Five Would Be Republican Gov.

PETITIONS IN LAST SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Lansing, July 31.—With five entries for the republican nomination for governor and five for lieutenant governor, the lists closed at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon for the August primaries. The heads of the state tickets of the two leading parties are:

GOVERNOR

Republican—
Frank B. Leland, Detroit.
Gerrit J. Diekema, Holland.
Albert E. Sleeper, Bad Axe.
Washington Gardner, Albion.
Sybrant Wesselius, Grand Rapids.
Democrat—
Charles H. Bender, Grand Rapids.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Luren D. Dickinson, Charlotte.
Robert Y. Ogg, Detroit.
David E. Heinemann, Detroit.
William D. Gordon, Bay City.
F. P. Bohn, Newberry.

Democrat—
John P. Kirk, Ypsilanti.

Within five minutes of closing time Saturday petitions for the democratic slate, Charles H. Bender, of Grand Rapids, for governor; Brig. Gen. John P. Kirk, of Ypsilanti, for lieutenant governor, and John T. Winship, of Saginaw, for United States senator, were filed.

Petitions were filed for Congressman Frank Scott, of Alpena, for renomination, and for Dana H. Hinkley, of Petoskey, and J. Lee Morford, of Gaylord, for state senator.

Learn a Little Every Day

The city of Copenhagen is daily consuming 25,000 pounds of American salt pork.

In Switzerland there is said to be one Post Office for every family.

American made boots and shoes are selling in northwest India.

There is a beaver dam in New York which is said to be 150 years old.

There are 9,000 girls working on children's dresses in Greater New York.

The annual product of the American chicken yard is estimated at $500,000,000.

The czar of Russia rides a bicycle, plays tennis and bowls ninepins.

Zinc production of the United States during 1915 amounted to 560,000 tons.

The world's population makes use of 2,500,000 glass eyes in the course of each year.

The average inhabitant of this earth uses more than two pounds of provisions per day.

One hundred and thirty-five million tons of coal are yearly required for steam railroads in this country.

There are 78,900 deaths due to cancer annually in the United States.

Sunstroke is caused by invisible violet rays from the sun, and not by heat.

Unions at Tulsa, Okla., will build a labor temple.

A lot of folks who expect to wear white wings in the hereafter will find them made of asbestos.

Our total production of lard amounts annually to nearly two billion pounds, one-third of which goes abroad.

Pennsylvania employs almost 70,000 women in the clothing industry.

This Week as it is Not in History

Monday, July 31.—Edwin Booth plays with Mary Pickford for the movies, 1869.

Tuesday, Aug. 1.—Lucires Bonaparte buys an automobile, 1780.

Wednesday, Aug. 2.—Prespiration from a black negro's face used as ink by Peter, the hermit, 1010.

Thursday, Aug. 3.—Mary, Queen of Scots, gives a pink tea just before being beheaded, 1519.

Friday, Aug. 4.—Whisk brooms used as breakfast food, 1804.

Saturday, Aug. 5.—Charles Dickens introduces slang into literature, 1840.

Sunday, Aug. 6.—Little Red Riding Hood has appendicitis, 210.

After a man gets married he is no longer self-possessed.

The average girl never turns up her nose at a man who knows enough to turn down the gas.

A woman can get more pleasure out of a good cry than a man can extract from a good laugh.

TAG DAY IN EAST JORDAN

Tag day in East Jordan on Saturday for the benefit of the Michigan Child Welfare League to aid them in their work of hunting up and caring for crippled or handicapped children proved a success in spite of the extreme heat. The finance committee who received the funds collected, Mrs. E. A. Ashley, A. Cameron, Dr. Hugh W. Dicken and Mayor A. E. Cross report the amount collected as $51.00. This will be directed to the work of the League in East Jordan and Charlevoix County. Many children from this county have already received assistance from the League and been cured or greatly benefited. Some cases in East Jordan were reported to the District Superintendent and each one will be carefully investigated and aid gladly given.

The Michigan Child Welfare League and Mrs. Mildred B. Kennedy wish to thank each person who in any way contributed in any way to make the day a success.

The local committee, Mrs. A. Cameron, Mrs. D. H. Fitch, Mrs. W. Robertson, Miss Barnett, Mrs. Hugh W. Dicken, Mrs. W. C. Merchant and Mrs. A. E. Cross and to the young people who so kindly offered the heart shaped tags for sale on the streets. To the citizens of East Jordan for their generous response to the appeal for the crippled child.

Besides helping the crippled children to get well, the League aids families where poverty threatens to break up the home. Mothers are pensioned by the League so that they may keep their children with them. The Michigan Child Welfare League is incorporated, non-sectarian and highly approved by the State Board of Corrections and Charities. The work of the League is supported entirely by voluntary gifts of the people, membership fees and proceeds from tag day sales.

WHAT JACK OVERHEARD

"This cellar is awfully damp," said the Rat-trap. "I'm afraid I'll catch malaria."

"If you don't catch malaria any better than you catch rats, you needn't be afraid," said the Kindling Wood.

"You seem to have a cold," said the Milk Pail to the Refrigerator.

"Yes, in my chest," said the Refrigerator, with a smile.

"I hate being locked up here in this dull place," said the Furnace.

"Oh, I don't think it's so bad," said the Fire.

"It's easy enough for you to talk," said the Furnace. "Fires can go out, but Furnaces can't."

"How did you happen to see all these things you tell us about?" asked the Coalbin of the Saw.

"The same way I saw everything else," said the Saw; with my teeth."

"I hear you called on the Refrigerator yesterday," said the Woodbox to the Pail. "Were you received pleasantly?"

"No. The Refrigerator treated me with great coldness," said the Pail.

"This house is beautiful upstairs," said the Furnace to the Poker. "The flues are going up there all the time and they told me all about it."

Drowns Sunday at Walloon Lake

Frank Laura Loses His Life While Bathing

Frank Laura, a young farmer living near Boyne City, was drowned Sunday evening at Walloon Lake, when he was seized with cramps while bathing in the South Arm. He died before help could reach him, although several friends were in bathing near him at the time.

He leaves a wife and an eight week old child, besides his mother and several brothers and sisters. The body was recovered within a half hour after he sank. Although a physician was immediately sent for and worked over him for more than an hour nothing could be done for him.

The funeral was held Tuesday and burial was made at Boyne City Cemetery.

FORMER PROSECUTOR AGAIN A CANDIDATE

At the urgent request of my friends I have decided to become a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney on the Republican Ticket at the August primaries. My past record is well known to all. I will appreciate your support and should I be the successful candidate I will earnestly endeavor to faithfully and ably discharge the duties of the office.

DWIGHT H. FITCH.

HE COULD HARDLY WALK

Deranged kidneys cause rheumatism, aches, pains, soreness, stiffness. Ambrose Gary, Sulphur, Okla., writes: "I was bothered with kidney trouble ten years and at times could hardly walk. I began taking Foley Kidney Pills. I got relief from the first but continued till I had taken three bottles. I feel like a new man."—Hites Drug Store.

A busy man is one who can't find time to meddle with things that don't concern him.

ELBERT BEDE SAYS

Russians are great tea drinkers.

A young man makes a mistake when he inflates his income in bragging to his sweetheart, for if a marriage follows the wife is likely to guide her expenditures by what she has been told the income is—and hubby will hate to own up that he lied.

A woman doesn't realize how much some of her sisters must suffer until she marries a widower.

The man who can't support himself thinks the other fellow should be his brother's keeper.

The man who can make good at the polls doesn't have to make good at his post.

Some who think they are in the running merely have wheels in their head.

Nobody loves a fat man, but the fat girl sympathizes with him.

An unmarried maiden of 35 years may say she is unhappy—while her married sister remains silent.

The paragrapher who first said a woman couldn't suffer in silence gained quite a reputation as a wit, but did you ever know a woman to do any more fussing than a man with a pain in his stomach.

We are puzzled to know where some people get the idea that they should be immune from trouble.

When a woman gets to wondering whether or no she can afford a new hat, hubby knows it is merely a case of how much he can hold her down to.

Men are either going around looking for wives or going around looking for sympathy.

After a man has been foolish enough to wait eight years for a girl to make up her mind to marry him, he shouldn't kick about waiting the rest of his life for her to get ready to go somewhere with him.

While a young man is wondering whether he dare kiss a girl she is probably thinking about the sweetheart of the evening before who didn't stop to wonder.

No wonder Rockefeller's money is ainted if it is made out of the gasoline we have to smell.

Make love to another girl and you'll find out pretty fast how you stand with the first one.

The orange was originally a pear-shaped fruit about the size of a wild cherry.

It is estimated that 140,000,000 people speak the English language.

Why should a red-blooded American girl lower herself by marrying one of the bloody blue-blooded foreigners.

The person who can't get along without an appetizer already has an appetite he can't satisfy.

Many men get a good deal of credit trying to do something they can't accomplish, which, of course, disgusts those who are too lazy to try.

The person who shocks you doesn't necessarily have a magnetic personality.

An invitation to come again may sometimes be a hint not to make the present visit an endless one.

Trouble makers are as plentiful as peacemakers are scarce.

A pretty woman loves to walk down the street with a homely one.

About half the time the average man is forced to grin and bear it.

Mexico is a good enough place for Mexicans, and if foreigners had kept out of there we would have had no trouble.

Sixty million coconut trees are under cultivation in Ceylon.

It may have been the high cost of living that drove the prodigal son home.

We notice that folks who know it all have just as much curiosity as we have.

Of course we are not afraid to say to a person's face the things we say behind his back—we merely do not wish to hurt his feelings.

Some men even like to brag of how much they owe.

If at the age of 2 years a child doesn't know whether it pays to cry or not, it will never know enough to startle the world.

A GOOD THING FOR CHILDREN

Foley's Honey and Tar is particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. The "little colds" of summer, as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months, are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort.—Hites Drug Store.

ALONG THE FIRING LINE

The President couldn't even sign the rural credits bill without making a speech—and in this one he told how his heart had ached for the farmer who found it so hard to borrow money. Therefore the President has signed a bill which compels the borrowing farmer first to buy some stock in a rural credit association, then to limit the amount of money he wants to borrow, then to confine the use of his borrowed money to a few objects, and then to take a long number of years in paying off the debt no matter how much he may accumulate meantime.

Judging from the comment of Democrats, the promotion of Representative Hay to the court of claims is a clear case of a man being kicked upstairs.

It is small wonder that the old-line Democrats are objecting to the presence of Progressives on their campaign committee. Mighty few Progressives are going to vote the Democratic ticket this fall—certainly not in numbers proportionate to even one member of a committee of a dozen members. Consequently, to give a Progressive a place that might be taken by a deserving Democrat is a sheer waste of a job.

The poison gas now being used along the Somme is said to paralyze the voice. Wonder if Bryan has been having a whiff of it.

News dispatches tell us every day or so of an important political conference the President has had with some of the Democratic campaign leaders. He is evidently of the opinion that the people of the country have in mind changing horses whether crossing a stream or not.

Chastising Carranza is peculiarly a function of the Wilson administration, whose child, politically speaking, Carranza is.

"If you want to make this fight on the tariff, we will point you to the reflection of the furnace fires which are blushing red against the skies," bawled Collier of Mississippi, to the Republicans, while delivering a home consumption speech on the seven-headed revenue measure which recently passed the House. All right, Mr. Collier. And the Republican party is going to place a firm grip on each one of your long, furry ears and point you to the wide-furrowed warfields of Europe blushing red with the blood of countless thousands slain with shot and shrapnel "made in America," carried to the front on American trucks and railroad cars, and fired from American guns, the manufacture of which revived the furnace fires, which, under the smothering influence of the Democratic tariff law, were mere heaps of ashes before the European war broke out. Can you meet that argument?

Some highly sensitive observers who make a fetish of figures have been pointing out Hughes' vote for Governor in 1908. The main thing to be remembered from that campaign, however, is that Hughes was re-elected in 1908 and that no Governor of New York has been re-elected since.

The biography of President Hayes which Prof. John W. Burgess has just published calls to mind the fact that it was during the Hayes administration that Diaz came to power in Mexico. "Mr. Hayes," says his biographer, "was not more pleased with the way Diaz came to the Presidency than was Mr. Wilson with the supposed or assumed complicity of Huerta in the killing of Madero, and there were the same violations of and dangers to American interests and the same boundary infractions to be dealt with. But Mr. Hayes was a practical statesman of refined manners—and to Mexico were vouchsafed thirty-five years of such peace and prosperity as it had never before enjoyed." The reflection on Mr. Wilson is none too harsh.

The Democratic platform of this year does not follow its Baltimore predecessor by incorporating a declaration that the pledges of the document are made to be observed in office as well as to be used in seeking votes. The reason for the omission is entirely clear. The promises of the Baltimore platform were so much more uniformly honored in the breach rather than in the observance that the Democrats this year sought to duck the obvious and individual and odious comparison. However, it is of small consequence, because the St. Louis platform is not the document which will be invoked during the next four years. The chart for this country's progress during that time was drafted at Chicago in the Republican convention.

Cranford (N. J.) Citizen—Mr. Hughes will be elected and we trust the control of the legislative branch of the government will at the same time pass from the hands that have made so complete a failure in every department of National affairs except the securing of offices and increasing expenses of administration.

HOTEL NAMES

If the rooms are dirty and the sloop jar is cracked and the heaters suffering from chronic chill lasting from October to April, if the writing stand has only three legs and is propped against the wall, if the extra comforter on the foot of the two inch thick hammock-esque bed looks as if it had been used as a road drag after a recent rain, if there is only one towel (about the size of a handkerchief and made of cheesecloth), if the wall paper is hanging loose from the ceiling and peeling-off from the walls, it is The Palace.

If ever an Indian lived within forty miles of that place, especially a chief, the hotel is called by that chief's name; Poweshiek, Cherokee, Iroquois, Oteago—anything like that, just so it is an Indian chief's name.

Now just why they should name a perfectly good hotel after an extremely dead and unhousebroken Indian is more than my dopesheet can inform me. They might as well name a pill after a Christian Scientist—think of the Mary Baker G. Eddy Little Liver Pellet!—a brand of soap after a hobo, an ulcer after a Papuan, knee-length underwear after an Eskimo, a brand of cocktail after Bryan or a California city after a Jap, as to name a hotel after an Indian chief.

The only way one of those old time Indian sachems could have been got into one of these good hotels especially one with a bath in it, would have been to blindfold him and back him in. If you had got him there once and showed him the nappery and the four-walled bedrooms and the fire escapes and the other devices suggesting snares and deadfalls, he would have broken forth with a piercing screech and been hard to catch.

Indians are all right, and so are some hotels. But why this mania for naming a hotel that gets just as far from the old time Indian's way of living as possible—why name that rocco palace after the old time Indian chieftain, just because the old scalp-artist is dead and can't resent it?

The other regular names for hotels are The Inn, The Commercial, The Waldorf and the Parker House. In Canada, all the small town hotels are named after the King. And if ever he stopped at some of them incoog, he would have the proprietor drawn and quartered for lese majeste.—From Judge.

Time.

Time is something to miss trains by and to buy things on. It is often represented by a picture of a bald-headed old individual carrying a huge scythe in one hand and an hour glass in the other. He is supposed to flop the hour glass upside down at 12 p. m. or a. m. New Year's eve. The scythe is supposed to represent his propensity for cutting people off in the heyday of their lives. It is a mistake to represent time as a man who cannot recommend anybody's brand of hair restorer, but can sit for a picture of a man who attributes his hale old age to malt whiskey and pipe tobacco. Time should be represented by a lady, because nobody can tell by looking at ladies nowadays how old they are. There are also several varieties of Time—among them being Good Time, High Old Time, Dull Time, Meal Time and Bed Time. Of the plural varieties of the may be mentioned Hard Times, which is sufficient to think of at the present time. Time is measured by clocks, also by waiting for street cars, and by taxi-cab meters, which if not carefully watched will register all the time there is and draw on several aeons of eternity. Another interesting variety of time is the Last Time, which has to do with intoxicating liquors, good night kisses and getting to work late.—From Judge.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Nearly everybody tries for the lying championship.

A couple in love can get sentimental over a steam radiator.

What makes a woman so proud of her children is nobody else is.

The dam of the reservoir of a man's money breaks every time he gets any.

A girl can't keep her secret engagement to herself even if it hasn't happened yet.

Never call a big strong man a liar; it is safer to hire some other fellow to break the news to him.

Cleanliness and Attractiveness the Strong Features of this Model Camp in Washington

Seattle, Wash.—"Clarence Hobnall, the huge fisted, hairy chested hook tender, emerged rosy from his morning ablutions in the tiled bathroom and made his toilet with usual care. Over the selection of a cravat that would match the dull bronze of his artful silk hosiery he spent a full quarter of an hour. Then, with a final polishing caress to his manicured nails he strode smiling from the bunkhouse, eager to begin his day's work."

Sounds foolish doesn't it? It is, but not so foolish as many an old time logger would consider the things that are going on in the Cherry Valley logging camp.

Logging de luxe is the program at Cherry Valley, but what the old timer might overlook in his scornful comment upon a model logging camp would be the efficiency of the plan. The Cherry Valley Logging Company which operates near Everett, has reformed the old time camp until an old timer would not recognize it, but not solely for the spiritual uplift of the logger; rather because this is good business.

The time honored logging camp, bunkhouse and cookhouse was the original bachelor's hall. It represented the worst man can do in the way of housekeeping. The big men who go into the woods to get out the timber accepted that as a matter of course. It never occurred to them to consider whether a logging camp could be improved upon. Logging camps had always been as they were and always would be, in the estimation of any who ever gave the matter a thought. They were not intended to be permanent homes, nor palaces of pleasure for pampered dandies, who were too proud to bathe in the creek and eat off a plank table of uncertain cleanliness.

A bunk in a logging camp was, and is, with few exceptions, a plank box of coffin size, floored with fir boughs at some forgotten period. The food served on the plank tables was, and usually is, rich and above all plentiful but that is all one could conscientiously say of it.

Wash day in the old time logging camp comes on Sunday, and the time honored method of laundering clothes is to hang them on a snag in the river and let the current do its worst.

Then the Cherry Valley Logging Company came into the field and brought about an innovation. It built a model logging camp.

Each man in this camp has a bed of his own, an iron bed, with springs and a mattress. The bunkhouse itself is a substantial, modern well ventilated, pleasant structure, with rooms for recreation. It has a laundry of its own and rows of sanitary laundry tubs where employes do their washing.

There are real bathrooms in this bunkhouse, and hot and cold running water for bathing. There are reading rooms, a library, and there are electric lights.

Similarly surprising things have been happening to the cookhouse. It is now a place where a dyspeptic would care to dine. Cleanliness and attractiveness are two of the strong features of the whole camp.

"The result of this innovation," said R. A. McDonald, manager of the company, who is a frequent Seattle visitor, "is increased efficiency. We get the best types of men and we keep them interested in the job. That means a bigger cut. We weren't indulging a whim for visionary philanthropy, when we upset the traditions of logging camps. We were looking for dollars and cents results, and we got them."

But, shades of the great North woods, what will the old time logger say to it?

HIS FARM IS TRAMPS' HEAVEN

Good Natured Planter Houses 595 in One Year

Reading, Pa.—Henry Heft, a good natured farmer of near Adamstown, gave lodging to 595 tramps during the past year. Every hobo calling at his country place is given a comfortable place to sleep and meals. In return the guests always do chores about the farm. In all his experience, Heft has never had any trouble with those whom he sheltered.

His records show the January guests numbered 34, February 32, March 83, April 83, May 64, June 71, July 37, August 70, September 32, October 18, November 38, and December 33.

Chop Down Edward's Tree.

Philadelphia, Pa.—The big elm tree in Independence Square, said to have been planted by King Edward VII. of England when he visited this country as the Prince of Wales in 1861, has been cut down. The tree had been dead for some time.

DUMB WAITER AT 19 OWNS FOUR RESTAURANTS

Speechless Lad on Capital of Pluck and Work Makes Good in Few Years

Kalkaska, Mich.—Some joker has said that "the best thing a waiter does is wait," and the phrase has been kicked around from table to counter and counter to table, conveniently standing for whatever interpretation one's humor has given it.

There is a waiter in Michigan who is too busy to care what the phrase means. He has waited efficiently and therefore his wait for success in life has been shortened. Being dumb, he hasn't much to say about it, but here is his story.

Walter Stanley Grohe has resided in Kalkaska since his birth, 19 years ago. He began his life with a handicap. He was born dumb. That doesn't seem to bother him, tho, for he smiles it seems, always.

Six years ago Stanley's parents died within three weeks of each other and left their son, 13 years old, a legacy of thrift and tenacity. During the two years following Stanley continued his school work earning his board and room by waiting on people at meal time in a restaurant.

Then when he was fifteen years old he stopped going to school and devoted his time and energy to the feeding of the hungry public.

After two years he was able to purchase the restaurant in which he worked. Now he owns four restaurants and hopes to become proprietor of a still longer chain of "eat shops."

U. S. REDEEMS BURNED $1 BILL

So Now Little Hazel Long of Denver Is in Cheerful Mood

Denver, Colo.—Five year old Hazel Long had saved her nickels until she had enough of them for a crisp $1 bill, which she concealed among some old newspapers. Her grandmother, with whom Hazel lives, picked up these papers one day three weeks ago and used them to kindle a fire in the kitchen stove. The girl saw it.

She burned her fingers in her effort to save the bill. The grandmother told the story to Rowland K. Goddard, government secret service agent.

He has just received a brand new bill from Washington with a letter saying that the redemption division of the treasury would make a special ruling in the case of this little girl.

LIGHTNING STRUCK RING

But Missed Wearer and He's Wondering

Winchester, Va.—Hops Beam's finger ring is in the jeweler's shop because the ruby setting was loosened by lightning. Also he is alive and well after one of the most exciting experiences of his life, having faced death in an instant's time when a bolt of lightning struck in the concrete midway between the Leaderick and Empire buildings.

Beam was shocked severely, the electricity following the wiring into the office where he was working. Several women in the office of a physician next where the lightning struck were also shocked.

NEW USE FOR OLD PAPERS

Hamburg Scientist Plans to Make Them Into Fodder

Amsterdam—"Don't burn your old newspapers; save them," urges Prof. Hugo Nerner in The Hamburg Nachrichten.

The professor explains that he is perfecting a scheme for turning paper waste into substitute for straw, which is largely used as fodder, not only in the ordinary way as chaff, but also in fresh ways after treatment by chemical processes.

"So we come to this," adds Prof. Nerner, "that the masses of old newspapers which have already fed men's minds in town and country will then feed cattle, and old brown paper and cardboard boxes will yield milk and beefsteak."

GETS NEW NOSE FROM OWN SKIN

Man Maimed in Fight Is Neatly Repaired in Hospital

Pittsburgh, Pa.—By the grafting of skin from other parts of his body to his nose, a portion of which had been torn off in a fight, Daniel McCloskey a middle aged resident of Susquehanna street, will leave the Pittsburgh hospital with a new nose. The grafting has been so successful that McCloskey's face will show but few signs of the injury.

HIKE 35 MILES FOR A BATH

That's What Citizens of Oatman, Arizona Have to Do

Oatman, Ariz.—How would you like to walk 35 miles every time you took a bath? That's what the citizens of this place have to do, or pay 20 cents a gallon for water.

The mining boom is making the town grow at the rate of about 100 persons a day. The local water supply has to be teamed from Needles, Cal., 25 miles away.

WHAT'S CAUSE OF BOW LEGS?

Too Much Sausage and Pork, Says Harrisburg, Pa., Official

Harrisburg, Pa.—According to John Yates, secretary of the Associated Aid Societies the children of the foreign element in this section are getting too much sausage and pork, causing bowlegs, knockknees and other ailments which should be unknown to healthy childhood.

AMERICAN KISSES PUZZLED JAP BOY

YOUTH NOW STUDENT AT MINNESOTA U., TELLS OF EARLY IMPRESSIONS

STUDYING DAIRY HUSBANDRY

Considered "Lipping the Cheek" an Odd Method of Salutation

Minneapolis, Minn.—"Why do you lip my cheek?" the Japanese boy inquires of his teacher. "That is a funny way of loving. My father and mother love me, but they never lip my cheek."

Back in flowery Hanamaki Iwate Ken, Japan, some 10 years ago, a young boy wrote in the 1,000 letter alphabet of the Japanese his impressions of the first white woman he saw, of the first kiss he received, or of the first American he knew, and kept them in his diary. That diary written by Kelsuke Obara, who is now a student at the University of Minnesota, has been transcribed into English by the author. The cryptic letters yield a strikingly naive bit of young Japanese thought.

The diary is dated from February 25, 1905, and runs on for a year, or until Mr. Obara's departure for the United States.

Obara and the first white woman came face to face on the first page.

"I met a strange person in the park today," he records, "I could not tell whether that person was a man or a woman. She told me that she was an American lady. She had long hair, because she had long hair. She had a funny hat on her head. I could not think a lady wearing a hat. All my friends ran away when she came toward us."

"She was so tall, dressed in the funniest kind of dress I ever saw. It was anything but a kimono. Her complexion was so sickly white, her nose so prominent, her eyes so big and blue. I never saw a person with blue eyes. My father, mother, sisters and myself all have black eyes. I wonder why."

"I also was afraid, but I stay. My father says I a samurai, a born Knight of Japan, and I remember."

"She spoke to me and asked if I was not afraid of her. I told her I was a samurai and not afraid of even ghosts."

On the date of March 2, 1906, he writes down in the booklet his first opinion of American children.

"Yankee children awfully clumsy children," he says.

He had seen one, and that one couldn't fly a kite.

"Americans speak so funny Japanese," another page tells.

In September of the same year he writes:

"Once Miss B. asked me what I wanted to be when I grew up. Pointing to the rising sun I told her that I wanted to be a general and get the order of the Rising Sun from the Mikado. Miss B. told me most American children want to make big money, and I thought was an awfully funny ideal for boys to have."

GAZE AT OBJECT; HYPNOTIZED

University Professor Shows Boys they Can Perform Queer Stunts

Columbia, Mo.—A demonstration of hypnotism by Prof. Mox Myer, head of the psychology department at the University of Missouri, showed that hypnosis can be induced without the influence of a hypnotist.

Professor Myer hypnotized students by having them gaze fixedly at a bright object with no sound to distract attention.

Later he suggested that one hypnotized student was an artist painting a picture; another a wounded soldier home from the trenches; still another an intoxicated diner out, and the students acted their parts.

Lee S. Eads of Hamilton, Mo., was the star subject in Professor Myer's demonstration of hypnotism.

HARD NUT FOR THE SQUIRRELS

Knife Probably 72 Years Old in Nest Partly Nibbled

Milan, Tenn.—Jim Jackson, mail carrier out of here, has a pocket knife that was found a few days ago by Jake Roberts in a squirrel hole in a big tree three miles south of Lavonia on the Forked Deer River. Near the tree was a birch tree with the name of Leroy McAlexander, 1843, cut into the bark.

The horn of the knife has been almost completely eaten off by the squirrels. It is thought that McAlexander dropped the knife by the birch tree and the squirrels carried it to their nest for food, seventy-two years ago.

TOOTH SAVES WOMAN'S LIFE

Chester, Pa.—Mrs. A. Paccio, 25 years old who lives at Leiserville, had a remarkable escape from being killed when a revolver that C. Moccia was handling was accidentally discharged. The bullet struck her in the mouth, knocking out one tooth and tearing away part of the upper lip. She was taken to the Chester Hospital for treatment, suffering more from shock than injury.

HOLE IN MAN'S HEART IS PLUGGED; LIFE RESTORED

Heroic Operation that Saved Would-be Suicide From Death is Fully Explained

Kirkville, Mo.—Earl H. Fisk of Helena, Mont., who shot himself thru the heart here still lives and is in a fair way toward recovery. His life was saved by an operation performed by Dr. George A. Still, who says he took hold of Fisk's heart, thru which the bullet had passed and by twisting the tissue of it with his thumb and forefinger plugged the hole and stopped the flow of blood. Dr. Still says the heart had ceased to beat and the man was apparently dead.

Fisk shot himself in his room shortly before 1 p. m. He was carried into the operating room at 1:20 o'clock. Examination showed a bullet wound directly above the heart. The following account of what was done was dictated by Dr. Still.

"The shirt and undershirt were cut away from the chest and the skin immediately sterilized with pure carbolic acid washed off with alcohol. The patient gasped a few times after being laid on the table, but apparently was dead. No pulse could be felt either in the wrist or neck."

"I made the remark that there wasn't much use operating on a corpse and then added that he wouldn't be any deader if we had a good look at the wound inside. I immediately opened the chest between the fourth and fifth ribs for about four inches, the bullet hole being in the middle of the wound, which was in the intercostal space below the rib near the nipple, a little inside. The wound exposed a hole in the pericardium, which was distended with blood. I split the pericardium and let out a lot of blood clot. This exposed the hole in the heart."

"The instant I took hold of the heart it began to beat. With my index finger I twisted the tissue of the heart wall so as to plug the hole in the heart, then removed the remaining clots in the heart sack or pericardium."

"From then on the pulse picked up, but all the time I was sewing up the wounds and while the nurses were administering a gallon of normal salt solution, he did not regain consciousness. The normal salt solution was to replace the lost blood and counteract shock."

"He did not regain consciousness until some time after he had been in bed, and it was two or three days before he was totally rational."

"The pulse steadily improved until after about three days it was normal. He ran a little fever during the first week. His temperature was practically normal for the next two weeks, and later on he left the hospital, apparently all right."

"The bullet which had gone thru the body and lodged in the tissues under the skin between the tenth and eleventh ribs on the right side, was removed. It was perfectly shaped. The end of it showed the impression of his shirt where it struck before entering the body. The sides showed the marks of the revolver rifling. It had missed the ribs going in and showed no bone marks. It must have traversed a lip of the lung, the heart and liver."

"It went thru the heart near the center. It must have barely missed the largest vein in the body, the vena cava, and a little farther to the right would have caught the thin part of the heart and the pulmonary vessels; a little farther to the left the aorta the main artery of the body. The bullet was an old style one of lead."

Fisk tried to get out of bed one night when the attendant was not looking. He struggled to injure the wound.

Two weeks ago he had sufficiently recovered to leave Kirkville with his mother for their home at Helena. They stopped at Minneapolis for a visit with relatives and while there Fisk was taken with the grip, but according to information from there the illness was not traceable to his wound and he has practically recovered."

No motive has been disclosed by Fisk for his desire to die. His father killed himself in September, shortly after Fisk entered the school as a student. His grandfather also took his own life.

OILED PENNIES HER ALIMONY

Former "Hubby's" First Payment is $300 in a Tin Can

Sedalia, Mo.—When Mrs. George Arbuckle received her first month's alimony she was forced to pay 45 cents for express charges on the money. And when she opened the package she found an oil can filled with pennies. There were 3,500 of the round red disks, and they were well lubricated by the oil which the can also contained. She spent the best part of a week washing off her alimony and then carted it off to the bank. Then she learned that she need not have accepted the can of pennies, as cents are not legal tender for amounts over 25 cents. And now Mrs. Arbuckle is on guard for the next months remittance. If another can of coppers heaves in sight she will stand on her rights with the dignity and refuse to accept it.

St. Louis Women Study Law
St. Louis, Mo.—Studying corporation law is the latest fad of the St. Louis women. This came to light when fifty members of the Wednesday club, one of the most exclusive women's organizations in the city, applied to Secretary of State Roca, for copies of the corporation laws of the state of Missouri.

IS ACCUSED OF INSANITY PLOT

NEW YORK WOMAN ALLEGES SHE WAS RAILROADED TO AN ASYLUM

NOW WANTS HER PROPERTY BACK

Divorced from Husband in Chicago And Sued After Second Marriage

New York.—A mother's charge that she was railroaded to an insane asylum by her daughter, who later got control of her property, was made before Supreme Court Justice Newburger when Mrs. Almira P. Mable asked the court to vacate a commitment signed by Justice Blanchard nearly two years ago. Her accusations were made against her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Brown.

Mrs. Mable was divorced from her husband in Chicago and subsequently sued him for accrued alimony after he had married a second time. She got judgment against him and came here to live with her daughter, Mrs. Brown and the latter's husband. She then deposited her money in various banks.

The petitioner said that after she became a member of her daughter's household she suffered from indigestion and on Mrs. Brown's advice she saw a physician. Mrs. Mable alleges that this was the first step in the scheme by her daughter to get control of her property. She said that while the physician pretended to be treating her for indigestion he was acting as an examiner in lunacy. Mrs. Mable said that a few days later her daughter complained of illness and asked her to accompany her to consult another physician.

Mrs. Mable said that three days afterwards three men and a nurse forcibly took her from her daughter's home and she found herself later in the Knickerbocker Hall Sanitarium at Amityville, L. I., where she was committed as insane on the affidavits of two examiners in lunacy, who asked that the service of papers on Mrs. Mable be dispensed with on the ground that it would excite her.

"This statement was a gross and unmitigated mendacity and part of the conspiracy and compact to railroad me to an asylum," said Mrs. Mable.

The petitioner said that when she was put in the asylum her daughter took $400 she had with her. The circumstances under which Mrs. Mable says her daughter took her from Knickerbocker are as follows:

"In tears I pleaded with my daughter to remove me, but she could not be shaken. I believe she was acting under the advice of her father, my divorced husband, who had come on from Chicago and is living in Brooklyn. My daughter came and had me discharged from the institution, but as soon as I was out she insisted that I go to the German Savings Bank and draw out $500 for her. Then I was forced to go to Dr. Barnes' sanitarium at Stamford, Conn. While a patient there I gave my daughter $500 more, and when she promised to secure my release if I would turn over to her my bank books, stocks and diamonds, I did so."

Mrs. Mable says her daughter took her from Stamford and planned to send her to another sanitarium in the Catskills, but while they were waiting for a train she says she escaped. She wandered to Harrison, N. Y., and was admitted to St. Vincent's Retreat there. Soon afterward she got in touch with a lawyer who made the application in order that she might get possession of her property now in the hands of her daughter.

Although the application was not opposed, Justice Newburger said he had no power to grant the relief asked, because Mrs. Mable had been locally discharged from Knickerbocker Hall.

FIGHTS WITH HIS WOODEN LEG

Cos Cob Cripple Sent to Jail for Two Months

Greenwich, Conn.—His practice of using his wooden leg as a weapon resulted in the sentencing of John Strain a well known resident of Bible street, Cos Cob, to the Fairfield county jail for two months.

Strain's defiance of the law reached a climax when Constable Lorenzo Curcio went to serve a warrant for the production of the cripple's two children, issued by Assistant Prosecutor Henry B. White for their commitment to a state home. Strain barricaded himself in his house and when the Constable attempted to force an entrance, he was met by a rain of blows from the wooden leg.

GETS HIS THIRD SET OF TEETH

Man is 94 and Also Has His Second Sight

Ocean City, N. J.—Jonathan Fisher of Vincentown, who is spending some time at the home of his daughter, is cutting his third set of teeth at the age of 94 years. He also has his second sight, but is compelled to use glasses at present when reading. He is a well preserved man of his age.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes any one look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or bare furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

It's a woman's natural faith that enables her to believe only the things she wants to when she knows she doesn't.

One of the easiest ways for a man to get married is to tell a young widow that he intends to remain a bachelor.

WHEN VISITING STRANGE PLACES

It is well to be prepared with a reliable cathartic Salts and castor oil cannot be taken by many. Foley Cathartic Tablets are wholesome and cleansing, act surely but gently, without griping, pain or nausea. Relieve sick headache, biliousness, bloating, sour stomach, bad breath. Fine for a torpid liver.—Hifes Drug Store.

Do all the work you can; there are lots of lazy men who will do the rest.

Don't wait for your ship to come in; charter a tug and go out and meet it.

An office holder should remember that one bad term doesn't deserve another.

SCOFFERS PAY THE PENALTY

Those who ignore warning signals of disordered kidneys and scoff at dangers of serious consequences often pay the penalty with dread diabetes or Bright's disease. If you have lame back, pains in sides, sore muscles, stiff joints, rheumatic aches—take Foley Kidney Pills and stop the trouble before it is too late.—Hifes Drug Store.

People who do not believe all they hear are fond of repeating it.

A man buys clothes to put on—a woman buys them to show off.

Be sure you are right—but don't be too sure everybody else is wrong.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

FRANKLIN IS TO BECOME JUNK

FAMOUS OLD WARSHIP, BUILT AS A SAILING VESSEL, LATER RE-BUILT AS A STEAMER

MISSED PART IN TWO WARS

Just too Late for 1812, and Being Re-modeled in Civil War Time.

Washington, D. C.—The United States steamship Franklin, built in 1815 as a sailing ship of the line to carry 86 guns, rebuilt in 1853-55 as a steam freight, has been sold at auction to become junk.

The Franklin missed the war of 1812, her construction having been begun in 1815. She was launched the same year. While built to carry 86 guns she was rated at a 74-gun ship, with a displacement of 2,257 tons. During her first year in commission the Franklin had three commanding officers—Capt. S. S. J. Smith, A. Murray and Charles Stewart.

In 1817-20 she served as the flagship of Commodore Charles Stewart of the Mediterranean squadron. About this time the Franklin, on one of her trips across the Atlantic, transported Richard Bush, Minister to England.

When the Franklin was transferred to the Pacific she continued as the flagship of Commodore Stewart, from 1821 to 1824. The next record of the vessel which appears in the Navy Department library is from 1843 to 1851, when she was a receiving ship at Boston.

In 1852 the Franklin was towed to the Portsmouth Navy Yard. The following year she was raised and converted into a screw frigate, designed to carry 51 guns. The steam frigate was to all intents and purposes a new vessel, having different lines and a largely increased displacement. The rebuilding process was long drawn out, the Franklin not being turned out of the Portsmouth yard until 1866, so that she also missed participation in the Civil War.

The most notable cruise of the Franklin was begun in 1867, when Admiral D. G. Farragut hoisted to her mainmast the first full fledged Admiral's flag flown by any vessel of the American Navy and headed for European waters. She was Farragut's flagship with the European squadron in 1867-1868, and continued in European waters as flagship until 1871. Every where Farragut went in European waters he and his ship were accorded marked courtesies. He was received by the sovereigns, while notables of Great Britain, France, Russia and other countries visited and inspected the vessel. From Farragut's own records it appears that in order to return the many courtesies he lived up to his income to the last dollar. He tells of visits to London, Paris and St. Petersburg, and the audiences with Kings and Emperors, who entertained him and his staff in various ways.

CATCHING MOTHS YIELDS COUPLE $500 YEAR PROFIT

Iowa Man and Wife Found by Spectators Which are Attracted to Their Farm.

Nevada, Ia.—Mr. and Mrs. O. Floyd Hiser of near Nevada have an avocation providing a daily hour of pleasure and $500 profit a year. Trees on their farm long have been the habitat of a colony of the catocala moth.

They catch the moths and butterflies and sell them to museums, collectors and laboratories, for prices ranging from 5 cents to $1 apiece. Several times they have received orders from abroad.

The Hisers follow the pursuit only early on summer nights. They mark trees with white cloths to attract attention and they spray a solution of sugar and stale beer over the foliage. Often they have caught from 50 to 100 specimens in an hour.

"Clock Plant" Unique

Miami, Okla.—Delbert Adams, himself something of a naturalist, has received from a noted naturalist and former friend who has spent many years in Borneo, the most unique specimen of plant life ever seen in this neighborhood. It is known as the "clock plant", and it registers in a rough sort of way, the time of day.

It has leaves of two sizes, one of which acts in the capacity of minute hand, which keeps moving until 4 o'clock p. m., and the other keeps going until morning. The longer leaves act as the hour hand.

Starting in a position when all the leaves lie close to the stem, with the points hanging down, they rise gradually until they turn toward the top, and then they drop to their former position. It takes the smaller leaves about one minute to go through this performance, and the longer leaves just about one hour.

The plant is about one foot in height and is of a dark, lustrous green color. The plant is said to be of a very hardy growth. Mr. Adams, who is leaving for St. Louis shortly, intends to make a present of it to one of the parks in that city.

The patches that decorate the trousers of a calamity howler are not on the knees.

FUR CENTER OF WORLD SHIFTS TO ST. LOUIS

Sales of More Than $1,000,000 in Four Days are Recorded—Big Future Seen

St. Louis, Mo.—The world's great central fur market has shifted. It is now in St. Louis. The million dollar fur sale held here recently, at the Funsten Fur Exchange, announced this new era in the fur business.

What this achievement means to the United States can best be realized by noting the effect on the great traders who control the world's fur business. They were all there. All the large fur houses of France, Russia, Germany and other European countries, as well as those of Canada and the United States, had their expert buyers on the floor of the exchange. Over 300 of them came in a special train of their own.

The bidding was spirited and competition keen. In the four days of the sale over a million dollars worth of furs changed hands.

The scene on the exchange floor was not unlike a legislative chamber. Each of the 300 expert buyers sat behind his own desk facing the elevated court like bench of the auctioneer. Pages and messenger boys scurried about. The selling was rapid and exciting. A bid of a dollar might actually be a bid of a thousand if the lot chanced to be one in which there were a thousand pelts. In the same way, a 10-cent raise might easily mean a cool hundred dollars. Yet the buyers, seasoned veterans, took all the excitement calmly enough, the sale of a single pair of silver fox skins for $2,350 did bring a ripple of applause.

For such skins to bring $1,920 and $1,900 was a mere nothing. The furs of fifteen different countries were represented at all kinds of prices—from 6 cents upward. The prices for the fur of common blue and black house cats went up as high as 46 cents each and the demand was lively. On the whole, the prices commanded were high, in some cases showing an advance of 30 per cent over last year. Domestic skins from American trappers were much in evidence.

Among the buyers present were experts representing Goetz Freres, Paris; J. Arionwitch & Co., Moscow; The Eittington Schild Co., another Russian concern; G. Gandig & Blum, Theodore Thorer, Inc., Otto Erler and H. Jaekel Sons, all German fur companies; H. M. Koenigsworther of Leipzig; The T. Eaton Co. of Winnipeg, and many others.

EXCHANGE POETIC TELEGRAMS

Mr. Wood Can Now Wed—No Obstacle Seen Ahead

Jefferson City—When W. C. Eaves, recorder of St. Francois county, died, Governor Major a few days ago, appointed former State Senator John S. Clay of Farmington, to fill the vacancy.

The commission evidently was delayed in transit, for the Governor's office received the following telegram, written in rhyme, from William Good, a marrying justice of the peace at Farmington.

Recorder dead;
Mr. Wood wants to wed.
What shall we do—
It's up to you.

Governor Major was out of town.
His private secretary, N. E. Williams
wired back:

Governor has appointed Clay
Mr. Wood may name the day.
Justice Good is on the spot
More than willing to tie the knot.

FINDS RING AFTER 23 YEARS

Girl Restores Mother's Long Lost Gold Loop

Seaford, Del.—A little over twenty-three years ago Mrs. George E. M. Stengle, while playing in the yard of S. A. Brown lost a plain gold band ring with her initials on it. All efforts on the part of several members of the family and neighbors to find it were futile.

One day this week while Ethel, the 9 year old daughter of Mrs. Stengle, was playing in the yard with a sister she noticed something shining in a spot where snow was melting fast and picking it up, discovered it was a ring. When she took it to her mother it was quickly recognized as the ring lost nearly a quarter of a century ago.

During the time the ring has been in the yard the ground has been plowed and tilled many times. The ring was in perfect condition and not the least bit worn by the weather.

BLUFFS TRAMP; THEN FAINTS

Intruder Flees From Husband Who Was Not at Home

Elwood, Ind.—Mrs. George Wilton is under the care of a physician as a result of the fight she experienced on the visit of a tramp to her home. The tramp pushed his way into the house, but was bluffed out when Mrs. Wilton called her husband, who was not at home. She fainted afterward.

SUCH AN IMPOLITE BURGLAR

Leaves Front Door Open After Robbing House.

Hartford City, Ind.—A very impolite burglar visited the home of Chas. Russell. After ransacking the house he departed, leaving the front door open. Cold wind and snow blowing in awakened the family.

It is said that G. Washington was so opposed to lying in any form that he refused to establish a weather bureau during his administration.

A Comparative Statement.

In every city and county local option or prohibition invariably result in reducing the number of arrests. There is also a definite and often large reduction in the expense of conducting jails, courts, etc.

The actual relationship between the license system and number of arrests for drunkenness, misdemeanors or crime cannot be determined absolutely. Any conclusions reached are influenced to a greater or less extent by the local policy in making arrests. Sometimes local officials, either policemen, judges or politicians, start out to make a record for arrests either under a wet or dry regime.

"When is a man drunk enough to be arrested? This question is answered variously, but the answer in nine counties out of ten in Michigan proves that by far the license system produces from two to five times as many cases of public intoxication as the no-license system. In Michigan dry counties, as in Kansas, Iowa and other dry states the local jail frequently falls into entire disuse. In Michigan wet counties, as in Ingham county during the last period of saloons, the jail is often full of "drunks" and in some cases had to be enlarged.

Kalamazoo City furnishes the best evidence so far obtainable. Chas. W. Struble, Chief of Police, in a letter to the Michigan Dry Campaign committee March 2, 1916, while declining to give any opinion for publication, enclosed the following statement of arrests:

Comparative record of arrest, Kalamazoo police department:

Date	Drunk	Total
May 1914	95	128
May 1915	32	61
June 1914	97	174
June 1915	28	56
July 1914	88	180
July 1915	45	81
Aug. 1914	96	144
Aug. 1915	26	61
Sept. 1914	145	191
Sept. 1915	20	51
Oct. 1914	160	207
Oct. 1915	46	72
Nov. 1914	104	135
Nov. 1915	41	53
Dec. 1914	103	149
Dec. 1915	55	76
Jan. 1915	69	121
Jan. 1916	39	70
Feb. 1915	75	117
Feb. 1916	40	74

Under the wet regime, far more men were sent home than were arrested when there was any possibility of getting a man home without harm. On the first Saturday night under the Dry regime, many of the former drunks were seen going home with their families and with packages under their arms.

THE LIQUOR VOTE OF KENT COUNTY

Mr. Hudson States the Election Was a Severe Blow for the Wets.

Lansing, Mich.—"If George Ellis had not been defeated by George Tilma in the contest for mayor of Grand Rapids, he probably would have taken the stump in the state wide no-license campaign in co-operation with the liquor dealers as an advocate of temperance, moderation and saloon regulation and an opponent of prohibition."

This declaration was made by Grant M. Hudson, Superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league. Through a state political worker, Hudson says, he learned interesting inside history of the recent Grand Rapids campaign.

He says that he has reliable information that Ellis' defeat was a blow to wet interests in Grand Rapids and the whole state. He is informed that Ellis was boomed by the liberal element not only to win re-election as mayor but to lead the liquor forces in the state wide prohibition campaign as "the six-term mayor of Grand Rapids." According to the plan, the so-called Ellis card system of regulating saloons so as to cut out the bad features of the liquor business, was to be made a prominent factor in the state campaign.

Grand Rapids was to become state headquarters of the wet forces, who, it is said, recognized that Detroit is not suited for the purpose because of its bad saloon record and because state brewers have not been supported by Detroit in local option fights. To spike the guns of the dries, according to Hudson, it was arranged that the demand for temperance as against total abstinence would be made a campaign cry. Hudson says he learns considerable financial support was solicited for Ellis' local campaign from several Grand Rapids saloonkeepers and that the wet side clubs in Grand Rapids were extensively used by wet interests.

Leaders of the Michigan Dry Campaign committee accept Ellis' defeat as indicating an increased no-license sentiment in Grand Rapids. Hudson predicts that Kent County will about break even on the liquor vote.

Van Buren County Republicans in their spring convention adopted strong resolutions at Hartford, Mich., April 18, pledging the party in the county to support the Michigan Dry Campaign at all points. While no effort was made to secure resolutions of this kind in the county conventions, it was very gratifying to the dry workers to have this stand taken by Republicans in the banner dry county of the state.

OPPORTUNITY, ESQ.

Opportunity is an eccentric party who is very reluctant about showing his face to some people, while with others he is on the most intimate speaking terms.

To most of us he shows his back just after his coat tails are out of reach.

I have spent most of my life studying the rear elevation of Opportunity. The strange part of it is that I have never come to recognize him in time even to yell at him and make him hear.

I have gazed placidly at that public back of his, thinking of nothing in particular.

Later I would ascertain that on that certain day and hour Opportunity had walked right by me in broad daylight.

I had seen him, but didn't know it was he.

Once he was disguised as a panic—O, more than once!—when stocks went down and I was glad I had nothing invested.

A year later I saw stocks that had been selling for a ditty during the panic, soaring; and I realized that if I had—

The same thing is probably happening just now. I am looking all around the horizon, and I see no trace of Opportunity. Yet he is probably in plain sight. And the geek I now think is he, and whom I intend going right up and speaking to and entrusting with my money, will probably turn out to be Opportunity's well known double called False Alarm.

Whenever Opportunity knocks at my door, I think he's a collector, and I keep still. While whenever a burglar is jimmying at my casement I invite him to stay all night, thinking he is Opportunity.—From Judge.

Fountain Pens. A great many very funny folks have written disparaging things about fountain pens. Many of these things were humorous as all get out. In the olden days when fountain pens and automobiles could not be depended upon to get you there and back, perhaps there was much more truth in the stories than there is in the same sort of story if told today of the present model, self starting, streamline fountain pen.

I am the proud possessor of a fountain pen (name the make supplied for a self addressed, stamped envelope) that has seen yeoman service for years. I have used in it everything thinner than cold asphalt, and it still writes whenever it is possessed of the slightest particle of discolored moisture.

I have even filled the poor thing from the open inkstands on hotel writing tables, post office shelves, telegraph office desks and hotel counters. Yet even with this sort of lava in its bunkers it produces the stuff that is as nearly legible as my non-Spencerian handwriting will permit.

No, the fountain pen must no longer be condemned. It has evolved from the joke-column, along with the mother-in-law, the hard cranking automobile, the putting up of stove pipes and the winter chilled hornet's nest.—From Judge.

Did anyone else ever tell you that your troubles were of any consequence?

People who suffer in silence always like to boast about it later.

The bouquets you throw at yourself may turn into boomerangs.

Life is mostly a joke to the girl with dimples and perfect teeth.

The man who rally knows himself doesn't tell all he knows.

It doesn't pay to own things you owe for.

You can't forge a head by hammering.

HOW MEN DIFFER FROM ANIMALS

The chief difference between man and the lower animals lies in man's capacity for stinging. Obviously he has no monopoly of the virtues. A dog may be faithful, an elephant may be kind and true, a cat is said to love home and fireside; the parental instincts of the penguin would put ninetieths of the leaders of our best society to shame. It is not by possessing such attributes that animals become "almost human." It would be fairer to say that the man who possesses these traits in fine degree is almost animal.

There is a horse of vaudeville fame that reckons simple sums in addition, and answers a wide variety of questions, if my memory serves me; I will even allow him to write his own first name with his hoof in the sand. The show bills call him human yet we feel no sense of kinship as we watch the performance, even though we should grant him all the ratiocination his exhibitors claim. We simply say, "What a wonderfully clever horse!"

bestow a word of praise upon his trainer, and that is the whole story. I have seen a dog perform agile tricks with prompt obedience and obvious enjoyment, and to me he was still a dog. But when some canine friend hides on his washday; when he steals the cat's milk and pretends he did not; when he slinks in at a door with every expression of eye and limb crying "pecoavi," ah, then I say to myself, "There is something human about that dog."—Harper's Magazine.

INDIANS TRAINED TO FORGET TRAITS

500 RED CHILDREN BEING TRAINED IN WAYS OF WHITES BY GOVERNMENT

ARE SUPPORTED BY CONGRESS

Every Public Convenience Maintained in School at Chillico, Ok.

Chillico, Ok.—At Chillico, Ok., the government is endeavoring to efface from the minds of Indian boys and girls all memory of their ancestors' primal traits. This work has been in progress since January, 1884.

The school is known as the United States Indian school and was founded for the use of Indian children born to members of the five civilized tribes. Congressional appropriations support the school, which has become a public school for all Indian children. No tribal funds are diverted to support the institution, and although children born to members of the five civilized tribes were not eligible as students at the time the school was founded, no Indian-children are now barred because of their tribal membership. Practically every Indian tribe in the United States is now represented at the school, the Oklahoma Indians forming the majority of the students, and the Cherokees predominate.

Chillico, of about 800 inhabitants, is isolated on a tract of land embracing 8,640 acres owned by the government and immediately south of the Oklahoma-Kansas boundary line. The land is within Kay county.

When a visitor leaves the train at Chillico he looks toward the west and there sees the only evidence of habitation. The group of buildings comprising the Chillico Indian school is silhouetted on the horizon, about one and one half miles distant, though because of several long swales in the road leading to the school the distance is very deceptive.

The principle buildings constructed of yellow limestone, stand on a treeless and wind-swept prairie. With the exception of the trees around the group of buildings, there is scarcely a tree to greet the eye at Chillico. The trees on the campus have the appearance of having been grown by man.

The landscape artist and the architect who planned Chillico Indian School evidently intended that all principle buildings composing the group would be constructed around a quadrangle, but the buildings have overflowed the "quad."

Those in charge of the school live in modest cottages between the campus and the railroad station. On the walls of their rooms hang pictures portraying much of the old Indian life. On the walls of the rooms in the dormitories where the Indian boys and girls live there is but little to suggest the care-free life their ancestors lived.

Mr. Schall explained that the policy of the government is to keep from the eye and ear of the Indian students everything suggestive of the camp life and the war path. The government endeavors to bring to the eye and the ear of the students everything suggestive of civilization.

Apparently those in charge of the school devote considerable attention to inculcating refinement, cheerfulness and politeness in the minds of the students. The Indian students at Chillico are not stoics. Their faces are animated and a smile invariably greets a visitor.

There are 535 students in the school 290 being boys. The boys are not given military training, but they go thru a daily exercise resembling the dismounted cavalry drill.

Periodically the boys and girls are permitted to go to Arkansas City, the trip days being alternated, the boys going one Saturday and the girls the next.

All students have an opportunity to attend religious services of their own choosing. The Ministerial Alliance of Arkansas City sends a minister to the school each Sunday, and the priest at Newkirk visits the school each Sunday.

There is a strong Y. M. C. A. among the male student body, and the meetings are well attended.

All the buildings are heated by steam and the residences supplied with gas from the Blackwell gas field southwest of the reservation.

The electric light plant and the waterworks system at Chillico are operated by students, and the plade has a sewer system.

PRESERVE THE GOOD OLD RATTAN

SEVERAL TEACHERS AND "OLD FASHIONED" CITIZENS OUT. LINE BELIEF IN ROD

SAY PEDAGOGUES NEED POWER

Present Tendency is to Spare the Rod and Spoil the Child.

Boston, Mass.—Preserve the good old rattan, the old fashioned spankings and the "clubb'n's" in the schools was the rallying cry of several teachers and old-fashioned citizens who appeared before the committee on education to protest the bill which would do away with corporal punishment except by permission of the parents or guardian of the child.

"There is too much of this molly-coddling going on," declared indignant citizen John I. Fitzgerald, who represents the cosmopolitan district of Ward 8. "Time was when the cat-o-nine tails and the switch were part of the household furniture. Now we have the spectacle of a daughter haling her father into court because he had dared to chastise her. Beatings never hurt any man; they do him good."

He believed firmly in the principle of "spare the rod and spoil the child," and gave lusty cheers for the good old plan of applying a rattan to the proper vulnerable spot in the hide of a recalcitrant pupil.

But Fitzgerald's rooting for the stick treatment was as naught compared to the delegation of principals of schools in Lynn. It seemed as if all the corporal punishers of the Shoe City were on deck to defend their constitutional rights.

Edgar Copeland who is said to be one of the most popular principals in this city, was one of the principal speakers in defense of the system. He declared that a teacher must have the power behind him to get action out of obstinate pupils or to reprove youthful pranks that violate the rules of good order in the school room.

James W. Applebee of Lynn, another principal, confessed to having a clear record this year and a good amateur standing in the corporal punishment league. But he was strong for the rattan method of educating the youthful mind to sprout.

"There is a time when a boy needs it right on the spot," he said, but the reference was not to locality but to time. "If you cannot punish the boy he takes the attitude 'What are you going to do about it?'"

"There are some schools where a boy gets sick and has decent burial before the red tape is cut and punishment allowed and the boy gets what he is spoiling for."

The hearing was decidedly reminiscent of the youthful days of the committee and the audience, and they took keen interest in it. Every potential beater of the children, as the principals were looked upon, was greeted with careful scrutiny as if he might have concealed a stick up his sleeve which he was about to assault them with.

William T. Mignault was the petitioner for the legislation. It was his contention that the child should be protected from the sudden passion of the teacher.

"At present," he said, "the same person is the accuser and the judge of the child." He told of a case in Dorchester where a girl of 11 was so punished that her ear was torn to an extent requiring six stitches to sew it up. He believed that his bill, while not abolishing corporal punishment, would tend to prevent unjust punishment. Senator Chapman and Representative Wall were recorded for the bill.

"ELECTRIC HOBO" IS CALIFORNIA PRODUCT

Cooks as He Goes and Steals "Fuel" From Third Rail With Own Appliance.

Marysville, Cal.—Wanderers have been known to adopt various means of obtaining a livelihood and are known by various types, but a new variety has just been discovered in this vicinity.

He is known as the "electric hobo." He is never without a hot meal when he can beg the ingredients with which to cook, and he doesn't have to carry a match with him or worry about kindling a fire.

The Northern Electric Company's third rail is his stove, or at least the source of his fire, for he carries with him a patent stove. It consists of a folding iron plate, interlaced with copper wires. When he gets hungry he unfolds it and makes a connection on the third rail, places the food on the stove and, when ready, eats to his heart's content. Jackrabbits, vegetables, coffee and flapjacks can be cooked on the electric grill.

C. B. Harter, a Sutter county rancher, says he saw the "electric hobo" at work cooking his breakfast the other morning. Among other things he heated a can of water on the stove, took a rusty razor from one pocket, a cake of soap from another and a piece of mirror out of his coat lining and shaved.

THE VALUE OF A LIQUOR LICENSE

THE CITY'S FEE IS NOT ALL OF IT. NOTE THE VALUE TO THE MEN WHO SELL LIQUOR

WORTH $1,000, VALUE $10,000

That is The Liquor Seller Will Cause Want and Suffering To Make Money For Himself.

How much is a saloon license worth? This question has agitated a good many city councils in Michigan as they faced the annual granting of licenses. It brings two answers. The license is worth a given fee to the city which grants it, but it also is worth many times that fee in profits to the liquor dealers.

"A saloon license in Jackson is worth at least $10,000 to the man who holds it" declared an official of that city to a representative of The New Republic. "We used to have over ninety saloons in Jackson and now with thirty-two, the profits of each retailer are very large."

Pineconing, a little town near Bay City, has ended a long hard fight over the issue by adding $500 as a village license to that required by the state, making the total $1,000. In Standish the one thousand figure also prevails.

Good evidence that the liquor dealer has not yet seen the light, is furnished by much talk and little action on the subject of reducing the number of saloons in various Michigan cities. Bay City succeeded in counting out six licenses this year but still has 108 bars in a city of 45,000 population. Saginaw as well as Bay City furnished much talk of reducing the number, but Saginaw granted its old number of 101 licenses.

Manistee managed to count out one saloon, leaving twenty-eight—which must have been quite an effort for Manistee since it decided to have nothing to do with local option and is advertising its saloons as a municipal attraction to motor tourists.

In Detroit—absolute secrecy was maintained by the liquor committee of the common council. It was expected that something like a bomb-shell would drop and scores of licenses would be refused which heretofore have been granted. About 50 fewer licenses were granted leaving the total 1313.

Most of these local fights of saloon licenses are in fact conflicts among brewers rather than retailers. The city council has a hard time regulating a retail saloon when the influences back of the retailer are brewing companies competing for the sale of their product. While the people are not interested in who makes the sign, they do have a practical interest in law enforcement and the retailer is the man to whom they must look. With "blind pigs" flourishing in 11 censed cities and with saloon-keepers constantly violating many laws and with city councils afraid to refuse licenses when they ought to, the conditions in many Michigan cities are all tending to increase and solidify dry sentiment.

"The Flats" and Its Bar-rooms

Consternation reigns in that element of population of Detroit and vicinity who take their summer recreation at a St. Clair Flats. The flat section north of Lake St. Clair, has long been famous for its summer cottages and hotels scattered about among pretty venetian canals.

It has also been notorious because of the loose way in which certain bar-rooms were operated. Dancing, gambling and worse evils, have at times been accepted as necessary. Cheap trips by fast steamers between Detroit and Port Huron have made the Flats popular.

But it is stated that during the coming year only two saloon licenses will be granted by the Clay township board. This action cuts out several drinking places, and while it saddens the hearts of the bibulously inclined it will gladden those who believe in safe and sane recreation.

It's Dry in Temple.

Temple and Clare county went dry. This fact will cause some residents of Wexford, Missaukee, Osceola and other "dry" counties to make a "rye" face and cuss the government and people who voted the county dry. Temple was a favorite watering place for a few Cadillac people, who would take their week's wages and spend both the wages and the week end in the village. However, the one saloon closed its doors last Saturday night and will remain closed for at least two years.—Cadillac News.

Mobilizing the Liquor Forces

Liquor forces are rapidly organizing and mobilizing their forces in Michigan. Before the local option election of April 3 they had begun to hire workers in many sections of the state. There is no doubt whatever that they will wage a vigorous and expensive campaign. No denial has come to the statement made some time ago that a campaign fund of $1,500,000 will be raised to defeat the anti-saloon cause.

OUR MODERN TEMPLES OF WORK

While in other days popes and princes built churches and palaces which are still the wonder of the world today commerce and industry are doing work equally impressive. Our modern mills and docks and canals and bridges are even more wonderful. They are our triumphs of art, and yet hardly any one records their building. We are so familiar with these masterpieces before our eyes that we pay no attention to them. We make few if any records of our greatest monuments, our greatest triumphs in engineering and architecture which are far more amazing than the work of the past, and quite as well worth recording.

The mills and docks and canals and bridges of the present are more mighty, more pictorial, and more practical than any similar works of the past; they are the true temples of the present. Our mills are as well worth painting as medieval churches; Minneapolis is as fine as Albi.

But it is in the Northwest that the results of necessity and rivalry are most evident. At Sault Ste. Marie the government has built a series of locks which are as fine and pictorial as the locks at Panama, and when in the evening the huge bridge parts, and rises against the setting sun, and the great ore boats slowly steam by, there comes to pass a transfiguration that no painter could imagine—the apotheosis of America. And who would conceive anything so arresting, anything so typical, as the "jaws," with their fierce teeth, of the Twelfth Street Bridge at Chicago? Go to Gary, or Indian Harbor, or any one of a hundred places in or around our western metropolises, metropolises, and the mystery, the majesty of the Wonder of Work will overwhelm you—if you can see it—and if you can see it, you can see America.

It is subjects like these that make the Northwest so fine, so American; yet there are others just as fine, and absolutely different, all over the country. They are noble just as the temples, the pyramids, the cathedrals are, for this art is the expression of our time and our aims just as the temples and castles were of other times.

No artists recorded the building of those temples for their own sake, for they were always to be seen. So today only a few artists pay any heed to this Wonder of Work around us. A wonder, too, which will soon be gone, for with the development of electricity the mystery will vanish, and with every new development in manufacture the picturesqueness of chimney, converter, and crane will disappear, and in a few years there will be nothing but mean, low masses of trim masonry with no effect about them—as worthy of comparison with the marvelous, mysterious masses of today as a clapboard meeting house is with a cathedral—Harper's Magazine.

Save the Children's Teeth

Too much stress cannot be laid on attention to the first teeth. Parents are too often ignorant of how much the health of their children depends on the treatment given the deciduous teeth and say, "When the second set comes in we will see that the children have regular periodic examination and attention." Very often the first teeth are pulled instead of being filled, though just as much vigilance should be expended on them as though they were permanent teeth.

Do parents realize that it is necessary for the first teeth to be saved as long as possible, until the contour of the face and lines of the features become fixed? The health and regularity of the permanent teeth depend largely on the heed given to the "baby set." The beauty of your child, the health of your grown son or daughter may be made or marred by your knowledge or ignorance on this important point. Childhood is the impressionable age, and if children are taught the importance of properly caring for their teeth it will become a habit that will last through life and save suffering and expense.—Leslie's.

It's always safe to name a baby boy William. If he becomes a good boy people may call him Willie, and if he doesn't they can call him 'Bill.

The wise man turns up his sleeves and goes after a job, while the fool sits around and waits for the job to come to him.

History spends half its time in repeating itself, and the other half in getting itself revised.

"Safety first" is a good motto, but too many people wait until it's too late to be careful.

A pessimist likes a thing he can't enjoy, and an optimist enjoys a thing he can't like.

Most men would be content with their lot—if it were a lot of money.

But too many people get into an argument who have nothing to say.

It is easy for a man to be popular if he is easy.

"My dealer was right — they do satisfy!"

There's more to a cigarette than merely "pleasing your taste." Other cigarettes, besides Chesterfields, can do that.

But Chesterfields do more—they begin where the others stop!

Because Chesterfields satisfy!—they give you the true meaning of smoking!

Yet they're MILD!

This new combination ("satisfy," yet mild) can be had only in Chesterfields—because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend!*

A Sermon on Carelessness

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.

I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the nations.

I am more deadly than bullets, and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of sea guns.

I steal in the United States alone, over $300,000,000 each year.

I spare no one and I find my victims among the rich and the poor alike the young and old, the strong and the weak. Widows and orphans know me.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor, from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.

I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage earners a year.

I lurk in unseen places, and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.

I am relentless.

I am everywhere—in the house, on the street, at railroad crossings, and on the seas.

I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.

I destroy, crush and maim; I give nothing, but take all.

I am your worst enemy.

I am carelessness.

A man is always eating something he shouldn't and a woman is always saying something she shouldn't.

No man ever bought a horse that turned out to be just as represented.

Rather than waste kindness on an ungrateful man, lavish it on a dog.

The female of the species is the weeping expert of the human race.

The cost of experience is never fully realized until one goes to law.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the Qualified Voters of Charlevoix County:
 I wish to announce that I will be a candidate for the office of County Road Commissioner on the Republican Ticket at the primaries August 29, to succeed myself. I ask your support on the grounds of efficient and faithful work performed during the past years in office. I also believe that I am now better fitted to perform the work of road commissioner than ever before, and the county would benefit from the experience I have gained. All I ask is that you carefully inspect the record I have made. If, after doing this, it is your opinion that I deserve being retained in office, your support will be greatly appreciated.
EDWARD LORCH,

RAISE THINGS

When the farmer's family could raise what they ate, weave what they wore, fashion most of the crude implements they used, pay taxes in peltry or things other than cash, it was not necessary for the farmer to raise much to sell even if it were possible. But that day has forever passed away. The farmer of this century is a buyer of things—most of the necessities he and his family used to make and a host of implements machines, comforts, luxuries and pleasures. His taxes must be paid in cash. He is a part of an advanced and an advancing civilization, he wants to act his part and does so. He cannot bring all these things home from town unless he raises things to take to town in exchange for them.

Civilization demands that farmers raise things—for the sustenance of others, for the development of the nation, and especially for their own business and social advancement. The men who raise most at least cost, who find best markets for their products, who are not given to waste and extravagance, these men are the substantial farmers and solid citizens of our nation. They are creating wealth out of the soil, the sunshine and the rain without impoverishing any man or destroying any asset of civilization. Raising things is the cleanest kind of business. The farmer as an individual must raise things in order to live and prosper. Farmers as a class must raise things to exchange for the products of other men or else fall behind others in every way. And the measure of what farmers raise is the measure of their economic and social standing in all lands. The "poor white" of the southern mountains raises a handful of grain and a bite of hay for his beast of all purposes. He lives in a cabin and has missionaries sent unto him and his household. The farmer on fertile soil raises a surplus to sell, lives in a good home replete with conveniences and luxuries, gives his children an education, rides in an automobile and helps to pay the missionary to the man who can't produce more than a bare existence. That expresses the economic and social difference between raising things and not raising them. Let us raise things for the sake of ourselves, our families and our standing among men if for no higher reason—National Stockman & Farmer.

The Ready in a Minute Wife

"You ready, dear?" calls out the husband of the ready in a minute wife as he draws on his gloves. "It is time we were off. We'll lose the next car if we don't start right away."

"Yes dear, ready in a minute. I've nothing to do but—where's my gloves? I saw them a moment ago and I—where can those gloves be? Oh, here they are! I don't see what I laid them on that chair for! In just a minute now I will—where is my hat pin? I always leave it in my hat and it isn't there now! Couldn't you come up and look for it, dear, while I—what did I do with that handkerchief? I don't dare go without one when I feel as if I had a cold coming on! And you must keep near me so that you can carry it in your pocket. We women never have pockets any more. Where on earth is that hat pin? In just a minute dear. Don't be so impatient. There are other cars if we do miss this one, and—can't you come up and button my shoes for me, dear? I forgot that I hadn't buttoned them yet. That's a dear! I can draw on my gloves while you are buttoning my shoes and—where in time has that shoe buttoner gone? I always keep it right here on this little hook and it isn't there now! Who could have—no, you can't button my shoes with your fingers. I could do it with a hair pin but I don't believe that you can. You'll have to have that hook and it—here it is in this little drawer. I never put it there! I'll be ready as soon as—where is my fan? I won't go without it. It is so nice to have something in one's hands and—I was sure I had laid it on the bed and now—thanks, dear, for buttoning my shoes. Can't you look around a little for that fan while I am getting on my hat? And get my wrap out of the closet—the blue wrap with the black fur on it. Where is that puff ball? I must powder my nose a little. It is so red with my cold coming on. Does my hair look all right in the back? You sure you hooked all of the hooks up the back of my dress? Tom! To say a thing like that! Run down and get my rubbers out of the hall closet. I'll be ready in just a minute."—From Judge.

TO RESTORE CABIN

Frontier Home of Simon Kenton at Covington May Be Placed in Park
 Covington, Ky.—Patriotic orders here are interested in the restoration of the cabin of Simon Kenton, one of Kentucky's most celebrated pioneers. The cabin which is in Ninth street, is a rambling shack that seems entirely out of place among the excellent buildings which are its neighbors, and proponents of the "city beautiful plan" are for removing the cabin, without reference to its historical associations. Daughters of the American Revolution are engineering a movement whereby the cabin will be removed to one of the parts of the city and restored to its original picturesque ruggedness.

The cabin was built by the famous pioneer and Indian fighter in 1873 and has been occupied until 10 years ago. It is about 20 by 30 feet in dimensions, and has the half story, or loft, to which in early days those who slept above climbed by means of a short ladder.

The logs of the cabin are oak and cedar and have withstood the ravages of time remarkably well. The building has been added to by its various tenants until it now represents the handiwork of half a dozen carpenters, but the plan is to restore the building to its original lines when it is removed to the park.

Kenton was born in Virginia. He left his home there at the age of 16, because he thought he had killed a rival for the hand of a young woman. He crossed the Alleghenies and roamed for a time changing his name to "Simon Butler." He heard of the wonderful "Cain Land" called by the Indians "Kaintuckee," and decided to visit it. He met and became a friend of Daniel Boone, and once rescued Boone from the Indians.

AS OTHERS SAW ME

I died last week and owing to my transgressions it was decreed that I should become one of the subjects of his Sanatic Majesty.

I had been in his demesne but six days, when I received a twenty-four hour leave of absence to visit the earth. It was given me by Lucifer himself.

In spirit form with all things visible to me, yet invisible to all things save spirits, I again found myself in the sunlight of the world.

I floated in at the office where I had been employed. Another man sat in my chair. The manager was speaking to him. "If Jones hadn't died," he was saying, "I would have been obliged to discharge him. He was getting very inefficient!"

I departed hurriedly and headed for the club. "There at least," I thought "they would miss me."

Smith and Brown were playing poker as usual. I had always played with them. "Jones used to get on my nerves terribly when he played with us!" remarked Smith. "There was something irritating about that fellow!" Brown agreed with him.

Away I went again. "To my wife," I murmured, "Ah to my wife!" She was standing in the parlor looking very lovely in her mourning. Jimson, a man I had always detested, was standing close beside her.

"You must go now," she whispered. "Some day perhaps—" She did not finish. There seemed no need. I sped away through space.

A brother spirit drew near. He was traveling in the opposite direction. "Used up your twenty-four hours?" he called out.

"No," I answered, "I've only been on earth twenty minutes!"

"You seem to be in a terrible hurry to get some where," he shouted. "Where are you going so fast?"

"Back home," I replied.—From Judge.

WORE AN ALARM CLOCK! WHAT?

Merchant's Actions Described by Witness in Will Case.
 Baltimore, Md.—With an alarm clock suspended from a string around his neck, his head decorated with feathers like an Indian and his clothing on backward the late William Cohen, whose estate is valued at $100,000 used to march about the town of Highfield, Md., shortly before his death, according to witnesses in the city court, where the Cohen will is being contested.

Ralph C. Benschoff of Highfield testified as to those particulars of Mr. Cohen who was a retired clothing merchant. Benschoff said that he wore his collar backward, that his coat and vest were buttoned up the back and he carried a box full of pipes and tobacco in his arms.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Not less meat if you feel Backache? Have bladder trouble—Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

If a man has enough money to carry him thru he can get along without brains.

Sympathy may be all right in its place, but it can never take the place of ready money.
