Renominate

A. B. Darragh

For Congressman From This District.

At the earnest solicitation of a large number of representative citizens from every county in the Eleventh Congressional District, Congressman A. B. Darragh has consented to become a candidate for renomination. The people of this district are beginning to realize as never before the importance of continuing a Congressman in office more than one or two terms. His influence on legislation and his efficiency increase with length of service. The excellent work which Mr. Darragh has done for his constituents has created a general demand for his renomination. Mr. Darragh is a firm believer in the idea that the people should rule.

HON. A. B. DARRAGH.

It was at his suggestion that the Republican Congressional Committee took the necessary action toward securing the nomination of Congressman in the Eleventh District by direct vote. In this as in all his official acts he has labored solely in behalf of the people. No Congressman in Michigan has been a more faithful guardian to their interests.

These are some of Mr. Darragh's official acts which have created in every county in the district a strong desire for his renomination:

His unswerving devotion to his constituents. Always advocating their interests by voice and vote.

His position well up on the important committee of "Post Offices and Post Roads," one of the most important committees, having in charge the enormous appropriation of $102,000,000. His position on this committee and wide acquaintance have enabled him to accomplish for his district in securing an extension of the rural free delivery, what has been accomplished by but few other Congressmen in the United States. Four years ago, when Mr. Darragh took office, there were but nine rural routes in the district. Now there are 199 and every county that comes within the law has complete county delivery.

He has secured large appropriation for the improvement of Charlevoix harbor.

He has secured liberal appropriations for the Indian School at Mt. Pleasant.

It was due to his unceasing labor that a fine public building for Traverse City, a storm warning station constructed on Beaver Island and a cable built from St. James to Charlevoix at cost of $35,000.

He is one of but three old soldiers left in Congress from Michigan. In him the veteran recognizes his warmest friend.

He has secured many pensions for deserving soldier and will have their united support.

A vote for renomination of Mr. Darragh on September 4th is a vote in the interest of every citizen in the Eleventh Congressional District. No new man can do as much for the district and all its citizens.

List of Advertisers Letters.

Michigan Crop Report.

Lansing, Mich., July 10, 1906. The weather in the State according to the Michigan Weather Bureau, was cool, the temperature being on an average from four to six degrees lower than one year ago.

The precipitation for the State was about 0.25 of an inch below the normal.

WHEAT.

Correspondents report wheat badly damaged by the Hessian fly and rust. Under existing conditions it is safe to predict that the crop will be considerably below the average and the berry of inferior quality.

The average estimated yield is, in the State and northern counties 13, in the southern counties 12, and in the central counties 14 bushels per acre.

CORN.

Correspondents quite generally complain of the weather during the first half of June being too cold and wet for corn and considerable damage done by cut worms. The condition of the corn is, in the southern counties 87, in the central counties 93, in the northern counties 74 and in the State 85.

POTATOES.

The condition of potatoes is, in the southern counties 93, in the central counties 96, in the northern counties 97 and in the State 94.

SUGAR BEETS.

The condition of sugar beets is, in the southern counties 87, in the central counties 95, in the northern counties 93 and in the State 85.

CLOVER.

The condition of clover sown this year as compared with an average is, in the State, southern and central counties 92 and in the northern counties 90.

PEAS.

The acreage of peas sown compared with an average for past five years is in the southern counties 86, in the central counties 83, in the northern counties 101 and in the State 88.

FRUIT.

The condition of fruit throughout the State is not very promising owing largely to the mild weather during the winter, late frosts and ravages of insects. Correspondents report a very heavy June drop of tree fruit; winter apples will be a very short crop and early apples about an average.

The following percentage gives the averages as regard to fruit in the northern: Apples, Prospect for an average crop, per cent 55; Peaches, 34; Pears, 45; Plums, 40; Orchards, 54; Trees 81; Grapes, 60; Black Raspberries, 92.

A DRAMATIC ARTIST.

The Winning Ways of the Man Dressmaker of Paris.

The dressmaker is a slim young man with a long nose and big, winsome eyes. Wearing a gray frock coat and patent leather shoes, corseted and powdered and perfumed, he is more than a man; he is a dressmaker. He is saturated with dandyism. It is not of an offensive kind. His manners are a strange mixture of humility and insolence, for he is at once a salesman and an artist. And he talks, talks, talking, bending his slim body into polite curves, gesticulating with his thin white hands, rolling his eyes in their palated orbits, the while he fumbles silks and velvets and satins and lace and wool.

The mere man who comes into a dressmaker's shop of an afternoon—in Paris no one goes to the dressmaker's save only in the afternoon—begins by sneering at this fantastic creature. That mood does not last long. Content gives way to admiration. There is something marvelous in the way this lord of lace and ribbon dominates the women, the royal highness as well as the spoiled actress. He is charming; he is frivolous. Then of a sudden his face darkens, he becomes serious, he stares at her royal highness, studying her form from head to foot; he smites his brow and cries despairingly: "No, no, I can't see you in that gown—today I can't see you in any gown—I will study—an inspiration will come—you must wait." And royalty goes away flattered, she knows not why. Vance Thompson in Woman's Home Companion.

Landon's Prose.

No poet has ever been a bad prose writer, whenever he cared to drop from poetry into prose; but it is doubtful whether any poet has been quite so fine, accomplished and persistent a prose writer as Landon. "Poetry," he tells us in one of his most famous passages, "was always my amusement, prose my study and business. I have published five volumes of 'Imaginary Conversations,' cut the worst of them through the middle, and there will remain in this decimal fraction quite enough to satisfy my appetite for fame. I shall dine late; but the dining room will be well lighted, the guests few and select." Without his prose Landon is indeed but half, if he is half, himself. —Arthur Symons in Atlantic.

Paul Jones' Promise.

After the great fight in which John Paul Jones in the Bonhomme Richard made splinters and shreds of the British vessel Scorpion the English government generously decided that though vanquished beyond a question, the captain of the lost vessel had behaved with becoming bravery and deserved promotion to the rank of commodore. John Paul Jones heard of this promotion and its cause and said, "Well, by George, if I ever meet that chap again I'll make him an admiral."

The democrats of Michigan should not entirely forget that two whole years must elapse before J. W. Bryan can possibly become a campaign issue. In the meantime there is a state campaign before them, and many heretofore paramount issues which they seem to be forgetting. Mr. Bryan's prospective candidacy will receive adequate consideration from the republicans when the proper time arrives, and in the meantime they will do their best to keep it true, as Bryan declared in London, that in all that a nation seeks to attain, and all a people should strive to be, the United States stands foremost.

The Delineator for August.

A wealth of suggestions for the newest Summer gowns to be found in the August Delineator, which is interesting not only from the standpoint of fashion, but for its reading as well. Among the fiction of the number is the second installment of "The Chauffeur and the Chaperon," the delightful motor-boat romance by the Williamses, authors of many automobile stories; also two entertaining short stories by Carroll Watson Rankin and Marvin Dana. Carolyn Wells contributes the "Ruhayat of Summer Kayah," written in her illimitable style. Clara E. Laughlin tells the story of the life of Rembrandt, whose pictures are held invaluable in the world's best collections of art, and Gustav Kobbe writes of the famous civil war song of the south, "Dixie," and its composer, Dan Emmett, the old minstrel. In the Campaign for Safe Foods, Mrs. Abel contributes a chapter on "The Market Inspector and the Buyer," which concludes this series of notable articles. There are numerous articles devoted to the interests of the home;—The Kitchen, House Furnishing, Needlework and Dressmaking; and the children's pages include a variety of features having for the purpose the entertainment of young folks.

BOSTON'S NEW CHURCH.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DEDICATE TWO MILLION DOLLAR MOTHER TEMPLE.

Thousands From All Parts of World Thronged Historic City.—Church Seats 5000.—Taller Than Bunker Hill Monument.

The dedication in June of a magnificent new addition to the Mother Church of the Christian Science denomination, in Boston, was an event of the highest significance in the history of this religious body.

Built as the result of a spontaneous recognition of Mrs. Eddy's life work and of the imperative demands of the marvelous growth of the movement, expressing the liberality of thousands of Christian Scientists, and embodying the best in architectural design and modern construction, this new building was logically the central feature of this year's gathering.

The church is one of the largest, if not the largest in the United States, its seating capacity being 5,012. Its style of architecture is Italian Renaissance. The pews and other interior finishings are of mahogany. The walls are Concord granite and Bedford stone, with beautiful decorative carvings. The inside finish is a soft gray to harmonize with the Bedford stone columns supporting the dome. The height of the building to the top of the lantern is 224 feet, just one foot higher than Bunker Hill monument. The dome is eighty-two feet in diameter and is covered with terra cotta to match the Bedford stone. The building presents a stately, dignified and impressive appearance, and it is already recognized as one of the landmarks of Boston.

The cost of the building is something less than $2,000,000. The new chimes consist of eleven bells, the largest of which weighs 4,000 pounds. The smallest bell weighs 400 pounds. The organ is one of the largest and finest in the world.

The original "Mother Church" which adjoins the new building seats about 1,200, and yet three Sunday services are required to accommodate the attendance. It is said that when this edifice was planned some of the members were disturbed on account of its size. They thought that the provision of so large an auditorium was entirely uncalled for, the attendance at that time being only about 550.

Mrs. Eddy, organized the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston in 1879 with twenty-six members. So slow was the growth of the movement at first that in 1889, ten years later, there were only eleven churches. From that time, however, the increase was more rapid. In 1890, there were 301 churches. There are now 637 churches and 275 societies not yet organized as churches, making 932 societies holding church services. In 1889 there were only 450 members in the entire connection. In 1894 the total membership was 2,536. Five years later it had reached 18,124. These figures show that the principal growth has taken place during the past seven years. The membership at the present time is about 72,000.

The dedicatory exercises were attended by visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada, from Great Britain, Australia, Sweden, Denmark, France, Germany, Switzerland, the Hawaiian Islands, South America and other foreign countries.

One hundred and forty-five church edifices have already been erected by the Christian Scientists. These, as a whole, compare favorably with those of the older denominations. It is said that when funds are no longer needed for the completion of the Mother Church a large number of buildings will be commenced in different parts of the country.

EARTHQUAKE RECORDERS.

They Are the Most Delicate of All Instruments.

The instruments invented for the recording of the motions of the earth's crust during an earthquake are looked upon by scientists as the most delicate of all machines. So highly sensitive are they, indeed, that the very slightest vibratory motion is recorded perfectly. Even the tread of feet cannot escape this instrument, if sufficient to cause vibration.

There are three classes of instruments for the automatic recording of earthquakes, each with its own particular function. First is the seismoscope, which will merely detect and record the fact that there has been an earth tremor. Some of these are so equipped as to indicate the time of the disturbance.

Second is the seismometer, the function of which is to measure the maximum force of the shock, either with or without an indication of its direction. The third instrument is the seismograph, which is so arranged that it will accurately record the number, succession, direction, amplitude and period of successive oscillations. The last instrument is by far the most delicate of the three.

In the construction of this earthquake-recording machine the maker must so suspend a heavy body that when its normal position is disturbed in the most infinitesimal degree, no reactionary force will be developed tending to restore it to its original position. The inventor has never been found who could accomplish this suspension of a body to perfection. The seismograph of to-day, however, has reached a stage of perfection where close approximations are obtained in the records made.

The complementary part of the instrument is composed of a system of levers connecting an astatically suspended body with various surfaces that are moved by clockwork. These surfaces are constructed of highly sensitive material, on which needles play as the suspended weight responds to the vibrations of the earth's crust. The most elaborate of these machines are capable of recording the vertical and two horizontal motions of the earth in the case of a seismic disturbance.

HAD A GOOD SPANKING.

Boy, Rescued From Drowning, Mother Administers an Additional Lesson.

An interesting little story of very human interest comes from the river front on the outskirts of New York City, where Signora Genaro, who recently came to this country from Naples, was walking the other day with her seven-year-old son, Antonio, for an airing. While she was watching a passing steamboat, the little chap tripped along the pier and then splashed into the river.

The mother's shrieks were heard by a patrolman. He jumped into a boat and fished out Antonio. The policeman had only one ear, and it was awkward work getting to the boy and lifting him into the boat. When the signora saw that her son was safe the anguish in her face gave way to a look of resolute purpose, and as the dripping Antonio was placed on the wharf she laid him across her knee and did what Neapolitan and other mothers have done to their erring jewels ever since boys wore pants.

Her Master Was a Gentleman.

A Boston couple were recreating near Augusta, and met an old negro woman to whom they took a fancy. They invited her to pay them a visit, and the colored woman accepted, especially as her expenses were to be paid.

In due time she arrived in Boston and was installed in the house of the white folks. She was given one of the best rooms, and ate at the same table with her host and hostess.

At one of the meals the hostess said: "Mrs. Jones, you were a slave, weren't you?"

"Yes, mum," replied the old colored woman. "I belonged to Mars Robert Howell."

"I suppose he never invited you to eat at his table?" remarked the Boston lady.

"No, honey, dat he didn't. My master was a gemmen. He ain't never let no nigger set at the table 'longside er him."

Eschew Teeth Examinations.

Never look a gift horse in the mouth; but if he's spavined or knocked need there's nothing to hinder your taking account of these accomplishments.

Could Talk United States.

A Cuban negro, who came to Alabama shortly after the cessation of the Spanish-American war, became involved, says General Fred Grant, in a quarrel with a native colored citizen of the State mentioned. In his imperfect English, the Cuban darkly contemptuously referred to the Alabamian as "an African."

"Maybe I is," quickly rejoined the offended one, "but ef I is an African, I thank de Lawd I ain't no Spaniel; an' what's more, I ain't no black Phillistine! I kin speak United States; I kin!"

RENAMING THE SIOUX.

SOME TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND INDIANS ARE RECEIVING CHRISTIAN NAMES.

Educated Indian Tribesmen Selected by the "Great Father" to Rechristen Braves—Bob-tailed Coyote Becomes Robert T. Wolf.

Uncle Sam has recently inaugurated a unique and ingenious project in connection with his Indian wards—or at least the most populous division of them. This is nothing less than a scheme for renaming every chief and brave, every squaw and papoose of the Sioux tribe. The object of this wholesale rechristening is to insure the right descent of property, something that has been attended with much difficulty under the old condition of affairs when the Sioux had no family name, and each redskin could be identified only by his own individual fanciful name, a cognomen which most likely had not the slightest resemblance to those of any of his relatives.

The renaming of the 25,000 members of the Sioux Indian tribe was ordered by President Roosevelt on the advice of Hamlin Garland and George Bird Grinnell, well known authors, and other persons who have made a study of the needs of the Indians. To decide upon the renaming was however an easy matter in comparison to the actual carrying out of the strange undertaking.

SUSPICIONS OF THE INDIANS.

The President and his advisers realized from the outset that it would be one thing to give the Indians new names and quite another to induce the sons and daughters of the forest—ever suspicious of the white men—to accept and use these new names. However, the Great Father at Washington was fortunate enough to enlist the cooperation of Dr. Charles Alexander Eastman, a highly educated physician and clergyman, who is a full-blooded Sioux, and who came into national prominence some time since when he married Elaine Goodale, the talented young New England poetess. At the President's solicitation Dr. Eastman, who is considered the best educated Indian in the world, agreed to personally undertake the task of inducing his people to adopt the system of family names desired by the government.

Just what this responsibility meant will be better understood when it is explained that not only was Dr. Eastman to visit all the Indian villages of the Sioux tribe and personally bestow names but he must also devise or invent the new names. Just imagine selecting given names for 25,000 persons of both sexes and apportioning perhaps half as many or one third as many different family names in addition.

In the portion of his novel missionary work for Uncle Sam, the Name Giver, as the Sioux now term their educated tribesman, has displayed rare judgment and a fine regard for family history and tradition among the Sioux—a thoughtfulness that has done much to win the good will of those intelligent but conservative Indians for the new project. Whenever possible he has perpetuated an Indian's old name in his new one. For instance High Eagle becomes Mr. Highearte, Bob-tailed Coyote was changed to Robert T. Wolf, and Totten Pumpkin has been transformed into Robert Pumpkin.

Dr. Eastman has been making a round of all the Sioux reservations which are located for the most part in the Dakotas and elsewhere in the Northwest. When he arrives at a branch agency, or tribal headquarters, for the purpose of rechristening the inhabitants his first move is to have a conference with the chief men or counselors of the place. They, in turn, send out a herald or town crier to summon all the people to a sort of mass meeting and at this the "Name Giver" explains the President's wishes at length.

EAGLE TRACK.

THROUGH INDIAN SUBTLETY.

At the outset many of the assembled Indians may be prone to grumble against the new system, but gradually Dr. Eastman will win them over, and in his labors thus far he has not encountered more than half a dozen Indians who have steadfastly refused to change their names. However, hundreds of the Indians have confided to him that they would accept the new system of names only because they had the assurance of a fellow tribesman (Dr. Eastman) that it was a good plan, and that they would never have tolerated it had a white man come among them and broached the scheme.

Although the renaming of the Sioux is not yet completed it has already been proven that the new system of names will be of the greatest benefit and value in insuring the correct descent of Government allotments of land from generation to generation. Incidentally it may be noted that even thus early this untangling of lines of descent has won for some Indians valuable property rights previously denied them. As a case in point it may be cited that only a few weeks ago Dr. Eastman was instrumental in securing for a young squaw 640 acres of rich land of high value which had been temporarily lost to her owing to her separation from her own tribe, and which an unscrupulous relative was on the point of selling when President Roosevelt's special commissioner stepped in and set things right.

THE BLACK SEAL PURSE.

"Snatch it! Snatch it!" whispered Reddy the "lookout," pal to "Jimmy the Swift," who won this title from the lightning rapidity with which he was known to relieve men's pockets of their contents.

In a moment the practiced fingers of Jimmy had skillfully extracted a fat seal purse from the pocket of a slight young man who was busily elbowing his way through the crowd that was besieging a belated Broadway car.

The day had not been a rich one for the "picks," and Jimmy eyed the thin purse rather suspiciously.

"Mighty slim-looking, hey, Red?"

spell the hard words to his chum, who listened with a cynical smile. At the end of the reading he was about to shout with derisive laughter, when Jim, springing forward, collared him, and with a tone utterly new to him, said sternly:

"Look here, Red! You and I's friends—that's all right; but as sure as I'm a thief, this here ain't no stuff for a feller to laugh at!"

For an answer Red thrust his hands into his pockets, eyeing Jim curiously the while, and turned on one foot with a long low whistle.

"I never had no mother," murmured Jim. "She died when I was a little chap, so I never knew her, but it must be awfully nice for a feller to have a mother like that to be good to him, and learn him things. Why, who knows, perhaps if you and me had had mothers like that livin', instead of bein' kicked 'round by t.e. boss, who never gets enough out of us, we might a had a good schoolin' and been makin' an honest livin', instead of thievin' in New York."

These words of regret upon the past of his young life, and the expressed desire for something better, from one whose only home almost since infancy had been the street, and whose companions had been crooks and near-do-wells, was too much for the incorrigible Reddy, whose worship consisted of heroes that were daring villains, and not penitent sinners.

He could hardly suppress his contempt for the, to him, now "Soft" Jimmy, hence he drawled, with a sneer:

"You ain't goin' to squeal on account of that find, be you, Jim?"

"See, there you are! Go ahead, Jim. Look at the bunch of greenies sticking out of the old feller's coat—quick, Jim!"

The habit of years could not be overcome in a moment. Goaded by his tempter, Jimmy stealthily leaped forward, and in a second his fingers would have been on the bunch of paper money which the evil eye of Reddy "spotted" in the old man's pocket. Like a flash came the sight of the purse, the gray lock of hair, the words in the newspaper that made such an impression upon him, and he would not, he could not any more. His hand dropped to his side. The old man disappeared with the money, safe from Jimmy's wicked fingers.

Jim's head sank until his chin rested upon his naked chest, his companion glaring at him with eyes furious with anger.

"Well, 'tain't no use," said Jim, quietly but firmly; "I couldn't, Red, somehow, after that—and I'll never try it again."

"You get another pal—if you want to—but I tell you that I ain't goin' to keep this here pocketbook nor nothin' what's in it. It's done it for me; I've quit the profession."

That night a black seal purse was left in the office of one of the great New York newspapers, with a note scrawled in pencil, as follows:

"Please try to find the owner of this. I guess he wants it bad. The thief as was."—Los Angeles Times.

"But, mamma, the child persisted, 'I want to see my papa.'"

PALISADE PATTERNS.

A DUSTING OUTFIT

Designed by BERTHA BROWNING.

No housekeeper can afford to be without a useful apron, cap and sleeves for the time when the house must be swept and dusted and there is no one else to do it. These are invaluable on other occasions when there is other work to do which would soil Missy's gown and the models sketched are designed especially for home construction and very easily made. The apron consists of a narrow square yoke from which the full straight portion depends. The underarm seam is left open for a short distance to allow plenty of room for the sleeve to pass through. The cap is modelled on the quaint Dutch order and very becoming. The sleeves provide for a shirt string or elastic to be run in top and bottom to hold them in place. Gingham, percale and madras are suitable materials. For the medium size 6 yards are needed.

OUR HOME TOWN.
A Department Devoted to Village Betterment.
RICHARD HAMILTON BYRD.

The editor of this department desires to keep in touch with the active members of Civic and Local Improvement Associations, and every one interested in the improvement and the protection of rural village life.

What is being done in your town to encourage small industries and for home employment? What is being done along the line of street improvement and the beautifying of private lawns and public parks?

Are your local merchants receiving the support of the local trade?

Experience, plans and suggestions will be welcomed by the editor of this department and so far as possible given place in these columns.

THE INDEPENDENT TOWN.

Make Each Rural Center Dependent Upon Itself and Its Own Resources.

There has lately developed a strong sentiment looking to the improvement of the home town—making each community, as much as possible, dependent upon itself and its own resources and those of its surrounding country, and independent of the great centres which are constantly striving to secure a portion of the local wealth. This local self-sufficiency may be fostered by an individual and co-operative determination to bring the town up to its highest possible plane of comfort, general usefulness and beauty to its residents. This may be described as a movement for civic improvement.

The accumulation of considerable wealth in many American villages and towns, during the last ten or twenty years, the development of popular education and the increase of leisure, has given an opportunity for the performance of public duties, such as had not seemed to exist to the younger man or woman of the former generation, who, in the effort to secure a livelihood and establish a home had given little thought to the duties of citizenship and social responsibilities.

It is only within a comparatively few years that "nature study" has entered into any of the public-school work, or even manual training, while there are many who yet think that such institutions as gymnasiums, baths, playgrounds, and even vacation schools and free lectures are unnecessary time-consumers for the young.

Nevertheless the general movement for a better education along rural lines and for backyard and street improvement, and the general betterment of the village and town is rapidly increasing.

As an instance of this, even in such a large city as St. Louis, girls and boys are given practical instruction in gardening through the Junior School of Horticulture of the Missouri Botanical Gardens. The children are permitted to sell their own products—a decided stimulus to their efforts—and in this way many of them earn considerable pocket money for vacation time. This school has been in operation for a number of years and is of great value to the citizens as well as to the children of the city, the latter of whom would otherwise know practically nothing of nature as country children know it.

Even in Texas the school garden and town improvement idea has made headway, although there has been greater difficulty in obtaining popular approval and support, possibly, than in any other section of the country, owing to the fact, perhaps, that the Lone Star State has vast areas of unoccupied land, and to the fact that the influential majority has been but a short time removed from the cattle

THE AGRICULTURAL HIGHSCHOOL.

Successful Examples Described by Crosby of Department of Agriculture Through Rural Education.

In the new Year Book of the Department of Agriculture, just issued, is a description by D. J. Crosby, of the office of Experiment Stations, which shows, in a number of instances, what splendid results are being attained through the introduction of common sense agricultural studies in some of the country village schools, and how they directly affect and benefit their home-towns. There is what appears to be, an almost ideal Pennsylvania village high school, which the writer visited. He describes what he saw:

In Erie County, Pa., surrounded by a good general farming and dairy country, is the village of Waterford, on the outskirts of which is the site of Fort le Boeuf, of French and Indian war fame. At Waterford the first school in Erie County was established in 1800, and here as far back as 1822 was erected a stone academy building, which is used to-day as the main part of the high-school building. The township of Waterford has a population of 1,460 and about one half reside in the borough of Waterford. The borough has its own elementary school, but the high school is supported and controlled jointly by the borough and township.

This high school, with its three teachers and three courses of study (language, scientific, and agricultural), has an enrollment of 80 pupils, and 35 of these are in the agricultural course. This course includes agriculture, five hours a week for four years. The work of the first year is devoted to a study of plant life—germination, plant growth, plant food, reproduction, propagation, transplanting, pruning, and use of plants; the second year to a study of field, orchard, and garden crops; the third year to domestic animals, dairying, and soil physics; and the fourth year to the chemistry of soils and of plant and animal life. Text books are used in the class rooms; a small library of agricultural reference books, reports and bulletins of this Department and experiment stations, and agricultural papers contributed by the publishers is in almost constant use; and lectures on agricultural subjects are given before the class and before the whole school by the instructor in agriculture, who is an agricultural college graduate. But the feature of instruction which chiefly distinguishes this agricultural course from the ordinary high school course is the prominence given to the laboratory work and the outdoor practical. For the laboratory work there is no elaborate apparatus. The pupils make much of their own apparatus, furnish their own reagent bottles, and, moreover use them. In the plant-life course the pupils study not elaborate and carefully prepared drawings, but

It had been organized only three or four weeks, and yet the interest manifested and the readiness with which the boys and girls described the beef type, the dairy type, and various breeds of cattle, the mut on and wool types of sheep, the principal breeds of draft horses, and some of the standard-bred roadsters and trotters, were indeed surprising. At the close of the recitation the class was taken to a barn in the village where a few fine roadsters were owned. The owner was not at home, but the teacher had standing permission to take the horses to the barn in order that the class might examine them. A fine Hambletonian mare was led into the yard and examined critically by the pupils and criticised by them, the different points being brought out by skillful questioning on the part of the teacher.

From this place the class went to a livery barn where a splendid black Percheron stallion was stabled for the day. A member of the class had discovered the horse as he was being driven in from another town 14 miles away, and following the driver to the barn had got permission for the class to examine him. When the livery barn was reached the driver brought his stallion out into the street, but his thorough legs paces, and helped the teacher in calling attention to his good points and the contrasts between the draft type and the roadster type of horses, and allowed us to take several photographs. It was an instructive lesson not only for the members of the agricultural class, but for the score or more of farmers and townsmen who collected around the livery stable. In much the same way the local butcher is the instructor in the high school. The class studying the beef type of cattle, or the mutton, sheep, or the different classes of swine is taken to the butcher shop and given a demonstration lesson on cuts and their relative values, which of the breeds are apt to produce the better cuts, which the better quality, and so on.

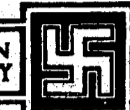

Thus this little village high school, though it pays only $2,230 a year in

Copies of "THE FIRST BOOK OF THE HOMECROFTERS" can be obtained by sending twelve two-cent stamps with your name and address (carefully and plainly written) to The Homecrofters' Guild of the Talsman, 143 Main St., Watertown, Mass.

This book is the first of a Series, that will chronicle the progress of the HOME-CROFT MOVEMENT and inform all who wish to co-operate with it how they may do so through the formation of local Homecrofters' Circles, Clubs or Guilds to promote Town and Village Betterment, stimulate home civic pride and loyalty to home institutions, industries and trade, improve methods and facilities of education in the local public schools, and create new opportunities "At Home" that will go far to check the drift of trade and population to the cities.

The first Guild of the Homecrofters has been established at Watertown, Massachusetts. The Guildhall, Shops and Gardens are located at 143 Main Street, where the Garden School is now fully organized and over one hundred children are at work in the Gardens. The departments for training in Homecraft and Village Industries are already at work at the looms.

It is not designed to build here an isolated institution, but to make a model which can be duplicated in any town or village in the country.

There is New Hope and Inspiration for every Worker who wants a Home of his own on the Land in the CREED AND PLATFORM OF THE HOMECROFTERS which is as follows:

"Peace has her victories no less renowned than war."

EDUCATION CO-OPERATION OPPORTUNITY HOMECROFTERS

We believe that the Patriotic Slogan of the Whole People of this Nation should be "Every Child in a Garden—Every Mother in a Homecroft—and Individual Industrial Independence for Every Worker in a Home of his Own on the Land," and that until he owns such a Home, the concentrated purpose and chief inspiration to labor in the life of every wage worker should be his determination to "Get an Acre and Live on it."

We believe that the Slums and Tenements and Congested Centers of population in the Cities are a savagely deteriorating social, moral and political influence, and that a great public movement should be organized, and the whole power of the nation and the states exerted for the betterment of all the conditions of Rural Life, and to create and uphold Centers of Social and Civic Life in Country and Suburban Towns and Villages, where Trade and Industry can be so firmly anchored that they cannot be drawn into the Commercial Maelstrom that is now steadily sucking Industry and Humanity into the Vertex of the Great Cities.

We believe that every Citizen in this Country has an inherent and Fundamental Right to an Education which will train him to Earn a Living, and, if need be, to get his living straight from Mother Earth; and that he has the same right to the Opportunity to have the Work to Do which will afford him that living, and to earn not only a comfortable livelihood, but enough more to enable him to be a Homecrofter and to have a Home of his Own, with ground around it sufficient to yield him and his family a Living from the Land as the reward for his own labor.

We believe that the Public Domain is the most precious heritage of the people, and the surest safeguard the nation has against Social Unrest, Disturbance or Upheaval, and that the Cause of Humanity and the Preservation of Social Stability and of our Free Institutions demand that the appropriation of the public lands into speculative private ownership, without settlement, be forthwith stopped; and that the nation should create opportunities for Homecrofters by building irrigation and drainage works to reclaim land as fast as it is needed to give every man who wants a Home on the Land a chance to get it.

We believe that, as a Nation, we should be less absorbed with Making Money, and should pay more heed to raising up and training Men who will be Law-Abiding Citizens; that the welfare of our Workers is of more consequence than the mere accumulation of Wealth; and that Stability of National Character and of Social and Business Conditions is of greater importance to the people of this country as a whole than any other one question that is now before them; and we believe that the only way to Preserve such Stability, and to Permanently Maintain our National Prosperity, is to carry into immediate effect and salaries—and only $370 for other expenses, has a faculty made up of numerous specialists and an equipment in illustrative material such as few technical high schools could afford. And the pupils are being trained in the "elements of failure and success," not only on "all the farms of the neighborhood," but in the village shops and markets. This is training for efficiency. It is training for culture, for breadth of view, and for sympathy with all that goes to make up the life of the community.

Homecroft and Craft.

The "homecroft" idea, referred to by George H. Maxwell in his address before the Biennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is closely allied to the "home arts and crafts" propaganda, in which so many, in and out of the federation, are interested. The homecrofter, owning his home and a little patch of ground—an acre or two, more or less—is of all persons the one most likely to be interested in home crafts—little lines of manufacture, which, added to the produce of his ground, may afford a support to his family, either constantly or as a substitute for wage-earning employment when some great shop or factory may be suspended. Aided, perhaps, by a little gas engine or electric motor, he may have a choice of an infinite variety of crafts, in which he and his family may profitably engage. Here is a combination which seems to offer relief from the demoralizing and dehumanizing conditions of our present factory system; also a mode of multiplying the number of those citizens, independent of both landlord and employer, who are the backbone of American democracy. Give us the homecrofter and the craftsman in one!

Keep Politics Out.

Every public-minded citizen should make it known that he is absolutely opposed to partisan, political control in the management of public parks, roadside improvement, playgrounds and like town betterments. Nothing can be more detrimental to such development than the interference of politics. Party responsibility, as a remedy for municipal mismanagement, has been proved a "delusion and a snare." Such methods have raised to important places bigoted, incompetent and sometimes dishonest men who, by reason of their weaknesses or mismanagement, have disgraced what should be honorable and respected positions. Our citizens should insist absolutely that no political considerations be allowed to interfere with park affairs, and should visit with marked censure and disapproval all city officials who prostitute their trusts for mere political gain.

Fresh Air Playgrounds.

American cities are far behind European cities in making provision for public parks, especially in providing for the instruction and amusement of children in them. In modern municipal equipment in Europe, much provision is made for the instruction and amusement of children, and in most modernized European cities large sums of money have been expended in procuring open spaces for them in districts of congested population.

range business. However, the more centralized portion of society has taken the matter up, and it is stated that the most public-spirited citizens of the towns and cities, together with the progressive teachers have made school gardens and rural education a success during the past two seasons and have aroused such enthusiasm among the pupils, that wherever it has been tried, the school garden has become a fixture.

Let your child plant his own garden, gather his own harvest of fruit and flowers, learn through his own small experience something of the influence of the sun, dew and rain, and gain thereby a remote presentation of the reciprocal energies of nature and a reverent feeling for the divine life and law expressed in nature. The child is a plant, a vegetable, and must live out of doors, or nearly so, as conditions will permit. Froebel realized that health was the basis and test of all our energies, and that this was one of the morning stars of the new hygiene.

the plants themselves with reference to their life history and economic uses. For the outdoor practical, the school is unfortunate in having neither land nor domestic animals nor fowls, and yet it has a wealth of illustrative material all around it. Every good farm within a radius of 3 or 4 miles, nearly every barn and poultry yard in the village, the butcher shops, and the farm implement stores furnish costly illustrative material and extend vastly the teaching force of the high school. The farmers and owners of good live stock either bring their animals to the door of the school house to be studied by the class in agriculture or allow the class to go to their barns and fields for this purpose. It is said to be a rare thing for a good horse to come to the village and get away without being examined by the high school class in animal husbandry.

The writer was fortunate in being the guest of the school one day last October and in having an opportunity to listen to some of the recitations in agriculture. A class of 14 boys and 6 girls were studying animal industry.

ment-exercises took occasion to refer to the philosophy of Ingalls' famous poem. "It is false, and misleading," said Mr. James. "It is not a single opportunity which comes to a man; it is a train. It is a never-ending procession, some small, some large, growing perhaps more small and more insignificant as the years flow on, but ever and always opportunities too numerous, too great, and too large for us to utilize fully."

This is good, healthy optimism. There never was a time when opportunities, of all shapes, sizes and colors hobbled up on every corner as they do to-day. And they are not confined to any particular country or locality. They are waiting everywhere. Under the rapidly changing industrial and economical conditions they are springing up in odd and out-of-the-way places. Old settlements—old villages, moss-grown and for years silent as the cemetery that clings to their skirts, are finding new youth in the revival of occupations and simple industries which twenty years ago were deemed impossible. The abandoned farms of New England—the farms that were left tenanted because it was thought that the only opportunities for success were to be found in the West—are receiving new leases of life.

PENDULUM IS SWINGING BACK.

For a full half century the American people have been money-mad. Everything has been sacrificed to the one idea of accumulation. The dollar sign became the sole badge of honor, and a man's success was measured not by what he made of himself, not by what he accomplished for his fellows or the world at large, but by the size of his pile.

This standard of success has warped the imagination of the whole people. The merchant and professional man bend every energy to the piling up of gold bricks. And the farmer, not to be outdone, lies awake nights thinking how he may get more land. He has now more than he can till, but the land has just seized him and home comforts and a quiet life are sold in the market in order that the henceance may be removed.

This has been the condition for many years, and it requires careful observation to detect any change. But a reaction has set in. The pendulum is swinging back. A growing sentiment in favor of a moderate success, a quiet life and home surroundings is apparent. With this comes a desire to get back to original principles; to abandon the cities and seek the healthful life of the farm and the village.

The growth of our cities has been abnormal—the direct result of abnormal transportation conditions. "To him that hath shall be given, and to him that hath not even that which he hath shall be taken away," has been the working policy of modern commercial transportation companies. The small town has been sacrificed to the city. This was the natural result of competition. In centers where numerous railroads meet, low rates are given to both the in-going and out-going freight, but where there is but one road, the traffic is taxed all that it will bear. This condition has had a

Tomatoes For the Cannery.

Raising tomatoes for the canneries has grown to be quite an industry in a number of States. Maryland leads the list with about two million cases per annum; Indiana, with her million cases, second; followed, in turn, by New Jersey, California, Delaware and Ohio. The canneries are permanent institutions, the demand is increasing, and there is no reason why the growing of tomatoes will not continue to be a profitable business with many.

Growing tomatoes for a cannery differs from raising them for the market. In the former case, first of all, a large yield is sought. Early maturity is of less importance since the grower contracts to sell the whole crop at a fixed price. It is said that good corn land is rich enough for tomatoes, although medium clay loam is preferred by many.

Splendid results follow fall or winter plowing. At any rate, land should be plowed early in the spring as possible. Plow deep and follow with earth mulching, that is, maintain a thin layer of fine earth on the surface by shallow cultivation, which will be of great value in saving the moisture. The variety should be such as the canneries prefer. They will generally provide the plants at a nominal price to those who grow tomato s for them. In case it is preferred to grow the plants near where they are to be set, they should be started in a cold frame or on the south side of a board fence in a rich warm soil. The plants will increase to proper size in four or five weeks, and should be set out in the field in rows about four feet apart, for ease of cultivation. Start the cultivation early, but be careful not to bark the plants, as that will kill them. When they begin to branch do not cultivate closer than the ends of the branches. Continue stirring the soil

A New Potato Culture.

A queer tale in agriculture comes by way of Chicago. It is stated that a half-bushel of sawdust, a dash of chemical solution and fifteen potatoes carefully enveloped with the sawdust will enable the average householder to grow a bushel of tubers on his house-top or in his cellar within sixty days. This process has been discovered and elaborated by W. D. Darst, of Great Falls, Mont. Moreover, the grower will have no potato bugs to contend with, no turning over of the soil at certain intervals, and no contest with worms.

The product of Mr. Darst's process is termed the "vineless potato" from the fact that, grown under these apparently unnatural conditions, there is no surface vegetation, because of which each potato buried in the sawdust is enabled to produce at least twelve normal-sized tubers.

Recently at the Oakland Plaza, in the rear of the Oakland Hotel, Mr. Darst disclosed the methods of growing potatoes by his system. Operating on the theory that the presence of surface vegetation was only a method of securing nourishment and in reality sapped the vitality of the tuber, Mr. Darst experimented more than six years and found he could overcome this seemingly natural course on the part of the plant by supplying it artificially with its needs.

By employing sawdust, peat, straw, or any other earth product that would permit of the circulation of air, moisture and heat, and by applying solutions of various fertilizers, discovered that a single potato would multiply itself by attaching to itself from twelve to sixteen other potatoes of approximately the same dimensions without throwing off any of its energy above ground.

Packed in loosely arranged bins permitting the free access of air and arranged in rows six inches above each matter of fact, what are commonly regarded as the petals of the dogwood are no part of the floral structure at all, but merely four large white leaves, which, during the winter, served as protective wrappers to the flower buds. The real flowers are about the size of shoe-pegs, of greenish color and are bunched several together in a small cluster in the midst of the four white leaves, and if observed at all by the average wild flower gatherer, are mistaken for stamens.

So, too, with the flowers of the pretty "painted cup," which when in blossom in May frequently makes whole meadows rosy with brilliant color. Plucking one, we may think we are looking at a pike of gorgeous, flame-colored flowers, while the fact is that the striking effect is produced entirely by numerous reddened leaves intermingled with the real flowers which are as plain as Olinde's sisters and practically hidden from sight.

Indeed, so fond is Mother Nature of befooling her unobservant devotees that she has caused one whole family of plants to be given over to this make-believe habit of flowering. To it belong that favorite little preacher of the April wood—Jack-in-the-pulpit; the arrow arum that shares with the first, it allows ample room for the stalls and passageways, and, second, it permits of the most economical use of lumber in building. The length shown is 84 feet, but this feature is wholly dependent on the number of cows the dairyman wishes to handle. One of the weakest joints in barn construction is the small amount of window space usually allowed. This error is rectified by the Department in this plan by allowing approximately 6 square feet for each cow.

paddock and pickered weed the muddy margins of shallow streams; the skunk cabbage, and that aristocrat of the greenhouse, the immaculate calla lily. With all these the flowers are unrecognizable in themselves as such, except by the initiated, being minute and crowded on a fleshy spike.

Another gay deceiver is the poinsettia of the hot-house. In this case it is a circle of scarlet leaves which popular estimation rates as a flower, while the poor little real blossom clustered in the midst of these robbers of their good name live and die unappreciated. Relatives of the poinsettia are the wild spurges of our sandy fields. The flowers of many of these, inconspicuous in themselves, are similarly provided with relatively showy appendages, deceiving all but students.

Model Dairy Farm.

The Department of Agriculture has recently published a bulletin containing suggestions for constructing a model dairy barn. It has been the endeavor of the Department to plan a barn embodying the best ideas in scientific and sanitary construction that are consistent with practicability and cheapness, and it is believed the result accomplished by the plan published will help the dairyman to get the best products from his cows in the most economical manner.

The plan is designed for 24 cows, and allows ample room for calf pens and box stalls for bull and cows; also space for feed room, hay chute, wash room and silo. In presenting the plan it is not intended by the officials of the until the stalk has grown so heavy as to fall upon the ground, then cease.

For heavy yields it is essential that strong land or heavy fertilization be used. While it is true that on many of the soils in the Middle States a remunerative crop may be produced with little fertilization, it is also true that, on nearly all of these soils a liberal use of fertilizers will be profitable.

The tomato plant is a gross feeder, and especially requires an abundant supply of potash. Prof. Voorhees, of New Jersey, who is authority on such subjects, estimates that ten tons of fruit, with the accompanying vines, would contain fifty-seven pounds of nitrogen, sixteen pounds of phosphoric acid, and ninety-four pounds of potash. On many of our clay lands phosphoric acid is relatively low, and the application of potash is needed to produce the most profitable crops. The nitrogen supply is more variable, and can often be secured by turning under a leguminous crop. On Eastern lands, which have been devoted to last year's tomatoes, nitrate of soda can be used with a profit. In the Central States, manufacturers of fertilizers have not offered goods specially prepared for this vegetable because of a lack of demand, due largely to the ignorance of same, and from lack of knowledge of the requirements of the soil. But of late both the growers and the canners are asking for advice regarding fertilizers to be used on tomatoes. A mixture that has been officially recommended contains:

- Nitrogen 4 per cent.
- Phosphoric acid... 7 per cent.
- Potash 12 per cent.

using about 500 pounds of this mixture per acre.

Some experiments of early tomatoes seem to indicate that sulphate of potash gives them a better quality. A properly made tobacco fertilizer is also suited for this crop, and the potash in it is derived from sulphate.

other, with an allowance of one cubic foot of sawdust to the seedling, Mr. Darst has demonstrated the rapidity of growth and the proportions that the potatoes may attain by showing that within sixty days fifteen potatoes will produce a bushel. In the character of his experiments and the success that has attended them Mr. Darst, it is stated, has the indorsement of Luther Burbank, the eminent horticulturist and botanist.—From Chicago Record Herald.

Counterfeit Blossoms.

When the dogwood is in bloom in the spring woods, he would be a very unobservant traveler who did not know it; yet it is questionable if one out of fifty of the multitude of people who come home from their country walks with their arms full of snowy branches has ever noticed the real flowers of this beautiful tree.

Department to insist that the arrangement shown is the only satisfactory one, but the idea is to present some important features often overlooked by the builder and which are vital to a well-planned structure.

The amount of space allowed for the various purposes named on the plan is thought to meet the requirements so far as the square feet of floor space is concerned. The arrangement of the space can be adapted to the needs of the particular location. The design calls for a width of 84 feet 4 inches outside. There are two main reasons for adopting this width;

This seems a
Clean Food
Era

We are inclined to believe that some magazine writers in their anxiety to attract attention to themselves have overstated the case against the meat packers. We do not sell meat but believe in fair play, and also in a complete knowledge, by the people, of exactly what they are eating. We have always printed on each and every pkg. of exactly what it is made of and the scores of visitors who pass through our works every day find the Pure Food Factories as clean and sweet as a maiden's fresh white apron. The food is thoroughly cooked in these factories from the choicest white wheat and barley, the sweet offering of the fields.

Grape-Nuts
Food

No food on earth gives the same sustaining power from meal to meal as Grape-Nuts.

BECAUSE—
The starchy parts of the wheat and barley are changed by moisture and heat to a form of sugar required by the human system and almost immediately absorbed without stress to the digestive machinery. And again, the certain elements in these grains are incorporated to insure rebuilding of the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve centres to fit one for the wearing work of the day. A dish of Grape-Nuts and Cream at each meal supplies the GO and you can feel it in a way that leaves no question. It is not stimulation but simply scientific feeding.

ONLY $1.00. SPECIAL 60 DAY OFFER TO INTRODUCE OUR NEW EXCELSIOR SOLAR TELESCOPE. THE WONDER OF THE AGE.

OVER 3 1/2 FEET LONG

JUST WHAT YOU WANT ON SEA, FARM, RANCH OR IN THE SCHOOL.

This is a large powerful achromatic Telescope for Terrestrial and Celestial use. This Telescope is provided with an adjustable Solar Eye-piece. With this wonderful Eye-piece you look the sun square in the face on the brightest and hottest day, and study its face as you do the moon at night. Every student, male or female, needs a Telescope to study the sun in Eclipse, also the mysterious recurrent Sun Spots which appear and disappear at intervals, and move about in different locations of the sun. You will regret it if you neglect to secure this Telescope. Fully such a good Telescope was never sold for the price before. These Telescopes are made by one of the largest manufacturers of Europe, measure 18 inches and open 8 1/2 feet in two sections, and 5 1/2 inches in circumference. They are Brass Bound, Brass Safety Cap on each end to exclude dust, etc., with powerful Lens, scientifically ground and adjusted. Guaranteed by the Kirtland Bros. Telescopes of this size have been sold for $10.00 to $15.00. Every soldier in the country or at seaside resorts should certainly have one of these instruments and no farmer should be without one. Objects miles away are brought to view with astonishing clearness. Sent by express safely packed, for only $1.00. Sent by mail prepaid for $1.10. Our new catalogue of Guns, etc. sent with each order. This is a grand offer and you should not miss it. We warrant each Telescope just as represented or money refunded. Send $1.00 by Registered Letter, Post Office Money Order, Express Money Order, or Bank Draft payable to our order. If you desire Telescope by mail add 5 cents postage. Interesting Booklet, entitled "Telescope Talk," FREE with each order.

WANTS ANOTHER.
Gentlemen—Please send another Telescope. Money enclosed. Other was a bargain, good as new. R. C. ALLEN.
SUPERIOR TO A $15 GLASS.
Fred Walsh, of Howe Island, Ontario, Canada, says: "Gentlemen—I have just received your Telescope, and must say it surpasses all expectations. It is far superior to one which we have had, which cost $15.00 some years ago. Just a few nights I have seen with it what was worth more than double what it cost me."
COULD DISCERN BOATS FROM FIVE TO TEN MILES.
Mr. C. W. Medley, of Duluth, Minn., who purchased one of these Telescopes, says they are superior to anything he expected; that with it he could discern boats on the Great Lakes at a distance of 5 to 10 miles, and in clear weather he could read the names of steamers and other craft at a distance of one-half mile away.
WORTH MANY TIMES THE PRICE.
The Boston, New York, Nov. 4, 1905.
Messrs. Kirtland Bros. & Co.
Gentlemen—I had with me on my recent Eastern trip, one of your Excelsior Solar Telescopes, with which I observed an Eclipse of the Sun. At the Austrian Tyrol it was almost 80 per cent. concealed. Your Solar Telescope served on request. This booklet tells all about the care of Telescopes, and about Eclipses of the Sun and Moon the evening and morning for year, where visible, etc.

A Telescope brings new brain cells into play, opens up new avenues of thought and broadens the scope of the mind. Is a great thing. It values to me on this occasion was many times greater than the entire outlay for the Telescope. L. S. EBBY.
Thousands of others are saying good things about these Telescopes. Innumerable ways it will repay its cost a hundred times over. Get one and try it.
SECURE THIS TELESCOPE AND TAKE A LOOK AT OLD SOL.
Never before sold on any Telescope for less than $8.00 or $10.00. Now is a chance to secure one for $1.00.
This Eye-piece alone is worth more than we charge for the entire telescope, so all who wish to behold the Sun in its Transient Beauty. Remove the Solar Eye-piece lens and you have a good, practical telescope for land observations. Address

The sale of state lands last year reached a total of $246,276, exceeding by more than fifty thousand dollars the largest year's sales of such lands ever made by the state. If those who have heretofore found fault with Michigan's delinquent tax system and the state land system, will take note of recent returns to the state from such directions and to increasing gains from the same source, they will assure themselves that their criticisms were made with very few of the real facts of the case in mind.

The Township Board met first of the week and accepted the resignation of Josiah St. John as Highway Com'r and appointed Charles B. Crowell to fill the vacancy. Mr. St. John has accepted a position with the Michigan State Telephone Co. The Board also took up the matter of refunded taxes due the County and decided to borrow the money to pay the account together with some for highway purposes. As will be seen in County Treasurer Payton's report elsewhere in this issue the amount due from this Township is $486.22 for taxes that has been returned for the tax sales cancelled by the Auditor General. This occurs where sales have been made and tax certificates or tax deeds issued and the moneys received from such sales have been, by the treasurer, paid over to the Township and later, by the Auditor General or some order of the court, the sales have been cancelled and the Auditor General has refunded the money and charged it up to the county. The County has never charged this township tax to the treasurer of the township, but has carried it as a charge against the County. The examination of the County books by the expert accountant disclosed this condition and he has charged the several townships up with this tax.

Coming To East Jordan July 31st.

Entertaining event of the week is "My Wife's Family," which began the week at the Grand yesterday. It is one of those screaming farces wherein everything is a mistake and everybody makes a mistake with a mother-in-law as the foundation of it all.

The comedians, Charles Mitchell and Ed E. Perry, manage to work out of the concoction a lot of fun and humorous situations that kept two big audiences in a roar. Then Marie Del Vecchio as the mother-in-law, was so realistic as to be entertaining.

The company is replete with good comedians and the farce is interspersed with a lot of specialties, which are clever. Mitchell and Perry contributed several entertaining song numbers.

Letter from China.

The friends of James Laraby have just received a letter from him dated at Chefoo China and written the 16th of last May. Since July last they had not heard from him and this was the first intimation they had received that he had joined the navy. He has enlisted for four years beginning with December 1905 and expects to be a chief engineer at the end of that time. We print an extract from his letter concerning the people of the Philippines and the fleet to which his ship belongs.

He was first employed on the U. S. receiving ship Independence which is built entirely of wood, being 98 years old. In 1812 she carried 74 guns but was refitted in 1836 with 54 guns and some years after was made a training ship, and was considered the best ship in the navy.

The U. S. ship Lawton is an auxiliary transport for the Asiatic fleet arriving at the Philippines twice a year exchanging long time men for short time men. Another ship belonging to the fleet is the gunboat Concord 1760 tons, six 6 inch guns, eight 3 in. guns, rapid fire guns, rifles, revolvers, bayonets, swords etc. She has also twin screws, and two engines of 4000 horsepower. On Feb. 3 1906 the fleet under Admiral Trainer was composed of the flagship Ohio, battleships Wisconsin and Oregon; gunboats Rainbow, Concord and Ranier, and the yacht Frolic. There were also 3 tugs and two cruisers captured from the Spanish. Since then there have been some changes among which was the removal of the U. S. battleship Oregon.

On account of trouble in China the battleship Oregon which left Manila February 13th 1906 bound for Shanghai to protect American interests there. After her departure occurred the battle of Mount— in which many Philipinos were killed including women and children. We in America cannot think that this is right but could we know the people as we do those nearer home we would perhaps think differently. Soldiers and sailors when encountered alone are killed and the natives are protected by the police who sympathize with them. The dress of men and woman is nearly the same in all the islands.

Olongapo, Sulu Bay 60 miles from Manila is the target grounds used for naval practice. Rules on the ships are strict, offenders being tried by court martial and either reduced to ranks, or sentenced to prison or the brig for a month. A summary court martial is a restriction from liberty to 30 days in the brig.

The Sun.
A little dreaming by the way,
A little toiling by the day,
A little pain, a little strife,
A little joy—and that is life.

A mort-lived fleeting summer's morn,
When happiness seems newly born,
When one day's sky is blue above
And one bird sings—and that is love.

A little wearing of the years,
The tribute of a few hot tears,
Tyro folded hands, the falling breath
And peace at last—and that is death.

Just dreaming, loving, dying; so
The actors in the drama go.
A fitting picture on the wall—
Love, death and themes—but is that all?

The Beautiful Women.
One woman went out on the way of shame,
And the wide world marveled and read her name
And praised her beauty and gaped and cheered
When, light and fluttering, she appeared.
But one little woman in hooded gray
Went out to the suffering night and day,
And never for her was the trump of fame
And never a cheer as she went for came.

One woman went out on the path of lies,
And the whole wide world praised her beautiful eyes
And paused and listened when she would speak
And muffled the roses that graced her cheek.
But one little woman in dingy black
Went down where the weary were on the rack
And carried the woes of the sad and lone
And comforted many—and was unknown.

One woman set foot on the road of wrong,
They blazoned her deeds in a joyous song
That told of her daring, her charm and wit,
And the world went humming and singing it.
But one little woman in homely gown
Went seeking for sorrow about the town,
And smiles came to gladness where she found tears,
But never for her were the thrilling cheers.

But somewhere the record is fairly kept,
Unless at his task has the angel slept,
And doubtless there, when the warder reads
The beautiful tale of the golden deeds,
In shining letters will stand each name
Of these little women who had no fame,
But who went patiently day by day
To do their work in the Master's way.

And further than all of the outmost suns
Will ring the names of the Beautiful Ones.
—Chicago Tribune.

My Mother's Garden.
Her heart was like her garden,
Old fashioned, quaint and sweet,
A wealth of buds and blossoms
Hid in a still retreat.

Sweet violets of sympathy
Were always opening there,
And lilies white and pure unclosed
Each one a whispered prayer.

Forget-me-nots there lingered
To late perfection brought,
And there bloomed purple pansies
In many tender thought.

There Hope's first snowdrops took Deep root
And flowered because they must;
There Love's own roses reached toward heaven
On trellises of trust.

And in that quiet garden—
The garden of her heart—
Song birds built nests and caroled
Their songs of cheer apart.

And from it still floats back to us,
Overcoming sin and strife,
Sweet as the breath of roses blown,
The fragrance of her life.

The Crow.
Nasty, scheming and predaacious,
With demeanor almost gaeulous,
Dowered with leisure, void of hurry,
Void of fuss and void of worry,

Friendly bandit, Robin Hood,
Judge and jury of the wood,
Or Captain Kidd of sable quill,
Hiding treasures in the hill

Nature made thee for each season,
Gave thee wit for ample reason,
Good grow wit that's always burnished
Like the coat her care has furnished.

May thy numbers ne'er diminish,
I'll befriend thee till life's finish.
May I never cease to meet thee;
May I never have to eat thee.

And mayst thou never have to fare so
That thou playest the part of scow-crow.

Light o' Love.
A man once wooed a maid-diving
And asked what you may guess, guess,
And said, "Sweetheart, will you be my wife?"
She smiled and answered, "Yes, yes, yes."

And then (in business such as this Men love to get just so, so)
He asked for just one little kiss.
She smiled and answered, "No, no, no!"

"Unless you'll follow where I lead,
Follow for good or ill,
Then swore that swain, "I will indeed!
Sweetheart, indeed I will, will, will!"

"Then will we to the church repair
And in due form be wed, wed!"
Ains, he had no time to spare,
And so he turned and fled, fled
—From the German.

Chance Acquaintance.
How soon the mountains take us to them,
How quick the valleys are our friends!
Only a trip or two to view them,
And then the touch of strangeness ends.
They have a glance of recognition,
A kindly smile as though they'd known
Through ages past of slow transition
The mortals on their pathways lone.

How stern and how reserved the city,
How little yielding in its moods!
A siren lovely, without pity,
A place of noisy solitudes,
Tough close for years its life expanding,
Into its secrets burrow, far,
And still you hear its voice demanding
With icy coldness who you are.

If You Suffer with Rheumatism
Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy Will Bring the Utmost Relief that Medicine Can.

The one remedy which many physicians rely upon to free the system of the Rheumatic Poisons which are the cause of all Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, St. Sprock's Rheumatism, etc. Dr. Shoop spent twenty years in experimenting before he discovered the combined chemical which made possible one almost always certain cure for Rheumatism, etc. Not that Dr. Shoop can turn boys again—that is impossible. He will drive the poisons which caused the swelling, the pain and the end of the pain. This remedy never fails where a cure is put up in a tablet or either. You who have suffered and are suffering today from pains and aches which you know to be Rheumatism, etc. who experience lameness or twinges of pain in damp weather; you who easily become stiff and lame without any reason, try Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy. It is just the kind of remedy that accomplishes results. Sold and recommended by

A hundred years ago the best physician would give you a medicine for your heart without stopping to consider what effect it might have on the liver. Even to this good day cough and cold medicines invariably bind the bowels. This is wrong. Bee's Laxative Cough Syrup with Honey and Tar acts on the bowels—drives out the cold—clears the head, relieves all coughs, cleanses the mucous membranes of the throat, chest, lungs and bronchial tubes. Sold by Warne's Pharmacy.

LUMBAGO, SCIATICA
NEURALGIA and
KIDNEY TROUBLE

"DROPS" taken internally, ridse the blood of the poisonous matter and acids which are the direct cause of these diseases. Applied externally it affords almost instant relief from pain, while a permanent cure is being effected by purifying the blood, dissolving the poisonous substance and removing it from the system.

DR. S. D. ELAND
Of Brownsville, Tex., writes:
"I had been a sufferer for a number of years with Lumbago and Rheumatism in my arms and legs, and tried all the remedies that I could gather from medical works, and also consulted with a number of the best physicians, but found nothing that gave the relief obtained from 'DROPS.' I shall prescribe it in my practice for rheumatism and kindred diseases."

FREE

If you are suffering with Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Kidney Trouble, or any kindred disease, write to us for a trial bottle of 'DROPS,' and test it yourself.

'DROPS' can be used any length of time without acquiring a 'drug habit,' as it is entirely free of opium, cocaine, alcohol, laudanum, and other similar ingredients.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.
You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.
G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. I entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of these symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."
