The Mid-Summer Event a Musical Comedy Treat.

A musical treat is in store for the local lovers of good and wholesome entertainment, for Manager Loveday has secured for one of his early attractions, the rollicking three act musical farce comedy, "My Wife's Family," the Stephens and Linton musical comedy hit of last season. The comedy is full of ginger, snap and action essential to a musical show. There is nothing serious about it, although there is a consistent plot, a well told story; it is replete with brilliant repartee and unlimited laughable situations. There is the usual abundance of bright and up-to-date vaudeville specialties introduced, and entertaining and original musical numbers that are sure to be whistled, and sung by street wretches, a positive sign of popularity. "My Wife's Family" met with instantaneous success last year and return dates were played by request in many cities. It struck fairly the keynote of popular taste and is sure to duplicate its original favor for the authors, Hal Stephens and Harry Linton, have added many new comedy lines as well as new songs and dance numbers galore.

The large cast includes well known comedians, pretty girls, who know how to sing and dance, any number of high class specialties, while the production is correct in every detail as to costuming and scenic and stage effects. "My Wife's Family" will be seen at Loveday Opera House, next Tuesday night.

Are You Ready?

We are again forcibly reminded of the fleeting of our summer and the approach of Fall, by the activity displayed in our leading mercantile establishments. The hammering, pounding and opening of heavy cases filled with woollen underwear—blankets—shirts—socks and clothing makes us at least ask the question, Am I ready? Have I by industry improved each shining hour of the vanishing summer. As our merchants have been and are still making unusual preparations for the fall season's business—it will be well for our people to take time to examine the shoes, clothing and general merchandise that our merchants have been choosing from the best markets and manufacturers of the county. Many of our local dealers get special makes of goods, that is goods especially adapted to this section of our state, considerations as to climate and the practical needs of their customers. Their very existence as merchants depends upon their giving their patrons the very best that can be produced. It is far better for you to have such lines to select from, that is placed before you, where you can "heft" them, examine the make and style. You can buy more intelligently and are less liable to over-buy than when you select from pictures or catalogues and then you know there is always a sure and quick way to adjust difficulties of misfit and other little things—so annoying when you have to write letters, wait for the goods etc.

A Parson's Swearing.

"Parson" Blodgett, a former local preacher residing in Linden, had in front of his house a watering trough freely patronized by people riding by. One evening a man hurriedly drove up to water his horse, and the wheel of his wagon struck the trough violently. The "parson" came out hurriedly and cried, "Hog rabbit to hemp seed tobacco! Can't you drive straight?"

"Go in and shut the door," replied the driver, "and next time you want to swear, parson, do it like other men."—Boston Herald.

A Funny Siam's Custom.

They have a very funny fashion in Siam. When an inferior comes into the presence of a superior he throws himself upon the ground. Then the superior sends one of his attendants forward to see whether the prostrate man has been eating anything or has any offensive odor about him. If he is blameless in this respect the attendant raises him from the ground, but if he is guilty the attendant straightway kicks him out.

Liquor in Candles.

Practically every known liquor, as well as whisky and brandy, is made up into candy in one form or another, says a Chicago confectioner. "You can get in bonbons of various kinds creme de menthe, cognac, kummel, Chartreuse, cherry brandy or benedictine."

COPPERPLATE ENGRAVING.

The Art Was Discovered Through the Merest Accident.

Every one has noticed on his visiting card the extremely delicate lines of his name, and almost every one knows that they are produced by printing from an engraved copperplate. Like many other things of use and beauty, this art of copperplate engraving was discovered through the merest accident by the goldsmiths of Florence in the fifteenth century. It is a historical fact, however, that one day an engraver on gold, wishing to take a proof of his work, made the usual sulphur cast and then filled up the lines with lampblack, thus enabling him to see exactly how his work looked. While occupied in doing this it occurred to him that possibly the same results could be obtained by filling up the original engraving with lampblack instead of making an impression of it and filling up that. Struck with the idea, he put it into practical use, and with a little damp paper succeeded in getting a fair impression from the engraving.

The discovery was communicated to other workers in the art, and they hailed it with joy, as it saved all the arduous trouble of making sulphur casts, but they never saw the full value of the discovery, and consequently the art of plate engraving lay for almost a century before its true import was discovered and brought out in all its great and beautiful results. Today collectors of plate engravings rave over the crude results of earlier times and search the world for examples of these early masters to add to their collections. Many of these collections have been presented to museums, where they may be seen and appreciated by the people.

THE BEST SLEEP.

It Is That Which One Cannot Avoid Without a Struggle.

When debating the question, How much sleep is needed? one must keep in mind that the best sleep, indeed, the only healthy kind, is that which one cannot avoid without a struggle. It is the sleep that always follows on weariness; it is not that which is obtained by difficulty. If a person slept for three hours right away and then awoke refreshed—that is, with no further inclination to sleep—he would not then be in need of it. His proper course would be to arise and engage in work. But he must be prepared to sleep at any time in the day when the longing occurs. To the latter rule there is one exception. Let us suppose that one has acquired the habit of sleeping half the night and lying half awake during the remaining half. Such a habit can be best broken by rising after the first sleep and refraining from a nap in the day. When the bed hour arrives the chances are that the victim of insomnia will be so sleep hungry that he will not wake until the proper hour for rising.

In any case it is a great mistake to turn over on the other side and remain in a half-conscious state. Indeed, it is a more serious mistake than many would believe, says Home Notes. The brain is now in a peculiar state, more closely resembling the hypnotic than would be possible under any other normal conditions. Quite a lot might be written about the peculiar dangers and powers of this half waking state.

Not to Be Found in the Reports.

A prominent Philadelphia lawyer was narrating to a younger advocate some of the delays and complications of a chancery suit in which he was engaged. "Bless me," said the junior advocate, "I never heard of anything parallel to that except Jarndyce versus Jarndyce." The other at once looked thoughtful and pretty soon, pleading an engagement, went off. The next morning he went into the younger man's office with an air of great vexation. "Look here!" he said. "Why can't you remember names accurately? Here I've spent the whole night trying to find that case of Jarndyce versus Jarndyce that you mentioned, and there isn't any such case in the Pennsylvania law reports at all!"

The Word "Papa."

For some time after the word "papa" was taken into the English language in the seventeenth century it was restricted to courtly and polite speech and was common even among adults. Long after it had become childish it was still accounted genteel. Hood wrote of one who was "genteelly taught to say, not father, but papa." "Papa" may be comparatively a newcomer into the English language, but it is as old as Homer. Nausicaa in the "Odyssey" calls her father "pappa phile"—dear papa.

Canals and Roads in France.

It is curious that the French, who have done more than most nations to cultivate the graces of life, should be the people to boast the most perfect system of canals and roads in the world; more curious still, that when most practical, they are still careful not to sacrifice the purely graceful or decorative. The roads and canals are built for use, but between their serried ranks of poplars they become so many stately groves and avenues, crossing the country from end to end.—Century.

CLEVER ANSWERS.

Cases Where They Won Promotion in Civil and Military Life.

A long list might be given of men who have owed their advancement in life to a clever answer given at the right moment. One of Napoleon's veterans, who survived his master many years, was wont to recount with great glee how he once picked up the emperor's cocked hat at a review, when the latter, without noticing that he was a private, said carelessly, "Thank you, captain." "In what regiment, sire?" instantly inquired the quick witted soldier. Napoleon, perceiving his mistake, answered with a smile, "In my guards, for I see you know how to be prompt." The newly made officer received his commission next morning.

A somewhat similar anecdote is related of Marshal Suvaroff, who when receiving a dispatch from the hands of a Russian sergeant who had greatly distinguished himself on the Danube attempted to confuse the messenger by a series of whimsical questions, but found him fully equal to the occasion. "How many fish are there in the sea?" asked Suvaroff. "All that are not caught yet," was the answer. "How far is it to the moon?" "Two of your excellency's forced marches." "What would you do if you saw your men giving way in battle?" "I would tell them that there was plenty of whisky behind the enemy's line." Baffled at all points, the marshal ended with, "What is the difference between your colonel and myself?" "My colonel cannot make me a lieutenant, but your excellency has only to say the word." "I say it now," answered Suvaroff, "and a right good officer you will be."

A WOOD SAWING FLY.

The Tool With Which It Makes a Cradle For Its Young.

It is marvelous how many of the tiny creatures in the insect world conceal and preserve their eggs. Some will deposit them in extraordinary places; others will insert them in the skins of living animals; others, again, deposit their eggs where the young grub, after coming from the egg, finds food close at hand.

Among these last mentioned are insects who bestow great labor in the cradle of their young. The place they select is a hard part of a leaf or the woody branch of a tree. In this they saw out a hole large enough to contain their eggs, whence their name, saw flies. For this purpose they are provided with an ovipositor of peculiar construction. It consists of two long pieces closing like a sheath over a third.

In the tenthredo this third piece contains two little saws, each of which has been compared to the tenon saw used by the cabinetmakers. The tenon saw is single, but that of the tenthredo is double, consisting of two distinct saws. The insect in using them throws out one saw and while it is returning pushes out the other.

This alternate motion is continued until the cut is made, when the two saws, receding from each other, conduct the egg between them into its place. Not only is the edge of the saw notched into teeth, but on every tooth a number of smaller teeth appear.

KEEP HIM THERE.

Congressman A. B. Darragh of the eleventh congressional district will ask the Republicans of this district to give him a re-nomination at the primary election in September. It is due to Mr. Darragh and the congressional committee, that the primary election method of nomination is to be used in this nomination. Mr. Darragh has nothing to cover up and nothing to fear from his record in congress for the past six years and it was with the consciousness of this fact that he took the initiative in adopting the primary election for his district. He has worked faithfully for the passage of every bill that was in any way beneficial to the farmers, and has opposed measures detrimental to their welfare. Many an old soldier has substantial reason to give Mr. Darragh his support, and no one appealing to him on matters connected with his office has ever been neglected. He is a thoroughly intelligent, active, working member of congress. He accomplishes things, and it is to the interest of the eleventh district of Michigan and to the country at large that he be kept where he now is.—Carson City Gazette, Montcalm County.

The Northern

Tourist's Mistake.

Scene: Returning from church Sunday evening.

It was summer time each star sublime, Shone out with golden plumage, To cheer the spell when day's farewell, Gave night the dark dominion.

The closing scene of day serene, Lushered evening's blissful hours, When lovers meet in some retreat, As in Eeen's happy bowers.

Up rose the moon by far too soon, Night no longer concealing, A form so fair with graces rare, Her silvery light revealing.

As I drew near trembling with fear, She banished indecision; Clasp my arm with magic charm, That took supervision.

With winning air this maiden fair, Thrilled my heart with emotion; I then was blest for I possessed The queen of my devotion.

I seized her hand so well I was planned A white kid glove did grapple; If mother Eve could thus deceive; 'Twere luck to eat the apple. And now a kiss comes not amiss, No ladies do not wonder; I raised her veil Tornados hail, A NIGGER WENCH by thunder.

Tit For Tat.

He rejoiced in the not very humorous name of Wood, and he prided himself on his jokes and smart repartee. Few of his friends had escaped the lash of his tongue, and he had victimized many by his practical jokes—in fact, he never lost an opportunity of being funny. One day he met a friend whose name was Stone, and naturally a name like that was too good a chance to miss. "Good morning, Mr. Stone," he said gayly, "and how is Mrs. Stone and all the little pebbles?" "Oh, quite well, Mr. Wood," was the withering reply. "How's Mrs. Wood and all the little splinters?"—Stray Stories.

Milk in the Sickroom.

Milk is the chief article of food and nourishment in every sickroom and hospital, and every physician and nurse should know the source of supply, its purity, before ordering it in any form for invalids and convalescents. It is not enough that it comes as "country milk." There must be integrity and experience back of it. It has been scientifically demonstrated and proved that pure milk products are the most nutritious, economical and easily digested foods when the milk is obtained in all its purity and kept far from pasture to consumer.—Charles Eddy Hall in Leslie's Weekly.

COUNTESS OF WARWICK.

A STRIKING BEAUTY OF ENGLISH COURT WHO IS FRIEND OF WORKINGMEN.

Has Accomplished Great Philanthropy, Founding Girls' Schools in Dairying, Poultry, Etc.—Prominent in Politics.

England has at least one titled woman whose wealth and position have not proved sufficient to blind her to conditions which surround less fortunate men and women.

The Countess has recently come into prominence through her participation in the English elections and is a strong advocate and supporter of Will Thorne, candidate of the dock laborers for a seat in the House of Commons.

This very democratic Countess, recently sent a delegation of twenty-five women to the United States to study labor conditions here.

Not long ago the Countess addressed a tremendous crowd of workmen. Her stage was a tradesman's wagon and hundreds of workmen went without their dinners in order to hear her speech.

THE COUNTESS OF WARWICK.

friends" and urged them to strain every effort to get a labor party in parliament.

"You workers are the empire," declared the Countess and this with a succession of spirited assertions she made were lustily cheered by the laboring men.

The Countess of Warwick is one of England's most famous women. Before the succession of her husband to the earldom she was Lady Brooke and gained the nickname of "Babbling Brooke" for having told some things in connection with the famous bacarat party at Tranby Croft which proved one of the most sensational news stories of the year.

TO TEACH DAIRYING AND CHICKEN GROWTH.

In the past few years the Countess of Warwick has devoted nearly her entire time to philanthropic and charity work. She once managed a linen and lace store but the venture proved unsuccessful.

CANDIED FLOWERS.

England Has Begun Strange Demands for Sugared Blossoms From the United States.

One of the latest developments of luxury is said to be the candying of fragrant flowers. The notion is not altogether new, for violets have long been made into confections for the palate, as well as into bouquets for the olfactory organs.

At any rate, it seems that the fashion has acquired a new impetus of late, and a candied violet is coming to be regarded as an acceptable "bonne touché" to be presented to a lady. There is also, it is said, a demand for sugared rose petals, which is being catered to by some enterprising artists in sugar.

Whether the violet has any therapeutic qualities does not appear, though the leaves (not the flower) have just now some reputation—outside the medical faculty—as a cure for cancer.

Perhaps the modern craze is, after all, only a form of luxury. A candied violet or a dish of rose leaves cunningly prepared for the tea table could not possibly enter into the category of cheap sweets for the millions, and it is understood that the sugar trust is not interested.

BREAKS BY CONGRESS

Peculiar Mistakes Due to Tremendous Amount of Work Transacted Just Before Adjournment.

In the hurry and bustle of "get away" day in Congress, a few errors slipped in to upset the calculations of party leaders. One of these was the signing of the agricultural appropriation bill by the President before that measure contained the signature of the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Another "break" was the presidential approval of the sundry civil bill, containing an item appropriating $3,000,000 for a site for a new departmental building in Washington. This item had been dropped out of the bill in conference but the enrollment clerks failed to notice the omission and so included this item in the copy of the bill laid before the President for his signature.

It is not strange that these mistakes occur, as all of the employees of both the Senate and House during the last few days of Congress have an enormous amount of work shoved upon them, so that when Congress actually adjourns many of them are ready to take to their beds for several days in order to recuperate.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY.

Northern Sister Would Like Such Arrangement; But is Waiting Move by This Country.

A letter from Ottawa, Canada, states that the question of reciprocity between Canada and the United States is by no means dead, as was clearly shown by the recent debate on the Canadian budget in a number of speeches, which, while they admitted that the United States did not appear to care for reciprocity, it would if it could be brought about on mutually advantageous terms, be a good thing for both sides of the line.

Senator Loughheed, the conservative leader in the Senate, stated that he thought no higher work could be found by King Edward than to promote the good relations of the two peoples, and to bind more closely together the two Anglo-Saxon nations.

front to-day it is not visibly to the opinion in Canada regarding reciprocity as unattainable and the position of the anti-reciprocity men who are for the moment supreme, an unassailable. Hence, and for no other reason, reciprocity sentiment is put on the shelf until called for again, and an ostentatious appearance of indifference is manifested in Canada which will be stiffly maintained as long as the United States government makes no forward movement that public opinion in the Dominion can accept as sincere and based on a spirit of reasonableness and fair play.

To those who are able to read between the lines, the announcement of the finance minister that the changes to be made in the Canadian tariff, when revision takes place next session, must depend upon such new conditions as may have occurred, is obviously meant for the people of Washington who stand in the way of reciprocity, and those in London who have blocked a mutual preference between the mother country and Canada. It is a warning and may mean much, or little, as circumstances or conditions dictate.

A GROCERY IN CONGRESS.

REPRESENTATIVE MANN PLAYS SALESMAN AND DRUGGIST TO UNMASK FRAUDS.

Short Weight and Fraudulent Foods the Lure of Many Department Stores and Mail Order Houses. Honest Dealers Handicapped by Deceptions.

When the pure food bill was before the House of Representatives a few weeks ago, intense interest was displayed by the members of that body in a "grocery store" established by Representative Mann of Illinois.

REPRESENTATIVE MANN.

products of the country are adulterated, and how the consumer is defrauded. The space in front of the speaker's desk resembled a small section of a delicatessen store and a corner grocery with cereals, jams, jellies, tins of peas, tomatoes, corn, prepared spices, bottles of whiskey and wine, imported sausages, branded cherries and other edibles and drinkables scattered over two tables.

One of the first articles taken up by the Congressman was the ordinary condiment—pepper—which to the lay mind is considered too cheap for any manufacturer to spend time in adulterating.

Possibly the most striking demonstration of the afternoon was one with a bottle of red cherries. These cherries, it was explained, were picked green and that after being bleached out white by the use of a powerful acid, had been colored the brilliant red by the use of coal tar dye—a deadly poison if used in large quantities.

Olive oil, explained Mr. Mann, is a product which is in most cases, adulterated. In many instances the counterfeit is merely American cotton seed oil—a wholesome and satisfactory dressing for salad, but it costs about 1/4 as much as real olive oil, and the American buyer certainly does not care to purchase a dressing for four times its actual worth.

One of the flock exhibits was a bottle of "honey" which, in order to complete the assurance of the buyer that the article was genuine, contained, as if by accident, the body of a real bee, yet the whole mess was pure and simple glucose, and had never been near a hive, much less a comb.

Figures that while we used last year more than a billion pounds of coffee, and while about 250,000,000 pounds were supposed to be Mocha and Java, there were actually imported into this country last year only a fraction over 2,000,000 pounds of Mocha and 10,000,000 pounds of Java, or approximately less than 13,000,000 pounds, or only 5 per cent. of the popular blend.

Chicagoan—Well, I can't blame you altogether, old man—I honestly think myself that it's the finest between Chicago and London.

OUR HOME TOWN.

A Department Devoted to Village Betterment.

RICHARD HAMILTON BYRD.

The editor of this department desires to keep in touch with the active members of Civic and Local Improvement Associations, and every one interested in the improvement, protection and upbuilding of rural village life.

What is being done in your town to encourage small industries and for home employment? What is doing along the line of street improvement and the beautifying of private lawns, roadways and public parks? Are your local merchants receiving the support of the local trade? Experience, plans, suggestions and photographs will be welcomed by the editor of this department and so far as possible given place in these columns.

The Local Handicap.

The Prophet is without honor in his own country. So the village and small town are without confidence in their own resources. We get so familiar with the things about us that we are apt to undervalue their value. It is often necessary for a total stranger to come along and show us the neglected opportunities that have been under our nose unseen for years.

The writer while pursuing some industrial investigations had occasion to visit a thrifty little city in the Southwest. It is an old town that has literally been forced to the front by the pressure of development and northern energy. The place has five railroads, a population of 30,000 and a number of modern buildings. Still the natives

THE HOMECROFTERS' GILD.

To Enable People to Live in Their Own Home and on a Piece of Their Own Land.

CHANCE FOR FACTORY WORKERS

"Every Child in a Garden and Every Mother in a Homecroft" is the Motto of the Organization—A Hundred Children at Work in the First School Garden at Watertown, Mass.

EDWARD T. HARTMAN
Secretary Massachusetts Civic League.

At Watertown, Massachusetts, there is being put under way what seems to be one of the most sane and practical town, has been purchased and converted into a Guild and shops for handicraft work. The land around the house has practically all been appropriated to the use of a garden school and laid out in children's gardens. The director of the gardens is Miss Elizabeth S. Hill of Groton, who last year conducted the school gardens in Brookline and Groton. Over a hundred children are already at work and many more, almost two hundred in all, have applied for space. It is an interesting sight, and a poor commentary on our public school system, to see the wistful look of the children "not in it" as they watch the fortunate ones and inquire of the instructors as to how long they will have to wait. Many children not connected with the school watch the workers and play on the grounds, so that it has become a children's center for the town.

The opening of the garden school has aroused an interest among other private organizations in the neighborhood and the Women's Club of Watertown has established another garden school, also under Miss Hill's supervision, as is still another opened by the Women's Social Science Club of Newton, whose garden is on Jackson Road near Nonantum.

On the outer boundary of the town, the old Emerson Place has been purchased and set aside as a garden school for boys and even men who desire to do practical work. The plots in this garden are large enough to permit of practical experiments and to even supply quite a quantity of vegetables, which each gardener is allowed to appropriate to his own use. The only requirement is that each gardener provide his own tools and seed and pay sufficient attention to the instruction and to his work to keep his plot in fair condition and in harmony with the garden as a whole. There is in this garden plenty of space not taken and it offers a unique and valuable opportunity for any one desiring such work. The garden is supervised by a young man with practical experience in market gardening.

WEAVE BEAUTIFUL THINGS.

The weaving department, the only handicraft department as yet developed in the Gild, is supervised by Miss J. A. Turner, formerly with the experiment station for the blind in Cambridge. Miss Turner, assisted by her sister, has several looms already in working order and instruction has been taken up. The aim of the work in weaving, as it will be in other handicraft work, is not to have a weaving establishment for the production of goods, but to conduct a school in weaving and design where women in the community may learn to do work which may be carried on in their homes. This, as in the case of the craft work, will enable them to occupy spare time, which would be otherwise wasted or improperly spent, in congenial, healthy and remunerative employment. It is hoped and believed that such work will enable many women who have to supplement their income to do it in their homes and not be forced into factories and other unsatisfactory conditions. A system will be developed whereby looms will be supplied by and the product sold through the Gild. By this method expenses will be kept at a minimum and the highest profits accrue to the workers.

HOME LANDS IN SMALL PARCELS.

The more far-reaching and substantial feature of the movement is the acquisition and subdivision of land into small tracts for actual croft purpose as outlined above. This closely resembles the schemes developed in Hiltch, Port Sunlight, Bournville and Birmingham to a point four miles from the city and erected twenty-four houses for the workmen. Mr. George Cadbury, from long observation and experience, concluded that the only practical way to solve the problem was to take the factory worker out on the land where he might pursue the natural and healthy recreation of gardening. Says Mr. W. Alexander Harvey in his book on Bournville, "It was impossible for working men to be healthy and have healthy children, when after being confined all day in factories they spent their evenings in an institute, club room or public-house. If it were necessary for their health, as it undoubtedly was, that they should get fresh air, it was equally to the advantage of their moral life that they should be brought into contact with nature. There was an advantage, too, in bringing the workman on to the land, for instead of his losing money in the amusements usually sought in the towns, he saved it in his garden produce—a great consideration where the poorer class of workman was concerned." And again, "The cultivation of the soil is certainly the best antidote to sedentary occupation of those working in large towns. A primitive instinct is indulged, the full value of which seems hardly yet to have been realized. Many believe, indeed, that with its encouragement the abuse of the social club and the public-house will be materially lessened, and one of the greatest social evils of the time disappear. (The experience of Bournville certainly gives support to this conclusion, for nearly every householder there spends his leisure in gardening, and there is not a single licensed house in the village.)"

SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR A HOUSE.

The houses of Bournville were built with special reference to cheapness, artistic development, sanitation and convenience. At a cost of from $700 tenth per thousand in Bournville. The garden features in Bournville are planned with much care, provision in most cases being made for some lawn, flowers, vegetables and fruits.

To return to the Homecrofters Gild, there is one distinctive advantage in Mr. Maxwell's plan, in that he aims to attach to each home one or two acres of land to make it a feature and not merely an incident in the life of the worker, and he has added the crafts work for women and for men in the winter. He already has under way plans for an experimental group of four houses under one roof, to be placed at the centre of a square so as to secure the greatest economy of space and place

Phoenix, Arizona, a farm of one hundred and sixty acres has been turned into a homecroft village. The land is especially adapted to raising vegetables and is under one of the best water-rights in the region. Five-acre tracts are here given to each worker. The new government reservoir on Salt River and driven wells on the property, insure a permanent supply of water for irrigation and therefore unflinching crops.

These undertakings, while practical and constructive in every sense, are intended rather as models to show what can be done in any community in the country. Japan, with sixty-seven per cent. of her total population working in part or entirely on the land, has become a land of gardens where hopeless poverty is almost unknown and where tuberculosis is a negligible quantity. America can take care of its hopeless thousands in the same way, first by putting hope into them and then by putting them where they may attain it. It is to the promoters of our great industries that we must look for help in great part, but public sentiment and sympathy will move the promoters and reach the problem. The Homecrofters Gild promises a start which ought to weld together the country and the city into one indestructible whole and, supplemented by proper charity administration and sane vagrancy laws, remove entirely the possibility even of a "submerged tenth."

Parking for the Town.

The town parks, or the town or village square are the lungs of its citizens. If the town is growing, it is none too soon to start a movement to provide for the securing of ample town parking. The land is increasing; when the town has doubled and has become a small city, it will not be so easy to secure sites, readily accessible to the people, without paying an exorbitant price. Secure first the land; it is not important that a large amount of money should be at once expended upon its beautification, possibly it needs but little, since nature may have made it more beautiful than can man. It is not necessary that it should be transformed into carpet buds—of flowers and trimly kept lawns. If it affords sunlight and a green relief of grass and trees for the eye, it becomes a civilized and an equator, for the poor as well as the wealthy, a resting place where a man may forget for the time, some of his struggles and his anxieties in a contemplation of what God has made.

The park should be kept, in fact, as natural as is consistent with its use as such. It is never too early, however, to secure its site, with a view to the building up of the community, when land values will necessarily increase.

Distribution of Immigrants the Solution.

If there were only some practicable way of distributing immigration more equally among all the parts of the country the congestion and segregation phases of this problem would be nearer solution. It can be accomplished in but a small degree, since it will only be done if answering an economic demand, as in the case of the Galveston-Bremen service. Wise and well organized effort to induce immigrants to pass through the large ports by finding and insuring their employment in the interior and by informing them of opportunities elsewhere, will do much to improve conditions. The self-interest of states, many of which maintain immigration agencies, might also be brought more generally into play to attract the industrious and ambitious new comers to their farms and smaller towns.

Improving School Grounds.

In Rochester, N. Y., the school authorities grade and sod the school yards, while the shrubbery and other planting is by private effort in conjunction with the school children. Ample land is furnished for decorative playground purposes, and most exemplary results have been obtained.

There is a multitude of thinking people who see the dangers the future holds for our country unless we reach a wise solution of the tremendous social problems that confront us.

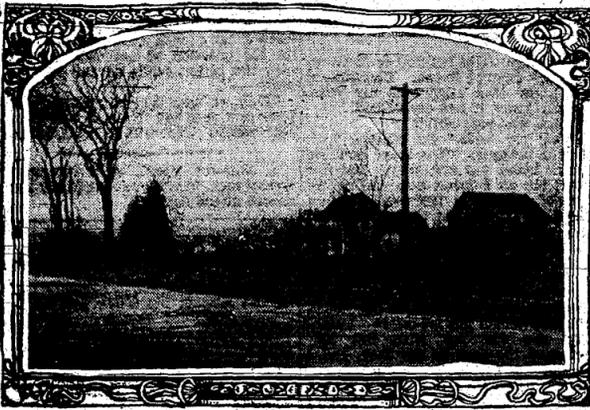

The spirit in which we should approach the consideration of these problems is set forth in this remarkable book in a way that must be an inspiration to every truly humane and patriotic heart.

Let the spirit of common sense and optimism and fundamental economic and philosophical truth that pervades this book be taken as the underlying motive of the movement, and the Creed and Platform of the Homecrofters as the practical plan to work to, and the rest of the great social questions are certain to be rightly solved by application to them of the sound and humane principles that will guide the action of our people upon all great national questions.

have not yet fully realized the change—they still are doubtful and suspicious. About four years ago, before the tide of immigration and capital set in toward the Southwest, a stranger from the North drifted into this particular city. He was just "looking around" with no special purpose in view. A curbstone real estate broker had on his list a tract of bottom land, timbered, but worthless on account of the annual floods. This land he had hawked about the street for 75¢ per acre, but found no takers among the home speculators. The tract was "no good." It was offered to this stranger for $1.00 per acre. Would he look at it? Yes. He looked it over, examined every acre of it—came back to town and handed over $10,000 for the worthless tract. Great was the joy of the natives who were lined up at the various bars, to drink to the health of the "sucker." But the sucker returned in about a month with another capitalist from the North and sold this worthless tract for $30,000. But this was not all. Within ninety days the second sucker brought a third and sold him the timber alone for $50,000. And then the local bankers and conservative capitalists kicked themselves for not thinking of

For years people have been leaving Arkansas and Missouri—going west looking for opportunities. Today strangers are taking their places and finding money on every bush. The new-comers are simply developing the resources which the natives failed to recognize.

This principle holds true of a majority of individuals in every community. We are too near to see the opportunities at our feet. We pass them over and leave them for someone to pick up.

The twentieth century for the United States at least will be a time of concentration rather than expansion. A century of rural development and home-building. As has been indicated the people must get back to the land, and industrial institutions to reach their best development must give the worker a chance for a home.

The Value of a Good Garden.

Many people fail to realize the great value of a thrifty, well-kept garden. Even an inferior one is much better than none. Vegetables are indispensable to a family, so far as health is concerned, to say nothing of the money saved by not having to buy so much flour and so many groceries. It would seem that every man should manage to obtain a piece of ground and see that it becomes well fertilized and enriched and then put under a thorough state of cultivation before trying to plant the seeds. It only costs a little to buy enough seeds for quite a good-sized garden.

solutions of many of the problems of modern city life ever attempted in this country. It is in line with the best enterprises for solving the questions of housing, sanitation, education and morals. As such it should command the attention and co-operation of all constructive social workers.

The Homecrofters Gild offers garden work and craftsmanship as a substitute for the street-corner, the cheap show and the saloon. And it offers in addition health, contentment and a substantial increase in income to the workers. The increase takes a practical form in the shape of health from work in the air, from fresh vegetables and fruits, from a clean environment and from absence of bad habits; from money saved from useless pastimes; from absence of doctors' bills and from a direct return in the way of commodities for use in the home or for sale.

The founder and main supporter of the movement is Mr. George H. Maxwell, editor of Maxwell's Taleman and founder of the National Irrigation Movement. As a student of social conditions, Mr. Maxwell has concluded that college settlements and similar movements merely scratch the upper surface of the problem and fail utterly to get under it and crowd it out with a better condition. His creed is, "Every child in a garden, every mother in a homecroft, and individual, industrial independence for every worker in a home of his own on the land."

MEANING OF HOMECROFT.

The word "Homecroft" has been coined by Mr. Maxwell to fit the thing he has in mind. The Scotch word "croft" means a very small piece of land farmed intensively by its occupant but not large enough to yield him a living and constitute him a farmer. The Homecrofter, therefore, under the conditions being developed, is a laboring man, clerk, skilled artisan or what not, who supplements his regular income by, and spends his spare time in, work on the land. His children may likewise be employed out of school hours and at other times when they would otherwise be on the street or forced into some one of the street trades to help maintain the home. For the children the advantages are obvious. Healthy exercise in the open air for a purpose, fresh vegetables and other products, and occupation, are substituted for spasmodic exercise under bad conditions, stale vegetables or none at all, and the gang.

It can be demonstrated that the ordinary factory worker on from one-half-acre to an acre of land can earn actually more in the odd time given to his garden than he does from his regular work, taking it hour for hour. The other advantages are evident.

THE GILDEHALL AND SHOPS.

elsewhere in England. It will not be out of place to outline the Bournville plan which is identical in many respects and has been carried out to an assured success. This model village was started in 1879 when Messrs. Cadbury Bros. removed their works from to $2500 each a much higher grade of home than the workers had been accustomed to was provided. Rents range from 4s. 6d. to 12s. per week not including rates; and the death rate of nineteen per thousand in Birmingham has been reduced to six and ninety in the condition of the wage-earner, the general carrying out of the homecroft idea would relieve the congestion of population in cities, and greatly assist in their development along those lines which are a much better than mere bigness. A hundred thousand or a million people living on small tracts of land, within an hour's ride of a city would make far more business for the city, of every desirable kind, than the same number closely packed in tenements.

The "homecroft" experiment is not to be limited to the settlement fostered by Mr. Maxwell near Boston. The idea combines with its suggestions of social betterments the probability of very satisfactory returns to the owners of vacant lands, near cities, who may be disposed to experiment with it.

THE HOMECROFT VS. THE TENEMENT.

By way of affording a practical object lesson in the "Homecroft" idea, George H. Maxwell has acquired fifty acres of ground at Watertown, Mass., less than a thirty minutes by rail, road or forty-five minutes by trolley from the center of Boston, which will be broken up into small "crofts" for city workers. There, it is to be presumed, will be illustrated, by degrees, all the different phases of betterment which characterize the homecroft as compared with the tenement-house idea, in its application to the life of the average American wage-earner; especially he whose weekly stipend comes from work in city shop or store or factory. Among such betterments, either already demonstrated or anticipated, are these:

1. Healthier home surroundings, air, sunlight, trees, a well-kept lawn for children to grow up without contact with the contaminating influences of crowded city streets and tenements.
2. Diversity in employment and healthful recreation for the wage-earner himself, and wholesome opportunity for his wife and children to contribute to the family income, in the cultivation of an acre, more or less, of ground. This would enable him, especially, to keep his girls at home, instead of sending them to the factory or shop.

3. Reliable occupation and support for the wage-earner or himself, in case of a temporary loss of his regular employment. An acre of ground, intensively cultivated and irrigated, will support a family.
4. Opportunity to set up, in the homecroft, little handicrafts for the products of which there is a constant demand; such as special lines of weaving, knitting, rugmaking, cabinetmaking, basket weaving, turning in wood or bone, instrument making, manufacturers of leather, gloves, etc., etc. The distribution of power from electric wires, or the use of lithe gasoline engines, in village of homecrofts, may demonstrate that the concentration of thousands of workers in great factories is not, after all, in a great many lines of industry, a necessity for the attainment of the best results.

5. A growth of co-operation, which will give to the homecroft settlement all the advantages of the club in schools, libraries, hospitals, entertainment halls, water supply, electric lights, improved roads, etc.; while the cultivation of each separate acre or "croft" will be facilitated by the co-operative ownership of the numerous expensive pieces of farm-machinery now to be found on the best large farms, but which could not be afforded by the individual crofter.
6. The fostering of a sturdy, independent individualism, which nothing contributes so much as the ownership of a home and a consciousness that one can "make a living" regardless of any boss.

Concurrently with such betterments

HEAT AND LIGHT FROM FARM CROPS.

Wonderful Possibilities of Denatured Alcohol, Provided for by Congress.

GUY ELLIOTT MITCHELL.

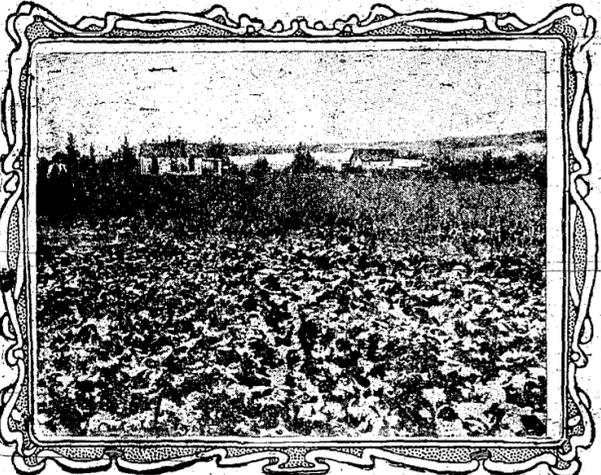

Should even a portion of the beneficent results predicted from the passage of the bill removing the tax from denatured alcohol be realized, that measure will ring in a new industrial era not only in the factory but more particularly the farm, and the home. No other work of the Fifty-ninth Congress, not even excepting the railway rate act will compare with this in general beneficence, if half, even a quarter, of what is claimed for it shall come to pass. "Alcohol," says the Philadelphia Record, "might be distilled from potatoes in quantity sufficient to light, heat and supply power to all the Northern States of the Union, and at such a low cost as to supplant kerosene and gasoline. This alcohol would be incapable of use as a beverage. To the dwellers in the country, in particular, such a development would be of instant, universal and in-heating, cooking and lighting. A bushel of potatoes will produce 0.85 gallons of alcohol. We now raise potatoes almost exclusively for human food, and we plant only those varieties which have the finest flavor for the table, independent of their yield per acre. But there are potatoes yielding many more bushels per acre than these esteemed for food. They are such as are grown for cattle food in parts of the old world where corn is scarce. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson estimates that there would be no difficulty in obtaining 500 gallons of alcohol per acre from such a variety. Potatoes can now be grown here as a commercial crop only within a short distance from market. It does not pay to haul them far. But as soon as they can be used as a source of heat, light and power, factories will spring up in country neighborhoods where alcohol is extracted will pay the cost of distillation.

SUGAR BEETS AND MOLLASSES.

An acre of sugar beets will produce 224 gallons of alcohol. Our vast irrigated lands which will soon produce sugar beets more profitably, perhaps, than any other crops and the molasses from these crops can readily be turned into alcohol. A waste product of the cane sugar mill, known as "base molasses," would be another available source of our commercial alcohol supply. Millions of gallons of this produced in all the Central and South American countries and the West Indies are now largely burned, fed to animals or destroyed, although a portion is dumped on our shores at almost any price above freight. At New Orleans, Boston and Brooklyn it is being worked up into inferior liquors. The alcohol made from it has a disagreeable odor and taste. But if repulsive matter must be added to it to make it undrinkable and tax-free, under the new bill, it will serve as well as any other alcohol thus manufactured for power, heat and light. Already in Cuba such alcohol from this base molasses is being made at 10 cents per gallon. The base molasses itself can be had at New York at 3 cents a gallon. A similar grade of base molasses is turned out as a by-product by our beet sugar factories. Ten factories of Michigan send their produce to a distillery in that state and produce from it about a half million gallons of absolute alcohol. But this by-product of our beet sugar factories generally goes to waste in other states. Yet we sit by and bemoan the decreasing supply and increasing price of coal, the diminishing supply of wood, wonder where we shall turn next for power, heat and light—whether we shall harness the moon with tide motors or the sun with solar engines! Moreover, the production of eastern petroleum is falling off and practically no gasoline is being found in the petroleum of Texas and the West. And yet, according to Dr. Wiley, our farmers can grow any amount of starch and sugar that may be wanted for any purpose in the world and not a pound of it would take one element of fertility from the soil.

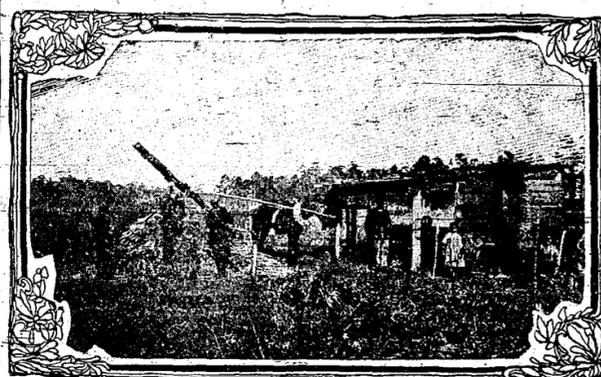

SUGAR BEETS WILL PRODUCE ALCOHOL FOR THE WEST.

calculable benefit; but to every man, no matter where he lives, it would be of some importance." Says the Louisville Courier Journal, after quoting the Philadelphia Record's tribute to the coming great and almost universal blessing: "And potatoes are only one of hundreds of things from which this useful product would be distilled if the tax were removed. Such a step would create in this country a practically new and vastly beneficial industry, whose benefits would be shared by the whole people as consumers, and by hundreds of thousands of them as producers." There is scarcely a nameable limit to the production of potatoes.

coal is now expensive, and large areas of potatoes will be grown for their best possible yield of alcohol. The sweet potato and yam would furnish about the same proportions of alcohol as the white potato.

ALCOHOL FROM CORN AND STALKS.

An acre of corn—fifty bushels—will furnish 130 gallons of absolute alcohol; a bushel of corn, two and four-fifths gallons. An acre of potatoes thus

OLD-FASHIONED SOUTHERN SUGAR MILL.

WOULD USE UP WASTE PRODUCTS.

Potatoes, beets, corn—the stalks as well as the grain—and the waste products of our molasses factories may run our engines, cook our meals, heat and light our homes. The present tax of $10 per gallon on commercial alcohol renders its use for power, fuel and light absolutely out of the question, although for these purposes it can be manufactured at less than 10 cents a gallon. At this rate it can supplant both gasoline and kerosene, and which is also safer and much cleaner. The only opponents of the bill were the wood alcohol and Standard Oil interests, which would be the losers. Farmers, especially, insisted upon its passage.

The white potato can readily heat, light and furnish power for our Northern states; the sweet potato, the yam, and the waste from the molasses factory can do the same for our Southern states, while in the great West the sugar beet and Indian corn can turn the wheels of the factory, farm and conveyance and banish from the home the chill of winter or the blackness of night. Such is the statement of Prof. H. W. Wiley, Chief of the government's bureau of chemistry. Sugar and starch, when fermenting, yield about half their weight in a soluble alcohol. About one-fifth the weight of potatoes, nearly three-quarters the weight of corn and al-

CO-OPERATIVE DISTILLERIES.

That the farmers in all corn-growing sections of the country should establish co-operative distilleries for the sole purpose of producing this denatured industrial alcohol, is the proposition of Nahum Bacheider, master of the National Grange, who was pressing the passage in the interest of the 800,000 farmers of his organization. These co-operative distilleries would be under close government supervision, and the alcohol would be rendered unfit for beverage purposes before leaving the distillery warehouse. In this way the cost to the farmers of this material for lighting, heating, cooking and motor fuel purposes could be kept at the lowest point.

In Great Britain alcohol made undrinkable by the addition of 5 per cent of wood alcohol and a much smaller proportion of mineral naphtha is now sold freely without tax. Since 1887 Germany also had untaxed alcohol for industrial purposes. France, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Italy, Russia, Sweden, Norway, Austria-Hungary, Portugal and six Latin-American republics exact no tax on this "denatured" alcohol already regarded as one of the necessities of agriculture, manufacture, and general industry. In these "free-alcohol countries" there are being used many varieties of alcohol engines, aircraft automobiles, alcohol motor boats, alcohol lamp motors, alcohol lamps and alcohol stoves.

ALREADY SUCCEEDS IN EUROPE.

Germany has far surpassed in all of these inventions, which were largely mothered by necessity, for the fatherland has no natural gas or petroleum. But its broad sandy plains produce cheap and abundant crops of potatoes, from which every farmer manufactures a vast quantity of raw alcohol. Inventors and scientists have been busy with improvements in farm distilleries, motors, lamps, cooking and heating apparatus. Their "spirit motors" are being turned out in all forms—upright and horizontal, stationary, portable and locomotive. Alcohol locomotives pull trains of a dozen cars on large farms, sugar plantations and engineering works. The army has had built ten horse-power alcohol "engineers' wagons," each with a speed of ten miles an hour, carrying tools and apparatus for a regiment of engineers.

The Cost of Converting this Denatured

alcohol into its original condition would be much more than for making pure alcohol anew, according to Dr. Wiley. He thinks the best method of making it undrinkable would be the addition of ten per cent wood alcohol and one per cent of "pyridine." According to the bill as it passed, the denaturing ingredients are left to the discretion of the internal revenue tax.

Some new Parisian Lingerie.

SOME NEW PARISIAN LINGERIE.

Colors in Blouses Very Fashionable, Especially the Delicate Tints.

BERTHA BROWNING.

In the new Paris Lingerie, the fashion is to have sets of chemise, drawers and short petticoat of the same material and type, and all trimmed in the same manner. Nainsook and very fine batiste are the materials usually employed for their construction, the mode of silk underwear being for the time abandoned. There are two new fabrics called silk nainsook and silk chiffon, both cotton, but of very fine weave, and which do not lose their glossy appearance in washing. These materials have much the appearance of silk and in garments made of them lace is profusely used. The lace composes much of the upper portion of the chemise and the sleeves which are of bell shape reaching almost to the elbow. These are open nearly to the shoulder over the forearm, where they are loosely tied with a succession of ribbon bows. In lingerie garments the square neck is preferred to the round this year, and this is always finished with a band of lace or embroidery.

A NEW UNDERGARMENT

The empire form is, of course, very fashionable for chemises, but, while it is a pretty cut, it needs to be made of very fine material else its straight form will lie in folds beneath the corset. Most chemises now-a-days are shaped in under the arms so as to draw away with this extra width at the waistline. A pretty finishing to the place of sleeves and shoulder parts on a garment to be worn with delicate dress, consists of ribbons which tie on the shoulders and may be unfastened and slipped beneath the bodice when worn with the evening gown.

The Japanese nightgown of quite loose cut is a decided novelty. This has rows of little tucks descending from the shoulder and extending half way down the figure. A double band of insertion starts at the foot of the gown, passes by the side of the tucks over the right shoulder and around the neck at the back, meeting in the center of the front at the waistline. The sleeves are loose and flowing as befits a garment of this nature. Few nightdresses have collars, most of them being finished with straight bands of embroidery or lace.

CHARMING DRESSING SACKS.

Some very jaunty little dressing sacks of silky batiste or nainsook are being constructed. These are entirely accordion pleated, except for a portion of the sleeve. Lace and insertion surround the throat, and for those of Empire cut, a band of the same marks the high waistline in back and in front rises over the bust to be fastened with ribbons. Some of these lingerie tea jackets have broad and elaborate collars which reach over the shoulders.

Another new comer is the blouse waistcoat of embroidered linen, batiste or mousseline de soie. This is made without sleeves and drawn in about the waist with a tape to adjust the fullness in front. These are designed to be worn with lingerie suits of which a long or short jacket forms a part.

Violets.

The roses I sent were red,
My rival sent her white;
My heart is torn with doubt and fear—
Which will she wear to-night?
I hear her step upon the stair,
Ah, Fortune, now disclose!
My lady comes; stand still, my heart!
Whose violets are those?

One More on Mary.

From Technical World.
"Mary had a little lamb,
Just thirty years ago,
The chops we had for lunch to-day
Were from that lamb, we know."
Q. E. D.—How old is Mary?

The Pope's Wardrobe.

A large number of women are employed at the Vatican solely in keeping the Pope's wardrobe in perfect condition. No spot or stain may disfigure his garments, and, as he always appears in white, even a few hours' wear deprives the robes of their freshness. Women are permitted to serve the Pontiff in this one respect only, as male attendants are not considered suitable for the work. Only the most delicate materials are used—moire silk in summer, and a specially woven fine cloth in winter.

THE MESSAGE.

"Listen," said Raleigh, and suddenly seized my hand.
"That is nothing but the alarm clock in the next room," I said.
He did not seem to hear what I said, but kept on listening to the strange, rattling noise, and I saw beads of cold perspiration on his forehead, while his hand turned cold as ice. Nevertheless there was in his eyes a far away look of expectancy, of dawning joy.
"It is nothing at all," I repeated. "I do not understand what is the matter with you. Tell me."
"Oh, never mind," he answered, "but surely you heard it as well as I. Didn't you?"
"Well, then, the time has come. For hours, days, years, I have expected it, have oftentimes longed for, and still, now, when it has come, it seems hard to leave this world so suddenly."
"Nonsense," I said, "what has the alarm clock to do with your death?"
He looked at me with the same wonderful expression in his eyes, and said:
"Well, I will tell you what I have never told any one before."
"You remember that Lora died three years ago?"
"She died at exactly twenty-three minutes of five in the afternoon. Look at your watch and see what time it is now."
I looked at my watch.
"Just twenty minutes of five."
"Yes," and three minutes ago that alarm went off, just at the hour and minute of her death."
I looked at Raleigh in astonishment.
"Well, even if that is so, I do not see what Lora's death has to do with you."
"With me! Oh! but you don't know, even my dearest friend. How should you know that Lora was my wife. Nobody knew it but ourselves."
"Lora was your wife?"
"Yes, my wife," he replied, with tears in his eyes. "You know how her father hated me and why. But she loved me as I loved her, and so we married secretly a few weeks before she died. I was not at her deathbed and would not have known had not the mainspring broken in that very clock we just heard with that same peculiar noise. At the moment it happened a feeling of deadly terror overpowered me. I rushed to her house, but they would not let me in. I cried that she was my wife, but they slammed the door in my face, and I swooned away."
"When I came to my senses again I was here. How I got to my rooms I do not know, but I do know that she was with me and at my side, pale as a ghost."
"Lora," I cried. She turned to me and said: "Wait for me, dear, the clock will call you."
"Lora," I cried again. Another woman stood at my side. "He is delirious," she said. "We must renew the icebag."
"Now you have heard it just as I did. The clock has called and I must go."
"But, Raleigh—" I began.
He interrupted me.
"Do not say anything," he whispered. "I know it and I am ready. I have been waiting so long—oh, so long. Good bye!"
He reached eagerly forward, as if to embrace some one, but suddenly fell back into my arms, his face transfused into the most beautiful expression I have ever seen. "Do you see her? There at the door! I am coming, I am coming, my darling!"
A tremor went through him and he was dead.—The Oklahoman.

Need Pure Food Law.

In the Philippine Islands some of the Chinamen are extremely clever at swindling, one of their tricks being to remove whiskey from a bottle and substitute an adulteration without breaking the seal. They do this by soaking off the label and drilling a tiny hole in the side of the bottle. They then take out the whiskey and substitute a liquid similar in color, fill up the hole, and cover it with the label.

Then the Cook Cut In.

The cook was going.
"How shall I word this recommendation, Marie?" her mistress asked. "You know I can't touch upon industry, and on the question of neatness the less said the better, while as for culinary skill—"
"Well, ma'am," the cook cut in, "suppose you just say I stood this place four weeks. That will do me, I think."

PALISADE PATTERNS.

A BECOMING DRESSING SACK.

Designed by BERTHA BROWNING.
Simplicity is a great factor in the designing of beautiful apparel. Some of the most attractive gowns are almost unadorned. Here is sketched a little dressing sack of white Swiss and lined with pale blue, while the only decorations consists in the French knots of blue adorning the front-facing, cuffs and belt. Four small tucks provide an extra fullness over the bust, the fullness being then drawn down trimly into the belt. A simulated box pleat relieves the back from too much plainness. The design is excellent for home construction, as so little labor is involved in the making of a masterpiece—lawn, dimity, a soft silk or crellis may serve. In the medium size 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material are needed.

POTATO A GOOD ALCOHOL MAKER.

The potato will be our chief source of this undrinkable commercial alcohol. A good yield of potatoes—300 bushels—will produce 255 gallons of such fuel for running automobiles, farm motors and other engines; for stalks could be removed by the presses now used to extract the juice of sugar cane. And speaking of commercial alcohol from corn, it might be of interest to add a statement from Dr. Wiley, that twenty times more power can be obtained by burning the alcohol in corn than by burning the corn itself—as has been done in the West in times of coal famine. It is also estimated that the value of the by-products of corn after the industrial Grant Snellen formerly of East Jordan and Mrs. Jessie Hall of Boyne City were married July 21st at Charlevoix at ten o'clock in the morning, and returned to Boyne in the evening, where they own a very pleasant home. Mr. and Mrs. Snellen will be pleased to receive their many friends after August 1st. We wish them a long and happy life.

The Joseph Dishaw family that started some two weeks ago northwest to the lands of Alberta, so much advertised but of so little merit in comparison with Michigan, are back with us again and ready to be forgiven for their injudicious move. After arriving and sizing up the country, they were sick at heart at discovering they had travelled a long distance from Otsego county to find out its true worth. While their stock of cash is not so large as it was, yet they are richer in experience.—Gaylord Herald.

The Presbyterian Missionary Society entertained the Congregational Missionary Society of Charlevoix last Friday. A dinner was served in the church parlors after which the regular monthly meeting was held. Mrs. C. L. Lorraine, hostess. Program committee: Mesdames Fred E. Boosinger and Clark Haire. Roll call, response from 103rd Psalm. Subject for paper, "The Philippines." Mrs. W. C. Haire having same. The music composed of vocal selections as follows: Solo, Miss Blanche Robertson; Trio, Mrs. S. A. Bush, Mrs. Clark Haire, Miss Blanche Robertson; Quartette, Misses Mina Hite and Blanche Robertson, Mesdames Haire and Bush. Mrs. A. J. Sufferin was accompanist for the afternoon. Miss Louisa Loveday gave a reading, "Thread and Needle Street." Refreshments were served at close of program.

Gems In Verse

Democracy.
Democracy, those men have done thee wrong
That paint thee haunting, with a brutal face,
Not to Rome's proletarian populace
Nor Paris mobs that round a red flag
Nor London slums of squalor and sin
Such names—deluded, pitiable race—
Though, in their husky mutterings we can trace
The voice of God affrighting us alone,
Democracy on law and virtue stands;
The hour it loves and children at the knee;
Its bread it earns; its lips can speak in prayer.
Though greed and pride oft bind its giant hands,
I trust thy conscience of humanity
See freedom widen in the people's care.
—Percy Stickney Grant.

The Song of Labor.
Richly hath our earth been dowered in its poesy and song,
For among the nations, peoples—aye, in every tribe and tongue—
Singers' hearts alike are throbbing 'neath the blouse and broadened vest,
While the artist in the artisan stands openly confessed.

Heaven lit skies display their glories to the sons of ease and toil,
And the sweetest flowers of blossom in what seemed but sterile soil.
Surely God hath made earth lovely that the eyes of all might see
How his gifts to men are scattered widely, bountifully free.

Beauty to the gorgeous sunset and the flower is not confined;
Genius finds a soil not only in the bard's or painter's mind.
For the common things have beauty, but for him alone contained
Who has eyes by God anointed, not by love of gold profaned.

There is music in the hammer, there is music in the saw;
Sure as joye in Sinai's thunder and the terrors of the law,
Though the screeching factory whistle by the scornful is derided;
'Tis the basic call of labor, and its music will abide.

Long in carnage men delighted, and the battle was the theme
Of the singer and the poet, of the peaceful artist's dream.
Minstrels vied to weave the laurels round the despot's cruel head,
And the warrior was the hero, dyeing all the rivers red.

Change your theme, ye peaceful painters, and ye bards-of-gentle heart,
Would ye in the march of progress bear the wild barbarian's part?
Sing the praises of the builder, not of the destroyer grim;
To the maker, the inventor, tune your sweet, triumphal hymn.

There is beauty in the workshop, there is beauty everywhere,
Where the work of man is towering over land and sea in air.
He who feels no thrill of gladness nor a copious power within
At the signs of man's achievement, man nor poet should have been.
—Louise A. Weltzel.

Open the Door.
Open the door; let in the air,
The winds are sweet, and the flowers are fair;
Joy is abroad in the world today,
If our door is wide it may come this way.
Open the door!

Open the door; let in the sun,
He hath a smile for every one;
He hath made of the raindrops gold and gems;
He may change your fears to diadems.
Open the door!

Open the door of the soul; let in Strong, pure thoughts which shall banish sin;
They will grow and bloom with grace
And their fruit shall be sweeter than that of the vine.
Open the door!

"Might Have"
I have lived my life, and I face the end,
But that other life I might have led—
Where lay the road, and who was its friend,
And what was the goal when the years were fled?

Where lay the road? Did I miss the turn?
The friend unknown? Our greetings un-faded?
And the goal unsought? Shall I never learn
What was that life I might have led?
As the spring's last look for one dear day
From skies autumnal on earth may bend,
So lures me that other life—but, nay!
I have lived my life, and I face the end.
—Edith M. Thomas.

Wanderers.
O clouds, ye little tender sheep,
Pasture ye fields of blue,
While moon and stars your fold can keep
And gently shepherd you,
Let me, too, follow in the train
That flecks across the night
Or treads the open plain
With new shorn fleeces white.

O singing winds that wander far,
Yet always seem at home
And freely play 'twixt star and star
Along the bending dome,
I often listen to your song,
Yet never hear you say
One word of all the happy worlds
That sing so far away.
—Maria White Lowell.

Phantom Cattle Bells.
There are no cattle on the place,
The pasture puts are still,
And he who called, "Co, boss!" at night
Sleeps on the calm, white hill.

The tall weeds in the lowlands grow,
And round the dark wood spring
Along the bending dome,
Are wild flowers blossoming.
And yet on quiet summer nights
When clock the tenth hour tells
Comes floating from the pasture field
The sound of cattle bells.

The fireflies light the misty dark,
The midnight hour rears near,
While from those lands unattended
The cattle bells I hear.
—Corah A. Matson Dolson.

Out, out, brief candle!
Life's but a walking shadow; the poor player
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage
And then is heard no more.
—Macbeth.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause Cure—not a Symptom Cure.

It is a common mistake to take artificial diet for stomach trouble or heart ailments for weak heart or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in 800 times is the sickness the fault of the organ. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organ—and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney or heart disorders be cured. Dr. Shoop of Indiana, Wisconsin, learned early in his medical experience that these inside nerves were the power nerves—that only was the position held by the brain, being, insomnia, backache, heart weak, Bright's disease, nervousness, and other ailments of the kidneys. For all of these ailments are not separate ailments, but are merely symptoms of the same ailment—inside nerve weakness, and when the nerves are restored the symptoms and ailments disappear. The remedy which Dr. Shoop prescribed for these ailments is known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It relieves the pain and distress of kidney, stomach and heart troubles quicker than any other medicine designed simply to give temporary relief. Dr. Shoop's Restorative (Patented) is a new and powerful cause cure for every ailment. For sale and recommended by

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.
You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.
G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes:
"About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."
