Why He Quit the Saloon,

Christopher C. DeMurs, who was a Gratiot avenue saloonkeeper in Detroit for many years, is writing a book on his experience behind the bar. DeMurs says that his book will tell of some of the schemes the saloon makes use of to get the money of the lumberjacks and patrons of that class. He says that his complete disgust with the business of selling whisky and beer reached its final point when a little girl came into his place and begged for a bucket of coal. The child's father was a patron of the saloon and a little later he came staggering in with the whining excuse that he was hunting for work. DeMurs quit the saloon because he realized that it was robbing the most of his patrons of the very necessities of life, because his work as a saloonkeeper was impoverishing those from whom he received his profits and was serving no good purpose in any direction. There is nothing this retired saloonkeeper has to say of his deplorable experience which was not already known to be true of nine out of every ten saloons, no matter where they are located. But there is value in the frank confession of a man who admits that his business as a saloonkeeper caused so much misery and distress to others that he would not continue it. That confession was not required in order to convict the saloon, but it will serve some purpose in presenting the necessary experience of the man behind the bar.

It is surely about time for some girahip man to go into vaudeville. "Uncle Joe" refuses to go into vaudeville. He couldn't begin to express his feelings in a half hour stunt.

New York is complaining of a shortage of chambermaids. There is no complaint of the shortage of chorus girls however.

Pennsylvania is improving. It has been decided not to let the statues in front of the Harrisburg capitol be nude.

Ladies Equity Notes.

Golden Rod Local held their usual meeting last Wednesday, with all officers present and each one interested in their local work. Three new members voted in. Mrs. Anna Fox was elected to fill vacancy occasioned by the absence of Miss Elsie Matthews. Much interest was taken in the coming state meeting. Next meeting Oct. 12th, at Mrs. Howey's. Visitors welcome.

A decided interest is being displayed by the farm women in the L. S. of E. as is shown by the letters received at headquarters and by state organizer Mrs. Culbertson. Letters inquiring how they can become members, and how they can get a local union at their place and all agreeing that just such a society is greatly needed by farm women; that they should unite and stand by each other as their interests are the same.

State meeting of the Ladies Society of Equity, will be held at Centerville, Mich., Oct. 6 and 7.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rehall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rehall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quickly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. The W. C. Spring-Drug Co.

To quickly check a cold, druggists are dispensing everywhere, a clever Candy Cold Cure Tablet called Preventics. Preventics are also fine for feverish children. Take Preventics at the sneeze stage, to head off all colds. Box of 48-25c James Gidley.

VanHorn--Anderson.

A perfect September day and an impressive ceremonial made the nuptials of Miss Lavina Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Anderson of East Jordan, Mich., and Mr. Charlie VanHorn of Boyne City, Mich., on Wednesday Sept. 28, 1910, an event to be long remembered. Rev. Geo. J. Rae of Boyne City was the officiating clergyman, and Miss Ardilla Anderson and Lyle Keller, bridesmaid and groomsmen, respectively. Relatives and a few friends to the number of about thirty were present. Miss Jennie Waterman played the wedding march at the entrance of the bridal party. The room was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and asters. Light refreshments were afterwards served and the gifts were useful and plentiful which gladden the hearts of the bride and groom. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Anderson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Snyder all of Boyne City and Mr. Clifford Mayhew of Mt. Bliss. All joined in wishing Mr. and Mrs. VanHorn a happy voyage as they travel through life together. The young couple will make Boyne City their home.

There is some value of course to the saloon interests of Michigan in the repeated statement they succeed in having made in their behalf, that "there is nearly as much liquor sold in the dry counties of Michigan as before the local option law went into effect." But there is not a single city or village or township or ward in any dry county in Michigan in which that statement is true. There is not a dry county in Michigan in which there is one sale of liquor now made where there were fifty when the saloons were there. There is not a dry county in Michigan in which drunkenness is one-tenth as prevalent as before the saloons were driven out. It is further true that there is not a dry county in Michigan in which sentiment in behalf of local option is not stronger than before its local option experience was entered upon. Every vote thus far taken on the local option question in Michigan after the people had noted its result showed more strength for local option than before it was tried. This was true of every Michigan county in which local option was adopted for the second time, and it was true of the two counties, Oakland and Wexford, in which local option was not adopted. In every ward in Pontiac and every ward in Cadillac and in the townships of the counties in which these cities were located there were more votes cast for local option after the law had been on trial for two years than there were before its results were known. This record of local option experience in Michigan effectively disposes of every argument and question as to its practical success.

DAYS OF BOSSISM ARE ABOUT OVER

Sen. Smith, Addressing Rep. Convention, Says Era of Individualism Is Dawning,

DEFENDS NEW TARIFF MEASURE

Highly Praises Townsend, and Speaks Good Word For Burrows—Says Taft Is Best President Since Lincoln, Would Place Angell and Mitchell on Tariff Commission.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 6.—Senator William Alden Smith, temporary chairman of the Republican state convention, in his address before that body Thursday, highly praises Roosevelt, Taft, Osborn, Townsend and Burrows, and incidentally speaks a good word for the Payne tariff law. His speech, in part, follows:

"American official life should be clean and pure and wholesome, typifying in the highest sense the fountain from which it springs; representative in character, it should be responsive to the public will. This does not mean that there is force in every passing zephyr; it means that candor and sincerity should be the first requirements for the public service, and from long association with those whom you have trusted, I unhesitatingly declare that my honored colleagues from Michigan reflect great credit upon their districts and their country; temperate, industrious, able and honest, each has earned the gratitude of his countrymen and deserves the confidence of the electorate.

"Mr. Chairman, I am not one of those men who decry political affairs; partisanship is the necessary handmaid of democracy, and in the solution of great problems factional spirit is kindled and parties are formed, around which adherents rally for mutual encouragement and sympathy, and we should count it the good fortune of the American people that party politics, instead of impairing the fundamental law, actually strengthens and protects it.

World in Tranquil State.
"There is not an unfriendly cloud on the world's horizon today. In such an atmosphere we are prosecuting a work for all the future generations of men. For 300 years it has been the dream of navigators and empire-builders that the two oceans might be united at the Isthmus, but it has remained for the dauntless and intrepid Roosevelt and Taft to blaze the way through forest and rock until at last the two oceans are one.
"I am a firm believer in the active and intelligent conservation of our natural resources.

Factional Strife Immaterial.
"It has been said that the Republican party is vexed with internal dissension and torn by factional strife. This can be said, at times, of every great public tribunal, but our party continues to move among the political forces of our time, with strength undiminished, purpose undaunted and glory undimmed.
"Surely no internal controversy among ourselves can draw our forces from the battle line where unconquered strife has for a half century challenged our loftiest patriotism. It is said that the national house of representatives is threatened—the great fortune of the people where revenue laws must originate and representation springs directly from their mandate, and Michigan, the birthplace of the Republican party, whose people have prospered under Republican rule, must not waver in the night.

Deserters Greatest Critics.
"The new tariff law has been the object of much unjust criticism and misrepresentation. Much of the discontent has come from those who leave the country when the ship of state wrestles hardest with the billows, seeking the repose of their native lands.
"While we who made it know that it is not perfect and voted for it under no misapprehension, yet it is a comfort to know that its enactment closed no mills, destroyed no factories, left no fertile fields in waste. It did not impair the national credit or deprive a workman of his wage. And we hope that it will at least be the basis for all future trade laws, and that future revisions may be made piecemeal, schedule by schedule, as necessity may require.
"The high cost of living cannot be charged to the tariff law.
"The increase in the cost of living is world-wide, while no European country has gone through a general tariff revision.
"It is difficult to account for the increased cost of living except on the theory that increased demand has been made by the world on the necesties of life, or that the increased production of gold which has more than doubled since the gold standard was established, has rendered the purchasing power of money less valuable.

"It took the Democrats in congress eight months to agree upon the schedules of the Wilson law, and every man who was prominently identified with its passage has been trying to live down the stigma ever since.
Praises Tariff Commission.
"We have created a tariff commission with unusual and far-reaching authority, have given them ample means to prosecute their researches, and when in the future changes are desired, the representatives of the people can consider them in the light of wider and more accurate information which this commission can supply.
"I feel that the powers of the commission should be extended, and, if possible, the personnel improved. Such a commission should be bi-partisan in character and composed of well-known men, whose standing and character will instantly command the confidence of the country, such men as Seth Low, President Angell, John Mitchell and Victor Lawson, who will concern themselves with the economic welfare of the people.
Age of Bosses is Past.
"The age of bossism is past. Intelligent and progressive leadership may still light the way, but they must march with the procession.
"Michigan has been more fortunate than some of its neighbors, in anticipating the era of individualism through which we are now passing. The same spirit which animated our fathers at Jackson fifty years ago still vitalizes our partisanship, and prompted the enactment of the primary law, which found approval in the Empire state a few years ago. It was radical; it is cumbersome, but the principle is right. It has retired the over-lords and may occasionally go astray, but it has crowned the individual voter with new power, and our party in Michigan is stronger with it than without it.
Tributes to Townsend and Burrows.
"Over one hundred and eighty thousand Republicans took part in the selection of our standard-bearers this year, and we have little to do now but felicitate one another upon the matchless array presented for our approval. Under what system of party management could we have obtained better results in the state? The people have long been interested in the patient and persistent efforts of the representative of the Second congressional district in their behalf, and no one should have been surprised when his promotion was demanded, and it must be refreshing for him to feel that amid the present day confusion, he received over forty thousand majority for United States senator, over my venerable colleague, the distinguished Mr. Burrows, whose forty years of public service now closes with no stain of dishonor upon his honored name.
"And when the legislature shall have ratified the choice already made, Michigan will have in its junior senator a type of statesman of whom the entire country can be proud. Courageous and obliging, honest and able, Charles E. Townsend measures up to every requirement for that high office, and his election will strengthen the confidence of the people in its institutions.
Osborn is Praised.
"Our state has never experienced a more prolonged and animated contest for the gubernatorial nomination than the one through which we have just passed. Out of a field singularly appropriate in a contest at times lurid and sensational, has come a candidate of unusual proportions, whose fitness for leadership is barren of conjecture or chance. Never in the history of our commonwealth have we called to the head of the column a man of more or finer parts. Illuminating as a star, this brilliant scholar, author, traveler and man of affairs will bring dignity and character to the executive office and invest the governorship with a new meaning in state affairs, dowering it with an equipment as practical as it is extraordinary.
"November will see him in the pilot house, clearing the decks for action, and Governor Osborn will bring nothing but credit and honor to us all. His running mate and the candidates for congress, the legislature and the state ticket to be completed today, exemplify the wisdom of the primary law. I hope it may be simplified and strengthened by a publicity statute showing in detail the expense of candidates, and the source of their contributions, and it may even become necessary to supervise the expenditures in order to prevent abuse and extravagance.

"Mr. Chairman, I congratulate the Republicans of Michigan upon this representative and enthusiastic assembly. The people have shown us of much of our responsibility, and yet we have an important duty to perform and you are eager for the task. I hope the work of perfecting our ticket may be in harmony with that which has already been done, and that the declaration of our party faith may reveal no weakness in our tenets. Our duty leads us along the heights. The dizzy and faint-hearted may fall by the wayside. We march forward with the column, grappling with new problems, instinct with human rights.

Taft Compared to Lincoln.
"Not since the lamented Lincoln have we ever had a president who accomplished more for his countrymen in legislative affairs than William Howard Taft, and during the eighteen months of his administration he has leaned with perfect confidence upon the active co-operation of your representatives in Washington.
"No party organization, since the birth of democratic government, has accomplished more for humanity than the party of Roosevelt and Taft. Our membership is as homogeneous as it is diverse, and as patriotic as it is partisan. We gather our forces from every vocation and every clime, and march under a common banner, keeping step to the music of the Union. Neither continent or hemisphere contain us. Our theater of action embraces both worlds, old and new."

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No East Jordan Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.
DANGER SIGNAL No. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.
DANGER SIGNAL No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the coming of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's East Jordan's proof:
L. D. Porter, Town & Mill Sts., East Jordan, Mich., says: "I can give Doan's Kidney Pills my strongest recommendation as they have helped me wonderfully. My back was extremely lame and in the morning when I got up, I could hardly straighten. When I attempted to stoop or lift, sharp, darting pains passed through my body. My kidneys were sluggish and the kidney secretions were unnatural and contained sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills procured from the Spring Drug Co., acted like a charm and it did not take them long to drive away the pains and aches. You are welcome to use my reference."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
