities shall have become sufficiently sick of such fruits as this was, we may hope that the better things will be attained.

Genesee is another county proposing to place her officers upon salaries instead of fees, a bill with that purpose passing the senate last Tuesday. The bill for a state blinder twine plant at Jackson prison has been referred to the ways and means committee. The Bland bill for limiting to qualified physicians the right to pray for recovery of the sick by divine power is to have a general hearing before the house March 16, when the opponents will have opportunity to be heard.

A bill has been introduced making appropriations for a chapel building at industrial school for boys at Lansing. Their instruction is intellectual, industrial, and moral, and no part of it is more important for its good influence upon the boys' characters than the Sabbath services in the chapel, and perhaps none more enjoyed by the boys. But the chapel has grown too small, and the aisles have to be crowded with chairs, and a large part of the visitors who every Sunday besiege the doors, has to be turned away. It is important for the boys themselves, and for the people of the state, who thus come to know more of the institution, that the visitors should be accommodated. The present building is needed for additional dormitories, and few citizens could attend one of those chapel services without being impressed with the wisdom of the demand now made. The present value of the plant is about $275,000, including two hundred and ninety acres of land, worked as a farm largely by the labor of the boys, and twenty-eight buildings with furnishings and machinery.

The proposition to place members of the legislature upon salaries instead of the present meager per diem, heretofore commended in this correspondence, has materialized in a joint resolution by Representative Elchhorn of Port Huron, for the constitutional amendment necessary so that purpose. The salary mentioned in the resolution is six hundred dollars a year, or twelve hundred for the two-year term which ought not to be objected to as beyond proportion to the importance of the office. The merit of such a measure, in respect both of economy and propriety, will win for it the approval of the voters when it is adequately presented to them.

A bill in the senate making appropriation for the state library for the ensuing two years carries a less amount than the previous one. When it comes to the direct question where to cut off expense for carrying on the state institutions, the effecting of retrenchment is not so easy a matter. Where the management has been so careful and faithful, and where the demand for improved and enlarged facilities constantly increases and crowds the provision, as is the case in all of our admirable institutions, the people of the state, to whom all of the benefit accrues, can well afford appropriations up to the measure of the need. Indeed, they cannot afford less, and the state library, under the development of recent years bringing its benefits within reach of all the people of the state, is a good illustration of this idea.

Under the system of traveling and registered libraries developed during the last ten years, it has been made possible for any community in the state to obtain from the state library a loan of fifty to a hundred wisely selected volumes for three or six months, on payment only of the expense of transportation, with privilege of renewal and repetition indefinitely, providing a magnificent system of home education for even the most remote and needy localities. Granges and farmers' clubs, reading and study clubs, literary and ladies' aid societies, Sunday schools and young people's societies, library associations and groups of petitioning taxpayers have thus become custodians of these loan libraries, to the number of 412 in the past two years, who received in that way no less than 897 libraries. These have reached almost every county in the state, and their educational value, extended thus to communities whose facilities are meager or nil, is beyond estimate. The system has been devised and developed by the librarian, Mrs. Mary C. Spencer, who has been connected with the state library eighteen years, and in charge of it ten years, and in our state has been the model for many others, and ranks second to none unless, it may be the state of New York.

LAFITTE OF LOUISIANA

CHAPTER XX.

The following day, Lafitte, accompanied by Pierre and Nato, made a hasty trip to Shell Island, where he found all as he had left it, and received a hearty welcome from all his followers. But when, early in the afternoon, he returned to Grande Terre, it was to a scene of great excitement.

An English warship—a brig—was to be seen in the offing, and a boat from it, bearing a white flag, was approaching the island.

Lafitte went himself in a boat to meet the stranger, which—as he saw through a glass—held, besides its crew, two officers in the English naval uniform.

The officers introduced themselves as Capt. Lockyer and McWilliams, of His Majesty's navy, bearers of a message from Col. Nicholls, commander of the forces in Florida, to Capt. Jean Lafitte, "Commandant at Barataria."

"I will take the message, gentlemen," said Lafitte, when they had stated their errand, "as it is not quite possible that you will be permitted to land on the island."

At this the officers conferred with each other in low tones; then the one who had introduced himself as Captain Lockyer, and who was the senior of the two, addressed himself to Lafitte.

"We cannot do this. Our orders are to see Capt. Lafitte himself, and to place the message in his hands."

"Very well, gentlemen; be it so," replied Lafitte. "But in that case I must insist, for your own welfare, that you go ashore in my boat, leaving your own to be off the island."

The Englishmen consented to this, and the boats were brought side by side, so that the officers might board the Baratarian craft.

The outlaws, wondering and excited, and with arms ready for use, stood watching the returning boat, wherein the hated English uniforms showed in seeming friendliness with their own ing his seat. "Is a most important communication, intrusted to us by Col. Nicholls, for conveyance to your hands. We have orders to await your answer."

The paper ran as follows: "I have arrived in the Floridas for the purpose of annoying the only enemy Great Britain has in the world, as France and England are now friends."

"I call on you, with your brave followers, to enter into the service of Great Britain, in which you shall have the grade of a captain; lands will be given to you all, in proportion to your respective ranks, on peace taking place, and I invite you on the following terms: Your property shall be guaranteed to you, and your persons protected, in return for which I ask you to cease all hostilities against Spain, or the allies of Great Britain; your ships and vessels to be placed under the orders of the commanding officer on this station, until your commander-in-chief's pleasure is known; but I guarantee their value in all events."

"I herewith enclose you a copy of my proclamation to the inhabitants of Louisiana, which will, I think, point out to you the honorable intentions of my government. You may be a useful instrument in forwarding them; therefore, if you determine, lose no time."

"Should any inhabitants be inclined to volunteer their services into His Majesty's forces, either naval or military, for limited service, they will be received; and if any British subject, being at Barataria, wishes to return to his native country, he will, on joining His Majesty's service, receive a free pardon."

When he finished reading, which he had done with a rapidity suggestive of carelessness, Lafitte refolded the papers, placed them in their cover, and slipped the package inside his coat.

Capt. Lockyer was the first to speak. "Now, Capt. Lafitte, what have you to say to us, that we may report to Col. Nicholls?"

"I have nothing to say, sir, but that I am glad to see you, and that I am glad to see you."

"I have nothing to say, sir, but that I am glad to see you, and that I am glad to see you."

"I have nothing to say, sir, but that I am glad to see you, and that I am glad to see you."

"I have nothing to say, sir, but that I am glad to see you, and that I am glad to see you."

"I have nothing to say, sir, but that I am glad to see you, and that I am glad to see you."

"How can you possibly need to reflect upon a proposal promising so much for you in the way of wealth and position, as against an enemy who has proscribed you, and branded you with infamy? It is very important that we lose no time in pushing the operations already planned against lower Louisiana. We must act at once; and as soon as we obtain possession here, our army will penetrate into the upper country, to make a junction with our forces from Canada."

"It would appear," said Lafitte, as he threw the remnant of his cigar into the fireplace and took another from the box, "that you count upon no possible failure in your plans."

"Failure!" repeated Capt. Lockyer, his face glowing with confidence. "Indeed, no. Our plan of campaign is perfected, and we are certain of success. Regarding our chances, I will tell you that we expect excellent results from an insurrection of the slaves, to whom we shall offer freedom as the reward for aiding Great Britain."

The cold indifference of Lafitte's face turned to sudden sternness.

"Do you know anything of the negro nature, and how it would show itself under such circumstances?" he demanded, adding, before they could answer him, "I do; and I warn you that what you propose doing would be equivalent to unchaining the demons of hell."

The Englishmen looked uncomfortable; but Lockyer muttered something about "the fortunes of war," and McWilliams said: "But the cruelty of the negroes can add little, after all, to the punishment it has been decided to inflict upon New Orleans. The city is to be given over to fire and pillage."

This announcement, made with something of a dramatic air, did not seem to make the expected impression upon Lafitte; for he passed it by, and said, somewhat impatiently, and with unmistakable decision, "I repeat that I cannot answer you before morning; and such being the case, I must request that you remain here over night."

The two officers had risen, and now stood before him, their faces showing mingled consternation and anger.

"Are we to understand, sir, that this is your decision?" demanded Capt. Lockyer excitedly.

"You are, unless you see fit to give up all further negotiations with me. In case you accept what I suggest," answered Lafitte, "you will send an order for your crew to return to the brig, and to come for you at noon to-morrow."

The tone of quiet authority accompanying the words appeared to leave no alternative for the British officers, who could only nod their assent, evidently deeming it more diplomatic to check the anger showing in their faces.

Lafitte smiled, and moved toward the door.

"Now I must leave you; but I will place you in the care of Scipio, a faithful old servant, who will attend to your comfort."

They bowed stiffly, and he went out, closing the door after him; and the officers heard him lock it, and remove the key.

Scipio soon appeared with a lighted lamp. This he placed upon the table, and, taking notice of those present, proceeded to work, with the result that, in a few minutes, a cheery fire was blazing. And, as the Englishmen drew their chairs to the hearth, the old negro closed and barred the heavy shutters, besides placing for the night an iron bar across the already locked door.

"We seem to be prisoners, rather than guests," remarked Capt. McWilliams, in a tone too guarded for his words to reach the partially deaf ears of Scipio, who was busy at the table.

"It is a cheap price to pay, after all, if it results in bringing him over to us," said Lockyer, in the same low tone. "Those hands of his, and his manner,—the whole 'out' of his job,—suggest the idea of his being quite able to hand a lady her fan with the grace of a courtier; but they also suggest to me, at least, his ability to clutch an enemy by the throat and hurl him over a cliff, or make him walk the plank."

Berlin at Night.
Berlin is at its best at night, says a traveler. They have discovered the secret of electric lighting, and when people step out from their offices and shops at eight and nine o'clock at night, it is into an enchanted city. The solid palaces, the monstrous statues, the enormous houses and wide spaces of the long and stately streets, are then soft and gracious with a fairy radiance. It is a city not only of prosperity, but of pure delight. The heaviness of the buildings and the rigidity of their lines are blurred and softened. In the clear northern air the million lamps blazing from the walls of houses, shining across the interminable streets, and glowing in a straight line down the whispering avenues, have something of the magic gentleness and sensuous inspiration of an Arabian story. You begin to think Berlin is the greatest city in the world.—Montreal Herald.

STORIES FOR THE CHILDREN

Have Something to Spare.
Have something to spare,
As you go on your way,
If only a smile,
It is needed to-day.
For many you meet
Who are sad all the while,
Have something to spare,
If it's only a smile,
Have something to spare,
As you travel along,
If only a word
Or a cheer-giving song,
Neath a burden of care,
And many are close
To the vale of despair,
Have something to spare,
If only a tear,
A message of hope,
Or a whisper of cheer,
For joyless is life
To some, all the while;
Have something to spare,
If it's only a smile.
—James Rowe in Buffalo Times.

A Clever Trick for a Party.
Optical illusions are always interesting, and those produced by what is known as the thumtrotrope are as

As the Spectator Sees It, simple as they are mystifying.

Draw a bird on one side of a card, directly in the center. On the other side of the same card, also in the center, draw a cage, of a size suitable to hold the bird. Pass a cord through each end of the card so that when the latter is suspended by these held in the two hands, both bird and cage will be "right side up."

Hold the card up to view, the cage side toward the spectator, and say, "Now, bat your eyes and I will put a bird in that cage." At the same time begin to twirl the strings so rapidly that the image of the cage has not time to vanish from the vision before the bird is in full view, and vice versa.

Be careful always to have the twirling stop with the cage side of the card out, as in this way the mystery may be prolonged for some time.

The illusions may be varied by having a horse on one side of the card and a rider on the other; a dog running on one side and a cat running on the other; in the latter case, however, neither figure should be in the center of the card.

How, When and Where.
One of the company goes out of the room; whilst the others choose a word to be guessed, one with two or three different meanings being the best.

We will suppose that the word "spring" has been thought of. When the person who is outside the room is recalled he (or she) asks each one in succession, "How do you like it?" The answers may be "Dry" (meaning the season), "cold and clear" (a spring of water), "strong" (a watch spring), and "high" (a jump).

The next question is: "Where do you like it?" And the answers may be: "Anywhere and everywhere." "In hot weather." "In the clock." The game is to try and guess the word after any of the answers, and if right the player last questioned takes the place of the one who is guessing; if wrong, the questioner must try again.

Ten Nouns.
Boys and girls who wish their games to be something more than mere time-killers will find this one especially interesting and entertaining. It is intended for young people who have reached the composition writing age, and will prove a good test of their readiness in that art.

Each player is provided with a pencil and a sheet of paper, and someone selected for the purpose then dictates ten nouns, which the players are to write at the top of their papers. The nouns must have no connection with each other in sense.

Then the players are told that they must each write a little story, in which they must use all ten of the nouns. A time limit should be fixed, say, twenty or thirty minutes, and the stories are then handed in to the person who acts as judge. He reads them all to the players, and then selects the best two or three, to the writers of which a prize should be given.

Suppose, for example, that the nouns given to the players are vase, stick, side-saddle, celery, apple, coal, desk, cradle, organ, paper case; here is a story showing how they are to be used:

THE BROKEN VASE.
"It was very careless in you, Tom. Yes, I suppose the vase may be mended, but I have told you often not to flourish that stick about in the way you have been doing. Mary, as you are going to town, will you get some cement from Johnston's?"

"Yes, mamma; I have already told William to put the side-saddle on my horse."

"Very well. You may call at the grocery and get some celery; and be sure to bring an apple. Go also to Lane's and order a ton of coal."

"I'm afraid I can't remember all that, mamma."

"Well, bring me my desk, and I will make a memorandum for you. There's the baby crying; what in the world is the matter now, I wonder?"

"Master Tom's upset the cradle, Mum, and spilled the baby," said Nora, opening the door to the sitting room.

"Tom again! That boy's organ of mischief or awkwardness is bigger than his head. Why, there is no paper in the desk! Lok in the paper-case, Mary, and get me some. Here is your list at last. Be off, now, and hurry back home."

Charades of a Moment!
Here are some charades that can be produced in a moment without requiring any scenery or other preparation. They may be called "table charades," because most of them need only the ordinary things to be found in any dining room.

Tie a bit of ribbon in a bow to a table knife. The answer is "A Gay Blade."

The dinner bill with the same bit of ribbon attached to it represents the "Belle of the Room." Lay a coin on the table and a fork or two on top of it. The group signifies "Forking Over the Cash." The cayenne pepper caster placed alongside of a salt cellar represents "A Hot Seller" (cellar). The vinegar-cruet by the side of a bunch of grapes, of course, means "Sour Grapes." Spoons placed on each side of a pair of anything, such as napkin-rings, knives or forks, represent "A Spooning Pair." A match and two bowls in line, of course, show "A Match at Bowls." Two matches alongside of a spoon and a napkin ring mean "Matched, Not Mated." A cracked china plate stands for "The Partition of China."

Jumbled Words.
Here are some sentences that it is fun to try to repeat quickly:

She sells sea shells by the seashore. Seven selfish shellfish shoved some shrimp sideways. Prudently peel prime potatoes. Royal rulers rarely really read riddles. Paint flames frequently feed fierce fires. Truly rural.

Whistling to the Lobster.
As a fisherman was going homeward carrying a live lobster, he fell in with a game keeper, to whom he showed his catch. He suggested that his friend should place his hand in the lobster's claw, but the gamekeeper declined the proposal with thanks. The fisher then hinted that the keeper's dog's tail might be experimented on, and the keeper agreed. The moment the dog felt the pinch, it bolted, dragging the lobster behind.

GAME OF GROTESQUE ANIMALS.
To play this game the hostess should supply as many sheets of colored paper, about ten inches square, as there will be members of the party. A few extra sheets would not be amiss to provide against accidents. The paper should be rather stiff, but of a kind easily torn. In the middle of the back of each sheet a number should be written, and a list of animals should be made, with numbers corresponding to those on the sheets. When everything is ready for the

you, but you must not tell any one what that animal is. Please make the tear so that the number on the back of the paper shall be on the back of the animal."

When all have finished the animals are placed on a table, each player is furnished with a pencil and a sheet of note paper, on which he must write what he thinks each animal is, with the number attached that he finds on the back. These lists are then signed and passed to the left and the hostess reads the names and numbers from her original list, the guests marking those that they hold accordingly. The answer most closely corresponding to the original list is awarded the first prize and the poorest reproduction gets the booby prize.

Such animals as the following may be tried: The elephant, the dog, the cat, the rabbit, the donkey, the calf and the horse, and you need not be surprised if the one that seems easiest turns out to be the one least resembling its original. The game affords an hour or two of rare fun.

"Whistle to your dog," cried the fisherman; "he is running away with my lobster."

"Na, na," said the gamekeeper, "just you whistle to your lobster."

Home-Made Lap-Board.
Many persons, old and young find a writing board for the lap a great convenience, and a home-made contrivance is here described. It is easy to get a lap-board, of course, but this is a pad fully equipped with all the conveniences and implements that one could need.

Get a flat board of well seasoned wood, not too thick, and of the size that you would find most convenient. Cover it with cloth of some dark serviceable color, and tack it round the edges with brass-headed nails; or you might get furniture tacks to match the cloth in color.

Use bands of good silk elastic for holding the address book, calendar, envelopes, pens, pencils, etc. The bands should be tacked down securely. Inkstand, stamp-box and pen-wiper may be attached to the board or not, as you choose, but if they are attached, it should be with strong glue, such as the cabinet makers use.

A flap of cloth may be attached to one side of the board, which will serve as a cover when the board is not in use.

Guess Who I Am.
This is a simple little game, but it makes lots of fun. The advantage about it is that it requires no thinking, no knowledge of books, no preparation of any kind; it is just a jolly game to make boys and girls of any age roar with laughter.

One of the players is to be blindfolded and the others stand about the room as they please. The blindfolded one then walks or gropes around until he touches a player, and the player touched must then stand still and make a noise in imitation of some animal, say a cat, a dog, a cow, a pig or a horse.

If the blindfolded player chooses he can have the sound made three times and if he then guesses the name of the person the person takes his place. If he does not guess correctly he releases the player and tries again.

Progressive Game.
Arrange the room with small tables to seat four at each, just as you would for progressive whist, and make up your minds what game is to be played at each table. At one there might be the marble and pencil game, in which the task set is to lift the marble up with two pencils and deposit it in a basin, a difficult feat, as you will find when you try. At another a racing game might be provided, and at a third the alphabetical geographical one might reign, for which pencils and pieces of paper will be wanted, since the task set is to write down as many names of places that begin with a given letter in a given time as possible.

Having decided upon the different games, the players must be seated, and as soon as one wins a game or test at one table he moves on to the next, proceeding as fast as possible on his way to a prize, for prizes are given to those two who first come in winners, and a booby one to the individual who arrives last.

GAME OF GROTESQUE ANIMALS.
To play this game the hostess should supply as many sheets of colored paper, about ten inches square, as there will be members of the party. A few extra sheets would not be amiss to provide against accidents. The paper should be rather stiff, but of a kind easily torn. In the middle of the back of each sheet a number should be written, and a list of animals should be made, with numbers corresponding to those on the sheets. When everything is ready for the

you, but you must not tell any one what that animal is. Please make the tear so that the number on the back of the paper shall be on the back of the animal."

When all have finished the animals are placed on a table, each player is furnished with a pencil and a sheet of note paper, on which he must write what he thinks each animal is, with the number attached that he finds on the back. These lists are then signed and passed to the left and the hostess reads the names and numbers from her original list, the guests marking those that they hold accordingly. The answer most closely corresponding to the original list is awarded the first prize and the poorest reproduction gets the booby prize.

Such animals as the following may be tried: The elephant, the dog, the cat, the rabbit, the donkey, the calf and the horse, and you need not be surprised if the one that seems easiest turns out to be the one least resembling its original. The game affords an hour or two of rare fun.

School Notes.

A fine program has been prepared to be rendered at the H. S. Building on Wednesday evening, March 20th. Among the attractions re music by the orchestra and a debate which should be interesting: Resolved that civilization owes more to woman than to man. Admission 15 and 25 cents, proceeds to finish paying for the encyclopedia.

Mr. Tice was absent from school part of Tuesday forenoon on account of sickness.

The Extemporaneous Class held its regular Monday evening meeting at the Loveday Opera House, Monday afternoon. The object of this was to give the members a chance to get used to talking in a large room. The work done was surprisingly good. The program was as follows: Abraham Lincoln, the Statesman, Ray Clink; Some solutions for the saloon problem, Hattie Greenwood; History of Japan, Old McKee; Infidelity, Oral Misenar; Can China become a great power? Mildred Gilbert; The Value of Scientific Research; Clayton Shagton; The True Value of Property, Ella Dunlop; The Work of Village Improvement Societies, Judge Nicholas; Great Fairs and Expositions, Howard Porter; Gambling, Austin Sheldon; Heroes and Hero Worship, Nell Maddaugh; Our Country Present, Loy Bennett.

The inauguration of President Roosevelt has gone into history as a memorable one—the early reports in the Inauguration week from the railroads throughout the country indicating unusually large numbers of passengers en route to the Inauguration led Washingtonians to expect an unusually large crowd here, but even then all expectations were surpassed. A notable feature of this vast throng was the unusually large attendance from the Sunny South. This element which a year or two ago, regarded Mr. Roosevelt as an enemy, having at last succeeded in understanding his thoughts, sentiments and feelings towards them, now regard him as a most enthusiastic friend, and their eagerness to show their reciprocal feelings was demonstrated in many ways, and no opportunity was lost to assure him of the enthusiastic welcome which he shall receive in his visit through the South immediately after his inauguration. President Roosevelt's usual good fortune followed him in having favorable weather, and altogether the great throng that crowded the Capitol City, went back with the greatest satisfaction with their trip.

Ladies should call on Maddaugh the Tailor for the finest Spring Suits obtainable in this city.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, for fat is the element lacking in our system.

There is no fat food that is easily digested and assimilated.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It will nourish and strengthen the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial, where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy. SCOTT & BOWNE CHEMISTS, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c and $1.00. All Druggists.

RANCH FOOD FOR STOCK

If your stock is not doing just as well as you would like, there is undoubtedly a cause which can be easily remedied by RANCH FOOD. There is no season of the year when the condition of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs can not be improved by a tonic like RANCH FOOD which tones up the animal system throughout, cleanses the blood and prevents disease. RANCH FOOD is almost infallible for the cure of the general diseases of domestic animals; including Distemper and Pinkeye in horses, Indigestion in cattle, Catarrhal Troubles in sheep and Hog Cholera. RANCH FOOD is not like the common stock foods on the market; it is made from roots, barks, herbs and seeds and is nature's own product scientifically compounded.

"RANCH FOOD is superior as a general conditioner and grain savor to anything I have ever used."—Ed. McVay, Sidney, Ohio.

Sweet words don't pay debts.
Dr. A. A. Willis, March 23rd.
Circuit Court, Monday, Judge Chittenden of Cadillac presiding.

Kansas is going after the oil business in a most vigorous manner and is not using "crude" methods either.

A mail car was recently burned in Baltimore which contained over three hundred love letters. This was a case of "burning affection."

Weddings. First a Diamond or some other neat Ring and then the plain band Ring. Mack, the Jeweler, has a complete stock of those Rings.

Sheep-killing dogs destroyed three valuable sheep belonging to Jeremiah Mobio, who lives four miles out on the Ellsworth road. Justice Boesinger was called to appraise the damages.

Mrs. Fannie Haney of Wilson township died Thursday, aged 82 years to a day. Funeral services will be held Saturday. Deceased leaves a husband and one son, Frank, to mourn her loss.

Judge F. W. Mayne has been called to Heuvelton, N. Y., by the serious illness of his mother. Judge Chittenden of Cadillac will occupy the former's place on the Circuit Court bench, Monday, and hear the Tax Sale matter.

The many counties in Michigan which made unusual republican gains last fall's election should do their best to rep. at their victories at the coming spring state elections. A satisfactory result from a party point of view, this spring, will make the election of republican county and district candidates next year easier and more certain. What is expected to be one of the best business years in Michigan's history can be very fittingly entered upon with one of Michigan's best republican majorities.

"Uncle Josh Perkins" a brand new comedy drama with an original plot, plenty of thrilling dramatic action, a pleasing injection of lovely comedy and a sprinkling of high class musical and dancing specialties will be the attraction at Loveday Opera House one-night, Thursday evening, March 16th. In addition to mounting each and every act with a wealth of new scenery, Messrs. Frazee & Bay have engaged a most acceptable acting company, several of this number being local favorites. The production is perfect and complete in every respect and should prove one of the best offerings of the present season.

Adolph Peppin died at his home in this city Friday morning aged 71 years. Deceased was one of this county's early settlers, coming here a quarter of a century ago and since then residing in Jordan and North Arm townships. His wife preceded him to the land beyond on Aug. 14th, last, after a wedded life of 47 years. Deceased leaves five children—Louis of this city, Oscar and Meddie of Ellsworth, Dell of Essex and Mrs. Evelyn Kowalski of South Arm. Funeral services will take place from St. Joseph Catholic Church next Monday morning and remains laid beside those of his wife in the Catholic cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Durgan were guests of Mrs. Julia Pfender, Tuesday. They drove over from Charlevoix and left on the D. & C. morning train for Columbiaville, Lapeer Co., where they intend to make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas C. Loveday entertained Friday evening with a Progressive Euchre party, twenty four guests being present. Prizes were awarded to Dr. C. A. Sweet, Mrs. G. L. Sherman and a consolation prize to Mrs. W. P. Squires. A delicious luncheon was served.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Aid Society will serve a New England Supper at the old town hall next Wednesday evening, March 15th, from six to eight o'clock. Supper 15 and 25 cents. A feature of the affair will be the ladies who serve—all of whom will be costumed as colonial dames.

Members of East Jordan High School Alumni met in the High School Room last Friday evening and organized for ensuing year. Supt. Henry Winters called the meeting to order. Officers elected were: President, Orin Misenar; Vice President, Miss Ella Barnett; Secretary-treasurer, Miss Stella Matthews. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the annual banquet in June.

Prominent among the social events of the week was the wedding of Alfred Quinn and Miss Maggie McKinney. The wedding ceremony, with a nuptial High Mass, was celebrated by Father Alexander at St. Joseph's Church at 8 o'clock Monday morning. The lovely morning filled the church with numerous friends to witness the occasion. After the ceremony the wedding party were driven to the home of Mr. Quinn where they enjoyed an elaborate wedding breakfast.

A handsome and convenient Stock Cabinet is the latest addition to The Herald office. Waterman & Price constructed same and is a good example of the high class work they are turning out.

Mary Gansolus and Bert Hart were neither absent nor tardy from the Chaddock School for the past two months. Ivy Ward has not been absent nor tardy for five months, except one day, and Gail Ward has not missed any time.

Mrs. H. W. Dicken entertained Saturday afternoon with a thimble party, fourteen ladies responding to invitation. After the thimble grew weary, an advertise guessing contest was enjoyed. Prizes being awarded to Mrs. E. N. Clink and Mrs. J. A. The Dainty refreshments were then served.

Mrs. James Malpass entertained Miss Ada Matthews and a part of her music class, (some were on the sick list and unable to come) Wednesday afternoon. Ethel Joels, Lydia and Edna Malpass gave selections on the organ and Emily Malpass on the violin. After a social hour refreshments were served.

Now is the time to get your old carpets together and plan for to have them made into beautiful "sanitary" rugs by the Petoskey Rug Mfg. Carpet Co. Ltd. Remember, they have no agents canvassing and anyone approaching you as an agent should be turned down as a fraud. Write for their free booklet which will be mailed you. Once a customer of theirs, always one.

A large crowd attended the M. O. Church Social at James H. Ward's last Wednesday evening. The following program was rendered: Instrumental Solo, Miss B. Hurlbert; Vocal Solo, Bert Sheldon; Recitation, Mrs. W. J. Smith; Baritone Solo, O. H. Moyer accompanied by Miss E. Stone; Reading, Miss Ella Barnett; Vocal Solo, Mrs. Robertson; Recitation, Charles Newton; Instrumental Duet, Misses Eliza Stewart and Edna Danforth. After which refreshments were served.

"Uncle Josh Perkins" will undoubtedly attract a large audience at the Loveday Opera House when it is produced there Thursday, March 16th, as the piece has proven one of the most popular of all rural comedies that have been produced in recent years. While "Uncle Josh Perkins" has a most interesting plot, the lines are well written, the characters well drawn, and the action natural and not forced. To add to the production, Frazee & Bay have equipped it with a complete scenic environment while the acting company is made up of the very metropolitan talent and includes a number of well known local favorites.

Mrs. Harvey Porter is among the sick.

Richard Gidley has recovered from his grip attack.

Editor C. L. Lorraine was a Petoskey visitor, recently.

Miss Jennie Waterman is recovering from a seige of grip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wiesman entertained Philip Bolan of Manistee first of the week.

Max Sheffield was transacting business in probate court at Charlevoix, Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Burkett has been entertaining a sister, Mrs. Elias J. Keiser, of Traverse.

John Dougherty is here from Charlevoix, guest of his sister, Mrs. Charles Blinn, and family.

W. A. Stone is spending a fortnight behind the counter at Warne's Pharmacy. He will then return to his former position—with Stroebel Bros.

Lucius Ranney, John Murphy, Grace Keenbois and Candus Procter—members of South Arm School—are attending Charlevoix Teachers' Institute.

A pleasant evening was spent by about 40 friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kenny last Wednesday evening. Games and refreshments were the features.

East Jordan Hose Co. met Monday evening and elected Dr. H. W. Dicken president and Romain Porter secretary to fill vacancies caused by removal from town of Atty J. Ernest Converse and Roy Gage.

Colon McDermott died at his home here Tuesday, aged 23 years, after a short illness of appendicitis. Deceased was son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDermott. Funeral services were held Friday in the M. E. Church, Rev. Yost conducting same. Interment was made in East Jordan cemetery.

A pleasant party was given at the Hotel Erie last Saturday evening in honor of the leave taking of Atty J. Ernest Converse, who is now a Boyne City citizen. Nearly fifty of his gentlemen friends were in attendance and a very enjoyable time indulged in. A heavy gold ring and K. of P. emblem pin were presented him to remember the occasion.

Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Dicken entertained some fourteen guests at "Hearts" Wednesday evening. Each guest was presented a little silk bag and the score was kept by beans. After the contest supper was served—standing—each guest having to pay in beans for everything. E. C. Plank won at "Hearts" but fared poorly in the dining room, having only beans enough to purchase a plate.

Who says spring is not here and the ground hog cheated? It must be some one who did not have the pleasure of the picnic given on the ever-green lawn and mossy nook we found in the vicinity of East Jordan Tuesday evening. Mrs. Wm. Stone and Mrs. C. H. Whittington gave a delightful party at the latter's home in the form of a winter picnic entertaining forty ladies dressed in shimmering white dresses, gaily decked hats, carrying parasols and pretty fans. While they were enjoying games of different kinds, a band of xylophones in sight and discoursed sweet music on their guitars, banjos, and tambourines, after which they wandered through the woods of evergreens and into the mossy nooks, pleading the fair damsels to cross their hands with silver and they would tell of wonder that had never been unfolded to them. Being unable to decline such an offer, many of the fair ones were told their fate. Refreshments were served in true picnic style, all sitting on the mossy carpet, eating off paper plates and drinking from the bright tin cups. All it lacked was the barrel of lemonade. A flash-light picture was taken with the wicker looking people in the foreground. It was far into the small figures on the dial of the clock ere they tore themselves away from the delightful scenes and pleasant amusements of the picnic grounds.—Poinsetta.

Where a Lady Tells Her Age.

When ladies go to buy a dress in Japan they tell the shopkeeper their age, and whether they are married, because there are special designs for the single and double relations of life, as well as for ages. The consequence of this custom is that you can tell the age of every lady you meet, and know whether she is married, precisely as though she were labeled.

Peach Stones for Fuel.

In California it is found that peach stones burn as well as the best coal and give out more heat in proportion to weight. Large quantities of the stones taken out of the fruit that is tinned or dried are collected or sold. Apricot stones also burn, but not so well as peach, and do not command so high a price.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

HOW THEY MAINTAIN THE CHARM OF THEIR SEX.

The Importance that Attaches to the Care of the Blood if One Wants Bright Eyes and a Clear Complexion.

Every sensible woman naturally wishes to appear attractive. She knows the value of bright eyes, delicate complexion and lively spirits. She knows also that good health is at the basis of her charms, and that good blood is the source of good health.

Miss Mamie Conway has a complexion which is the admiration of all who know her. Asked if she could make any suggestions that would be helpful to others less fortunate, she said:

"My complexion would not have pleased you, if you had seen it two years ago. It was then about as bad as it could be, and it gave me a great deal of dissatisfaction. If you want a good complexion you must take care of your blood, especially of the condition of your blood. My health was at that time completely broken down. I was nervous, had frequent headaches, a torpid liver and a great deal of pain in that region. I suffered also from indigestion. It was clear that my blood was in bad condition, for pimples broke out all over my face."

"It is hard to realize that, for there isn't the slightest trace of such blemishes now."

"It was unfortunately quite otherwise then, and a long time passed before I found anything that gave me any relief. I became very weak and listless. The doctor's medicine did me no good, and I took a number of highly recommended tonics with no better result. As soon, however, as I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People my complexion cleared up, and after I had taken two boxes there was not a sign of a pimple left on my face. My cheeks became rosy, I gained flesh and had perfect health ever since."

Rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes are merely signs of healthy blood. They have come not only in the case of Miss Conway, whose home is at 1241 East Eighth street, Canton, Ohio, but to thousands of women for whom Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made new blood. There is no surer way for you to obtain them; than to buy a box of these pills from any druggist and try them for yourself. They correct irregularities and banish weakness.

STATUE OF FRANCES WILLARD IN STATUARY HALL, NATIONAL CAPITAL

The statue of Miss Willard has been put in place in statuary hall at the national capital. The statue is a gift of the Legislature of Illinois. It was chiseled by Helen Farnsworth Mears of Oshkosh, Wis. It is of Carrara marble and a little larger than life size. Miss Willard is represented in the act of delivering an address. The face is strong and animated; the right arm rests upon a reading desk, and in the left hand are some pages of manuscript. On the pedestal is an inscription from one of the noted temperance advocate's speeches.

FRANCES WILLARD'S LIFE WORK.

All Her Efforts Tended in Direction of Human Justice.

The statue of Frances E. Willard, which Illinois has placed in statuary hall at Washington, has been unveiled. Miss Willard will stand there in marble, the only woman among a multitude of soldiers and statesmen. The women of the state petitioned the legislature years ago to recognize her as a historical character deserving a place in statuary hall and it consented. Miss Willard displayed her greatest powers in the work of organizing women and men for the accomplishment of moral purposes. She was a reformer of almost every imaginable kind: The Woman's Christian Temperance Union was devoted primarily to the extinction of the liquor traffic. But it went far beyond the limits of this original intention. Miss Willard's mind was as broad as the needs of misery. Under her leadership the Woman's Christian Temperance Union had innumerable departments which illustrated the variety of Miss Willard's interests.

There was a health and heredity department. There was a physical culture department. There were school savings bank, police station, Sabbath observance and purity departments; There was a department for the establishment of international peace and one for the establishment of female suffrage. Yet Miss Willard could hardly be called a philosopher in the sense in which Margaret Fuller or George Eliot was a philosopher. She called herself, to be sure, a Christian socialist, and her opinions on the labor and capital controversy are still largely and prominently quoted in socialist newspapers and magazines. But even in her Christian socialism she expressed merely the longings of her soul for human justice or what seemed to her human justice. She had nothing that could be called a philosophy in economics any more than in politics. She was the Christian conscience of the America of the last part of the nineteenth century operating through a genius for organization toward the accomplishment of certain specific reforms. In that capacity she was a distinctive type in American life.—Chicago Tribune.

Frenchman of Promise.

The French Academy of Medicine has just elected to its membership, in the person of Prof. Poirier, one of the youngest men ever included within its ranks, as his career has been one of the most brilliantly rapid among his contemporaries. The professor's qualification dates only from 1883, and since 1887 he has taught anatomy at the pacific school of the Paris faculty. He is also surgeon of the Tenon hospital. He is the author of many treatises on osteology, the muscles, cancerous affections and other surgical subjects.

PLUMB NEVER TIRED

KANSAS STATESMAN A MARVEL OF ENDURANCE.

Story Told by Senator Vest Well Illustrates His Physical Powers—Night's Enjoyment Never Interfered with Day's Duty.

Senator Plumb of Kansas was a physical giant, athletic and ceaseless worker, as well as tireless, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times. One of his assistants was as large as he was and as good a worker; but once in three or four months he would give way to an inordinate thirst for beer, which incapacitated him for work four or five days, or sometimes a whole week. On one of these occasions, when Senator Plumb particularly needed him, the Senator introduced a resolution in the Senate forbidding the sale of any kind of liquor to employees of Senators or of the Senate, and he delivered an impassioned speech in favor of the resolution.

The preceding evening Senator Plumb had been dallying a bit with wine, but that part of the story was best told by Senator Vest of Missouri, who said: "I think that my friend Plumb has greater powers of endurance than any man I have ever known and he demonstrates that fact in his everyday life. For example, last night Plumb and Mahone and Hatton and John Chamberlin and a few other friends spent considerable time eating and drinking and smoking, and finally we entered upon a little game of draw. Before I realized it the clocks in Chamberlin's were striking 5 o'clock, and the game was brought to a close. I went home and left orders to be called at 11 o'clock, because it was 'calendar day' in the Senate, and I wanted to be there at the opening of the session at noon, to look after a particular bill that I had on the calendar. I was awakened, had my bath and breakfast and reached the Senate just in time for my duty. I met Plumb at the door, and he told me that he had been at work all morning on his correspondence, but that he was not tired."

"With the calendar before me, I leaned my head on my hands, watching and waiting for my turn, and I fell fast asleep. I slept for fully an hour, and might have slept longer but for an awful dream. I dreamed that I was sitting at my desk, unable to get up, and the capitol building was on fire. I could see the flames all around me. The marble stones were burning, the Goddess of Liberty on the dome, although of bronze, was all aflame. The capitol was surrounded by fire engines, many of them having come from Baltimore and Philadelphia. I heard the captains of the firemen shouting their orders and I tried to call for help, but I could not. Finally, as the flames crept closer and all around me, all of the noises of the engines and the firemen and the flames were condensed into one awful roar. This continued, until it seemed to me like one tremendous human voice. Moreover, that great big voice began to sound familiar to me. It seemed to me as though out of its awful roaring I might expect that voice to frame the words: 'Vest, I raise you'; or 'Vest, I call you.' This awful voice finally awakened me; and, mirabile dictu, there stood Plumb, as fresh as a daisy, delivering a temperance speech."

Will Soon Have $1,000,000.

Vast Amount Within Reach of John D. Rockefeller.

A Wall street banker, who is said to be the head of one of the largest financial institutions of New York, is credited with the statement that the fortune of John D. Rockefeller will in a few years amount to $1,000,000,000. There are many estimates current of Mr. Rockefeller's wealth, estimates ranging all the way from $400,000,000 to $800,000,000, but the Wall street authority adds that all estimates of the Rockefeller fortune have been too low. Years ago Mr. Gladstone was one of the guests at a dinner in England where the oldest member of the Vanderbilt family was also present. Somebody whispered to the English premier that the rich American had $100,000,000, and Mr. Gladstone commented, after looking curiously at Mr. Vanderbilt: "Then I should say that he constitutes a peril to the American republic."

MURPHY MAY BE DETHRONED.

Tammany Hall Commencing to Find Fault with New Leader.

Charles F. Murphy, the reigning boss of Tammany, stands a good chance of being dethroned. A strong factor in the old society is in favor of ousting him and restoring Richard Croker to power if the latter will consent to such an arrangement. The revolutionists claim that when Murphy became head of Tammany in succession to Croker and others he was worth $400,000. They say he is worth more than $2,000,000 now. This in itself would be considered cause for ridicule were it not for the further fact, as it is alleged, that Murphy is feathering the Murphy nest and letting the "boys" go featherless. That is, of the divers income for Tammany, Murphy takes so much for Murphy that there is mighty little left for the rank and file.—Chicago Chronicle.

GOT BEST OF JAY GOULD.

Missouri Contractor Can Boast of Feat Few Duplicated.

Louis Houck, a Missouri contractor, is said to be the only man who ever beat the late Jay Gould in a trade. Houck was building a railroad in southwestern Missouri. He contracted with Gould for a quantity of old rails Gould had been using on the Iron Mountain railroad. The rails were to be delivered at a certain time. The rails came, but after the contract time, Houck laid them and when Gould demanded pay refused it, basing his refusal on the breach of contract by Gould. Suit was brought and Houck won by proving that the rails were not delivered on time. Gould was told to take his rails, but he decided it would not be worth while to tear them up and Houck kept them.

Mr. Beecher's Advice.

A country clergyman called on Henry Ward Beecher and asked his advice about what to do with persons who go to sleep in church, something which had become quite prevalent in his congregation. Mr. Beecher listened very attentively, admitted that it was serious, and then said: "When I first came to Plymouth church I thought about this problem, and I will tell you the course I decided upon. I gave the sexton strict orders that if he saw any person asleep in my congregation he should go straight to the pulpit and wake up the minister."

Food for Japanese Soldiers.

Rice and dried fish are the uniform food of the Japanese army in campaigning times. The rice is first boiled until it is thick and glutinous. Next it is placed on a china slab, rolled out and cut into squares. The squares are then placed in the sun to dry. They become as hard as a ship's biscuit, and are ready to be stored. A certain number of squares are allowed to each soldier a day. All he has to do is to break up a square in boiling water and add his dried fish. In a few minutes he has before him a thick soup, which to him is very good. If he cannot procure boiling water he eats his rice square as a biscuit.

A Slick Joke.

Hereafter the preachers of Atchison will be required to diagram their jokes and give plans and specifications for their long range figures of speech, says the Kansas City Journal. One of them said of a woman recently that "she ought to go to hell." It raised a terrible commotion in the church. Then the preacher explained. He said his idea was that if such a good woman went to hell there would be no hell.

Now and Then

Some thorough and careful physician invents, in his practice, some special medicine, that proves so universally successful whenever prescribed, that he proceeds to place it before the public to be reached through the newspapers. This is the history of Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. For years, prescribed by Dr. W. B. Caldwell for constipation, and all disorders of liver, stomach, and bowels, it was at last manufactured on a large scale, and is now the most successful medicine in the world for these diseases. A pure, scientific tonic, laxative syrup; pleasant to take and perfect in results. Try it. Sold by all druggists at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or ringing in the ears, and when the inflammation is severe and extends to the middle ear, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Health of American Women

A Subject Much Discussed at Women's Clubs—The Future of a Country Depends on the Health of Its Women.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen Miss Mattie Henry

At the New York State Assembly of Mothers, a prominent New York doctor told the 500 women present that healthy American women were so rare as to be almost extinct.

This seems to be a sweeping statement of the condition of American women. Yet how many do you know who are perfectly well, and do not have some trouble arising from a derangement of the female organism which manifests itself in headaches, backaches, nervousness, that bearing-down feeling, painful or irregular menstruation, leucorrhoea, displacement of the uterus, ovarian trouble, indigestion or sleeplessness? There is a tried and true remedy for all these ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored more American women to health than all other remedies in the world. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can. For thirty years it has been curing the worst forms of female complaints.

Such testimony as the following should be convincing.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I can truly say that you have saved my life and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For two years I spent lots of money in doctoring without any benefit for menstrual irregularities and I had given up all hopes of ever being well again, but I was persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and three bottles have restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Miss Mattie Henry, Vice-President of Danville Art Club, 429 Green St., Danville, Va., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Many years suffering with female weakness, inflammation and a broken down system made me more anxious to die than to live, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored my health, and I am so grateful for it that I want every suffering woman to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for her."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating, (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. No other medicine in the world has received such unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

A light heart, a cheerful countenance, and all the charms of grace and beauty are dependent upon proper action of the bodily organs. You cannot look well unless you feel well.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

A MODEL YOUNG MAN.

But It Was Business, Not Principle, With Him.

"Didn't that hurt you, sir?" The clerical-looking gentleman in the rear seat of the trolley car turned inquiringly to the nicely-dressed and clean-cut young man who sat beside him, as that individual winced slightly, for his foot had just been stepped on by a portly man who was leaving the car.

"Yes, sir—it hurt very much," he said simply.

"I thought so," said the clerical man. "Allow me to congratulate you on your control. I observed with pleasure, sir, that no oath sprang to your lips. Great pleasure to meet a young man like you. Have a cigar?"

"Thank you, I don't smoke," said the young man.

"Splendid!" exclaimed the clerical interrogator. "I smoke myself," he said, "because I lead a sedentary life. But I glory in a young man who doesn't. May I inquire, sir, if you know the taste of liquor?"

"No, sir; never touched a drop."

His new friend clasped him by the hand. There were tears in his eyes.

"Remarkable!" he exclaimed. "In these unregenerate days it is indeed soul-satisfying to gaze upon such a model. May I ask, my dear friend, what high motive impels you to abstain from these influences, that are sapping the lifeblood from the nation?"

The young man smiled.

"Certainly," he replied. "The fact is, sir, I find that I can't dissipate and deal a faro bank at the same time."—Collier's.

VENISON WAS ALL RIGHT.

But if It Had Been Beef He Would Have Called It Tainted.

Gov. N. J. Bachelder of New Hampshire does not believe in keeping venison, in the English fashion, for a month or more until it has turned green.

"I like a piece of venison as well as any man," he said recently, "but I want the meat to be fresh and sweet. I can't understand the English method of 'hanging' game till it has become quite putrid."

"My private opinion is that most people don't like game that has been 'hung'—I believe that they only pretend to like it. They are like a man who sat near me in a New York restaurant one autumn day—

"A dish of meat was set before this man, and I saw him taste it, give a 'pwh' of disgust and beckon to the waiter.

"Waiter," he said, 'this steak is positively bad. It must be three weeks old.'

"The waiter looked at the dish.

"Beg pardon," he said, 'I have made a mistake, sir. I have brought you venison.'

"Venison?" said the patron, with a gratified smile. 'Ah, yes. Then you may leave it.'

"He took another mouthful of the meat.

"To be sure," he said, 'it is venison, and very nice, too; very nice, indeed!'

The Bigger Thing.

"I was in a New England village on election day," said the New York drummer, "and the electors came up to the scratch-hobby until about two hours before the polls closed. Then a tin peddler with a sick horse drove into town and all further interest in the election was forgotten. The workers deserted the polls in a body, the electors who hadn't voted refused to leave that sick horse to do so and when the result of the count was announced one old fellow who had been pulling at the horse's ears for the last hour replied:

"Now, then, never mind who is elected or defeated. We have got a heap bigger thing on hand to save this hoss."

At Rest.

When but a child I marvelled much That once upon the marble's breast I found engraven o'er a tomb These simple words and few. "At Rest."

They told no place nor hour of birth, No record kept of how or where The cement there had welcomed rest, And put aside life's favored care.

But now I marvel much the more, When'er I read on carved stone Aught of inscription, line or date, Save that which tells of this alone:

"That he who lies beneath the mound, With sightless eyes and pulseless breast, Has gained the one great boon of all— Eternal, everlasting rest."—Darle Stiles Prescott.

Mine of Vari-Colored Oak.

A Russian timber dealer has discovered a valuable mine of oak. It is in a River of south Russia, in layers three or four feet deep, scattered over 150 square miles, and its most striking feature is its variety of colors, supposed to be due to the variegated soil of the river bottom. Not fewer than twelve shades of pink, blue, yellow and brown have been noted, each log having its own uniform shade. The logs taken out have ranged from forty to 200 feet in length and from fifteen to twenty inches in diameter, and it is estimated that more than 150,000, averaging seventy feet, remain.

When We Did Not Care for Japan.

When the first embassy from Japan arrived in Washington a member of the Senate rose and said: "Mr. President, the first ambassadors from the venerable country of Japan are about to arrive. I move the Senate do now adjourn to meet and welcome the Japanese." Immediately another senator was on his feet, not to second the motion, but to say sharply: "Mr. President, I humbly trust the Senate of the United States of America will not adjourn for every show that comes along." That settled it.—From Mrs. Roger A. Pryor's "Reminiscences."

LITTLE POKER AT WASHINGTON.

Stories of Big Games Must Be Taken With Allowances.

It was formerly quite the thing to tell stories about big poker games among the members of Congress. Much was said about the "Senatorial game," "millionaires' game" and the "Congressional game," and always we heard about great bunches of money changing hands, bluffs as high as the banks of the Mississippi, and all sorts of stories.

Frequently the senator, representative, diplomat or rich man was named and the winnings or losses told with as much gusto as if they had really happened. There were some pleasant poker games in days gone by, and occasionally some wonderful plays, but one night, with a few interesting incidents, furnished material for a month of stories.

Some of those who figured in the poker stories became annoyed at the notoriety they gained and abandoned poker entirely. For many years now there has not been enough poker in the capital to hang a story on.

Wrong Foot Foremost.

"I got out of bed this morning wrong-foot-foremost, and so everything has gone badly with me the whole day through!" Common enough it is to hear a man or woman say this, and believe it wellnigh as literally as if, in thus doing it, either of the two had stepped on a tack—point up and head down—and so gone limping ever since, not to speak of dire apprehensions of lockjaw.

One set of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills cured him entirely, and his hands have been as smooth as possible ever since. I do hope this letter will be the means of helping some other sufferer."

"I have used several bottles of Peru-na and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison.

ANOTHER SENSATIONAL CURE: Mr. Jacob L. Davis, Galena, Stone county, Mo., writes: "I have been in bad health for thirty-seven years, and after taking twelve bottles of your Peru-na I am cured."—Jacob L. Davis.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

A negro, James H. Wolff, has been elected commander of the Massachusetts G. A. R. He was elected junior vice commander in 1903 and senior vice commander in 1904. The election means he will lead the parade of the national encampment at Denver next August. Wolff is a lawyer. He served in the navy in the civil war and is a graduate of the Harvard law school.

Artificial Foot for Dog.

Mr. William H. Beers, a wealthy New York broker, whose pet St. Bernard dog had its forefoot crushed by a car, has ordered an artificial foot made for the dog, regardless of cost.

Gives Credit to Wife.

Prince Mirsky, Russia's reform statesman, attributes much of his success in public life to his brilliant wife.

Maple-Flake

For breakfast gives that satisfied feeling without the depression of over-eating.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.) (Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

A Marvel of Relief
ST. JACOBS OIL
For Lumbago and Sciatica

How Is Your Heart?

Is your pulse weak, too slow, too fast, or does it skip a beat? Do you have shortness of breath, weak or hungry spells, fainting, smothering or choking spells, palpitation, fluttering, pains around the heart, in side and shoulder, or hurt when lying on left side?

If you have any of these symptoms your heart is weak or diseased, and cannot get better without assistance.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens weak hearts, and rarely ever fails to cure heart disease. Try it, and see how quickly you will find relief.

"About January 1st, 1903, I took down with weakness and dropsy, and gradually grew worse. I was told by my family physician that my case was hopeless. My neighbors and family had given me up to die. My limbs and body were swollen to an extraordinary size, and water had collected around my heart. For at least three months I had to sit propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I sent for five bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and by the time I had taken them all I was entirely cured. I feel better than I have for twenty years, and I am able to do any kind of work on my farm. My attending physician told me that if it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, I would now be in my grave."

L. T. CURD, Winmore, Ky.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

Olivet College Wins.

For the third time in five years Olivet College has won the first place in the oratorical contest of the Michigan Intercollegiate League. This year's Olivet a record for seven years of three firsts, three seconds, and only once as low as third. In six of the seven contests the judges gave Olivet first place in thought and style. The League embraces nine colleges. It met this year at Albion on Friday, March 3, and the successful orator was Charles R. Tiebout of Rosebud, La., a member of the Senior class at Olivet College. By winning this contest Mr. Tiebout becomes Michigan's representative for the in-state contest at Minneapolis in May.

THE CHILDREN OF THE PASSION PLAYERS.

Writing of the children of Oberammergau, the sometime-to-be actors in the famous Passion Play, Mrs. Charles D. Crewdson says in the April Bellaire:

"Through their relation to the Passion Play the children of Oberammergau are unique. Yet I have found them, just of themselves, possessed of an unusual power to please and interest, graced with an Old-World charm of manner, versatile in talent, full of religious and legendary lore, humorous and frolicsome, at one and the same time children and little men and women of the world. To these young lives the marvelous Passion Play comes not as something alien. It is their birthright, their idol, their pastime. Absolutely unaware of any irrelevance, they play 'Passion Play,' just as other boys and girls play circus. 'Once I found them on the village meadow rehearsing some of the scenes of the Passion Play. Each child understood the sequence of the whole drama, and most of them knew by heart the words of one or more roles. Stage properties were not lacking where there were childhood's adaptiveness and imagination; stage setting there was of the pillared mountains and the shimmering blue curtains of haze that draped them. Hans, beautiful Hans, with the transcendent gray hazel eyes and amber-dipped tingers, gave the 'Entry into Jerusalem,' riding a big St. Bernard in the midst of the band of children. The Sanhedrin assembled on some abandoned kegs. Caiaphas, perched a keger higher than his compeers, spoke his part fluently. Judas pocketed thirty pieces of tin in a manner that showed careful study of his grown-up prototype. 'Every girl in Oberammergau suppleth that she may one day be deemed worthy to play the Holy Virgin. And surely will an answer come to the invocation of one of these clever children who helped to play the 'Leaving-taking of B. thany.' Perhaps the same child—any who laid her head upon the child-Christ will, in six years, move multitudes to sob, in the great theatre."

HERALD NOTES.

S. Weir-Mitchell says every novel he laid aside for two years after it is written. Many of them still lie left until the place they rest in is forgotten.

Backache is never known to those persons who take an occasional dose of Pinesol. The value of the resin obtained from the Pine-tree has long been recognized in the treatment of diseases of the bladder and kidneys. One dose of Pinesol will give relief, and one bottle will cure. Sold by Warne's Pharmacy.

Croup is quickly relieved, and Whooping Cough will not "run its course" if you use the original Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. This O-High Syrup is different from all others because it acts on the bowels. You can not cure a croup and Whooping Cough until you rid the system of all congestion, by working off the cold through a copious action of the bowels. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar does this, and cures all Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. No opiates. Sold by Warne's Pharmacy.

WANTED—TRUSTWORTHY MAN OR WOMAN to manage business in this county and adjoining territory for well established house of solid financial standing. $20.00 straight cash salary with all necessary expenses paid weekly by check from headquarters. Money advanced for expenses. Position permanent; previous experience not essential. No investment required. We furnish everything. Enclose self-addressed envelope. Address, Manager, 810 Commercial, Chicago, Ill.

Theford's Black-Draught comes nearer regulating the entire system and keeping the body in health than any other medicine made. It is always ready in any emergency to treat ailments that are frequent in any family, such as indigestion, biliousness, colds, diarrhoea, and stomach aches.

Theford's Black-Draught is the standard, never-failing remedy for stomach, bowel, liver and kidney troubles. It's a cure for the domestic ills which so frequently summon the doctor. It's as good for children as it is for grown persons. A dose of this medicine every day will soon cure the most obstinate case of dyspepsia or constipation, and when taken as directed brings quick relief.

Pinesol acts like a miracle. Best thing in the world for boils, burns, cracked hands, teeter, etc. Sold by Warne's Pharmacy.

WANTED.—Ten men in each state to travel, tack signs and distribute samples and circulars of our goods. Salary $75.00 per month. $3.00 per day for expenses. KUHLMAN CO., Dept. S. Atlas Building, Chicago.

You can apply Manzan inside, right where the pain is? It is put up in collapsible tubes with nozzle attachment for introducing it. Manzan stops pain instantly and cures all kinds of blind, bleeding, itching, and protruding piles. Sold by Warne's Pharmacy.

DRS. KENNEDY & KERGAN

Nine out of every ten men have been guilty of transgressions against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant he may be. The punishment and suffering consequent upon the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects.
The weakness must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated—the blood must be purified—the PHYSICAL SYSTEM must be vitalized, the BRAIN must be nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under its influence the brain becomes active; the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral and physical systems are invigorated—no more waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. We invite all the afflicted to call and consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no PAY. We treat and cure: Varicose, Blood Diseases, Skin Diseases, Stricture, Nervous Debility, Kidney and Bladder Disease.
CONSULTATION FREE. BOOKS FREE.
