JOHNNIE RUNS AWAY

OF COURSE, you know that the Rook family is a very exclusive bird family. They think a great deal of their family tree, or trees, and will not allow a young Rook to go away from those trees.

Now, young Johnnie Rook thought all this fuss about keeping with the family very silly, and one day he decided he would build a nest in a tree close to a field where there were plenty of grubs and also where he could occasionally have a taste of vegetables.

Johnnie Rook does not destroy very much; he might help himself to a potato or a little corn once in a while, but he is of enough value to the farmer destroying worms, so he can afford to give the Rooks a few vegetables in payment.

Of course, Johnnie Rook did not say a word to any of his relatives about moving away from the family trees. He just quietly one morning went away and at night time he did not return.

Old Grandfather Rook was the first to discover Johnnie's absence when he was counting noses before he went to sleep.

"Where is Johnnie?" he asked.

"Watch him tomorrow when you see him and find out where he is," commanded Grandfather Rook.

The next night at bedtime every Rook knew what had happened; John-

Rook had stolen away to another tree and made a nest for himself.

"Let everyone be at that tree in the early morning," said Grandfather Rook, as he tucked his head under his wing. "Be up early, every one of you."

There was very little noise in the trees the next morning and silently Grandfather Rook led all of the family to the tree by the field where Johnnie had made a new home.

But when they reached there they were far from quiet; such a chattering Johnnie never had heard before. He poked his head out, but he did not have a chance to get out of his new home by himself—he was helped by a dozen or more bills giving him sharp digs.

"Sit on that branch," said Grandfather Rook in a cross voice, "and we will hold a court; but, first, some of you take care of that nest."

Poor trembling Johnnie had to watch his nest pulled in pieces before his very eyes, but what they were to do to him interested him much more for the family looked very cross.

Grandfather Rook first told Johnnie what a grave offense it was for a young Rook not to respect his family trees and go away by himself, and then every one began to chatter.

"Pick him hard," said some. "Beat him with our wings," said others, while others cried, "Death to the deserter!"

Poor Johnnie almost fell off the limb where he sat with fright and his feathers shook with his trembling.

What would have happened to Johnnie he never knew, for at that moment Grandmother Rook spread her wings and flew to a branch above the others.

"Give him one more chance," she said; "he is very young and I am sure he did not know how terrible it is for one of our family to go by himself."

And so after a great deal of arguing and chattering it was decided to give Johnnie another chance, which you may be sure he was very glad to have. He flew back to the family trees, and from that day there was no more loyal Rook in the family than Johnnie.

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"SORT OF."

THIS expression, "sort of," like "kind of" is called by authorities on English "an American provincialism," which means that it is used in some parts of America and has been used there for many years. Strictly speaking, the two expressions, "sort of" and "kind of" are not errors, but certainly they are not in favor among careful users of English, and should be avoided. Especially is this true when they become "sorter" and "kinder," as they are prone to become. Then they are certainly vulgarisms, to be avoided.

"I felt sort of ill," or "I felt kind of ill," we hear. It is better to say "I felt somewhat ill" or "I felt rather ill."

Of course, the word "sort" and the word "kind" have legitimate uses, as nouns, but in such cases the word must be preceded by an article. Thus, one may say, with propriety, "I felt a sort of illness," or "I felt a kind of illness."

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

CONTENT; DISCONTENT

"The road beneath the harrow knows Exactly where each tooth point goes; The butterfly upon the road Freaches contentment to that road."

NOT all of Kipling's best poetry is printed in large type. Some of it appears in the smaller characters when it precedes verses which the author thought were more important.

That is the case with the lines printed above which in the bound volume serve as an introduction to "Pagett, M. P."

But one need not be a butterfly to preach contentment. There is many a man and woman living far from a butterfly life that preach contentment in the most forcible and convincing way, which is by example.

Discontent is very contradictory in its results. It has been responsible for innumerable failures. It has been the most forcible factor in the greatest of the world's revolutions and reformations.

Get a man or a nation thoroughly discontented with surroundings, with laws, with government and there is bound to be a change.

Discontent has played a considerable factor in the history of America. It was discontent, dissatisfaction means the same thing, with the means of communication with the rest of the world that led Columbus to sail out into the mysteries of the Western oceans.

It was discontent with the religious restriction of their home-country that led the Pilgrims to sail for Plymouth.

It was discontent with the laws under which they were living that led the fathers of this country to rid themselves of the English yoke and become a free and independent people.

In any one of these instances contentment would have been the worst thing that could have happened to America, the worst condition that could have obtained. It would have stifled progress and hindered the advancement of the whole world.

But where discontent is useful once it is harmful a thousand times because it is for the most part badly based.

Are you discontented with your home? Nine times out of ten your home could be made better if you really wanted to exert yourself to make it better.

Are you discontented with your job? Ninety-nine times out of a hundred you are not making half as much of your job as you ought to.

You are not taking interest enough in it.

You are not trying to make yourself and your job bigger and better.

Try it for a few days and see if contentment is not the result.

Are you discontented with your government? Some writer has set down the truth that "every people is as well governed as it deserves to be." In other words, if your government is not right and just and if under it you suffer without reason, then you and others who suffer are to blame for not changing it by proper means and lawful and orderly procedure.

Breaking a law never bettered a law.

Contentment is the world's greatest preventive of gray hair and wrinkles. It is the best preservative of youth and happiness. It is the most wonderful antidote for an ill nature or a crabbed disposition.

Cultivate contentment with every thing good.

Encourage contentment with what is impossible of change.

Be discontented only with what is unjust and do not be contented until the wrong has been righted.

The road, if he dodges all the harrow's teeth, is after all not so badly off. The exercise doubtless does him good.

LAKES-TO-SEA CANAL ASSURED

Little Objection to Project Raised At Hearing At Detroit.

Detroit.—The 39th and final hearing of the International Joint Waterways commission was held here last week and delegates from 15 states of the middle west and Canada were enthusiastic over the prospects for the success of the proposed lakes-to-ocean waterway. Only one objection to the evidence was made and this came from a Buffalo man.

The proposed waterway will add $300,000,000 a year to the value of farm products of the United States, according to Oscar J. Larson of Minnesota. He charged that New York and other districts opposing the plan are selfishly trying to block a project that means millions to the rest of the country.

New York.—A $50,000,000 club house for women to be used as a meeting place for New York's 365 feminine organizations and known as the Women's National club, was built near Fifth avenue.

It will be a 15 to 25-story building. The financing committee proposed to erect similar women's club buildings in other cities, one of the first being in Washington, D. C., it was said.

Fight "Race Suicide" Clauses

Boston.—Action seeking to eliminate "race suicide clauses" from tenants' contracts was begun in the city council by Councilor Francis J. Wenford. He introduced an order unanimously passed under suspension of rules, calling upon the city rent and housing committee to take up the matter with the corporation counsel. Some rent contracts signed recently have stipulated an increase of $10 a month for every increase to a family and it is such measures that are opposed.

Popular Songs.

"It is a mistake I believe, to act too strongly, on the theory that to the public should be doled out only those things which certain authorities think they should have," said a prominent singer recently. "Let us consider the public's side. Let us give the public some of the things it really wants—even the simple song which the critic condemns for its excess of sentiment, if we can deliver it so that the public is touched and responds."

How It Started

NECKTIES

THE necktie, or "cravat," gets its name from the word "Cravate," which means a Croat. The fashion of wearing a neckpiece was introduced into France in the eleventh century by the Croats, and was immediately adopted. Our modern four-in-hand or batwing is a lineal descendant of the extravagant articles of wear in those days.

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"THESE SORT," "THOSE KIND."

A COMMON error, and one that grates with especial harshness on the ear of a person who has been trained in the correct use of English, is the use of such phrases as "these kind" and "those kind."

"The words "these" and "those" are plural in number—that is, they denote more than one; the words "sort," "kind," etc., are singular in number, indicating one group, one class of persons or objects.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL
Facts about your name; its history, meaning, whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

IDA

CURIOSLY enough, Ida and Ada are practically synonymous, according to etymologists. Certainly the names were used interchangeably. In early times, Ada was thought to be an entirely separate entity and was believed to be derived from Adah, meaning ornament, and the name Adah was given to the wife of Lamech in the Old Testament.

Ida originates from Frau Uote, mother of Friemhild, who interpreted her dream and predicted the death of her bridegroom, Orwin of Metz. A number of feminine names came from Uote or Uta, and finally the name Adur was evolved. Audur was a viking daughter, one of the first Icelandic settlers. In England, under Norman rule, there appeared Auda and Alda, the latter the wife of Orlando the Paladin. Another Alda was a queen of Italy in 926 and still another famous bearer of the name was a daughter of the house of Este in 1393.

High German called the name Oda, but low German made it Ead, and from this latter Ead and Idette were evolved, both of which became enormously popular.

Ida was the name given to the granddaughter of King Stephen, who became the Countess of Boulogne. Both Ida and Ada, the simplest terms possible of any feminine name, have been the basis of a number of other more involved derivatives. Some seem hardly recognizable, as in the case of Othille, a name still very popular in Teutonic countries. The Original Othille was an Alsatian virgin who was born blind but obtained her sight at baptism.

Ida's gem is the turquoise, which promises her protection from accident or sudden death. "Like malachite, it is said to break as a warning of approaching danger. To wear it insures good fortune and nothing is so conducive to good luck as to see the new moon reflected in its depths. Tuesday is Ida's lucky day and seven her lucky number. (Copyright.)

PINS.

THESE indispensable little articles were once so expensive that few could afford them. In about 1483 France manufactured them in quantity. In 1638 the pinmakers of England established the first pinmaking corporation, and established the factories at Bristol and Birmingham. Birmingham is still the center of the industry. In Birmingham, Conn., the first pinmaking factory in the United States was started in 1836. (Copyright.)

THE SANDMAN STORY

"Who is your queen, and where does she live?" asked Marietta.

The raindrop answered proudly: "She is the queen of all the rain sprites and lives in a wonderful silver palace behind the clouds and is always doing good in the world."

"Well, why did she spoil my party by sending you down here today?" said Marietta in a pained tone.

"That is just what we wanted to tell you about," broke in the raindrop, "but we had to shout and shout before you would listen. Our queen watches over the trees, flowers and grass and every growing thing, and when she sees they need water to drink she calls us together. It is usually the night before, so we may rest before filling our silver water buckets."

"Do you have wells up there in the clouds from which to fill your buckets?" inquired Marietta eagerly, for she was so interested about this strange cloudland.

"Not exactly," replied the raindrop. "The queen's palace is surrounded by wonderful gardens and there are fountains everywhere shooting up beautiful tiny drops of color."

"How perfectly lovely!" sighed Marietta. "I wish I could see them."

"Why, you foolish child, you do see them every time our queen has a festival. When we do our work extra well she rewards us by letting us watch the half-circle of fountains. First comes red, then orange, yellow, green and blue, each shading into the other."

"Why, that is our rainbow!" interrupted Marietta, delightedly.

"Of course it is!" laughed the raindrop. "Our queen is very generous and always draws aside the cloud curtains when she sails away so that you can see the lovely colors in the sky. And now I must hurry or my special pansy will be thirsty."

"Oh! do come again!" called Marietta after him, as he scampered after his friends, and she was sure he nodded his head and smiled as he jumped off the sill. (Copyright.)

Mistakes We Often Make.

There is a proverb which reads: "The man who never made a mistake never made anything else." There is a great deal of truth in that saying. An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

It never fails to relieve the torment of disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

Obituary—Arthur West

Arthur West was born in Canada March 3, 1848, and passed away at the home of his son, Charles, of this city, after only a few days illness, April 7, 1921, age 73 years, 1 month and 4 days.

In the year 1870 he was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Pangborn. To this union was born twelve children, eight of whom and their mother having preceded him in death.

He leaves not only his four children and several grandchildren, but a good number of friends and acquaintances to mourn their loss. Their loss, however, is his gain "for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God."

Funeral service was held in the Church of God Chapel, at ten o'clock Saturday morning April 9th, conducted by Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Burgess. Interment in Lakeview Cemetery, Bellaire.

WATER TAX NOTICE.

Water taxes for the quarter ending March 30th will be due and payable at my office over Hite's Drug Store on and after April 20th. If not paid by May 20th, 10 per cent penalty will be added.

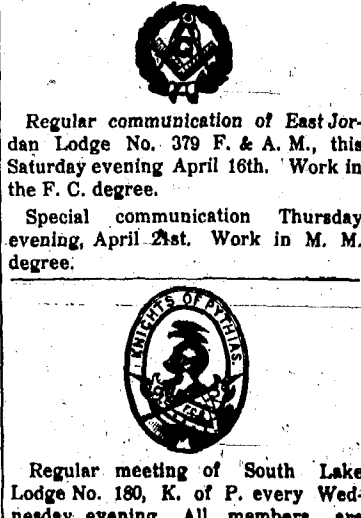

G. E. BOSWELL,
City Treasurer.

Garden Notes
(By M. A. C. Horticultural Dept.)

Set small fruit plants now. They grow best during the cool, moist weather of early spring.

Cuthbert (red); Cumberland and Plum Farmer (black) are dependable varieties of raspberries.

Perfection is the best variety of currant. London Market and Fay's Prolific are good.

Downing and Pearl gooseberries are good varieties to grow in Michigan.

Don't wait until Fall to set the new strawberry bed. Spring planting is the best. Senator Dunlap is a good garden variety.

Don't leave the plants in the packages in which they are shipped. If not ready to plant, remove them as soon as they are received and "heel them in."

Most plants should be set a little deeper than they were in the nursery rows; all except strawberries.

Don't set strawberry plants too deep. Place the crown so that it is just at the top of the soil.

All the roots should be well spread out and the soil well firmed around them.

This is a good time (with the possible exception of Northern Michigan) to plant peas, radishes, lettuce, onions, spinach, and other hardy vegetables.

True Humor.

In the end we find that the test of true humor is the reaction it makes to the depression, sorrow and sadness of life and its power to give brightness and courage in the midst of disaster. The joke is worth while that makes life more possible and sorrow a little less impossible—that brings a smile amid tears, as sunshine in the heart of clouds is seen cutting its way through the darkness. Yet, despite England's training in trouble, what is there finer than the delicate humor of Oliver Wendell Holmes?—Exchange.
