G. A. R. AND W. R. C. OBSERVE WASHINGTON DAY.

What is more effective in patriotic exercises than the voices of children? What is greater proof of pride in the love of our country than lessons well taught?

Both questions might well be asked by all who attended the Washington Birthday party in the W. R. C. rooms on Saturday last. In behalf of the Corps, the Patriotic Instructor, Mrs. H. C. Swafford had presented the second grade with Old Glory. Mrs. Harrison had said that her boys and girls wished to say "Thank You" and would like to come to the lodge rooms if they might. They were indeed welcome. And how did they say "Thank You"? They sang songs, gave some yells for America and for the "Dries", and entertained the assembled guests with a playette, entitled "Our First American Flag." Commander Harrington spoke a few words in appreciation of their work to which both teacher and pupils politely responded.

Miss Stewart spoke a few words concerning the "Father of our Country" and what it meant for us then and means to us now that we had a strong leader at that time.

The surprise part of the program was that the ladies of the Corps had prepared a little party to accompany the formalities. Doughnuts, real homemade doughnuts, and good hot coffee, plenty for everybody, formed a treat that once more made everybody glad to be there.

MICHIGAN YOUNGSTERS BOOSTING LIVESTOCK

Raise Hundreds of Head of Calves, Sheep and Hogs, and Much Poultry.

East Lansing, Mich., Feb'y 24.—Hundreds of Michigan youngsters have become interested in building up the improved and purebred livestock industry and have commenced learning the things that will make them the leading farmers of the future as a result of work that has been done among them within the last year according to a report from the office of boys and girls clubs of M. A. C.

In the fiscal year 1918, the report sets forth, boys and girls in various counties were organized into 23 clubs for the raising of purebred calves; 22 clubs for the raising of purebred hogs, 14 clubs for the raising of sheep, and 65 clubs for the raising of poultry. At the same time they were instructed in the principles of improved livestock breeding and farming, and encouraged to make a beginning for themselves.

The amount of pork produced by the pig clubs was worth $5246.40; the total value of the eggs produced by hens owned by members of the poultry clubs was $9,690.60, the total value of beef produced by the calf clubs was $12,323 and the value of mutton produced by the sheep clubs was $2,146.50.

This work among the young people of the state is conducted by the department of boys and girls club of M. A. C. as an established feature of the extension service of the college.

A great politician courts influence; a great politician, votes.

Educational Standing of Our County School Commissioner, Candidate for Renomination on Republican Ticket.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
Miss May L. Stewart has been Commissioner of Schools for Charlevoix County for four years. She is now a candidate for re-election.

Miss Stewart's preparation for this responsible position has been thorough. In scholarship and experience she has accumulated a fund of practical knowledge fitting her in an exceptional manner for the work of standardizing the schools of the county.

In successfully organizing the schools, Miss Stewart has proved herself to be energetic both in establishing harmony and in insisting upon efficiency, progressive in the adoption of tried principles and energetic in their execution.

During the last two years Miss Stewart's war work has stood out in marked belief. The patriotic training given the students of the county, under her direction, will have much to do in developing the democratic citizenship of our youth for which our school system is established.

I endorse her candidacy without reserve.

Yours truly,
A. G. STEAD,
Supt. of Schools, Boyne City.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
Miss May L. Stewart, a candidate for re-election as County School Commissioner, is an enthusiastic, courageous, enlightened, up-to-date educator.

Her administration has been marked by many educational advances in the schools of the county; more standard schools, higher educational requirements for teachers, and improved text books.

I believe her past record as County Commissioner should entitle her to the support of the people at the coming election.

Signed,
SUPT. H. A. CRAIG, Charlevoix.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
I am pleased to have an opportunity to say a good word for Miss May Stewart, School Commissioner of Charlevoix County. During the time that I have taught school I have been more or less familiar with the work of several county school commissioners. From what I have seen of Miss Stewart's work, I believe she is the most progressive and educationally up-to-date of any commissioner I have known. The splendid work which she is doing and her realization of the big school problems which are coming forward, fit her unusually well for the important position of School Commissioner of Charlevoix County.

Very truly yours,
M. R. KEYWORTH,
Supt. of Schools, East Jordan.

Michigan Men To Come Soon

Eighty-fifth Returns In March and 32nd In May.

American soldiers will return home in the order of the arrival of their respective division headquarters in France, General Pershing announced in general orders made public today.

Among these scheduled for earliest return are the 85th and 32nd divisions, largely Michigan men. The former is due to sail in March and the latter in May.

Divisions bearing regular army designations will be excluded however. Unassigned combat troops together with supply and labor units will be returned in order of their service so far as they can be spared.

THIRTY-SECOND HAS FOUGHT 20 GERMAN "CRACK" DIVISIONS.

Below is reprinted an article relative to the Thirty-Second Division which was printed in several dailies of the middle west. It was originally an associated press dispatch.

When the American army of occupation started its march toward the Rhine on November 17, one of our crack divisions, the Thirty-second, was celebrating an anniversary. Just six months before this division first planted the American flag on German soil in Alsace. On May 10, Wisconsin and Michigan men came under enemy shell fire, and from that date to November 11, the division has outgaged Boche guns. Only ten days after its turn in the trenches the Thirty-Second chased the Boche from the Ourcq to the Vesle. Then it went to a sector north of Soissons and stormed Juvigny Plateau, fighting side by side with the heroic "poilus" of General Mangin. After that victory with the French it had a rest for ten days before getting ready for the final drive. The American army's scrap north of Verdun was but three days old when the Thirty-Second went in and for the next three weeks the Wisconsin and Michigan boys battled the Boche for Kreimhilde Stellung. It was they who finally broke through the key position of "La Dame Marie", from which they then pushed on to Freya Stellung pushing the Boche gunners out of Banthaville Wood. They carried the line up to the point where the final attack, on November 1, was launched, and followed in support of the divisions which crossed the Meuse at Dun and captured Stenay. In the last few days of the war the Thirty-Second went into line in the Meuse bridgehead sector, and with the French were in the midst of an attack when the armistice stopped fighting. During the war the division has fought on five fronts—Alsace, the Vesle, Soissons, Argonne and the Meuse—and has fought twenty of Germany's best divisions, among them the Prussian Guards. It has never yielded a yard of ground to the enemy's counter attacks.

His Experiences Overseas

Former East Jordan Boy was There Eighteen Months.

The Below article, written by a Detroit comrade, gives the experiences of Private Robert A. Bigelow. The young man is a nephew of Clyde Bigelow of this city and is at present visiting at the home of Charles Beebe. He was employed at Spencer's Plumbing Shop during 1915 and later joined Uncle Sams regular army, serving nearly three years.

To Robert A. Bigelow, Pvt. 1st Class, Co. E 18th Inf., 1st Division A. E. F. Home Address, Tustin Michigan, R. 3.

Robert Bigelow soldiered with me in Co. E, 18th Inf. and we went overseas together June 14, 1917, being the first American troops overseas. We left Hoboken, N. Y., on the U. S. S. Finland, and landed in St. Nazaire, France on the 28th of June, 1917. Then we went to the little village of Deluse, near Toul and Verdun, in fact we were so near Verdun that we could hear and see the flashes of the guns at night. We were on the western front at last. We were proud to be chosen from the American army as Pershing's first Division. We trained near Gondrecourt, and went into the lines late in Oct. 1917. There we were where the first American soldiers gave their lives for freedom, Ray Greshon and John Daley, of 16th Inf., our sister regiment. We swore we would revenge them, and we did sometime later at Cantigny.

After we left Lorraine, we went to the Toul sector, and had many small fights with Hinie. There we lost our first man, Pvt. Rufus Atkins, in a terrific bombardment, Jan. 1918. Later we were relieved and went to Picardy to help the French and British stem the advance of the Hun towards Amiens. We were sent to the Cantigny sector and held the front lines for twenty days under constant artillery fire and repeated attacks of the Hun. A great many of our men were killed there. We lost 90 per cent of our officers and sixty per cent of the enlisted personnel.

On May 3rd, the Hun shot 15000 mustard gas shells, and not one inch of ground did we give. They shot them into the torn up village of Villiers Tourneai; behind our position 800 men were gassed, most of them slightly, about two hundred died from the effects.

On May 28th, the 28th Inf. of our Division attacked the Hun position on Cantigny hill and captured the village killing or capturing all the Huns of the 71st and 72d Bavarians Reserve regiments. The Hun counter attacked nine times, the 18th Inf. supported the 28th Inf. and held all captured ground, but we paid dearly for it, losing 1000 men, killed or wounded in three days.

Pvt. Bigelow was wounded in this action, but refused to go to the rear until two days after when he went to the first aid station, where he had his wounds dressed and returned, at once to the front line.

Pvt. Bigelow risked his life repeatedly bringing up water and food to his tired comrades. He was a company runner and performed his duties in the face of many odds. Later we took part in the second battle of the Marne when I was wounded.

I met Bigelow later at Camp Custer and he told what happened after I was put out of action.

We were relieved two days after you left and went to Toul for a rest, we lost nearly all of our men. We went in with 240 men and 8 officers, and came out with 11 men and one officer, Co. E, 18th Inf.

"We then moved up and helped chase Hinie out of the St. Mihiel salient. That was pie for us older men, but the replacements thought it was war. They found out what war really was later. When we were in Toul sector I often looked at Mount Sec and often wondered what was on the other side of the hill. Well, I found out that Hinie had it fine. Electric lights, roomy dug-outs, canteens, lots of wine and beer, and everything a soldier could desire, especially in the front line.

On Oct. 4th, we went into the Argonne forest drive and it was plain Hell. We relieved the 36th Division and their dead were lying in hundreds all over the ground mingled with those of the Hun. Our company lost half of our men in the first charge, but we sure gave them hell with the bayonet when we got to close quarters with them. It made me feel sick, afterwards to think of the slaughter there. It lasted two days and Hinie cooled me with a six inch shell, I was lucky at that. The doctors were working day and night, and no-one can give our medical officers and men enough credit. They suffered and died and never had a chance to hit back.

Then I was shifted around in various hospitals in France.

Then returned to God's Country, Dec. 28, 1918.

I am glad it is over, but sad when I think of my buddies in France, who paid the full price for our victory. May they receive their reward in Heaven, where they never received it here. They did all that a man can do for Flag and honor of the regiment.

The above story is true in every respect. Pvt. Robert A. Bigelow was cited for his share in our victory, he was cited for bravery three times, and many times for his coolness and bravery in carrying a difficult situation through.

Signed,
SGT. CLEM R. WOODBURY,
formerly of Co. E, 18th Inf.

YOUR SOLDIER

It is for you, through endless nights Of mud and rain he stubbornly Plods on, head down, back bent beneath

And maddening roar where truth and lies

And love and hate and life and death All meet in war, red war! He loves And hates; and so he fights To all his love be true

Guard well your hearts And keep the faith, He fights for "You."

BEES STARVE, URGE ROCK CANDY RATION

Mild Weather Gives Honey-Gatherers Unusual Appetite.

East Lansing, Mich., Feb'y 24.—Large numbers of bees in many parts of the state are on the verge of starvation this winter because of the prevailing mild weather, according to B. F. Kindig of M. A. C., state inspector of apiaries. The unusual warmth is said to have made the honey-gatherers unusually active and to have caused them to eat up the stores of honey that otherwise would have served them until the flowers open in the spring.

"Unless many of these colonies are fed, the loss from starvation will be astonishingly high," declared Mr. Kindig. "As soon as the weather is warm enough for feeding syrup, the bees should be given a liberal allowance of it, made from two-parts-of sugar and one part of water.

"Hard candy is the most practical thing to use during the cold weather with bees wintering outside. The recipe for making this hard candy is as follows:

"To a given quantity of hot water slowly add an equal amount of granulated sugar. Bring to a boiling point as soon as possible and do not strafter the sugar is dissolved. A candy-makers thermometer should be at hand and the syrup should be boiled until it reaches a temperature of 275 degrees F. The syrup should then be poured into suitable pans lined with wax paper.

If directions have been carefully followed the resulting candy will weigh about the same as the weight of sugar used and it will be very hard, quite clear and of a light straw color. If by accident the syrup should be burned the resulting candy would be as poison to the bees and therefore should not be used. In order to prevent burning, the syrup should be allowed to boil more slowly as the temperature rises. This candy should be fed by placing it directly above the cluster on the brood frames."

To the Voters of Charlevoix Co.

I am a candidate on the Republican ticket for the office of Commissioner of Schools. If elected, I pledge myself to devote all of my time to honest and efficient service in the interests of the schools of the County. Your support at the primaries March 5th, will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,
AMELIA KADEN.

One of the battalions which took part in the recent capture of Jerusalem was the "Royal Scots." The regiment is probably the oldest line regiment in the world, and possesses the title of "Pontius Pilate's Bodyguard." The origin of this strange name is the legend that they are descended from a body of Scotsmen who were drafted into the Roman service and posted in Jerusalem at the time of the crucifixion. And now history repeats itself, and the regiment is to be found again on duty in the Holy Land.

Hunger, the most primitive of all emotions, according to psychologists, is the motive that supplies punch to many of the important scenes in Charlie Chaplin's new $1,000,000 comedy, "A Dog's Life," which will be shown at the Temple Theatre, Thursday, March 6th. At the opening of the story, Charlie is awakened from his outdoor sleeping quarters in a fence-corner by the tantalizing odor of steaming viands offered for sale by a passing hot-dog vendor. This leads to a number of spirited adventures with the police, who resent Charlie's ambition to eat without paying the usual fee. Later on, Charlie's faithful dog, famishing for something to eat, fashions up a well-lined pocketbook that some crooks have buried in the ground. And when Charlie attempts to spend the money that has thus been provided in a nearby cafe, he meets the big moment of his career, for it brings him into contact with a beautiful cabaret singer, who is herself starved for love and kindness.

School Commissioner's Notes

May L. Stewart, Commissioner

Bulletins sent out some time ago on "Backward and Delinquent Children" were blue penciled to indicate an interesting report plan by means of which the situation had been studied by the investigating committee. The system was helpful in studying local conditions and it is hoped that all teachers interested will leave in her register the blank indicating the proportion of her enrollment which is below grade. A few reports have reached this office but are not being filed here.

Interesting-school news was found last week in the notes from Hopyard, Marion, Maple Grove, Burgess, Barnard and Mountain schools. They were all allied with St. Valentine this year. How about other schools? We are sure the editor would welcome your items and the neighboring schools like to know what you are doing. It is good for the eighth grade English once a week and it is fine for school spirit.

The following report went in to the chairman of the chapter school committee this week.

Charlevoix County Wide Branch Junior Red Cross:

Total number of school auxiliaries, 65

Total number of Junior members, 14-11.

Amount Junior funds on hand July 1, 1918, $178.55

Amount collected since July 1, 1918, $361.78

Total amount of funds collected, $540.33

Amount expended since July 1, 1918, $142.92

Balance on hand Feb. 25, 1919, $397.41

Signed: Ethel Brintnall, Treasurer.

May L. Stewart, Chairman.

Chandler township meeting was also held the week in which others were called. Report of meeting reached this office late. Preliminary arrangements for spring exercises are now well under way in nearly every corner of the county.

Second term examinations are being given now according to the amount of work already made up by schools previously closed during sickness. Reports will not be sent to this office. The third term tests will be given on regular date for some time in April as in previous years. It is hoped that all schools may then be up to the course of study prescribed for each grade.

The attendance continues to be splendid throughout the county. The Robinson school reported no absence and no tardiness for two weeks. We are now looking for 100 per cent monthly record.

The commissioner worked in behalf of the county normal board in Boyne City last week and had the pleasure of visiting the ward schools, observing while there some very superior teaching. Thru the kindness of Supt. Stead also arrangements were made for a number work demonstration so that the commissioner observed Mrs. Miller's work with the Practical Number Method Chart. The author of the chart suggests a time record of 50 seconds per drill and altho the work had not been in daily use during the past month many of the children made 25 second records. This chart is now in use in over 90 per cent of our rural schools.

To the Voters of Charlevoix Co.

I am a Candidate on the Republican ticket for renomination to the office of County Commissioner of Schools and would like to meet the voters of the County personally as I did many of them four years ago for I thoroly enjoyed the campaign. However the duties of my office are heavy and I am now organizing the spring work of the rural schools which I love. It will therefore be impossible for me to meet many of you at this time, but I shall none the less appreciate your support at the primaries March 5th. If re-elected I shall endeavor to show my appreciation to you by continued effort in your behalf.

Very truly yours,
MAY L. STEWART.

PAY AND FILE INCOME TAX BEFORE MAR. 15

U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau Gives Warning That Severe Penalties Will Be Enforced.

WOMEN WITHIN LAW'S SCOPE; HOW THEY REPORT INCOME

The Income Tax drive comes to a close on Saturday night, March 15. All payments and returns due on that date under the provisions of the new Revenue Law must be in the hands of local Internal Revenue Collectors before their offices close that night. The Income Tax is being collected to meet the war expenses. Every person who shouted and footed his horn on Armistice Day is now called upon to contribute his share of the cost of winning the war. The laggards and the dodgers will face severe fines and jail sentences. The Internal Revenue Bureau announces that its officers will check us all up to see that every person who comes within the scope of the Income Tax law did his share.

Where to Pay and File.
Residents of Michigan will make returns and pay their taxes to James J. Brady, Detroit; or to Emanuel J. Doyle, Grand Rapids, Collectors of Internal Revenue, or to any of the deputy collectors who are doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

Payments sent by mail should be attached to the returns and should be in the form of check, money order or draft. Cash payments by mail are sent at the taxpayer's risk of loss. If you are unable to make your return personally because of illness, absence or incapacity, an agent or legal representative may make your return. If there are any doubtful points as to your items of income or allowable deductions, you should get in touch at once with a Revenue officer or a banker for advice.

Women Pay Tax.
Women are subject to all the requirements of the Income Tax. Whether single or married, a woman's income from all sources must be considered.

If unmarried, or if living apart from her husband, she must make her return for 1918 if her net income was $1,000 or over.

If married and living with her husband, her income must be considered with the husband's in determining the liability for a return. Their joint income, less the credits allowed by law, is subject to normal tax. The wife's net income is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Husband and wife file jointly, as a rule. If the husband does not include his wife's income in his return, the wife must file a separate return.

Severe Penalties.
The new Revenue Law places severe penalties on a person who fails to make return on time, refuses to make return or renders a fraudulent return. For failure to make return and pay tax on time a fine of not more than $1,000 is named, and 25 per cent of the tax due is added to the assessment. For refusing wilfully to make return, or for making a false or fraudulent return there is a fine of not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment of not exceeding one year, or both.

Farmers' Income Taxable.
Every farmer and ranchman who had a fair or a good year in 1918 must heed the Income Tax this year. He must consider all his income as taxable. He is entitled to deduct from his gross income all amounts expended in carrying on his farm. The cost of farm machinery, farm buildings and improvements cannot be deducted. The cost of live stock, either for resale or for breeding purposes, is also regarded as investment.

Overtime and Bonuses Taxed.
Salary and wage earners must consider as taxable every item received from employers and from other sources. Bonuses and overtime pay are to be reported, as well as the regular payments.

Allowances for Losses.
Losses sustained in 1918 and not covered by insurance are deductible items if incurred in the taxpayer's business or trade, in any transaction undertaken for profit, or arising from fire, storm, shipwreck or other casualty, or from theft.

Safety in Mushrooms

There is no simple test for distinguishing between edible and poisonous mushrooms, according to specialists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. For example, the common belief that any mushroom may be eaten with safety if the skin can be peeled readily from the cap is quite unfounded. Peeling of this character is possible with many poisonous species. The presence of insects on mushrooms, too, is no proof that they are safe for human consumption. Insects infect some of the most poisonous as well as some of the best species of fungi. Again, there is a common belief that if poisonous mushrooms are soaked or boiled in salt water they will do no harm. This is a dangerous and unfounded supposition.

The only safe mushrooms to eat are those which are gathered by a collector who knows exactly what he is doing. In order to make easier the all-important distinction between poisonous and nonpoisonous growths, the Department of Agriculture has published a new bulletin entitled, "Some Common Edible and Poisonous Mushrooms," Farmers' Bulletin 796. The illustrations and text of this bulletin should enable collectors to avoid doubtful species. The authors point out, however, that it is most important to pick only those which it is absolutely certain are harmless. No attempt should be made to gather rare forms or those species which are not readily recognizable.

The most common edible mushroom is known to scientists as agaricus campestris. This variety is not only cultivated commercially, but it is widely distributed and is abundant in the wild state. The cap is fleshy and hemispherical in shape, but later becomes expanded and nearly flat. It is smooth, in color white or light brown, and the flesh is white and firm. The gills are white at first, later become pink, and finally turn a blackish brown. The stem is stout, smooth, and furnished with a ring. This type of mushroom is readily recognized, but there is some possibility that it may be confused with an amanita, of which there are several varieties, most of them extremely poisonous. The risk of mistaking the common mushroom for one of these may be avoided if the fungus is not picked until the gills are pink or turning to brown. The gills of the Amanita remain white. These poisonous fungi, however, may be distinguished from edible mushrooms with white gills by the presence of a veil or of a volva, a membranous envelope or sack which completely surrounds the plant in the young state. After this volva breaks away a part remains on the top of the cap around its margin as scales and as a broken cup at the base of the stem. Certain edible varieties do have such volvas, but as they are rare and the poisonous species common and dangerous, the only safe plan is to leave alone all the fungi which possess this feature.

In addition to describing the varieties of edible mushrooms, the bulletin already mentioned gives a number of recipes for their preparation. Many people, it is said, believe that mushrooms are best eaten with no other seasoning than salt, pepper, and butter. The fungi may, however, be prepared in any of the ways which have been found suitable for oysters.

Recipes.
CANNED CORN—Pick corn before kernels harden, blanch on cob five to fifteen minutes. Cold dip. Cut from cob. Pack in jars lightly, one level teaspoon salt to a quart jar. Fill with hot water. Adjust rubber and top, partly seal and sterilize three hours.
DAMSON JELLY—Pick over, wash and drain damsons. Prick several times with a fork. Put in kettle with sufficient water to keep from burning and boil twenty minutes. Strain thru jelly bag. Allow one cup of sugar to one cup of plum juice and boil thirty minutes.
PLUM BUTTER—Prick plums with coarse needle. To each pound of plums allow one pound of sugar and one-half cup of water. Melt sugar in water, let boil and then add plums, a few at a time. Boil mixture for one hour. Place in small jars and seal.

CANNED PLUMS—To each pound of plums allow one-half pound of sugar. Wash and drain plums. Moisten sugar with water and place over fire in a preserving kettle. When boiling add the fruit, setting kettle on the back of the stove, where the plums will get heated thru and the juice commence to run before boiling. Remove scum as it rises. As soon as mixture boils up once take from stove and put in sterilized jar immediately. Handle carefully, so that plums retain their original form as much as possible. Adjust rubbers and sterilized covers and seal air-tight.

Recipes.
EGGS WITH MUSHROOMS—Slice mushrooms into halves, stew ten minutes in butter, season with pepper and salt and very little water; drain, put mushrooms in dish, break enough eggs to cover, strewn with bits of butter and bread crumbs and bake until eggs are well set. Serve at once.
CARROTS—Cook carrots in the following way: Slice them very thin, put them into a pan with enough butter to fry them; let them cook in this butter for about fifteen minutes; then add a tablespoonful of water; as this water boils away, add another; continue to add water until the carrots are done. Add to this a cream dressing and they are ready to serve.

Rest for Mothers.
The most important personage in the household is the mother. She is worth more to her children as a mother, a counselor, a close personal friend, a genial companion, a sympathetic teacher, wise and watchful guardian, than she can possibly be as a seamstress or cook. Let her be slow to waste herself in duties that are not supreme, or lose the preciousness of her home life by making herself a slave to what is not essential. Here is a piece of work she can do, but some beautiful purpose that might elevate her own and her children's lives could be accomplished in the same time, and must be set aside for it. What are her woman's wit and ingenuity for if they cannot help her to some device by which she can accomplish the double good of saving herself and assigning the work to some other woman's hands?
The mothers of our homes have too little rest, too little actual leisure; they are always under pressure of ceaseless duties, and they do not stop to consider whether it might not be wiser to accomplish less and make better workmanship; to drop a part of their efforts, with less divided aim, to the rest.

The mother does not even follow the teachings of her own best judgment in these matters. Other people decide upon her duties and plan her work for her, and she submits. She rebels perhaps, and protests more or less vigorously; but in the end she submits; and takes up the work somebody thinks she ought to do, or adds to her burdens this one thing more which somebody clearly sees she is ordained to carry. And so, harassed and hurried, and pulled hither and thither, she gets through life in the condition of the poor old soul to whom Heaven looked most attractive as a place where she was "going to do nothing forever and ever."

Needlework Notes.
A very pretty apron can be made of tan crash, finished with a feather stitching of golden brown, brown smocking and conventionalized potatoes on the pockets. Hamstitched straps and strings of the tan crash make sturdy harness. This makes a charming studio apron.
A yard of white oilcloth, half-yard width, at fourteen cents a yard, is enough to make the collar, cuffs and pocket flaps for a camping or outing costume. For the belt a strip of yard-wide oilcloth in a heavier width is necessary, but should not cost over five cents. The collar and cuffs are unlined, but pocket flaps and belts are backed with coarse muslin to make them firmer. The scallops are marked on the oilcloth with a spool, and a line of coarse cotton run through the outline to hold them firm so that they can be cut before being worked. A rather coarse embroidery floss is used for the scalloping and for the dots which fill the corners. The set as it stands is but one example of the many attractive washable affairs of oilcloth which should be developed. One need only scallop it; one could simply buttonhole the straight edge or stitch it and crochet through the stitching. Or it could be "pinked" with the scissors or bound with braid, or a hem turned and finished with colored machine stitching. Another idea is to stencil the set in oil colors which will not wash off.

Health Notes.
Blackberries contain a large percentage of iron and are a valuable remedy for summer complaint.
Sour milk is a satisfactory food. It contains ample nutrition; it is easily digested; it spares the body much energy; it is not wasteful; it is cheap.
If a poultice is needed in haste and there is no time to go to the drug store a good homemade substitute consists of hard spread thickly on a cloth and sprinkled heavily with black pepper.
If an insect sting remains in the wound, it must of course be removed, and then some alkaline should be applied to the part, such as a little ammonia water or bicarbonate of soda. The pressure of a hollow key will often push the sting above the skin so that it can be caught with a pair of tweezers.
One of the most refreshing things a woman can do when tired is to wring out hot cloths and lay them over her eyes and forehead. A hot water bag will not answer the same purpose. The simplest way is to have two cloths and a basin of hot water by the couch, and leave one cloth in the water ready to replace the one on the head as soon as it becomes cool. Fifteen minutes is long enough to continue this treatment. It is a good plan to rinse the face in very cold water immediately afterward in order to prevent the skin from becoming flabby.

For the Housewife.
Turpentine and soap will remove ink stains from linen.
When celery is scarce, cabbage chopped fine with plenty of celery seed will be found a fine substitute.
Paste for pies should be rolled very thin. Always brush the under crust with water, and be sure to perforate the upper crust.
To simmer is to boil slowly; if the liquor throws up bubbles above its surface it is boiling at a gallop and will harden any meat that is cooking in it.
To remove a furniture bruise, wet the part with warm water, double a piece of brown paper five or six times, soak it and lay it on the place, apply on that a hot flatiron till the moisture is evaporated. If the bruises on the furniture are not gone, repeat the process. After two or three applications the dent or bruise will be rubbed away with the surface.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Get less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble—Salts fine for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid which crotches and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eating of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids and flush of the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder disease.

In Order to Be Helpful to Public, Internal Revenue Bureau Has Every Available Officer in Field.

SEVERE PENALTIES IF YOU DELAY BEYOND MARCH 15

With the due date for Income Taxes only a few weeks away, the collection of this far-reaching tax on 1918 incomes has started off with a bang. Everybody is figuring income tax. Payments and sworn statements of income must reach Internal Revenue offices on or before March 15, and there are severe penalties for delinquency. Residents of Michigan will make returns and pay their taxes to James J. Brady, Detroit, or to Emanuel J. Doyle, Grand Rapids, Collectors of Internal Revenue, or to any of the deputy collectors who are doing free advisory work on income tax. "Pay your Income Tax by March 15," is the slogan of the Internal Revenue Bureau, which has sent every available officer into the field to help the public to understand the requirements and to prepare the returns.

Who Must Make Return.
It is estimated that many thousands of single and married persons in this section of the United States who have never before made annual returns are required to do so this year. Income tax returns must be made between now and March 15 by persons who come under the following classifications:

Any unmarried person whose 1918 net income was $1,000 or over. Widows and widowers, divorcees and married persons who are living apart from their husbands or wives, are for the purposes of the Income Tax classed as unmarried.

Any married person living with wife or husband whose 1918 net income was $2,000 or over. The income of both husband and wife must be considered, together with the earnings of minor children, if any.

Revenue Bureau Offers Aid.
Each person in the United States who is in either of these classifications must get busy at once if penalties are to be avoided. He should secure a blank Form 1040 A for reporting net income up to $5,000, or Form 1040 if his net income exceeded that amount. Forms are being distributed by Collectors and their Deputies, also by banks. By following the instructions on the forms a correct return can be prepared at home. If a person needs advice or aid, the Deputy Collectors in the field will furnish this without charge.

The new Revenue law places the Income Tax duty on citizens and residents. The Internal Revenue Bureau is sending its men to work right with the public to get the tax and the returns in. With active co-operation, every tax due March 15 will be paid and every return required by law will be in the Revenue offices on time.

Exemptions Allowed.
A single person is allowed a personal exemption of $1,000. If he is supporting in his household relatives who are dependent upon him, he may claim the status of the head of a family who has the same exemption as if married.

A married person, who lives with wife or husband, is allowed a personal exemption of $2,000. The head of a family is entitled to claim a similar personal exemption.

An additional exemption of $200 is allowed for each person under eighteen or incapable of self support, who was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer.

A husband and wife living together are entitled to but one personal exemption of $2,000. If they make separate returns, the exemption may be claimed by either or divided.

Accuracy Required.
Absolute accuracy is necessary in making up income figures. Any person who is working for wages should find out exactly how much he received during the whole year 1918. Fees, bank interest, bond interest, dividends, rents received, and all other items must be reported correctly. Mere guesses are not accepted, for they are unjust alike to the taxpayer and the Government, and defeat the proper administration of the law.

UNCLE SAM: "HERE'S THE BILL! YOU MUST PAY IT THROUGH VICTORY LIBERTY BONDS."

VICTORY LOAN AN APPEAL TO OUR BUSINESS SENSE

As a Business Proposition No Man Can Afford Not to Subscribe to Full Limit of His Ability.

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS, Author of "Tarzan of the Apes." There are an infinite number of excellent reasons why we should support the Victory Liberty Loan.

The finest sentiments we possess must prompt us to subscribe to this loan even more freely than we did to the others. The government must get money or it would not ask us for it. The man who was prompted to lead in the past through fear that if he did not the Germans might get over here and make it unpleasant for him is mighty "yellow" if he will not subscribe now that the danger is past.

Our response to previous loans indicated that we were thoroughly in accord with the principles for which we were fighting, and by our response we authorized the expenditure of the sums necessary properly to prosecute the war. These enormous expenses must continue for some time. The obligations involved must not be repudiated. They are our obligations as individuals and we must look upon them as such. It is not only a matter of necessity; it is a matter of personal honor for us to meet these obligations promptly and gladly.

On the other hand, there is in the Victory loan an appeal to our business sense as well as to our patriotism. There is the appeal to self-interest. For the loan is not to be without profit to us. We are given an opportunity to invest in an absolutely safe security, and we will receive a good rate of interest. As a business proposition no man can afford not to subscribe to the full limit of his ability.

And there is another reason why we should subscribe every cent that we can rake and scrape together. It is this: If the government cannot raise the necessary funds by the sale of Liberty bonds, it must do it by direct taxation. The government has the power to tax us to meet these obligations, and if we are taxed we not only will get no interest but we will never get the principal back again.

It seems to me that both the wisdom and necessity for fully and immediately subscribing this Fifth Liberty Loan must be obvious to anyone whose mentality is greater than that of a child of ten. We are supposed to be an intelligent people, capable of governing ourselves and others. We pride ourselves upon our business acumen, upon our energy and upon our patriotism. In the Victory Liberty Loan we shall have an opportunity to prove to the world that we are better than vain boasters, and that we are fully deserving of the estimate which we have placed upon ourselves as a people.

The time is here. The opportunity is here. The eyes of the world are upon us—upon you. What the world shall think of us depends not upon the action of others but upon what you do—YOU.

To Bring Soldiers Back.

Part of the proceeds of the Victory Liberty Loan are to be used to bring our soldiers and sailors back and restore them to the useful occupations of peace. Every true-blue 100 per cent American should have a part in this work.

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—
It's Not Time to Quit.
The Germans, not the Americans, were the quitters, but our work is not finished until we have brought the victors home. Let's finish the job by oversubscribing the Victory Liberty Loan as we did all its predecessors.

A Business Proposition

By WILL PAYNE.

Secretary Glass said the Victory Liberty Loan should appeal to the patriotism of the people of the United States and not be merely a business proposition.

Isn't that so? It was no business proposition that sent two million young Americans to France and made nearly two million more give up their time for more than a year to train for going. This Victory Loan is to pay for equipping them, sending them over, keeping them there, and fetching them back. Will you look one of them in the face and say, "As soon as you stopped fighting and I had given you three hearty cheers you became just a business proposition?"

But the loan is a business proposition, too—this way:

You are Uncle Sam—a hundred odd million of you, individually. Says Uncle Sam to himself, "I owe several million dollars—owe it now on due and maturing obligations that must be met to the last cent. My credit is practically unlimited. I can borrow that money of the banks. They've got to lend it to me. That will mean a huge inflation of bank credit—bank loans all swollen up with my paper—banks consequently in a poorer condition to take care of the ordinary business of the country."

But if I do borrow the money of the banks I've got to pay them back some time. There are only two ways in which a man can finally get out of debt. One way is to sell some property and pay up; the other way is to earn more than he spends, saving the difference. I have no property to sell. Can't sell the White House or the national forests. The second way is the only way for me. "Shall I borrow the money from the banks now and thereby put off the real settlement, or shall I hundred million individual Uncle Sams right now save out of their incomes and lend the saving to the collective Uncle Sam, thereby enabling him to pay the bills and wipe the slate, with no inflation, leaving the banks in sound condition to meet the needs of ordinary business?"

That is the question. It is your debt. You owe the money. Finally you've got to pay it in some fashion. To lend in on the banks now is the most expensive way temporarily to dispose of it. To save, individually, is the best and cheapest way. Even waiving patriotism, it comes down to a business proposition. Only the savings and subscriptions of the whole public can take care of the loan without inflation.

THE FUN OF SAVING MONEY.

The fun of saving money! Best fun in the world, once you get started. Great game, isn't it, where every player wins, always, and no one could possibly lose.

What's the fun consist of? What constitutes the fun of any good game? The planning, the struggle, the contest; the spirit of competition, emulation, excitement; the rush, the climax, the triumph of making goal.

What's the cost, the price of admission? Just the cost of any good game; time, energy, the letting go of nonessentials for the joy of realized ambition and success.

What's the reward? The game and its gaining. The bliss of fighting, climbing, fighting and climbing to winning.

What's the method? Begin and keep going. Make a start, set a goal and attain it. Start again and make the same goal in shorter period. Set a new and sterner goal and time limit and beat the record again.

Uncle Sam can't be best as a partner, game credits foot up before you know it, and it doesn't cost much to

TRADES MEN LEARN WHILE IN THE NAVY

HOW UNCLE SAM HELPS THOSE WILLING TO STUDY

Many Classes and Schools for Various Crafts—Technical Courses Are Offered.

Washington, D. C.—Uncle Sam is anxious to lend a helping hand to the young men in his employ and give a boost toward better things in his service and toward a higher place in civil life. With this end in view the Navy Department maintains schools in more than a dozen trades which are open to men who enlist for service on warships. The schools not only serve as a medium for the sailor to advance himself in the navy but equip him to earn a good wage if he returns to civil life.

Courses are offered to those willing to learn in electrical engineering, to the artificer, yeoman, hospital service, musician, commissary, machinist, coppermith, aeronautic and seaman gunner departments. Hundreds of young men who enter the Navy take these courses, and thru the work done while they are under pay gain advancement in the service and provide for the time when they return to civil life.

Electrical schools are located at the Brooklyn and Mare Island Navy yards. They are divided into two classes, general and radio. The lengths of the course for both classes is eight months, and students, either recruits or men from general service, may enter at any time. In order that a recruit may enlist for the electrical branch he must have a knowledge of either general electricity or be an operator of the Morse telegraph code or have sufficient foundation in radio telegraphy to be competent to keep up with the classes at school.

General electricians must know the names and uses of the various parts of the dynamo engine, and must be familiar with the ordinary types of switchboards and methods of wiring. Applicants for both classes must be able to write legibly, must understand elementary arithmetic and must be between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five.

Applicants for the radio branch must, in addition pass a creditable examination in spelling and penmanship, and the requirements in arithmetic include multiplication, division, simple proportion, percentage and square root. Testimonials as to good character and skill as an operator must be presented by the candidate, either from former employers or from the principle of the trade school where the candidate has been a student in either telegraphy or radio. He must be able to receive twenty words per minute.

Such recruits are immediately transferred to the electrical school, where the course of instruction comprises machinework, reciprocating steam engines, steam-turbine engines, internal-combustion engines, magnetism and electricity; dynamos, motors, motor generators, alternating currents and batteries. Members of the radio class are trained in all the duties of a radio operator and are given constant practice in the use of the mechanism employed in radio receiving and sending.

The artificer school is located at Norfolk, Va., Navy Yard and is composed of classes for shipwrights, shipfitters, blacksmiths and painters. The shipfitter class also includes the duties of plumber and fitter. The length of the course is three months for each class, excepting that of shipfitter which is six months. Recruits are admitted to the various classes of the artificer school, provided they know some one of the trades mentioned well enough to pass the examination, for the course of instruction is not elementary and requires previous knowledge of and aptitude for the trade.

An applicant for the shipfitter class should have had experience as a metal worker, be able to lay out work; know how to chip and chalk and drive rivets; understand the various rules for drilling and tapping; have some knowledge of pumping and drainage and be familiar with the required tools and their usage and care.

Applicants for the shipwright class should have some practical experience in carpentry and know the names of the tools used. The instruction is along the same line as for shipfitter, with the addition of cooperage, joiner work, repairing boats and spars, calking seams in wooden decks and cutting threads on bolts with hand dies.

For the blacksmith class, a candidate must have had some experience at the trade. He is taught welding in different ways, "jumping on" pieces, working angle-iron, making shackles, chain, bolts, rivets, mast-bands, eyebolts, pad-eyes, iron work for blocks and all the fittings likely to be required on board ship which would have to be made with a forge. Blacksmiths are also given special instruction in shackling and unshackling chain.

A candidate for painter must have had some experience as a painter and must know the rules for mixing paint and applying it. He is taught painting of iron and woodwork inside and out, cabinet and hardwood work and the mixing of all kinds of paint and stain by the different formulas used in the naval service.

MOTHERS TO BE

Should Read Mrs. Monyhan's Letter Published by Her Permission.

Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, sometimes I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought, I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia, I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. My baby when seven months old weighed 19 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good."—Mrs. PEARL MONYHAN, Mitchell, Ind.

Good health during maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Maybe its parents decided that the new league of nations is too young yet to need any teeth.
