HIS HAT IN THE RING

Atty. E. N. Clink Candidate for Probate Judge

We don't know whether it got blown in, thrown in or was rolled in, or whether it was placed there carefully with serious designs, but nevertheless there is one perfectly good hat in the probate judgeship ring belonging to Atty. E. N. Clink of this city. Elsewhere is Mr. Clink's announcement. The gentleman is one of the best known men in Charlevoix County and will have a strong backing at the primaries Aug. 27th. As will be seen by the announcements published elsewhere, Judge Harris would like to continue in office and S. A. Correll of Marion has his hat in the same ring.

West Hammond is now enjoying an unprecedented building boom and Whiskey Row is in mourning. The foregoing is the concluding sentence in a special telegram from West Hammond, Indiana which tells of a thrilling crusade made by a militant girl reformer, Virginia Brooks, against the vice and crime that had controlled every feature of the city's life. Miss Brooks began her battle against the criminal saloons and gambling dens of West Hammond almost single handed. Several times she was beaten and mobbed. Her home was burned, but she kept on. Her chief victory came last May, about the same time similar victories came to several Michigan cities. When West Hammond became a city and elected a clean and honest administration. The same disreputable means and methods were utilized against Miss Brooks at West Hammond that have been utilized in Indiana and elsewhere against anti-saloon workers and the victory which came to those who made the brave contest for cleanliness and righteousness in that Indiana city is one that will well repay all that it cost, just as is true of anti-saloon victories everywhere. It is this result there which gives especial meaning and value to the closing lines of the opening sentence of this paragraph, "West Hammond is now enjoying an unprecedented building boom and Whiskey Row is in mourning."

BIG GAINS IN MICHIGAN

State Becoming Important Because of Its Farm Crops.

As late as 1890 the principal industry in Michigan was lumbering, and this state was the greatest lumber producing section in America. Even in 1900 Michigan boasted more lumber camps and saw mills than any other state, although it had become second to Wisconsin in annual output. To-day, however, Michigan is seeking fame through another industry. It is forging ahead because of the activity of its people in an agricultural way. Ten years ago third place for a few of the farm products was the best showing that could be made, now Michigan holds one first place, two second places, and several third places. Just where another ten years will bring it, is hard to tell, but this much is certain, it will be well to the front among the agricultural states.

In ten years Michigan has advanced from fourth to first place in the production of rye; from third to second place for potatoes; from sixth to second place for apples; from eighth to third place for pears; from fifth to third place for grapes; from sixth to fourth place for cherries, and from seventh to fifth place for peaches.

Michigan's ranking among the states for the production of the more important farm and orchard crops, according to the figures being issued by the census bureau, is as follows: Rye—Michigan ranks—First. Potatoes, Apples—Second. Buckwheat, Grapes, Pears—Third. Cherries—Fourth. Peaches—Fifth. Plums—Eighth. Oats—Ninth. Barley—Eleventh. Wheat—Twelfth. Hay and Forage—Thirteenth. Corn—Fourteenth.

The meaning of the above figures is that not less than thirty-four states produce less of each one of the above mentioned crops than does Michigan.

Michigan stands fifteenth among the states in the value of its farm lands, sixteenth in the number of farms; and it is eighteenth in the average per acre value of its farm property.

Michigan Crop Report

Lansing, Mich., July 6, 1912.
WHEAT. At present the indications are that the wheat crop will fall short of the 1904 returns, when the yield of the State was a trifle over 5,000,000 bushels. The average estimated yield in the State and central counties is 11. In the Southern counties 9, in the Northern counties 13 and in the Upper Peninsula 22 bushels per acre.

The total number of bushels of wheat marketed by farmers in June at 74 mills is 83,304 and at 78 elevators and to grain dealers 67,110, or a total of 150,414 bushels.

Of this amount 124,094 bushels were marketed in the southern four tiers of counties, 22,905 in the central counties and 3,415 in the northern counties and Upper Peninsula. The estimated total number of bushels of wheat marketed in eleven months, August-June, is 13,878,000.

Ninety-four mills, elevators and grain dealers report no wheat marketed in June.

RYE. The average estimated yield of rye in the State, southern and central counties is 12, in the northern counties 13 and in the Upper Peninsula 20 bushels per acre.

CORN. The condition of corn in the State and Southern counties is 68, in the central counties 63. In the northern counties 69 and in the Upper Peninsula 80. One year ago the condition of corn in the State was 82.

BUCKWHEAT. The acreage of buckwheat sown or to be sown, as compared with last year is 87 in the State and central counties, 85 in the Southern counties, 90 in the northern counties and 88 in the Upper Peninsula.

BEANS. The acreage of beans planted as compared with last year is 102 in the State, 97 in the southern counties, 103 in the central counties, 109 in the northern counties and 105 in the Upper Peninsula. The condition of beans, compared with an average is 86 in the State, 85 in the southern and central counties, 89 in the northern counties and 93 in the Upper Peninsula.

POTATOES. The condition of potatoes in the State and southern counties is 88, in the central counties 81, in the northern counties 89 and in the Upper Peninsula 104.

SUGAR BEETS. The condition of sugar beets is 82 in the State, 83 in the southern counties, 79 in the central and northern counties and 109 in the Upper Peninsula.

CLOVER. The condition of clover sown this year as compared with an average is 90 in the State and southern counties, 94 in the central counties, 87 in the northern counties and 95 in the Upper Peninsula.

HAY AND FORAGE. The acreage of hay and forage that will be harvested as compared with last year is 84 in the State and central counties, 93 in the southern counties, 92 in the northern counties and 98 in the Upper Peninsula.

PEAS. The acreage of peas sown of to be sown, as compared with last year is 82 in the State, 89 in the southern counties, 84 in the central counties, 71 in the northern counties and 83 in the Upper Peninsula.

FRUIT. The prospect for a crop of peaches in the counties included in the Michigan Fruit Belt is as follows:

New Market for Apples.

A market has been found in Great Britain for 100 car loads of Western Michigan apples, provided that quantity of fruit, that will grade number one or better, can be obtained this fall. John I. Gibson, the secretary of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, is returning from Liverpool where he has secured full information regarding the demands of the British apple market. It is not unlikely that the Development Bureau will establish a label for Western Michigan fruit, adopt standards, and attempt to supply the wants of the people of the British Isles.

Dr. C. D. Owens DENTIST

East Jordan, July 13, 14, 15.

Dr. C. D. Owens extracted teeth for a great number of people here last winter and is going to return to take impressions for plates and bridge work.

Teeth will be extracted—fillings or crown work as before absolutely without any pain whatever, no drugs used to produce unconsciousness, no bad after results as cocaine leaves, or it will cost you nothing.

No matter how large the teeth or how bad a condition the mouth is in, nor how old or weak a person is there is absolutely no danger—nor no pain, and the gums heal more readily than any other known method of extracting. If this was not a fact he could not return to the same town to do business. There is no other person using this method outside of the C. D. Owens Inc. office in Grand Rapids, this office is located on our Ave. opposite Herpofshimers and is incorporated under the state law of Michigan where there are five of the most skilled dentists in the state operating and using this Owensolar method.

NOTE. To business men. Dr. C. D. Owens does not interfere with the local dentist for people that go to him never would have any dental work done if this method was not used. Remember the date.

Just where another ten years will bring it, is hard to tell, but this much is certain, it will be well to the front among the agricultural states.

In ten years Michigan has advanced from fourth to first place in the production of rye; from third to second place for potatoes; from sixth to second place for apples; from eighth to third place for pears; from fifth to third place for grapes; from sixth to fourth place for cherries, and from seventh to fifth place for peaches.

Michigan's ranking among the states for the production of the more important farm and orchard crops according to the figures being issued by the census bureau, is as follows: Rye—Michigan ranks—First. Potatoes, Apples—Second. Buckwheat, Grapes, Pears—Third. Cherries—Fourth. Peaches—Fifth. Plums—Sixth. Oats—Ninth. Barley—Eleventh. Wheat—Twelfth. Hay and Forage—Thirteenth. Corn—Fourteenth.

The meaning of the above figures is that not less than thirty-four states produce less of each one of the above mentioned crops than does Michigan. Michigan stands fifteenth among the states in the value of its farmlands, sixteenth in the number of farms, and it is eighteenth in the average per acre value of its farm property.

Michigan Crop Report

Lansing, Mich., July 6, 1912.

WHEAT. At present the indications are that the wheat crop will fall short of the 1904 returns, when the yield of the State was a trifle over 5,000,000 bushels. The average estimated yield in the State and central counties is 11, in the Southern counties 9, in the Northern counties 13 and in the Upper Peninsula 22 bushels per acre.

The total number of bushels of wheat marketed by farmers in June at 74 mills is $3,304 and at 78 elevators and to grain dealers 67,110, or a total of 150,414 bushels. Of this amount 124,094 bushels were marketed in the southern tier counties, 22,905 in the central counties and 3,415 in the northern counties and Upper Peninsula. The estimated total number of bushels of wheat marketed in eleven months, August-June, is 13,878,000. Ninety-four mills, elevators and grain dealers report no wheat marketed to June.

RYE. The average estimated yield of rye in the State, southern and central counties is 12, in the northern counties 13 and in the Upper Peninsula 20 bushels per acre. CORN. The condition of corn in the State and Southern counties is 68, in the central counties 63, in the northern counties 69 and in the Upper Peninsula 90. One year ago the condition of corn in the State was 92. BUCKWHEAT. The acreage of buckwheat sown or to be sown, as compared with last year is 31 in the State and central counties, 85 in the Southern counties, 90 in the northern counties and 88 in the Upper Peninsula.

BEANS. The acreage of beans planted as compared with last year is 102 in the State, 97 in the southern counties, 103 in the central counties, 109 in the northern counties and 105 in the Upper Peninsula. The condition of beans, compared with an average is 86 in the State, 85 in the southern and central counties, 89 in the northern counties and 93 in the Upper Peninsula. POTATOES. The condition of potatoes in the State and southern counties is 88, in the central counties 81, in the northern counties 89 and in the Upper Peninsula 104.

SUGAR BEETS. The condition of sugar beets is 82 in the State, 83 in the southern counties, 79 in the central and northern counties and 109 in the Upper Peninsula.

CLOVER. The condition of clover sown this year as compared with an average is 90 in the State and southern counties, 94 in the central counties, 87 in the northern counties and 95 in the Upper Peninsula.

HAY AND FORAGE. The acreage of hay and forage that will be harvested as compared with last year is 94 in the State and central counties, 93 in the southern counties, 92 in the northern counties and 98 in the Upper Peninsula.

PEAS. The acreage of peas sown or to be sown, as compared with last year is 82 in the State, 89 in the southern counties, 84 in the central counties, 71 in the northern counties and 83 in the Upper Peninsula.

FRUIT. The prospect for a crop of peaches in the counties included in the Michigan Fruit Belt is as follows:

New Market for Apples.

A market has been found in Great Britain for 100 car loads of Western Michigan apples, provided that quantity of fruit, that will grade number one or better, can be obtained this fall. John T. Gibson, the secretary of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, is returning from Liverpool where he has secured full information regarding the demands of the British apple market. It is not unlikely that the Development Bureau will establish a label for Western Michigan fruit, adopt standards, and attempt to supply the wants of the people of the British Isles.

Coming July 16th.

Tuesday July 16th, is the day when J. Leaby, the Optometrist, will be at the Russell House, one day only, Glasses guaranteed to fit, curling head-ache a specialty.

Baltimore showed Chicago what a real battle is like. Restaurants may come and restaurants may go, but the political pie counter always has plenty of patrons. Some women are hard to please. They hardly get a wedding gown before they begin to look up material for a divorce suit.

STOPS SCALP ITCH

Dandruff and Every Form of Scalp Disease Cured Quick by Zemo.

It is simply wonderful how Zemo goes after dandruff. You rub a little of it in with tips of the fingers. It gets right down into the glands, stimulates them, stops the itch, and makes the head feel fine. No it isn't sticky! Zemo is a fine, clear vanishing liquid. You don't have to even wash your hands after using Zemo. And what a wonder it is for eczema, rash, pimples and all skin afflictions. A 25-cent trial bottle at W. C. Spring Drug Store is guaranteed to stop any skin irritation. Zemo is prepared by E. W. Rose of St. Louis, Mo., and is regularly sold by druggists at $1 a bottle. But to prove what it will do at trifling expense, Zemo is now put up in 25-cent trial bottles.

A selfish man never realizes how few friends he has until he finds himself laid up for repairs in a hospital.

How indignant it makes the women of the neighborhood when a man kicks about the cost of his wife's funeral.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a valuable and welcome remedy. John Heath, Michigan Bar, Cal., had kidney and bladder trouble, was confined to his bed, unable to turn without help. He commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and can truly say I was relieved at once. His example is worth following. Hilt's Drug Store.

Dr. C. D. Owens DENTIST

East Jordan, July 13, 14, 15.

Dr. C. D. Owens extracted teeth for a great number of people here last winter and is going to return to take impressions for plates and bridge work.

Teeth will be extracted—fillings or crown work as before absolutely without any pain whatever, no drugs used, no propping, no anæsthesia, no bad after results as cocaine leaves, or it will cost you nothing.

No matter how large the teeth or how bad a condition the mouth is in, not how old or weak a person is, there is absolutely no danger nor no pain, and the gums heal more readily than any other known method of extracting. If this was not a fact, he could not return to the same town to do business. There is no other person using this method outside of the C. D. Owens Inc. office in Grand Rapids.

This office is located on Monroe Ave. opposite Herpolsheimers and is incorporated under the state law of Michigan where there are five of the most skilled dentists in the state operating and using this Owensolar method. NOTE: To business men, Dr. C. D. Owens does not interfere with the total dentist for people that go to him never would have any dental work done if this method was not used. Remember the date. July 13, 14, 15th, Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Russell House.

The season for Graham Pudding, Muffins and Gems

is here again. There is no food so well adapted for use in the warm and hot months as that prepared from Graham Flour, if the Graham is the real true-to-name kind as it contains the natural phosphates of the grain. Our Graham is made from native wheat, cleaned, re-cleaned, and ground by one reduction on a French Burr, so that it contains all the natural elements of the grain. It is far better than all the so-called health foods and cuts down the high cost of living. Ask your dealer for it and get the "Argo Coarse Graham."

Latest in Parasols

An odd shaped parasol is the "peak parasol" of unique design. It is of a deep-lace edging made of the same material as the little lace jacket worn by the model. The jacket is worn over a gown of changeable silk. It is for seashore wear and worn without a hat.

COMPLETE COSTUME.

Natty blue cashmere is used for this costume; the Magyar bodice and skirt are cut together and fasten at back; the square neck is filled in with a yoke of piece-lace. A fold of material is put down left side to represent a wrapped seam, buttons with braid are sewn inside this, a simple embroidery pattern trims front. The under-sleeves are of piece-lace; the waist is drawn in by gathers that are covered by a stitched band of material.

Materials required: 2 1/4 yards 46 inches wide, 5/8 yard lace 18 inches wide, 1 dozen buttons.

Glass Buttons.

Glass buttons are quite the fashion, and come in all colors and sizes; they are a distinctive mark of this season's suit wherever seen. Red and black ones are shown in two sizes; these have the appearance of bones; others resemble clouded amber beads, and are appropriate for the most dressy gown; others come in transparent crystal of all shades, dark and light blue, green and white, and black there are those which look like shoe buttons. Mother-of-pearl buttons are also largely in demand, square and round; the large square ones with flat surfaces, are 25 cents each.

Serges Are Popular.

Serges are prima favorites for the tailored suits. Point uses these modish materials for a number of his best creations. Whipcords in two-tone colors in a great variety of qualities are also popular. Tans, grays and dull blues are the leading shades.

The interest in white, cream and fancy woven Serges increases as the season advances.

PLAIN LINES MOST POPULAR

This Season's Linen Suits Are Made With None or Very Little Trimming.

While the coarser linens are used those made of the finer twisted thread are liked quite as well. Very little trimming is needed. The lace collar and cuffs or the lingerie frill at neck and wrists suffice, though, of course, buttons and buttonholes, two and a half inches apart, may figure as trimmings. Oddity of cut is, however, the only thing necessary for those who wish something different. It is surely different enough to have the back of the coat and skirt cut across on the bias or otherwise manipulated. Yet, such manipulations offer no difficulties to the laundress. These suits may be made coat-and-skirt fashion or in the coat and dress effect. Both styles have their good points, many considering the former the most economical, since a fresh blouse may be donned as often as the wearer pleases. And sleeves and necks do have a way of becoming soiled before it is necessary to send the entire dress to the laundress.

Many dresses are being made, too, in linen and kindred weaves. The severity of these all-in-one gowns is beginning to disappear. While the puffs seen on taffetas are not available there are pipings, inlayings and bands in contrasting fabrics.

Fancy linens and linens with open-work borders are effectively utilized, though one who is at all clever at designing will be able to achieve very fine suits with the plain sorts. It's the design, cut and finish that counts, also the accessories. One girl, for example, is to look smart in her white linens this summer; the only color she is to add is sapphire or coral, as the spirit may move her. Whether she chooses the blue or the odd pink shade she will wear it in the shape of silk stockings, ribbon watch fob and necktie, and no other color will appear except she chooses to carry a parasol in the color she is wearing.

Wired Feathers for Hats.

As the hats are all trimmed very high wired feathers arranged to sew on hats may be purchased, and sewers also in pompon effects. One of these feather tower effects costs $4.50; others are near the one dollar mark; the price varies according to the quality and kind of feathers. Aligrettes are still in evidence, though more in white than black. In buying white ostrich feathers of the less expensive grade it is well to run one's hand gently down the length of the quill, pressing back the feather to see that it has been properly dyed, as these are apt to show the blown of the natural feather in the outdoor light and the breeze.

For the Summer Resort.

The very thin negligees are so delightful that one sometimes forgets they may not be practical for many summer resorts are cool at night and in the early hours of the day, and for these places it is better to take something of heavier weight, such as an albatross negligee. These may be had with a deep collar of dotted Swiss, made with Valenciennes insertion and edging and in pastel colors. The sleeves are finished with a deep cuff of dotted Swiss and lace.

The New Manager

By Mary Barrett Howard

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

Mrs. Amos Rood was bustling happily about her neat kitchen, her pleasant face even more beaming than usual.

"Amos is sixty years old today," she explained to the milkman from whom she bought a half-pint of cream besides the customary pint of milk, "an' I'm goin' to get an extra nice dinner."

The 12 o'clock whistle had sounded. The peach meringue pie which was to be the crowning touch of the feast had been brought from the pantry and set upon a side table; the roast chicken was done to a turn; the tomato bisque was ready to pour into the tureen, and as every housewife knows, tomato bisque will curdle if allowed to stand.

"I do wish Amos would come," the little woman muttered. "That cream o' tomato won't be fit to eat."

Glancing uneasily out of the window she started at sight of a curiously familiar, yet unfamiliar, figure coming slowly up the street. Sure that bowed, hunched old man could not be Amos! He had never looked like that, even when his rheumatism was at its worst. But the next instant she had flung open the door and was running down the garden walk.

"Oh, what is it—what ails you, Amos?" she cried, putting her arms about him to help him up the steps.

"Don't be scared, Lucy—I ain't sick," the man said, with a brave attempt at a reassuring smile.

But once under the shelter of his own roof, safe from prying or pitying neighborly eyes, Amos Rood broke down altogether. Sinking into a chair he dropped his head upon the little table, so gayly decked in honor of the day with tea-roses and heliotrope from the garden beds, and Mrs. Rood's cherished "wedding" china, and his big, shrunken frame shook with a man's painful, tearless sobs.

His wife silently unclasped his clenched fingers from a letter which bore the seal of a great corporation, and as she swiftly scanned the few curt lines it contained she wailed aghast:

"O Amos, it must be a mistake! The company wouldn't take your pension from you just because you are able to earn a little something extra, now and then?"

"He's the new manager, Lucy," Amos Rood responded dully. "He's trying to cut expenses, and he says it's no part of the company's policy to pension able-bodied men."

"Able-bodied!" the little woman echoed, with a hysterical laugh. "I guess I know what you suffer, Amos, even on your best days. But don't you worry, dear—we'll get old Dr. Moore to write that new manager a letter that will make him ashamed of himself."

"It wouldn't do a mite of good, Lucy," the man said, shaking his head. "He says he's got proof I can earn a good living if I'm a mind to—but I'm afraid I can't. I'm pretty good at figuring, and when the merchants here get their accounts balled up they're apt to send for me to straighten 'em out, but it's hard for a man of my age to get a steady job, even if I could keep it up day in and day out. Perhaps I was foolish to snap up those chances to add a little to our income. And yet," he added with a sigh, "that pension wasn't a very big one for two people to live on."

"I should say it wasn't!" agreed Mrs. Rood vehemently. "I call it pretty doin's!" she went on fiercely. "Here's you all broken down, and all those years your salary was so small that though I've been as saving as I know how, we've just managed to pay for this place and put a few hundred dollars in the bank."

"We'd never have done that much if it hadn't been for you, Lucy," her husband said gratefully. "You're a master hand at contriving. But it ain't the company's fault that I got all crippled up with rheumatism, so's I couldn't do my work."

"I'd like to know if it ain't, Amos Rood!" she flashed. "I'd like to know if you wa'n't kept all those years in a damp, underground office and not allowed half the help you'd ought to have had?"

"Well, well, Lucy," the man said pacifically. "The company was good to me that time I had typhoid, ten years ago. Didn't I get three months' leave of absence with full pay and passes for us both so we could take a nice trip?"

"Three months' leave in twenty-five years!" moaned Mrs. Rood. "And now that new manager's going to take away your pension. Oh, I know you think I'm awful, Amos, but I just hate that grasping, greedy old company that works its men to death just the way it does its poor horses, so's to save a little more money!"

"It hurts me to hear you talk like that, Lucy," Amos Rood protested loyally. "The company does the best it can—it has troubles of its own."

"Well, I won't say another word if you don't want I should, Amos," the little woman promised, brushing the angry tears from her eyes. "I ain't afraid but we'll get along some way. It just made me mad to think how little the company seemed to appreciate how honest and faithful you've been. Now you come and wash up and eat your birthday dinner before it's all spoiled."

But though Amos Rood valiantly attempted to do justice to the little feast, it was evident to the anxious wife who watched him that the dainty viands that she had prepared with such care were as dust and ashes to his palate. He looked stunned and bewildered by the unexpected blow which had been dealt him, and as he pushed back his chair from the table, he said slowly:

"I'd calculated to finish up that job of Brown's this afternoon, but when I got that letter I sent 'em word not to expect me—I didn't feel equal to takkin' figures today. But I'll paint them storm-doors you wanted done, Lucy. It'll be quiet out there in the barn, and I—I want to think things over."

Mrs. Rood looked after him wistfully. "I guess maybe he would be better by himself," she thought humbly. "I wouldn't wonder if my everlasting babble bothered him some when he's got things he wants to think over. Well, I'll fly around and straighten up so't will look pleasant to him when he comes in, an' maybe if I was to fix that chicken into a scallop he'd relish it for supper. He didn't eat scarcely a mite o' dinner."

But although Amos Rood had found the solitude he craved, there was something terrifying to him in the emptiness of the great barn, and as he resolutely set himself to the task of painting the "storm doors" he had mentioned, he began to wish, vaguely that old Dohy were still alive to stamp her iron shod feet and to nicker to him socially from her stall.

Then, with a sudden pang, he realized that he was glad that the old horse who had been his and Lucy's friend and companion for so many years, had died last month, for how could he have brought himself to sell her when their little home was broken up? The brush dropped from his nerveless hand as he muttered, yes, it would come to that!

Lucy said that they would manage some way, but Lucy, with all her cheery common sense and thrift, had a woman's ignorance of the grim fact that two and two always make four, and never by any chance five or six.

Perhaps, by selling their little place and living on the proceeds they might manage to keep together for a few years more, but the end was inevitable. Sooner or later Lucy would be obliged to go to the well-to-do sister who had never attempted to conceal her conviction that the pretty, energetic girl might have done better than to marry Amos Rood.

As for him, there would be nothing left but the shelter of the county poorhouse.

Something seemed to snap in the man's brain: Why shouldn't he quietly get out of it all, while there was still something to keep Lucy from her dependence on a woman like her sister, self-satisfied Jane Thorn? She would mourn for him—he knew, but death is easier to bear than some other things.

Suddenly he paused, arrested in his grim preparations for the dead on which he was resolved.

"Amos! Amos!" his wife was calling.

Ten, yes, five moments more and he would have been forever dead to that tender voice, and Lucy would have come and found him—he shuddered with a sick repulsion. He had been selfish—cowardly—mad! But Lucy's light feet were running along the garden paths and she was calling again: "Amos! Oh, Amos, do, please hurry!"

The man stumbled blindly to the door. The next instant he was standing in the warm sunlight he had never thought to feel again, with Lucy's arm about his neck; her happy tears upon his cheek.

"Oh, Amos," she was bubbling joyously, "the general superintendent himself is in the house! It's perfectly lovely to hear him swear. He says the new manager has exceeded his authority altogether, and that the company does know how to appreciate faithful service such as yours has been! And only think, instead of taking away your pension, he intends to increase it! Why, Amos, we'll be rich!"

Sanctified in Christ

By Rev. James M. Gray, D.D.,
Dean of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the saints which are at Ephesus, and to the faithful in Christ Jesus.—Ephesians 1:1.

The inspired writer, Paul, is here addressing himself "to the saints which are at Ephesus." Saints? Who are the saints? A saint is commonly understood to be an eminently holy Christian who is now dead. But that definition limits the grace of God and stifles the teachings of his word. It robs the Christian of a great deal of present comfort, too, for every true believer on Jesus Christ is a saint, and becomes such the moment he so believes. "Saint" is the substantive of the verb "to sanctify," a word of two meanings.

What Sanctify Means. To "sanctify" means, first, to set apart a thing or a person for a holy use. If I tithed my income, and set aside one dollar out of every ten for God's service, that dollar is sanctified in the instant of its being set aside, and if it were a person it might be called a saint.

Again "sanctify" means to make a thing intrinsically clean. The dollar set aside is much soiled, and after setting it aside I send it to a bank-note company, which puts it through a process of cleansing by means of which it comes back to me almost as fresh and crisp as when it was first put into circulation. It is now sanctified in a second sense. This twofold transaction represents sainthood.

For example, the moment a man takes Jesus Christ by faith to be his Savior he is set apart by God and for God, and becomes a saint. But in that same moment he enters upon a process, or rather a process enters upon or within him. It is a process of cleansing. The operator is the Holy Spirit, who takes up his abode in him, and the means he uses is the Word of God. "Now are ye clean," said Jesus, "through the word I have spoken unto you."

Sanctification in the first case pretty nearly agrees with justification, which is instantaneous, but in the second case it is continuous and progressive as the Christian yields himself to the Holy Spirit, and admits the Word of God into his heart and life.

We now reach the consideration of what I think is the deepest truth revealed in the Bible, for the apostle is addressing not only the saints which are at Ephesus, but also the "faithful in Christ Jesus." In other words, there are saints and there are faithful saints, the latter being those who are in the experience of the process just referred to.

Notice the preposition "in." What a small word it is, and yet when it is used as here, to indicate the relation between Christ and the believer on Christ, it becomes one of the most important words in the Bible. How can one be said to be in Jesus Christ? The answer is, just as a member of my body can be said to be in me, Christ is represented as the head of the body, the church, and believers on him are members of that body. The relationship thus is not merely governmental, but vital.

"Faithful in Christ Jesus."

This suggests what it means to be "faithful in Christ Jesus." My eye, or ear, or tongue, or hand, or foot, is faithful in me as it surrenders itself to my will, and obeys my behests. This is what Paul teaches when in Romans he exhorts Christians to present their bodies unto God as a living sacrifice. My members should be faithful in me because I live and express myself through them, and for this same reason Christians need to be faithful in Christ, else how shall he be known and maintained in the earth?

Here is a lesson for our home life, our social life and our business life as well. Everyone who knows Christ should be able to say with the apostle, "For me to live is for Christ to live."

The chapter now goes on to speak of the spiritual blessings the Christian has in Christ as a member of his body. All the blessings of the head belong to the members. In Christ they are chosen, redeemed, inherited and sealed.

The teaching is not only that they have an inheritance in God through Jesus Christ, but that God has an inheritance in them. And this inheritance he has made sure to himself and to them by giving them his Holy Spirit to dwell within them as the seal of his ownership until the redemption of the purchased possession—i. e. the resurrection and glorification of their bodies.

He who trusts in Christ need not fear for his ultimate salvation, and need not doubt the promise of glory. But the question arises, Have you yet trusted in Christ? The Christ of the Bible, I mean, not some ideal Christ such as many are talking about in these days.

GONE ARE DAYS OF CHIVALRY

Imagine This Situation in the Times When Knights Died for the "Love of a Lady!"

Miss Italia Garibaldi, granddaughter of the famous "liberator," complained in Chicago about the way Italian women are treated here.

"When I see," she said, "the male employer, with all his vaunted chivalry to women, taking such an unfair advantage of his female employes, I don't wonder that woman is beginning to sneer at man's chivalry."

"It reminds me of an Italian washerwoman, very industrious and successful, to whom a young man offered himself in matrimony.

"You love me?" the washerwoman asked.

"Devotedly," the young man replied.

"Are you sure?"

"I swear it!"

"She gave him a searching look.

"Are you out of work?" she said."

ENDORSE SYSTEM

Leading Educators Favor Teaching Shorthand & Typewriting.

East Jordan, Mich., July 9.

Editor of the Herald.

Dear Sir:— In view of the fact that the propriety of teaching shorthand in our city high school has recently been a subject of discussion in the public press and in the annual school meeting also, I beg to submit some opinions of eminent educators as to the value and benefit of the subject referred to from the educational standpoint. It has been stated that the "stenography and typewriting have no proper place in public school work. Neither is a part of general education." The only use made of these branches is private gain. It is not the purpose of the writer to engage in controversy on this subject, but purely to show that there are eminent teachers who believe that shorthand may very profitably be studied for benefits that come within the scope of the term "general education." These quotations are taken from a volume entitled "High School Education," and edited by Prof. Charles Hughes Johnson, Dean of the School of Education of the University of Kansas; and numbering among its contributors, twenty three other noted teachers. These transcripts may be found in Chapter XXII, page 396-408, written by Selby A. Moran of Ann Arbor. Should the objection be made to these opinions that they are those of teachers and are therefore liable to be prejudiced in favor of the subject, it can be more fully said that the opposite is true. Teachers are notoriously conservative as a class and suspicious of anything in the nature of so-called "fads." Prof. Moran has this to say on this point:—"Schoolmen have been unable to resist the growing opposition on the part of business men who believed that our high schools were not giving the kind of training needed by the large majority of pupils. So strong did the demand become that schoolmen gradually yielded, often against their judgment, and introduced business courses. The movement is gradually overcoming every kind of opposition and is receiving the most hearty approval of the public." After stating that "stenography, viewed from the commercial standpoint, is included in high school courses to fit young people to 'earn a better salary' and to give them a definite knowledge of the details of business." Prof. Moran proceeds to say:—"Stenography, when properly taught and thoroughly mastered, has even greater value, considered from a purely educational standpoint. To become even a moderately successful stenographer one must have training along several lines, each one of which has large educational value. These are as follows: (1) It compels one to think quickly and accurately. It is of great value to any one to be thoroughly awakened mentally and to have acquired power to think clearly. (2) The inability of the average high school and college student to hear all that he should hear and hear it accurately is really appalling. Stenography, more than any other study, will very largely overcome this almost universal weakness. (3) Mastering the technique of memorizing is an especially important feature which results from the thorough training of this subject. I do not know of any other subject which affords an equally valuable and specific training. (4) The most important mental training resulting directly from this study is the development of ability to concentrate the whole mind upon the work in hand."

Prof. William A. Hadley recently said:—"The teachers of the fourth year pupils in the Boston High School

And that the pupils who have taken stenography have the power of attention and concentration best developed of any who come to them." Prof. Moran continues:—"Since the study of stenography is especially valuable in developing such power, it seems that there should be no question as to the advisability of introducing this subject in every high school, not only as a part of the commercial course, but also as a regular disciplinary study."

Speaking of the commercial course as a whole, Prof. Charles DeGarmo of Cornell University has this to say:—"If he has equally efficient teachers and is supplied with equally good facilities, the student of the commercial course is not inferior to his brother in the arts course in the range of his education, in the quality of his discipline, in the dignity of his work or the worthiness of his destination."

It may be added in conclusion that work done in stenography in accredited high schools will hereafter be accepted as a part of the preparation of students desiring to enter the university upon diploma.—A Subscriber.

THE TRAINING OF THE BUSINESS MAN OR WOMAN.

Business, with its intricate problems and mammoth undertakings, is ever reaching out for wide-awake, energetic, ambitious, young men and women. These are in great demand and it is only through thorough and careful special training that they can be obtained.

Business schools are doing much to relieve this growing need, but none are doing more and few are doing as much as the McLachlan Business University of Grand Rapids, Mich. This great school is placing more young men and young women in positions of trust and responsibility than any other school of its kind in Michigan. Its employment department, carefully conducted, the best interests of the employer being looked after and every graduate placed to the best advantage. It will pay any young person to thoroughly investigate this great school and its work, and to consider seriously the enrolling for a complete course in bookkeeping and shorthand with their associated subjects. A beautiful catalog fully describing the school's work may be had by sending a postal card to McLachlan Business University, 110-118 Pearl St., Grand Rapids, Mich.

ANNUAL MEETING Of School District No. 4 Showed Progressive Spirit.

The annual meeting of School Dist. No. 4, held Monday evening, was well attended and considerable interest manifested.

Annual reports of Sec'y Crossman and Treasurer Hoyt were read and adopted. It was voted to include in the annual published report an item of statement of the miscellaneous expenses. It was also voted to have the records of the monthly meetings of the Board published in the local papers.

Several resolutions were presented by W. P. Squier endorsing our school system and management, each one receiving practically unanimous endorsements.

The recommendations of the Board for finances the coming year were adopted.

Trustee C. L. Lorraine, who was elected a year ago, presented his resignation, which was accepted.

In the election of trustees, E. J. Crossman was elected to succeed himself, and W. P. Squier to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Lorraine's resignation.

Our School Board is now composed of the following gentlemen: L. A. Hoyt, M. Murphy, Ira D. Bartlett, E. J. Crossman and W. P. Squier.

SETTLERS FROM IRELAND

Missionary Work is Being Carried on Across the Sea.

The illustrated lecture, "Western Michigan, the Land of Fruit and Fortune," was given in Parochial Hall, Ballinade, County of Monaghan, Ireland, on Thursday evening, June 20, by John I. Gibson, secretary of the Western Michigan Development Bureau. The hall was filled with farmers, their wives, and families, and a great interest in the resources of the Western Michigan country was evinced. Three hundred copies of the illustrated magazine, "Western Michigan, Fruit with Flavor" were distributed.

Mr. Gibson expresses himself as follows regarding the prospects for settlers from Ireland for the Western Michigan country.

"The North of Ireland is a splendid field for missionary work. The farmers are leaving by the thousands for Canada and Australia. More or less of a prejudice exists against the United States and those in authority are doing all they can to turn the tide of emigration to the British Colonies. Notwithstanding this, a vigorous advertising campaign carried on here in behalf of Western Michigan would produce good result. Those who are migrating are the flower of the farming community and for the most part are possessed of money, for the north of Ireland is very prosperous at present. But as the farmers do not believe in race suicide there is not enough land to go around. One hundred pounds ($500) per acre is about the average price of the lands suited for agriculture purposes."

REV. CHAS. SAGER SAYS

Mr. C. A. ABBOTT, August 24, 1906
60 Ann St., New York City.

Dear Sir: I have known for over 40 years of the effects of Wilson's Remedy (Wilson's Preparation of Hypophosphites and Biotin) in cases of pulmonary troubles. At this point I will say to you what you have not before known of, that a year since, while I was a resident of N. Y. City, I was severely ill with lung trouble. Physicians said I was consumptive and my family physician told my wife that he thought I could not live. My attention was directed to the Wilson Remedy, which I used with splendid effect. Please be on my list and work ever since my cure. Yours truly,
REV. CHAS. SAGER,
Pastor M. E. Church, Hunter, (Greene Co.) N. Y.

On Dec. 6, 1907, Mr. Sager wrote Mr. Abbott: "My health is very good."

If you will write Mr. Abbott he will gladly furnish you any further information you desire.
