Good Boat Service for East Jordan

Michigan Transit Co. Make Fine Proposition.

Does East Jordan want a direct boat service between this city and Chicago? It can be secured by a little effort on our part.

The Michigan Transit Company will give East Jordan a weekly boat service from Chicago providing there is sufficient interest shown among our citizens to warrant the venture.

Our Board of Trade have held a couple of meetings the past week with Mr. Carter, who represents the Michigan Transit Company, and after going over the proposition with him, have given it their unqualified endorsement.

The Michigan Transit Company now own the Steamer Kansas, which they operated last year. They now wish to enlarge by purchasing the Steamers Missouri and Manitou of the old Northern Michigan Transportation Company. The plan is to give East Jordan a weekly service of the Steamer Kansas and, should the matter develop farther, to put another of their boats in here.

The matter hinges on whether or not our business interests will give this their financial and moral support. Mr. Carter explains that no definite amount is required of us either in stock subscriptions or guaranteed freight tonnage. The main idea is to ascertain beyond doubt that the people of East Jordan want and will support such a venture.

Outside of the many direct benefits to be derived by such a service, the advertising value of such a boat service is unlimited. It may mean that finally the South Arm of Pine Lake, already sparsely dotted with summer resort cottages, will come into its own and the shores of this beautiful body of water lined with summer homes.

It is well worth working for.

APPRECIATES SUPPORT OF NEWSPAPERS ON GOOD ROADS

Hastings, Mich., April 21, 1919.

My Dear Mr. Lisk:

I shall not be contented until I have written to every editor in Michigan who has so loyally supported the constitutional amendment, to the end that we shall all have a better Michigan to live in and better roads to drive upon. The Michigan State Good Roads Association, who has had charge of the campaign, as well as the writer, feels under lasting obligation to you for your splendid support. The writer is most sincerely grateful because he is the author and draftsman of the amendment. To know that it passed both branches of the Legislature without opposition, and that it has been ratified by the voters at the polls by the largest vote ever given for any measure, is certainly most gratifying to me and to the Association I have so long served. To the splendid support of the press we owe much for the splendid results, and I assure you are most profoundly grateful. The people of Michigan are grateful to you.

Very sincerely yours,
Mich. State Good Roads Ass'n,
P. T. COLGROVE, President.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank the East Jordan ladies most sincerely for the beautiful flowers in token of your sympathy in the loss of my beloved wife.

Need Improvements at School

Efforts Being Made To Start Building Program.

The Improvement Club and the Study Club, two women's clubs of East Jordan with a total membership of nearly seventy, have launched a program to bring about much needed improvements in our local schools. They have adopted a series of resolutions which embody a very extensive but nevertheless necessary field of improvement. The resolutions are as follows:

The following resolutions have been passed by both the Improvement Club and Study Club:

That we favor the new school program which will include an extension to the playground and an addition to the present high school building.

That we assume the responsibility of placing school girl help—that each club appoint two members and ask Mrs. Swafford to become a member of this committee.

That we give Mrs. Swafford aid in meeting her calls for clothing and food for needy school children.

No doubt the building program is one which will create the keenest interest on the part of the voters of East Jordan. Just what will be the definite plan of building has not yet been fully decided but is being studied at the present time.

The present school buildings are inadequate in several respects. Not one of the buildings in the city has an adequate system of ventilation. In fact, the ventilation is so poor that it may almost be said that there is no system of ventilation in any of the buildings at all. Most of the rooms are not properly lighted. This is especially true in the old brick building where some of the rooms are altogether too dark and all of the rooms are not properly arranged. One corner of the old building is very much dilapidated. In fact, the walls on both sides of the corner are cracked from top to bottom and as the walls stand only on the ground it would not be surprising if at any time the entire corner of the building fell to pieces. Either a new building must be put up or this corner of the building must be repaired if such a thing is possible. To make the old building anything like a modern school building would require not only the repairing of this corner but also reconstruction of windows and installing of a fan system of ventilation. Unless the building is overhauled and repaired it is but the question of a very few years before it will be entirely useless.

The question that is being studied at the present time is whether it is better to build an addition to the new building and repair the old building or to tear the old building down and construct a new building in its place. Voters should go and inspect the old building and see the condition that it is in. There is absolutely no question but that within a very short time something must be done. Is it better to do it now or to wait for a year or two when necessity forces it?

The plan for enlarging the playground is essentially as follows: There is a block of level land directly east of the school house block. This land can be purchased at a reasonable price and can be fitted up for a baseball diamond and a football field. It is possible that the streets between the two blocks can be closed thus making one good sized playground. The baseball diamond could also be used by the public during the summer.

The East Jordan school building and playground are among the poorest of any city of its size in Northern Michigan and possibly in the entire State. The improvements here suggested are greatly needed and sooner or later must be made if East Jordan is to hold a permanent place as a good school city. The Improvement Club and the Study Club have started a movement that should be given thoughtful consideration by every voter in the city.

Will We Get An Armory?

Legislature Sets Aside $60,000 For East Jordan.

A dispatch from Lansing in the Grand Rapids Press of last Monday has stirred up considerable interest locally. It stated that $60,000 had been set aside for East Jordan for an armory because of its army and its naval unit. The matter hinges on a suitable site being offered the state, according to the dispatch, and steps were at once taken by our local people to investigate the matter. Below is the article in full:—

Lansing, April 19.—The house passed the armory bill under which $240,000 is made available during the ensuing year for armories in seven cities, Big Rapids, Ypsilanti, Port Huron, South Haven, Alpena, Adrian and Lansing. Lansing will get $60,000 and has raised $40,000 by private subscription so as to insure a $100,000 building. Alpena has raised $50,000 and thus will have an $80,000 building. All these towns have delivered, or will soon deliver deeds of sites free to the State. The sum of $150,000 is appropriated for the following year for armories in the following towns: Houghton, Cheboygan, East Jordan, Jackson, Monroe, Menominee and Sault Ste Marie. None of these have delivered deeds and the first five to do so will get $30,000 each, except East Jordan, where $60,000 is provided because of its naval unit.

Therefore, I, ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside

Friday, May Second, 1919, as Arbor Day and I request that trees be planted, as indicated above, in memory of our heroic dead.

I particularly request too that in all Michigan schools appropriate Arbor Day exercises be held, following, so far as may be practicable, the community program outlined by Mrs. Dora H. Stockman in Moderator-Topics of April 10, 1919.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this seventeenth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-third.

Arbor Day Proclamation

A Victory Elm Should Be Planted in Each Community.

The observance of Arbor Day dates back more than half a century, and from the beginning it has had a civic motive and a patriotic association. This year, more than ever before, we have a season to give the day a patriotic setting. The great world war is over. Our soldiers and sailors and marines most nobly bore their part in the struggle. Many of them made the supreme sacrifice. Costly monuments will arise to commemorate their deeds, but meanwhile we can perpetuate their memories in familiar places. It has been happily suggested that we should adorn our yards, our waysides and our parks with young trees, each named for some one of Michigan's fallen sons.

It has been further suggested that in every city and village and township a Victory Elm should be planted to commemorate the great triumph of Freedom and Democracy.

It is fitting too that I should at this time call attention to the fact that Act number Fifty-nine of the Public Acts of 1919 makes it unlawful for any one to keep upon his premises mahonia bushes, or any other variety of barberry bush which harbors and spreads the black rust of wheat and other grains. I therefore, recommend that these noxious shrubs be dug up and destroyed and their places given to harmless ornamental shrubs.

Therefore, I, ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside

Friday, May Second, 1919, as Arbor Day and I request that trees be planted, as indicated above, in memory of our heroic dead.

I particularly request too that in all Michigan schools appropriate Arbor Day exercises be held, following, so far as may be practicable, the community program outlined by Mrs. Dora H. Stockman in Moderator-Topics of April 10, 1919.

A Celebration of Victory

Will Be Feature of Our Next County Fair

EWINGS ZOUAVE BAND And Many Other Big Free Attractions Offered.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society was held at the Secretary's office at East Jordan, on Tuesday, the 22nd day of April. It was decided to make this year's Fair in the nature of a celebration of Victory and a welcome for all our returned Soldier Boys, and to engage Carlisle's Frontier Shows and Ewings Zouave Band for the free attractions and music.

The Frontier Shows are in the nature of Wild West performances and will provide ten different programs for Fair week, among the acts being the capturing of the horse thief, exhibition fancy riding, riding a bucking bronco, an educated horse, etc. This company also brings with them tent shows to be placed on the mid way and which will provide clean entertainment for the patrons of the Fair.

Ewings Zouave Band comes from Campaign, Illinois. Is handsomely uniformed, is composed of professional musicians, has with them Miss Alma Huntley, a lyric soprano with a voice especially adapted for singing with a band. Mr. Turner Hearing, trumpet soloist, has been with the organization for eight years and ranks with the foremost trumpet soloists of the United States. This organization has been for the past fifteen years, playing on the larger Chautauqua circuits and at the larger Fairs and will be a real treat for lovers of good band music.

A number of changes in the grounds were provided for. The executive committee voted to build an addition to the educational building, costing approximately, Two Thousand Dollars, and appropriated Five Hundred Dollars toward this addition, the balance to be raised by popular subscription. This addition will make the building in the form of a double cross and will provide an auditorium thirty feet by sixty feet. The south wing of the building will be a model standard school house completely furnished and equipped and should prove to be a great benefit to all country school districts in the county.

The entrance to the grounds is to be changed in such a manner as to relieve the congestion at the gate. The fence at the gate will be dropped back, permitting room for the jitneys to turn around without interfering with the cars going into the grounds. A double entrance for cars and entrances and exits for foot passengers and cars provided for.

It was also decided to build a new ticket office and judges stand, and to provide ticket offices in the business district of East Jordan, on the road to the Fair grounds so that the patrons may buy their tickets without blocking the entrance to the grounds.

The price of admission was changed from the old price to Fifty cents, for adults and fifteen cents for children, no charge to be made for cars and teams entering the grounds and this entitling patrons to attend both the day and night Fair if they remain on the grounds. The charge of twenty-five cents is made for the night fair.

This mid way will be well taken care of this year. The association having contracted with the Collins Amusement Company for a merry-go-round, ferris wheel and six good, clean side shows and at least twenty additional concessions. With this as a starter the association is assured of a mid way such as has never been seen on any of the Fair grounds of Northern Michigan.

Everything points to the largest and most successful Fair ever held. Even Hicks consenting to assure good weather for Fair week. The association is especially desirous of having the exhibition buildings filled with the best productions from every section of the county and urges all farmers, stock men, poultry men and fruit raisers, all housewives, all canning and garden club members, pupils and teachers in the public schools, in fact all citizens of the county to keep their County Fair in mind and make plans for each to contribute his or her share to the success of the Fair.

Let us make this Fair a real County Fair and such a one as has never been held in this County. The dates are Sept. 16—17—18—19.

Headquarters Thirty-Second Division, American Expeditionary Forces, Rengsdorf, Germany, March 28, 1919.

General Orders, No. 23.

1.—It is with sincere pleasure that the Division Commander publishes to the command the following letter from the Commander-in-Chief:

"American Expeditionary Forces, Office of the Commander-in-Chief, France, March 24, 1919.

Major General William Lassiter, Commanding 32nd Division, American E. F.

My Dear General Lassiter:

"Please extend to the officers and men of the 32nd Division my sincere compliments upon their appearance and upon the splendid condition of the artillery and transportation at the review and inspection on March 15th. In fact, the condition of your command was what would be expected of a division with such a splendid fighting record.

"After training for several months following its arrival in February, 1918, it entered the line in Alsace and held this sector until the time of the Aisne-Marne offensive, when it moved to that active front. On July 30th, it entered the line on the Ourcq, and in the course of its action captured Gierges, Bellevue Farm and the Bois de la Planchette. The attack was resumed on August 1st, the division pushing ahead until it crossed the Vesle, and captured the town of Fismes. On August 28th, it again entered the line and launched attacks which resulted in the capture of Juvigny at the cost of severe casualties. During the Meuse-Argonne offensive the 32nd Division entered the line on September 30th and by its persistence at that sector it penetrated the Kreinhilde Stellung, taking Romagne and following the enemy to the north-eastern edge of the Bois de Bantheville. On November 8th, the division took up the pursuit of the enemy east of the Meuse until the time when hostilities were suspended.

"Since the signing of the Armistice the 32nd Division has had the honor to act as a part of the Army of Occupation. For the way in which all ranks have performed their duties in this capacity, I have only the warmest praise and approval. The pride of your officers and men, justified by such a record, will insure the same high morale which has been present in the division during its stay in France. I want each man to know my appreciation of the work he has done and of the admiration in which he is held by the rest of his comrades in the American Expeditionary Forces.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) JOHN J. PERSHING.

2. This order will be read to the troops at the first formation following its receipt and will be posted upon bulletin boards.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustrous appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

TURN "BUSY BERTHAS" INTO VICTORY MEDALS

Workers of the Victory Liberty Loan Will Be Decorated for Helping Uncle Sam in the Big Victory Drive.

The "busy Berthas" that spat their hell at Verdun are silent. Their fate has been decreed. They are to become medals of honor conferred by the treasury department on volunteers in the Victory Liberty loan army.

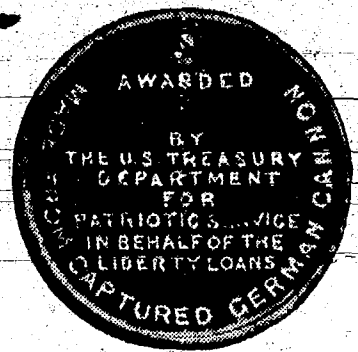

The mighty Krupp masterpieces are being melted up to make Victory Liberty loan medals. On one side of the medal will be a reproduction of the Purchasers of Victory loan securities will not receive these medals, as the bonds are intrinsically worth all the buyer pays. However, those who volunteer to sell the Victory issue to their neighbors and associates will be awarded one of these medals. The only restriction is that the medal will go only to those who in advance of the drive are authorized to perform the work of distributing the Victory Liberty loan among the people.

If you want one of those medals, your Distinguished Service Cross as it were, for service in Uncle Sam's financial army, it behooves you to hustle over and see the chairman of your Victory Liberty loan campaign and tell him you are on the job.

Some of the medals have just reached the Seventh federal reserve district. A large quantity of them will be available for distribution before the campaign begins.

HELP "FINISH THE JOB."

EUROPE TO SEND GREAT MEN HERE TO HELP

Many Prominent Military Leaders and Statesmen of Allied Countries Will Come Over to Speak for Victory Loan.

Fresh interest is contributed to the coming Victory Liberty loan campaign by the announcement that many eminent military leaders and statesmen will come here from Europe to speak for the loan.

It is reported that the great interest and support evinced by the alien population in previous loan drives is responsible for the decision resulting in the speakers being brought here.

Felix J. Streyckmans, federal reserve director for the Liberty loan-foreign language division in the Seventh district, on his return to the district headquarters in Chicago, after conferences in Washington, issued the following statement:

"Many prominent Europeans will visit this country during the coming loan drive and bring the message of victory to their Americanized countrymen. I regret that I cannot announce names at this time, but they will come through Washington after acceptances have been received. The invitations are being sent through the state department, working in conjunction with the diplomatic representatives.

"We want these foreign men of affairs to visit us not only as an expression of thanks to our own foreign-born for their support during the war, but so that they get first-hand information from their own countrymen as to the changes that have been occasioned in their native lands by the world war."

While Mr. Streyckmans was noncommittal regarding the identity of expected visitors, it was learned from an authentic source that some of them have achieved world-wide recognition in affairs of state, while others have leaped into prominence by their spectacular participation in the great war.

HELP "FINISH THE JOB."

Our boys fought hardest in the last few hours of the war and won the great battle for humanity. They did not quit us in the final test of their bravery, and we cannot quit them now, in the supreme test of American patriotism—the patriotism of peace—the Victory Liberty loan.

"They shall not perish"

President Wilson has asked all Americans to rally generously to the support of the Committee for Relief in the Near East. The need is urgent. Four million refugee women and children, the victims of Turkish lust and brutality, are starving and dying.

There is only one possible source of help—America. The other nations of the world can scarce blind up their own wounds. Upon what we do—and I depend the lives of these millions of helpless women and children. They must not perish—they shall not perish.

The Government has asked the Committee for Relief in the Near East to undertake the rescue work among these victims of Turkish oppression. During the past year the Committee has cared for over 900,000 refugees who otherwise would have perished.

There are now 4,000,000 dependent upon the Committee for relief. Of this number 400,000 are children, many of

I, therefore, again call upon the people of the United States to make even more generous contributions than they have made heretofore to help re-establish these ancient and sorely oppressed people in their former homes on a self-supporting basis.

"What's the Matter With Michigan?" Asks Spillane, of American Committee

Detroit, Mich.—With such far less prosperous states as Arizona and Virginia over-subscribing their quotas of the American Committee for Relief in the Far East Fund by from seven to 63 per cent, Michigan, with only 38 per cent of its quota paid-in, is among a few laggard states which have not yet gone over the top, according to a statement made by James J. Spillane, state chairman of the organization.

"What's the matter with Michigan?" asks Mr. Spillane, and answers his question as follows:

"The matter with Michigan is that a few county war boards which have been doing heroic service for many weary months are either disbanded, or did not make allowance for the American Committee when their campaign for funds was on.

"These boards, being unwilling, or unable, to do anything for the American Committee in their respective counties, it devolves upon the American Committee to go into these counties and, working through some such organization as the local Rotary Club, or other live body of men, put over its own separate campaign.

"Now, the most pleasant fact about the whole business is that the quota of the individual county is very small in proportion to that county's wealth.

"The quotas of some counties which have not gone over the top by the way, is only $60. In counties like Berry, Cass, Branch and Allegan, the quota is of course larger, but still very small in proportion to that county's wealth. In rich Oakland county, for instance, the quota is a little over $13,000; in Washtenaw, not quite $10,000. In Monroe, about $8,000, and so on. Wayne, with its quota of $200,000, has given it without a hitch, and gladly. Every county pays its equal share, proportioned on that county's wealth.

"When the campaign started, I—a Michigander with a Michigan man's pride in his state—thought that we would certainly over-subscribe our quota. I was so familiar with the sufferings of the Armenians and so earnest myself that their sufferings should be relieved, that I naturally thought that every man who heard their story would respond generously. But, as I have pointed out, it has been impossible for some counties to do anything for the sufferers from famine and pestilence in the Near East, and we must go to the expense and time-taking effort of reaching these counties individually.

"To carry on this work a minimum of $30,000,000 is needed immediately.

Where Your Money Goes.

Give! Every penny of every dollar you give goes to relieve the suffering of some starving refugee. None of it is used for administrative expenses either here or abroad. These, even to the cost of cabling the money—are met privately from funds especially solicited for the purpose. During the past year the Committee has spent in actual relief work $50,000 more than it has received in contributions, the difference representing the interest on daily balances.

The money is cabled to the field through the American State Department, and is administered there by United States Consuls, American educators, doctors, and other responsible agents already on the ground and thoroughly familiar with the needs. No direct money aid is given.

What Your Money Buys.

The funds are used for the purchase of food, clothes, and other supplies absolutely essential if America is to save these stricken Eastern peoples. $30,000,000 will feed and clothe for six months three million refugees, all in desperate need, and all entirely dependent upon American aid for the bare necessities of life.

In addition, it will restore to their homes the nearly two million of these refugees now in exile in Egypt, the Caucasus, Persia, and the remote districts of Turkish Empire.

It will buy seed, farm implements, cattle and sheep to enable them to become again an industrious, self-supporting people. If this program is carried through, the present sufferers will within a year need little or no further help from outside.

Seventeen cents a day, $5.00 a month, $60.00 a year will keep one of these unfortunates alive. Can you save less than one life?

Make your contributions payable to American Committee for Relief in the Near East. (Formerly American Committee Armenian-Syrian Relief.) James L. Barton, chairman; Chas. R. Crane, Wm. H. Taft, Chas. E. Hughes, Henry Morgenthau, Samuel T. Dutton.

Every dollar subscribed goes to the Relief Work.

All expenses are privately met.

All funds are cabled through the Department of State.

All funds are distributed through U. S. Consuls or American Agencies.

Our Government is prevented from giving aid.

The Red Cross is not organized for Relief Work in these sections.

British "Tommies" to Act as Big Brothers

Bagdad—British tommies and American civilians co-operating in the care of little Armenian orphans is a good augury of the new internationalism that is being born. The American Committee for Relief in the Near East, states that from the very start of the Marshall-Bridge-Refugee Camp work, the British military cared for the most pressing wants of these people. Since the military had undertaken such care, and for reasons more than purely humanitarian the American committee felt it unwise to expend much money there, and have limited activities to organization of simple industrial work, the largest industry of which has afforded a financial return which to some extent reimbursed our wage payments.

In a splendid way a military machine has been devoted to the provisioning, tenting, and medically caring for over forty thousand destitute Armenians and Assyrians. The attitude of many officers and "Tommies" is splendid.

There is, for instance, an orphanage which has been gathered over seven hundred "kiddies" of Armenian and Assyrian stock, uncared for, and unclaimed, by anyone. Lieutenant Hopkins' men have never had a stranger task, as soldiers. They go to fight; they end their Mesopotamian career in caring for homeless little girls and boys, and in teaching the manual of arms (with staves) to a group of romping youngsters.

"O, we'll take care of the kids all right," one corporal remarked. "They say as 'ow beauty is only skin deep, so I'll take back to Blighty the ugliest one of the lot."

There is a big brother movement growing up within the limits of the area devoted to the orphanage tents.

There have been many smaller children, recently in a hospital, and too weak to stand the rigors of the cold weather in the tents. These, and the more puny ones from the orphanage have been transferred to the orphanage houses (in number, three) maintained by the Committee in Bagdad. In all, about fifty have come, and their care under the charge of matrons sent by the Camps has been arranged for.

Aden—"Going into Persia last June I saw many evidences of the severe famine of the winter of 1917-18," says Addison Southard, American consul here. "On the first day across the frontier, at Kasr-i-Shirin, our convoy of military motor trucks stopped for the noon rest. I sat upon a truck to have my lunch which consisted mainly of a tin of baked beans. I opened the tin and skimming off a spoonful of beans from the top, because they looked unfit to eat, threw them into the thick dust of the sandy road.

"I had not noticed the ravens, looking villagers who had gathered around in the meantime; but when I threw the spoonful of beans into the dust there was a sudden rush as a dozen men and women, so weak that they could scarcely stand alone, threw themselves into the road in a wild scramble to get the bits of food which I had just thrown away. Each grabbed a handful of the sandy dust which might contain a bean, and crammed it in to his or her mouth.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time.

I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADELINA B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I. Backache and nervousness are symptoms of nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

It may be perfectly safe to 'play with fire' if you are expert in the playing. It's the amateurs that get into trouble.

HE ESCAPED INFLUENZA

"Last spring I had a terrible cold and gripe and was afraid I was going to have influenza," writes A. A. McNeese—High Point, Ga. "I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It was a sight, to see the phlegm I coughed up. I am convinced Foley's Honey and Tar saved me from influenza." Contains no opiates. Good for children.—Fite's Drug Store.

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a spoonful of Limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of Limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

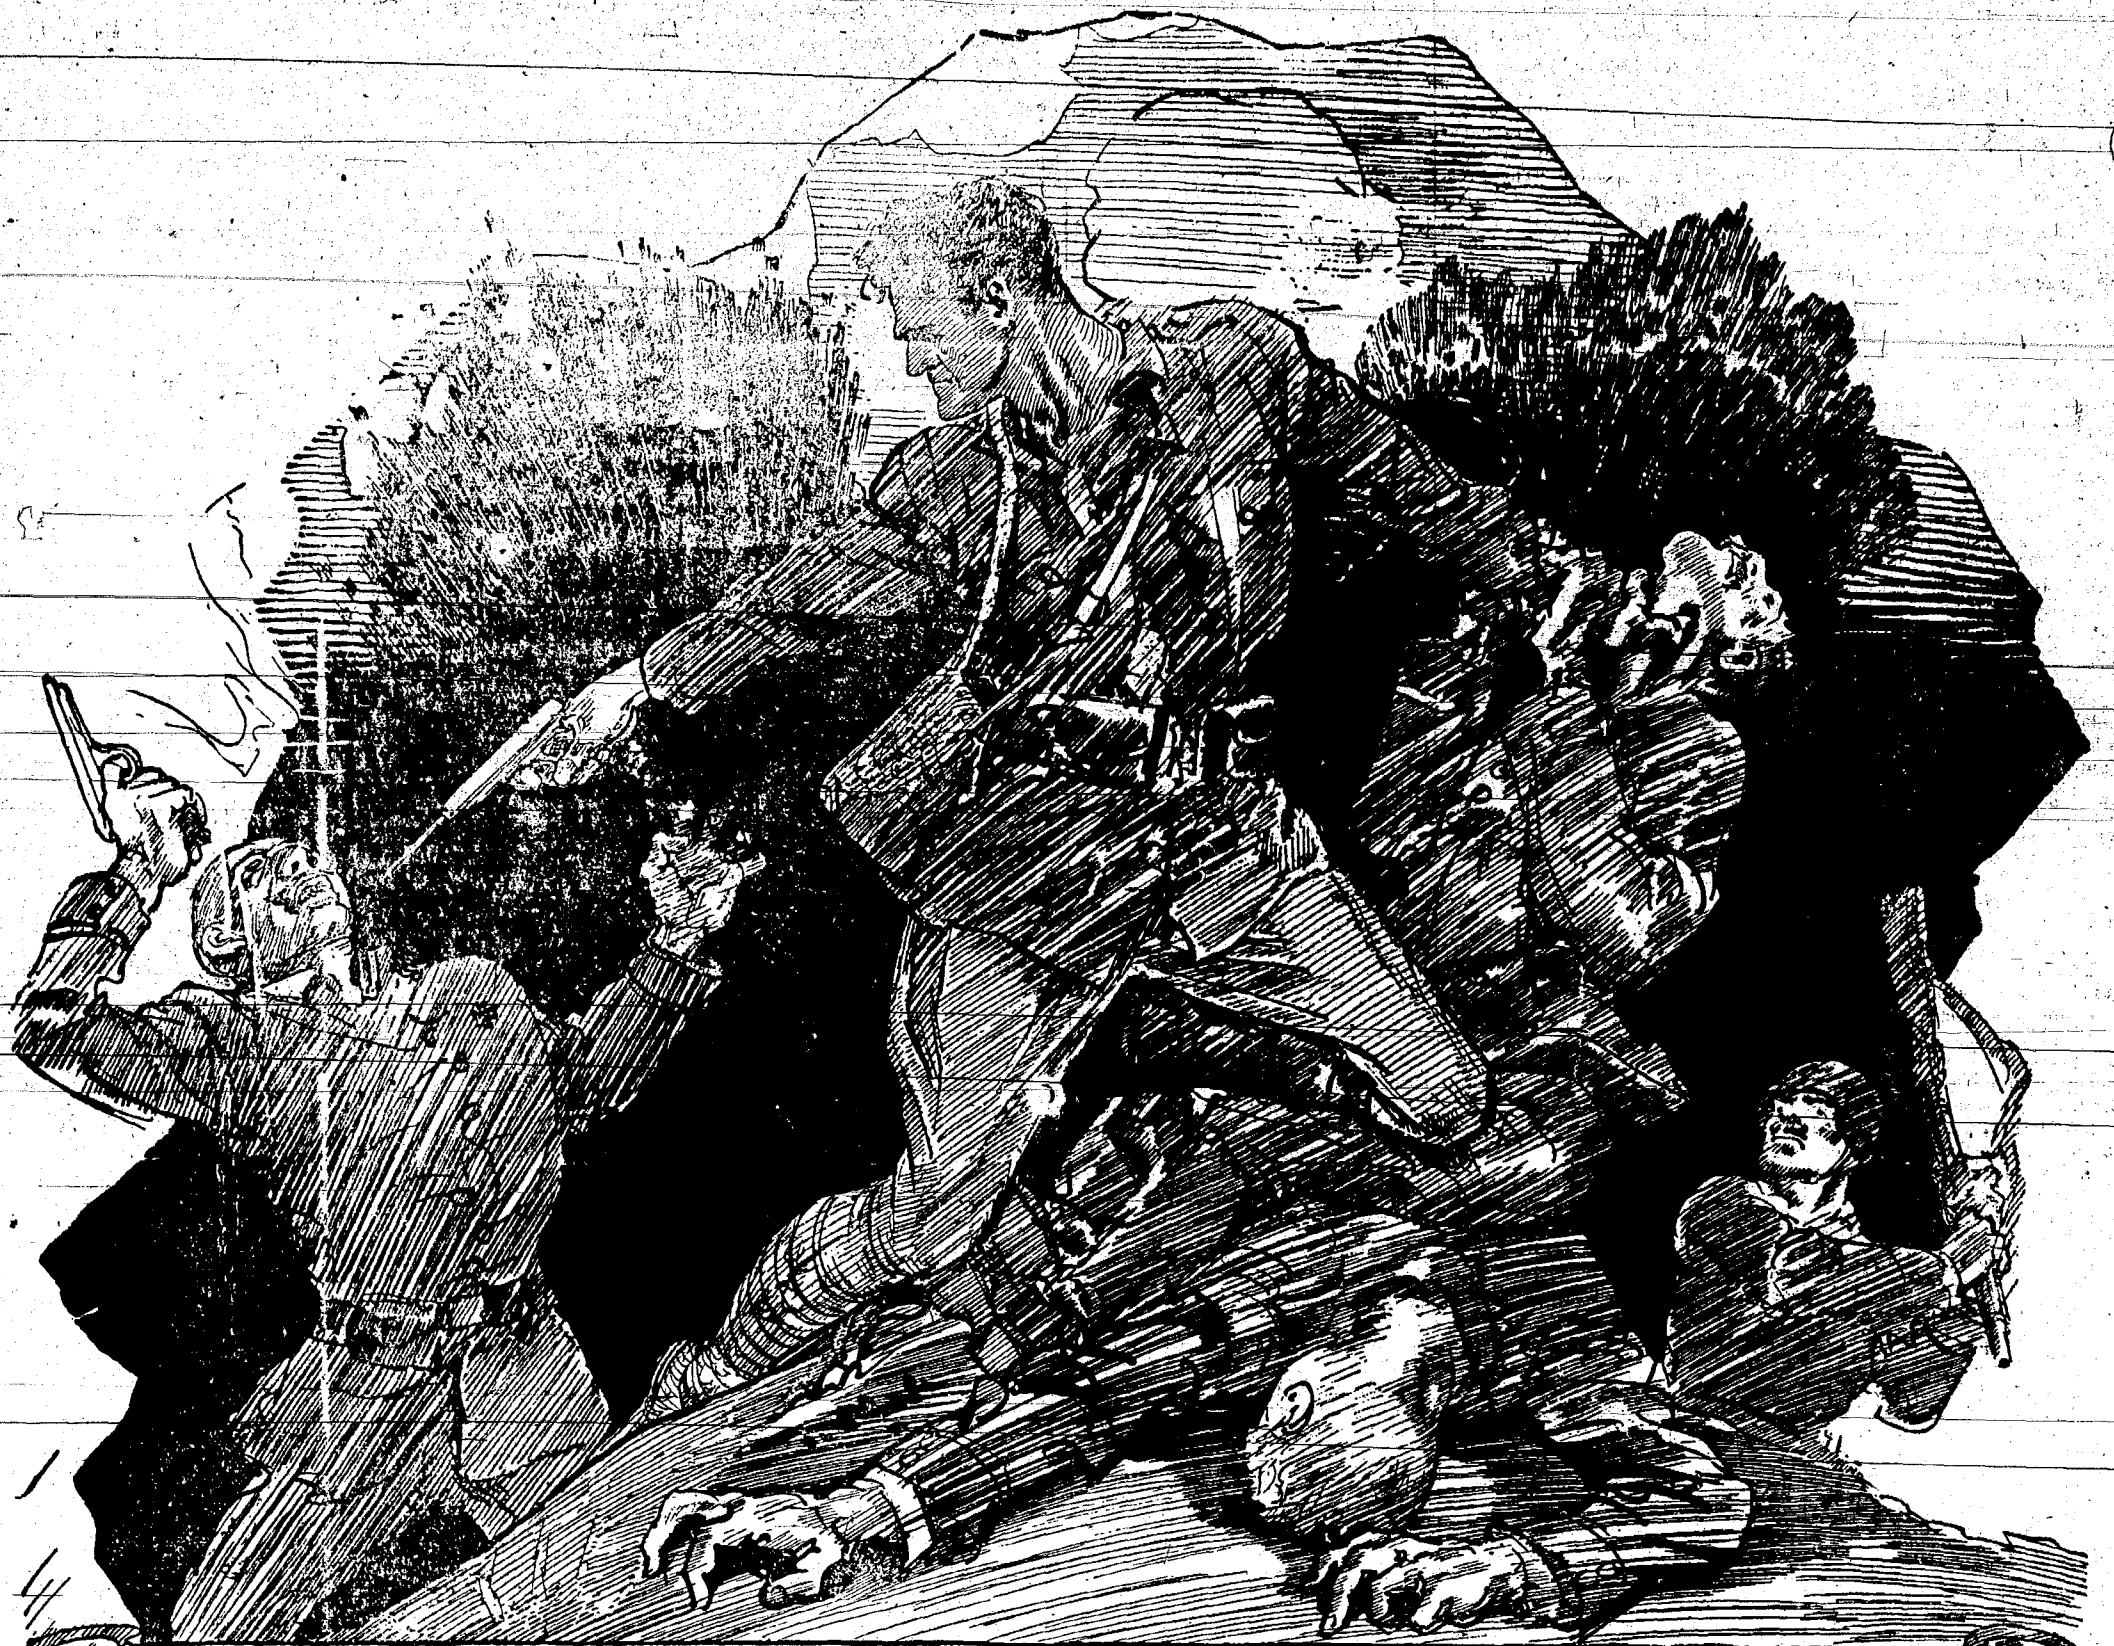

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for generations to cleanse and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad-Salts is inexpensive, effective; it makes a delightful afternoon little-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

When this objective had just been gained after bitter fighting, and the summit of that strong bulwark in the Kriemhilde Stellung was being organized, Private Neibour was sent out on patrol with his automatic rifle squad to enfilade enemy machine-gun nests. As he gained the ridge he set up his automatic rifle and was directly wounded in both legs by fire from a hostile machine gun. The advance wave of the enemy troops counter-attacking had about gained the ridge, and although practically cut off and surrounded, the remainder of his detachment being killed or wounded, this gallant soldier kept his automatic rifle in operation to such effect that by his own efforts and by fire from the skirmish line of his company, at least one hundred yards in his rear, the attack was checked. Four of the enemy attacked Private Neibour at close quarters. These he killed. Private Neibour captured eleven prisoners at the point of his pistol and, although painfully wounded, brought them back to our lines. The counter-attack in full force was arrested to a large extent by the single efforts of this soldier, whose heroic exploits took place against the skyline in full view of his entire battalion.

NEW QUOTES WOODROW

Washington, Apr. 22—(Special correspondence)—In a recent address on the subject of the proposed League of Nations, Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, quoted a very pertinent paragraph from Wilson's "Constitutional Government" aptly describing the unfair advantage a President may take of the Senate—an advantage which President Wilson is trying to take by making the league of nations a part of the peace treaty. In his book, written 19 years ago, Woodrow Wilson said:

"The President's only power of compelling compliance on the part of the Senate lies in his initiative in negotiation, which affords him a chance to get the country into such scrapes, so pledged in the view of the world to certain courses of action, that the Senate hesitates to bring about the appearance of dishonor which would follow its refusal to ratify the rash promise or to support the indiscreet threats of the Department of State."

Commenting upon this, Senator New said: "I think he could not have had that in mind when he cabled the Senate that he wanted no discussion of this subject until he could get home and talk to the country about it. What is needed most is unlimited discussion of this question for it involves the abandonment of policies which have come to be the very foundation stones of our governmental structure."

CLOVER SEED SHORTAGE REPORTED DANGEROUS

General Use of Emergency Substitute Crops Needed.

East Lansing, Mich., Apr. 21.—An unprecedented shortage of clover seed demands the general use this year of emergency crops for hay purposes, if the farmers of the state are to escape serious loss, according to Prof. J. F. Cox, Head of the farm Crops Department at the Michigan Agricultural College.

"The danger lies not only in a shortage of the clover crop this year," declares Prof. Cox, "but also in the prospect of serious future loss in cultivated crops such as corn, beans, peas and potatoes, and in decreased production of grains, since on a majority of soils vigorous clover sod is necessary for the success of these crops."

Alfalfa and sweet clover can be substituted where clover seed cannot be obtained. The use of corn (as a forage crop), millet, soybeans, sudan grass, oats for hay, peas and oats, and sorghum is also possible to meet the shortage of clover. Corn is counted on to supply the largest amount of acceptable forage which can be substituted for hay.

Full information on substitute and emergency hay crops may be had by writing to Prof. J. F. Cox, East Lansing.

EAST JORDAN MAN PASSES AWAY AT ABERDEEN, WASH.

[From Grays Harbor Post]

After an illness of slightly more than a week, Charles Clarence Price, senior member of the firm of Price and Hite of the Aberdeen Cabinet Works, died at his home, 409 East Market street, Tuesday night. Every effort that medical care could exert to save him was made, but to no avail.

Mr. Price had lived on the Harbor somewhat over twelve years, first living in Hoquiam. He came to Aberdeen and organized the Aberdeen Cabinet Works, shortly afterward being associated in this plant with F. E. Hite. These aggressive young men built up a fine business and recently purchased the plant of the Aberdeen Manufacturing Co. With bright prospects ahead, for the coming year, they were both stricken at about the same time with influenza. Mr. Hite has largely recovered, but pneumonia attacked Mr. Price with fatal results.

We shall miss Charley Price. He was one of the kindest, squarest, and gentlest men in this city, a splendid workman, an ideal husband and good citizen. He was a member of No. 883, C. & J. of Am., and ever kept the faith with his fellow craftsmen, and with his patrons.

He is survived by Mrs. Price, his parents, who reside in East Jordan, Michigan, and several brothers and sisters in the east. One brother left Michigan Tuesday, and a second brother left Chicago, Wednesday to be present at the funeral. Mr. Price was 39 years of age, being born in East Jordan—Michigan.

The funeral of Charles C. Price was held from St. Andrews Episcopal church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. The services were conducted under the auspices of local 883, C. & J. of Am.

Rev. F. F. W. Greene conducted the beautiful services of the Episcopal church. He spoke of the dead man as a craftsman who was not ashamed of his work. One whose word was good, and honor unsullied. His life had been as true as the joints which he had formed. The good pastor stated that such men are needed in the church not for their own particular good, but for the good of the church. Three beautiful numbers were rendered by a selected quartette of the Episcopal choir.

The body was conveyed to Fern Hill and placed to rest in the Mausoleum. The funeral had been held until Wednesday to enable two brothers, Harry S. Price of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Edward R. Price of Midland, Mich., to arrive. Mr. Price was one of five brothers, all of them skilled builders.

The vacancy in the Gill school caused by the resignation of Mrs. Huston, has been filled by Mrs. Gladys Everts.

The Tainter School had been continuing during the winter the good work which had been begun in the fall. Desks were rearranged with backs to door, two outside doors closed and one cut in center of front of building. Miss Latham says the building is much more easily heated. Work was begun on model cloak rooms. The reader will remember that during the fall vacation the woodshed was moved and built on the rear of the school building. A new fountain may be seen in front of room.

Miss Edith Cary has many good things to tell. Her boys and girls of the lunch club will write the story for the reader to more thoroughly enjoy. They are completing the fund for a water fountain.

HAIR TURNED WHITE IN A SINGLE NIGHT BY TRAGIC SUFFERINGS, RICH ARMENIAN WOMAN ARRIVES IN U. S.

Detroit, Mich.—The Michigan office of the American Committee for Relief in the Near East, under the direction of the state chairman, James J. Spill, headquarters in New York the story of a wealthy Armenian woman who has just arrived in this country after unspeakable sufferings during which her hair turned white, she said, in a single 24-hour and which she finally escaped by her own heroism and that of Armenian soldiers, who rescued her and her son and other Armenians from a Turkish prison.

The story, as related to Alice V. Williams, the author, follows:

Before May 1915 the Harpootlians were a wealthy and well known family in the city of Mamouret-ul-Aziz, Turkey. They had owned twenty-five per cent of the land in that district. Mr. H. Harpootlian had been a prosperous merchant and had made frequent visits to the United States on business. Mrs. Harpootlian's brother had held the office of mayor of the city, and had also been governor for several terms. In spite of the fact that Armenians are not usually allowed to hold official positions in Turkey.

But in 1914 when the war broke out, threatening clouds began to rise on the horizon, and gathered with increasing ominousness until on May 2nd, 1915 the storm burst.

Now Mrs. Harpootlian—a white haired woman—sat before me with a beautiful little boy of three and a half years on her knees. Her eyes were full of sadness and her face was lined. At first sight I took her for the boy's grandmother. In reality she was only forty-two years old. Suffering—not age—had deeply marked her face and had whitened her hair in a single night.

Three times she fainted in the course of her recital. Only the sense of the need of her countrymen supported her.

"It all seemed to happen at once," said Mrs. Harpootlian. "With hardly any notice the Turks ordered us to leave our houses and gather in a certain place. Here we found all the other Armenian inhabitants of Mamouret-ul-Aziz gathered.

My husband and I and our six children, were driven in a crowd of our friends and relatives from the city. It did not take us long to find out that our guards and guides were worse than none at all.

At the end of three days we arrived on the shores of the Euphrates River in Isoly. Here we were halted, at first to our intense relief, but little did we know what was before us.

"They separated the men from the women and children, and tied them together in groups of four. My husband and my two oldest sons, Hagop aged twenty-three, and Haroutun aged twenty-one, they took, and tied them with the rest.

I clung to my husband, I implored the guards by every plea I knew to save my dear ones. I offered them all the money I had—I promised them more—I offered to sign over to them all my property in Harpoot—but they were deaf and blind to all my prayers. They drew me aside with the other women.

"They kept us apart; and then they did—unspeakable things
"When they had done their worst they hacked them to death. My son, Hagop, was one.

"I was expecting to be a mother again very soon. In my torment and distraction, I fell down by the way side and gave birth to this little boy that you see here in my arms.

I never thought that he would live. The guards themselves left him and me for dead by the wayside. But God gave him to me for a comfort and a strength, care though he was to me. For three days I stayed by the way side. I struggled back to life for my baby's sake, and taking him up with me, tried to drag myself back to my native town. We both were preserved somehow, and reached Mamouret-ul-Aziz. Here I was thrown into the companion prison. There were also Armenians like myself and one Kurdish woman who was serving a life sentence for the crime of attempting to help the Armenians. It was she who first helped me with my baby. Its little face was red and blistered. I scooped a little hole in the earth floor, found a few sticks, made a little fire, and with a piece of cloth that I tore from my petticoat, I made a poultice of warmed earth and applied it to my baby's face. It did him good at once. Another prisoner, there with a baby a few months old undertook to feed my baby as I was unable. In this way his life was saved.

She looked down at him tenderly and proudly.

"His name," she said, "is Aksoor—it means Exile."

"The second day I was in prison, an old lady, ninety years of age, was thrown into the jail, stripped of every bit of clothing and more than half dead.

"I ran to her relief—and I found that she was my husband's mother. She died in a few hours. It was a merciful release from her misery.

"She had been arrested for denouncing the Turks.

"Well, as for me, I only stayed in that prison a week and then the prison was broken open by some Armenian soldiers from Russia, who came by night secretly and took away twenty of us to Dersum, Kurdish city."

For 12 long months Mrs. Harpootlian and her children existed in the mountains of Dersum, up in the snow belt, barefooted and in rags, eating anything they could find, which was often nothing but grass.

After a year of unutterable hardship Mrs. Harpootlian and her children escaped to Erzincan which had been captured by the Russians and the Armenians. She was here helped by charitable organizations. They remained in Erzincan six months and then went on to Erzurum, Van, Kars, and finally to Tiflis, Russia. Her children worked for six months in various factories and one of the boys sold popcorn in public places.

"It was at Tiflis," said Mrs. Harpootlian, "that I met with the first hope of return to civilization. I had the wonderful experience of meeting Dr. F. W. MacCallum, a member of the American Committee for Relief in the Near East.

"He at once took an interest in my case, gave me money and clothes for myself and my children—we were all by that time wretchedly clad and fed—and moreover he notified my relatives in the United States and got me started on my way to America."

Tiflis—No bread anywhere. Government has not a pound. Forty-five thousand in Erivan wholly without bread; orphanages and troops all through Erivan in terrible condition; no dog, cat, horse, camel or any living thing in all Igdir region. Saw refugee women stripping flesh from dead horse with bare hands today. Twenty-five and thirty deaths a day are being reported from villages. Another week will score 10,000 dead from starvation. For heaven's sake, hurry. We have enough food in the country now at Kaku and Batum to keep starving people alive for a time. Railways are doing all they possibly can to get food to the people and we hope to weather the storm but snow is our enemy. At present staff is almost crying necessity. Please expedite as many men as quickly as you can. Also please remember we shall be through with our food supplies pretty soon. same with money.

The Sentry Who Waits Not in Vain

A shaggy, white head with the keen eyes of the warrior—a frame touched by the years and great hardships—there he sits in the great chair before the fire, motionless. We couldn't have kept him through the year, but for this one fact—he won't let go till he sees the boy again.

He fought with Phil Sheridan. The rattle of musketry and the ping of flying bullets, the sudden, rushing sweep of the horsemen in full charge—these are his cherished memories. That night before Missionary Ridge when southern heavens were livid with the flare of battle, a bursting shell carried his right arm away. And now he wants to see the boy and hear the story of this last, our war.

He's coming back tomorrow, the boy. He's coming back because the war ended ahead of time. Another year and the sentry would probably have waited in vain for his return. He's coming back tomorrow, and today I'm going to subscribe to the Victory Liberty Loan to help pay the bills that brought him back safe and sound.

Our sentry's weary watch is nearly over—and he smiles proudly as he thinks of the boy's return.

WILL AMERICA GUARD ARMENIA?

PRESIDENT WILSON MAY TAKE ARMENIANS UNDER THE AMERICAN EAGLE'S WING.

MICHIGAN MUST TAKE INTEREST
 Turks Deliberately Sought to Wipe Armenians Out of History Forever.

Paris—The American eagle may extend its protecting wing over famine-stricken, centuries persecuted Armenians.

This suggestion, it is known, has been made to President Wilson, and is now under consideration.

Michigan has one of the largest Armenian populations of any state in the Union, and therefore will take especial interest in the disposal of the Armenian question by the peace conference.

Evidence which cannot be called in to question makes it plain that the Turks deliberately set about the task of wiping the Armenians out of history forever.

It was decided—with the aid of German advisers it is said,—that the best way of exterminating the Turkish nation was to deport these people.

Dr. F.P. Ramsey writes: "I am thankful to say Foley Kidney Pills rid me of all my pain. I advise anyone to try them after the good they did me."

Now America appears as the rainbow of hope after the storm, and promises its interest in the future by its charity to those suffering Armenians in the present.
