Meguzees To Rally Here

East Jordan To Be Hosts of Eastern Star.

Members of Mark Chapter 275, Order Eastern Star, are making elaborate preparations for the annual meeting of Meguzee Association, O. E. S., which convenes in East Jordan next Wednesday, May 14th and continues in session until Thursday noon.

Fourteen Chapters will be represented from the counties of Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim, Grand Traverse and Kalkaska. It is expected some of the Grand Officers will be in attendance, and some 125 members will be here.

The organization will hold its meeting at the Armory convening in the afternoon for a social meeting. At 6:00 o'clock Wednesday evening a Banquet will be served at the Red Cross rooms which will be catered by the Methodist Ladies' Aid. Initiatory work will occupy their attention in the evening, and Thursday forenoon the business session will be held.

Officers of the Association are as follows:

President—Irene Louise Getty of Kalkaska.

First Vice President—Effie Marshall of Charlevoix.

Secretary—Mrs. McNeil of Boyne City.

MICHAEL PHILLIPS PASSES AWAY AT DETROIT

Michael Phillips passed peacefully away at his home—1679 Helen Ave., Detroit—Thursday noon, May 1st. He had been afflicted with dropsy and heart trouble for the past five months.

Funeral services were held last Saturday morning at St. Thomas Cathedral. Interment at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Mr. Phillips was sixty-two years of age, and, until a year ago, made his home in East Jordan, where he resided for some twenty-one years.

Deceased is survived by his wife, three daughters—Mrs. Joseph Whiteford, Mrs. Wm. Fritzel and Miss Katharine—and one son, Leo—all of Detroit.

Advocates of the league of nations use the Pan-American alliance as an example. Doubtless that will be the motto of the majority in the new league—"Pan America."

The administration is now selling its wooden ships which is a fine opportunity for you to get some nice, dry, well seasoned lumber.

Col. House ought to write a book divulging the inside story of the peace conference and call it the "Leak of Nations."

The modern woman has one big advantage over her sister of a few years ago—she doesn't have to worry about whether her petticoat is showing.

East Jordan's Debating Team

The East Jordan High School has the unique distinction of winning the debating championship of the northern half of the state and on May 30 the team composed of Conard Hughes, Gertrude Hockstad and Reo Bockes will go to the University of Michigan to debate Durand for the championship of the state. The debate will be held in the Sarah Caswell Angell Hall and President Hutchins of the University of Michigan will preside. The East Jordan team is not only well balanced but each member is an effective speaker and a ready debater. During the debates of last winter the judges were almost equally divided in picking the best speaker of the three. All invariably stated that the team was one of the strongest high school teams they had ever heard. East Jordan may not win state honors, but if the team does not, their opponents will have to be a most exceptional team.

MOTHERS' DAY PROCLAMATION

(By the Governor.)

If ever there was a time to yield homage to the mothers of our land that time is now. The spirit of devotion and sacrifice and service they manifested during long months of cruel war is beyond all praise. With aching hearts they gave their sons to die, if need be, that our cherished liberties might be preserved, but they hid the ache and the pain and went bravely and calmly about their allotted tasks. This year then of all years when peace has come to bless the world we should thankfully observe the day that is especially marked in honor of the mothers of America, living and dead.

And let us rejoice and weep with those that weep. Many a Michigan mother's heart will sing with joy as our Michigan boys return from afar; and we joy with them in their joy. There will be many a mother too, alas, whose heart will bridge the seas and journey on to find a dear grave in Flanders or in France or in far Archangel, there to place a wreath of loving remembrance for the boy who will not come back; and to those mourning mothers we tender our deepest sympathy, while we sorrow with them in their sorrow.

Therefore, that we may pay a special tribute of affection to the mothers who still live and honor the memory of those who have gone from us, I, Albert E. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside Sunday, May 11th, next, as Mothers' day, and I call upon our people, both young and old, to gather in their several places of worship and take part in services appropriate to the day, and, by the wearing of a red flower for the living mother and a white for the dear departed, to symbolize their love and reverence for the mothers of the nation.

Let me suggest too that absent sons and daughters take this occasion to visit, if possible, the mother in the old home, or, where such a visit is impossible, that they send a message of cheer and greeting. By this may mothers know that in the rush of affairs they are not forgotten.

In accordance with a resolution of the congress of the United States, I further request the people of Michigan on the day aforesaid to display the United States flag in their homes and in other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor.

Clean Up Week, May 12-19

A Proclamation By the Mayor.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF EAST JORDAN.

"Clean up Week" is May 12-19. It is especially fitting that all citizens of East Jordan scrupulously observe this week as we will soon welcome home our soldier boys who have been so long from us and who will enjoy coming back to a clean, progressive home community.

Clean up every spot on your premises and don't hesitate to extend your cleaning operations to the alleys and streets adjoining your home. Place the rubbish on the streets or alleys by Wednesday, May 14th and the City will cart it away for you. This appeal extends to the business district of our City as well as to the residence district.

Each block in the city has been assigned to some one person whose duty it will be to call the attention of tenants and property owners to unclean and unsanitary conditions on their property and who will, if the condition is not remedied, report to the health officer for action. The business district is in charge of the East Jordan Board of Trade and residence district is in charge of the ladies of the city.

All of us are justly proud of East Jordan and of what East Jordan has done. Let us this coming week add to our source of pride by making this city the cleanest, physically of any city in the United States. Let our boys realize, on their return home, that we have cleaned house in anticipation of their coming.

TWO PRIESTS AND ALPENA DRUGGIST DROWN MONDAY

Whole Northern Michigan was shocked Tuesday by the tragic triple drowning of Father Albert DeQuoy, of St. Francis church, Alpena, and his two brothers, Father Charles H. DeQuoy, of St. Ann's French church, and Alfred DeQuoy, a druggist, both of Alpena. The catastrophe which has saddened the hearts of thousands occurred at 7:30 Monday evening at the Black river dam in Cheboygan county.

Rev. Father Albert DeQuoy had entertained at dinner his two brothers who were drowned with him, and also a brother, Rev. George DeQuoy, of Bay City, and Rev. Father Mangan, of Cheboygan. The party was fishing near the dam when the boat was accidentally upset. The swift undertow overcame their efforts, excepting Father Mangan, who after going down twice grasped a deadhead and was finally pulled ashore.

The body of the Alpena priest, Father Charles H. DeQuoy, was recovered at 9:30 Tuesday morning, and that of Rev. Albert DeQuoy one-half hour after the accident. The other body was not recovered by noon Tuesday.

The DeQuoy family were well and widely known all over Northern Michigan, and were prominently identified with the work of the Catholic church. They had a large acquaintance in Emmet county.

The three brothers are survived by a mother seventy-three years of age, four brothers and a sister, who make their home in Alpena.

Father George DeQuoy was a member of the party but was not in the boat at the time of the accident.

The place of the drowning is about seven miles east and south of Cheboygan where the Cheboygan Light and Power company have erected and operated a large dam across the Black river. It is one of the largest power dams in this part of the state.

pin of formaldehyde to 30 gallons of water.

The corrosive sublimate treatment is preferred by most potato growers because of the fact that it gets both diseases. Seed potatoes should be soaked in a solution made with 4 ounces of Corrosive Sublimate and 30 gallons of water, for from 30 minutes to an hour and a half. Corrosive Sublimate is a trifle expensive, $3.00 worth being required to treat about 20 to 30 bushels of seed. It is also a deadly poison and must be handled in glass or wooden vessels. Corrosive sublimate loses strength as it is used and must be replenished with poison. In spite of this it is the favorite method with farmers, because it is a sure control method for both Potato Scab and Black Scurf.

We wonder how many boys there are in the county who would like to raise a pure bred registered calf, if their bank would help them in getting the money to purchase it? If you would like to try it boys, write to the County Agent at Boyne City.

The early hatched, well developed pullets begin laying in the fall and continue all winter if properly fed and housed. The late hatched pullets are boarders until spring. Hatch early.

POOR SEED BEING SOLD IN MICHIGAN

Public Warned Against Certain Mail-Order Dealers in Nearby States.

East Lansing, Mich., May 5.—A warning that seed of a very low grade is being shipped into Michigan by three or four mail-order dealers in nearby states is being sent out by the State Seed Laboratory at East Lansing. Complaints from all parts of the State indicate the sale of a large amount of this impure seed, much of which is in violation of the Michigan Seed Law. Clover and timothy seeds are those with which most of the trouble is being experienced.

More than thirty kinds of weed seeds on an average, have been found in samples tested by Miss Bertha Hollister State Seed Analyst. Noxious weeds, such as dodder and Canada thistle have been found freely in the samples, making the situation especially serious. While the Michigan Seed Law can handle violations of the law which occur in the State, it has no power to take action against firms doing business outside the State.

The remedy for the present situation is for the farmer and the small dealers of the State to trade with Michigan dealers or with responsible firms outside the state. In every case where seed is purchased for sowing, the buyer should demand an analysis at the time of purchase or should send a sample to the State Seed Laboratory, East Lansing, so that a test can be made to determine the weed content.

Burleson ought to run for president next year under the slogan "He keeps us out of wire."

It will soon be time to select an official song for the league of nations. How about the "International Rag?"

Charlevoix Woman Drowns

Was In Auto Which Fell Into Channel.

Mrs. George Ross, Charlevoix woman was drowned in the channel at Charlevoix shortly before midnight Sunday night when the automobile in which she was riding fell into the channel while the driver, Guy Olney, was attempting to stop the machine. The swing bridge was just being closed after allowing the steamer Kansas to pass through.

Mrs. Ross had been a guest at the Olney home and was being taken in the car back to her own residence. Mr. Olney says he did not notice that the bridge was open until he had reached a point about forty feet from the embankment. He applied the brakes and the car skidded, turned half round and toppled over backwards into the water. Both people were thrown clear of the car and out into the stream. Mr. Olney managed to keep afloat until rescued but Mrs. Ross drifted in the current into Round lake. Up to a late hour Monday her body had not been recovered.

School Commissioner's Notes

May L. Stewart, Commissioner

County board of examiners meets Saturday to determine issuing of certificates. It is hoped that more will write the August test.

Georgia Scroggie completed her terms work in North Bay and is finishing the term of school uncompleted by Mrs. Lila Skornia.

Bay Township had all three schools represented in exhibit and program at North Bay School on Monday the 28th.

Program was fine. The judges, Mrs. Stevens, and Mrs. Fletcher gave first place to Horton Bay, second to North Bay, and third to Lakeside. The Horton Bay exhibit may be seen at County Fair next fall. The students from Bay township passing examinations in eighth grade work will receive their diplomas in joint commencement exercises with Hayes township.

With the first round of visits nearly completed, the commissioner may pause to review the good things which have been so manifest. Is it the fever heat of the war or the new spirit of reconstruction, or is it merely the worth-whileness of the work all revealed anew that has shown the work this spring the best yet seen in the county—more teachers who are truly teaching, more pupils who really want to pass and who do not expect teacher to also do the "learning"—a clearer objective, and a fine sense of cooperation. These are the things that have stood out in Charlevoix county and cause us to feel that there is no finer corps of rural teachers in the state of Michigan.

State reports indicated that the Emmet County Normal was doing things. That's what we want to do too, so accompanied by both our county normal teachers, the commissioner went to Petoskey on the 24th and spent the day in the Emmet County Normal. Many good suggestions were made by the Emmet County Principal and the trip proved very much worth while.

Third and fourth grades are going to have a birthday party on Miss McLaughlin, Friday afternoon.

The fifth and sixth grade are making posters.

The sixth graders are making charcoal drawings.

Still the wooden ships won't yield much more lumber to commerce than the empty desks of the bomb proof army at Washington—if we ever get 'em empty.

Letters From Our Soldiers

From SGT. F. E. WIGGINS

Dear Mother and All—

Received your most welcome and loving letter last night and was glad to hear from you and that you are all well as your letter found me in the best of health. Well it has rained here all the week except yesterday and today and it is swell today, so think I will take a walk around the city to take in the sights, but of course I have seen them quite a few times, but we never get tired looking at them as there are some very nice places and also some old ruins, which you can see by the postal views I have been sending you. How did you like them and how were the handkerchiefs I sent you and sister? I also sent another box which you ought to get before long.

We had a strange article for breakfast this morning, ham and eggs, now what do you think of that, first time since we left the states, but it was Easter Sunday and of course had to have something different. I guess we are going to move from Trier to a place about 17 kilos from here, and go back drilling again, so maybe we will start for home one of these days, I hope so anyway. I see some of the 32nd Division boys going home, as they all pass through here on the train going to the coast. Well this is about all the news for this time, so will close for this time with love and best wishes to all.

TESTS SHOW BEST VARIETIES OF CORN

Adaption to Particular Section Shown Important by State-Wide Check.

East Lansing, Mich., May 5.—The selection of corn varieties which are adapted to the particular section of the state in which they are to be grown will determine the success or failure of the corn crop is shown by a series of variety tests carried out over the state by M. A. C. These tests, which were planted and harvested by J. R. Dupcan of the Farm Corps Department indicate the leading varieties for each section.

Based on the tests which have been carried out, the college advises the following varieties: In southern Michigan counties the Duncan, Wisconsin, No. 7, or early Silver King, Folk's White Cap, Golden Glow, Pickett, and Reid's Yellow Dent are best. Adapted in south central, the Pickett, Golden Glow, Early Geddes, Wisconsin No. 7, Folk's White Cap and Pride of Michigan: in north central and north, early strains of Golden Glow, Pickett, Wisconsin No. 25 and Ogema White Cap and other native varieties are best suited.

Names of growers of seed of these varieties, or seed companies who can furnish same will be furnished on application to the Farm Corps Department, M. A. C., East Lansing.

125th Infantry In New York

East Jordan Boys Again On Home Soil.

Several telegrams were received here Friday by relatives and friends announcing the arrival in New York of the 125th Infantry which includes our own Headquarters Company.

This means that all our soldiers, both with this and other contingents, will soon all be home, and our citizens are making preparations for a big celebration befitting the occasion.

WHAT ABOUT WILHELM?

Washington, May 5.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington Headquarters:

"Is Bill the Butcher to get off scot free? Is the muddle which Mr. Wilson is stirring up in Europe to screen the escape of this arch-conspirator against mankind? Is this advance agent of Antichrist, if not the apocalyptic Beast himself, to find safe refuge beneath the academic skirts of a man whose imperialism was repudiated at the polls last November? It is beginning to look that way.

"Of all the lame excuses ever submitted to a disgusted world, that of the American commission to the effect that there is no precedent in international law for the trial and conviction of the head of a State is the most spineless. If a precedent is needed, now is the time to establish it, or the fate meted out to Napoleon should suggest one.

"Did Wilhelm look for a precedent when he overran Belgium? Did he find excuse in international law when he crucified Canadian soldiers, stockaded and outraged Belgian and French women, maimed and disemboweled little children, defiled and destroyed churches, cut the throats of American prisoners, sank unarmed ships without warning, made of Belgium and Northern France a barren waste, and sent his agents by the thousands into neutral states to carry on his infernal propaganda, which continues to this day? Was there any precedent to be found in history for this campaign of frightfulness, other than that supplied by Attila the Hun? Napoleon was a clean fighter at least, and they banished him. Is Wilhelm to be permitted to sojourn undisturbed in princely ease at Amerongen castle, there to mature his plans for a second trial for world conquest? If so, Mr. Wilson should be credited with a remarkable victory as counsel for the defense of this international criminal, to judge from reports.

"The patience which the President of the United States has exhibited toward Germany, the Germans, and the Kaiser and his court, is of a quality more vicious than virtuous. So far as is known the records fail to show a single instance of the capital punishment of an enemy spy in this country, yet we have been infested with them. Nominal confinement in comfortable hotels at Government expense, or in more flagrant cases, segregation in commodious stockades, fed to repletion, and provided with pleasant recreations, have spelled the hard lot of these villainous agents. A few months before we got into the war at least one Democratic campaign manager was hob-nobbing with those agents in German beer-halls, and the "kept us out of war" gullery was planted in those German steins. And then we had the notewriting contests between the President and the Kaiser, with the Democratic press deciding the President the winner in each "diplomatic victory." Finally, when the American public would brook no further insult, we went to war—and then delayed six months getting in.

"We have no quarrel with the German people," said Mr. Wilson. Ask the soldiers of the American Expeditionary Force, if that is true. Every soldier who fought against the Kaiser's hosts and who witnessed his diabolical war methods demands his punishment, and does every red-blooded American who contributed to the defeat which apparently Mr. Wilson seeks to minimize. If Mr. Wilson's intervention saves the hide of Butcher Bill, there is but one reply to make to his unauthorized assertion on behalf of the American people, namely, "He had no quarrel with the German Kaiser."

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that No-body can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

GOLD SEEKERS QUIT KOYUKUK

Famous Alaska Mining District Gradually Becoming Thing of the Past.

Anchorage, Alaska.—The Koyukuk mining district, one of the very oldest in Alaska, dating from 1884, is now in the throes of a fight to remain on the map. Prices of necessities, always high in that region, when given additional impetus during the war, started an exodus of the few remaining miners out of the country.

Travelers arriving here from the diggings 150 miles north of the arctic circle say that the Red mountain region, in the lower section of the Koyukuk district, is practically deserted. Arctic City and Bergeman, small localities, are no more.

Bettles are still in existence; Cold Foot, Myrtle Creek and Nolan Creek are also hanging on to the name of camp. But the old miners have largely gone, and whether the famous mining district is ever rejuvenated again, none can foretell.

DISABLED SOLDIERS TO BE GIVEN TRAINING

Washington, D. C.—A man disabled in a cantonment or concentration camp or during training is just as much entitled to retraining and placement as if he had been injured on the western front, and the federal board for vocational education is trying to get in touch with men who were discharged before having been fully advised as to the assistance available to them without cost.

"Up to the first of February," the federal board announced, "there were registered for vocational training 22,851 discharged men, 12,400 of whom were discharged prior to the granting of permission to the federal board for interviewing them at hospitals in order to deal with their cases."

"The federal board is bending all efforts to get in touch with these 13,000 men in order to acquaint them with the benefits which they may have absolutely without cost."

Holders of Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps to Be Protected Against "Get-Rich-Quick" Schemes.

Washington.—The federal trade commission has officially announced that it will co-operate with the treasury department, the capital issues committee and banking and commercial institutions throughout the country to curb the present widespread misrepresentation in the sale of stocks and securities, recognized as being at this time a particular menace to holders of Liberty bonds and War Savings stamps.

The commission will accord immediate consideration to complaints presented to it involving alleged fraudulent practices in the sale of securities in interstate commerce. The commission has designated Commissioner Huston Thompson to supervise the entire subject.

The commission's action follows appeals made to it by representatives of the treasury, capital issues committee, federal reserve board, Associated Advertising Clubs of the World and numbers of banking and commercial interests, that the power given to the commission under its organic act to prevent unfair methods of commerce in interstate commerce be at once employed to protect holders of government war securities from bogus "get-rich-quick" schemes under which promoters offer to accept Liberty bonds in exchange for stocks of doubtful value.

It was urged that the commission act on the ground that misrepresentations in the sale of securities constitute an "unfair method of commerce." Federal courts, it was pointed out, have held that securities are "articles of commerce."

Glass Says Menace Exists.

Secretary of the Treasury Glass, stating that promoters of worthless stocks have "already displaced a very large amount of government bonds by taking them in exchange for stock," declared in a letter to the commission that "a menace exists which may seriously interfere with the placing of the new government issue, if the stock promoters are left without any restraint or restriction." His letter in part follows:

"The treasury department is peculiarly interested in the effort to restrict improper stock flotations at this time for the following reasons:

"The offering of investments to the public competes with the offering of government securities, and, as you are aware, the treasury proposes to invite the public to subscribe to a very large issue of securities shortly. Stocks and securities of a legitimate investment character compete with the government, but not nearly so much as highly speculative stocks offered with all the allurements customarily held out by irresponsible persons whose principal design is to obtain money from investors without regard to the value of the stock sold. The operation of the government in the past, in endeavoring to induce persons of all classes to purchase government bonds, have, to a large degree, brought into being a very large and new class of investors who are without experience or knowledge to guide them wisely in making investments. But the very efforts of the government agents, in persuading such persons to become investors, have prepared the way for promoters to place many worthless stocks.

"The result has been that these promoters have already displaced a very large amount of government bonds by taking them in exchange for stock, and to such an extent as to undo the work which is so essential for the success of the government's financial operations; because the government cannot expect successful flotations of its own securities, or the preservation of a proper price therefor in the financial market, unless the great number of small buyers continue to hold their bonds.

May Interfere With Loan.

"Warned by the past, the treasury department feels that a menace exists which may seriously interfere with the placing of the new government issue, if the stock promoters are left without any restraint or restriction.

"It cannot be expected that proposed legislation, even if promptly enacted, can become operative in time to be of substantial benefit to the government in the next loan campaign.

"It has been suggested that the federal trade commission has authority, under its organic act, to take action which would remedy the evil, at least in part. If a way can be found whereby even the fraudulent promoters and those who indulge in unfair practices in selling stock can be stopped, the treasury department feels that such action will be of great benefit to it in the immediate future.

"This department will welcome action by you to that end, and will be glad to co-operate in every proper manner.

WAR GAS DUMPED FAR OUT AT SEA

Some Large Drums and 200,000 Loaded Shells Rest in 1,500 Feet of Water.

WERE FOR USE THIS SPRING

Poisonous Fluid of No Commercial Value and Unsafe to Have Around—America Sent Gas for 1,600,000 Shells to Front.

Washington.—The first lot of poison gas which the American army developed and manufactured for use in killing Germans in the great spring drive, scheduled for 1919, but halted by the signing of the armistice, has been disposed of by dumping it at sea. It consisted of 200,000 poison-gas shells and some large drums or containers of poison gas, which have just been taken to sea from Baltimore and dropped into Davy Jones' locker. The gas disposed of consisted of mustard gas and chlorpicrin gas, both of which are very dangerous and could not be used commercially.

The 200,000 gas shells were brought back from France on a transport about two weeks ago. After other cargo of the transport had been unloaded the poison gas shells were taken in the same transport from Baltimore out to sea a distance of between sixty and one hundred miles and dumped deep enough not to have any effect on navigation and far enough at sea not to have any effect on the coast.

Dangerous to Have Around.

The containers taken to sea and dumped showed signs that they were soon about to begin to leak, as a result of chemical effect of the gas, and in the interest of safety these were taken to sea and disposed of under directions given by Major General Sibert, head of the chemical warfare service.

Ultimately all of the poison gas in drums will be disposed of in this fashion, but until after the treaty of peace is signed the army will be in no hurry to get rid of a very valuable asset, and it is not the plan to take all this gas to sea for dumping until after the signing of the peace treaty, except in those cases where, through containers showing signs of leaking or for other good reasons, it is considered in the interest of safety to dispose of the gas sooner.

General Sibert submitted to General March, the chief of staff, a memorandum in reply to the statement that no American gas shells were fired at the enemy.

"In June, 1918," the memorandum asserts, "the following shipment of gases in bulk was made to the American forces in France to be exchanged for gas shell: Mustard gas, 15 tons; chlorpicrin, 705 tons; phosgene, 48 tons. Further shipment in bulk overseas was stopped pursuant to a cablegram from France dated July 21, 1918, the reason for this being that France had no more extra gas shells to be filled with American gas.

"There not being gas shell available with suitable boosters and adapters, the gas plants were not operated to capacity. However, sales of some excess gas were made both in England and to France. England was sold 900 tons of chlorpicrin and 368 tons of phosgene. France was sold 300 tons of chlorpicrin and 1,126 tons of phosgene. Phosgene is 80 per cent chlorine, and France furnished phosgene shell in exchange for this chlorine. In addition to the above 200 tons of mustard gas were shipped to England for loading shell originally made for Russia. These shells were never loaded, and the gas, at least a large part of it, was utilized by the English in loading shell.

"There were, therefore, shipped to Europe 3,602 tons of gas, or its equivalent, which gas was largely loaded into shell and used by the United States troops, or those of our allies, against the enemy. Three thousand six hundred and sixty-two tons of gas would have loaded about 1,600,000 shells, two-thirds of them being 75 mm. and one-third 135 mm., a number which is thought to be at least equal to the total number of gas shells fired by the American troops in action in France, showing that, while American gas was not actually fired in American shells in the war, it was fired against the enemy, and that America furnished at least as much as she used.

"In addition to this, 18,000 live drums loaded with phosgene were shipped to France. These contained 270 tons of gas, and some of them, at least, were fired at the enemy. As soon as shells were available they were loaded with gas, and 25,000 shells, 75 mm. caliber, were shipped to France on August 7, 1918. On August 9 another shipment of 50,000 shells of the same caliber was made, after which time shipments were made as fast as shell and boosters were available.

"The first shipment of shells would have reached France by September 1. They were massed there. All component parts, however, were shipped. The ordnance department decided in June to assemble gas shells in France. The time lost in such assembling is the only reason for these shells and others not reaching the front before the armistice.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Back to the Land! The Nation's Duty and the Citizen's Opportunity.

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN

When the American of 38 years of age was born the United States had a population of 50,155,733. Thirty-out of every hundred people lived in the cities; the other seventy lived in the country. Year by year the cities have gained in population at the expense of the country. In 1910 the population had increased to 93,402,151 and 46.3 per cent of it was in the cities. The census of 1920 is expected to show that we have a population of about 110,000,000 and that more than half live in the cities.

In the decade between 1900 and 1910 our whole population increased 20.9 per cent, the urban 34.8 and the rural 11.2. The city population therefore increased nearly twice as fast as that of the whole country and more than three times as fast as that of the rural districts. In six states there was an actual decrease in the rural population.

These figures show that the cities have taken more than their share of the immigrants and have also lured farmers from the farm.

This rapidly increasing disproportion between the food-producing population of the rural districts and the food-consuming population of the cities has long been recognized as a danger signal to the nation.

Moreover, to allow it to continue is to reject the greatest opportunity in the history of the nation.

The nation should bestir itself to keep every farmer on the farm; to get onto the farm every returning soldier who wants to go; to transplant every city man who belongs on the soil.

This is a large undertaking but one easily within the power of the nation. Certain conditions make the time ripe for it.

Farming as a business now offers inducements second to none and better than most. The federal government, with its farm loan board, its experiment station in every state and its farmers' bulletins; the states, with their agricultural colleges; the counties, with their expert agents and demonstrators—all stand ready to give the farmer service adequate to his needs.

There is good money to be made in farming. Until very recently Jess brains has been mixed with farming than with any other business. Now, with brains and modern scientific methods, farming is one of the best-paying businesses on earth.

There are still millions of acres of unoccupied farm lands awaiting the plow; the public domain contains 230,657,755 acres of unreserved and unappropriated land, of which a large proportion is suitable for agriculture. There are 15,000,000 acres of arid land for irrigation. There are 60,000,000 acres of swamp and overflowed lands which can be reclaimed. There are 200,000,000 acres of cut-over land fit for cultivation.

The nation's administrators and lawmakers should wake up to the situation that is at once a danger and an opportunity. France and Great Britain and all her colonies are busy getting their people on the soil. America lags behind when it is to her that a large part of the world must look for food for many a year.

Congress should pass Secretary Lane's great reclamation measure for work and homes for soldiers. The railroad administration should resume railroad advertising of farm lands and the work of colonization agents. Good roads, extension of agricultural education, betterment of country living conditions, development of farm labor supply, assurance of fair profits, financial assistance—all these should be the nation's immediate policy.

Back to the Land! Every man on the farm is an asset and not a liability. Agriculture is the foundation of the prosperity of this country and always will be. Land is the fundamental natural resource from which this nation draws its life. And the farmer is the bulwark of the nation.

Moreover, farming is a business in which a man of parts may take delight. It is an honest business. The farmer does not climb up by pulling others down. He has his place in the sun. If he chance to have an eye for beauty there are the recurrent miracle of the spring and the pageantry of the seasons. And Mother Nature is likely to throw in health, strength and happiness for good measure.

More Highway Construction This Year Than Ever Before in Our History

By D. F. HOUSTON, Secretary of Agriculture

During the war, it was necessary to curtail road-construction operations because of the difficulties of securing transportation, materials and the requisite services. Now that the situation has changed the work will be actively resumed. It is not believed that the people of the nation can wait for prices to recede before beginning industrial operations. Such hesitation will add to the difficulties instead of lightening them.

The congress at its last session not only made available from the federal treasury large additional sums for construction in co-operation with the states but also made important amendments to the federal aid road act. These amendments will have the effect of greatly lessening the difficulties of selecting and constructing needed roads.

The amount of federal funds available for road building on March 1 was over $72,900,000, which under the law must be matched by at least an equal amount from the states, making a total of $145,800,000, including approximately $9,800,000 from federal and state sources for roads in the national forests. On July 1 $95,000,000 more of federal funds will become available for general road purposes and $4,000,000 for national forest roads, which, with equal contributions from the states, will provide an additional $198,000,000 for federal aid road work, making an aggregate sum of $343,800,000 for the calendar year.

In other words the 1919 program for federal aid road building is greater than any previous annual road-building accomplishments in this country. It is so great, in fact, that the states will undoubtedly defer taking up part of the federal funds until 1920, because experienced contracting and engineering organizations must be developed from the stagnant conditions of the war period.

The states and their civil subdivisions also will carry on a large amount of road work without federal aid. The present indications are that approximately $280,000,000 will be spent in this way.

The indications are that a larger volume of highway construction will be accomplished this season than in any previous year in the history of the nation.

American Monopoly of German Patents Organized.

Basis of Company is 4,500 Chemical Process Formulas, Seized by Custodians.

Washington—An American monopoly of German chemical patents has been organized by Alien Property Custodian Francis P. Garvan, under United States government protection, according to the custodian's report.

The title of the federal protected trust is "The Chemical Foundation," with Custodian Garvan as president and a coterie of American financiers on the executive board.

The avowed object of the organization is to drive out German influence from the American dye industry. The basis of the combination is 4,500 German chemical process patents seized by Custodian Garvan and his predecessor in that office, A. Mitchell Palmer, now attorney general.

Mr. Palmer sold to the foundation for $250,000 the German patents. The corporation was capitalized at $500,000, of which $400,000 is to be 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock and $100,000 common stock, limited to 6 per cent dividends. A voting trust, composed of Cleveland H. Dodge, Otto T. Bannard, Benjamin H. Griswold, Ralph Stone and former Supreme Court Justice George D. Ingraham will control the finances.

Appeal of France to America: "Don't Be Too Generous to German People"

By STEPHAN LAUZANNE, French High Commissioner

If at this hour, when the dreadful nightmare is passing away, mutilated France could make another appeal to America, her sister and friend, she would say to her: "Don't be too generous."

Two imperious and inexorable duties are before us: France must have reparation; France must have guaranties.

France must have reparation, for seven of her departments—equal in area and wealth to the State of New York—have been laid waste, burned down and razed. Three hundred and fifty thousand houses have been broken into, pulled down and shattered into bits, and it has been computed that merely to rebuild them it would require an army of 100,000 men working for twenty years. Who is to furnish that army? France? No, but the destroyers and incendiaries.

The mines of northern France have been scientifically and cleverly tampered with, filled with water, or destroyed. Who will supply France with the coal she so badly needs? It will be Germany, who should have left those mines alone.

There is one thing France cannot do, and that is to distinguish between the German government and the German people. In 1914 it was undoubtedly the German government that hurled itself at the throats of France and Belgium and humanity and democracy, but it was also the German people. Over the invasion of Belgium—not a cry of indignation was raised. In 1915 it was undoubtedly the kaiser and Tirpitz who ordered the sinking of the Lusitania, but when that crime became known it was the people of Germany who howled with joy.

For four years it was undoubtedly the military caste of Germany and the German general staff who allowed thieving and plundering and authorized their men to remove everything they could from Belgium and France, but the robbery and plunder profited the German people.

There must be reparation or it would be enough to make one despair of justice on earth. There must be punishment or it will all begin over again.

France must have guaranties and in all organized societies guaranty against the repetition of a crime is obtained by punishing the culprit. The German people have committed a series of crimes; the German people must pay the price.

And that is why, speaking to America, for whom we have a deep and abiding affection; America, to whom we are henceforth bound by the ties of eternal friendship; America, with whom we have twice fought side by side for the noblest of ideals, we say to her, "For God's sake don't be too generous."

If the English-Speaking Union Stand Together, True to Their Ideals—

By WINSTON CHURCHILL, British Secretary

It has been well said the price of safety is eternal vigilance. The forms of efforts change but the battle is never over. The life struggle is unending, and the true measure of nations is what they can do when they are tired. The hardest test of all is the test of victory. We English-speaking communities of the world must endeavor now, however hard it may seem, to meet the new perils, the new responsibilities of our immense position with a new fund of resilience, of buoyancy and of resolution.

I don't quite see what can happen to harm us if the English-speaking union stand together, true to their ideals of freedom and humanity, and resolute to work together in a spirit of practical comradeship for the stability and progress of civilization.

If we fall apart there is the end of everything. All that we have achieved in common in this struggle will collapse in ruin to the ground.

If we fall apart there is no limit to the evils which might be unloosed upon mankind.

But if we hold together the larger hope that good will come out of the convulsions of the war is fortified and consolidated in an extraordinary degree. Together we are safe; together we are unassailable; together, with our gallant ally, France, we shall, if we pursue a wise and honorable policy, emerge from the horrors and the anxieties of the present time, and preserve for the benefit and the admiration of future ages the glories we have won in this long and cruel war.

Science Only Lipped Annihilation's Alphabet During the Great War

By HERBERT ASQUITH, British Statesman

If those who oppose the league of nations idea have any gift or faculty of imagination let them try to present to themselves the alternative. Let us suppose that a league of nations is, if not a baseless fabric, at any rate an impractical policy. What is to take its place?

Let us suppose that the nations go on in an unregulated competition—gamble would be a better word—of ambitions and resentments, with their necessary instruments on sea, on land and in the air. What will be the outcome after the lifetime of another generation has been spent and squandered in the race for international ascendancy? The experience of this war has made actual what was imaginable before. But there are or would be, if the old system were to continue, two new factors at work.

The first and most obvious is the unexplored and still incalculable effect of the harnessing of science to the chariot of destruction.

We have seen in these four years only the rudimentary application of methods and agencies unknown and undreamed of in the campaigns of the past. Science has in these matters not only not said the last word; she is still lisping the alphabet of annihilation.

If she is to be diverted from her humanizing mission of recreating our shattered resources and reviving our waste places and endowing and enriching our common life; if she is to be diverted for another twenty years into the further elaboration of the mechanics and chemistry of destruction, we may as well pray for the speediest possible return to the glacial epoch.

Better a planet on which human life has become physically impossible than one on which it has degenerated into a form of organized suicide.

MAN SURVIVES BROKEN NECK

Lieut. John A. Logan Injured When His Airplane Fell—One of Few Cases.

Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O.—Lieut. John A. Logan, U. S. A., of Cleveland, is one of the few men who have sustained broken necks and is still alive to tell the story of how it happened. The lieutenant is in the base hospital here, and attending surgeons say that he will enjoy life for many years to come, despite the broken neck.

Lieutenant Logan, an aviator, sustained the injury while on duty in France. He went up one day over the Vosges sector and engaged several German planes. A piece of shell from one of the enemy's guns put his motor out of commission and the officer was forced to vtolplane.

He lost control and had the preference of diving on a house or landing on the ground. He chose the latter, and when he was dragged from the wrecked machine it was found that he had received only a few slight scratches. He rejoined his squadron, being able to walk, but that night his right side became paralyzed. Surgeons made an examination and it was found that Logan's neck was broken.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and does not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat-eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

FLYER SAVES MANY LIVES

Ship Strikes Hun Mine and Pilot and Observer Rescue the Passengers.

Rome—A heroic incident in the last few days of the war has just come to light through the publication of an official dispatch from Durazzo.

An Italian bombing plane returning from Scutari was flying over San Giovanni di Medua when those on board saw a great column of water rise 35 miles away.

They thought at once it must be due to a mine explosion, and the apparatus was headed at full speed for the spot. In fact, an Italian boat had struck a mine and been blown up. The aviators soon could see persons swimming among the pieces of wreckage.

Stopping his motor, the pilot planned down and began the work of rescue. Eighteen already were safe on the wings of the plane in front of the motor turret and on the frame of the apparatus, but four others were buffeted by the seas in a little boat. There being no place for them on the plane, the little boat was tied to its tail and the plane started for the shore.

The rescued persons had stripped off their clothes to swim, and the pilot did the best he could with his fur-lined jacket and the clothes the observer could spare.

The Flow of Meat

Two-thirds of the live stock in the United States has to be raised in the West.

One-half of the consumers of meat live in the East.

In other words, most of the live stock is one or two thousand miles distant from most of the people who need it in the form of food.

Fifty years ago, when live stock was raised close to every consuming center, the country butcher could handle the job after a fashion.

But the job got too big.

Now millions of animals have to be moved hundreds of miles to millions of people. Somewhere on the way they have to be turned into meat.

The packers solved the problem. They set up plants where the "live haul" and the "meat haul" were in the right balance. They built up distributing systems—refrigerator cars, refrigerating plants, branch houses. They saved time, money and meat everywhere. The stockraiser benefited in better markets and higher prices; the consumer, in better meat and lower prices.

As the country grew, the packers had to grow, or break down. Because of its present size and efficiency, Swift & Company is able to perform its part in this service at a fraction of a cent per pound profit.
