Good Roads Meet at Lansing.

The annual meeting of the Michigan State Good Roads Association will be held at Lansing, August 31 and September 1, 1911. The meeting will be held in Representative Hall. This promises to be the largest and most enthusiastic gathering of road builders ever held in Michigan.

Governor Osborn will deliver an address, not only worthy of the splendid governor that he is, but more than ordinary instructive because of his pronounced views on road legislation and the county road system. Speakers from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Washington, as well as many of the prominent men of Michigan will present and discuss the different phases of the good roads problem. State Highway Commissioner Ely has kindly consented to throw open the doors of his department for entertainment and instruction. His deputies have kindly consented to give practical demonstration in the building of the various classes of roads specified in the statute, and also the proper method of maintaining our public highways. The Automobile Club have promised to place one hundred machines at our disposal of to convey visitors and representatives not only to the places of special interest, including the public institutions of Lansing, but to and from the roads selected for demonstration by the State Highway Department. The Citizens Committee of Lansing are enthusiastic over this meeting, and have promised a program of entertainment, musical and otherwise, unexcelled. Important committees have already been appointed to submit a new set of by-laws and constitution, as well as a committee on incorporation. The live questions relating to good roads will be discussed.

The officers are especially anxious that all who can should come to the state capital and participate in this gathering in order that they may take back useful information regarding one of the most important questions that confronts our people today. Every city and village in the state will be asked through its mayors and councils to send representatives. Nothing short of one thousand enthusiastic good roads men will satisfy their hopes and expectations.

The association is on the eve of sending twenty organizers into the field. The work of these organizers has already been outlined. They are seeking practical results. They purpose to build roads and remove from our fair state the disgraceful truth that we are a quarter of a century behind our sister states.

A Mother of Israel Gone.

The subject of this sketch, Mrs. Louis Fraunt Schaaek, was born in Germany July 14th 1818 and fell asleep in East Jordan, Michigan, August 11th, 1911, being in her 94th year. She was united in marriage in 1840 to Christian Hartlib, who died in 1854. To this union was born ten children three of whom are still living, Mrs. Dortha Hoffman of Saginaw, Mrs. Louise Quinn and Mrs. Augusta Blake of East Jordan. In 1886 she married Christian Schaaek. After his death she lived with her daughter in Detroit and at the latter's death in 1905 she came to East Jordan to live with her daughters here. While she was in Germany she was a member of the German Lutheran Church and in 1860 she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Roseville, Michigan, and was a member of the First German Methodist Episcopal in Detroit at the time of her death.

She has had 34 grand children and 47 great-grand children. She was a great lover of her Bible and the day before she died spent about two hours reading from its sacred pages. She was loved and respected by all who had the pleasure of meeting her.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from her daughter's residence, Mrs. Quinn's on Main Street, and was conducted at the Methodist Episcopal Church by the Pastor Rev. T. Porter Bennett. Interment at East Jordan.

"Servant of God, well done:
Thy glorious welfare's past,
The battles fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last."

For the first time in the history of Berkeley and Jefferson counties in West Virginia, covering a period more than two hundred years, the saloons have been banished from their precincts. At present there is not a saloon in West Virginia east of Grafton. At no time in the past has there been such widespread and effective opposition to the saloon and to all phases of the organized liquor traffic as that which now exists. In not a single county or city or state in the Union where any fight against the liquor business has been entered upon has the contest been abandoned or its movement weakened. As is true of the West Virginia counties referred to many saloons are now adopting local option and county prohibition that always in the past have favored the saloons. The hopes of the brewers and distillers and saloonists that the crest of the so-called wave against the liquor traffic has passed by and that the flood of opposition to their business would soon subside find nothing in the facts in the case to give it the slightest encouragement.

"QUALITY FIRST OF ALL"

FRED E. BOOSINGER

A Chicago millionaire came to this country in 1871, with 12 cents in his pocket. The other day, referring to it, he said he laid down this rule: "Never to be out of work and never to spend as much as you earn." It was that rule that made him a millionaire, and that is the kind of millionaire that is entitled to honor. His idea is that it is good for a man to save, for economy is a healthy habit, says the Ohio State Journal. As a rule men can live on half they spend, have better health, and can do more work. Let a man sit down and make a list of what he needs, not scantily but bountifully, and he will be surprised how many things he can cut out and yet keep body and mind in fine condition. There are many things that one buys that are the objects of his fancy. He sees them and wants them; if he didn't see them he wouldn't want them. We once heard of a man who would not go to market, because he said, he wanted to buy everything, and succeeded in buying much he did not need. It is possible to live well on meals that average only 10 cents per capita. In a school on the west side they do it, and that little club of teachers are hearty and happy as robins in a cherry tree. We must get out of the idea that great chunks of heavy food are required for energy. As a rule they reduce it.

The bureau of animal industry has devised what appears to be a breakfast food for horses, with the purpose to reduce the high cost of their living. This substitute for oats is composed of coconut and peanut meats and it can be produced for $15 less a ton than whole oats cost. It appears that the horses experimented with did not take eagerly to the new ration at first; quite as human beings used to find their breakfast foods cloggy until a taste was expressly cultivated. The horses had to get the habit without the encouragement which a liberal application of cream and sugar affords the bipeds. In due time, however, the animals recovered their form on the novel diet. The ration must be unquestionably justified, nevertheless, before it can be commended to those who truly love a horse. It is not the animal's fault that oats have become a luxury. Human beings have been induced to eat its natural fodder in enormous quantities and that is the reason.

A German expedition which went to German East Africa to search for dinosaurian remains reports the discovery of bones larger than any heretofore exhumed in other parts of the world. One specimen which has been secured is a humerus 6 feet 10 1/2 inches in length. This would indicate a thigh bone of nine feet. Heretofore the diplococcus has been considered the great-granddaddy of colossal land animals of all times. But the length of the humerus of the diplococcus was only three feet eleven inches. It is very safe to say of the prehistoric geological ages that "there were giants in those days."

A telephone has been installed near the pulpit of a Kansas church to enable the congregation to hear the sermon without going to church. However, it is a difficult feat to sleep and hold a receiver to one's ear at the same time.

The American bullfrog is to be introduced into Japan by a young Japanese who was graduated from an American agricultural college this year. Choruses of large, healthy American frogs, bellowing "To-go! To-go!" from the marshes should add much to the charm of Japanese life and strengthen the ties between the two countries.

Still another doctor is added to the list of those who are being sued for sewing up various articles in the bodies of their patients operated upon. In this last case it is forceps. This sort of thing is apt to make patients nervous over the prospect of having a junk department added to the original plan of their interior economy.

It is pointed out that there is no danger of overdoing the apple raising business, as the frequent crop failures keep down the production. Yet this does not seem to be a good argument to address to prospective but hesitating investors.

By hypnotizing a maniac an Illinois woman prevented him from attacking her and her children. It might be well for the ladies to drop bridge for a while and take up hypnotism.

Athletic Contests

Number of Games Should be Reduced All Around

By PAUL C. PHILLIPS, M. D.

I BELIEVE thoroughly in intercollegiate sport, but, in general, viewing the number of athletic contests occurring between colleges throughout the country, I should say unhesitatingly, yes to this question. The tendency of the last twenty years has been toward the increase of intercollegiate contests in each sport, and the addition of new sports, until the number has passed the normal for an institution of higher learning. Schedules of over 25 games in term time in any branch of intercollegiate athletics certainly transcend the laws of proportion in college life. The general public recognizes that.

Any reduction in schedules concerns the scholarship, the physical condition and the ideals of the men on teams and the ideals and finances of the student body. All these factors should be given due weight, therefore, in determining their length.

Of these scholarship, of course, stands paramount, but the views of athlete, manager, trainer and coach should receive due consideration and if possible a harmonious result obtained.

For training and coaching a team a certain number of contests are necessary. Sufficient financial returns come only from a number of games. The interest of the student body in the sport is maintained only by a modicum of exhibitions.

The ideal number of contests in each sport may be considerably less than that at present engaged in, but the reduction should not be made so suddenly as to lose the support of all concerned. History may be made too fast and have to be unmade. For instance, one may consider one game of baseball a week or ten in a season, the ideal for a college, but a reduction from twenty to eighteen the first year may be all that it would be wise to make. Schedules, however, should never be so long or require so many absences as to make special legislation on the part of the faculty for athletics necessary. This militates against the democracy of the college.

The "delayed varsity season" plan suggested by Mr. Derby, a former Harvard varsity football player, in the Outlook last fall has much to commend it, especially its fostering of widespread collegiate sport. It consists in allowing only about four weeks for the varsity season in each sport previous to which there shall be as many teams as possible—interclass, interfraternity and what not—in which the athletic material shall get conditioned physically, learn the game and be tried out for the varsity squad. Intra-collegiate games having concluded, an end-of-the-season varsity series concludes the schedule.

Pellagra Endemic Disease Rather Than Epidemic

By GORDON LLOYD, M. D.

Bergamo. He reports that the disease is endemic rather than epidemic, and that the centers of infection have remained the same for a century. He found that when a person affected by the disease moved into a non-pellagrous district no spread of pellagra occurred. He observed, however, that wherever pellagra was, there, too, was the sand fly, and that tillers of the soil who were most exposed to this fly were oftenest affected.

The sand fly is a midge, or gnat. Whether we have the same kind of sand fly in this country that Sambon studied in Italy the writer is not prepared to say; but he is informed by a state entomologist that we have with us in the south a small gnat-like insect called the sand fly. Our sand fly, however, seems to be largely restricted to the coast country, not penetrating very far inland, as a rule. The punky of the Adirondacks is one variety of said fly, also.

Dr. Sambon's theory is that the sand fly is the carrier of the parasites of pellagra, whatever they are. The fact that the parasite of pellagra has not been identified does not necessarily count against his theory, because no one now doubts the role of the mosquito as the carrier of yellow fever, despite the fact that the germ of yellow fever has never been discovered. Are we about to add the gnat to the mosquito as the distributor of a great disease?

All true southerners will pray that time may justify the sand fly theory of pellagra transmission and infection; for, like our beloved Joel Chandler Harris, whose tribute to the corn-meal dumpling is so full of charm, we hope long to cherish the hoe cake and the pone.

Those Who Succeed and Others

By B. G. CLARKE

I am glad that some one has a good word to say for the members of the unfortunate class whom custom stigmatizes as "bums." When people get a little virtue their first instinct seems to be to blacken the character of others in order to secure a contrast which can show up their own imaginary white wings. The first man they meet who is penniless or sick falls a victim of their virulent vanity.

No one who has seen life has missed the sight of some cheap braggart, elated with some little success, browbeating and arrogantly overpowering some poor fellow who happens to be less experienced, younger, older or otherwise at a disadvantage.

I, for one, believe that phenomenal success or failure is accidental. While undoubtedly one of average ability and average industry stands an average show of meeting with average success, it does not follow that a needy man deserves his misfortune or that a billionaire is excessively virtuous.

No polite man could sit at a table and devour all the good food in sight while others out of reach of the dishes sat fasting. The excessively rich need not worry as to whether the extremely poor are or are not deserving and appreciative. The giver gets his reward whether the recipient profits or not.

HERMIT AND ARTIST IN WEIRD WEDDING

DYNAMITE BLASTS AND INCENSE OF BURNED CEDAR BERRIES USED IN CEREMONY.

CUT OUT "HONOR AND OBEY"

John Otto and Miss Farnham Made One Before Rock-Hewn Altar on Lodge 100 Feet High—Devise Second Ceremony.

Grand Junction, Colo.—With weird and picturesque ceremony, preceded by a wedding banquet, cooked and served by the bride, and followed by a series of dynamite salutes to his bride and the American flag, Miss Beatrice Farnham, the Boston artist and sculptress, was married to John Otto, the trail builder, in the mountain fastnesses of Monument canon.

Out of deference to the minister, the plans for marriage on top of Independence rock were abandoned, and the ceremony was performed on Grand ledge, 100 feet high. The Rev. F. A. Hatch, congregational minister at Fruita, officiated and there were half a dozen invited guests.

The bride and bridegroom stood before an altar which they had fashioned from quartz and granite, under an arch of evergreen. In the rock the bride had carved the words "Truth, Honor, Love and Justice."

The usual ring service was used, but the clergyman omitted the words "honor and obey" from his questions to Miss Farnham, because of Otto's declaration that he did not believe in that part of the ceremony.

"What is the use of making women promise to honor and obey," he said, "when they don't have any intention of doing it. Half of the marriages performed simply force the woman to

He and I don't want my wife to make any promises she can't keep, for only so long as love lasts can marriage endure."

The marriage was solemnized by a double ceremony. To comply with the laws of the country, Otto secured a marriage license and was duly wedded by Rev. F. A. Hatch. The legal ceremony, to the mind of Otto, a professed atheist, and Miss Farnham, a free thinker, was not sufficient to "bind them in the holy bonds of wedlock," hence following the words which made them man and wife in the eyes of the law and the public at large, they climbed to the top of Independence monument, 550 feet high, by a fragile ladder of iron spikes, and went through a fantastic ceremony of their own. They were alone on the top of the pinnacle and to the few spectators on the ground their actions could not be plainly seen.

It had been their plan from the first to have both ceremonies performed on the top of the monument, but no minister or justice of the peace could be secured in any part of Mesa county who would risk his life in this task for love or money.

Following the ceremony Otto burned incense to his wife in the form of cedar berries, which he sprinkled on the camp fire. Then the bride and groom together planted a young spruce tree, which they designated as their witness tree, and declared would grow as long as their love lasted.

Fought for Chum's Life.
Shenandoah, Pa.—While a number of boys were swimming in a Locust mountain reservoir Anthony Mercavage, 14 years old, took a cramp and was sinking for the second time when John Scheaffer, aged 16, went to the lad's assistance and saved him from a watery grave at great peril. He had to fight the drowning boy off until he got him by the hair, and then hauled him to safety.

Wed on a Hospital Cot.
Lancaster, Pa.—By permission of her physician, Miss Mary Klingman of Jacksonville sat up in her hospital cot for an hour to be married to the Rev. Border Levi Stanley of Shenandoah Junction. She came here to attend the ordination of her affianced husband but was taken ill and sent to the hospital.

For Mourning

CRAPE is an exquisite fabric which we almost wish might be used for other than mourning wear. But it has become so thoroughly established at the head of the list of those fabrics suited to mourning apparel that it will never be dislodged. Crape is, in fact, in our civilization the insignia of mourning and is used in gowns and wraps as well as in millinery. Its weave and body make possible very beautiful effects in workmanship and mourning hats rarely are improved by decorations other than those made of crape.

For first mourning, hats of crape or crape and plain silk should be medium in size and carefully made silks are manufactured especially for mourning wear and are used in conjunction with crape in with fine effect. Shapes for mourning millinery should be conservative in every way. No extremes of size, no noticeable eccentricities are good form. It is in neat and ingenious work that mourning millinery is pre-eminent.

The four hats shown here are examples of mourning of the highest order of excellence. The round hat, of black grenadine and crape, shows the crape used as a border or finish with the body of the hat in grenadine. In this and all the other hats the trimming is made up of the fabrics.

A tongue made entirely of crape has the coronet covered with narrow folds and a large buckle covered in the same way. The crown of the shape is covered with the crape draped gracefully and apparently fastened to place by the buckle.

A turban shape, made entirely of rounded folds, is trimmed with a pair of wings made in the same way and mounted by means of a buckle of dull jet. The folds are cut in such a way that the rib runs across them on the straight, instead of diagonally.

One should test crape when buying it, to see that it has been properly waterproofed. Since some manufacturers have so improved this fabric that rain and moisture, or even immersing in water, do not hurt it, it has become one of the most durable of materials. A small piece dipped in a glass of water will not "run" or discolor the water nor be affected by it, if it is of the durable kind and worth having.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

SIMPLE DRESS.

This is quite simple and might be made in linen and embroidery, or cashmere and foulard.

The skirt is plain to about the knees, then has a deep band of trimming taken to foot.

The bodice has the upper part of trimming, the material being used for the lower part, which is taken up to neck at center of back and front, where a collar of the same finishes the neck; the cuffs and sleeve bands are also of this.

Hat of soft silk or tulle, drawn up with a ribbon.

Materials required: 2 yards 44 inches wide, 3 1/2 yards trimming, 20 inches wide.

Mending a Mackintosh.
Often by accident a mackintosh may be damaged to the extent of a slight rent. While the rent impairs its usefulness, the garment may still be too good to throw away. To mend it sandpaper the edges to keep them free from grit. Then get a solution of gutta percha, spread it thinly along the seam, stroke down the other seam on it and leave a heavy weight on it for some hours.

LAWN AND MUSLIN FROCKS

Some Suggestions Regarding the Making of These Light, Airy Summer Dresses.

Ready-made lawn and muslin frocks sell from three dollars up. With home making it must be remembered that a soft material is needed for the tucking at the top of the skirt so as not to be bunglesome.

Anent all the little inexpensive wash textures that might be used for frocks, a word regarding the coloring of black and white with color is in order. The shops are using edges of plain red or blue or green lawn, together with a line of plain black, on black and white wash frocks of all sorts, so, of course, the unmade materials are provided for private making. With a little coarse lace for the yoke and undersleeve edges, these lawn bands put on the bottom of the skirt and in some manner on the bodice transform a cheap goods into something that seems expensive. So treat the lawns in this manner, and at the same time try and keep the frock as long as possible without washing. For although accounted tub colors, there are many summer dyes that respond with bad grace to soap and water.

Fall Lines of Children's Coats.
Buyers are well pleased with the fall lines of children's coats. The new materials brought out this season are so rich in themselves that it requires very little trimming to make the garments attractive, says the Dry Goods Economist. Rich Scotch mixtures, fancy chevrons and double-faced materials are among the season's novelties which promise to meet with great success. In the double-face fabrics the reverse side is frequently used for the trimming, and is either in a plaid or striped effect or in a contrasting color.

A Houseplant Item.
Houseplants of any kind that seem to need more life and energy will thrive by submitting it to a course of ammonia water applications, that is, the soil. Ammonia when diluted in the proportions that one makes it to wash windows is a fertilizer. Soap water is quite as good and a combination of soapy water and ammonia is still better. Give the poor houseplants a drink that is also food to them when you are about to throw into drain a material which they actually require to appear at their best.

To Freshen Suede Shoes.
It is a good plan to include a piece of emery paper in the household shoe cleaning outfit. When the suede shoes have been wet and the nap has become matted down a gentle rubbing with the emery paper will raise it and restore the velvetlike softness of the

Announcement

The Charlevoix County Fair Association announces its 27th Annual Fair to be held at East Jordan, September 12 to 15th, in full confidence that its previous efforts to give the public a truly great exhibition of the agricultural and industrial products of the County have been appreciated and that the coming fair will bring a much larger attendance and a much greater interest than any of its predecessors. The developments of all the interests that are allied to the farmer, to the home and to the country estate is the object for which this fair was established. The directors have no other object in view. Not as a source of gain, but as a means of uplifting and promoting agriculture, in their hope for the future of this fair.

To this end we ask the co-operation of all the people, for as long as people shall dwell upon the earth so long will the soil be called upon to supply the things most needed by man.

Charlevoix County with all its wealth of manufactures has also great wealth in its soil. No county has richer soil than is found in its valleys, while its hill slopes hold great possibilities for the fruit grower.

The fair will endeavor to provide both instruction and amusement for the people. It invites exhibitors from herd and flock, the poultry yard, the farm, garden and orchard, the flower garden, green house, art, needle work, domestic products and farm machinery. These will all pass under the eye of competent judges and premiums in money will be awarded the most meritorious. We propose that a premium awarded at this fair will mean something of value to the exhibitor, and to that end all the awards will be made solely on the merits of the articles exhibited.

To the visitor we offer an inspection of the best the County produces, with the feeling that you will go from this fair with the sense of patriotism and pride in your county that you have never before known.

The management aim by all legitimate means to advance the agricultural, mechanical and kindred interests of the county, yet they are not unmindful of such innocent sports and amusements as will tend to vary any possible monotony, produce healthful relaxation, recreation and enjoyment, and to that end have secured one of the biggest aerial sensations of the day the "Flying Tickets" who will be seen each day at the fair in some of the most daring feats imaginable.

The races also will form an important part of the fair's attraction. They will be honestly conducted and liberal purses will be fairly awarded. Entries are already being made for the different events and we are practically assured that this year's Speed Contests will furnish the best races ever held on our track.

Let each and every man, woman and child put their shoulder to the wheel and help make this year's fair the very best. This is your fair not mine—everybody boost and everybody come and have one of the best times of your life.

Yours for a successful Fair,
A. B. NICHOLAS, JR.,
Secretary.

Special Sale of Library Tables.

Empsey Bros. wish to say to their patrons and the general public that they have bought an over stock of fine Oak and Birch Library Tables. In order to reduce this stock, these tables will be sold at cost for the next thirty days. Don't miss the opportunity of securing at cost just what every home needs.

Anyway, there is nothing monotonous about the weather.

Some men look upon laws as things merely to be broken.

Many a man who thinks he is wise is unable to prove it.

Sometimes a man's idea of economy is to tell his wife how to save money.

A little travel is a dangerous thing. It may make a fool of a man upon a great many subjects.

The man who marries after falling in love at first sight is apt to become a firm believer in second sight later.

A man's idea of a real vacation is to get so far away from home that he won't have to live up to his reputation.

The average man has but three ambitions. One is to become rich and the other two are to become richer.

Nature at War.

Those who go much afield do not echo the poets who find Nature ever sweet and peaceful, a rebuke to man who strives and quarrels and preys upon man. Indeed, the closer one gets to the subdued life of the open the more one is convinced that man suffers less of war, less of tragedy and cruelty, than the simple beings whose lives are so often referred to as high examples of "baptisms" and "friendly telegrams."

You will find in such books as Richardson's "Beyond the Mississippi," written thirty or more years ago, descriptions of "the ideal household of the prairie dog. The prairie dog dug the house and the owl and the rattle-snake came to dwell with him and they all got along famously. When naturalists got to looking into the case they found that the bird and the serpent lived less with the prairie dog than upon him. He was first their landlord and then their prey.

Beginning with the lowest organisms it is found that minute make larger forms their preys and are, in turn, the main source of food of many higher forms. The caterpillar, so destructive to shade trees, reaches the chrysalis stage only if it has been overlooked by bird and parasitic flies. The snail's protective covering is no assured protection, even from his kind. Reptiles and small mammals feed upon birds and birds' eggs and there are birds which prey upon reptiles and small mammals. Among some of the larger animals cannibalism is the rule. That calm which artists put upon the faces of bears and wolves and lions when picturing them as in their dens is more interesting than true.

Also in vegetable life the struggle is perpetual. Trees fight for light and food. Lichens and vines wage everlasting warfare upon tree life. Parasitic growth attacks growing grain. The smallest plant of the forest may perish in a day if some chance seed germinates at its roots and either turns the weakling out to wither and die or absorbs its little store of sap into its own substance.

In all the realm of nature—speaking of it in the popular sense as all out-of-doors—there is nothing truly akin to the pity which exists among men, no peace as we dream of it for ourselves.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. B. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. Hite Drug Store.

"Gies' Garden is a moral cancer and what The Times' representative saw there, Saturday night, would jar the sensibilities of even a woman far down the social scale. He saw young girls, 14, 15 and 16 years old, troop through the foul-smelling barroom into the adjoining cafe. He saw young men made bold by liquor to grasp girls in mad embrace. Modesty is left at home when one goes to Gies' Garden.

An observer sadders when he contemplates the future of these girls." The above is a description of one of Detroit's fifteen hundred "regimented saloons." This saloon incident is given on the front page of a recent issue of The Detroit Times. The brewers of Detroit who pretend to favor decent saloons have these places directly under their eyes day by day throughout the year and not a word of protest ever comes from one of them concerning its operations. It consumes their beer and what care they of the boys and girls whose lives it ruins. The Detroit Times explains that it was prompted to an investigation of the saloon referred to by a letter from a citizen whose daughter was a patron of the place on a previous Saturday night. The daughter came home in the dead of night. She was intoxicated.

Loss of Time means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds mean lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Sreator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. Hite Drug Store.

"I was Crippled, could hardly walk and had to Crawl down stairs at times on my hands and knees. My doctor told me I had an acute attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I was in the hospital for weeks, but was scarcely able to walk when I left it." I read about bought a bottle and began to get better from the start, and for the past six months I have had scarcely any pain and am able to walk as well as ever."

J. H. SANDERS, P. O. box 5, Rockaway, N. J.

Few medicines are of any benefit for rheumatism, but Mr. Sanders tells plainly what Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine did for it. One ounce of salicylate of soda added to one bottle of Nervine makes an excellent remedy for rheumatism, which is now known to be a nervous disease and therefore subject to the influence of a medicine that acts through the nerves, as does

Dr. Miles' Nervine
Sufferers from rheumatism seldom fail to find relief in the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine, with salicylate of soda.

Sold under a guarantee that assures the return of the price of the first bottle if it fails to benefit. At all Druggists.

HULDAH'S PARIN' BEE
IN ONE ACT
SCENE—The old fashioned kitchen of Farmer Stone's house.
The Stones make ready for the party. The guests begin to arrive. Aunt Jerusha comes down stairs to avoid the "newmony" but not to "partake of these ungedly doin's." Hannah brings their city boarder. Billy tells a panther story. The Parin' begins and Hiram runs the machine. Counting apple seeds. Reuben mistakes the basket with Emmeline's baby in it for a place to throw corn and confinement reigns. Swapping stories. Polly and Russell make Hiram jealous. Shil'less Jim's youngsters dance for the company. Nancy sings and Tip Russell plays the "fiddle." Old-fashioned games. Forfeits. Aunt Jerusha "resks newmony rather than witness these scand'lous proceedin's." Azubah Tryphena Peppergrass tells about the Mantiano and Malinda Snowflake sings a good old song.

Instructions for stenelling and designs and materials at Mrs. Hite's Millinery.
The order of the State Board of Health in opposition to the public drinking cup in Michigan is rapidly becoming effective in different sections of the state. It is recognized that the order of the State Board of Health has a reasonable and desirable purpose in view and that its practical enforcement will result in a large share of good for our state and its people. In New York the sale of hypodermic syringes and needles has recently been prohibited through legislative enactment. The purpose of this law is to put an end so far as possible to the growing use of morphine and cocaine. There appears to be little hesitation on the part of the lawmakers and state authorities to take action in the direction of prohibition when the well being of the state and its people seem to justify such action. All state and local contests against the saloon and the liquor traffic are based on the same reasons that caused the suppression of the public drinking cup in Michigan and the forbidding of the sale of morphine administering aids in New York. Their suppression is in behalf of the public welfare.
