E. J. H. S. Gets Easy Victory

Overwhelms Kalkaska Basketball Team by Score of 41 to 12.

In the first interscholastic basketball game in the new gymnasium the East Jordan High School came out an easy victory, winning over the Kalkaska High School by the one-sided score of 41 to 12. The East Jordan team was heavier and faster, and had the advantage throughout the entire game. Although the Kalkaska team were smaller they were excellent basket shots, and whenever opportunity offered, they succeeded in caging the basket.

Considering the fact that this is only the third game that the East Jordan High School team has ever played, they really displayed a fine quality for basketball. Their development has been most pronounced.

On Friday night of this week the Boyne City American Legion team play here.

EVERY POTATO GROWER IS INTERESTED IN GOOD ROADS.

Every Michigan potato grower is interested in good roads. He has to be. The spuds require heavy loading and long distant hauls. The season is short and the market uncertain, with labor an ever-increasing problem—yes, every potato grower is interested in good roads.

The good roads men have discovered that the necessary things come first. If a public improvement is needed and the fact is made known, the public votes that improvement. Thus, if a highway is needed by everybody—not only by potato growers,—that highway will be improved and maintained.

Consolidated schools are needed—Everyone admits that. Their history is the history of success; their organization is the longest for ideal. The question is one of roads. For consolidated schools, we need roads. Parents should unite with potato growers in showing this need for better roads.

Roads were one time used as an argument against rural mail delivery. The question is settled now. The mail route is kept open. Similarly, in other states, parents and school boards have found that when a consolidated school is established, good roads follow. Good roads become a necessity and the result is inevitable. Potato growers should unite with parents in working for consolidated schools in our rural districts.

Cheer up and stay cheered. Business conditions in this country are not of the best, but they are immeasurably better than those of any other country. Some people are convinced that nobody ever reads the home paper until editor begins to tell the truth about them, and then they are ready to fight.

If discretion is the better part of valor, the conscientious objectors must have been wonderfully brave men.

Mrs. Baker leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband, the following sons and daughter:—Clarence, Leonard and Elmer Baker, and Mrs. Irvin Bancroft, also her father, J. E. Strong; three brothers and two sisters, viz:—Clyde, Lee and Earl Strong; Mrs. Bert Scott and Mrs. F. W. Bechtold. Mrs. Baker was born at Torch Lake, Antrim County, July 3rd 1880. Funeral services have not yet been arranged, but will be private at the home on account of influenza.

OBITUARY—NANCY SCOTT

Nancy Scott, daughter of Thomas R. and Catherine Scott was born in Bradford, Steuben, Co., N. Y., June 23, 1854, and passed away at Traverse City Feb'y 9th 1921, aged 66 years 7 months 16 days. She was of a family of fine girls and one boy, all having passed on before excepting Phoebe Wolverton of this place.

She spent most of her life at her old home in Bradford and was a teacher of the public schools of that place until she was called home by the illness of her father whom she cared for with the aid of her sister, Lucy and brother Michael. Her health became broken and she was unable to resume her occupation as teacher.

In 1890 she accompanied by her brother and sister, Michael and Lucy moved to Michigan and has since made her home with her sister, Phoebe. About two years ago she suffered a nervous and mental breakdown and last August she was taken to the State Hospital at Traverse City for treatment which proved of no avail, from where she passed away. In faith she was a consistent christian, in creed a Baptist, of friends she had many and enemies none.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon Feb'y 12th from the Bennett school house, conducted by Rev. Thos. Marshall.

FOGLEMAN GAVE GREAT LECTURE

Harry Fogleman, the rapid-fire, dynamic speaker, held the audience under his magic spell for nearly two hours at the auditorium last Wednesday night. Mr. Fogleman's subject was "The Winning Man in Business." While this lecture was especially valuable to business men, it was worth while for everybody. In particular did he discuss the subject of salesmanship, in a manner that ought to be worth much to every man who has anything to sell. Especially was it worth while to the business men of East Jordan, although very few were there to hear him. He showed very plainly and conclusively what the trouble is when people go out of town to buy goods, and he also explained how to remedy that.

A lecture such as Mr. Fogleman gives would be a great thing for every community if it could be heard every two weeks.

At the close of his lecture, Mr. Fogleman gave a demonstration in character study which was very instructive.

Early Savings Banks.

The first savings bank in America was opened in Boston 104 years ago, December 13, 1816. In the same year an institution called the Philadelphia Savings Fund society was established. The third institution of this kind in America was founded in New York in 1819. The first regular savings bank was established in Hamburg in 1778 and the second at Berne, Switzerland, in 1787. The oldest savings bank in the world is in Zurich, Switzerland, and is now in its one hundred and seventeenth year. The first regular savings bank in Great Britain was opened in Edinburgh 107 years ago.

Trivial Accident Brings Disaster.

The gypsy moth has caused a great deal of trouble in this country, and much money and energy have been spent in the effort to exterminate it. The trouble started when a French naturalist named Trouvelot, residing in the town of Malden, Mass., left a paper box containing gypsy moth eggs on a window ledge and it blew off. That was in the early eighties, and he was making experiments with various kinds of caterpillars as silk spinners.

It is possible for a wise man to be come foolish, but the fool never leaves his class.

Double Header Friday Night

Both Debate and Basketball Game to be Held at the Schoolhouse.

The East Jordan High School next Friday night will stage two contests, one a debate and the other a basketball game. The basketball game will be between the Boyne City American Legion team and the East Jordan High School, and will be started at 7:00 sharp. Right after the basketball game is over, the debate will be held between East Jordan and Cheboygan.

A single admission will be charged the public for both, so that those caring for either basketball or debating or both may be accommodated.

The American Legion team for Boyne City is a heavy, fast team and the East Jordan High School will have to play a very high grade of basketball if they expect to win. The contest ought to be not only close, but very fast.

The debate between Cheboygan and East Jordan is the final debate in the preliminary series. So far, East Jordan has debated four times and has won all four. If East Jordan wins the debate on Friday night the team will have a standing sufficiently high to enter the finals, leading up to the state championship. The Cheboygan team has had an excellent record and the debate should be one of the best held in East Jordan.

The admission of thirty-five and twenty-five cents will be charged, which admits to both basketball and debate.

STOCK MEN MAY RUN COMMISSION HOUSES

Steps to ascertain whether it is feasible for the Michigan Livestock Exchange to broaden its scope to include co-operative commission houses in Detroit and Buffalo will be taken in the near future as a result of the action of delegates at the annual meeting of exchange at M. A. C. last week.

Speakers pointed out that 90 per cent of the stock now handled by the privately owned commission houses in Detroit come from co-operative shipping associations in Michigan. As soon as business conditions become more stable, the livestock growers through their central exchange propose to take over this function themselves.

One of the most important resolutions passed by the delegates recommended affiliation with the Michigan State Farm Bureau. The Livestock Exchange is the first independent co-operative body to declare itself in favor of such a move since the action of the Farm Bureau a week ago in abandoning the geographical for the commodity type of organization.

Other resolutions urged the eradication of tuberculosis in Michigan live stock, collective insurance on the part of exchange members, and a bill to compel corporations or individual owning stockyards in the state to construct and maintain covered yards.

Men elected to the board of directors for the coming year are: George Boutell, Perry; E. A. Beamer, Blissfield; Lee Harrison, Constantine; C. J. Miller, Union City; E. E. Commson, Lansing; M. W. Stewart, E. K. Munson, and P. H. Granger. The new officers will be elected by the board. Retiring officers are: President, Mr. Harrison; vice-president, Mr. Miller; Secretary, L. E. Willet, Laingsburg; and treasurer, Mr. Beamer.

Among the speakers were James Nicol of South Haven, newly elected president of the Farm Bureau, and Hale Tennant, extension specialist in marketing at M. A. C.

State Police in Charge at Ionia

Five Year Term of Office To be Considered As Cure For Prison Abuses.

MAY ADOPT CORPORATION TAX.

Senate Approves Governor's Administrative Board Plan.

Lansing.—That the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia was conducted as a workhouse instead of a reformatory is the conclusion of the legislative committee, accompanied by Governor Groesbeck and Attorney General Wiley, after a personal investigation and examination of the institution and its inmates.

Otis Fuller, warden for 27 years, handed in his resignation to the Governor early last week and the resignations of Jerome Walker, acting warden, Walter Rich, captain of the night guard, Dr. E. F. Beckwith, reformatory physician and two members of the board of control were announced soon afterward.

Dungeons and Stripes Discarded.

Major Robert E. Marsh, head of the State Police, was placed in charge as temporary warden and several members of the state police force replaced guards against whom charges of cruelty and mistreatment of inmates are now pending. Major Marsh has announced several changes which were put into effect as soon as he took charge. Dungeons and stripes were discarded and the educational facilities of the institution are to be expanded. Dr. Richard H. Olin, state health officer, will remain at the reformatory to direct the medical examination of the inmates, something that has been sadly neglected according to the testimony before the investigating committee.

Following his return to the capitol, the Governor announced that a report of the investigation would not be made to the legislature until Otis Fuller, former warden, and his attorney, George E. Nichols, have had an opportunity to go over the testimony. Mr. Fuller has issued a statement in which he promises to submit testimony which will show up the matter in its true light. "I simply ask that the public await the time of full hearing before passing judgment either way," said Mr. Fuller.

Limitation of the terms of prison wardens as a means of preventing conditions that developed at Ionia, is now being discussed by the committee and other representatives, who believe that the present system of unlimited terms unfits the head of a penal institution for the work he has to do by hardening his nature through constant contact with convicts.

Combine Corporation Acts.

The new corporation act, which is a recondification of Michigan's corporation laws, was introduced by Rep. George Lora, Detroit. The act covers 113 pages of typewritten copy, being drafted in the attorney-general's department, part of it having been drawn up under the administration of Mr. Groesbeck and completed by Merlin Wiley.

Rep. Danz offered an amendment to the general motor tax law, raising the tax on weight from 35 cents to $1 per hundred.

The existence of the Michigan commission to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater congress would be continued under the provisions of a bill offered in the senate by Senator Vandenberg. It carries an appropriation of $10,000 a year for two years. "To promote the establishment of a deep sea route from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic."

The joint legislative committee named to investigate the activities of the Michigan Community Council commission returned from Grand Rapids without having anything definite to report. Senator Herbert Baker, chairman, was informed by Carol Sweet, head of the community council, that all the cash the committee has handled, $1,930, was turned over by the Women's Council of National Defense to the state of Michigan.

Senator Hamilton Has Bill.

Michigan's first lady senator, Senator Eva Hamilton, Grand Rapids, introduced her first bill of the session. It would allow the state to contract with child caring agencies for the care of dependents.

Senator Davis would amend the general tax law to permit city and county treasurers or other collecting officers to charge two per cent extra on taxes paid any time after January 1st.

In committee of the whole the senate passed Senator Penny's bill to allow cities of over 50,000 population to bond up to eight per cent for water works improvement and this bill was approved by the senate. Senator MacArthur's bill to prohibit the unlawful wearing of the American Legion badge was passed by the senate committee.

Party caucuses would be abolished according to the provisions of a bill introduced by Senator Arthur Wood, Detroit. It calls for the election of delegates to the county and state conventions, at a regular primary and candidates for the county convention must petition to have their names placed on the ballot. Delegates to the state convention would be elected from the list of those elected to the county convention.

Registration of legislative counsel and punishment of improper lobbying is provided for in a bill introduced by Senator McRae. A fine of not more than $5,000 and one year imprisonment is fixed.

Corporation Tax Considered.

A bill is now being drawn up providing for a tax on corporations which, it is said, would net the state approximately $12,000,000 annually. The raising of this amount would practically eliminate the state tax on the individual home owner.

Governor Groesbeck, in advocating the adoption of a tax on corporations, calls attention to the fact that corporations now pay a tax of only one-half a mill on their capital stock, and this is paid only once during its existence, which under the Michigan constitution may be as long as 30 years, except for municipal, railroad, canal, insurance or cemetery purposes.

The services of David Friday, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, have been secured for the purpose of making an extensive study of the financial and tax conditions of the state.

Dealers who sell snoddy for all-wool and those who sell imitation for genuine leather sole shoes will be put out of business if a bill introduced by Rep. Henze, Iron Mountain, is enacted into law. It provides that all goods shall be labeled properly upon penalty of a fine of from $50 to $500 with 90 days imprisonment.

Sentiment For Direct Primary.

Indication that the sentiment in the house is favorable to the retention of the direct primary law, was given in a vote on Rep. Warren D. Byrum's bill empowering the Governor to call a special local primary when one is needed to nominate candidates to fill a vacant office. The house committee of the whole voted an amendment to the date of the primary from August to September.

Rep. Lee, Port Huron, has introduced a bill authorizing the establishment of a separate school for colored children where there are at least 25 such children. The same course of instruction would be followed.

A joint resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to allow county sheriffs to become candidates for election for more than two terms has been submitted by Rep. Braman. A similar measure in regards to county treasurers will also be considered.

Senate Passes State Cabinet.

The state administrative board bill, embodying Governor Groesbeck's proposal for a consolidation of state departments and the elimination of superfluous administrative bodies was passed by the senate on its third reading, every member present voting for it.

The senate rejected an amendment proposed in the committee of the whole, to the Governor's bill creating an administrative board. The vote was 26 to 1. This suggested change was to require a two-thirds vote to make effective an order by the board. Senator Charles Tufts, Ludington, who introduced the measure, predicts a beneficent revolution in the administration of state affairs. Those who do not share such great hopes were satisfied to give it a trial. The outlook in the house is that the same disposition prevails.

Five bills were passed in the first session of committee of the whole, held in the lower house of the legislature. Few minor amendments were made in the following bills, all of which were placed upon the order of third reading:

Bills Passed in Committee.

Representative Dewitt's bill amending the general highway law, to require trucks of more than one-ton capacity to be equipped with a mirror or reflecting device to show the condition of traffic behind, passed without amendment.

Representative Olmstead's amendment to the district good roads bill of 1907, was also passed with the insertion of a single word to clarify the meaning of the text. The amendment as proposed, provides for the transfer of good roads district funds to county funds, in the case a county operating under the district plan adopts the county road system.

The bill to amend the existing law providing for the distribution of laws and documents passed with an amendment including boards of county auditors as regular recipients of the session laws.

Representative Bryant's measure, introduced to meet an emergency that exists in Ingham county to allow the governor to order a primary election in cases where the general law does not provide for the election of a certain officer, was passed.

The Aldrich bill to allow any school district, whether organized under general law or special charter, to vote to hold its annual meeting the second Monday in July, was passed without amendment, and Representative Read's bill fixing a penalty for the importation of diseased sheep went through with only two words changed: Representative Hoskins, of Manistee, presided over the committee of the whole.

HARDING NOW AT ST. AUGUSTINE

Will Make His Home There Until He Leaves For Inauguration.

St. Augustine, Fla.—Back at work after a three week's vacation President-elect Harding waded into a vast accumulation of correspondence and other business.

This must be cleared away before he can give serious thought to final decisions on the personnel of his cabinet, and other major problems.

Mr. Harding returned to St. Augustine last week from his houseboat cruise along the Florida coast, and established offices in a St. Augustine hotel which will be his home until he leaves for Washington to be inaugurated.

Physician Ill, President Gains

Washington.—Admiral Grayson, President Wilson's physician, who has been ill for three weeks was surprised to find how much his patient had improved when he saw him for the first time in more than a fortnight. That man is always happy who is in the presence of something which he cannot know to the full, which he is always going on to know. This is the necessary condition of a finite creature with divinely rooted and divinely directed intelligence; thus, therefore, its happy state—but observe, a state, not of triumph of joy in what it knows, but of joy rather in the continual discovery of new ignorance, continual self-abasement, continual astonishment.—Buckin.

The American Public Schools

The greatest contribution America has made to the civilization of the world is the American public school system. The American public school system means that every child, rich or poor, high or low, of any color or creed has an opportunity, free of charge, to receive the elements of an education. The American public school is the most democratic institution on earth. It recognizes no cast, no nobility, no favoritism. Children sit side by side, work together, and the children with brains and ability forge ahead no matter who or what their parents are. As long as the American public school system flourishes, pure, unadulterated democracy will characterize America.

Governor Groesbeck has set aside the week beginning February 13 as a Better Schools' Week. This is the week to consider the value of the public schools, to think about their needs, and to resolve to promote their welfare.

We cannot have better schools unless we have better teachers. We cannot have better teachers unless we insist upon more training for teachers. We cannot have better trained teachers unless we pay more money for that training. It is not uncommon to find one teacher worth a thousand times as much as another teacher teaching by her side in the same school. The good teacher does not receive a thousand times as much salary. The salary that a good teacher receives is always too little no matter how large it is. The salary a poor teacher receives is always too much no matter how small it is. Good teachers must be paid in order to hold them at the profession, and good teachers must be paid in order to induce them to enter the profession. Every parent has a perfect right to find any or all sorts of fault with a poor teacher, but that same right implies the duty to be willing to pay a good big price for a good big teacher. It is not so much a question of how much money is spent as it is a question of the amount of the returns for each individual dollar.

The American schools must mean equal opportunities for all. Wherever there are not equal opportunities for all, then those conditions ought to be adjusted so that there will be equal opportunities for all. A child living ten miles from a high school is just as much entitled to a high school education as is the child who lives ten rods. A child who lives in a rural district, sparsely settled, and employing a poor teacher is entitled to just as good a teacher as is the one who has the best teacher in a city school system. The best sort of teaching can be brought to all the rural children only by means of consolidated schools.

The cost of maintaining the public school system should be borne equally by the entire public. People living in East Jordan ought not to have to pay any higher tax rate than people who live in Detroit. At the present time there is a bill before the Legislature which tends to equalize school taxes throughout the State. Every person interested in a public education should use his influence to the end that such a bill becomes a law, in order that schools of equal worth may be maintained in all of the communities of the great State of Michigan.

When America provides an education for every boy and girl, it provides what wealth and position and favoritism and all the characteristics of the government of Europe cannot give, and as long as America does this, she will be great and glorious in a sense hitherto unapproached by any other nation on earth.

Some people object to a compliment. They want compliments instead. You come mighty close to getting something out of nothing when you convert that back yard into a garden. A clean town may not cause undue comment, but a dirty one invariably comes in for a bunch of free advertisements.

It is a sad commentary upon patriotism when we see people who take an active interest in European affairs, and yet who cannot bring themselves to the point of going to the polls and voting in a home election.

It is quite true that work never kills some people. They never give it a chance. The biggest fib some people ever tell is when they insist that they are always truthful. If present conditions of improvement continue, one will soon be able to think of Mexico without letting out a string of cuss words. Of course, there may be those who pay their income taxes in order to be able to talk about it afterwards.

HOME TOWN HELPS

PLAN WELL BEFORE BUILDING
Failure to Do That is the Most Frequent Cause for Investment Being a Failure.

Nothing gives a keener zest to thrift than saving to own a home. Our thrifty foreign-born citizens, as well as many of our native-born, are home owners. The home-owning spirit is commendable. A city of home owners is a stable city. A city of renters is apt to be shifting and transient.

If you lose money in owning a home it is usually attributable to one of the following causes:
"You invest in a home too expensive for your income."
"You pay more for it than its location and cost of construction justify, letting the other fellow gobble the profits while you accept the loss."
"You are a poor judge of location values and get into a location where there is little or no demand for property or where values are decreasing."

"You construct a home devoid of conveniences, grotesque in appearance, or out of the ordinary and of a type that few people would desire."
"You neglect little essentials, such as closet room, sunlight, location of stairways and other things. While you may think it matters little, nine other persons out of ten will object to them. Think of building a home in a city where sunshine is pleasant eleven months of the year and then of placing the stairway to the south, cutting out all the sunshine, while the windows are placed at the north. Such is sometimes done. The owner then will wonder why so few desire to buy or rent it. The reason should be clear."—From "Ten Lessons in Thrift," by Thomas E. Sanders.

HAVE EYE TO CITY'S FUTURE
Intelligent Building Plans Mean Much to Its Development and Proper Growth.

Slums are not the product of a city's inevitability. They are the product of its stupidity, of its indifference, lack of perception and thought. A great mass of people cannot live together as four families might live at a country cross-roads. Their interdependence demands an assumption of responsibility by the people who can do things for the people who cannot.

A real home will be one in which there is a recognition of responsibility by the people who might do things for the people who cannot.

Life has a right to comfort and material competence; it has a right to color and decoration; it has a right to find itself interesting. It cannot proceed by the suppression of everything that is alluring and by failure to suppress what is squalid.

A home fit for ideal citizens will have healthy allure and beauty, cleanliness, convenience and comfort, clean air, clean streets, decent street cars, no slums, plenty of amusements.

Roads and Trees.
The American Forestry association is doing good service in linking the causes of roads and forestation. It has already given advice and aid in setting out shade trees along the highway in scores of cities and towns throughout the country. The trees are intended to be memorials of our soldiers who died in France and to their comrades who have come home bearing victory.

Something more is involved than a sentiment. The best friend of a road, as of the traveler, is a shade tree. Extremes of temperature, such as come on a blazing summer day with a down-pour of cooling rain, have and crack the unshaded roadbed, opening it to the ultimate ravages of frost and thaw. The shaded road lasts longer and brings a double comfort to the traveler. The war has taught us what this may mean, financially and otherwise. Before 1914, according to Robert Sterling Yard's "Book of National Parks," Americans spent $286,000,000 annually in foreign travel, mainly in Europe. For five years travel has been largely confined to the United States. The country is richer by a billion dollars or more, and richer also in self-knowledge.—Exchange.

The Study of Real Estate.
Real estate is a profession covering many branches of honorable endeavor. Profound study and ethical training are as mandatory as the practical experience gained through office work or personal contact with buyer and seller. I eagerly look forward to an early, concentrated, nation-wide movement by those leading realtors who, realizing the potential benefits arising through intelligent instruction by competent educators in our schools and colleges, will see to it that the study of real estate is made a part of their curriculum. The higher we place the plane of our chosen profession the higher will become the personnel of those engaged in it.—Real Estate Bulletin.

GEORGIA TORNADO TAKES MANY LIVES

FAMILIES WIPE OUT AND FIVE-MILE AREA DEVASTATED BY SEVERE WIND STORM.

RED CROSS AIDS HOMELESS
School Building Completely Destroyed But 80 Children Escape With Only Minor Injuries.

Oconee, Ga.—The death toll in the tornado that swept through the Gardner settlement is reported as 30. Many of the dead had been sent to nearby points and scores of the injured were in hospitals at Tennille and Sandersville and there was no way of obtaining accurate information as to the exact number. Relief has been sent from Atlanta and nearby towns and the injured and homeless were being cared for by the Red Cross and civic organizations. In some cases entire families were wiped out.

The region visited by the tornado was completely devastated. It is an area nearly five miles long and half a mile wide stretching from Gardner almost to Toombsboro. The chief property damage occurred at the plant of the Cleveland-Oconee Lumber Co., where most of the victims of the disaster were employed. A large part of the plant was destroyed and millions of feet of lumber scattered for hundreds of yards in every direction. The wind played many freaks. A school building in which there were 80 children was destroyed, but all of the pupils escaped with no more injuries than bruises.

Most of the bodies of victims were found in an open field where they had been carried by some freakish whirl of the wind. Cars were blown from the railway tracks and fowl stripped clean of their feathers.

Together with Portuguese, which is practically a dialect, Spanish is the language of the whole western hemisphere south of the Rio Grande, a region of incalculable natural wealth and vast trade possibilities.

Bee-Hunting Profitable Business.
In the swamps of Florida the hunting of "bee trees" is a profitable business. Record of wild honey deposits of more than 300 pounds in hollow trees has been noted. The trees are located by hunters who follow the flight of the bees. It requires keen eyesight and a compass.

Just now we have about five inches of snow which will probably be gone in a few days."

On Lincoln's Birthday, the Womans Relief Corps entertained the "Boys of '61" and some friends at their hall. A chicken dinner with everything good that goes with it, was served at noon to thirty-five people. After dinner a patriotic program was given. The principal speakers being Commander Harrington, Rev. John Duacan and Miss Stewart. Mr. Zerwekh gave a good short talk, and little Ira Miles did himself proud with his recitations. Ora Bowen also gave a good reading.

Each morning at 9:30, Mrs. Blanch LaValle, the Boyne City truant officer, reports at the high school building and is furnished a list of absent students, by Supt. Metcalf. It then becomes her duty to look up the cause and report the results of her findings. She is an officer of the law and must be respected as such. Last Thursday morning Mrs. LaValley, while performing her truant duties, visited the home of Mrs. Ira Hawkins on Morgan street. She was ejected from the house according to her report, and this treatment resulted in a complaint being filed in Justice Nurko's court, charging the lady with assault and battery. The case was given a hearing and set over to Friday of this week.—Boyne Citizen

What is a Weed?
According to Webster's International dictionary there are two definitions of a weed: 1. Wild growth in the nature of rank grass, undergrowth, or the like. 2. Any plant growing in cultivated ground to the injury of the crop or desired vegetation, or to the disfigurement of the place; an unsightly, useless, or injurious plant. The following note is added: A weed is a plant that is not wanted. There are, therefore, no species of weeds, for a plant that is a weed in one place may not be in another.

Good Manners Make for Comfort.
Good manners are mainly system in society. In a large sense the whole human race is society. We count it good practice to keep to the right, and those who keep to the left are guilty of bad manners as well as bad practice. Good manners is good system in behavior. System is always labor saving, and we need to look to our manners in this modern day for that reason.

One Recipe for Success.
All a man has to do to make a real success in life is to spend 25 or 30 years learning to do some simple thing better than anybody else can do it, and then 25 or 30 years doing it every day, so as to give people a chance to find out about it.—Ohio State Journal

Before the Speech.
Some orators start with a rush, others begin quite slowly. A speaker we know has the habit of striding meditatively across the stage once or twice before he begins his address. On one occasion we heard a lively young fellow in front of us whisper to his girl with reference to the peripatetic gentleman on the platform: "That, I suppose, is his preamble."—Boston Transcript.

Mining Potash.

Potash in Germany occurs in the form of a rock salt and runs in seams of thirty feet or more in thickness. As mined it has about the same consistency as the common rock salt of commerce, and its grinding is easy. The depths at which the true potash deposits are situated make it necessary to sink shafts leading to levels of as much as 5,000 feet below the surface.

SAY WILSON WAS TO CANCEL DEBT

PRESIDENT AT PARIS CONFERENCE MADE CONDITIONAL AGREEMENT WITH ALLIES.

AWAITED APPROVAL OF TREATY

Understood That England Has Made More Than One Request For Cancellation of Loan.

Washington.—Members of the senate foreign relations committee let it be known that they have had in their possession for some time information to the effect that President Wilson at the Paris peace conference promised after ratification of the treaty to use his influence to induce congress to agree to the cancellation of the Allied indebtedness to the United States, amounting to nearly $10,000,000,000.

According to the information in the hands of members of the committee, the British representative first proposed the cancellation of the debt. President Wilson declined to agree to this on the ground that he lacked authority, but, according to information, promised to bring the matter before the American people and congress immediately after the ratification of the Versailles treaty.

The treaty, of course, was never ratified and the president has never felt obliged to comply with the promise he is reported to have given. The information, if correct, throws interesting light on the desire of the British to get America to ratify the treaty and their willingness to accept any kind of reservations, according to one member of the committee.

The information in the hands of the foreign relations committee did not entirely coincide with the statements of J. Austen Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, who in a recent speech declared that the United States had squarely blocked the cancellation of the debt.

Secretary Houston appeared before the foreign relations committee in response to its desire to learn more about the loan question. He gave the committee information under injunction of the strictest confidence. It is understood, however, that he confirmed Mr. Chamberlain's speech.

THIEVES CAPTURED AFTER CHASE

Youthful Bandits Pursued by Officers And Mob, and Surrounded.

Mt. Pleasant.—Surrounded by over 100 armed volunteers, headed by Sheriff Landon, two alleged auto thieves were captured in a woods northwest of here Sunday. They gave their names as Ed. Broff, 21, and Will Russell, 25. Ithaca officers notified Sheriff Landon to give pursuit. The pair passed through this city at terrific speed and Sheriff Landon, Chief of Police Reed and Deputies Richmond and Grinnell started after them. They overtook them and punctured one of their tires with revolver shots. The two took to the woods, but were soon surrounded by a crowd of about 500 including over 100 armed W. I. rifles and shot guns. The car was stolen at Grand Rapids.

TO PASS FORDNEY TARIFF BILL

Congress to Break Legislative Jam By Night Work in Last Days.

Washington.—Only a few working days are left to congress before adjournment and not one of the regular appropriation bills has finally been enacted. Practically all important legislation is in the air.

Passage this week by the senate of the Fordney emergency tariff bill, however, is expected to break the jam, at least of the appropriation measures. Leaders believe that it still is possible with night sessions, to get through all the money bills, with the exception possibly, of the navy and army appropriations.

DISAPPOINTED IN LOVE; HANGS

Body of Kalamazoo Youth Found Frozen in Deserted Shanty.

Kalamazoo.—The nude body of Floyd Slocum, 22, hanging from a rafter in the shanty in which he lived as a hermit, on the outskirts of the city, was the last chapter in a tragedy love story which began when the young man quarreled with his sweetheart. The body was frozen when it was cut down.

Slocum was a conductor on the Michigan Railway company's lines. The identity of the girl was not determined.

Can Now See Through Body

Paris.—A Russian physician, Dr. Wassileff, has announced the discovery of a fluid which renders the human body transparent. Flowers which he treated in the same manner also became transparent, he says, but apparently were otherwise unaffected. Before the World War Dr. Wassileff had a laboratory in Petrograd, but he is at present living in Paris. He refuses to reveal the nature of the fluid, but says it is a combination of a number of liquids.

SHRINKAGE OF GOOD HAY DOES NO INJURY

Loss of Water Does Not Affect Feeding Value.

Properly Cured Product Has Bright, Natural Green Color—Information Soon to Be Given Out by Department of Agriculture.

Shrinkage occurring in good market hay is due almost entirely to a loss of water, which has no feeding value, say specialists of the United States bureau of markets. Such shrinkage seldom causes an actual money loss to the farmer, because any loss in weight in baled hay is borne by the shipper, who usually receives the hay as soon as it is baled.

If the shipper stores baled hay for speculation, there often will be a money loss caused by shrinkage, because he has purchased an excess amount of water.

There is practically no loss of dry matter in market hay that has been properly cured. Proper curing is indicated by a bright, natural green color. Improperly cured hay may lose dry matter, but such hay is not in demand in any of the terminal markets.

The water content of hay at different periods of curing and storage, methods of making hay to prevent excessive shrinkage in storage, methods of determining shrinkage on individual farms, and other general shrinkage information of interest to all agencies engaged in the production and marketing of market hay is given in a publication soon to be issued by the department of agriculture.

MARKETING SHEEP AND HOGS

Figures Furnished by Department of Agriculture Show Cost of Loading, Feeding, Etc.

Of 54 carloads of sheep, including 11 single-deck and 43 double-deck cars, the cost of loading and bedding cars average $0.018 per 100 pounds live weight, according to figures furnished the general trade commission by the United States department of agriculture. Other marketing expenses, including freight, varied from $0.239 to $1.97 per hundredweight. The shrinkage in weight varied from 3.53 to 8.57 per cent, the majority of the shipments averaging approximately 8 per cent.

Similar records on 253 carloads of hogs showed the cost of loading and bedding to average 1.5 cents per 100 pounds live weight; feed at market approximately 8 to 9 cents; commission charges, 4 to 10 cents; miscellaneous expense, 2 to 10 cents, averaging approximately 5 cents; and the total cost of marketing including freight from 33 to 50 cents. The shrinkage in weight on 873 carloads of hogs varied from 0.88 to minus 4.59 per cent.

LATE MOLTERS ARE FAVORED

Hens That Undergo Transformation During July and August Are Not Best Layers.

It has been observed that the best layers usually molt during the latter part of September or the months of October, November and December. Hens that molt during July and August are not the profitable hens, as they rest for three or four months while they grow their new feathers and will not start in laying until the following February or March. These hens are not the kind to use either in the breeding pen or the laying pen. In some cases, the early hatched pullets of the year previous will start molting during June, and a little judgment should be exercised in such cases. A check should be made with other tests.

PROPAGATING RHUBARB ROOT

Plants Which Have Not Done Very Well This Season Should Be Dug—Replant Next Spring.

Rhubarb which has not been giving very good results during the past season, should be dug this fall, and the roots allowed to remain in the open during the winter. In the spring, as soon as the ground can be prepared, the large root or mother root should be divided into from six to eight parts and planted. A root four to five years old becomes root bound and produces small stems.

To Make Friends of Toad.

The toad is not looked upon with any great amount of favor by the average person, and is generally thought of as being "ugly," while the old boy, hood superstition that holds the lowly hopper as responsible for warts still lingers in many adult minds. In reality, the toad is a peaceful, friendly little creature that can be trained in a very few minutes to be "pals" and after a week or so can be made as affectionate as a dog. They are cleaner than any furred animal and are exceedingly interesting as pets.

Tracing Origin of Billiards.

Billiards is believed by some to have been brought from the east by the Crusaders, while others claim an English origin for it and find it allied to the game of bowls. Still others assert that the French developed it from an ancient German game. It seems pretty certain that the first person to give form and rule to the game was an artist named Henrique Devigne, who lived in the reign of Charles IX. One writer sees in billiards the ancient game of pattemaille played on a table instead of on the ground, and this is a reasonable assumption.

Pictures of Christ.
Pictures of Christ represent the artist's imaginative conceptions, based more or less on Biblical and other descriptions of His personal appearance. The works of Leonardo de Vinci and Raphael, which are the earliest accepted ones and from which nearly all others have been imitated to some extent, are said to be reproductions of the traditional likeness fashioned after the Greek model of the hero-god Apolo, of the Egyptian Serapis.

Dream Evidently Impressed Him.
St. Paul's cathedral is cracking up a bit, but to the average intelligence it is at least as "safe as houses." A city man whose place of business is in the shadow of the cathedral is not so sure about that. He had a vivid dream in which he saw the vast building crumble up and demolish all the adjoining property in its fall. So disturbed was his mind as a result that he at once went to an underwriter and took out a policy which will cover his loss if the mighty edifice collapses!

Substitute for Glass.
A new substitute for glass or for lacquer has been invented in Germany. It can be cut with shears or with a knife and, when heated to more than 100 degrees Centigrade, it forms a kneadable mass which resumes its previous hard state on cooling. It is known as "cellon."

Proletariat.
The proletariat in Russia is used to denote the lowest and poorest classes. It is derived through the French, from the Latin proletariat, the name given in the census of Servius Tullius to the lowest of the centuries, who were so called to indicate that they were valuable to the state only as rearers of offspring. The word has come much into use in the literature of socialism.
