Spirit of Charlevoix County Behind The Celebration.

EVERY PART OF COUNTY INTERESTED IN THE "WELCOME HOME" TO OUR SOLDIERS.

East Jordan Planning a Royal Reception.

Date To Be Decided Upon Later On.

Our Soldiers are coming home—each day some of the soldiers who served with the glorious Thirty-second arrive in our midst and are eagerly greeted by relatives, friends, and people in general.

It is a great thing to meet these bronzed veterans, to clasp their hands and look into those clear eyes that gazed into the jaws of death, those men who suffered untold privations that you and I might have a safer home and a better world to live in.

And with each returning soldier interest is again renewed, in every part of Charlevoix County and adjoining regions, in the Celebration of the City of East Jordan is planning—a Welcome Home to each and every soldier and sailor who served in the world war—a celebration in honor of him, his family and his friends.

East Jordan and the citizens of this region want to express their appreciation, in a public way, of what these soldiers and sailors did for us. The people of East Jordan are united in the determination to make this affair the greatest event ever staged in Charlevoix County. Our citizens and those of the adjoining territory are co-operating wholeheartedly and the success of the Welcome Home Celebration is already assured. It is particularly gratifying the spirit of interest manifested by the citizens of our neighboring cities of Charlevoix and Boyne City, in the coming event. We are, after all, one big family, their soldiers are our soldiers, and our soldiers are theirs. They went from Charlevoix County and adjoining regions to battle for us and Charlevoix County and adjoining region will greet them on this day.

Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the various committees in charge of the event met at the Library Building Tuesday evening and made their reports. Exceptionally good progress was shown in the way of preparations for the big affair. The Dinner Committee, upon whom devolves the work of providing and serving a dinner to the soldiers and sailors, have taken hold of the work with a will. The ladies of the Red Cross will have charge of these details, and, although the task is a big one, are equal to the occasion.

The Finance Committee reported a good-sized sum pledged, but from reports of the various committees the amount at present pledged will be somewhat inadequate to fill all requirements. Anyone who has not, as yet, made a donation, and wish to help the finances along, will be conferring a favor to make same at once to any member of this committee—Messrs R. O. Bisbee, Henry Cook and Roscoe Mackey.

Probably in no event that our citizens ever planned has there been such a whole-hearted, get-together-and-work spirit manifested as is being shown among those who have the responsibility of the success of East Jordan's Welcome Home Celebration. With such team work the event is going over the top with a whoop.

Get ready for the Welcome Home. Watch for the dates.

RALLY TO THE MONROE DOCTRINE

Heretofore we have maintained the Monroe Doctrine without the consent of any other nation on earth. In fact, it was originally established in defiance of any other nation. That was its purpose. In some instances, as during the Cleveland and Roosevelt administrations, we have maintained it in spite of the efforts of other nations to ignore it. Now President Wilson proposes in his league of nations covenant to concede that the Monroe Doctrine shall be abandoned whenever the other members of the league decide that it is not a preserver of peace but a provoker of war. It was never intended to be a preserver of peace. It was expressly designed as a preserver of liberty and the American people have never chosen peace at the sacrifice of liberty. Whenever any other nation tries to extend its jurisdiction to the Western Hemisphere, the Monroe Doctrine becomes a basis for war. We shall not concede Mr. Wilson's contention that the doctrine should be abandoned when its maintenance is most desired.

AGRICULTURISTS WILL GET FARM CROPS NEWS

Letter for Michigan Farmers Edited by M. A. C. Department—Sent on Request.

East Lansing, Mich., May 20.—Michigan Farmers will in the future get special farm crops news through their own publication in the form of a letter which is being edited by the farm crops department at M. A. C. The letter will be mailed out from time to time to members of the Michigan Crop Improvement Association, teachers of agriculture, county agents, and all others who ask for it.

Future letters will deal with various matters of interest and value to crop men. J. W. Nicholson, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Crops Improvement Association, is managing editor of the publication.

BUILD NOW!

Production Depends on Construction.

Cutting down production, producing less food, less clothing, less fuel, never has and never will reduce prices. Increase production is the answer to the question of how we can reduce living costs.

We must have production if we are to have lower living costs. In modern industry production is stimulated by construction. Building is a basic industry. If you build a home you make business for more than a hundred correlated and contributing industries. Each building erected sends its wave of demand through the industrial organization, from the ditch diggers to the bank presidents and back, and by way of pay envelopes, to the ditch digger again.

An immediate resumption of building activities will do more than any one thing to stimulate general business and accelerate the transition of industry from war demobilization to the peace normal.

Construction stimulates production—it creates the demand—and production must increase until it reaches the volume production necessary to decrease unit costs before prices are lower.

Assist business and serve your own and the Nation's interests—BUILD NOW.

The Chinese have long believed in peace at any price, and now they are paying the price.

The revenue department is said to be puzzled as to whether a corset is a necessity or a luxury. But why worry over something which is merely a matter of form?

The Italians could back out of their difficulties gracefully by saying to President Wilson: "Take your old town of Fiume; we are too proud to fight."

Memorial Day In East Jordan

Usual Exercises will be Held on May 30th.

Memorial Day Exercises will be held in our city Friday, May 30th. The program will be as follows:

Exercises at the bridge at nine o'clock a. m. conducted by the Relief Corps.

In the afternoon the exercises will begin at 1:30. The schools will march to the G. A. R. Hall and from there will march up Main Street to the end of the pavement and back to the Bank corner where a short program will be given. The soldiers of the Civil War will lead in the marching, followed by soldiers of the present war and Public Schools. Attorney E. N. Clink, Mayor Wilson and a returned soldier will make short addresses.

The Civil War Veterans extend a cordial invitation to all soldiers of the present war and to the City Officials to come to the G. A. R. Hall at 1:30.

MUDDLED AGAIN

A fairly good illustration of the lack of business sense in the War Department is presented in the record of the action of the Department in the matter of soldiers keeping certain equipment after their discharge. On December 4, 1918, the Department issued an order directing that within four months after discharge an enlisted man must return all the outer clothing which he was permitted to wear home. Already he had surrendered his other equipment. This brought a wide-spread protest, for it was apparent to everyone that the men would desire to keep much of the clothing and equipment as souvenirs and for use on public occasions, such as reunions, parades, etc. On April 5, 1919, the War Department issued an order permitting the men to retain permanently as their personal property a full outfit of clothing, under as well as outer, together with a toilet set, barracks bag, gas mask and helmet. Concluding its notice, the Department said that men who have already turned in the clothing and equipment "are authorized to redraw them by applying to the Director of Storage in Washington." One of the purposes of permitting the men to keep their equipment was thus partly defeated, for men who had turned in their clothing would not in most instances get the same clothing back, or, if they did get the identical clothing there must have been an enormous waste of labor in the Department keeping it separate and hunting the particular articles out of an immense quantity on storage.

BEEKEEPERS CHANGE TO LAWFUL HIVES

State Law to be Enforced After July 1st

East Lansing, Mich., May 20.—As a result of an announcement from the State Inspector of Apiaries, B. F. Kindig of M. A. C., that the state law requiring all beekeepers to house their bees in properly constructed hives will be enforced to the letter after July 1, bee men are busy with preparations to make the necessary changes. Box hives, log gums, kegs, barrels, boxes, and crossed comb frame hives are among those which are condemned as illegal.

Inspector Kindig gives June as the best month in which to make the transfer to new hives. The bees must have warm weather and must have gathered sufficient nectar for their own use before they are moved. This will be in May in the extreme southern parts of the state but in June elsewhere. The date for the enforcement of the law has been put off until July in order to give all beekeepers a chance to make the necessary changes after the weather conditions were favorable.

Failure to comply with the law is deemed a misdemeanor in the act and is punishable by a fine of twenty-five dollars for each offense. A legal hive must have combs built in such a way that they can be removed without injury to any of the combs in the hive.

An M. A. C. bulletin on transferring bees and information regarding the law may be had by writing to B. F. Kindig, State Inspector, M. A. C., East Lansing.

INDUSTRIAL LEGISLATION ENACTED BY THE STATE LEGISLATURE

Lansing, Mich., May 20.—Michigan took two advanced steps in industrial legislation at the recent session in the passage of the Miles bill "to prohibit discrimination as between sex in the payment of wages of males and females engaged in the manufacture or production of any article" and the Fitzgerald bill defining the crime of criminal syndicalism. The Miles bill grants to women, by legislation, what the male voters granted them through the medium of the ballot box, viz., wage equality with men for equal service.

Origin of Sabotage

The Fitzgerald bill initiates new matter into the Michigan statutes, in fact one word is put into law for the first time in the history of the state. The word is "sabotage" and is of French origin, and means the wilful injury or destruction of machinery or materials by workmen through apparent accidental means. Tradition has it that a French workman in a rage one day threw his wooden shoes (Sabot) into some machinery crippling the equipment and handicapping production. Others, seeing the result, adopted similar means and from this incident comes the word sabotage.

What Fitzgerald Bill Does

In addition to making sabotage a crime the Fitzgerald bill also provides that any person who by word of mouth or writing, advocates or teaches the duty, necessity or propriety of crime, violence or other unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial or political reform, or prints, publishes, edits, issues or knowingly circulates, sells, distributes, or publicly displays any book, paper, document, or written matter in any form, containing or advocating, advising or teaching the doctrine that industrial or political reform should be brought about by crime, violence or other unlawful methods of terrorism, or openly, wilfully and deliberately justifies by word of mouth or writing, the commission or the attempt to commit crime, violence or other unlawful methods of terrorism with intent to exemplify, spread or advocate the propriety of the doctrines of criminal syndicalism; or organizes or helps to organize, or becomes a member of or voluntarily assembles with any society, group or assemblage of persons formed to teach or advocate the doctrines of criminal syndicalism is guilty of a felony and punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than ten years or by a fine of not less than $5000 or both at the discretion of the court.

Miles Bill Equalizes Wages Between Sexes

Both of these bills while initiating new subject matter into law for the first time had little if any opposition. The Miles bill to prohibit discrimination between sexes was amended in the Senate to exempt agriculture and the further provision was added: "That no female shall be given any task disproportionate to her strength, nor shall she be employed in any place detrimental to her morals, her health, or her potential capacity for motherhood" and with these changes, designed to strengthen the law, the bill was passed. Under this bill which becomes effective August 15th, it will be against the law for any employer "to discriminate in any way in the payment of wages as between sex or to pay any female engaged in the manufacture or production of any article of like value, workmanship and production a less wage, by time or piece work, than is being paid to males similarly employed in such manufacture, production or in any employment formerly performed by males."

Memorial Day Proclamation

By the Governor

Each year as Memorial Day comes round, we are glad to pay homage to the brave men, living and dead, who, by their splendid achievements nearly six decades ago, saved this nation from disruption. Their heroic deeds will never die. Their memories will be cherished while the Republic lasts; for in the hour of their country's need they left their homes and loved ones and went forth to do battle for the life of the Union. Our debt to them can never be paid, but it is our high privilege to hold these men and their achievements in lasting remembrance and honor.

Again, two years ago, our free institutions and our national ideals were menaced by a fierce and powerful foe. Our young men betook themselves in thousands to the training camps and later crossed the seas to uphold on foreign soil the honor of the flag. With a fortitude and a valor befitting the sons and the grandsons of those patriots of an earlier day, they grandly bore their part in the struggle. Now they are coming back to us, but not all; and through our proud joy today, as we greet the returning hosts, there runs a note of sadness. We mourn with those who mourn for the noble fellows who will not come back to us. God help us all so to live, so to keep and guard our birth-right of true freedom, that we may be worthy of the great sacrifice they made for us.

Therefore, that we may pay a tribute of respect and esteem to the surviving veterans of the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the recent World War, and honor the memory of the men who gave up their lives in all these wars, I, ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby issue this my Proclamation and sincerely urge the observance of Friday, May 30th, 1919, as Memorial Day.

And I earnestly appeal to the people of Michigan for hearty co-operation in plans for the observance of the day in their respective communities, and for special provision this year for the comfort and convenience of the old soldiers. Age is telling on them physically but the same undaunted spirit is there as of yore.

On that day flags should be displayed at half-staff until noon, and then hoisted to the top of the staff.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this nineteenth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-third.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor.

LAST OF SEASONS WHEAT GROUND BY THE ARGO MILLING CO.

The Argo Milling Company this week ground the last of their wheat on hand. This is the first time in the history of the Company that their supply of the season's wheat crop has been exhausted before the latter part of November. As there is probably little wheat in the hands of the farmers at present, it means that the Argo Mill will only have what flour they now have on hand to supply their large trade until sometime in August when the new wheat crop will commence to arrive.

The prudent householder will do well to lay in enough of their favorite flour to carry them through until early next winter.

Memorial Day This Year Has New and Great Significance

MEMORIAL DAY, the day of America's soldier dead, has grown with the sweeping growth of America's destiny in this great war. Twenty-five years ago May 30 was the day of remembrance of the Union soldier. The Grand Army met on the village street, and the Woman's Relief corps fell in behind it; a carriage bountifully laden with lilacs and mock orange blossoms, sometimes with roses, brought up the rear, and the cortege moved to the cemetery, where, with prayers and bared heads, the veterans and the people strewed the flowers upon graves which were marked with little flags.

Then came the day, 25 years ago, when the Spanish empire was wiped off the map. Not that we had anything against the Spanish empire; but on that day an irresistible and unforeseen destiny moved our nation, and the world with it, on a glorious path, involving far more than we knew. Then we had new graves to decorate—not so many, perhaps, but graves about which a glorious symbolism clustered.

But see what a new stride it has now taken. Memorial day comes again, and we see the marshal of France, and with him the representatives not only of the French republican government but of Britain, and Italy, standing by many new-made graves of American soldiers in a far foreign land, and reverently laying wreaths and palms upon them, with tears for our dead—tears and emotions of joy as well, for the deed which these American soldiers performed in dying was one which has sealed the unity of the free peoples of the world.

Marshal Foch, Premier Clemenceau and the other French leaders who participate in the decoration of the graves of our soldiers in France know well that they are celebrating an event much vaster than the mere honoring of the heroic boys themselves who had gone to the aid of their cause. They know that they are celebrating the birth of the old world revived and liberated by the coming of the new world to their fair fields devastated by war.

Ingersoll's Tribute To Those Who Died for Their Country

WE cover the graves of the heroic dead with flowers. The past rises before me, as it were, like a dream. Again we are in the great struggle for national life. We hear the sounds of preparation—the music of the boisterous drums, the silver voices of heroic bugles. We see the pale cheeks of women and the flushed faces of men, and in those assemblages we see all the dead whose dust we have covered with flowers. We lose sight of them no more. We are with them when they enlist in the great army of freedom. We see them part with those they love. Some are waiting for the last time in quiet woody places with the maidens they adore. Others are bending over cradles kissing babes that are asleep.

We see them all as they march proudly away, under the flaunting flags, keeping time to the grand, wild music of war—marching down the streets of the great cities, through the towns and across the prairies, down to the fields of glory, to do and to die for the eternal right. We go with them, one and all. We stand guard with them in the wild storm and under the quiet stars. We are with them in ravines running with blood, in the furrows of old fields. We are with them between contending hosts, unable to move, wild with thirst, the life ebbing slowly away among the withered leaves. We see them pierced by balls and torn with shells in the trenches, by foris and in the whirlwind of the charge, where men become iron with nerves of steel. We are at home when the news comes that they are dead. We see the maiden in the shadow of her first sorrow. We see the silvered head of the old man bowed with the last grief.

These heroes are dead. They sleep under the solemn pines, the sad hemlocks, the tearful willows and the embracing vines. Earth may run red with other wars—they are at peace. In the midst of battle, in the roar of the conflict, they found the serenity of death. I have one sentiment for the soldier living and dead—cheers for the living, tears for the dead.

The Closing Scenes of the Great War Between the States

IN THE bright noon of a brilliant spring day in Virginia General Grant, with his staff, rode into the little village of Farmville, a place that will be memorable as the one from which he opened correspondence with Lee regarding the surrender of the Confederate forces. There he met a Doctor Smith, formerly an army officer and relative of General Ewell, then a prisoner of the Federals. Doctor Smith told Grant that the Confederate generals had decided the game was lost when they crossed the line of the James river. Soon after came word that Sheridan had captured the last remaining provision trains of Lee's troops.

Lee made his dispositions for further fighting. Like a wounded lion brought to bay, the gray troops struck this way and that at the ring of tormentors about them. At five o'clock the afternoon of April 7 Grant sent his first note to Lee. It read: "General R. E. Lee, Commanding C. S. A.:—The results of the last week must convince you of the hopelessness of further resistance on the part of the Army of Northern Virginia in this struggle. I feel that it is so, and regard it as my duty to shift from myself the responsibility of any further effusion of blood by asking of you the surrender of that portion of the Confederate states army known as the Army of Northern Virginia."

"U. S. GRANT, Lieutenant General." General Lee replied saying he would discuss terms with General Grant. Meanwhile the fighting went on. Sheridan threw his troops across Lee's front. In a final surge of heroism the worn and hungry Confederates fixed bayonets and drove Sheridan's cavalry almost in a rout. Even the infantry was disorganized. For a few brief minutes hope surged back into Confederate breasts. Perhaps after all they would break the blue cordon, escape to the South, unite with the army of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, and then in the hills of western Virginia reorganize a force that would be the bugbear of the Union again. But it was only a dream.

C. H. WHITTINGTON
THE RUG MAN.

Occasionally a man breaks home ties because home ties have "broke" him. We talk about "natural" people but the only natural ones are very young children. The first thing an orator does when he finds a big bouquet on the table before which he is speaking, is to put the flowers to one side, but a woman will take them up and hold them in her hands or pin them on her gown.

Everybody fears something. To play upon a man's weakness, discover what his fear is.

Ever notice that making up your mind to do a disagreeable thing is not half so hard as doing it?

Nothing causes a lazy man's health to desert him so quickly as to have a stiff, hurry-up job put up to him.

The reason there are not more Nature lovers is because there doesn't seem to be much money in loving Nature.

No man ever quite understands how a good-looking girl ever marries as homely an individual as he thinks any man is.

You may not be superstitious, but did you ever notice how many of your callers on the first day of the month bring you bad luck?

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Get less meat if you feel Backache or have bladder trouble—Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which settles in the kidneys, they become over-worked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot harm; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water—drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

Why not more and better live stock? We believe that this county needs a system of permanent agriculture and live stock is the main drive shaft in such a system. Why not then make a county-wide united effort to place Charlevoix County on the map as having the best live stock in the state? Is it not worth the effort of every citizen, farmer, banker and townsman?

When agriculture goes wrong all other industries go wrong.

Meetings were held at District No. 5, Hudson township, Springvale and Clarion last Wednesday. The subject discussed was Grasshopper control. Prof. Whelan from East Lansing assured us that crops can be saved from the pests by the use of poisoned bait. Chandler township is to make a united effort and the town board has already placed an order for 500 lbs of poison. Wouldn't it be a good plan for the other townships, which were troubled with the pests last year, to do likewise?

The Farm Bureau Crops Committeeman, Frank Bird and the County Agent were about the County Tuesday with J. W. Nidson, State Crops Extension man.

Boys, we will soon have the pure bred registered calf club proposition ready to submit to you. The bankers are going to help and some of the prominent breeders of the county are offering very material assistance, and we believe that the boys should interest themselves in this project. Already a number of boys throughout the county have written or spoken to us about joining the club.

WHEN REYNOLDS FELL

Death of Great Commander Brought Disaster Near to Army of the Potomac.

THE first day's fight at Gettysburg was a gloomy one for the Union forces, and had the Confederates known of the complete disorganization of the federal troops they might have pursued and captured a large part of the army. General Meade was several miles from the field when he received news of the death of Reynolds. He at once sent Hancock to take general charge until he himself should arrive. General Hancock came on the field late in the afternoon and his presence had a tendency to cheer the fallen spirits of the men. He assured them that re-enforcements would arrive during the night, and that victory was surely in sight on the morrow.

Thus ended the first day's fight on that great battlefield, hours before the arrival of General Meade, and had it been all to tell of Gettysburg another defeat of the Army of the Potomac by Lee's gallant sons of the South would have been added to the many which had preceded it. But both of the commanding generals decided to continue the engagement there, and orders were issued to gather in their respective outlying forces for the terrible carnage which would follow on the morrow's morn. Lee had lost Jackson at Chancellorsville—perhaps the greatest corps commander the world has ever known—and there was no one to take his place. Stuart for some unaccountable reason had failed to appear on that day and his exact whereabouts were unknown. But Meade had gathered in all his available forces and the two armies rested that night within a short distance of each other, waiting the coming of the dawn, when the trumpets should sound the roll call for the day—the last one on earth to many thousands of those brave soldiers who on that beautiful July day were to go to their final call beyond the grave.

St. Louis, Mo.—Simon Sobelman, who lives at the Jewish Old Folks' home in St. Louis, chuckled after having read with interest an account of how Leonard Matthews celebrated his ninetyeth birthday by walking six miles.

"What do you think of that youngster?" he said to Mrs. Lena Gellman, the matron. "Here I am, one hundred and eight years old already, and I never walked that far in my life. He must be a scared of the street car."

"The trouble now," said Sobelman, "is that people pay too much attention to what they should eat and drink. Everybody, it seems, is on a diet. I eat and drink what I like and take a little liquor or smoke if I feel like it."

BUILD NOW!

To Increase the Efficiency of Labor, and Increase Production.

Business, from ditch digging to banking, needs building as a stimulus at this time. Building investments, if made with reasonable prudence, are enhanced in value with the increase of population.

"A universal building program means more to the United States right now than at any time in its history. It means individual efficiency for labor; it means increased production in all correlated industries; it means increased material demands until production reaches the quantity production level necessary for reducing unit costs; eventually, it means lower prices. This country is the soundest, healthiest, wealthiest in the world. If you need a home or a building do not hesitate a day longer in going to work on it.

Prices will not be lower until production is increased; costs will not go down until quantity production permits us to avail ourselves of the economy of the maximum efficiency of labor and machinery.

To increase labor efficiency, to increase production, to lower prices—BUILD NOW.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN
