This Friday Evening.

PICTURES OF THE SAN FRANCISCO DISASTER.

The destruction of the beautiful city of San Francisco by earthquake and fire, leaving 300,000 people homeless and destitute, many among them, who were worth thousands of dollars before the disaster, now with the poorer brother, subjects of charity, has caused a sensation throughout the entire civilized world. For a beautiful city, the size of Frisco, to be levelled to a mass of ruin in so short a time is beyond the conception of the ordinary man or woman.

On the second day of the earthquake, the Selig Film Co. had a man from their Tacoma, Wash., office on the ground taking a series of moving pictures and photographs of the burning buildings and ruins. These pictures, together with moving pictures of San Francisco taken some months ago, showing the beautiful city of the golden west, with its massive buildings and picturesque avenues, will be shown and fully described at Loveday Opera House this Friday evening May 11th. The prices 25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats on sale at Mack's Jewelry Store now.

Local Pride.

Do you buy your goods of your home dealer or of some far-away catalogue house which, in nicely worded letters and voluminous catalogues, offer apparently great bargains. Now, when the next catalogue comes from your mail order house, draw up an easy chair and read it carefully and permit us to mention some things they omit. For instance, see if you find any reference in their catalogues to their paying cash or exchanging goods for wheat, oats, corn, beans, butter, eggs and hay. How much do they pay for cattle, sheep and hogs? For your depot? How much tax will they pay to support your schools and educate your children? How much for improving your roads and bridges, for supporting the poor of the county, for the general expense of running the business of the township, county and state? On what page do they offer to contribute money to the church? What line of credit will they extend to you when your crops are poor and money gone or, through illness or misfortune, you are not able to send "cash with order"? Is there any offer to contribute to your entertainment next year? What did they do last year? In fact, will they do anything to provide a market for what you have, to sell and thereby keep up the value of your home? Will they do anything whatever for hospital, church, or government support, or do they simply take your dollars out of the community with no returns whatever except the goods you buy? Give this matter your careful, unprejudiced thought, then call on your local dealer where you can see the goods before you buy and make comparisons of prices and qualities. You will find that you can do as well or better at home and you keep your money at home and you help to build up your local town, and in case anything should, by some means, turn out to be not just exactly what you wanted, your local dealer is there to set things right and make the deal satisfactory with you.

Our Magazine Section.

The Herald's Magazine Section for next week will contain the following table of contents: Clara Barton organizes new relief work. Red Cross Heroine to establish E. R. Hospital Car Service. Eruption of Krakatoa Volcano. Greatest Explosion in History. Ashes blown twenty miles high. By Sir Robert Ball. An Awful Balloon Voyage. German War Airship driven five hundred miles over sea. Stability of English Roads and Bridges are great additions to the country's scenery. The History of Counterfeiters; work of the U. S. Secret Service in capturing such criminals. The Conflict. Chapter VI. of this thrilling continuous story. Terrific spectacle of a Twentieth Century battle. And They Never Knew, a pathetic little story of real life. Agricultural page. Several instructive articles. How to build a good fence. Consolidated schools. Interview with Assistant Secretary Hays on the need of better farm training.

Instead of merely building the largest battle ship in the world we should build one larger than the one that will be built larger than the one we are preparing to build.

Exhibit of Michigan's Minerals

Citizens of This Community May Have Opportunity To Examine Cabinets Distributed by Houghton College of Mines.

The several high schools of this county have recently received a communication from the Michigan College of Mines at Houghton, the center of the copper country in the upper peninsula, stating that this very important educational institution of Michigan has undertaken to make up a number of collections or sets of mineral specimens to be loaned to the schools. One of these sets is to remain for a definite time in a school, after which it is to be passed on to another that may have filed an application for it.

The Michigan College of Mines is required by law to keep a collection of the rocks and minerals of the state, and these subordinate sets which are to be circulated among the high schools are prepared auxiliary to the parent collection at Houghton. By this means the college proposes to do what it may to stimulate among the people an interest in minerals and rocks, especially as they occur in Michigan.

For Use of the Public

These collections, which will rotate among the high schools, are not for the use of the pupils alone, by any means. On the contrary, it is the desire to get the citizens outside of the schools interested in them, and to have the public as widely as possible examine them and become familiar with them. It is recognized that the more the people in general are interested in mineral resources of the state, the more likely such resources are to be developed.

Then again, in the same way that botany may contribute to the pleasure of one possessing even a slight knowledge of the plants of his vicinity, so the knowledge to be acquired concerning the minerals in his neighborhood and throughout the state, through the medium of these circulating collections may be a source of pleasant study and a powerful influence toward good citizenship. There is no more beautiful or fascinating side to nature study than in the crystal forms of minerals, and nowhere are organization and growth more clearly exemplified.

Each set will be composed of 38 minerals and 68 rocks. While these will not include all the important rocks and minerals of the state, the set will comprise most of those which lend themselves readily to a popular study of geology and physiography. One of the conditions upon which the loan is made to a high school is that it be put into active use in instruction, and it may be used in the grades as well as in the high school proper. Another condition is that it shall be kept at all reasonable times accessible to the citizens of the community who may wish to examine it and study its contents.

Minerals Identified Free

The College of Mines at Houghton also stands ready at any time to identify, without cost, provided specimens are sent with transportation prepaid and postage is forwarded for a reply, any mineral or rock that cannot be identified by comparison with the specimens in the collection. Such specimens must be sent to the college through the science teacher, principal or superintendent of a public school, but any one is privileged to submit specimens through these persons.

Even in those parts of the state where there are not rock outcroppings almost all stream beds and the soil, which represents the glacial drift, contain interesting rock and mineral fragments, and much pleasure and often useful knowledge may be derived from their study. A particularly interesting feature of this study is to determine if the fragments had their origin in local rocks, and if not, to determine the source from which they came. With each set of specimens there is furnished one copy of "Notes on Rocks and Minerals of Michigan," issued by the Department of Geology of the College of Mines. Additional copies may be purchased at the college at 50 cents each, net.

The man who went out to milk and sat down on a boulder in the middle of the pasture and waited for the cow to back up, was a brother to the man who kept a store and wouldn't advertise because he reasoned that the purchasing public would back up to his place of business, when it wanted something.

Home Coming Week on the 'Sable'

Oscoda and Au Sable, Mich., twin towns at the mouth of the Au Sable river, are preparing for a unique celebration, and one in which all former residents of the towns will be greatly interested. It is to be known as the "Home Coming Week on the Sable" and will date from Sunday, July 29, to Saturday, August 4, inclusive, commencing with reunion services in the churches.

During the panic of ninety-three, when one lumber firm, which had been operating at the rate of over ninety million feet of lumber per year, failed, the towns ceased to be important commercial factors and the inhabitants scrambled to get away, the population dropping from twelve thousand to three thousand in a short time. Recently the "Home Coming" idea was started, and is steadily growing in popularity. The object is simply to get together all the former residents that can be rounded up, for a reunion; a renewal of old acquaintances and a general good time. The program will include log rolling contests, boat races, a barbecue, horse races, Caledonian games, base ball, public speaking by former residents and men of national reputation, various street attractions, etc. Comfortable accommodation will be furnished to all who attend, at the minimum charge, and reduced rates can be secured from any point in the country. Any information in regard to the "Home Coming" will be cheerfully furnished, and all former residents who have not already done so are expected to report to the secretary, Will McGillivray, Oscoda, Mich.

The tar that is contained in Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is harmless. It is not coal tar, but it is obtained from the pine trees of our own native forests. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is the best remedy for colds because it acts on the bowels—thus expelling all colds from the system. Bee's is the original Laxative Honey and Tar, and is best for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, lung and bronchial affections. Sold by Warner's Pharmacy.

Maiden, Pine Knot!

The Literary Editor of the American Lumberman, received the following touching lines, penned in a feminine hand and dated at East Jordan, America.

"TELL ME NOT"

Tell me not your love is willed,
Tell me not you love me not;
Tell me not that I am jilted—
You're the last chance that I've got.
As the shepherd pipes the praises
Of the maiden that he knows,
So you sang to my fond gaze—
Tell me not the pipes are froze.
Tell me not you love another,
That a sweetheart new you've got—
That to me you'll be a brother—
Tell me not; oh tell me not.

The editor being a practical lumberman and inclined to require clear stock in his poetry as well as in his retail yard, returned the above effusion saying that he could not use it on account of its being too full of notes. We print it at advertising rates.

Official Call For Republican State Convention

TO THE REPUBLICAN ELECTORS OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN.

The State Convention of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at the Light Guard Armory, in the city of DETROIT, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1906, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon; for the purpose of nominating candidates for State offices, for the selection of a State Central Committee and a Chairman thereof, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the Convention.

In accordance with the provisions of law and the action of the Republican State Central Committee, every county will be entitled to one delegate for each three hundred of the total vote cast therein for the Republican candidate for Governor at the last election and one additional delegate for a moiety of 151 votes or more.

Pursuant to law, Monday the 18th day of June, 1906, is hereby designated as the day on which shall be held in each county, the County Convention of the Republican Party for the election of delegates to the Republican State Convention herein called.

Under the resolutions of 1858, no delegate will be entitled to a seat in the State Convention who does not reside in the county he purposes to represent.

The delegates from the several counties in each Congressional District are requested to meet in District caucuses at 9:30 o'clock a. m. on the day of the State Convention, and select delegates to be presented to the State Convention for confirmation.

By order of the Republican State Central Committee:

GERRIT J. DIECKEMA, Chairman.

DENNIS E. ALWARD, Secretary.

Laosung, May 1, 1906. The total vote in Charlevoix County for governor at the last election was 2,126 making the number of delegates to the State Convention 7.

Now its not safe to keep them so just bring them in and get credit on your subscription for the full amount.

An open meeting of the Maccabees was held on Tuesday evening, at which were present Hon. Perry F. Powers and Deputy Great Commander Perry of Cadillac, Mr. Squires of East Jordan and Hon. Wm. Mears of Boyne Falls, all of whom gave interesting addresses on the good of the order. Vocal solos were charmingly rendered by Miss Painter and Miss White of East Jordan. George C. Walker favored the company with a vocal solo, and Miss Capetta and Miss Hayden rendered instrumental solos. The program was interspersed with a high grade of music by an orchestra from East Jordan. About seventy-five were present from East Jordan, and after the exercises of the evening were concluded an informal hop was participated in until a late hour. Boyne Citizen.

A merdful man is merciful to his beasts. We like to see our farmers when they drive into town on a cold stormy day put their team in a barn or cover them with blankets. In the heat of the summer they can always find shade in which to lean the noble animals that brought them safely to town. There are many, however, who on cold days will rush for a stove themselves and leave their horses in the storm while in the heat of the summer they seek the shade and leave their horses in the sun. There is something wrong about the man who thus abuses his team. He may be a pice man, may belong to the church, may not swear, smoke or have any bad habits, but we would not want to be his horse. No, sir.

When you "talk" about people behind their backs, do you give them a square deal?

CURES RHEUMATISM LUMBAGO, SCIATICA NEURALGIA and KIDNEY TROUBLE

"S-DROPS" taken internally, rids the blood of the poisonous matter and acids which are the direct causes of these diseases. Applied externally it affords almost instant relief from pain, while a permanent cure is being effected by purifying the blood, dissolving the poisonous substance and removing it from the system.

DR. S. D. BLAND of Brown, Ga., writes: "I had been a sufferer for a number of years with Lumbago and Rheumatism in my arms and legs, and tried all the remedies that I could gather from medical works, and also consulted with a number of the best physicians, but found nothing that gave the relief obtained from 'S-DROPS.' I shall prescribe it in my practice for rheumatism and kidney disease."

A Story of Jefferson.

New York still has at least one of its old time firms of booksellers, the sort of business house which is law unto itself and alters not the law to suit the convenience of any one. However great, says the New York Times, Joseph Jefferson had been a customer of this firm for years, but had never seen either of its members, who may just as well be called Jones & Smith as anything else. One day Jefferson called at the shop, his errand being to protest against a long delay in delivering some books he had ordered. The old gentleman arrived in a very irate state of mind, but soon cooled off when he observed the pained expression of the shopkeeper.

"You understand," said the veteran, "that I don't wish to be offensive to you. It is your confounded firm I am complaining of. If you are Jones, I say confound Smith. If you are Smith, I say confound Jones. I don't mean to be personal at all."

The Only City.

An amusing story of Hans von Bülow, the famous German pianist and conductor, is contained in the volume of his letters that has just been issued in Germany. After a very successful appearance which he made at a concert in Chicago, he came forward in acknowledgment of the applause. Beaming on the audience he began: "After all, ladies and gentlemen, there is only one city" here he was interrupted by a prolonged burst of applause. When there was a lull he concluded, "and that is—New York." Harper's Weekly.

SUCCESSFUL SCULPTRESS.

Miss Evelyn Longman of Chicago Awarded Fifteen Thousand Dollar Prize.

To Carve Bronze Doors at Annapolis Naval Academy—Has Attained Fame Through Her Figure of "Victory" at St. Louis Fair.

When the new bronze entrance doors of the Annapolis Naval Academy are completed and hung in place there will exist another monument to the skill of American women. Colonel Robert M. Thompson, who presented these doors to the academy as a memorial of the class of '68, stipulated in making the offer that the design selected for the doors should be awarded by competition, the winner to receive a prize of $15,000. There were thirty-three competitors for this prize, an unusually large number, and the designs submitted are said to have been of a high degree of excellence. The votes of all five jurors were cast for the model presented by Miss Evelyn B. Longman, of Chicago.

MISS LONGMAN'S STATUE OF "VICTORY" AT THE CHICAGO EXPOSITION.

Miss Longman's design has two panels representing "Peace" and "War." On the peace panel is a figure symbolizing science, an old man in an attitude of deep thought, explaining a difficult problem to two students of the academy. On the war panel patriotism is represented by a female figure, symbolical also of the home, the protection of which is assumed to be the reason for the existence of the navy. Under her draperies is a coat of armor, and with one hand on a cannon she points with the other to the distance, where masts of ships show the destination of the marching figures in the background.

In the upper panels of the door are festoons supported by shells—of oak leaves over the war panel and olive over that of peace. In the lower panels wreaths of the same leaves enclose the names of naval heroes. In the transom is the dedication to the class of '68, and above the transom is a group representing "Fame"—two laurel-crowned figures on either side of an altar-like pedestal, with an inscription to John Paul Jones, whose bones are to rest in the crypt of the chapel. The pedestal is surmounted by a tripod, from which issue flames, symbolizing enduring fame.

Award to Woman Unprecedented.
The award of this prize to a woman is said to be an unprecedented event in the artistic history of the country, and a bright future is predicted for the young sculptress.

"I consider Miss Longman to be one of the most promising of our younger sculptors," said Mr. Daniel C. French, whose assistant she has been for the last four years.

Miss Longman was born in Winchester, Ohio, her father, Edwin H. Longman, being a musician and an artist. Drawing was one of her childish amusements, and she began modeling without instruction in the art department of Olivet College. Her work there attracted the attention of Lorado Taft, who invited her to enter the Chicago Art Institute as his pupil. She did so, and during the first year paid her expenses by doing library work. Then she was made an assistant instructor in the school, and a year or two later she came to New York, where she soon after became an assistant to Mr.

Taft. She is rather proud of the fact that she has never studied abroad, and also that she has been able to meet all the expenses of her artistic education herself.

Sculptress Is Already Famous.
The best known work of Miss Longman is the bronze figure of "Victory," which was carved for the Festival Hall at the St. Louis World's Fair. For this she was awarded a silver medal. At the close of the fair the original was brought to the Chicago Art Institute. A bronze reproduction has been purchased by the Union League Club and will adorn the entrance to the club-rooms.

Another one of Miss Longman's works which has won commendation is a bronze figure of "Death," which she recently completed, and which is to be placed on the Story monument in the cemetery at Lowell, Mass.

She took a four years' course, finishing among the first five of the class. Since her graduation she has been draughtsman in a big bridge concern. She is now considering an offer from

SAN FRANCISCAN HORROR.

Terrible Destruction of the City by Violent Earthquakes and Flames.

Fire Results in All Parts of Metropolis—Geological Scientists Say No Connection Between Quake and Vesuvian Eruption.

It was during the repose of early morning; the Spring-time sun was casting its golden rays over the Sierra Nevada and striking down into the peaceful, slumbering valley of the Sacramento. All the Western Hemisphere was at peace with the elements. Suddenly there came an awful growling and crashing beneath the very centre of San Francisco, and in a tenth of the space of time required to describe the event, falling walls and fire combined to work on the metropolis of the Pacific the most appalling natural calamity which has occurred on this continent since the landing of the Pilgrims. The destruction that has been accomplished is almost incalculable. The inferno of flames which burst forth simultaneously in various parts of the city was rendered still more terrible by the repeated quakings of the earth, by which the rescuers were in momentary danger of being buried with the dead beneath the falling structures. The very earth itself—our own mother earth—proved as treacherous as a deadly snake, and the usual ocean breeze, by a strange perversion of nature, hauled around to a point where it fanned the flames to intensity and became a deadly agent of destruction. The general dismay of the populace was augmented by the constant roar of dynamite explosions, made in a vain effort to check the progress of the flames. The vast pall of smoke that blotted out the sky did not tend to alleviate the general anxiety. Yet, in such surroundings, calculated to inspire universal panic and madness, there were performed numberless feats of heroism that will remain on the scroll of time as illustrious proofs of the nobility which is hidden beneath the surface of ordinary life. Cool heads and brave hearts, with stout hearts behind them, performed their work of rescue in the very face of death, and even the indescribable horror of the earthquake was overcome.

San Francisco, a rich and proud city, has been swept by fires before and has, phoenix like, arisen from her ashes. Moreover, she has more than once experienced earthquake tremors which were, to say the least, injurious and menacing. But America is a cemented nation. The disasters of one section bring together in one grand sympathetic bond the inhabitants of the others, all anxious and insistent upon holding out the helping hand and voicing words of sympathy to the afflicted sister States, cities and towns throughout the entire Union have offered unstinted assistance in the way of money, food, clothing and medical attendance, with which to relieve the want, not only of San Francisco, but also the other California cities and towns which have suffered with the metropolis of the State.

No Connection With Vesuvius.

Coming as this disaster did, practically coincident with the Vesuvian calamity in Italy, many persons suppose that there was a direct relation between the two. This idea, however, is logically contradicted by Director Charles D. Walcott, of the Geological Survey. Mr. Walcott holds that there is no possibility of a connection between the earthquake and the Italian volcano, for these two are entirely different scientific phenomena responsible for such earthquakes and volcanic disturbances.

Great earthquakes, says Mr. Walcott, in the already hardened shell that surrounds the inner mass. That shell must give way at some point. Aside from the contractions of the earth's surface, another cause is given that might affect the changing of the surface of a given part of the world. This cause is the accumulation of a vast weight of sedimentary deposit brought down by rivers. For example, the Mississippi River is entirely made up of the deposits of the streams washing down from higher lands. The weight of that deposit would be difficult to calculate, and resting upon a portion of the earth's shell, might occasion its sinking. This theory is held by some scientists in connection with the California disaster, for the Sacramento River is the depositor of vast weights of sediment in the Pacific waters near San Francisco.

THE SURGERY OF THE ANCIENTS.

What is known to modern dentists as Bridge work was familiar to the Etruscans, as extant specimens attest, according to an interesting article in the British Medical Journal. Plaster ears, noses and lips were common among the Indians, where the cutting off of these features was a punishment much in use, and Greek and Roman veterans who had lost a leg or an arm in war tried to make good the deficiency by artificial substitutes. It is stated further: "What is said to be the oldest artificial leg in existence is now in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. It was found in a tomb at Capua. Pliny speaks of a Roman warrior who, a century and a half before the birth of Christ, wore an artificial limb of wood. In the Middle Ages artificial limbs sometimes repaired the disabilities of war. The 'iron hand' of Goetz von Berlichingen was an ingenious piece of mechanism made for that famous knight in 1504. A century later an artificial hand was are never caused by volcanoes, but by faulting plains. This is particularly true of both seaboard of the United States. Mr. Walcott and other scientists of the Geological and Geodetic Surveys agree that scientifically the recent disturbances were caused by conditions identical with those pertaining during the earthquake which demolished Charleston, S. C., on August 31, 1886. Volcanoes occasionally cause shaking of the earth's crust, but the disturbances occasioned by pent-up gases seeking to escape are felt only locally. The cause generally attributed to earthquakes is the gradual cooling of the earth, which is known to still be a molten mass inside. When any object cools it contracts, and so will the earth as it grows colder. This contraction would unavoidably cause a disturbance

LAYING CORNERSTONE.

Impressive Ceremony Incident to Construction of New Capitol Buildings.

President Roosevelt and Speaker Cannon, Both Masons, Are Principal Actors—$10,000,000 for Senate and House.

When President Roosevelt, on April 14th, laid the cornerstone of the new office building for the House of Representatives, it marked the beginning of improvements on Capitol Hill which will make that section of Washington comparable with the ancient hills of Rome and Greece crowned with magnificent buildings in which met the solons of ages past.

This new building occupies a square and is about a hundred yards distant from the south wing of the Capitol, with which it is to be connected by an underground passageway, through which members of Congress may pass back and forth from the legislative hall to their offices. There are 410 office rooms, providing a room for each Representative in Congress and Delegate, and leaving vacant nineteen rooms for a future growth in the membership of the House through a reapportionment of districts or the admission of new States. The House annex and the Senate office building, also under construction at the opposite end of the plaza, are being put up to provide for the members of the National Legislature, quarters absolutely needed for the efficient transaction of public business. The great growth in size of both branches of Congress has caused the Capitol building to be enlarged, but this was only sufficient to provide the necessary space for the assembly halls of House and Senate and the committee rooms, the latter in many cases being small and badly ventilated. Under present conditions individual members (unless they happen to be chairmen of committees) have no offices and a badly congested condition exists. Realizing the need of one great legislative centre where Senators and Representatives may comfortably quartered, Congress three years ago authorized the construction of the House and Senate office buildings.

Senate Ceremony Next Fall.
The House annex was started first and is in a more advanced stage of construction than the Senate building, though the cornerstone of the latter may be ready to put in place next Fall. It is estimated that the two buildings together will involve an outlay of about ten million dollars. In size and design they are identical; they occupy positions balanced in their relation to the Capitol and are planned to fit into a general architectural scheme. The height of the buildings has been restricted that they may not overpower the Capitol and they have been kept simple in design, without pediments, domes or other accentuated points to prevent their detracting in any way from the effect of the Capitol itself. The exterior design for the buildings is classic, suggesting in its general division of parts the Garde Meuble in the Place de la Concorde, Paris, while the pavilions are modeled on those of the Colonnade de Louvre. Architecturally the front is divided into two parts, the lower corresponding to the first story of the building constituting a "rusticated" base, on which, extending through the second and third stories, is the colonnade surrounded by its entablature and balustrade. It is believed that the effect of the two flanking buildings will be to give unity to the whole scheme and to emphasize architecturally the great beauty of the Capitol, all of the lines leading up to and centering in its dome.

Work Progressing Rapidly.

Although the digging of the trenches for the House office building was begun less than a year ago the structure is now up to the first floor line. To hasten the work Elliott Woods, Superintendent of the Capitol, directed that construction begin before all the specifications and contracts were complete. This was done through letting out the stone contract first, by authority of the House Building Commission. It is calculated that both buildings will be ready for the Sixtieth Congress. In accordance with Masonic traditions, the ceremony was conducted in the open air, in a simple, unostentatious manner. In every detail it corresponded as nearly as practicable with the historic ceremony in which President Washington participated. The articles placed in the cornerstone were largely identical in character with those deposited in the original Capitol stone by Federal Lodge, and, as both President Roosevelt and Speaker Cannon are members of the Masonic order, the occasion in every way harmonized with the spirit of the ceremony directed by the Virginia jurisdiction in laying the cornerstone of the Capitol.

Let this "1900" Gravity Washing Machine do your Washing Free.

An unseen power, called Gravity, helps run this washing machine. By harnessing this power, we make it work for you. You start the washer by hand, then Gravity-power takes hold and does the hardest part. And it makes this machine turn almost as easily as a bicycle wheel does. Gravity, you know, is what makes a stone roll down a hill. This machine has just been invented and we call it the "1900" Gravity Washer. There are slots on the inside bottom of the tub. These are like a paddles, to swing the water in the same direction you revolve the tub. You throw the soiled clothes into the tub first. Then you throw enough water over the clothes to float them. Next you put the heavy wooden cover on top of the clothes to anchor them, and to press them down. This cover is slanted lower side to grip the clothes and hold them from flying around when the tub turns. Now you are all ready for quick and easy washing. You grasp the upright handle on the side of the tub and, with it, you revolve the tub one-third way round. Then gravity pulls the clothes way round. The machine must have a little help from you, at every swing, but Gravity-power does practically all the hard work. You can sit in a rocking chair and do all that the washer requires of you. A child can run it easily full of clothes. When you revolve the tub the clothes don't move. But the water moves like a mill race through the clothes. It splashes on the tub bottom drive the soapy water THROUGH and through the clothes at every swing of the tub. Back and forth, in and out of every fold, and then every mesh in the cloth, the hot soapy water runs like a torrent. This is how it carries away all the dirt from the clothes, in from six to ten minutes by the clock. It drives the dirt out through the meshes of the fabric WITHOUT ANY RUBBING—without any soap and without any scrubbing. It will wash the finest lace fabric without breaking a thread, or a button, and it will wash a heavy, dirty carpet with equal ease and rapidity. Fifteen to twenty garments, or five large bed-sheets, can be washed at one time with the "1900" Gravity Washer. A child can do this in six to twenty minutes better than any able washer-woman could do the same clothes in twice the time, with three times the wear and tear from the washboard.

This is what we SAY, now how do we PROVE it? We send any reliable person our "1900" Gravity Washer free of charge, on a full month's trial, and we even pay the express cost of our own packing. No cash deposit is asked, no notes, no contract, no security. You try it the whether four weeks or six weeks. If you find it won't wash as many clothes in FOUR hours as you can wash by hand in FIFTEEN hours, you send it back to the railway station—this is all. But if, from a month's trial, you are convinced it saves HALF the time in washing, does the work better, and does it twice as easily as it could be done by hand, you keep the machine. Then you mail us 50 cents a week till it is paid for. Remember that this is not the price of the machine, but the price of your own work. We intend that the "1900" Gravity Washer shall pay for itself and thus cost you nothing. You don't risk a cent from first to last, and you don't pay until you have had a full month's trial. We will send you a copy of our own "1900" Gravity Washer on a month's free trial and our own trouble-free guarantee to keep up with our orders. # THE VESUVIAN TERROR.

Vivid Description of Great Eruption Which Rivals Pompeii's Destruction.

The Famous Italian Novelist, Marion Crawford, Tells of the Terrors of the Big Volcano—History of Former Eruptions.

The whole world looked on, awestruck, at the recent fierce outbreak of stupendous and devastating force in the Bay of Naples. The eruption of Mount Vesuvius is believed to be the most destructive since the days of Pompeii, A. D. 79.

The whole story of the eruption of 1906 is a sorrowful tale of stricken victims, devastated vineyards, ruined homes and terror-stricken, flying people, and it is hard to realize that the same scenes have been enacted there so many times before.

Pliny, the noted ancient historian, described the eruption of Vesuvius in the year 79, in a series of letters to Tacitus. This letter described a dark cloud rising in a single pillar from the crater of the mountain and from this a column spread, and upon it rested a great roof, built by invisible carpenters. Resting ever on its single pillar, like a great mushroom, this roof shut out the sky from all those wide acres extending sixteen miles away.

The light ashes of the fire from Vesuvius descended like snow upon Pompeii, burying it to great depths. Herculaneum was drowned in a sea of volcanic mud.

Those who have read the letters of Pliny find similarity in the description written by the noted novelist, Marion Crawford. There is probably no other American living who is so well acquainted with conditions as they exist in Italy. He has taken up his permanent abode in the Italian hills. The

In prehistoric days Vesuvius was probably twice as high, the top having been blown off centuries before the eruption that destroyed Pompeii. Since the year 1631 Vesuvius has never been wholly at rest. In that year 18,000 lives were lost. The clouds of steam that came from the rush of water into the hot mass below the surface condensed and fell in a boiling rain that scorched everything with which it came in contact. The very sea drew back the skirts of its dark blue robe and then swept forward again far beyond its old limits. The last of the great convulsions before the recent one occurred in 1872. Then, like this one, there was a great lava flow, together with throwing up of burning rock and the fall of ashes upon the surrounding country.

Vesuvius is one of a group of similar mountains in the Mediterranean Sea, its comrades being Etna, Stromboli and Vulcano, which last gave the name to all mountains of this kind. That, in turn, was called after Vulcan, the god who made the armor for the fighting deities of the ancient world and forged the very thunderbolts of Jove himself. His workshop was under Mount Etna. There the inhabitants of the hillsides heard him shaping great masses of iron with his terrible hammer stroke while the nameless slaves of the forge, dimly imagined creatures of that old day, blew the gigantic bellows and held great bars in place, while the master worked. The Greeks with even their learning, did not inquire into the scientific reasons for the mighty utterings of the mountain; they knew what the awful roar of those volcanic mountains meant. And our wise men, with their figures and books, know little of what is going on in the fiery caverns under the earth's thin crust.

Nature soon heals her scars. Already, we are told in dispatches, spots of green have appeared on the blackened sides of Mount Pele, and it will not be very long before the olive and the vine and the clustering villages will find their way back again to the slopes of Vesuvius.

Destroyed by an Earthquake

On the morning of December 8, 1812, all without warning, came a great catastrophe. While the church was crowded with kneeling worshippers a shock of earthquake visited the valley and toppled the great stone tower over upon the roof, crashing through which it buried the congregation beneath the wreckage of beams, tiles and stones, and upward of forty human beings lost their lives in the twinkling of an eye. This earthquake ranks in severity with that of Charleston, in 1886. So great was the disaster that, although the mission continued to be conducted for twenty-two years longer, no attempt seems to have been made by the padres to restore the church edifice, and it and its adjoining buildings and cloisters have remained to this day an imposing and beautiful ruin. Touched gently by time's hand, dignified in outline and rich in color, it is replete with subjects for the artist, and is the admiration of every traveler. With the restoration of the buildings the intention is to create here a college for the priesthood as at Santa Barbara, and to make of San Juan Capistrano an important factor in the work of the Roman Catholic Church in Southern California.

THE LOVE OF ALARIC.

Beneath the outlying branches of a mighty oak tree, a giant who had stood sentinel in that lonely dip on the wolds for twice three hundred years, two men were standing, their figures made more or less distinct by the rays of a big, conical lantern of antique pattern that the elder of the two carried in his gnarled and bloodless fingers, a figure strangely akin to the giant tree beneath which he stood.

An aged man was Zachary Doy, his back bent by years of hard labor such as few of the modern generation of laborers know; a man who had been an experienced farmhand, while the man beside him, his master, was still a puling infant.

The old fellow set down his lantern on the iron-bound earth. His quivering voice stabbed the silence. "Now, do be harkened unto me, Master Alaric," he said slowly. "I've served 'ee faithful, year and year together afore 'ee, for nigh on fifty year, and I tell 'ee, master, that what 'ee do purpose for to do is again all right and reason. This yere oak tree—be the Kingscote Oak, as all the country-side do know her for to be—'a' bin here as a landmark and a pride for longer than us poor souls can reckon. To cut her down do mean, as I be right well assured, that Kingscote luck will fall 'em. If so be—"

Alaric Kingscote broke in upon his garrulity with a forced laugh. "If Kingscote luck could fall lower than it has, Zachary," he said bitterly, "you need have little fear that I would touch bark with axe. Now, hear me, old friend. This tree represents the last thing upon the farm that can bring in the money I must have to tide over the bad times in store. The merchants have offered me two hundred pounds for the tree. There's only one fotten limb upon it. They'll come tomorrow with their carts and take it away." He laid his hand upon the old man's shoulder. "Get you home to bed, Zachary," he added gently. "You can do nothing here. It's a o'clock now. By midnight, with so many years. He never once looked back. For a few seconds Alaric Kingscote stood looking after him, then, with a strangely fierce gesture, the young fellow flung off his rough tweed coat, removed the Cardigan waistcoat that covered the breadth of his chest, and turned up the sleeves of his coarse flannel shirt.

At the foot of the oak lay the woodman's huge axe that was to be the instrument of death, that was to cut short the growth of centuries.

Alaric Kingscote swung the great weapon aloft, and the cold starlight ran along the shining steel. Like some Viking warrior of old—like the re-embodiment of one of his Saxon forebears, Alaric brought down the tool of destruction with a blow that gashed deep into the corrugated skin of the oak. The doom of the Kingscote Oak had been proclaimed.

As he stood braced up for the second stroke, the bulging sinews of his forearm responding to the generous rise of chest and thigh muscles, a curious sound from behind him caused him to swing round with a faint cry. Then he lowered the axe with amazing gentleness.

Another figure had appeared upon the scene—the figure of a woman, clad in a cloak of fur that hid the contour of her form.

"Damaris!" The word fell from the young man's lips like a caress.

"So you've come," he said softly. "You see I am as good as my word. The Kingscote Oak must go. It is the last link between me and the workhouse—for it almost comes to that."

It was evident that the relationship between these two was something more binding than the ordinary ties of opposite sex. Each seemed to accept the situation as inevitable. Then the girl went on, hurriedly:

"You'll catch cold, Alaric, dear, if you stand still without your coat in this bitter cold. Let me hold the lantern for you while you work."

She snatched up the light. He, obedient to her injunction, applied his weapon with renewed vigor. The lamplight threw a warm glow over his weather-tanned face and muscular arms.

For a time he labored on, his whole being concentrated on the performance of his herculean task. After a space he paused to rest. A great wound on the mighty bole of the oak showed how sure had been his strenuous endeavors.

When he ceased she broke into quick speech. "It seems incredible," she murmured, "that you, a Kingscote, of the same race, the same blood as ourselves, should be forced to toil like this—like a common laborer!"

The man came quickly forward, and flung his arm around her waist. Their lips met in a kiss that could not be mistaken for a mere cousinly salutation.

"Damaris, Kingscote," he said, steadily enough. "Let us be frank one with the other. What are the facts? I am the poor relation—the blot on the family 'scutcheon of the squire, your father. He resents my proximity; loathes the very idea of our love; therefore he has brought his batteries to bear upon me and mine. All that he could do to ruin me he has done, and heaven knows that he had been successful enough."

The girl's eyes brimmed over with tears. Alaric was quick to note her ready sympathy and, he gripped his axe anew with the ringing cadence of his rhythmic blows.

Presently he rested once again. "Damaris," he said, "did you ever hear the legend that runs in our branch of the family, that but for some strange whim of chance I should have been in the squire's place today, the ruler of the destiny of Kingscote Glebe Farm? From father to son the tradition has been handed down that Nigel Kingscote, the cavalier, juggled in some unknown way with the laws of succession—that it was not the son of the eldest son who was your own father's ancestor, but mine; that could the truth only be known right I should be reigning at Kingscote Manor instead of being what I am—a pauper, fated to cut down the family tree to raise a piffling sum of money that must be prodigal."

Damaris stood speechless and Alaric once more resumed his heavy task. Finally, after long and weary toil, the end came. With a cry to the girl, Alaric flung down his axe and leaped backward. His hand sought hers. Side by side drawn apart from the tottering giant, they stood as though spellbound, the only spectators of the end of so many hundred years of silent, strenuous majesty.

And even as the mighty tree went shuddering to its tremendous fall, a crack as of a pistol-shot, foreshadowed its overthrow. The noise came from the one rotten bough that the tree had possessed a huge limb some half-way up its stem, which now detaching first from its parent, crashed down at the very feet of the wondering couple.

Nor was that all. A metallic think accompanied the crash. Damaris was the first to recognize the solution of the puzzle.

It was a metal canister—a long, time-stained box of rusted tin, closed at both ends—a thing of mystery, of untold possibilities. She picked it up, and as she did so one end fell away. The canister contained nothing but a stained yellow piece of parchment, upon which something was written in a close and crabbed calligraphy, archaic, hard to decipher.

given my infant son to my younger brother James, who will bring up my son as his own.

"Thus it may come to pass that the descendants of Nigel, my son, may be passed over in the right of succession by the descendants of Richard, the eldest son of my younger brother James, who stands well in the eye of Cromwell, the regicide and renegade."

"And that this be true, and that Nigel, supposed younger son of James Kingscote, of Kingscote Manor, be really the eldest son of Nigel Kingscote, eldest son of Alaric Kingscote, father of Nigel and James and therefore heir to the Manor of Kingscote, its hereditary messuages, and all that do thereto appertain, and his seed hereafter him, if so be there should be any, I do most solemnly swear and protest in the presence of witnesses. To which I do set my hand and seal this sixteenth day of March, one thousand six hundred and forty-seven."

Signed: Nigel Kingscote, in the presence of Rupert Mainwaring, Knight Banneret of Mainwaring Hall, in the County of Berkshire, and Anselm Wolf, Priest.

The parchment fluttered crisply from the girl's nerveless hands. "Damaris!" cried Alaric hoarsely—"Damaris!" Coherent speech he could not find.

The girl raised her head. "It is true—it is true!" she said brokenly. "We, father and I, are the usurpers! Kingscote Manor is yours, and we are paupers!"

"Not paupers, dearest, but partners," answered Alaric, and in his eyes there was that which told her how Kingscote love stood wind and weather as steadily as Kingscote Oak.

Squire Kingscote now sleeps with his fathers in the little Berkshire churchyard. But ere he died his declining years were brightened by the generous forgiveness of "the undesirable poor relation."

A young and sturdy sapling oak now fourishes on the spot where stood the ancient tree—a true symbol of the lasting power of Kingscote luck and Kingscote love.—Answers.

TO RENOVATE WICKER CHAIRS.

To renovate a shabby wicker chair first cleanse the wicker thoroughly, using a scrubbing brush and plenty of soap and water. When dry, the chair can be varnished, or it can be greatly improved with a coating of two of green stain.

For the seat make a cushion of green linen or a pretty greenish cretonne. Another cushion for the back may be liked, and is easily made. Make it of the same material as the seat cushion and of bag shape, longer than wide. It may be fastened to the chair by means of tapes sewed at the top and bottom.

If a loose cushion be preferred, a pretty yellow linen would look nice and contrast well with the green. Make the case slip fashion, so that it can be easily washed. An unbleached calico bag will be good enough for the down with which the cushions are filled.

A search light is being erected at Montauk, France, which will have a brilliancy of 30,000,000 candle power and will project its rays fifty miles.

VESUVIUS IN ERUPTION.

life, customs and mannerisms of the Italian have been pictured by him in stories which have made him famous.

In his cabled description to the New York Times Crawford stated that the recent eruption of Vesuvius had been grumbling for many weeks before the outbreak which did the incalculable damage.

Smoke Two-Miles High. "An enormous volume of black smoke rise to a height of two miles above the crater," he wrote. "Incandescent masses of stone are thrown up 3,000 feet. A continuous southeasterly wind carries the ashes over Naples, which is so completely enveloped in darkness that for three days our communications by sea have been cut off."

"Fissures have opened far below the cone, emitting many streams of lava, one of which has completely destroyed the town of Boscorease, which had 10,000 inhabitants. Another has reached the outskirts of Torre del Greco, where it has destroyed thousands of acres of fertile cultivated land, with farmhouses and stock."

"The great cone of Vesuvius collapsed with awful thundering and flames, and the cable railway, the observatory and the large hotel near it were all totally destroyed. The lava carried vast masses of burnt stone and sulphur on its surface, like dross on melted lead, and nothing was visible toward Boscorease but endless acres of dark scoriae, broken here and there by the greenish curling smoke of sulphur."

"At one point we found a great pine tree, torn up by its roots and turned to black charcoal; the air was almost unbreathable; the heat intense. The faces of the people who crowded upon the edge of the arrested stream expressed terror of exhaustion from recent panic."

Feeble Attempts of Man Useless. "When the stream of fire threatened Boscorease soldiers dug a wide ditch across its path in the hope of diverting its course, but the molten stream advanced like a colossal serpent of fire, turning its head to the right and left as a snake does, but keeping its general direction toward the fated town. It was not till it reached the first house, sending up great showers of sparks, that the people finally fled for their lives."

"I saw men, women and children, and infants whose mothers carried them at the breast or in their aprons. Dogs, too, and cats were on the carts, and sometimes even chickens, tied together by the legs, and piles of mattresses and pillows, all white with dust under the lurid glare. We ourselves could hardly breathe."

This dispatch corresponds exactly in detail to Pliny's letters. The same flaming mountain and shaking earth, the same stifling smoke and ashes, the same terrifying darkness and the same helpless, distracted crowd stretching vain hands to their gods for succor.

Originally Vesuvius was in the form of a single cone. Later eruptions have broken down the southern side of the original crater, leaving the northern semi-circle, which is called Monte Somma. A smaller central cone had grown up within the ancient ruin. It is this inner cone that had its top blown off. Before the recent eruption the height of the mountain was about 4,000 feet.

TO RENEW OLD MISSION.

San Juan Capistrano Will Live Again After Long Years of Silence.

All who have heard of the picturesque old Franciscan Mission of California will be interested to learn that San Juan Capistrano, the most poetic of all these ruined structures, which contribute so much to the foreign look of "our Italy," is soon again to be made the centre of religious activity, and that after nearly a century of neglect its buildings are to be restored to their original estate.

This mission is on the railway line between Los Angeles and San Diego, and by reason of being visible from the railroad is to Eastern travelers perhaps the best known of all California missions, except Santa Barbara and San Gabriel, which are among the regulation sights for visitors to Southern California. With the restoration of San Juan Capistrano and the resumption of residence there by the Franciscan Brotherhood, it, too, will no doubt soon become a tourist resort.

The first year of the American independence saw work begun upon this ancient edifice in what was then a vast wilderness, inhabited only by Indians. The site is in a lovely, sequestered valley, which, beginning back in the canyons of the coast range, winds among grassy knolls and great treeless hills out to the Pacific, upon which it opens, three miles west of the mission. With the aid of the Indians, over whom the padres exerted both temporal and spiritual dominion, the Franciscans established here the most pretentious of all the California mission churches. Instead of being constructed of the customary adobe brick of the country, it was built of stone, laid out in the form of a Latin cross, with a great, cloistered quadrangle adjoining. Here, besides administering to the spiritual welfare of the Indians and gathering them into the fold of the church, the fathers set them to the care and the cultivation of the land, which yielded great wealth of cattle, sheep, grain, grapes and olives.

QUEEN OF FLOWERS.

Theme of the Poet and the Artist—the Rose.

GUY-ELLIOTT MITCHELL.

Roses—queens of the American flower garden!

The increasing tendency of people to patronize the rural sections, and the steadily increasing love for flowers, with the impulse to cultivate the small garden found in the city and the rural homes brings into prominence the flower of kings and of favorites—and of the humblest menial—the rose.

It is astonishing what varied types in nature there are of this flower, and how world-wide is its distribution. Wild roses are found from frigid Lapland to tropic India. The rose has the honor of being the first cultivated flower. For a long time it was a rare possession, but with the general and active love of nature that is a marked characteristic of the present times much has been learned about the culture of flowers in general, and of the rose in particular, and its special requirements are better understood.

While verandas and trellises of country homes may have their honeysuckles, and lilacs may bloom in abundance, nothing excels in beauty or fragrance the climbing roses when in their gorgeous and glorious bloom. There is no flower beset with more difficulties to grow, yet its cultivation is increasing. The harder it is to produce a beautiful thing the more highly it is prized.

Most Important Groups.

Roses of to-day are of complex lineage, for old and new species have been crossed and re-crossed until now our cultivated roses are divided into more than thirty general groups. The most important of these are: Moss, Rugosa, Hybrid Teas, Persian roses and a few June roses among the stiff, upright growing sorts of medium to tall growth; Polyanthus, upright but dwarf, and Teas, of low or half recumbent habit. The latter, by some classifiers, are again sub-divided into China, Bourbon, etc., of which classes the teas and hybrid teas are the most beautiful. They bloom longer than other types, hence they have been most widely grown.

For colder climates the hybrid perpetuals are a most valuable class, being generally hardier and larger bloomers, though they do not bloom so Roses must have good air and plenty of it, without being too much exposed; hence an elevated situation is better than one that is lower or stagnant. They should not, however, be exposed to too violent winds, for the foliage cannot stand whipping.

Sometimes the protection of a clump of trees is sought, but unless the plants are set well away from them they will be robbed of plant food by the roots of the trees. Take advantage of this kind of protection the roses should be set twenty-five feet further away from the trees than the latter's height.

The protection of buildings should be avoided, for so completely do these stop the circulation of air that mildew and blights follow from sheltered locations of this character. There are, however, exceptions to this rule, for sometimes in an elevated position there will be suitable circulation of air even close to a building. This depends largely upon the prevailing winds and the exposure of the locality.

THE QUEEN BEATRICE—ONE OF THE NEWEST ROSES.

The hot noonday sun is very hard upon the blossoms, and if the rose bed could be so located as to get a shadow cast from a clump of trees for two hours after noon such a location would be ideal.

The greatest pleasure to be derived from flowers is to have them for the freest possible use and to give to friends and others who may otherwise not be able to have them.

The soil needs to be well suited and properly prepared. For hybrid perpetuals a heavy soil is better, one that has some portion of clay in its composition. The rose requires for its best development a cool, moist soil, and for this reason the heavier type is better, carrying as it does a large amount of moisture, and being also a little lower in temperature.

condition. The latter is the surest method for the inexperienced flower grower.

How to Grow Cuttings.

How can you root summer cuttings? Make a 4 or 5-inch cutting of a rose branch that is coming into bloom, or is just through blooming. Cut just below an eye, leaving a small "heel" or strip of bark attached. Trim off the lower set of leaves even with the wood. Leave the end leaf entire and trim the leaf or two remaining, back to the first pair of leaflets. Insert these cuttings in wet sand up to the last eye. Put them in the window and keep constantly damp until they root, which should be in from 3 to 4 weeks. Tear root easily by this method.

To root from semi-dormant wood: About the beginning of autumn, September in the North, October in the South, take your cuttings. Several may be made from one cane, as pretty well ripened wood roots after this method as well as any. Make the cuttings about 6 inches long. Cut just below an eye, making a slanting cut, and trim off the lower leaves. Now dig a hole by the parent bush. Put a handful of sand at the bottom. If you have it, and fill in your cuttings, setting them one inch apart and firming the earth very solidly about them. Only about an inch of the upper stem should project above the ground. Put a glass fruit jar over the cuttings, sinking the jar well into the ground, then bank up the earth a couple of inches around the can. Let the cuttings, jar and all, rigidly alone until spring is well advanced. It will be found then that nearly every cutting has rooted. This plan seems to be a success wherever it is tried, North, South, East or West. Nearly all hybrid teas and perpetuals root well in this way. So do moss, memorial and rambler roses.

In the culture of roses the greatest trials and disappointments are met with in the insects that persistently attack them and of which there are many. One of the first in the early summer is the green fly or aphid.

How to Kill the Aphid.

This will be discovered on the tips of the bushes and also upon the buds and about their stems. The insects suck the sap from these tender parts and greatly check the growth and development of the buds. Dusting with hellebore will keep them in check, or they may be sprayed with one pound of caustic potash whale oil soap dissolved in eight gallons of water. This is easy work.

One of these insects will be the progenitor of over 5,000 million descendants at the end of five generations, which makes the discovery and prompt treatment of the first ones highly important.

The leaf roller is another enemy that rolls up the leaves and also works upon the buds, eating small holes in the ends.

Then there are other caterpillars, the young of moths and butterflies, that feed upon the foliage and also upon the buds. These should be hand picked or crushed as it is difficult to reach them after they have protected themselves by the folding of the leaves.

The rose-bug or rose-chaffer is a small brown beetle that appears in of great value in getting the finest blooms and the longest bud development. Good wood dirt is excellent. Fine, strong plants, set while entirely dormant, should give a satisfactory quantity of flowers the first summer. In planting, the tops should be cut down to two or three buds.

Many fall at this point to prune close enough. On well-grown plants there is usually too much wood left. The desire to obtain blossoms the first summer is so great that frequently the entire top is left to grow, which is too much for the root to support.

The reverse should be done, for by close pruning the few buds left will develop into strong, vigorous shoots that will produce buds, and only by this practice can they be surely obtained.

A good general rule to follow in pruning is to cut severely all teas, hybrid teas, and kinds that do not make strong growth; and to cut all strong growing kinds moderately. The more luxuriant a bush grows the less pruning will be required, but the weakest growing kinds require the severest pruning.

While florists have their own way of propagating roses, amateurs usually get a start of everblooming roses either from cuttings of the blooming wood, or from cuttings of mature wood rooted during winter while in a semi-dormant

We are not taking any chance in doing this, no matter who you are. The comfort and relief you will procure will be sufficient—a constant reminder of what you owe us. If the protector fails to do all we say in the following paragraphs you may return it to us and there will be no further argument. That will end the transaction completely.

If it does as we say; if it gives you immediate relief and permanent comfort you will send us 50 cents; and if you have bunions on both feet we know that you will order one for the other foot when you remit for the one protector you have been wearing for ten days.

The Fischer Bunion Protector is a neat, soft leather device that is worn over the stocking, inside a smaller shoe than you have been in the habit of wearing on your bunion-tortured foot.

It requires no buckling or strapping, it is self-adjusting, it will not slip or shift, it will fill out the hollows immediately surrounding the enlarged joint, and will absolutely prevent the shoe from bulging, retaining perfect shape and correct lines.

Ours is a business built on faith. Three years ago the Fischer Bunion Protector was made in a small cobblering shop by hand. Today the demand requires a daily output of thousands of pairs.

If your shoe dealer or druggist handles our device you need not write to us. He will lend you the protector for trial on the same terms we offer here. He has seen the evidence of the reliefs we have performed and he knows what the protector will do. In case he cannot supply you, all you have to do is to fill out this coupon or write us a letter. Tell us on which foot you are troubled and we will send you one protector. You need not even send postage. We assume every expense.

If at the end of the trial period you are not relieved, you return the protector to us. If you desire to keep it, remit us 50 cents and 50 cents for the one for your other foot if you need it also.

We receive thousands of letters monthly from people who suffered the tortures of a bunion but who now walk with perfect comfort with the aid of the Fischer Bunion Protector. Here is one of them.

THE FISCHER MFG. CO.,
436 Scott St., Milwaukee, Wis.

GENTLEMEN:—
The Bunion Protector received one week ago yesterday. I put on new shoes as directed after adjusting the protector on the bunion and with but little faith put the shoe on. I cannot now find words to express my thanks to you for the ease and comfort I have had for the last seven days. Although I have been on my feet from early morning until night, and in that time have walked squares out in the city, have not suffered an instant with my bunion. I would not be without the protector for $5.00. I have spoken to several of my friends and acquaintances and think you will get their orders from here. I will enclose $1.00; 50 cents for protector received and 50 cents for the one for my left foot. Thanking you for your persistence in inducing me to try your device, I remain,
Ever your friend, long as the teas. (These have been obtained by crossing the French and Damask roses with the China rose.

Roses are propagated by cuttings, by budding, grafting and layering. All varieties will not root equally well from cuttings and layers, and budding is largely done.

The budding roses have to be carefully watched, for being started on strong briar and Manetti roots they are quite apt to throw out shoots from their own roots which are vigorous and soon overcome and run out the bud. They may be readily discerned when they do come out, for their leaves and wood are of a different character from that of the bud, the wood being covered with fine prickly spines and the leaves being seven in number of three serrations instead of five, as in most of the budded kinds.

Budded roses should be planted deep so that the bud is at least three inches below the surface of the soil, when there will be less trouble from the suckers. The roots should be examined, and any eyes or buds that are starting upon them should be carefully taken out.

The teas and hybrid teas will do better in a little lighter soil of the loam type, but for either class there must be perfect drainage.

Have Your Soil Rich.

The soil can hardly be made too rich. Well composted manure should be worked down deep into the bottom of the bed or of the rows if they are not in the latter form. This should be cow manure, as that is of a cooler nature and better suited to the requirements of the plant. Horse manure is too heating and will injure the roots if used in large quantities. Liquid manure used in a diluted form once a week after the buds are formed will be

DRS. KENNEDY & KERGAN

Specialists in the Treatment of Nervous, Blood, Skin and Special Diseases of Men and Women. Established 25 Years.

No names used without written consent. Cures guaranteed.

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through excesses. Chas. Anderson was one of the victims, but was rescued in time. He says: "I sowed my wild oats when young. A chance came over me. I could feel it; my friends noticed it; I became nervous, despondent, gloomy; had no ambition, easily tired, evil forebodings, poor circulation, pimples on face, back weak, restless at night, tired and weak mornings, burning sensation. To make matters worse I became reckless and contracted other diseases. I tried many doctors and medical firms—all failed till Drs. Kennedy & Kergan took my case. In one week I felt better, and in a few weeks was entirely cured. They are the only reliable and honest Specialists in the country."

BEWARE—We guarantee to cure you or no pay. You run no risk. We have a reputation and business at stake. Beware of frauds and impostors. We will pay $1,000 for any case we take that our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will not cure.

We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Poisons, Weakness, Eczema, Bladder Diseases, Consultation free. Books free. Call or write for Question List for Home Treatment.

The marriage of Benjamin Schroeder and Miss Maggie Bilow took place in Echo township Monday afternoon. Rev. George Allan performed the ceremony in the presence of about twenty five guests. Miss Schroeder, sister of the groom acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Jackson, of Central Lake was groomsmen. After the wedding a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. The contracting parties are well-known young people of this locality and have the hearty congratulations of a host of friends.

The Charlevoix Sentinel of last week contained a half column article relative to the "Ward Road" in which it states that the road will probably be sold to the M. C. people by the 15th of this month. We do not know who Bro. Smith's informant is, but as near as The Herald can find out the "deal" is practically where it was six months ago. The Road may be sold today, tomorrow or six years from now—there is nothing definite. The M. C. wanted to buy the Ward Estate made a proposition but, as yet, it has not been accepted. It will take several years yet to cut the pie off the Ward Estate and these people must have cheap transportation facilities—it was for this reason that the road was built—and they probably don't intend to let the M. C. get control without that feature being definitely understood.

GOOD BUSINESS CHANCE: For Sale—700 tons of ice with buildings, horse and wagon, tools etc. Excellent opening for the right man. Apply to THE HERALD OFFICE for particulars.

For just two weeks commencing with this issue I will give with every order amounting to $7.00 and over, enough picture including for one year. Remember this moulding is absolutely free of charge. My work is all fully guaranteed. O. H. MOYNA, Painter and Paper Hanger.

Most fortunate is the boy or girl, the young man or the young lady who is given the opportunity to attend school in our little city. Its educational advantages surpass any town of like size in the state.

Fred Nelson was waylaid Saturday night and after being rendered unconscious by a blow on the head, robbed of his pocketbook. He lay in the snow and damp from about 11 p. m. until 5 a. m. when discovered. A warrant has been issued charging Melvin Provost with the crime, but he has not yet been apprehended.

The lecture given by Rev. George Allan at Loveday Opera House last Friday evening under auspices of the M. E. Ladies' Aid Society was well attended, over 200 tickets being sold. Mr. Allan divided his subject—"The Court of Monte Cristo"—into two parts and during the intermission Miss Blanche Robertson favored with a solo.

Some of our boys seem to have the gymnasium craze. That is right and proper, but after all the cheapest and best gymnasium in the world—one that will exercise every bone and muscle in the body—is a flat piece of steel, notched in one side, fitted tightly into a wooden frame, and, after being greased on both sides with a bacon rind, rubbed into a stick of wood lengthwise on a sawbuck.

A distressing accident occurred at the Shingle Mill, Monday, when Harry Curkendall slipped and fell against a circular saw, cutting his right forearm near the elbow through the first bone and into the second. He was wearing a new pair of shoes and in pushing a bunch of shingles his foot slipped throwing him onto the saw. Harry had his "nerve" with him and after the doctors had dressed the wound he declined to ride home, preferring to walk. The cut is healing nicely.

What It Costs To Cook With Electricity.

The experience of a Portland (Oregon) family of six, consisting of five adults and a child, affords a timely and interesting object lesson as to the utility and economy of electricity for the purposes of the household.

During the last three months this family has used electricity exclusively for cooking and for operating the flatirons used in the laundry. Three meals were prepared each day, and the laundry work included the clothing of the entire family.

An examination of the bills for electric service supplied this family shows that the cost averages $5 a month; this, of course, does not include the lighting service.

The head of this family, in conversation with a representative of the Portland General Electric Co., remarked that the advantages enjoyed by his family, in the use of electricity for cooking, the cleanliness, the absence of discomfort from leaky valves and smoking stoves, the absence of danger from flames, the perfect results so quickly and easily obtained with electric utensils, were both a revelation and a surprise to him, and that the cost for this service was no less astonishing by reason of its economy.

PROVOKINGLY FUNNY.

Have you ever had a long weary Sunday before you—apparently a never-ending day when nothing imaginable would provoke one of those full, hearty, whole-souled laughs from which is derived the old, favorite adage, "Laugh and grow fat"? If such a day comes to you again and you want a merry laugh for the pleasure it gives turn to the Comic Colored Supplement of THE CHICAGO RECORD-HERALD'S Sunday edition. It is certainly an exterminator of the "blues." Filled completely with fresh, breezy jokes and irresistibly comic illustrations in colors, sparkling with wit and humor of an enterprising as well as instructive nature, it is a paper to amuse all who see it. Four pages in colors and four in black-and-white, this—the best colored supplement issued by any metropolitan newspaper—makes of that newspaper a combination of a mock-up Sunday newspaper and a humorous weekly in colors.
The mechanical work involved in the making of this colored supplement is a marvel of skill. The harmonious arrangements and perfect blending of the many colors used in its make-up portray artistic taste of the highest order.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "if will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc. If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out. You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured by your cure, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."

Two Sizes, 50 Cents and $1.00.
