Circuit Judgeship

Republican Voters To Settle Contest Next Wednesday.

Next Wednesday March first, is Primary Election Day, to place in nomination a Republican candidate for Circuit Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit. This circuit comprises the counties of Charlevoix, Antrim, Grand Traverse and Leelanau, and Charlevoix County has the unique distinction of having the only candidates in the field—Judge Mayne of Charlevoix who desires to succeed himself, and Atty E. N. Clink of East Jordan, who is a strong opposition candidate.

Mr. Clink is a home-town candidate, and as The Herald stated several weeks ago, we believe he will be endorsed by ninety percent of the votes of South Arm township. Wherever he is best known, his majority will be largest. That Antrim county will give him a big majority is practically a certainty, for Mr. Clink is known in every township of that county and has warm friends in each precinct who are putting forth every effort to further his success.

Atty Clink is at present making a strenuous campaign in Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties and every day his nomination seems more assured. Inasmuch as Charlevoix county is the home of both candidates there is a reasonable doubt which will receive a majority vote in this county. Both candidates have staunch friends who are leaving no stone unturned to further the interests of their candidate.

The editor of this paper has known Mr. Clink for a number of years, and, realizing his true value, we have no hesitancy in saying that the Republican voters of this circuit will make no error in casting their ballot in favor of E. N. Clink.

The illustrated lecture, "Developing Western Michigan," will be given at the Round-Up, Institute at the Michigan Agricultural College Tuesday evening, February 28, by John I. Gibson, secretary of Western Michigan Development Bureau. In connection with this lecture the Development Bureau will have an exhibit showing some of the apples in boxes that were a part of the great display made at the Land Show in Chicago last fall. The best of the collection of fruit in glass belonging to the Bureau will be on exhibition, as well as the large oil painting design showing the Western Michigan territory. The exhibit will be open for inspection the week of the Round Up.

The taxpayers of Sheridan township, Newaygo County, Western Michigan, will at the election to be held Monday, April 3, vote on the proposition of pledging the good faith of the township to the amount of $30,000 for the purpose of securing funds with which to improve local highways. If the proposition secures the support of the taxpayers several miles of macadam and several miles of gravel road will be built at once, that the present generation may have the use of the same for marketing their crops.

Some more of the newest styles in women's dress are on the way over from France.

Better Roads for Mason County Section

Two road improvement propositions are before the people of Mason County, Western Michigan. One of these is for the county to bond itself in the sum of $105,000 and immediately improve all its principal highways. The other is for the townships to issue bonds ranging from $10,000 to $20,000 and each improve the main roads within its boundaries. The taxpayers of Riverton township are already considering the advisability of issuing bonds in the sum of $20,000.

No matter which program is finally adopted, the coming year is sure to be an active one as regards highway improvements in this section of Western Michigan. Mason County in 1909 raised by direct taxation $39,329.15 for "better roads." Up to June 30, 1910, it had built 13.6 miles of state reward road at a cost of $41,260.23 and had received $10,910 from the state treasury.

The constant effort made by the saloon advocates to discredit local option in Michigan is well disposed of by D. W. Grandon, editor of Hillsdale Daily. In referring to the assumed distress of the "wets" over the use of liquor in some local option towns by private parties Grandon asks, "Did these people make any fuss about private parties getting all the liquor they wanted in saloons days? Did they make any fuss about the money sent out of town when beer was coming into Hillsdale at the rate of two and a half carloads a week? The money was going out then, just the same, wasn't it? Does anybody now think there are two and a half carloads of beer coming into Hillsdale each week. The local option law is not violated one-tenth as often here in this county as was the license law when the saloons were here. Yet these same people who are horrified now didn't seem to be worried then. Over in Detroit the police commissioner has a list of 2,000 violations of the liquor law by the saloons of that city. Do you hear any of the "wets" kicking because there are so many violations of liquor law in Detroit. Not a murmur. Yet there are more real violations of the law on one Sunday in Detroit than there are in a month in the entire forty dry counties of Michigan."

Primary Election, March 1st.

To the qualified voters of the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan

You are hereby notified that a general election will be held in the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit of this state on Wednesday, the 1st day of March, 1911, for all political parties, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the office of Circuit Judge, as prescribed by Act No. 281, of the Public Acts, session of 1909.

FORGETTING THE PAST.

Because a man has failed in achieving success, or because he has gone even further and willfully wrecked the life that once promised so much, it does not follow that he can never get up again. Yet there are men every where who believe that certain incidents in their lives have placed them beyond redemption and that it is useless to try and begin over again. Sometimes they become impatient for the success that seems so far away and frequently give up just before it comes within their grasp. Repeated failures seem only to convince them that they can never hope to accomplish anything because of their former mistakes, and yet the miracle may be performed when least expected. It is wise to forget the past, whatever it may have been, and to train ourselves to live only in the present, says the Charleston News and Courier. Sometimes the past projects its shadows across our path and for a time we feel helpless and think it but natural that we should move in its gloom. It is possible, however, to leave the shadow behind and step out into the sunshine of the new and untried life which spreads all about us. No man can hope to make any headway in his business career who goes about with the remembrance of an unworthy past hanging like a millstone about his neck. Its weight will bear him down if he undertakes to begin the new life with the memory of the old still clinging to him.

A Russian who recently came to this country and located in Pittsburg became very irate because his wife "was disobedient and had become imbued with American ideas." So he threatened to shoot the woman, and did tear her clothes from her and burn them in the street. Then the police took a hand, and the overzealous Russian was fined $50 and sentenced to 90 days in the workhouse. When he has paid up and gets out he is likely to have a lasting recognition of the fact that one "American idea" is that a husband cannot treat his wife like a slave. And if he objects he is at liberty to return to the land where the laws are less objectionable to him.

Continental United States has a population of over 91,000,000. That does not include outlying possessions, which have a number of millions more. The figures put this country foremost among nations having a homogenous and united people. There are several countries where the aggregate population is larger, including China and India with their hundreds of millions. But nowhere else is there such solidarity and harmony of general purpose as in the United States. We have our little differences, political and otherwise; but taking in the fundamentals the Americans are a pretty harmonious family.

The New York police have captured a band of kidnapers. This ought to afford a fine chance to make so signal an example of retribution that this despicable form of crime will receive a staggering blow to its industry of blackmailing distracted parents.

A dispatch from Berlin informs us that the kaiser drinks with "frankly boyish enjoyment." We are glad to hear that he enjoys it. We were afraid that he might do it purely out of patriotism.

Dress Problem

Good Taste Shines in Suitable Office Attire

By VIRGINIA KEITH

THE business girl has had so many sermons preached at her no wonder she's a bit tired of them! Yet I know three young beginners who lost their positions this last week—in each case on account of a matter of clothes.

Girl number one dressed so richly and expensively that it made talk in the office. The other girls didn't like it, and her employers finally decided to part with her as a matter of policy. Her rings, her lace waists and silken rustle were the direct cause of the little note she found in her pay envelope.

The second girl was so untidy that she became a blot on the landscape. The same old ink stain staid day after day on the front of her shirt waist. Her hair looked always in imminent peril of coming down the next minute. Her fingers had the appearance of being total strangers to the manicure. The rim of black around their edge so fascinated her employer, he declared afterwards, he couldn't keep his mind on the letters when dictating. So she was paid for an extra week—and departed.

The third girl was scrupulously tidy and her clothes were not expensive. She chose their delicate fabrics rushing from one counter to another at lunch hour, and made them up herself in the evenings. But the perishable pinks and blues and lavenders that would have been so charming at an evening party caused consternation in the office. She had made the fatal blunder of mistaking the office for the home.

From all of which it appears that the business girl cannot be too careful in her choice of clothes.

The best dressed girl in the office is the one whose apparel best combines the cardinal principles, freshness, becomingness and serviceability. The fabrics may be as good as her purse can buy, the colors as blithely pretty as she desires, but not so delicate that the slightest touch leaves a smudge. And take thought, too, of rainy days and dusty car seats, and uncertain laundresses. Dark colors are generally the best.

Good taste never shines out so brightly as from suitable office attire. The girl who can keep her office rig simple and smart and with pretty touches of individuality, even without the aid of a fat pocketbook, is the girl who is going to be noted for looking well anywhere.

But not frills and furbelows, please.

Much Good Found in Army Career

By CAPT. J. POMDER WALKER

If I had a boy who had no particular bent of genius for any specific calling, I would as soon see him enlist in the regular army of the United States as to take up any other line of work.

If a boy has any good stuff in him the army will bring it out. There is no better school to develop all the finer traits of human character. People sneer at the common soldier very often when that soldier is far above them in all worthy qualities and attainments.

Besides, any youngster with ambition can rise in the army from the humble status of a private, just as he can rise in civil life. He does not have to remain on the lowest rung of the ladder.

He may become proficient in a dozen auxiliary branches, any one of which will bring promotion in rank with better pay, and there will always be superior officers to teach the aspiring one and hold out a helping hand.

I have no assignment of getting recruits for our army, but I am positive that there are thousands of splendid young Americans who would be better off in the ranks rather than in trying to fit themselves for some of the learned professions and who would be glad to don the uniform if they were only cognizant of the advantages that the army in reality has to offer.

According to the statistics furnished by the city health department, out of 655 deaths reported for the week ending December 27 no fewer than 138 died of pneumonia.

This is at the rate of more than one in five, or about 21 per cent. of the total deaths.

Had the same number of deaths been reported of any particular epidemical disease, such as smallpox, measles or diphtheria, our spasmodically hysterical but otherwise sluggish natures would have been aroused.

We would have had the city council make immediate appropriation to fight the disease and we would take precautionary measures to prevent its spread. As it is, not a ripple has been caused.

In the week previous 136 deaths out of 604 were due to this dreaded peril.

Is the increase of this disease over past records due to atmospheric conditions, the greater prevalence of heart trouble, bad air in street cars and buildings or to the greater general weakness and debility of mankind incident to modern life?

It is the younger element that is now committing the big crimes and burglaries. Why? Personally I believe that it is because too much liberty is allowed many of the boys.

Evidences of this can be seen in some districts where there are saloons and pool-rooms. Where unemployed boys are allowed to loaf from morning to night we shall continue to have robberies and crimes. So long as gangs are allowed to stay together evil plans will be formed. The question of the boy criminal should be solved now.

TOP-WORKING FRUIT TREES PROVES QUITE SATISFACTORY

If Grower Has Undesirable Varieties Grafting Solves Problem of Getting Better Kinds Without Planting New Orchard.

(By O. B. WHIPPLE.) Top working as a means of establishing a weak growing variety on a stronger root system than its own is now coming into favor. Some varieties of apple susceptible to attacks of root rots and other diseases, could no doubt be successfully grown on roots of varieties which are apparently resistant. Broken and diseased limbs may be saved by grafting and progressive fruit growers who desire to test new varieties can best do it by grafting a few clones into bearing trees.

Systems of grafting over old trees have long been practiced and experience has proven that, if properly done, top-working brings quicker returns than the replanting of young trees. It is not uncommon to see a fairly good crop on the three-year-old top of a top-worked tree. Trees properly worked-over give tops as desirable and sometimes more so than trees of the same variety grown from first-class nursery stock.

Some years ago the fruit grower looked upon the practice of grafting as a mysterious art and upon the man who went about doing the work as a sort of wizard; as a matter of fact, it is so simple that any careful orchardist can and should do it himself. All of our common fruit trees can be easily grafted or budded.

In grafting young trees in the field it is probably well to do it as early in the life of the tree as possible. As soon as a good strong framework can be secured the tree is ready for top-working. The small size of the stubs make cleft or inlay grafting difficult and kerf-grafting (used when the wood is very brittle) almost out of the question.

A style of grafting known as whip-grafting is well adapted to working small stubs of young trees. With this method it may be possible to set the clones after one year's growth in the field, but it is doubtful whether much time will be gained by such practice. The clone should be as near the size of stub as possible, if anything a little smaller. The joint should be well wrapped with waxed cloth and to be doubly sure all air is excluded, may be painted over with a warm wax.

In grafting young trees it is a common practice to remove all of the top, placing clones in those arms one wishes to keep. It is always well to work a few extra stubs as accidents may befall some of the clones. The season for top-grafting the young trees is the same as for old trees.

Budding is a simple method of putting a new top on young trees. While the process of budding is a little more delicate than that of grafting, the average man can, with a little practice, get very satisfactory results. Buds should be placed as soon as the top is well formed, setting one or two in each scaffold limb that is to be retained. The buds are generally set from six to twelve inches from the main stem, depending on the formation of the head. Trees two years old when set may generally be budded the following fall, and should yearling whips make a strong growth, the arms may be large enough to receive buds in September. Any stem as large as a lead-pencil may be budded quite easily. Arms in which buds fall to start may be grafted the following spring. Should arms fall to appear in the proper place it is quite possible to supply them by setting buds directly into the body of the young tree. When the buds begin to push into new growth they will require about the same care as grafts. Pinch back to strengthen the stem.

The simplest form of budding is that known as shield-budding. The position for the bud is chosen with reference to the prevailing wind, protection from the sun's rays, or to best form the top of the tree. The most important factor should be to determine where the bud should be placed. It is well to place the bud on the shady side of the stock, if possible. A T-shaped incision is made in the bark and the corners of the bark below the transverse cut raised to facilitate starting the bud. The bud is then cut from the bud stock by starting the knife half an inch below the bud, cutting under and to about the same distance above the bud.

KEEPING BOYS IN COUNTRY

There Is More Room for Success on Uncrowded Farm Than Anywhere Else - Excellent Ways to Aid Them

(By R. H. KLINE.)

Thirteen out of nineteen years of my life I have spent on the farm and I will give my ideas upon the subject.

Boys are not made with dispositions alike; if they were it would not be hard to tell what they need to keep them in the rural districts.

One boy may be satisfied with his environment and like his tasks; another may despise his surroundings and hate his work; so before preaching for the boy to stay on the farm we should find out what work he likes best.

If he is not cut out for a farmer he may be a born barrier of skyscrapers and I think he ought to go city-ward, and go while young. Boys are born for farms and born for towns.

If you do not know what you are made for, you can find by doing the tasks your heart tells you love. If you like the least thing about the farm I would say stay! But better be a successful, contented bootblack than a lazy, uninterested, disappointed tiller of the soil.

Many farm boys who are ambitious for money and fame labor under a delusion that these things cannot be obtained on the farm.

They need to hear of David Rankin of Tarkio, Missouri, who died only a short time ago. Mr. Rankin was the greatest farmer in the world.

He commenced by buying an ox team for $8 and going in debt for a plow. During recent years his 80,000-acre corn field raised more corn than that produced in nine states. He was a great farmer.

And Burbank! The California naturalist who made the thorny desert cactus fit for man and beast to eat, and who produced the well known Burbank potato, is a farmer who loved his plants and improved them for humanity's sake.

The capable men who own and edit our farm magazines have been successful farmers. There is more room for success on the uncrowded farm than anywhere else.

There are fewer men becoming farmers who could not be anything and more men starting to farm who would not be anything else.

Another thing needed to keep the boy contented is partnership. Boys who are made to slave for their board, clothes and a little spending money until they are 21 are the ones who run away in the night.

THE SCHOOLS OF WESTERN CANADA

In Some of the Cities and Towns the School Buildings Cannot Accommodate the Increasing Numbers.

One of the most important factors in the building of a new country is the attention that is paid by the authorities to the education of the rising generation. Fortunately for western Canada, the settlement of that new country began in such recent years that it was able to lay a foundation for this work, gained by the experience of older countries. In this way the very best is the result. Throughout the entire country are to be seen the most improved style of architecture in school buildings. The cities and towns vie with each other in the efforts to secure the best of accommodation and at the same time get architectural lines that would appeal. Sufficient to say, that nowhere is there the greater attention paid to elementary and advanced education than in western Canada. A report from the hand shows that in Calgary, Alberta, there are eighty teachers employed, and the enrollment 4,228 pupils. In the Province of Alberta there was a total of 46,000 pupils attending schools in 1909. The total enrollment for the year in city, town and village schools was 22,883, and the total in rural schools was 23,165. There are in the province 970 schools with 1,323 departments. At the close of 1909 there was a total of 1,096 school districts in the province. Great attention is paid also to agricultural education. The best uses of the soil and such other matters as tend to make the agriculture less of a drudge and more of a success are employed. When there is the combination of good soil, splendid climate and healthy and advanced ideas in the methods employed in agriculture, we see accomplished the results that have placed western Canada on its present high plane in the agricultural world. There is to be found men of high standing in literary spheres, as well as in financial circles who are carrying on farming, not alone for the pleasure they derive but for the profit they secure.

Mr. Adler, a wide-awake business man of New York, has a ranch near Strathmore, Alberta. He is highly pleased with his success the past year. He says:

"On July 25th we estimated our crop at 6,000 bushels of wheat. A week later we increased our estimate to 12,000 bushels. A few days later we again increased our estimate, this time to 18,000 bushels, but after harvest in September we found we had 20,150 bushels. If that isn't a record, what is?" he asked.

"This crop was made with practically no moisture," he continued, "and we now have a better opinion of the fertility of Alberta lands than ever and value our lands higher than we ever did before."

Mr. Adler, who has been on the ranch for about a week, leaves for New York Saturday.

This gentleman is conducting a farm on a large scale, and has plenty of means to develop it, and his may not be taken as a fair case. There are, though, instances of thousands who have begun life on small farms in western Canada with but brains and the determination over and above the couple of hundred dollars in ready money that they possessed, and today are owners of large farms and handsome incomes, all the result of their efforts on land that was responsive to the touch of the hand that held the plow. Instances such as these can be quoted if you will communicate with the nearest Canadian government agent, who will also mail you free descriptive literature.

A Transaction in Stamps. The stamp vending machines installed in many stores and shops about the city are not favored by a woman who hurried into a drug store in Massachusetts avenue several days ago, where there is a branch post office.

"How do you sell your two-cent stamps?" she inquired indignantly.

"Two cents apiece," replied Bassett.

"Well, that's all right," she replied, while she fished in her purse for a coin. "This is the fifth place I have visited after stamps. At all the other places they had those slot machines where you have to spend a nickel for two two-cent stamps. I made up my mind not to be held up if I had to walk all over the city. Give me two stamps."

The woman laid down a dime and hurried out with two two-cent stamps, leaving six cents in change lying on the show case. She did not return.—Indianapolis News.

EFFECT OF DRAINAGE ON SOIL

The diagram shows how the draining lowers the water table in the soil. At the point where the tile is laid the soil is drained of excess water to the bottom of the drain. Between the lines of tiles, the water table is higher. Water will rise from the subsoil below the water table to supply roots with the necessary moisture.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."

—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulcerations, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

EASY CHANGE

When Coffee is Doing Harm.

A lady writes from the land of cotton of the results of a four years' use of the food beverage—hot Postum.

"Ever since I can remember we had used coffee three times a day. It had a more or less injurious effect upon us all, and I myself suffered almost death from indigestion and nervousness caused by it."

"I know it was that, because when I would leave it off for a few days I would feel better. But it was hard to give it up, even though I realized how harmful it was to me."

"At last I found a perfectly easy way to make the change. Four years ago I abandoned the coffee habit and began to drink Postum, and I also induced the rest of the family to do the same. Even the children are allowed to drink it freely as they do water. And it has done us all great good."

"I no longer suffer from indigestion, and my nerves are in admirable tone since I began to use Postum. We never use the old coffee any more."

"We appreciate Postum as a delicious and healthful beverage, which not only invigorates but supplies the best of nourishment as well." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"A CITY WHERE PALACES ARE"

By EDWARD B. CLARK

IT ALWAYS has seemed that the poet John Boyle O'Reilly must have had Washington in mind when he wrote the poem which begins with the words "A city of palaces." I am more convinced than ever that Washington must have been in the poet's mind because he added the words, "No, not quite, a city where palaces are, is best." One can forget all about the beautiful government buildings in this city, and yet know it as a place "where palaces are."

The capital city has within its borders hundreds of the mansions of the rich. More and more every year it is becoming a residence city, a sort of place of rest and refuge after the storm of business life for the retiring men of wealth. Here they build beautiful homes, and here they are more than content to stay from the early fall days until the heat of the summer drives them to the seashore and the mountains.

When a man is elected a senator of the United States and knows that he has six years' lease of official life he is almost certain either to rent or to buy outright one of the palaces of the city, or if he is morally certain that he is to have two leases of official life, the chances are that he will build a castle for himself.

Foreigners in Washington say that residential sections of that city are the most beautiful in the world. Poverty and wealth appear side by side in the capital of the Union. In scores of the city blocks little frame structures, many of them shabby on their foundations, the homes of negroes, stand under the shadow of the marble and granite palaces of the rich, so it readily can be seen that the words of the poet, "A city where palaces are is best," fit the case perfectly.

John Hays Hammond was a classmate at Yale of President Taft. Two years ago last spring Mr. Hammond developed suddenly an ambition to be the candidate of the Republicans for the office of vice-president of the United States. It was a perfectly worthy ambition of course, for every American ought to have the right, if he has lived a square life, to feel a pulsing desire to serve his fellow man in office. Mr. Hammond was not nominated, but has been in the public eye in Washington only to a less extent than he would have been were it he instead of James S. Sherman who presides today over the deliberations of the United States senate. The city home of Mr. Hammond has a history of some interest.

Some years ago Levi P. Morton, who was vice-president of the United States under Benjamin Harrison, built a great palace-like house on a triangle of land bordered by Rhode Island avenue, M and Fifteenth streets. It is said that this residence still belongs to Mr. Morton. It has been the scene of official social gatherings uninterrupted for years. When Mr. Morton retired from the vice-presidency the residence was taken by Count Cassini, the ambassador of the czar of Russia to the United States. The Russian and his niece, the Countess Cassini, were great entertainers, and in their residence met the high representatives of all the different departments of government, the two armed services, and the diplomats from all parts of the world.

RESIDENCE OF MR. GIFFORD PINCHOT

the site of her present home, and decided to build. There was a small house on the grounds. The story is that a fortune teller informed Mrs. Townsend that if she built a new house and took up her residence therein she would be dead within a year. She therefore resolved to compromise. She built a magnificent new house, but in such a form that it enclosed like an envelope the old house which stood on the building site.

The Association of American Architects has been occupying recently what is known as the Octagon house. It is the famous old Tayloe man-duty bound to hold and to countenance. The most interesting gathering from the social point of view, which the old Morton house ever held was that of the invited guests who came together to witness the marriage of the only daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Root to U. S. Simpson Grant III. It was a simple affair, in perfect keeping with the desire of both the bride and groom, for young Grant, who is a subaltern army officer, is of a retiring disposition, and is not given at all to a desire for the social limelight, either from his own nature or from the fact that he is the grandson and namesake of the great "Silent Soldier" of the Civil War. When the Root family gave over their lease of the Morton residence John Hays Hammond then took it up and there he lives today.

Levi Z. Leiter, now dead, a Chicago multi-millionaire, built one of the most imposing residences which the city of Washington holds. It stands close to Dupont circle, a fashionable residence section, and its front and side grounds are of greater extent than are usually found adjacent to a house in the city where every inch of land costs much money. The widow of Mr. Leiter still occupies the great pillared house which her husband built. Within a stone's toss of the Leiter residence is the marble Washington home of Mrs. R. M. Patterson, daughter of Joseph Medill, the great editor of the Chicago Tribune. The Patterson house was designed by Stanford White, who was killed by the degenerate Harry K. Thaw in New York city three or four years ago. The design for the Patterson house was one of the last works of the great architect.

Close to the marble Patterson residence is the home of William Boardman, his wife and daughters. The Boardmans are Cleveland people. They came here some years ago, as other rich people have done, to take up their residence and to lead the life of the capital. It is, however, rather a different life which the Boardmans lead. Miss Mabel Boardman is the chief American spirit in the Red Cross movement. She is devoted to this work, and gives to it the major portion of her time. The Boardman house is a scene of many gatherings of people, but, at least one-half of them have humanitarianism for their object.

The Boardman home is one of the few in Washington which President Taft visits in a purely informal way. He "drops in" at Boardman's for afternoon tea or for an evening call just as he would if he were not president of the United States and therefore bound by strands of the tape of etiquette. The president is greatly interested in the work of the Red Cross. He is the organizer's president, as Miss Boardman is one of its hardest workers and its guiding spirit.

There is one home in Washington with which there is connected a curious story. It is the Massachusetts avenue residence of Mrs. R. H. Townsend, who is known in Washington as Mrs. Scott-Townsend. She is the niece of "Tom" Scott, the Pennsylvania multi-millionaire, who died several years ago. Mrs. Townsend's only daughter, Matilde, generally has been pronounced the most beautiful of the young women of the capital city. Rumor connected the daughter "in marriage engagement possibilities" with half a dozen foreigners, all of them well within the titled circle, and one or two of them of the blood royal. The daughter showed her good sense and her rare discrimination by marrying an American.

$3.50 RECIPE CURES WEAK KIDNEYS, FREE

RELIEVES URINARY AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, BACKACHE, STRAINING, SWELLING, ETC.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the dependency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a QUICK RECOVERY, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K-25 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-removing power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

ECZEMA GONE, BOILS CURED

"My son was about three weeks old when I noticed a breaking-out on his cheeks, from which a watery substance oozed. A short time after, his arms, shoulders and breast broke out also, and in a few days became a solid scab. I became alarmed, and called our family physician, who at once pronounced the disease eczema. The little fellow was under his treatment for about three months. By the end of that time, he seemed no better. I became discouraged, and as I had read the advertisements of Cuticura Remedies and testimonials of a great many people who had used them with wonderful success, I dropped the doctor's treatment, and commenced the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and in a few days noticed a marked change. The eruption on his cheeks was almost healed, and his shoulders, arms and breast were decidedly better. When he was about seven months old all trace of the eczema was gone."

"During his teething period, his head and face were broken out in boils which I cured with Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Surely he must have been a great sufferer. During the time of teething and from the time I dropped the doctor's treatment, I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, nothing else, and when two years old he was the picture of health. His complexion was soft and beautiful, and his head a mass of silky curls. I had been afraid that he would never be well, and I feel that I owe a great deal to the Cuticura Remedies." After La Grippe

"I had suffered several weeks with LaGrippe. Had pains in my head and eyes. It felt as though there was a heavy weight on the top of my head, until it seemed that my brain would burst. I was so nervous that I could not rest or sleep. When I dozed off I would awake with a sudden jerking of my whole body. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Heart Remedy and Nerve and Liver Pills cured me. A number of friends have since realized the same benefits."

MRS. ALVIN H. LOCKS, Seabrook, N. H.
The after effects of LaGrippe are often more serious than the disease, as it leaves the system in a weakened condition that invites more serious troubles, such as pneumonia, etc.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine should be taken for some time to thoroughly restore nerve strength.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will return your money.

Dirty Politics

Mud Slinging Resorted To By Charlevoix Sentinel.

One of the most cowardly and unfair campaign attacks that has ever been perpetrated is that of the Charlevoix Sentinel's this week in an assault upon the integrity of Atty. Elissa N. Clark in his campaign for the Circuit Judgeship. "Shady Campaign Methods" is one of the headlines and nothing could be "shadier" than the position taken by the writer of the article. In another article, in which the writer infers that Mr. Clark's public record is questionable, he states in part of a sentence "there will be no opportunity to answer these questions through the public press." There is not a meaner, or more contemptible campaign trick than assailing a candidate's character on the eve of an election, and if Judge Mayne is the man we believe he is, he will endeavor to rectify this cowardly assault as far as possible before next Wednesday.

Must Keep Roads Open.

The following communication, addressed to the postmaster at Traverse City, gives the position of the postal department relative to roads blockaded by snow-storms.
"With reference to that portion of your monthly report for January, regarding the blockaded roads on certain rural routes from your office as the result of snow-storms, you are directed, if these conditions have not already been improved, to bring the matter to the attention of the highway officials and patrons interested, informing them that during the periods of heavy snowfalls, when roads are likely to become drifted with snow and rendered impassable, the Department expects that they will take prompt action with a view to opening the roads and keeping them open; otherwise the expeditious delivery and collection of mail can not be expected, and persistent neglect or refusal to keep the roads passable may result in the withdrawal of the service."

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVE FAILS

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. Charlevoix County Pomona grange No. 40 was royally entertained by Pine Lake grange February 16. Owing to the very uncertain condition of the roads and threatening weather the attendance was not large, only four officers reporting for duty.

Regular grange work was supplemented by numerous songs, recitations and readings. The two principal topics discussed were "The County Road System" and "The Canadian Reciprocity Treaty." Sentiment was for adopting the County Road System while on the latter question opinion was divided. Hon. J. M. Harris, of Boyne City, gave a short talk during the afternoon recess, in which he emphasized the educational value of association and the greater need of cooperation between all organizations along lines wherein interests are identical.

The following granges were declared the banner granges of the county: For the third quarter 1910, Marion Center; for the fourth quarter, Harmony Grange.

Three applicants for the fifth degree were received.

It is very easy to understand why the effort made by the saloon interests to bring about the submission of the local option question this year in Isabella county did not succeed. Local option was adopted by the voters of Isabella county almost two years ago. The usual saloon predictions were made that "business would be ruined" in Mt. Pleasant and the villages of the county. But experience now provides a very different story. Business has been much better since the adoption of local option in Mt. Pleasant. The savings deposits in the two banks of that city have increased since local option was adopted more than $216,000, a large part of which has come in small deposits from those who never before had a bank book. When it was proposed to have the local option question submitted again in Isabella it received not the slightest favor and no signatures could be secured in that purpose.

As Seen By Others

The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada is one of the most progressive companies doing business to-day in the world. In looking over the annual statement for the past year we find that large gains were made in all important items. The Company is growing stronger as each year rolls around.

The Company paid to policyholders last year nearly three million, and since organization the amount is $23,243,167. The life assurance in force stands at nearly 130 millions.

The Company's growth during the past ten years is as follows: Income in 1899, $2,596,207—in 1909, $7,778,132; assets in 1899 $9,247,664—in 1909 this item is $32,804,956; the life assurances in force in 1899 were $52,806,035—in 1909 this item is nearly 130 millions.

This is certainly fine progress, and one of the officers and stockholders may be proud of. The Company is well managed by President Robertson Macaulay and Managing Director T. B. Macaulay.

They are piloting this staunch old Company along safe lines, and have built-up an institution which is looked upon as one of the strongest life assurance companies in the world.—Insurance News, Philadelphia.

The Wall Flower

By TEMPLE BAILEY

Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press

Carlton, coming into the hotel from the wind-swept night, was dazzled by the brightness.

"What's going on?" he asked the clerk.

"There's to be a dance in the dining room," the clerk said. "It is such beastly weather outside that the young folks thought up this way of spending the evening. You'd better dress and come down," he continued, with a glance at Carlton's corduroys.

Carlton shook his head. "I don't care much for that sort of thing," he stated. "I've had so much of it all my life." He tramped away to the smoking room, where he read the papers with the strains of the dance music beating in his ears.

On his way upstairs he stopped on a landing which led to a balcony which overlooked the dining room. Heavy red velvet curtains were draped back on each side of the entrance, and there were three or four deep velvet chairs drawn back from the railing. In one of these chairs, crumpled up and crying, was a girl. Carlton couldn't see her face, but there was a brightness about her hair and a grace in her relaxed figure which plucked his curiosity, so he stood very still, waiting. Presently the girl stopped crying and sat up and saw him.

"Oh!" she said, involuntarily. "Is there anything I can do, Miss Wharton?"

Carlton's quiet manner took away from his offer any hint of impertinence. "You seem to be in trouble." The girl stood up. "Oh, no," she said, with some decision. "It was silly of me to cry." Then as his eyes still questioned, she flashed out her grievance:

"Does a man ever know what it means to a woman to be a wall flower?"

Carlton looked at her incredulously. "Surely you haven't had such an experience."

"Yes I have," she said. "I sat out three dances, and then I came up here; it was too humiliating to be seen alone."

"But why?" he demanded. "I know you dance well; I saw you the other night. And as for beauty, well, anything I could say on that subject would be superfluous, Miss Wharton."

"But I'm not young any more." Her hands were clasped tightly. "Don't you see those boys down there like and you'll feel as if the world was miles away, and that the people in it were of little account in the sum of human happiness."

The moon shone between the ragged clouds, as, wrapped in a red cloak, she went with him on their wild walk. "It's glorious," she confessed, "and I don't care tonight if I am poor and a wallflower, but in the morning there will be the awakening."

"I am poor, too," he said, "but for me there will be no awakening, because all my life I've had riches, and all my life I've been bored. The week before I came down here I learned that I had lost everything. Everybody thought that the blow would be crushing, but I have been surprised to find that I do not care."

"But you will care," she said, "when you have lived for a little while and have learned of how little account you are to people."

"What do I care for people?" was his question.

"You will care just as I did tonight," she said. "When you find that you are of little account, it will hurt you."

He turned to her. "Do you think I could ever be of little account?" he asked. "I don't say this with conceit, but I know that I have found myself, and that henceforth I shall make the world listen."

"Oh!" she breathed, "if one could feel like that!"

"One must feel like that," he said. "To live and conquer. Shall we test it? Tomorrow night put on your prettiest gown and go into the dance expecting to be a belle, not a wall flower, and see the result."

"That wouldn't make a bit of difference," she protested.

"It will make a difference," he said. "Try it."

The next night saw her in the midst of a group of men. Her head was up and her eyes were shining.

"You see it worked," he said, as he came up to claim a dance.

"It was the funniest thing," she confessed. "Before I came downstairs I smiled at myself in the glass and whispered over and over again that I was young and happy, and gradually I came to feel that I was happy, and I came down to the dance tonight without fear. It seemed as if I created a different atmosphere. Do you believe in such things? Of course you do, or you wouldn't have advised it last night."

"I knew you were underestimating your own charms," he told her. "You ran away upstairs to the balcony before people had half a chance to see you."

"After all," she said, quickly, "what is it worth, what do I really care what they think of me?"

He looked down at her with a new light in his eyes. "What do we care for anyone except ourselves? What I think of you, and what you think of me; that is the important question, isn't it?"

After a while he took her up to the balcony where they could be alone.

"If I had my money," he said, "I'd ask you to marry me."

"If you had your money," she said, "I wouldn't let you ask me. I'm not fitted to be the wife of a rich man."

Below them the dancers whirled to the rhythm of the music. Outside the wind sang a wild song, but they had no ears for the music within or that without. They were listening to the song of their own hearts, which told of the love that laughs at obstacles.

Decoration of the Golden Rose.

While not precisely an order of chivalry or knighthood the Golden Rose is a decoration bestowed by the Popes on those whom they wish to honor. It is formed of wrought gold, and is blessed by the Pope on the fourth Sunday in Lent. The rose is anointed with balsam, fumed with incense, and sprinkled with musk, and is placed on the altar during mass. The golden rose is usually presented to a Catholic prince or princess as a token of papal esteem, with an appropriate form of words. The custom of bestowing this decoration appears to have originated about the thirteenth century. Among the recipients have been Henry VIII (who received it three times), Mary of England, Maria Teresa, Napoleon III, and Isabella II of Spain. The golden rose is one of the most ancient of existing decorations, and is much valued by its recipients.

Truly a Mean Man.

Different persons have different standards of right and wrong by which they judge others. Two ragged urchins were passing along the street, when one of them noticed a drayman driving by, and remarked, "There goes the meanest man I ever saw!"

"What's he done to you?" asked the companion. "What's he done?" repeated the other, indignantly. "Why, he unloaded half a carload of watermelons without bustin' one of 'em! That's what he's done!" And the other boy nodded his approval of his companion's low estimate of a drayman who would not drop just one watermelon for the boys in handling half a carload.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 24 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualcol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to Pinex Co., 264 Main St., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

One's Own Heaven and Hell.

Most of our grief comes from within—we torture and torment our very souls. Each man makes his heaven—each man makes his hell. Each man knows when and where he is right, just as he knows when and where he is wrong. Each man realizes just where and when he is weak, and when and where he is strong. But many take entirely too many liberties with themselves.—Exchange.

Nothing Much.

"I don't know whether I ought to recognize him here in the city or not. Our acquaintance at the seashore was very slight."

"You promised to marry him, didn't you?"

"Yes, but that was all."

To Economize Space.

"But why it is that you always serve toast with each slice stood up on edge?"

"Oh, I just got into the habit; you know, we lived in a flat when we were first married."

Enlightenment.

"A burlesque," said the occasional theater-goer, "is a sort of take-off, isn't it?"

"It is," replied Miss Cayenne, "if you judge it by the costuming."

THE USUAL RESULT.

So Stockbug has been on the street, has he? What is he speculating on?"

"Just at present, I believe, he is speculating on how much longer he will be on the street."

The Latest Golf Story.

Two Scotchmen met and exchanged the small talk appropriate to the hour. As they were parting to go supperward, Sandy said to Jock:

"Jock, mon, I'll go ye a round on the links in the morn'."

"The morn'?" Jock repeated doubtfully.

"Aye, mon, the morn'," said Sandy. "I'll go ye a round on the links the morn'."

"Aye weel," said Sandy. "I go ye. But I had intended to get married in the morn'."

A Mosque in London.

It is proposed to erect a mosque in the capital of the greatest Mohammedan power in the world, and the only surprising feature of the project is that it has not been executed before. The building is to cost £100,000, to which the Aga Khan has already contributed £5,000. The committee in control of the scheme is presided over by Amir Ali, and includes the Turkish and Persian ministers, as well as three members of the council of India.—London Globe.

ENLIST! AID OF CHURCHES

Powerful Weapon Brought to Bear in the Fight Against Tuberculosis.

Just how serious a problem tuberculosis is to the average church, and in just what ways pastors are called upon to minister to those suffering from this disease, is the subject of an investigation which the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis is conducting in connection with its plans for Tuberculosis Day on April 30. Statistics are being gathered from thousands of ministers regarding this subject, and among other figures the number of deaths last year from tuberculosis in the church congregation will be given. It is planned to place these statistics, together with other educational material, in the hands of every minister in the country for his use in connection with Tuberculosis Day. Millions of circulars and pamphlets on the prevention of tuberculosis will also be issued, both from the national office and from the headquarters of the 450 anti-tuberculosis associations which will co-operate in the movement.

A Corner in Candles.

As an example of trusts and monopolies prevalent even in that early day it may be mentioned that in 1750 one Benjamin Crabb obtained the exclusive right to make sperm candles in Massachusetts for 14 years.

A year later, however, a factory was started in Providence, R. I., and within the decade there were eight factories in New England and one in Philadelphia. Their output greatly reduced the price of candles, which not long before sold for five shillings a pound. In those days $1.25 was worth fully three times as much as it is now.—From the Designer.

Knees Became Stiff

Five Years of Severe Rheumatism.

The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 14 Barton Street, Boston, Mass., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years, it kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief, then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's." the youth of the younger girls, and I'm not used to being set aside; I've always been first."

"But you're young," he said incredulously. "Why are you calling yourself old?"

"Because I feel old. I can't joke and chatter as I did a few years ago, yet it isn't easy to give up my place to the younger girls."

He sat down in one of the big chairs beside her. He had talked with her before at the table, and now and then on the porches when the storms of the early spring abated a little and made out-of-doors possible. She had always seemed reserved, and this outpouring came as a surprise.

She seemed to feel that she had said too much, and she apologized.

"If you hadn't caught me crying I should not have said a word; it must seem very silly to you."

"No, it doesn't," he said. "Perhaps men don't feel as much the loss of youthful prerogatives, but when I go to our alumni meetings at college and the younger fellows show plainly that they look upon me as a back number I have a little of the feeling which now oppresses you."

"It's dreadful to grow old," she said.

He shook his head and smiled. "No, I love life better than I did when I was younger. Tonight I've been out in the wind, walking up the beach, and felt strong enough to conquer the world. Even in my most sanguine boyhood days I never knew the same sense of absolute belief in my ability to make things come my way."

"But you're a man," she said. "A woman when she loses her first youth and beauty must be content to be a wall flower."

"Come out," he said, impulsively, "and walk with me up the beach. It is glorious out; the wind is blowing,

BURDENS LIFTED FROM BAD BACKS

Weary is the back that bears the burden of kidney ills. There's no rest or peace for the man or woman who has a bad back. The distress begins in early morning. You feel lame and not refreshed. It's hard to get out of bed. It hurts to stoop to tie your shoes. All day the ache keeps up. Any sudden movement sends sharp twinges through the back. It is torture to stoop and straighten. At night the sufferer retires to toss and twist and groan. Backache is kidney ache—a throbbing, dull aching in the kidneys. Plasters or liniments won't do. You must get at the cause, inside.

COMPLETELY PROSTRATED.

Mrs. Eliza Kirk, S. Main St., Spencer, Ind., says: "I had been prostrated with inflammatory rheumatism. My limbs were swollen, hands drawn out of shape and I was so sensitive to pain I had to be turned in sheets. It was surprising how quickly Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me and how soon I was cured. For three years my cure has been permanent."

How To Tell When The Kidneys Are Disordered--

Painful Symptoms: Backache, sideache, pains when stooping or lifting, sudden sharp twinges, rheumatic pains, neuralgia, painful, scanty or too frequent urination, dizzy spells, dropsy.

Urinary Symptoms: Discolored or cloudy urine. Urine that contains sediment. Urine that stains the linen. Painful passages. Blood or shreds in the urine. Let a bottle of the morning urine stand for 24 hours. If it shows a cloudy or fleecy settling, or a layer of fine grains, like brick dust, the kidneys are probably disordered.

WEIGHED ONLY 80 POUNDS.

Byron Bennette, 1018 St. Clair Ave., East Liverpool, O., says: "I was helpless in bed with kidney trouble. I ran down until I weighed but 80 pounds and everyone thought I had consumption. A specialist gave me up and so did my home physician. Surprising as it may seem, I was able to leave my bed after using six boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and for six years I have remained free from kidney trouble."

How to Cure Chronic Colds and Bronchitis

Bluevale, Ont., May 4, 1910.
 "I was sick for two years with a chronic cold and bronchitis and a consequent run-down condition. I received no benefit from doctors, and had to give up work. VINOL was recommended and from the second bottle I commenced to improve. I gained in weight and strength, my cold and bronchial trouble disappeared, and I am at work again. I want to recommend VINOL to anyone who is in need of such a medicine."—THOMAS HIGGINS.
 It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL which makes it so successful in curing stubborn colds and bronchitis.
 VINOL is a constitutional remedy for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles, not a palliative like cough syrups.
 Try a bottle of VINOL. If you don't think it helped you, we will return your money.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Newberry, Mich., Feb. 12, 1910.
 Petoskey Rug Mfg. Co.,
 A. T. Washburne, Prop.
 Petoskey, Mich.

Dear Sirs:—
 The Rugs came yesterday and are simply superb. If I could see old stoners converted and made over as new as those Rugs are I should think that perfection was reached in transforming men.

How can you do it out of such old carpets is a surprise to me. Your charges are reasonable. Your work is excellent. Your attention to patrons is commendable. And the products of your looms surpassing all our expectations.
 With many thanks, we remain,
 Sincerely,
 Rev. Lovi Bird, Ph. D.

Pastor Newberry M. E. Church,
 P. S.—You are at liberty to use this letter if you care to do so.

We have hundreds of such letters as above coming from nearly every state in the Union on file at our office for inspection.

Woman's Work for Temperance

When we think of woman's work in any department, we naturally think her work begins in her home and many times we imagine it must be confined to the house. But the home has forever ceased to be the sole sphere of woman's activities. It is the exceptional woman who is not identified with one or more organizations of religious activity or social betterment.
 It is in the missionary meeting, the club, the ladies society, the Sunday School where woman may do most effective temperance, provided she has the knowledge, the courage and the zeal to improve her opportunities.
 With the increasing publicity given to the drunken orgies of men and women on New Year's eve in city restaurants and hotels, it behooves Christian women to maintain a standard in society that shall put beyond the pale of decency any participant in the orgies described by the secular press.
 How can this social standard be maintained? That women determine standards in society is beyond question. That Christians ought to lead in the establishment of right standards is equally unquestionable. Too often the social atmosphere of wealth impregnated with wine and champagne drinking, cigarette smoking and card playing makes moral cowards of women. They are overcome, instead of overcoming, and frequently the cause of this cowardice on the part of women is a lack of specific information necessary to defend her position for total abstinence from alcoholic liquors and other narcotics. There are hundreds of valid reasons, moral, social, economic, physiological and psychological, but she does not know them, or knows them in so vague a way she is not sure of her ground or the authority she thinks she ought to cite, and so is silent instead of witnessing for righteousness.
 While this is not true of all Christian women, it is alas the truth concerning untold thousands. For this reason, every missionary society ought to have a temperance secretary, a crank if you please, who will be worthy of the name by turning the thought and attention to this important worldwide question. The Sunday Schools, Young Peoples Societies, clubs and societies of all kinds that enlist the time and activities of women should have Superintendents of a Temperance department who will really superintend, to the extent that every member receive a printed page, a timely word or interesting like up-to-date item so that conversation will flow easily and intelligently and to some purpose, when the temperance reform is mentioned.

To Consumptives.

Edward A. Wilson's Preparation of Hypophosphites and Blodgett from the original formula is the Sovereign Remedy for Consumption, Asthma Bronchitis, Catarrh, LaGrippe, Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung Maladies.
 Thousands of people say they have been relieved by it.
 Those who have used it will have no other, and recommend it to their fellow sufferers.
 It has cured many after they were given up as incurable by their physicians.
 The undersigned as a consumptive can testify from his own experience as to its value.
 Write at once—delays are dangerous, and may prove fatal.

County Normal Notes.
 Miss Koerth is still absent and Eva Cram has the substitute work in her room.
 Hallie Bon substituted in Miss Wilson's room, Thursday and Friday, February 16 and 17. Miss Wilson was absent because of illness.
 The housekeepers this week are Jennie Hunderman and Ethel Murray; the editors are Lila Shapton and Hazel Price; the gardener Reta Carr.
 The Parent's organization met at the High School building Wednesday evening, February 15. The normal class served refreshments. This was partly to show their gratitude for the new Perfection oil stove which was recently placed in the normal room. Thursday evening after school there was a meeting of the teachers at the normal room for a little social time, and the class served chocolate and wafers.

Just Can't Fire Anybody

The senators at Lansing are a sympathetic bunch. It seems that they just can't be cruel enough to fire many employees. To the committee on state affairs was delegated the unpleasant task of cutting down the senate pay roll. The senators sneaked at the work with a willingness that was deplorable. They held numerous meetings and adjourned without making any sweeping changes in the line-up of wage earners. Then Wednesday, the day on which they were scheduled to report, it warmed around that only three employees were to be lopped off for the present. The report was made, and it became apparent that only one, Sherwood Townsend, the assistant sergeant-at-arms, was actually canned. The other two had been coaxed into resigning. Townsend is one of Bill Bradley's men. Bill announced with tears in his eyes that the man was regularly, ordinarily, and summarily fired. We expect to hear more inside of two months.—The Little Buck.

ANSWER IT HONESTLY.

Are the Statements of East Jordan Citizens Not More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers?

This is a vital question. It is fraught with interest to East Jordan.
 It permits of only one answer. It can not be evaded or ignored.
 An East Jordan citizen speaks here. Speaks for the welfare of East Jordan.
 A citizen's statement is reliable. An utter stranger's doubtful. Home proof is the best proof.

Made of Forest Roots

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them; and, in confirmation of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion and torpid liver yield to its curative action.

The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements is as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it, often after many other advertised medicines, and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native, medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper. Don't accept secret nostrums as substitutes for these medicines OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.
