New Orchestra Is Organized.

Met With Hearty Support on New Year's Eve.

The New Metropole Orchestra—East Jordan's latest musical organization—made its initial bow to public favor by a dance at the Armory on New Year's Eve. If the opening number is to be a criterion of the future, then its success is already assured, for the dance given by them on this occasion was one of the best attended in local history.

The New Metropole Orchestra of East Jordan was recently organized with the following officers:

Business Manager—F. R. Bulow
Secretary—W. J. Woods
Treasurer—C. P. Hughes.

The personnel consists of the following young people of our community:

Director and first violin, L. L. LaLonde. Second violin, R. E. Merchant. Piano, Miss Emma Lou Hoyt. Saxophone and clarinet, B. C. Cummins. Cornets, F. R. Bulow and C. P. Hughes. Trombone and Moderator, M. R. Crowell. Bass, H. C. Dicken. Traps, R. H. Davis and C. E. Ashley.

WHITE—MORELY.

Miss Eva Mae White and Mr. William John Morely were united in marriage at St. Joseph's Rectory, Wednesday morning, Dec. 31st. The pastor, Rev. Fr. G. Biers performed the ceremony.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Monroe, and the couple left on the afternoon train on a wedding trip.

The bride is well-known and esteemed by many friends in East Jordan where she was instructor in our public schools for a number of years. The groom is a resident of Grand Rapids, where his parents reside, and they will make their future home in that city.

Mrs. Morely is at present instructor in the Soo public schools and will complete her term there before going to her new home at Grand Rapids.

MALPASS—GALMORE.

Miss Grace Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Malpass, and Mr. Tony V. Galmore of Yuma, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents in this city, Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 30th. Rev. M. E. Hoyt performed the service in the presence of immediate relatives and friends.

The groom is employed at Alma and they will make that city their future home.

AS THE DAY BREAKS

I pray you what is asleep?
The lily pads, and vines and the reeds;
No longer inward do the waters creep,
No longer outwardly their force recede,
The windowed Night, in blackness wide and deep,
Resumes her weeds.

I pray you, what's awake?
A host of stars, the long, long milky way
That stretches out, a glistening silver fate,
All glorious beneath the moon's cold
ray,
And myriad reflections on the lake
Where star-gleams lay.

I pray you, what's astir?
Why, naught but rustling leaves, dry,
sere and brown;
The East's broad gates are yet a dusky
blur,
And star-gems twinkle in fair Luna's
crown,
And minor chords of wailing winds that wars
Die slowly down.

I pray you what's o'clock?
Nay, who shall answer that but gray-stoled dawn?
See how from out the shadows looms yon
rock,
Like some great figure on a canvas
drawn:
And heard you not the crowing of the cock?
The night is gone.

—Ernest McGeary.

Ducks and Birds Can Fly From Surface of the Water

Canvas-back and red-head ducks, which are very quick of movement, after deep diving are capable of taking flight immediately upon coming to the surface of the water. They do not spring directly upward into the air, but fly at first at an angle until they reach the desired elevation. Surface-feeding wild fowl, like the black duck, pintail and teal, fly directly upward from the surface of the water if the emergency demands it.

Legion to Elect Officers.

Will Hold Important Meeting Next Thursday.

An important meeting of Rebec-Sweet Post, American Legion, is scheduled to be held at the Armory, East Jordan, next Thursday evening, Jan. 8th, at 8:00 p. m.

A part of the business to be transacted is the annual election of officers. Every member of the Legion, and every ex-service man in this territory is urged to attend.

This will be the last opportunity of ex-service men to become a charter member of this Post, and all men eligible for membership are urged to be present on this night—Thursday, Jan. 8th.

SCOPE OF FOOD LAW

Misunderstanding as to Application of Act.

Does Not Affect Foods or Drugs Consumed in State Where Manufactured.

Washington.—The federal food and drugs act does not apply, as many people suppose, to foods and drugs which are manufactured and produced in one state and not thereafter shipped out of that state, that is, that are consumed within the state where produced. Such foods and drugs are subject to state laws.

The provisions of the federal food and drugs act do apply to the foods and drugs which (1) are shipped or delivered for shipment from any state or territory or the District of Columbia into any other state or territory or the District of Columbia; (2) are shipped or delivered for shipment from any state or territory or the District of Columbia to any foreign country; (3) are being imported into the United States; or (4) are manufactured, sold, or offered for sale in the District of Columbia or any territory of the United States.

The words "food" and "drug" as defined in the federal food and drugs act have a somewhat different meaning from the popular understanding of those terms. For instance, water under the food and drugs act is classed as food. The term "food" includes all articles used for food, drink, confectionery, or condiment by man or other animals, whether simple, mixed or compound. The term "drug" includes all medicines and preparations recognized in the United States pharmacopoeia or national formulary for internal or external use, and any substance or mixture of substances intended to be used for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease of either man or the animals.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG

Need Physicians and Write Says We Should Live From 90 to 105 Years of Age

Dr. Josiah Oldfield of London, known internationally as a physician and a writer, has published a prescription for keeping old age at bay.

According to him, it is not a question of an operation, but a daily diet, which includes dandelion leaves, fowls' eggs, grapes, lettuce, cow's milk, water-cress, honey and satads (uncooked).

"Old age," he says, "is largely caused by deposit in the blood vessels and cells of the body of waste matter. So by adopting a part fruitarian diet a man, however old, may become young again, because every cell in the body will be replaced by new young cells."

Doctor Oldfield argues that normal persons, rightly fed, should live from ninety to one hundred and five years of age.

Students Fined 12 Cents When Guilty of Flirting.

Bangor, Wales.—Under the rules of the Antismoking league, the object of which is to promote the best interests of the colleges here, a student is liable to a fine of 12 cents if found guilty of ogling or making any sign whatever to attract the attention of girls.

One of the Bureau of Chemistry Laboratories in Which Examinations Are Made to Determine Whether Food and Drugs Shipped From Abroad Are in Accord With the Law.

IMPORTED FOODS AND DRUGS ARE CLOSELY WATCHED

Bureau of Chemistry Charged With Important Duty.

ANALYSIS OFTEN NECESSARY

Products Coming From Foreign Countries Are Carefully Inspected to Insure That They Are Not Misbranded or Adulterated Under the Terms of the Federal Food and Drugs Act. Laboratories Are Maintained at Branch Offices of Bureau.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Larger quantities and a greater variety of foods are being imported from foreign countries each month, although prewar volumes have not yet been reached. This statement is made by officials of the bureau of chemistry, United States department of agriculture, who are charged with the enforcement of the federal food and drugs act.

The importation of both foods and drugs was affected greatly by the war, but the interruption to the importation of crude drugs was less marked than in the case of pharmaceuticals and foods, according to the officials. An inspection of all imported food and drug products is maintained by the bureau of chemistry, in order to insure that such products coming from foreign countries are not misbranded or adulterated under the terms of the federal food and drugs act.

Analysis Often Necessary.

Laboratories for the examination of samples from shipments of imported food and drugs are maintained by the bureau of chemistry at its branch stations in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Savannah, New Orleans, San Francisco, Seattle, San Juan, P. R., and at some other cities where the importations are smaller in volume. Invoices of all food and drug shipments coming into the United States are scrutinized by food and drug officials, and all shipments which there is reason to believe may be misbranded or adulterated are examined. In many instances chemical analysis of samples is necessary to determine whether or not a given shipment is in accordance with the provisions of the law. In other instances a physical examination by a specialist is sufficient.

The federal food and drugs act provides that if any article of food or drugs offered to be imported into the United States is adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of that act, or is otherwise dangerous to the health of the people of the United States, or is of a kind forbidden entry into, or forbidden to be sold, or restricted for sale in the country in which it is made or from which it is exported, or is otherwise falsely labeled in any respect, such article shall be refused admission. The secretary of the treasury is authorized by the act to refuse delivery to the consignee of such articles and to cause the destruction of any goods refused delivery which shall not be exported. However, when importers, through no apparent fault of their own, receive shipments of foods or drugs which are adulterated or misbranded, but not grossly, it is customary to release the goods after relabeling, sorting or cleaning, if a product which complies with the law can thus be obtained.

Many Foods Now Coming In.

Certain crude drugs and some foods, such as coffee, tea, spices, olive oil, figs, etc., are either not produced at all in the United States or are produced in too small quantities to meet the demand. Other foods are imported to meet the demands of that portion of the population born in foreign countries who desire to obtain the same kind of food to which they were accustomed before coming to this country. There are some foods produced or manufactured in other countries which have established a world-wide reputation for excellence or some peculiarity of flavor. Although domestic articles of the same kind may be available in abundance some prefer to buy the foreign article because of an assumed or actual superiority of appearance, flavor or quality. The cognacs and champagnes of France are articles of this class which can no longer be imported; but certain foreign girdles, mineral waters, jellies, sardines, cheeses, etc., continue to be in demand.

Practically all the different classes of foods imported previous to the war, with the exception of alcoholic beverages, are now coming in, say the officials, although in the case of some foods in not as large quantities. War embargoes on some foods are still in effect in a few countries. For instance, olive oil cannot as yet be shipped from Italy. Olive oil, however, is being imported from France and Spain.

The officials of the treasury department co-operate with those of the bureau of chemistry, United States department of agriculture, in enforcing the provisions of the federal food and drugs act relating to imported foods and drugs.

GERMANS WANT WHITE HOUSE

Propose to Spend 22,000,000 Marks for an Official Residence for President.

Berlin, Germany.—Plans are under way to spend 22,000,000 marks for the purchase and equipment of a residence for future German presidents, something on the line of the White House in Washington or the Elysee in Paris, but necessarily less pretentious. The pan-German papers are opposing the idea and one of them remarks sarcastically that the plan does not entirely fit in with Erzberger's talk about "utmost economy."

CAB BREAKS HEART OF KING EDWARD'S HORSE

Paris.—Minoru, pet racer of the late King Edward, the only horse that ever won a Derby for the royal house of Windsor, is dead in Paris. He died of a broken heart. It was the King's flying request that Minoru never should be sold. But Lord Beresford's stable manager disregarded this wish and sold the magnificent steed for a song. Minoru stood his new job one day—then he lay down and died.

Military Ball a Decided Success

Fischers Orchestra Big Feature.

The East Jordan members of the newly formed branch of American Legion are to be congratulated on the success of the dancing party given by them on Saturday evening, Dec. 20th. This event was probably the most notable social affair that has taken place in East Jordan for some time. The best was none to good for the management who secured for the occasion Fischers famous Buffalo Exposition Orchestra of Kalamazoo, probably the leading musical organization of its kind in the state. The announcement of this feature in advance stirred up the social nature of a number of our citizens, who had not been at a party of the kind for many moons and it was a sight to see them all out tripping the fantastic toe, as in the olden days. Needless to say this spirit made them feel several years younger, and has started a movement on foot to ask for a return engagement of Mr. Fisher and his musicians that will be scheduled sometime in January, the exact date to be announced later.

EAGLE RACES WITH AVIATOR

Big Bird is Defeated in Encounter With Airplane Above the Pyrenees.

London.—Eagle and airman have met in a contest for the supremacy of the upper air and the eagle has been defeated. The encounter occurred high above the Pyrenees recently when a British officer was piloting a single seater scout machine from Paris to Madrid. The airman was flying at a rate of 100 miles an hour when a big eagle soared up to meet him.

"It was as if the eagle had thrown me a challenge," said the airman, "but my smile died when I thought that perchance a dive by the bird or maybe a collision would send me crashing to the rocks beneath. The eagle lumbered around me at about ninety miles per hour and I throttled down to the same pace while we took stock of each other, for all the world like two antagonists above the western front."

"The eagle started to climb and I opened the throttle and looped right over him. He made one great effort to catch up and with it his strength failed. His wings gave a feeble beat, and with every appearance of a shot plane he dived to earth completely exhausted."

LITTLE EASIER FOR GERMANS

Allied High Command Modifies Regulations for Controlling Rail Employees.

Coblentz.—The allied high command has just modified the regulations controlling German railroad employees in the occupied territory in an effort to restore satisfactory relations between the military and civil authorities and the railroad employees. A general strike was threatened last week.

Under the new rules uniformed agents of the civil service and railroad employees will not be required to salute allied officers. Railroad employees may organize committees of workmen and employees as provided by the German law of January 18, 1919. Representatives of the railway workmen will be received by the inter-allied railway commission for the discussion of misunderstandings.

Peer is a Bartender; Has Title But No Cash.

London.—A member of the peerage who is a bartender, has been found in Buckinghamshire. He is Sir Henry Echlinhart, now well up in years, who presides over the drinks in "The Bird In Hand" pub at Prince's Risborough. The family formerly possessed estates in Scotland and Ireland, but all had been dissipated before the title descended to Sir Henry.

Wolves Indicate Hard Winter.

The Pas, Can.—A long winter, as bitter as that of 1915, when the mercury fell to 54 degrees below zero, was predicted by trappers reaching here recently, who reported outlying settlements surrounded by great packs of wolves. This, they asserted, was a sure indication of cold weather. Although not yet ravenous, the wolves are following dog trails for long distances. Indians have killed 60 on the outskirts of The Pas.

Survey of the County Schools

School Commissioner Stewart Reviews County Work

With the completion of the fall round of visits including even the small islands of the Beaver group, the commissioner is taking a bird's eye view of conditions measuring what we have with what we might have expected.

Last spring a number of directors looked rather gloomily over the prospects for the coming year. They said "We always do have to take our chances even when we pick and choose. What will it be when we have to take what we can get?" or "There are always a number of misfits anyhow. What will it be when we have so great a teacher shortage?" Surely enough, the prospects were not very bright. The directors had reason to believe that all might not be well. Bright, capable girls were leaving the profession every day and strangers were entering. At best it looked as if only two thirds of the schools could be filled and even then every applicant would have to be considered.

The directors set about their work with a will. They did not intend to hire everybody who applied. It would be far better to have some of the schools closed than to have them running in confusion. Where there was a question of character or very low scholarship, not a director in the county considered the applicant. If it was a question of wages, almost every school said we shall pay what is right. Good teachers who came to apply were seldom allowed to leave if money could induce them to remain. It was hard—those first days of the change of the wage scale last summer but the school officers of the county knew that the children's lives and future were at stake and faced the situation squarely.

The result is splendid. Almost every school has a teacher. Only one school in the county is not provided for. This school has had two applications from qualified teachers who would not teach for less than seventy dollars. They did not feel that they could pay this much. No provisions have been made for the children. Six school districts are transporting their pupils to neighboring districts with very good service. Several others are considering this movement for next year and some are talking of consolidation in order to achieve their ends and be sure of a teacher in the bigger shortage next year.

The finest thing about the year's school work so far, is that we have such a splendid corps of teachers. It pays to be careful and the school officers are to be commended in not having a single failure, in the county schools this year. Every teacher is working might and main. Every teacher is using all the training she had to begin with and looking for more in her libraries and other equipment about her. We never had a more enthusiastic corps of teachers, never had so few complaints, and so many compliments for the teachers in charge.

It is a pretty good feeling on New Year's Day to know that with the teacher shortage looming greater every day, our school boards have managed to help us keep going and still keep us on top. The best way to get a happy New Year is to go out after it and this they have done in the schools of Charlevoix County.

DON'T DISREGARD A COLD

A neglected cold may develop into most serious sickness. The influenza and pneumonia that swept the country a year ago were preceded by an epidemic of colds. Foley's Honey and Tar will check a cold if taken in time. It loosens phlegm and mucous, clears air passages, eases hoarseness, stops tickling throat.—Hite's Drug Store.

Mummies Found in Steam-Heated Cave; Vault Kept Warm by Volcanic Fires

The mummified remains of 13 Aleutians were found in a steam-heated cave on Raganin island recently, and 11 of them have been taken to the National museum at Washington. The cavern that served as a burial vault was kept warm by volcanic fires. The mummies were wrapped in skins and nets, and were completely dried up. It is supposed that the ancestors of the present island natives mummified their dead because they did not wish to part from them, and not for any religious reason. Their method was to wrap the bodies in the skins and intestinal membranes of sea mammals, place them in a squatting attitude on wooden trays, and hang them up in dry caves. Many of them found are undoubtedly very ancient, but of the origin and history of the race little is known. The Aleutians spoke the Russian language when the islands passed into the possession of the United States, along with Alaska, in 1867. Then until 1884 they were left to govern themselves. They have now forgotten the Russian tongue, and are becoming Americanized. Most of them live in clean wooden houses and wear American clothes. The women weave wonderful fabrics of grass, so finely plaited that they resemble silk.

SALTON SEA IS RAPIDLY RECEDING

Waters Are Retreating at Rate of About a Mile Yearly.

SETTLERS GRAB THE LAND

Opens Up Largest Area of Date Producing Land in the Country.—Big Fish Cannery Planned by Arizona Capitalists.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The Salton sea, in the Imperial valley, one of the natural wonders of the West, is constantly shrinking. At present it is about 18 miles long and nine miles wide at the greatest point. During the last five years the water is said to have retreated about a mile a year, leaving a salt-encrusted adobe land, which is eagerly seized by homesteaders. Often their location stakes are planted far out in the water.

The sea, which lies 169 feet below the level of the ocean, abounds in mullet and carp, which local and Arizona capitalists are planning to utilize by the creation of a great cannery.

The United States department of agriculture reports state that about the Salton sea lies the largest area of date-producing land in the country.

Geologists say the Salton "sink," as it once was known, in prehistoric times has changed from desert to sea and from sea to desert 50 times or more.

Becomes Inland Sea

For centuries the Colorado river would flow quietly to the Gulf of California and gradually build up a sandbar across its mouth. Then some spring flood would cause a washout in the river's bank farther north, and the whole torrent would sweep toward the Salton "sink." The desert would become an inland sea, remaining so for centuries perhaps, until some great flood would carve out a shorter way to the ocean. The sea would be drained and the region relapse into a desert.

Mud volcanoes abound near the sea, a short distance inland. They are of all sizes up to great mounds 16 feet in height. They all emit steam, some in a steady stream, others steam and mud alternately. Many of them give out a sulphurous gas. At times their roaring can be heard for miles.

More and more the sea is being visited by tourists, and during the heated season, when the temperature is from 10 to 20 degrees cooler than in the valley towns, dances are frequently held on an old wharf which once served as a landing place for fishing boats, but which has been left high and dry by the receding waters.

Of Interest to Tourists.

Of especial interest to the tourists are the bubbling "paintpots." As the water retreats it is in a state of constant ebullition. Gases from some unknown subterranean source are continually finding escape through unseen vents in the bottom. Layer after layer of colored pigment is deposited. The retreating waters have left uncovered acres of this deposit, said by experts to be fully equal to the dry sienna and amber colors of which so much is imported.

It is thought that the shrinkage of the Salton sea will continue until it finally becomes a salt "sink" with a pool of brackish water in the center, unless a fresh outburst of the great Colorado should replenish its waters.

NAVY OFFERS CASH FOR IDEAS

Usable Ones Submitted by Civilians Will Be Paid For by the Department.

Washington.—The navy will pay a cash reward for usable ideas or suggestions submitted by civilian employees or persons in civil life.

Regulations to carry out the act of congress authorizing such payments have been based on the methods adopted by industrial establishments. The naval inventions office will supply forms on request for the submission of suggestions.

The act states that "reward is to be paid when, due to a suggestion or a series of suggestions, there results an improvement or economy in manufacturing process or plant or naval material."

$4,000 in Shelf Paper.

Seattle, Wash.—How $4,000 of Seattle improvement bonds, bought by a son for an income for his mother, were used by her to paper pantry shelves, was disclosed when some of the mutilated bonds were brought to the office of City Treasurer E. L. Torry to see if they had any value. According to the story told Accountant A. B. Lund, the bonds are the property of an elderly woman who has been living alone in Seattle several years. During a long illness five or six years ago she is said to have suffered a temporary lapse of memory, and when she recovered apparently had forgotten everything about the bonds and their value.

Privation Despite Prosperity.

London.—There were 28 deaths from starvation or accelerated by privation, in England and Wales the past year, though wages were never higher and unemployment never less, according to an official statement. Six of the deaths occurred in London.

ISOLATED FROM HUSBAND FOUR YEARS BY WAR

American Woman Long Shut Out From World in Montenegro Soon to Return.

Isolated for four years in the fastnesses of the Montenegrin mountains through the fortunes of war, Mrs. Rose M. Struger, former Miss Rose Webb, of Tacoma, Wash., will soon be restored to her husband in St. Paul, Minn. Lost to her world since the Austrian hordes swept over the country and her husband marched away with the Montenegrin troops, she and her little son have suffered all the anguish of complete isolation from family and friends besides the physical discomforts of wartime living in a war-wrecked country.

Five years ago Marco Struger brought his wife and baby son from the United States to visit his parents at Ceklin, Montenegro, a village high up in the mountains. While on their visit the war began and the husband shouldered his rifle to help stay the onrush of the Austrian armies, and hurried to army headquarters at Podgoritzza. He was captured by the Austrians, but escaped, and returned to the United States, where he sought Red Cross aid to find his wife in Montenegro.

When an American Red Cross commission arrived in Montenegro after the armistice, Mrs. Struger wrote asking for assistance for the refugees in her little mountain village. Her appeal reached the commission a few days after an inquiry from Washington, asking the commission to locate Mrs. Struger had been received. The supplies were sent to the mountain town, in response to Mrs. Struger's appeal. She took entire charge of the relief work in her district and made several convey-trips between her village and Podgoritzza.

Mrs. Struger proved to be a tall, good looking woman, bronzed by the sun and winds of Montenegro. In her years with the mountaineers she had acquired a perfect speaking knowledge of their language. She was put into communication with her husband and soon will join him in America.

CAN DO ALL TURTLE DOES

Illinois Traveler Carries His House on His Back.

The amphibious turtle has "nothing on" Milton H. Baker, a Christian Science nurse of Highland Park, Ill., who recently started on a 5,000-mile motorcycle trip through Florida. Like the turtle, he carries his house on his back and can travel with equal ease on land or water.

On his motorcycle he carries a twelve-foot folding boat of a type used by explorers. When he comes to a lake he simply unfolds the boat, places the motorcycle in it, attaches the motor to the propeller shaft and goes skimming over the waves. If the gas runs out or the engine goes dead, he has a paddle. If the paddle snaps he has a sail.

He also carries a tent, which he can place over himself and the motorcycle at night if on land, or over the boat if on the water.

As a protection against swampy ground he carries a waterproof flooring for the tent and an air mattress, which may serve the double purpose of a life preserver or an air tank to keep the boat afloat.

But this does not complete the equipment. There is a camping outfit, a complete assortment of tackle for catching Florida's famous green trout, and a mosquito tent. The whole outfit is balanced on a motorcycle-side car, which folds up when in the boat.

BIG HAWK IS FIGHTER

Hunter Kills Bird That Had Been Killing Chickens.

John Fox of Junction City, Kan., received a number of bad cuts in one hand as the result of a fight with a monster chicken hawk.

The hawk, an unusually large black bird, has been killing farmers' chickens in the Milford neighborhood for years, but has always proved gunshy and too wary for the hunters who laid for him. Recently Fox and Joseph Moritz, one of the farmers who had lost many chickens through the hawk, were driving along the road in the latter's car and saw the big hawk ahead of them.

They chased him with the machine, but he kept out of range until the machine was put at full speed. Running abreast with the flying hawk, Moritz brought his car to a sudden halt and Fox jumped out, shooting the hawk through the wing. When Fox attempted to pick him up the big bird put up a fight and finally had to be killed before he could be touched with safety. He had a wing spread of four feet.

Labor and Limitation

Telephone management and operation never stand still. They cannot stand still. The dependency upon them of every important factor in our commercial, industrial and social life precludes any relaxation or suspension of activity.

The Great War caused the demand to overtake the reserve facilities and equipment of the Bell System and for a time it was nip and tuck between demand and supply. Now that the War is ended the Michigan State Telephone Company is planning to spend for new construction in the next two years whatever amount of money the available labor and material supply permits in an effort once more to get ahead of the immediate needs of the public and back to its former position of Ready to Serve.

Rates must be charged to meet present cost scales. But these rates are charged the public for the benefit of the public. Telephone service is a public service and must be maintained at the maximum of efficiency and comprehensiveness at any cost.

MICHIGAN STATE TELEPHONE COMPANY

TELLS HOW HE WAS HELPED

James McCrery, Berrien Center, Mich., says he was troubled with kidney and bladder trouble for two years and used several kinds of medicine without any benefit, but Foley Kidney Pills gave him relief from aches and pains and stopped sleep disturbing bladder ailment. They stop backache and rheumatic pains; ease lameness.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY HERALD

SUPPLEMENT TO THE
EAST JORDAN, MICH., FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1920

Annual Tax Sale.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
County of Charlevoix.
The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in Chancery.
In the matter of the petition of ORAMEL B. FULLER, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

On reading and filing the petition of the Auditor General of the State of Michigan praying for a decree in favor of the State of Michigan, against each parcel of land therein described, for the amounts therein specified, claimed to be due for taxes, interest and charges on each such parcel of land, and that such lands be sold for the amounts so claimed by the State of Michigan.

It is ordered that said petition be brought on for hearing and decree at the February term of this Court, to be held at the Court House in Charlevoix in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Second day of February A. D. 1920, at the opening of the Court on that day, and that all persons interested in such lands or any part thereof, desiring to contest the lien claimed thereon by the State of Michigan, for such taxes, interest and charges, or any part thereof, shall appear in said Court, and file with the clerk thereof their objections thereto on or before the first day of the term of this Court above mentioned, and that in default thereof the same will be taken as confessed and a decree will be taken and entered as prayed for in said petition. And it is further ordered that in pursuance of said decree the lands described in said petition for which a decree of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by said decree, on the first Tuesday in May thereafter, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m. on said day, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the county seat of the County of Charlevoix State of Michigan; and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale, and each parcel described in the decree shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein; or, if no person will pay the taxes and charges and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. If any parcel of land cannot be sold for taxes, interest and charges, such parcel shall be passed over for the time being, and shall, on the succeeding day, or before the close of the sale, be reoffered, and if on such second offer, or during such sale, the same cannot be sold for the amount aforesaid, the County Treasurer shall bid off the same in the name of the State.

Witness the Hon. Frederick W. Mayne, Circuit Judge, and the seal of said Circuit Court of Charlevoix County this 6th day of December A. D. 1919.

FREDERICK W. MAYNE,
Circuit Judge.

(Seal)
Countersigned,
RICHARD LEWIS, Clerk.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in Chancery:
The petition of ORAMEL B. FULLER, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, respectfully shows that the list of lands hereinafter set forth and marked "Schedule A," contains a description of all the lands in said County of Charlevoix upon which taxes were assessed for the years mentioned therein, and which were returned as delinquent for non-payment of taxes, and which taxes have not been paid; together with the total amount of such taxes, with interest computed thereon to the time fixed for sale, and collection fee and expenses, as provided by law, extended against each of said parcels of land.

Your petitioner further shows to the Court that said lands were returned to the Auditor General under the provisions of Act 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as delinquent for non-payment of said taxes for said years respectively, and that said taxes remain unpaid, except that lands included in said "Schedule A" for taxes of 1890 or prior years were returned to the Auditor General as delinquent for said taxes under the provision of the general tax laws in force prior to the passage of Act 200 of the Public Acts of 1891, and which taxes remain unpaid.

Your petitioner further shows that in all cases where lands are included in "Schedule A" as aforesaid for taxes of 1890 or of any prior year, said lands have not been sold for said taxes or have been heretofore sold for said delinquent taxes and the sale or sales so made have been set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction, or have been cancelled as provided by law.

Your petitioner further shows and avers that the taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as set forth in said "Schedule A," are a valid lien on the several parcels of land described in said schedule.

Your petitioner further shows that the said taxes on the said described lands have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent; and the said taxes not having been paid, and the same being now due and remaining unpaid as above set forth, your petitioner prays a decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands, for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land contained therein, and in default of payment of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands, that each of said parcels of land may be sold for the amounts due thereon, as provided by law, to pay the lien aforesaid.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.
Dated December 1, 1919.

ORAMEL B. FULLER,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan,
for and in behalf of said State.

A vast amount of work now remains to be done which the intervention of war has necessarily delayed and accumulated, and the result is that a very large capital expenditure ought to be made to make up for the interruption inevitably due to the war, and to prepare the railroads to serve adequately the increased traffic throughout the country.

WALKER D. HINKS, Director General of Railroads.

Work more—
Produce more—
Save more—

But we can't continue increasing our production unless we continue increasing our railroad facilities.

The farms, mines and factories cannot increase their output beyond the capacity of the railroads to haul their products.

Railroads are now near the peak of their carrying capacity.

Without railroad expansion—more engines, more cars, more tracks, more terminals—there can be little increase in production.

But this country of ours is going to keep right on growing—and the railroads must grow with it.

To command in the investment markets the flow of new capital to expand railroad facilities—and so increase production—there must be public confidence in the future earning power of railroads.

The nation's business can grow only as fast as the railroads grow.

Olive Tree Introduced in Golden State by Priests; Mission Variety Popular

The ancient scrap between Minerva, who gave the olive, and Apollo, who bestowed the horse upon mankind, was decided, as will be remembered, in favor of the lady—the dispute being as to which of the two gifts was the more valuable.

To understand the reason for this decision, one ought to live in the Mediterranean region, where the olive is a vital factor in the lives of the people. They could much more easily spare the equine quadruped.

Olive culture has already assumed great importance in our own country. In 1916 (the latest year for which figures are available) there were in California 834,938 olive trees in bearing, and 515,221 not yet old enough to yield fruit. The state's production in that year was 1,000,000 gallons of olive oil and 1,800,000 gallons of pickled olives.

"No More New Duds Until Prices Go Down," Popular Slogan With Englishmen

Fashionable London tailors are said to be somewhat perturbed over the reported popularity of a clothes conservation "movement" hailing from the United States which is being enthusiastically acclaimed by Englishmen wearied of long continued high clothing costs.

Over there, the "movement" has manifested itself in the organization of "old clothes" leagues—societies with the single-pledge slogan—"no more new clothes until prices go down."

Those who assume this pledge are expected to regard patches on trousers, shabby coats and worn-up collars in boots and shoes as badges of honor.

Honor. The turning of old suits, sewing in of new linings and other necessary alterations which make an old pair of trousers, coat and vest serve the purpose of a new suit at one-third the cost is another part of the practical application of the "league" precepts.

INCREASE IN EXPORTS

Department of Commerce Gives Out Statistics.

Meat, Breadstuffs and Dairy Products Sent Abroad in Large Amounts.

Washington.—Breadstuffs exported from the United States during October were valued at $87,704,078, a decrease of about $4,000,000 as compared with October, 1918. For the last ten months breadstuffs exports were $783,814,020, as against $643,855,409 for the same period in 1918.

The monthly report of the department of commerce also showed October cotton exports totaled 352,231 bales, valued at $60,732,867, as against 383,995 bales, worth $60,027,704, for October, 1918. In the last ten months cotton exports aggregated 4,755,593 bales, at $775,413,702, compared with 3,178,859 bales at $518,405,022 for the corresponding period of 1918.

Meat and dairy products exported in October amounted to $69,494,243, against $63,040,618 a year ago. While for the first ten months of this year they totaled $1,035,776,252, a heavy increase over the total of $782,353,845 during the same period last year.

Cottonseed oil exported during the month amounted to 11,747,514 pounds at $2,653,479, and mineral oils reached a total of 271,767,087 gallons, worth $34,705,895.

Wheat was the heaviest grain export for the month, totaling 13,696,675 bushels, at $33,010,872, and bacon the most valuable meat export, with 56,462,312 pounds, worth $18,299,701.

FARMER OUT $30,000

Fans for Scheme of Mysterious Stranger.

Would Cut Ice at North Pole, Dump It in Kansas and Sell It There.

Minneapolis, Kan.—Visions of affluence gone and with them $30,000 hard-earned cash, Homer Hognrath, a farmer near this town, applied for a warrant for Gallileo Grubb, alias Gallileo Grubb, alleged participant in the discovery of the north pole and promoter for the "Aurora Borealis Ice company."

One blazing hot day last July Gallileo appeared on the Hognrath farm. He was equipped with an apparatus similar to those used by surveyors. He seemed busy and preoccupied, continually looking toward the skies and gesticulating, as if absorbed in calculating some "obtruse" problem in mathematics.

Finally, Hognrath says, the stranger suddenly exclaimed excitedly: "This is the spot, the very spot." Then Gallileo offered to buy the farm, but Hognrath, scenting a mysterious fortune, refused to sell.

Upon his fourth visit Hognrath says Gallileo agreed to take Hognrath into partnership for $30,000. He explained that he had accompanied Peary to the north pole, and that the pole was really a steel projection. He had invented, he told Hognrath, a mighty scoop, to be attached to the pole and to be run by electricity. In the process of the earth's revolution, Gallileo explained, the scoop would dip into the ice of the arctic, and as the earth revolved the scoop would gradually tip and its contents fall to the earth in the exact longitude and latitude of Hognrath's farm.

Hognrath after paying the $30,000, agreed to remain on the farm and take care of the ice, while Gallileo would return to the pole and harness his scoop to it.

Gallileo is still at the pole.

REFUGEES TROUBLE HOLLAND

Hundreds Still Interned—Treatment Called Overseas by the Dutch Press.

Harderwijk, Holland.—Hundreds of men and women of all nationalities, considered undesirable but accorded refuge and hospitality by the Netherlands, are still confined behind barbed wire fences in the big war internment camp here. They still are sources of trouble to the Dutch government. Many of them are war refugees, escaped from Germany or Belgium, and to their number since the war have been added several scores of Russians of bolshevist tendencies, whom the government has confined here for safe-keeping.

The Russians have been particularly troublesome, but the meigs (taken by one of the Dutch military officers in charge of the camp to control their actions are reported in the Dutch press to have been so severe that recently a number of Dutch soldiers are said to have mutinied rather than obey the orders.

"Ghost" Taken Alive From Gotham Chimney

New York.—Occupants of a Ridge street tenement house were almost correct when they reported to the police that groans of a "ghost" had been annoying them for two days. Detectives and firemen dug a hole in a chimney in the house and extracted David Cohen, a pushcart peddler, who said that, business being bad, he had decided to end his life by jumping down the five-story chimney. He was taken to a hospital suffering chiefly from hunger and exhaustion.

NO TRIAL, KAISER THINKS

Former Emperor Too Lethargic to Concentrate Mind on Suggestion That He Surrender.

London.—Former Emperor William of Germany believes he will not be brought to trial by the allies, says the Berlin correspondent of the Daily Mail. Various friendly sources have recently suggested that he surrender to the allies, offering to give the court all information in his power, the correspondent says, but he appears too lethargic to take any steps or even concentrate his mind upon the preparation of notes.

Next to sawing wood, the erstwhile monarch's main interest seems to be the various campaigns waged in Russia, which he follows with the aid of large beflagged maps, and he eagerly reads all the news from that country.

Wild Ducks Pursue Grasshoppers. Bismarck, N. D.—The invasion of North Dakota by grasshoppers has brought a counter invasion of wild ducks and geese, according to the reports of the game wardens from all over the state. In virtually every section of the state where there is water thousands of ducks and geese are to be found weeks earlier than usual, feeding on grasshoppers. Deer are more plentiful than in former years, along the Missouri river bottom, according to reports.

Uncle Josiah's Christmas

By GRAHAM LINGFIELD

Copyright, 1919, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

HE street cars were crowded and the little man standing on the sidewalk hitched the collar of his coat a bit higher and allowed the women and children, with arms laden with parcels, to clamber aboard ahead of him. It was Christmas eve, and the holiday spirit was all about him. Not that Josiah Miggs had been Christmas shopping. Oh, no. He was just on his way from business.

He took another wistful peep at the girl on the boarding opposite and resigned himself to seeing another loaded car go by without stopping. The fact of the matter was that Jos Miggs was about the loneliest little old man in little old Manhattan, and silly as it may sound, he had adopted a girl on a boarding—an advertising girl—as his friend. Every day as he went to and from the real estate office where he worked he always glanced up at the boarding as he passed, and the girl always seemed to smile back at him in a cheery, encouraging manner. Tonight he did not feel that he could think too much about the girl on the boarding because, when one has only a very lonely Christmas to look forward to, thinking about impossibilities only makes matters worse. So Jos humped his shoulders to the cold wind that was blowing and waited for another car.

It was a sounding thwack that fell on his shoulders as he stood there, and Jos had to gasp for breath before looking around to see what had hit him.

When he did, however, all he could see was a round, grinning face ever so high up looking down into his. He stared at it in perplexity a moment, then wheeling around exclaimed:

"Why, Tom!"

The tall young man stood and grinned while Jos looked him up and down.

"When did you strike town, Tom? I haven't seen you since you were a little bit of a feller."

"Two months ago, Uncle Jos. I got a job with Billings & Kent, the hardware people. I've been looking for you, uncle."

"Well, well, Tom, I'm glad to see you. Suppose we go along and have some dinner together, eh? How would that be?"

The big young man shook his head. "Sorry, uncle," he said, "but it can't be done. I'm—I'm promised somewhere else."

Mr. Miggs gave him a sly, sidelong glance. "So that's the way the wind blows, eh?"

The young man reddened. "I—I promised," he stammered. Then a bright idea striking him, he grasped his uncle by the arm.

"But I tell you what, uncle, you come along with me."

Uncle Jos shrank back in his overcoat. What, he butted in where he was not wanted? No, indeed. He dragged his arm out of Tom's grasp. "Nonsense, Tom," he said. But Tom held on.

"Now look here, uncle; you're the only relative I have in this city. You

"You Come Along With Me."

Just have got to come along and be introduced."

And as Tom was nearly three times as big as Uncle Jos, he almost lifted him bodily into the street car that happened to be waiting, and away they went.

It was with some trepidation that Mr. Miggs followed his nephew into the neat little flat where Tom's fiancée lived. He did not feel at all sure of his welcome. He was only in his business clothes, and he knew quite well that his collar was none too fresh. Well, it was Tom's fault for dragging him there. He would just say how do you do and then escape—escape, to his boarding house—and—

He found himself ensconced in an easy chair in the cozy parlor. There was a faint glow about, but sounds indicated that somebody was busy. Tom took a chair, too, and they started in to tell him all about it.

Ethel Westcott was a stenographer at Billings & Kent's and Tom had fallen in love with her the very first day he had gone there. She lived alone with her mother, her father having died some years ago, and Tom and she hoped to be married very soon. Just as soon as he had saved something to start on. Then suddenly Tom sprang up, exclaiming:

"Gee, Uncle, I forgot to buy the cigars!" and seizing his hat from the hatstand, fled, leaving Mr. Miggs all by himself in the parlor. For the moment Uncle Jos didn't know whether to jump up and follow Tom or to sit where he was.

But Tom was gone, and there was nothing for him to do but to sit still. What an awkward predicament to be in! To be left in a strange house where nobody knew who he was. Supposing somebody were to come in—how was he to explain himself? He was just wondering what on earth he should say, when sure enough footsteps sounded down the passage. They approached the room.

Uncle Jos covered in his chair. What a stupid Tom was to leave him like that! Suppose they took him for a burglar or something. Uncle Jos dared not look up. The footsteps were almost at the door. They ceased. Mr. Miggs dared scarcely breathe. He sat as if petrified. What would happen?

A scream, perhaps, a yell of fright! No, nothing happened. Perhaps it was only Tom standing there, after all. At last the trembling little man screwed up his courage and raised his eyes. For a moment he thought he must have fallen asleep and dreamed of the girl of the boarding.

She was actually there and smiling down at him as usual. The same bright face and curling hair, the merry eyes with the friendly glint in them. Was this Tom's girl? Why, he seemed to have known her all his life. He rose to his feet, a tentative smile on his pale cheeks. He didn't know what to say, but there was no need, for the girl stepped forward.

"Uncle Jos, I'm sure," she smiled. "I've heard Tom speak of you so often."

He waited while she crossed the room to him and took his hands in hers. She stood before him, speaking words of kindness and welcome. "We've been thinking of you and wondering how we could find you. Tom said that you were all alone; and we could not have enjoyed our Christmas thinking that." She stooped and kissed his cheek. Wonderingly Tom's uncle looked at her, tears of gladness in his eyes.

No need for introductions, no need for explanations; just friendliness and hospitality. And when presently Ethel's mother came from the kitchen, and Tom returned from his shopping, it was just like a family gathering. Of course they made him stay to supper, and afterward to help hang the decorations, and when at last he said good-by their voices followed him down the street "A Merry Christmas, Uncle Jos, and mind you come early tomorrow."

SOWING CHRISTMAS SEED

How the Problem of Storing a Barrel of Apples in a Small New York Apartment Was Solved.

A New York couple recently received a barrel of fine apples from a relative up in the fruit country and were puzzled for a while, not only as to where to put such a bulky package in the narrow confines of a four-room apartment, but also as to how to keep the fruit from spoiling in the steam-heated temperature. As there are only two in the family, it seemed as though they were sure to have some spoiled apples on hand before long.

"Might give them away for Christmas," suggested the head of the house.

"That wouldn't do at all," said the wife. "But I'll tell you what we will do. You know, there's a lot of people we know who won't think to send us any presents this year unless we bring the matter to their attention in some way. Now, if I send every one of my friends a nice basket of apples this week they'll all remember our existence and we'll get something from almost every one. I'll just do it."

And she did. Now they are looking forward to Christmas with much more curiosity and eagerness than usual, and have enough apples left to last as long as they are likely to keep.

BELGIANS DO NOT FIND OLD HOMES

All Landmarks Obliterated by Shell and Shrapnel Fired in War.

NEW SURVEYS NECESSARY

Long Series of Disputes and Complications Likely to Arise—Old Boundaries of Farms Are Completely Wiped Out.

Ypres, Belgium.—Thousands of Belgian families probably never will find their former homes in No Man's Land. All means of identifying them have been shot away.

They will find homes, of course, somewhere in that desert waste, perhaps on what used to be somebody else's land. But the exact location of their own sacred bit of ground may forever remain a mystery.

Nearly five years of ceaseless bombardment has obliterated the landmarks upon which the pre-war land surveys were based. The old boundaries which distinguished one farm from another have literally been pounded into the earth—too deep for resurrection.

New surveys will come in time, probably more scientific than the old. Everyone who once owned part of the great battlefield will receive something, equal in size and as near as possible to where his former home is thought to have been.

Peace of Mind Vanishes

But in another sense this can never compensate. Nor can the old peace of mind ever fully return to folk so attached to their own little piece of earth that nothing less than certain death from shell fire—and sometimes not even this—could induce them to desert it.

This is one phase of tomorrow's human story in that vast, cratered desolation which reaches here beyond eye range in every direction—once one of Belgium's most beautiful farming districts.

As yet, very few homeseekers have returned. Of these, some took one despairing look at the miles of water-logged shell areas and climbed back on a train for the place from whence they came—to wait a few months more until the process of reclamation has had time to make a little progress.

Others are still searching among the ruined trenches and shell holes, filled with marsh grass and stagnant water for clues to their homes.

Landmarks Are Demolished

The big stone at the corner boundary—and from which, perhaps, all surveys for the entire neighborhood were made—the well in the front yard, the house, the barn, the shade tree over the gate—all have simply disappeared under war's terrible effacement. Nothing remains to indicate where they once were.

What will happen when the real vanguard of the exiled Arcadians finally arrives? Opinions here differ.

Some predict a general scramble to stake out plots on the most desirable, or, rather, least undesirable—locations, a mild restaging of some of the incidents in our own American history, such as when the squatters rushed into the Middle West.

And then a long series of disputes and complications when others arrive who believe themselves the rightful owners of the "claims," with probably years of legal entanglements in court. For it is easily conceivable that under prevailing conditions it might be extremely difficult to dislodge a claim jumper.

SPEAK FRENCH, ALSACE RULE

Strasbourg Citizens Intent on Eliminating German as Language of the People.

Strasbourg, Germany.—The language most commonly heard on the streets here is not German or French, but Alsatian, a patois not more dissimilar to French than is the patois of the Breton farmer or Breton longshoreman. Strasburgers are intent, however, to eliminate German as much as possible.

This evening I heard loud talking in a corner of a dining room of the hotel just behind my table. It was the host waiter berating one of his help. The voice bore an especially strong German accent, although the words were French. They were: "I don't want to hear a single word of German spoken here; French it must be from now on."

Club Women Bar Silk Hosiery

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—No more silk hose will be purchased by members of the current events department of the Women's club here for one year. A resolution pledging the members to such a course has been adopted as one step in combating the high cost of living. The women also agreed not to wear silk stockings after those they now have are worn out.

Deer Not Like His Name

Lincoln, Kan.—One of the young men in Lincoln high school feels that he is unfortunate in his name. It has not thus far in his life affected his popularity in the school or in the community where he is well known. But how about the time when he shall have to begin life on his own account? This boy's name is Klee and Royal, and at that.

GAY TOWN OF VERNON DYING

To Be Merged With City of Los Angeles as Result of Prohibition Law.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The city of Vernon, a little independent town entirely surrounded by the southeast section of Los Angeles, is about to give up its municipal ghost, and be merged into the corporation of Los Angeles. The decision of Vernon to become a memory followed the enactment of federal prohibition. Until that arrived, Vernon was a "wet spot," entirely surrounded by arid Los Angeles.

It is a manufacturing town, but its claim to fame has rested on its entertainment facilities. Before the country went dry, Vernon had a group of restaurants and cafes that were famous all over the country. The motion picture people, the artists and Bohemians, and the writers of the West, all turned there for gaiety.

With the passing of liquor, city revenues of Vernon, derived from license fees and from fines against the hilarious patrons, have dwindled to nothing; it can't pay salaries, hence it cannot retain officials.

Leave Record of Existence On Ever-Enduring Spirit

It is then obvious that if we desire to live worthily, if we wish to fulfil the great purposes for which we were created, we must leave the record of our existence inscribed on the ever-enduring spirit. The impression there can never be effaced. Time, which obliterates nations and the record of their existence, only renders the lineaments which we trace on mind deeper and more legible. From the very principles of our social nature, moral and intellectual character multiplies indefinitely its own likeness.—Francis Wayland.

Hardy Small Fruit.

Currants and gooseberries are very hardy and withstand extremely low temperatures; in fact, if windbreaks are provided, most varieties are able to withstand the severe conditions. In most parts of the upper Mississippi valley and the northern Great Plains area.—Agricultural Department.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

American Musicians Are Returning to Old Haunts After World War Strain

From the music of cannon and the rhythm of marching feet, back to the quiet harmony of studio and concert hall.

Hundreds of musicians in America threw down their bow and their baton to enter the war. To some the idea was just a bit ludicrous—the emotional musician engaged in the brutal, uncomfortable business of fighting. To those who knew the patriotic fervor and adaptability of these inspired music makers, there was more than a little anxiety for the peace future of warrior musicians. How would the delicate mechanism of their psychology be affected by an activity so powerful and so far from their normal desires?

Some musicians like David Hochstein, the young violinist who lost his life in the Argonne, will never return. But unassuming numbers of them have taken their places again in the ranks of players. One may hear them in the theater orchestra. They are playing in the cabaret jazz band, content to return to the humdrum of the life which was so entralling to them before the war. It may be a bit static to them now. But the reaction will soon set in, has already come to many who have lost the first restless craving for excitement that they felt on their return from the front.

Percy Grainger, Australian pianist, has returned to his old job of composing and concertizing. Irving Berlin, king of popular music, has stopped inspiring the soldier and has set his brilliant talents to inspiring the soldier in civilian life. Albert Spalding, one of the greatest of America's violinists, is on his way home from the front. His old job of fiddling and making the world safe for culture is waiting for him, and he will take it gladly. Pianists, tenors, trombonists are all slipping back into the old paths—and are glad to be there.

The Kitchen Cabinet.

Persons who are conscious of a necessity for "killing time" can hardly be said to be living. For life is such a wonderful thing, such a fascinating thing, such an all-absorbing joyous experience, that it is impossible to tolerate the suggestion of killing even a second of time in which we have the privilege of living.

Almond Cakes.

Use any good white cookie recipe, roll and cut the cookies, then spread with maple fondant and sprinkle with chopped almonds while they are still warm from the oven.

A box of cakes and a glass of jelly or a bottle of grape juice makes a most acceptable gift. It eliminates the unessential, for they are soon gone.

Ways With Grape Juice.

The thrifty housewife who has bottled enough grape juice to supply her family with many tasty dishes and drinks is fortunate. Grape juice is so popular with everybody that it is becoming the universal drink. But grape juice may be used for various dishes besides, of which the following are a few:

Grape Juice Sherbet.

Boll together one quart of water and two cupsful of sugar (strained honey may be used) for 20 minutes; add a teaspoonful of gelatin which has been softened in three tablespoonfuls of cold water. When cold add two cupsful of grape juice and the juice of one lemon. Freeze. Serve in sherbet glasses with a cherry for garnish.

Breakfast grapefruit is delicious served with a spoonful or two of grape juice poured into the center of the prepared halves of grapefruit.

Grape Juice Parfait.

Beat until stiff one and one-half cupsful of heavy cream, add one-half cupful of grape juice and the juice of half a lemon. Cook together in the soft ball stage three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of grape juice, then pour boiling hot water over the stiffly beaten egg white; beat until cold. Fold the two mixtures together and pour into a quart mold, filled to overflowing. Lay a waxed paper over the mixture and press the cover in place over the paper. Pack in equal measures of ice and salt. Let stand three hours.

Grape Juice Sponge.

Soften one-fourth of a package of gelatin in cold water, using one-fourth of a cupful, dissolve by heating over hot water; add two-thirds of a cupful of grape juice, the same amount of sugar, and the juice of half a lemon; stir over ice water until the mixture begins to thicken, then gradually beat in the whites of three eggs; when the mixture holds its shape, fold in one-fourth pound of marshmallows cut in quarters. Turn into a mold or individual molds. Serve with cream.

For tinting cake frostings as well as adding flavoring, use the grape juice instead of water.

Hot grape juice with the addition of sugar makes a delicious sauce for puddings.

New Uses for Laminated Woods
Prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture

The present-day penchant of manufacturers and others for substitutes threatens even those trusted baseball bats to which every big league hitter looks to perpetuate his fame. The forest products laboratory of the forest service, United States department of agriculture, has recently been manufacturing experimentally a number of laminated wood articles with the idea of utilizing small lumber stock. Baseball bats are among the articles which have been experimented on. In practically every instance the products made from this material have given as good service as those made in the regular way. Whether they would satisfy the critical demands of professionals who inspect their white ash clubs with zealous care is a matter as yet undetermined.

Laminated Bowling Pins Glued With Hide, Also Water Resistant Casein Glue.

The fact remains, however, that the initial success in the experiments cited seem to indicate that there is a large field heretofore undeveloped in which laminated wood can be used successfully. Attention is called to the fact that, while some of the bats have broken under severe usage, the breaks were not in the glued joints, indicating that the artificial joining has been accomplished in an entirely satisfactory manner.

Shoe lasts were also made of laminated wood and after undergoing the severest usage in various factories are still serviceable. Hat blocks of a similarly built material were tried out thoroughly and proved very satisfactory. Recently constructed specimens of wagon bolsters which were made up with laminations carefully joined just before gluing are standing weather tests well. A wagon company is giving these articles a trial.

PIGS CAUSED WORLD WAR
Quand Between Austria and Serbia Traced to Difficulty Over Swine

Pigs—just pigs—brought on the war, according to a statement accredited to Count Carl Sellen, formerly confidential adviser to the erstwhile Emperor Charles at Vienna. Frederick H. Mead of Troy, N. Y., a member of the Red Cross convoy taking food supplies to Budapest, reports the count as saying:

"Fifteen years before the war Serbia was shipping great numbers of pigs into Hungary, successfully competing with the Hungarian farmers. The Hungarians protested but the border was left open. Finally the Austro-Hungarian government on the pretext that all Serbian pigs were diseased placed an embargo on them.

"Up to that time the two governments had more or less of a friendly understanding. Political leaders in Serbia seized upon the pig incident. Austro-Hungarian diplomats took up the question. Misunderstandings arose over it. When it grew too old for political propaganda, other questions were built out of it and thus the world war was brought on.

"Yes, there is no doubt, pigs caused the war."

Ticket Stamper's Accident Led to Discovery of Art of Printing From Stone

An odd accident led to the discovery of lithography. In 1796 a ticket stamper, employed at a Munich theater, carelessly left his salary check on a table in the room where he worked. A gust of wind suddenly blew the check off the table into a basin of water on the floor. He dried the check as best he could, and, to straighten the paper out, he placed it underneath the whetstone, which had been resting on his printing stamp, and left it lying there throughout the night.

The following morning, on taking the stone off the check, he was surprised to see that the imprint from the stone was transferred to the check, and the thought struck him that by means of a large stone he could "print" programs and songs. He made experiments, and finally discovered—through this accident—the art of printing from stone.

"The World War," Official Name for Great Conflict

The war is still so close to modern times that all sorts of names have been used to distinguish it from other wars. The war department through the secretary of war, has decided to call it "The World War." An official order to that effect was made public recently, declaring that "the war against the central powers of Europe, in which the United States has taken part, will hereafter be designated in all official communications and publications as 'The World War.'"

Parasite That Attacks Both Cedar and Apple Tree With Bad Results

"It may seem strange that a parasite should attack the stems and leaves of the cedar and produce these tumor-like growths, but this is only one-half of the story," says Frank D. Kern, writing of the parasite known as "Cedar Apples" in Boys' Life. "The other half is the climax of strangeness. The parasite leads a 'double life'—in its other stage it lives on the apple tree, killing the leaves, but sometimes the fruit. Wild crab apples and cultivated apples are both affected. The apple grower speaks of it as 'orchard rust,' and on the apple it produces an entirely different effect.

From its appearance one would never suspect its relation to the cedar apples. Yellowish or reddish spots first appear on the apple leaves. On the upper side of these spots small dots develop and later become blackish. On the under side of the leaves delicate feathery projections develop. In the fall, winter and spring, the parasite lives on the cedar. It goes back and forth by means of tiny 'germs' known as spores, which are carried by the wind. This history of the parasite suggests that it would find conditions best where cedars and apples grow close together, and such is the case. On the apple this rust is a serious disease in some localities. The best method of prevention is the destruction of the cedars in the vicinity.

It is not likely that the wind will carry the spore for more than a few miles. The state of West Virginia has a law regarding the destruction of cedars near apple orchards. The parasite does not spread from apple to apple nor from cedar to cedar. Some varieties of apples resist the attacks better than others. I have seen Stayman Winesaps practically untouched when Grimes Golden in the same orchard were badly affected."

BREEZY SMILES

Seems Long. Bacon—Now they tell us that macaroni is getting short.

Egbert—I can't believe it. Whenever I have attempted to eat it, it has always seemed about the longest thing I ever tackled.

World Going Straight.

City Dweller—I do believe the world is reforming.

Suburbanite—On what theory do you base your ideas?

City Dweller—I bought a lot in the country today that was as near to the railroad station as it was advertised and it wasn't under water.

In Course of Repetition.

"Are you sure she won't repent what you told her in confidence?"

"Quite sure," replied Miss Cayenne. "She will repeat something which sounds a little like what I told her, but which really makes the matter sound much worse."

A Tribute.

"That was a fine argument you made."

"Then you agree with me?" said Senator Sorghum.

"Not exactly. But you certainly made me wish you were on one side of the question at issue."

An Offer.

Mr. Multitox—Dear lady, don't you sometimes feel the need of true companionship and protection?

Mrs. Hunter-Mann—Yes; oh, yes, Harold, often.

Mr. Multitox—Then perhaps you'll be willing to take care of my buldog while I'm out of town. He's very companionable and a dandy protector.

Or Cut of Her Jib.

Mrs. Styles—I understand that there are many women sailors among the Finns and Norwegians.

Mr. Styles—No doubt they are easily recognized by the rigging.

Royalty Formerly Married Outside Its Own Circles

Britain's kings did not always seek their mates from the narrow circles of royalty. In the days of the Plantagenets, Tudors and Stuarts alliances of English and Scotch monarchs with their subjects were not uncommon. The royal marriage act was passed in 1772 prohibiting any descendant of George II, except those who were the issue of princes or princesses married into foreign houses, from contracting marriages before the age of twenty-five without the assent of the king signified under the great seal.

112 Millions used last year to KILL COLDS
HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE
Standard cold remedy for 20 years—relieves cold, cures, no opiates—breaks up a cold in 24 hours—relieves grip in 3 days. Money in it, as it fails. The genuine box has a Red top with Mr. Hill's picture. At All Drug Stores.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do. Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Brest Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF ACHING JOINTS

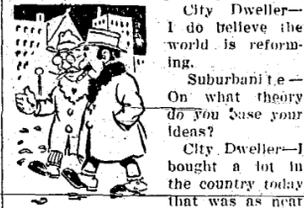

Rub soreness from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of old St. Jacob's Liniment.

Stop "dosing" rheumatism. It's pain only; you can ease in fifty minutes internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Liniment" right on the "aching spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacob's Liniment" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and never burns the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia. Limber up! Get a 20 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacob's Liniment" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation. Improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wynette Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. Gray, faded hair, though no grace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wynette Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delicate, toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Frank Bolser and Fred Colburn, returned to their work at Flint, Saturday, after spending Christmas here with their families.

Glenn Burton, who is employed at the furnace, had the misfortune to fall from a ladder, breaking his left arm just above the wrist.

A few friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Porter Tuesday evening, to help them celebrate their seventh wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bateson of Detroit, and Miss Daisy Smith of Gaylord, were guests at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Spidel last week. They returned home Saturday.

Carl T. Shepard, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Shepard, and Miss Florence Hollingshead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hollingshead, both of Echo township, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage at Bellaire, Tuesday, Dec. 30th. They expect to go to Flint to make their home.

Production is the cure for the High Cost of Living. Secure a farm and help produce. I have a fine line of farms listed for sale. Small and large improved and unimproved, also partly improved, having enough wood on them to pay for them. Good roads to good markets. Now is the time to start. You can get your wood out this winter, and be ready to put in crops in the spring. If you want to sell your farm, come in and list it with me. I will place it before the public. If I don't sell it costs you nothing.—E. A. LEWIS, Dealer in Real Estate & Singer Sewing Machines.

CLOVER AT WHOLESALE

"I passed Casey's Café one morning and a man was standing there with his finger in his mouth looking at some snapping turtles Casey had tied out in front. As I stopped to look at the turtles, the man took his finger out of his mouth and asked, 'Mister will yez tell me which ind of them things is the head and which be the tail?'"

"I pointed out the difference and asked him why he wanted to know. Once more he quit sucking his finger and replied, 'I jist wanted to know whether I had been bit or stung.'"

Thousands of Cases Offers Services Free of Charge. The United Doctors is an organization of reputable, licensed physicians. They are all specialists in the treatment of certain diseases. They treat without surgical operations diseases of all internal organs, stomach, intestines, constipation, piles, liver, spleen, heart, nerves, skin, rheumatism, sciatica, goitre, tape-worm, leg ulcers and all long standing, deep seated diseases. Many years experience. The complete record of thousands of cases successfully treated prove that their methods are right. They were among the first to earn the name.

'Bloodless Surgeons' Each staff member has at his command the knowledge and resources of the organization. Many people suffer from diseases that can be alleviated just because they cannot afford to go to high priced specialists and Hospitals a long distance from their home. No community has a sufficient number suffering from these diseases to support special Hospitals for their treatment and cure. The United Doctors have solved the problem. Their highly trained Specialists go to each community and will advise a proper course of treatment for the sufferers and instruct them how to take care of themselves at home. No matter what you have been told or the experience you had with other physicians, consult him on this visit. It costs nothing. If your case is incurable he will give you advice as may stay and relieve the disease. Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents or guardians. Laboratories, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

VIENNA IS FLEECD War Grafters Gets Away With Huge Sum of Money. Funds Collected to Aid Soldiers Used by Speculator With Mayor's Aid.

Vienna.—Mayor Reumann has just disclosed to the Vienna city council a loss to the city of 13,000,000 crowns through a business venture undertaken by a former council headed by Mayor Weisskirchner. On the beginning of the war, Mayor Weisskirchner organized a committee to collect public subscriptions for the relief of soldiers and their dependents. It is charged that Weisskirchner advanced huge amounts from this fund as well as city money to Hans Hafner, who undertook to exploit several schemes for the benefit of Vienna. Among Hafner's ventures was the operation of a large plant for the production of artificial milk and a factory to manufacture footwear from patented artificial leather. A building was erected for the milk process scheme, but it was never put in operation, while the shoe factory proved a dead loss.

To cover its losses, it is charged, Mayor Weisskirchner drew upon funds raised by needlework guilds and upon other charities all over the country, and also from the profits of municipal war kitchens without acquainting the opposition members of the council of his action. No accounting of the charity funds was ever made, so the use of those funds was not discovered until the present government took office. Weisskirchner and his associates have been called upon to explain these transactions. Meantime the city is being sued by manufacturers in Slovakia for vast quantities of artificial leather fabrics, which they furnished to provide Hafner with material for manufacturing shoes.

CANADA TO CUT DOWN COINS High Price of Silver Causes Melting of Money for Commercial Uses in the Dominion.

Ottawa.—The high price which bar silver has been commanding in the metal markets of the world may necessitate a reduction of the fineness of the alloy from which Canadian silver coins are struck, it was authoritatively stated here today. With bullion prices at the present level, there is too great a tendency to withdraw coins from circulation and melt them for commercial uses, it was said. The Canadian mint here has been kept busy to meet the demand for silver coinage and minting is not a profitable business, with bar silver so expensive. To lessen the temptation to withdraw Canadian coins from circulation to be melted and sold for bullion it now is proposed to reduce the percentage of pure silver in them. Just what standard may be adopted has not been indicated.

PLANS HOTELS FOR WAR ZONE French Association Expects Influx of American Tourists to Battle Front.

Paris, France.—Hotel men, seeking fortunes in the expected flood of American and other tourists next year, are planning to erect "barrack hotels" along the battle front. The National Chamber of Hotelkeepers, co-operating with the government, is seeking private capital to put up such temporary buildings during the winter. Officers of the association say most of the hostelrys now operating at towns on the front have patrons "sleeping in halls and even on billiard tables." The first efforts are being directed toward making habitable hotels that were damaged during the war and inducing owners of places destroyed to rebuild them.

HAS MANY "MEN" WITHOUT COUNTRY Switzerland Overrun With Bits of Political Shipwreck.

MANY CASES ARE PATHETIC Individuals There From Every Overturned Government of Europe, Each of Whom Has Legal and Moral Claims Against Some Government That Has Either Disappeared or Is Being Re-formed—Only Authority Too Busy.

In the efforts of the peace conference to reweave the torn political and social fabric of Europe only nations have been considered to date, says Henry Wood, staff correspondent of the United Press. The rights of individuals have not even been mentioned. And yet, Switzerland, for example, today is filled with individuals from every overturned government of Europe, each one of whom has legal and moral claims against some government that has either disappeared or is being re-formed. Until these claims can be re-established these individuals are tiny bits of shipwreck on the turbulent sea of European political and social life. Some are without means of existence; some are without country or nationality; some are without legal or civil rights.

In many cases their respective rights ceased to exist when some government disappeared or was succeeded by another. More often the new government refused to accept the obligations of the old one and thousands of individuals were thus left stranded. Only Authority Too Busy. No authority short of the peace conference itself could possibly hear, adjust and enforce the rights of each one of these individuals as it is now trying to hear, adjust and enforce the rights of each nation. That it will never be able to take up the cases of individuals is certain. That they will never succeed in re-establishing their rights themselves seems equally certain. Apparently only one fate awaits them, and that is to live out their allotted existence without ever again becoming worked back into the new social and political fabric of Europe that is becoming woven, leaving it to the coming generation to adjust itself into the new order of things.

These individual cases in Switzerland now amount to thousands, while those who still remain in the countries where their legal, civil and financial rights formerly existed unquestionably number millions. The recital here of a few typical examples of individual cases now in Switzerland will give some idea of how varied, how pathetic and how helpless they are, and of how finely and delicately the social and political fabric of Europe was woven before it was torn asunder and how long it may take before it can again be re-woven into a smooth, serviceable piece of cloth. Living in the most modest quarters of Berne and yet still surrounding herself with a little of the dignity that pertained to her former station is the wife of one of the highest admirals in the former Austrian navy. In the neatly woven social and political fabric of before the war, she was entitled to a pension as the widow of a high naval officer. It amounted to about 6,000 crowns a year, which was sufficient to enable her to live. With the heavy depreciation of Austrian currency, her pension now nets her 18 cents a day.

Professor is Stranded. There is also at Berne the former professor of economics at the University of Czernoyitz. Before the war, because of his international reputation he had been designated as exchange professor at Yale. The professor is left with nothing on which to live unless, indeed, his life-time study of economics has developed some theory. If not a practice, of how to live without an income. Without doubt the greatest number of social and political shipwrecks now in Switzerland are those left by the peace conference without either country or nationality. As a consequence these individuals who, formerly had Russian, Austrian or Hungarian passports, find themselves men without a country for the time being. They apply at once to the legation, embassy or consulate of the new state to which the territory in which they reside has been assigned by the peace conference and ask for a passport or other official recognition that they are citizens of the new state. For various reasons, but usually because the applicant was unusually loyal to the old government, the request is refused. The individual, therefore, rests without a country. The Swiss government, like every other European nation at the present, demands a passport of every foreigner within its boundaries.

Bull Fights Return to Favor in Mexico. A crowd of 17,000 persons recently attended the first bull fight held in Mexico City since the sport was forbidden three years ago, by President Carranza. Times Do Change. When a fourteen-year-old boy held up a drug store messenger at Dallas, Tex., they took $9 and left a gallon of ice cream he was carrying.

PLAIN OLD "BIKE" IS POPULAR IN MEXICO Automobile and Motorcycle Fail to Depose Plebeian Means of Locomotion.

Automobiles, motorcycles and other gasoline-driven vehicles have not deposed the plebeian bicycle as the most popular means of locomotion in Mexico City. Business men use them to go to work, government employees bowl along on them by the score, school children prefer them to street cars and the omnibuses. The old-time bicycle club of twenty years ago flourishes, and it is no uncommon sight to see a party of men and women in the conventional riding garb taking a spin over the well-paved streets of the capital. Numerous laws have been passed regulating the use of bicycles. They must be equipped with front and rear lights of a designated color, brakes, horns and whistles. Some of the more fancy ones bear flags, coats of arms and a holder for the inevitable walking sticks affected by every real gentleman in the capital. It is not uncommon to see a bicycle carrying at least twice its original cost in equipment. But with bicycles, as with automobiles, there is no speed limit. Bicycle riders and their daredevil companions—the drivers of the automobile busses, continue to be the terror of pedestrians.

RIDERLESS PONY WINS RACE But Judges Award Money to Horse With Rider.

Sometimes it is the jockey that wins the race, sometimes the horse wins the race without the jockey. Two ponies were entered in the pony-race at the fair at Markham, Canada. Both riders rode bareback. Half way round the track young Jack Forester, who was running second, suddenly went over his pony's head. The riderless animal did not quit because its rider did. It stayed with the race, rapidly overhauled the leading pony and passed the judges' stand a two-lengths winner. The grand stand roared applause. "First money for the riderless pony," the crowd shouted. The judges thought otherwise, and ordered the race run over again. The race began. Again the boy jockey was unhorsed and again his pony galloped into first place. The other rider was determined to win. Neck and neck the horses approached the line. Then the riderless horse sprinted and won the race by half a length. And, despite the cries from the grand stand, the judges awarded first money to the horse that came second with its rider.

GOLF CAPS REPLACE FEZ Mohammedans of Elbasan Wearing Modern Hats.

Mohammedans of Elbasan are wearing American golf caps instead of the red fez which has been the immemorial head covering of the Turk. The Austrian occupation left scarcely a scrap of cloth in the country. Many Turks went bareheaded. Then an American Red Cross unit arrived, bringing thousands of outing caps. Today most of the Turkish school-boys of Elbasan wear the conventional caps of their Yankee brothers across the ocean and look the better for it.

War Department Bought 150,000 Automobiles. During the world war, 150,000 automobiles were purchased by the war department. The cars ranged from the "baby roadsters," of about half a ton, to the ten-ton portable crane capable of picking up a field gun and carriage.

TIBURON ISLAND RULED BY WOMEN "Father" Has Little to Say About Matters There.

When a Dark-Skinned Youth is Captivated by the Charm of a Dusky Maiden, He Must Get Mother's Consent and Then is Required to Serve as Slave to the Family for Probationary Period of One Year—Lowest Type of Humans.

Down on the little island of Tiburon, in the Gulf of California, when a dark-skinned youth of the Seri tribe is captivated by the charm of a dusky maiden, and she reciprocates, she does not timidly suggest that he "ask father," says the San Francisco Chronicle. Father has nothing to say about the matter. Mother is the all-important member of the family, and it is to mother that the candidate for daughter's hand presents his claims. Tiburon, otherwise known as Shark Island, is a real Amazon kingdom, or perhaps queenland. The women are the heads of the family and rule the men with a hand of iron, graciously permitting them to attend to the work of gathering food, wood and water, while their wives, mothers and daughters take care of the serious business of governing the country. Wife is Real Ruler.

Although all the men on Tiburon are under the rule of their women-folk, the newly married husband is the most abject of slaves. After mother has approved of the suitor who seeks her daughter in marriage—father's approval is taken for granted—the favored youth is at once made a slave of the family of his future bride, and for a year must be at their beck and call. He must be the hewer of wood and drawer of water for his dusky Rachel, and, because the sharks that infest the waters about Tiburon are considered an especial dainty, he must plunge into the sea and slay choice specimens for the dinner table of his prospective family-in-law.

Deer, wild fowl, turtles, oysters and fish must be captured and contributed by son-in-law-to-be, and in return he is put on probation as a candidate for the job of husband. The hard-working young man is not even given the privilege of association with his adored one. He must keep at a respectful distance under his own mesquite shelter and cook and eat his lonely meals entirely apart from the family of which he seeks to become a member. At the end of a year, if the young man has proved himself to be properly humble, energetic, respectful toward the feminine relatives-to-be, and a good provider, he is accepted as a member of the family and without further ceremony he and his bride set up house-keeping under a mesquite bush built for two, with the reins of government firmly in the wife's hands.

Men Generally MEEK. The men of Tiburon are universally recognized by a certain meekness of expression and a subdued demeanor, the outgrowth of generations of submission to the will of their wives. The Indians on Tiburon present an interesting study to the scientist, not alone because of their woman-ruled condition, but because they represent the lowest type of human-kind in that they have no permanent homes of any kind, not even caves or tepees. They are nomadic, wandering from place to place as the whim seizes them, and camping under the mesquite bushes.

Although the Seri Indians are reserved and mild by nature, they are good fighters when their country is invaded, and explorers and gold hunters who have neglected to pave the way for their coming by taking guides known to the Seris have paid for their daring with their lives. The proper method of getting into the Seri country is to find some outsider who has previously won the confidence of the Indians. Under the direction of this guide the stranger goes to the beach on the mainland, about four miles distant from the island, and there makes a b-uff. By covering the fire with a blanket four columns of smoke are sent up at brief intervals. If a return signal is given, all is well. In a short time a delegation of Seris arrives in a canoe and a ceremony of welcome is performed, accompanied by the use of gifts of tobacco and canned goods, for which the Indians have a particular fondness. Then the Indians and their visitors return to the island and during their stay the strangers will not only be safe, but will be treated with the utmost courtesy.

MAN POWER ABUNDANT Draft Records Show 19,000,000 Americans Fit for Army Service.

A study of the selective draft records fixes the military strength of the United States at 19,000,000 in potential man power. Almost 60 per cent of those examined in the several drafts were found to be "physically fit for military service." The medical reports indicate that the same where men were found to be most healthy runs through the center of the country from north to south.

CHANCERY ORDER State of Michigan, The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix—in Chancery. Herman Behling, Plaintiff, vs. John Divish, Besse Divish Helmed Joseph Divish, Irene Margaret Holmes and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, Defendants.

At a session of the said Court held at the Court House in the City of Charlevoix in said County, on the 11th day of December, 1919. Present, Hon. Frederick W. Mayne, Circuit Judge.

In this cause it appearing to the satisfaction of the Court from the Bill of Complaint on file in said cause, that John Divish and Besse Divish Helmed are deceased and it further appearing that they are necessary and proper parties to the above entitled cause, and it further appearing that it is unknown whether they or any of them have heirs, devisees, legatees or assigns; On motion of Dwight L. Wilson, Attorney for the plaintiff, it is ordered that the appearance of the unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns of the said John Divish and the said Besse Divish Helmed or either of them, be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order and that in case of their appearance or the appearance of any of them, they respectfully cause their answer or answers or the answer or answers of such of them as have appeared, to the Bill of Complaint in this cause, to be filed and a copy thereof to be served on the plaintiff's attorney within fifteen days after service on them, or such of them as have appeared, of a copy of the Bill of Complaint and notice of this order, and that in default thereof the said bill be taken as confessed by them, the said defendants before named. And it is further ordered that within twenty days the said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix County Herald, a newspaper printed, published and circulating in said County of Charlevoix, and that such publication be continued once in each week, for six successive weeks, or that a copy of this order be personally served upon each of the said defendants at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for their appearance.

FREDERICK W. MAYNE, Circuit Judge. DWIGHT L. WILSON, Attorney for Plaintiff, Business Address, East Jordan, Michigan.

Counter-signed: RICHARD LEWIS, County Clerk. The foregoing action is brought to quiet the title to the following described realty, viz: The northeast quarter (ne 1/4) of the northwest quarter (nw 1/4) of section sixteen (16), township thirty-two (32), north, of range six (6) west, Charlevoix County, Michigan.
