Bee-Keepers

To hold Annual Convention at Traverse City

First Annual Convention of the Northern Michigan Branch National Bee-keepers' Association will be held at Traverse City next week March 19-20.

A fine program has been arranged for the two days meeting among which an illustrated lecture on Bee-keeping and Fruit Growing in Northern Michigan by the Western Michigan Development Bureau, E. B. Tyrell, inspector of apiaries, will give an address, as will also F. B. Cavanagh, E. E. Coveyon, E. M. Hunt, E. D. Townsend, A. G. Woodman, Ira D. Bartlett and George Jacquays.

Prizes will be awarded for various apiarian products and the liberal premiums offered will insure a large exhibit.

This will be the first meeting of the association as a branch of the National Bee-keepers. Officers of the organization are: President, C. F. Smith; Chairman, Vice President, S. D. Chapman, Mancelona; Sec'y., Treasurer, Ira D. Bartlett, East Jordan.

Michigan Crop Report

In answer to the question, "Has wheat during February suffered injury from any cause?" 328 correspondents in the state answer "yes" and 238 "no;" in the southern counties 210 answer "yes" and 91 "no;" in the central counties 87 answer "yes" and 46 "no;" in the northern counties 30 answer "yes" and 82 "no;" and in the Upper Peninsula answers "yes" and 19 "no."

Snow protected wheat in the State and central counties 13 days; in the southern counties 8; in the northern counties 24 and in the Upper Peninsula 28 days.

The average depth of snow on February 15 in the state was 2.55 inches; in the southern counties 0.48 of an inch; in the central counties 1.25; in the northern counties 6.35 and in the Upper Peninsula 12.81 inches. On the 28th the average depth of snow in the state was 5.88 inches; in the southern 4.13; in the central counties 3.66; in the northern counties 10.30; and in the Upper Peninsula 18.45 inches.

The total number of bushels of wheat marketed by farmers in February at 85 flouring mills in 69,656 and at 79 elevators and to grain dealers 49,564, or a total of 119,220. Of this amount 77,821 bushels were marketed in the southern-four-ties of counties, 25,465 in the central counties and 12,834 in the northern counties and Upper Peninsula.

The estimated total number of bushels of wheat marketed in the seven months August-February is 3,500,000. One hundred and twenty-three mills, elevators and grain dealers report no wheat purchased in February. The average condition of live stock in the state is reported as follows, comparison being made with stock in good, healthy and thrifty condition: Horses, sheep, and swine 96, cattle 95.

Secretary of State.

To the Electors of East Jordan.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination of Mayor of East Jordan, subject to the approval of the voters at the City primary, to be held March 24, 1913, and if nominated and elected will give my best endeavors to perform the duties with care, and in a manner satisfactory to the people.

A. E. CROSS.

Dated, Jan. 23, 1913.

To East Jordan Electors.

I wish to announce my candidacy for nomination to office of Mayor of the City of East Jordan, subject to the approval of the voters at the City Primary to be held March 24th. If nominated and elected I will use my utmost efforts to give the city a careful and satisfactory administration.

BRANCHING OUT

Williams Bros. Absorbing Rival Pickle Station.

The Williams Bros. Company of Detroit, who located a cucumber pickle salting station in this city last spring are branching out this year and taking over some of their rival plants. The Boyne City plant, formerly owned by the Vaughn people was taken over first of the week, completing a chain of stations at East Jordan, Boyne City, Ellsworth, Elk Rapids and Alba.

Plans are also being made to establish other stations at convenient points. John Hartt, of this city is looking after the Company's interests in this region and is meeting with good success in making contracts this season, which has just begun. He already has a nice bunch of contracts and it looks now as though it will be necessary to build on to the station here to take care of the increased acreage product.

The contract offered by the Williams Bros. people are very satisfactory to the growers, being much better than offered by other concerns. They pay 75 cents per bushel of 50 pounds, while other concerns pay 50 cents per bushel of 52 pounds. Another feature is that payment is made upon delivery of cucumbers, not forcing the patron to wait until later on for payment.

Death of John G. Richardson

John G. Richardson was born in London-England, January 7th, 1851 and fell asleep at East Jordan, March 6th, 1913 being past 62 years of age. When a boy he came to Canada and later united with the navy, then he moved to Michigan and in 1878 he was married at Reese, Mich. to Miss M. Mosher. To this union was born ten children, five sons and five daughters: The following eight, Mrs. Chas. Logan, of East Jordan; Mrs. Wm. Lockhart, Omer, Mich.; Edward G. of Leaning, Mich.; Thomas G. and John F. of Pochantas, Ark.; Lizzie J. Richardson, Eva B. Richardson, and Joseph J. of East Jordan. Who with the wife and 6 grand children and friends are left to mourn his loss. For the last fifteen years he has resided at Levering, Mich. Last September he moved to East Jordan.

The funeral was conducted at the Methodist church, by the pastor Rev. T. Porter Bennett on Sunday afternoon. Interment at East Jordan.

Within the next month or two, if promises are kept, our citizens will witness the greatest revolution that has ever been made in the size and appearance of paper money in the United States. Each one of the 2,000,000,000 notes of that kind now in circulation will be supplemented by uniform pieces of currency about a quarter-size smaller than that now used. If the comment occasioned by the parcel post, rural free delivery and every other innovation Uncle Sam has made in the last 20 years could be rolled into one, it would not bring forth a tenth part of the popular interest which will be manifested when the people realize that each and every piece of paper money is to be changed. That day will sound the doom of the counterfeit who now raises a one to a ten, a ten to a twenty, a twenty to a fifty dollar bill, or in fact, misrepresents any denomination. The value of the new bill will be apparent on sight. Any note with Washington's portrait will be $1; Jefferson's $2; Lincoln's $5; Grover Cleveland's $10; Alexander Hamilton's $20; Andrew Jackson's $50; Franklin's $100; John Marshall's $200, and so on. It would then be utterly impossible for a forger to boost a one-dollar bill to a ten-dollar bill, as is so frequently done, because within a few months after the system has been in vogue every man, woman and child will have learned that George Washington's picture stands for $1 and not $10. We will then have the safest and simplest system of national currency in the world.

APPENDICITIS BOOK FREE.

The Wife As Cashier

It was a Baltimore magistrate, Judge Dobler, who recently ruled that "A man who turns over his pay envelope to his wife is no man at all—the man should be the financial head of the family."

The judge was never more mistaken in his life.

Taking an average, women are twice as good cashiers as men.

It is very, very rare that the wife with the pay envelope stops at the station to have a chat with the fellows and has to be led home with half of the week's earnings gone to no better purpose than to produce a splitting headache next day.

It is seldom that the better half sits into a little poker game" with "a small limit," intending to stay only "a few minutes" and ends up past midnight, with nerves jumping, eyes haggard and dollars shy.

The wife knows the value of a penny. She knows what clothing the children need; how much food it takes to keep the wolf from the door; what debts are hanging over, and the least that is required to keep the home machinery moving.

And when—once in a great while—she "blows herself," it is to the awful extravagance of an ice cream soda, costing five cents, or to a few pieces of candy.

No, judge, you're dead wrong.—By City Times.

An Ideal Newspaper.

Recent issues of THE SUNDAY RECORD HERALD remind one that Chicago may fairly lay claim to producing the best newspapers, in the world, not excepting those of New York. The SUNDAY RECORD HERALD, in foreign news alone, has its own special cable service in addition to those of the New York Herald, World, Journal of Commerce and Associated Press. This is a fair example of the completeness of the paper in every department.

Aside from the regular news features, there is something in THE SUNDAY RECORD HERALD for every member of the family. The sporting pages both daily and Sunday, give the latest authentic news in every line of sport. The woman's section is filled with illustrated articles on the newest wrinkles in fashion and domestic science. "The People's Institute of Domestic Economy," filling a whole page every Sunday, is the newest and best household department in any paper. Dame Currier's "Novelties in Entertainment" is a valued feature. The dramatic and musical pages, written by James O'Donnell Bennett and Felix Barowski, are admittedly without their equal in the West. The array of splendid special articles by skilled writers, finely illustrated, also is typical of the high literary quality of THE RECORD HERALD. In the way of humor there is the comic colored supplement for children, besides "E. Kizer's delightful "Afternoon Currents" for everybody.

But the thing that lifts THE SUNDAY RECORD HERALD most emphatically above all of its rivals is its magazine section—a real magazine, full of stories and articles by the most famous writers of our day, illustrated by famous artists. Its recent $10,000 prize contest has attracted to its pages the work of the best story writers in our language. No wonder the RECORD HERALD is regarded as the ideal Sunday newspaper!

A blunt man is one who wastes no time in coming to the point.

The people we envy always envy some other fellow higher up.

For the Attention of the man Who Measures the Value of His Money by What He Receives For It.

There are no short cuts to real satisfaction at prices that make it impossible to give it. There is no Edison, Marconi, or Bell in the tailoring business that by their genius have devised ways and means of buying dependable fabrics, good service, linings or have persuaded skilled labor to work for them at one-half of what they receive from the man, who thinks as much of his reputation as he does of the clothes he sells.

Why then, should you expect to buy good clothes, garments that will reflect credit on us and mean all the time satisfaction to you, at a price that prohibits it.

No one nowadays expects to get more than an equal amount of value for what they pay and furthermore, one ought to be sure he is paying just enough to make his all around satisfaction a certainty. That means something, besides guaranteed linings, something in addition to an attractive pattern. It means good workmanship, hand tailoring. This is the most important factor in successful clothes. Cambridge Clothes.

Our prices are just high enough to permit us to employ tailors that are tailors in more than name only and you'll find it foolish economy to pay anything less than we ask. The way a garment stands up after it's worn depends entirely on the way it's put up.

We attribute our success primarily to careful work. It has made it possible for us to rightfully claim that there are no better tailored clothes than those we want to tailor for you. Detail after detail could be mentioned, but the point is we know what we are doing every step of the way. Nothing is done by faith or guess. We are sure of every garment we produce.

Besides, by permitting us to assume the responsibility for your satisfaction, you do it with the full knowledge that we would not permit you to retain the garment unless it pleased you to the point that you would be a willing booster for us and the kind of clothes we tailor.

"QUALITY FIRST OF ALL."

SEEK TO HAVE CONFIDENCE

Basis of One's Own, the World's, and Business Security—Distrustful People Ever Unhappy.

Confidence is the basis of the world's peace and of business security. When halions distrust each other, suspicion follows, then comes anger and the seeds of war are planted.

The business man who lacks confidence in a partner or an employe suffers in consequence. Transactions involving millions or dollars are reported every day on the stock exchange in New York, and are based on an up-lifted finger, a nod of the head or a word passing between the brokers.

Confidence contributes to the welfare of those who have it, but the world is full of distrustful people. Shadows confront them on every side. They fly from imaginary dangers; they fight imaginary evils; they battle against wrongs that they conjure up themselves; they worry over things that never happen.

Confidence adds to the joy of the world, to the happiness of the people, to the progress of the times. It turns darkness into day, adversity into prosperity and, greatest of all its virtues, it transforms death into life.

Dog's Sense of Memory.

An English clergyman once owned a dog which was very much attached to him. When he was compelled to leave his country for a long sojourn abroad the clergyman took his devoted canine companion to the house of his friend.

Early next morning the sleeping owner was awakened by the dog bursting into his bedroom and leaping upon him with the wildest demonstration of delight.

"How on earth did he know I had arrived?" asked the clergyman. "Oh, sir," the valet replied, "it is the most curious thing! As I was cleaning your boots the dog recognized them, and I have not been able to quiet him till he saw where I was carrying them and rushed along with me to your door."

Easy to Manage Just Then.

Secretary MacVeagh of the treasury department, after presenting a gold medal of Joseph Donellen of New York for the daring rescue of two drowning men, told an appropriate story.

"Mr. Donellen's bravery," he said, "is not like that of Peck. 'Peck,' a lady said, 'heard a noise in the night. His wife thought it was a burglar, but she wouldn't let Peck go downstairs.'"

"Did Mr. Peck want to go?" a listener asked. "Well," was the reply, "his wife says he never was easier to manage."

Tasmania's Microscopic Parliament.

Tasmania, which has begun the year by holding a general election, the second within 12 months, possesses one of the smallest parliaments in the empire—an upper house of 18 and a lower one of 30. It has had an ex-archdeacon of the Church of England—the Hon. Thomas Reibey—among its premiers.

Making a Distinction.

"According to announcement, Scribner's latest book is enjoying an immense sale."

"Tut, tut. The book, being an inanimate object, could not enjoy anything, although it is quite likely that Scribner and his publishers are enjoying the sale, regardless of the suffering inflicted on a novel-reading public."

Positively the Worst.

With bated breath the mother rushed across the football field to the emergency hospital.

"What tidings," she faltered, "of my son?"

They looked upon her with compassion.

"Well, you see," explained the captain of the team, "he lost his head when we tried the flying wedge."

Shrieking wildly, she sank to the floor.

"They told me it was only a broken arm."—London Saturday Journal.

Cigarette Least Harmful Form of Smoking

By DUNCAN C. MILNER

Wide publicity in news columns and editorial discussion was given to a recent dispatch from London announcing that the Lancet, from investigations, had found "the cigarette the least harmful form of smoking."

It also states that too much emphasis has been put upon nicotine and too little upon other hurtful substances. The Lancet does not take back a single warning of the evils of cigarette smoking, and especially for boys.

Charles B. Towns, regarded as high authority on the question of narcotics, had a notable article in the Century magazine on "The Injury of Tobacco." He sums up his opinion in the statement: "I consider that cigarette smoking is the greatest vice devastating humanity today, because it is doing more than any other vice to deteriorate the race."

Mr. Towns represented our government in the work of driving out opium smoking from the Philippines and has studied the question of narcotics and drugs in the Orient. China has made great advance in driving out the use of opium.

A great tobacco company (American and British) spent a large amount of money in sending out salesmen and demonstrators through China to show the people how to smoke cigarettes. Mr. Towns estimates that one-half the cigarette smoking of the world is in China and that the cigarette evil is even worse than that of opium.

Scale of Tips is Fixed by Uncle Sam

By C. P. STEWART

That the tip is an established institution in the United States is conceded by that serious agency of government, the federal treasury department. It has promulgated an order specifying the tips that its employees may include in their traveling expenses while transacting public business.

The treasury department of a national administration that has tried to make a specialty of efficiency and economy permits an employe in New York or Chicago to tip the persons who bring his meals to him not more than 50 cents a day. He may spend a like sum for this service in any one of a score of other cities of considerable size, the names of which are specified. For the services of sleeping-car porters he may spend 25 cents a day and of chair-car porters 15 cents a day.

If he crosses the Atlantic ocean he may use $10 for stewards' fees; going to or from Hawaii he may give the stewards $15; going to or from Panama or Porto Rico, $10. He is not allowed to give baggagemen or porters more than 25 cents on the arrival at or departure from hotels, wharves, railroad stations and such places.

Tipping is a serious matter to many an American of small resources. Not a few persons wish they had the federal treasury behind them to stand the expense of tips when they travel.

It may comfort them somewhat to know that the treasury itself parcels out the tips with a considerable degree of prudence.

Officers Will Avoid Excess in Drinking

By E. W. RICKARD, Washington, D. C.

Drinking to excess is likely to be avoided by officers and men of the United States army hereafter. If in this fashion they bring themselves to the point where they are unfit for duty they will forfeit their pay for the period during which they are incapacitated.

Heretofore in the case of enlisted men they have been fined by summary court-martial for drunkenness which disabled them for duty. In aggravated cases officers have been brought to court-martial and have suffered loss of rank or dismissal from the service.

Where no public scandal has been attached, and where the offenses have not been public or flagrant, no punishment has followed.

An officer disabled from duty through any of his vices has been treated in the military hospitals and his absence from duty excused as a matter of course.

By the new regulation the army will be brought more nearly to the situation which prevails in civil life.

Modern standards in railroading, for example, are approaching the point where harmful indulgences either on or off duty are regarded as cause for dismissal.

Outdoor Workers Remain Idle in Winter

By J. B. SPRUSE, Omaha, Neb.

During the summer months large cities employ considerable numbers of men on pavement and road work, in parks and for other outdoor purposes.

When winter closes down they are out of jobs in perhaps a majority of cases. They therefore form a contributing cause to the problem of unemployment.

None of them earns enough to save funds that will tide him over until spring. In consequence cities add to the number of those who will most probably become public charges.

Philadelphia recently came to the point where it had to dismiss 500 laborers of this character. The director of public works, however, hesitated to take the step. So he conceived the idea of writing a letter to various large business establishments, stating the case and urging that, if possible, they make use of such of the men as might be fitted for the work of these private employers.

In these times of prosperity the demand for unskilled laborers may be such that other cities, too, might successfully take the same course, not only in fairness to the men but as a method of self-protection.

After ten years in competition with the automobile the horse has increased in value 44 per cent., and is still holding his own along the journey of life.

It is a cue to a young man to begin saving his money to buy furniture with when his best girl tells him that she dreamed about him the night before.

Some of the Greek names call for two reels in order to run them off gracefully.

Spring Bonnets for Children Modeled After Their Elder's

SHAPES for little girls are miniatures of some of the shapes made for grown-ups, and are quaint and pretty because they have the charm which belongs to little things patterned after larger models.

Little pressed shapes divide honors with hand-made hats of thin materials. Beautiful models are shown of the daintiest laces laid over French crepe or the thinnest silks. Lace is more strongly featured than embroideries.

Children's millinery is adorably quaint and suggestive of happy childhood. Colors are light and material fragile; for these small bonnets are for the dress occasions of little ladies.

Misses' hats are another story and in a class by themselves. While they show the influence of the liking for thin materials, such fabrics are more sparingly used on them than in hats for women and children.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

IN PALE GREY SATIN CLOTH

Distinctive Touches That Give Effectiveness to Otherwise Extremely Simple Costume.

This is a pretty, effective dress of pale grey satin cloth. The skirt has the seam down left side of front—wrapped and trimmed with buttons and loops; the lower edge is curved off and the upper one is cut out to show a small panel of silk, which also trims the bodice; the lower part is of the silk, so is the side of foot of skirt.

The collar is of lace with a frill and a bow arranged below in front; net forms the little vest, also the under-sleeves, and bands of silk trim the sleeves.

Materials required: 3 3/4 yards cloth 44 inches wide, 1 yard silk 20 inches wide, about 6 dozen buttons, one-half yard net 18 inches wide.

Jockey Blouses.

The jockey blouse is going to be the fad of the early spring. Already the fashion is being tried out a little in Paris and seems to be "taking," we are told.

The jockey blouse suggests nothing so definitely as the straight front, rather close fitting blouse of the jockey. Its distinguishing characteristic is found in the sleeves, which are of a different color than the body of the blouse.

Vivid contrasts and almost discords are favored for the jockey effect.

HINT AT POLONAISE EFFECT

New Gowns Show Signs of Revival of Old Fashion That May Again Become Popular.

A few of the new gowns go back to the remote epoch of the polonaise. The coats of the last season, with their deep round pointed backs and long curved fronts, have paved the way so that the transition to the polonaise does not seem surprising.

The saying, "Other times, other manners," is nowhere more sure of its application than in the realms of fashions. So it is quite to be expected that these Twentieth Century offerings in the polonaise should have their own distinguishing features. In one case where the polonaise is of deep pink panne velvet worn over a white charmeuse slip it is extended in the back to form a pointed train.

Charming Border Designs.

Beautiful-border designs are shown in the new summer materials, and foulards, voiles, dimities, lawns and swisses all have taken unto themselves borders—wide or narrow. As a rule, these borders are charming, although it is not always easy for the uninspired dressmaker to use them successfully.

Cord Instead of Buttons.

Some of the designers tired of buttons are attempting to substitute lacings of cord to be used on the skirts, as well as on the jackets. These lacings have been used extensively for some time instead of buttons on negligees and house gowns adding a decorative finish that owed much of its charm to the fact that it was "something different," but the idea of adapting them for jackets and skirts is innovation.

Yellow Laces.

The yellow or gold laces and golden tissue are introduced lavishly in Paris evening gowns for the Riviera, and yellow and amber beads, gold bead fringes, gold slippers, gold-brocaded chiffons and the like add to the general brilliance of effect.

For Auburn-Haired Girls.

Canary yellow is a shade which can be worn to perfection by auburn-haired girls, and is lovely for evening gowns and wraps.

TRUCK GARDENING AND POULTRY RAISING

THESE, AS WELL AS OTHER MIXED FARMING BRANCHES, PAY IN WESTERN CANADA.

Truck gardening and poultry growing are two branches of agriculture in which the farmers near the main lines of the three transcontinental lines traversing Western Canada are much concerned. The abundance of sunshine during the long days from May to September, and adequate moisture in the spring and early summer permit of a wide variety of crops.

Mr. Harris Otum, an Alberta farmer, came from South Dakota eleven years ago and homesteaded the first 160 acres in his township in 1902, which was divided between grain and pasture. He earned sufficient money to buy a quarter section of railway land at $11 an acre.

Mr. Otum markets from 100 to 125 hogs and a similar number of beef cattle each year. He has 200 hogs, mostly pure bred Poland China, 25 head draft horses and 35 head of pure bred Hereford cattle.

By writing any Canadian Government Agent, full particulars as to best districts on which to secure homesteads will be cheerfully given.—Advertisement.

UP TO HIM.

"Do you think your sister favors my suit?" "Well, it's all right if you come through, but if you don't she favors a suit for breach of promise."

Not Altogether a Case of Love. Here is a story to illustrate the point that one never can judge by appearances.

"A young boy with golden curls, a regular cherub in appearance, was on the front porch playing with a little dog and putting him through a lot of tricks. The minister passed by and was struck by the appearance of the little chap and the coquetry with which the dog obeyed all his commands.

"Sure!" answered the cherub. "And I suppose he loves you, too, and that's why he minds you so well?"

"Well, if he didn't mind me, I'd knock his blooming block off," was the unexpected retort of the child.

Julius Caesar.

The almost unanimous verdict of ancient and modern times is to the effect that Julius Caesar was what Shakespeare calls him: "The foremost-man of all this world." Never before or since has any one exhibited in so high a degree, all the qualities of a born ruler of men.

Willie Discovered a New Game.

They had lived in a flat all of Willie's short life, so that the little boy's knowledge of fauna and flora was limited to canary birds and flower boxes; and when they went to board in the suburb where there was a large yard, Willie very enthusiastically started in pursuit of a chicken, armed with a stick and other missiles.

When the hostess protested to his mother, she turned from the window and said, indulgently: "You'll have to forgive dear Willie—he doesn't know that's a chicken."

Distinction. Cora was fond of all-inclusive prayers, and one night she offered the following discriminating petition: "Lord, please bless mother and father and all of us, and give us everything good; and please bless our friends, and give them what is good for them!"—Harper's Magazine.

It never makes a sin any whiter to call it a mistake.

This concert will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock, standard time.

The Suffrage Canvas.

These were some of the facts brought to light by the recount of the vote on the equal suffrage amendment last fall:

Ballots marked both "yes" and "no" in different colored pencils. Ballot boxes not properly sealed. More votes cast in some precincts than there were registered voters. Thirteen precincts held back the count on the suffrage amendment for one month though by law the count on an amendment should be made first of all.

Many who were not in favor of equal suffrage last fall have declared that they will vote for it this spring in order to rebuke such unfair and corrupt influence that seek to control elections.

Reno Colony Threatened

Reno Court House

THOSE familiar pleasantries which have made Reno, Nev., synonymous with easy divorce are likely to lose much of their point soon. According to a recent announcement the Nevada divorce law is to be amended and thereafter the lid will be placed tightly on the famous colony of divorce seekers.

Through the existence of the divorce colony, it appears, Nevada has been seriously injured in a business way. Large numbers of prospective settlers, hearing of the supposed goings on at Reno, have been led to believe that they were typical of the social life of the state as a whole, and have consequently gone elsewhere. At the present time Nevada is making efforts to increase its population and has many inducements to offer. Not only are the state's mineral resources only partly developed, but through the completion of an extensive irrigation system enormous areas of former desert land have been made fertile.

Furthermore, Nevada is surpassed in climate by few other states, its summers being free from excessive heat, while the winters are bracing and delightful. In spite of these attractions, however, the Reno divorce colony is better known than the other features of Nevada, and so the stream of western homeseekers has been diverted to other states.

It is for this reason that the people of Nevada have determined to put some restrictions on the colony by means of an amendment to the divorce law increasing the legal term of residence for divorce seekers from six months to one year. This amendment, it is understood, will be adopted by the legislature at its approaching session. A further amendment likely to be made will provide that no divorce decree shall be effective until one year has lapsed from the date of issuance. This plan, it is believed, would prevent the immediate remarriages which so often follow Reno divorces and have been the cause of much scandal.

Strange as it may seem, comparatively few natives of Nevada get divorced, most of the people who take advantage of the liberal divorce law having come from other states. A majority of these make their residence in Reno because it is the largest and most pleasant town in Nevada. It is an attractive little city—a town of red brick so far as its business district is concerned. The principal streets are asphalted, the sidewalks well paved and the whole place looks unusually well kept. The residential districts compare favorably with those of much larger cities.

As is well known, people of some distinction in literary, musical, theatrical and artistic circles, as well as a certain proportion of what is termed "the sporting set," have been much in evidence in the divorce colony. In a comparatively small town—for Reno's population is scarcely 12,000—the livelier members of the colony are naturally more noticeable than they would be in a larger city. Stories of their doings have been circulated far and wide, and it is on this account that Reno in recent years has become notorious. Colonists of the lively type usually gather at such resorts as the Colony cafe, the Delmonico's of Reno, which has been the scene of divorce dinners and the other revels of which so much is heard.

Having ample funds, they may be seen dining any evening in what is popularly known as the "romance room." They have filled the streets of Reno with automobiles and have taken a foremost part in the local good roads movement. They do much toward supporting the various places of amusement and have proved such a bonanza to the Reno storekeepers that it is not surprising the business people are protesting against the proposed change in the divorce law.

Women in Majority.
While it is difficult to estimate the extent of the colony, it is generally believed that between five hundred and a thousand persons visit Reno every year in quest of divorce. A large proportion of these come from New York, and for this preponderance of New Yorkers various explanations are given; probably the most important reason is the severity of the New York divorce law.

Women are in the majority, and most of them live quietly enough during their six months term of residence. Many have children with them and superintend their education; others take up special courses of study and engage in church work. Most of the women to be seen exchanging books in the little Carnegie library are members of the colony, and according to the librarian problem novels and the works of Ibsen, Ellen Key and Bernard Shaw are in much demand.

The men who go to Reno usually find work of some kind to relieve the monotony of existence; some invest money in mining ventures and others take a hand at farming. There are, however, plenty of poor people who seek divorce and are glad to turn their hands to work of any kind. Some men who would have scorned to do manual labor at home find themselves roughing it in true western fashion. A bookkeeper from Brooklyn, for instance, found employment as porter in one of the hotels and the driver of a milk wagon had once been a floor walker in a New York department store.

The women who work their way to freedom are even more numerous. They are to be found behind the counters in the stores, they tap typewriters, they keep books, they teach music, painting and dancing, they cook, act as nurses and waitresses and even scrub the floors with the sole object of obtaining release from marriage ties that have become intolerable.

The cost of a Reno divorce ranges from fifty to fifteen hundred dollars, the latter sum being supposed to cover moderate living expenses for six months, traveling expenses and legal fees. The minimum amount represented the usual fee paid by the poor divorce-seekers, who work while awaiting their decrees.

In spite of a very general impression, the Reno colonists do not herd together, but are scattered all over the town.

FIRMLY BELIEVED IN GHOSTS

Men of the Strongest Intellect Believed They Beheld Apparitions Visible Only to Themselves.

Goethe states that he one day saw the exact counterpart of himself coming towards him. Pope saw an arm apparently come through the wall, and made inquiries after its owner. Byron often received visits from a specter, but he knew it to be a creation of imagination. Dr. Johnson heard his mother call his name in a clear voice, though she was at the time in another city.

Count Emanuel Swedenborg believed that he had the privilege of interviewing persons in the spirit-world. Loyola, lying wounded during the siege of Pampeluna, saw the Virgin, who encouraged him to prosecute his mission. Sir Joshua Reynolds, leaving his house, thought the lamps were trees, and the men and women bushes agitated by the breeze. Oliver Cromwell, lying sleepless on his couch, saw the curtains open and a gigantic woman appear, who told him he would become the greatest man in England. Ben Jonson spent the watches of the night an interested spectator of a crowd of Tartars, Turks and Roman Catholics, who rose up and fought round his armchair till sunrise.

Benvenuto Cellini, imprisoned at Rome, resolved to free himself by self-destruction, but was deterred by the apparition of a woman of wondrous beauty, whose reproaches turned him from his purpose. Napoleon once called attention to a bright star he believed he saw shining in his room, and said: "It has never deserted me. I see it on the occasion of every great event, urging me onward. It is my unerring omen of success."

Otherwise Making Men of Boys.
Overheard at one of the box offices of the Hippodrome:
"Have you any junior tickets?"
"What are junior tickets?" asked the suave ticket seller.
"Why, tickets for little boys like these two here," answered the proud father as he exhibited two lads of seven and nine years respectively to the envious bachelor seller of the pasteboards.
"Sorry, sir, I can't accommodate you," came the reply from the sad-faced man behind the window, "all we have are full grown tickets."—New York Press.

EXCELLENT PLAN FOR PREPARING TREES AND LAYING OUT GROUND FOR ORCHARD

Common Method Is to Mark Off Rows and Use Two-Horse Plow to Open Up Furrows—Bright Piece of Wire Affords Handy Means of Marking—Notched Board Is Useful.

Modern Orchard Ready for Pickers.

(By H. C. THOMPSON.)
The soil of the orchard should be well drained and thoroughly prepared, as for any other crop, before laying off the land for trees.

A very common method used now is to mark off the rows and use a two-horse breaking plow to open up the furrows. By running four times in the row, throwing the furrows both ways, very little extra digging will be necessary in setting the tree. Another method followed is to mark off the land by use of a string and set a stake where each hole is to be dug. Get a good strong line the length needed and stretch it to get out the elasticity, then tie a piece of red yarn tightly about the line at the exact distance the trees are to be planted apart. On a quiet day stretch this line tightly along one side of the field and set stakes at each mark, then stretch it across another side at right angles to the first and set stakes at each mark as before. Next mark the third exactly parallel to the second and then by placing the line between corresponding stakes on opposite sides of the field and setting stakes at each mark, straight rows will be insured. On land not level enough for this the stakes may be sighted in. This latter method was used by the writer in making a straight line. The plow could then be started and a perfectly straight furrow, practically parallel with the hillside, put in from this line of stakes. As the plowing proceeded, a second row of sighting stakes should be set up to mark the next row to be plowed. In proceeding in this manner, the whole piece would be laid off in exactly parallel furrows, running approximately parallel with the hillside. By making two rounds in each furrow the soil would be sufficiently plowed out, so that there would be very little more dirt to be thrown out with a shovel in planting the trees. In the highest and lowest furrows parallel stakes are set at every 35 feet. This marks the position of the trees in the first and last rows. From the second stake below a wire is reeled out and the end fastened tight to a stop driven in place of the second stake in the upper row. The wire is drawn tight between these two points and then slackened gradually till it conforms to the slope of the hill and rests on the ground in a straight line. Where the wire crosses the bottom of each parallel furrow will mark the spot where a tree is to be planted. The setting of the trees can now begin. While one man is distributing trees up or down the hillside along the wire other men with shovels can be throwing out any extraneous dirt to make a proper hole for planting the trees. The wire can then be moved over the next two stakes, and planting of the next row proceed in the same manner. A bright wire affords a very handy means of marking out the rows, for in the sun it shows like a silver ribbon and can be seen perfectly even throughout a long stretch of land. If the land is steep the same method can be used, but instead of measuring off the 35 feet (the distance between two trees) on the slope it would be best to use a plumb line and level up, so that the 35 feet would be measured on the level instead of on the slope. On steep slopes, if some correction is not made for grade, it will be found that the rows are too close together. If the land is not too irregular, trees set out by this method will be found to "checker up" pretty well every way.

In digging the holes use a short board, which has a notch in the center and a hole at each end, equidistant from the center of the notch and on a line with it. Before beginning to dig place the board over the stake so that the center of the notch is in the position the tree is to occupy and put a peg through each hole in the ends. Remove board and center stake, but leave the outer pegs. Dig the hole and place the board back over the pegs and place the tree in the center of the notch.

Board Used in Planting to Get the Tree in Center of the Hole.

planting out an orchard on hilly, rough land and in consequence the rows are straight in each direction. The land was in sod and was not plowed at all.

On hilly land to be cultivated rows are usually run around the hill so as to prevent severe washing. The method of laying out such land is as follows: "If the slope is fairly regular—that is, with no 'draws' or 'coves'—one can measure up and down the hill and locate the end of the rows on a base line at each end of the piece. If the land is not very steep, one can start at the bottom corner and measure up the hill, laying off the rows according to the distance desired between the trees. If the trees are to be 35 feet apart, which is the least distance standard trees should be set, he will simply measure up the hill, using one of the end boundaries as a base line and put in a stake at every 35 feet. Measuring down the hill he should check up his distances to see that each was exact. Each stake so set would mark the end of a row. The same measurements should be made up and down the hill on the other border of the piece. Using these end stakes as fixed points, a row of stakes could be sighted in between to

FEASIBLE COVERS FOR THE HOTBEDS

Frames Filled With Straw Are Easily Made and Last for Several Years.

Shutters made of light boards and straw mats made of long rye straw are most generally used by gardeners and truckers. Straw covers or frames filled with rye or wheat straw are easily made and will do good service for some years but are not as durable as well-made mats. Rye straw, cut when in bloom, makes the best mats. For the frames, take three pieces of inch board three inches wide and as long as the sash; lay down two of these as far apart as the width of the sash and the other one midway between the two; cross pieces of half-inch stuff, three inches wide, are nailed on at each end and similar pieces are nailed on between the end pieces at distances of one foot. Now turn the frame over and fill it with straight straw regularly laid in and nail a cross piece over the straw at each end. The straw is to be further held in place by tarred twine run opposite the cross pieces on the other side, fastening each piece of string securely by tacks or small nails. Frames of this kind, when not in use, should be kept under cover, as the straw should not get wet. The covering and uncovering the beds is best done by the persons, as then the straw frames may be lifted, showing the frames over the sash should be avoided, as it breaks the straw. A handy man can make and fill a dozen frames in a day. When the weather is threatening or during wet weather cover the straw frames with the shutters, these covers will protect the tender plants in the hotbeds as well as the more expensive mats. Where only one or two mats are wanted for the two-sash hotbed or cold frame, the burlap mat must be used. Mats made of strong burlap interlined with wood 40x76 inches can be had for $1 each. These mats are easy to put on and take off, and if kept dry and hung up when not in use, so they cannot make nests in them, they will do good service for a number of years. They are the best covers for the amateur gardener, as they are clean and easy to handle.

Use of Paint.
It is said that American farmers use more paint on their buildings than any other farmers of the world. The people of this country paint every two years on an average, but in France, Holland and other European countries the painting is done on an average of every five years. Americans use more bright colors than any other nation.

"Now what is there a healthy boy can do on Sunday afternoon?" inquired the fan, blandly, even while his wayward thoughts dwelt on the fascinating baseball game. "What do you think, Henry?"

Without blinking an eyelid Henry replied, "Read the Bible and pray."—Hearst's Magazine.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Suffered Three Years. Used Resinol. Now Not A Pimple To Be Seen.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27, 1912.—"I had been troubled for the past three years with pimples which completely covered my face and neck. The pimples would come out, fester up and cause me to pick at them, feeling very uncomfortable. I tried most all kinds of facial creams, but with no effect. I tried a sample of Resinol Soap and Ointment and noticed instant relief. I bought Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and began the treatment. After using two jars of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, there was not a pimple to be seen, and now my face is as smooth as if there was never a pimple on it." (Signed) Albert Greenburg, 417 Frankford Ave.

For eighteen years Resinol has been a favorite doctor's prescription and household remedy for itching troubles, skin eruptions, dandruff, chapped faces and hands, sores, ulcers, etc. Stops itching instantly. Sold by all druggists or by parcel post, Resinol Soap, 25c., Ointment, 50c. and $1.00, but you can try them without cost—just write for samples to Dept. 19-K, Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

Ceylon Tea.

Tea plantations in Ceylon have been in existence only 30 years, yet the annual exports of black tea amount to nearly $20,000,000 in value. Formerly coffee constituted Ceylon's main industry, but after a disease of the plant in 1880 its cultivation was discontinued. Many planters, however, reaped themselves by tea and rubber. Thanks chiefly to the former article, the island's old prosperity revived. Today Ceylon boasts 1,500 plantations.

Plant necessary to tea cultivation is costly but very labor-saving. The work itself is not hard; only the climate makes it irksome. What is wanted mainly of employes is to watch machinery and feed it from the stock of tea leaves awaiting treatment. The workers are not Singhalese, but natives of southern India. A laborer's wages vary from eight to sixteen cents a day, while a foreman's salary averages $200 a month.—Harper's Weekly.

Unpicked Grapes Go to the Poor.
A curious old law, which dates from 1779, has been used to sentence the owner of a vineyard at Capestang, near Beziers, France, to a fine and costs for picking her own grapes. The court at Beziers confirmed the policeman's opinion, and the woman was convicted.

Western Michigan

A Region that is Rapidly Developing as a Fruit Growing and General Farming Section

MANY SETTLERS COME

FIND ADVANTAGES OF WESTERN MICHIGAN ATTRACTIVE.

Fourteen Big Orchard Propositions Started as a Result of the Awakening—Schools Take Up Teaching of Agriculture.

Figures have been compiled which show that no less than 3,600 new settlers have been secured for western Michigan during the last four years. Returns have been obtained from the supervisors of 105 townships, and these supervisors report 1,365 new settlers. With these figures as a basis it is estimated that fully 3,600 settlers have been secured for the 310 townships in the 20 counties included in the territory of the Western Michigan Development bureau.

Fifteen real estate dealers, who have made statements regarding the number of sales and settlers secured by them, report 1,881 new farmers, which figures confirm the statistics obtained from the supervisors. Approximately 50,000 acres of land have been sold and about half of the total acreage is now being improved.

Fourteen Big Orchard Propositions.
Fourteen big orchard propositions have been started as a result of the awakening that has occurred, and better than 1,000 fruit trees have been set. The orchard development is largely in the counties of Antrim, Leelanau, Benzie, Manistee, Lake, Mason and Oceana. The largest single orchard planned is that at Wellston, Manistee county, which orchard is to cover 1,000 acres and be entirely of apple trees. The ground is already prepared for the first setting, which will be of 4,000 trees. These trees are now ready for the spring break-up.

The Buckley & Douglas Lumber company's orchard near Manistee comprises 325 acres, and contains 23,000 trees. The J. E. Merritt orchard in the same neighborhood will have an area of 360 acres as soon as the 1913 setting has been made.

Five Thousand Acres of Orchard.
The Betsy River Fruit Growers association, with headquarters at Thompsonville, has set 120 acres to apples and 40 acres of cherries, and now has 200 acres ready for the spring setting. Eventually they will have 5,000 acres into orchard.

On the north shore of Crystal lake in the western part of Benzie county is the Crystal Lake orchards covering 200 acres, and containing apple, peach, cherry and pear trees. The Grand Traverse Fruit company at Empire, is under contract to clear and set 400 acres to orchard each year beginning with 1913, and continuing for ten years. The first setting was in 1912, when 200 acres were given over to apples.

Several large orchards have been started about Northport at the northern end of the Leelanau peninsula. Dame & Boughney are to have a 100 acre Montgomery cherry orchard and A. A. Lasch of Lincoln, Neb., is setting an orchard which, when completed, will contain 18,000 trees. Mr. Lasch already has an orchard at Lees Point, in which there are 12,000 trees.

A Big General Farm.
In addition to the big orchard propositions there has been started a big farming enterprise. The Lake Side Farms company has secured possession of 7,000 acres lying between the railway stations of Copemish, Thompsonville, Henry and Lemon Lake, and will start in the early spring to clear the land and put it into forage crops. Several stump-pulling outfits will be set at work as soon as the snow is out of the way. At the end of ten years the land will be put on the market as developed farms at a price of $100 per acre.

The people of western Michigan have waked up to the importance of the agricultural industry, and are making strenuous efforts to see that this industry is fully developed.

Schools Teach Agriculture.
Eight of the high schools of the region have begun the teaching of agriculture, and short courses in this subject are being given at five different points the present winter. A. H. Clark, superintendent of the Kingsley school, has started a Monday evening class for the farmers in the vicinity of Kingsley. He proposes to give lectures treating of the geological formation of the earth's crust, the chemical elements that are found in the soil, and the climatic and physical facts that are important in growing crops.

An effort is being made at Traverse City for the establishment of a county agricultural school. The county supervisors have the proposition before them and are gathering information preparatory to the final action, which may be taken in September.

The farmers' institutes are being attended better this winter than ever before. The number of granges has increased by 13 during the past four years. Five poultry associations have been organized and the same number of horticultural societies, and two new county agricultural organizations have begun the holding of annual fairs.

All in all the outlook for development is the brightest it has been since the lumbermen first discovered the value of western Michigan white pine forests.

A MASON COUNTY APPLE ORCHARD.

For twenty years Mason county, western Michigan, has been famous as a peach growing section. The annual profits from this fruit have made many of the county's fruit growers independently well off. Now considerable attention is being given to the growing of apples, especially quality apples. Smith Hawley, the owner of the above pictured orchard, reported last fall that ninety per cent of his apples graded number one or better. His trees were fairly well loaded and each apple was of the kind that "tastes right." His orchard brings him returns on a valuation at the rate of $1,000 the acre.

REMOVING STUMPS

The pulling of the stumps found on the wild lands of western Michigan is not a difficult proposition. The gravelly soil gives up its stumps fairly easily. The above pictured outfit, on the farm of A. R. Atherton, Wellston, Manistee county, with two teams and a crew of four men removes 24 stumps an hour, 240 for each day of 10 hours. As pine stumps average only about 60 to the acre, the ground is gone over at the rate of four acres a day, and the cost per acre is surprisingly small.

Marketing the Fruit.
Some of the fruit growers in the Grand Traverse region have been trying their luck at marketing. John Western of Alden, Antrim county, sent a carload of apples to Marquette, Mich., and succeeded in getting them sold at prices that ranged from $2.50 to $3.50 a barrel. Rev. A. Bentall, manager of the Northport Fruit Growers' association, has been successful in marketing a number of carloads of apples at points in northern Indiana, and Frank Sours of Elk Lake has taken two carloads of apples into Indiana, where he has found a ready market for them because of their fine flavor.

Poetry and Music.

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once every week; for perhaps the parts of my brain now atrophied would thus have been kept active through use. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness, and may possibly be injurious to the intellect, and more probably to the moral character, by enfeebling the emotional part of our nature.—Charles Darwin.

CHILD'S FACE ALL RED SPOTS

632 N. 5th St., Terre Haute, Ind.—"My little nephew, a boy of four years, had a breaking out on his face. It was little red spots at first, then he would rub and scratch and water blisters would form, and wherever the water would run another would come until his face was covered with them. He would cry and fret. His mother got some medicine, but it did not do any good. He would scream and cry and say it hurt. We hardly knew him, his little face was all red spots and blisters. So I begged him to let me put some Cuticura Ointment on them. The next morning I made a strong soap suds with Cuticura Soap and washed his face in the warm suds. The little blisters burst by pressing the cloth on them. After I had his face washed, I put the Cuticura Ointment on and in a short time his little face was all red and dry. I kept using the Cuticura Soap and putting on the Cuticura Ointment and his face got as well and it did not leave a scar. He was entirely cured in about one week and a half." (Signed) Mrs. Arthur Haworth, Jan. 10, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

What They Trusted.
Having ascertained his weight on the railway station weighing machine the man said to the porter:

"Isn't it a lack of business foresight to put one of those machines that distributes prizes to persons who guess their own weight correctly, bang up against other scales that they could get weighed on before hand, and thus guess on a sure thing? You must have great faith in human nature, you?"

"Oh, no, sir," said the porter, "but we have in the machine."

A GRATEFUL OLD MAN.

Mr. W. D. Smith, Ethel, Ky., writes: "I have been using Dodd's Kidney Pills for ten or twelve years and they have done me a great deal of good. I do not think I would be alive today if it were not for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I strained my back about forty years ago, which left it very weak. I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of that and the Kidney Trouble. I take Dodd's Kidney Pills now to keep from having Backache. I am 77 years old and a farmer. You are at liberty to publish this testimonial, and you may use my picture in connection with it." Correspond with Mr. Smith about this wonderful remedy.

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness

Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health. Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to prolonged clogging of the bowels. Regard the effects of constipation, C. E. Ayers, 6 Sabin St., Montpelier, Vt., says: "I was afflicted with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unconscious. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do no work. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and after using them found I had never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case."

Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ proper curative measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is, "keep your bowels clean," and it's good advice. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box, containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

THE FINEST IN THE STATE

Is the big modern plant recently purchased from the Booth Fisheries Co. by A. T. Washburne and located at foot of "Midway" on the bay shore, as a permanent home for the constantly increasing business in the manufacture of "Sanitary Rugs from Carpets" (trade mark established 1888) in which line a trade has been successfully established all over the United States on the excellence of products. This also gives much needed room to the Carpet Cleaning and Refitting department, which includes a large sterilizing abator for purifying rugs and carpets. The cleaning department is fully equipped with all modern and time saving machinery driven run by electricity. Two of the largest rotary vacuuming machines for general cleaning and a powerful Vacuum machine 100 per cent times more powerful and efficient than the portable ones this latter is for the rugs and oriental. The plant is also equipped with three machines for the sewing of carpets of all kinds in the most approved manner with flat elastic seams. Tusten-laxest facilities, most up-to-date equipment, highest grade of workmanship, lowest possible prices, and prompt service, bespeaks a busy future for the Petoskey Rug Co. of which A. T. Washburne is proprietor and to which address all orders and correspondence should be addressed—NO AGENTS.—Petoskey Evening News, April 13, 1911.—Make your order early as possible.

County Normal Notes

The class has finished its work in grammar and has taken up U. S. History and civil government. Miss Mabel Duolop and Miss Mabyn Cliffe spent Sunday at their homes near East Jordan. Miss Bessie Straw, a member of the County Normal Alumni, died at her home near Charlevoix last Friday. The funeral was held at the home Monday morning. She was president of the class of '07 and will be greatly missed by her many friends.

Wilson.

(Received last week too late for publication.) 13 votes cast in Wilson at the primary election last Wednesday. Elmer Hayner and Albert StJohn were home from camp over Sunday. Rox Nowland has been laid up with rheumatism the past week or two. Miss Florine Hudkins spent the past week visiting friends and relatives in East Jordan. O. D. Smith, Township Treasurer of Wilson, made his returns to the County Treasurer at Charlevoix last Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nowland are the proud parents of a young son that came to their home last Sunday night. We understand that Miss Opal Chandler who was called to Pennsylvania by the death of her aunt, last week, will not return to her school in the Bills district, but remain in Pennsylvania. Joel Sutton has bought the farm in Wilson occupied by James Payne the past year. The latter moved his house-hold goods and personal property to East Jordan this week where he will make his home.

DO YOU ENJOY EATING

Or Does Everything You Eat Distress You?

Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and run-down conditions also usually go together. John Lind, of Oneonta, N. Y., says: "I have been troubled with a bad stomach trouble for fifteen years, and become so weak that I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was very poor, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. Since taking two bottles of Vinol I find that it has already made a remarkable improvement in my health; my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight." Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs, and is delicious to the taste. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. P. S. If you have Eczema try our Sazo Salve. We guarantee it. W. C. SPRING DRUG CO.

For Hair Health

If Rexall "93" Hair Tonic does not improve the health of your scalp and hair, we will pay for what you use during the trial. We could not so strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it to the same people if it did not do all we claim. Should it not prove entirely satisfactory our customers would lose faith in us, we would lose their patronage, and our business would suffer. If your hair is falling out or you suffer from scalp troubles, we believe Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do more to eradicate the dandruff, give health to the scalp, stimulate new hair growth and prevent premature baldness than any other human agency. We want you to make us prove this. We ask you to risk no money whatever. Buy a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, use it according to directions for thirty days; then if you are not entirely satisfied, come and tell us and we will promptly hand back the money you paid us for it. We won't ask you to sign anything, nor even to bring the bottle back. We won't obligate you in any way. We will take your mere word. Could anything be more fair? Could we do anything more to prove our belief in Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and our honesty of purpose in recommending it to you? Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is as pleasant as a spring breeze and has but a faint, pleasing odor. It comes in two sizes of bottles, 50c and $1.00. You can buy Rexall "93" Hair Tonic in this community only at our store: W. C. SPRING DRUG CO.

GIVING THE PLUG HIS DUE

Steadygoing, Sensible Qualities Are Not Always Accorded the Recognition That They Deserve. Don't make fun of the plug. He may be slow and awkward and never get to the stable until dark, but he is the fellow who in the end will bring home the coin, says a Kansas City writer. The plug horse that pulls the lister all day in the field puts more money in the bank for the honest farmer than the race horse that goes out and turns a half in 0:50 flat and then loafs for two weeks waiting for another race to be matched. The old plug goes out in sunshine and storm and pulls in a few dollars every week, but the race horse waits for the day when the track is good, and then generally loses more than he wins. The steady old plug keeps the wolf from the door, while the race horse causes the mortgage to be foreclosed. Just so with the man. Pin your faith to the plug who keeps eternally at it; the fellow who gets up every morning and does so much and is ready to do it again next day. He lays up more shining dollars in the bank than the swift sport who lies around all summer waiting for luck to come along and turn a stream of silver into his pocket. One cackling Plymouth Rock hen is worth a dozen screaming eagles when it comes to paying off the mortgage. The plug is the fellow who steadies the ship and acts as ballast when the boat begins to rock. The plug is the fellow who lives contentedly and long and when he passes away the local paper says, "He leaves his family in comfortable circumstances."

MADE HIM GOOD AMERICAN

Act of Wise Father That Kept His Boy in the Path of His Birth and Duty. It is claiming rather a great deal to say that a child's whole future career may depend upon the hearing of a story! But, unquestionably, it is true. A boy I know, whose parents were obliged to live in England during two of his early years—from the time he was eight until he was ten—said to his father one day: "Am I an Englishman, an American, or haven't I any country at all?" His father, a loyal American, started at this question, read to the boy "A Man Without a Country." "You are an American," he told the boy. "Never forget that!" The boy, now a man, is just about to enter the United States Army. Much of his life has been passed in other countries, but he is an American. "I think I might have become an Englishman, or a man with no particular loyalty to any flag," he said recently, "had it not been for the story of 'A Man Without a Country,' which my father read to me when I was a little boy in England. I didn't understand all of it, but I understood enough to keep me forever loyal to the land of my birth, no matter where I might happen to be growing up."—Elizabeth McCracken in the Home Progress Magazine.

LIKE SO MANY GREAT MEN

Napoleon's Handwriting So Bad That He Himself Was Unable to Decipher It.

"As showing Bonaparte's carelessness as to correctness in writing and spelling, Las Cases says: 'One day he said to me: 'You do not write orthographically, do you? At least, I suppose you do not; for a man occupied with public or other important business—a minister, for instance—cannot and need not attend to orthography. His ideas must flow faster than his hand can trace them; he has only time to place his points; he must put his words in letters, and phrases in words; and let the scribbles make it out afterward.' "He indeed left a great deal for the copyists to do; he was their torment; his handwriting actually resembled hieroglyphics, and he often could not decipher it himself. My son was one day reading to him a chapter of the campaign of Italy; on a sudden he stopped short, unable to make out the writing. "That little blockhead," said the emperor, 'cannot read his own handwriting.' "It's not mine, sire." "And whose, then?" "Your majesty's." "How so, you little rogue? Do you mean to insult me?" "The emperor took the manuscript, tried a long while to read it, and at last threw it down, saying: 'He is right, I cannot tell myself what is written.'"
