EAST JORDAN WINS FROM CENTRAL LAKE

Wins Eight To One Score In
In Spirited Game.

The Central Lake High School baseball team which the week previous had won a 38 to 0 victory over Alden found pitcher John Gunderson and his eight assistants too strong an aggregation in the baseball game played at East Jordan last Friday afternoon. The East Jordan boys outplayed the Central Lake boys in every part of the game with the exception of fielding. Gunderson pitched seven innings in which he allowed two hits and struck out fourteen men. Bowen pitched the last two innings, in which he allowed no hits and struck out one man. The East Jordan boys found the Central Lake boys for twelve hits and the local boys fanned the air four times.

John Gunderson was the particular star of the game, for in addition to his brilliant pitching he garnered three hits for a total of six bases in four times at bat. Liskum, who has the tough task of receiving for Gunderson, developed into a classy catcher and before the season is over should be an excellent receiver. Hockstad, at first, and Swafford at short are two new players who are coming along fast.

Next Friday the boys play Charlevoix at Charlevoix.

EAST JORDAN WINS FOURTH DISTRICT ORATORICAL CONTEST

Virginia Pray Wins High Honors
With Splendid Oratorical.

The fourth district Oratorical and Declamatory contest was held at East Jordan last Friday night. Four schools were represented in declamation and three in oratory. The program was as follows:

DECLAMATION
1. "America as a World Republic," by Henry Wierenga, of Muskegon.
2. "The Reign of Common People," by Francis Sutherland, of Cadillac.
3. "A Soldier of the Empire," by Kay Gaskin, of Charlevoix.
4. "Woodrow Wilson's Second Inaugural Address," by Cornelius Wood, of Mt. Pleasant.

ORATORY
5. "Internationalism," by Timothy Cramer, of Muskegon.
6. "The Japanese Outposts of California," by Jack Clifford, of Manistee.
7. "The Guardian," by Virginia Pray, of East Jordan.

In declamation, Kay Gaskin won first place. Miss Gaskin did, exceptionally well and ought to have a very good opportunity for State honors. Henry Wierenga was second. Virginia Pray of East Jordan won first place in oratory. All three judges gave Miss Pray first place in delivery. Miss Pray's oration was not only splendidly written but the excellent quality of her delivery was most unusual. Jack Clifford of Manistee won second place. This is the first time in the history of the school that one of the district contests has ever been held in East Jordan. Two years ago a sub-district contest was held here. The district includes one-fourth of the State and the winners of this contest will now enter for State honors.

EAST JORDAN WINS SHORTHAND HONORS

Wins First In Beginning Shorthand And Second In Advanced Shorthand.

In the district shorthand and typewriting contest at Traverse City last Saturday, which comprised all of the high schools in this section of the state East Jordan won notable success. Helen Stroebel received first honors in the beginners' shorthand contest, and Alice Malpass won second honors in the advanced shorthand contest. Traverse City shared with East Jordan in the winning of these contests.

Last year Traverse City High School won the district contest and also practically all of the State contests.

In view of the fact that this was the first year that East Jordan sent representatives and the added advantage that Traverse City had in having the contest in their own Commercial department makes the victory won by East Jordan more notable. The East Jordan High School Commercial department certainly compares favorably with all the other commercial departments of the high schools in this portion of the State.

Miss Sibley, commercial teacher, accompanied five representatives of the East Jordan High School to Traverse City last Saturday where the contest was held.

ROAD MEETING AT PETOSKY, MAY 12-13

The annual spring meeting of district No. 2 of the state highway department organization is to be held in Petosky May 12 and 13, according to announcement received by A. B. Backus, member of the Emmet county road commission.

All of the county road commissioners and highway commissioners of the following counties are expected to be in attendance: Emmet, Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Clare, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Lake, Leelanaw, Manistee, Mason, Missaukee, Osceola, Wexford, and Roscommon.

Plans for securing this big meeting of road-builders was started at the annual good roads rally in Petosky some months ago and at that time State Highway Commissioner Rogers was asked to give the conference to Petosky.

The program is being arranged by C. M. Ziegler, Cadillac, and a good list of speakers is assured.

SYNOPSIS

Harriet Carley, a young society girl, the stepdaughter of a proud old dowager, has fallen into the clutches of a Spanish adventurer and his wife and, to aid them, claims to have had a valuable pearl necklace stolen when in reality she had hidden it hoping to realize its value from the insurance company. Mrs. C. Christopher Carley, her stepmother, suspects that the robbery has been committed by Alonzo Dow, a gay young millionaire in the hotel, basing her suspicions on the fact that his handkerchief has been found in the room. The manager of the hotel hires a detective to find the thief and when Mrs. Carley tries to offer him the handkerchief as evidence she finds it has been stolen from her purse.

Sadie Brady, a slangy goodnatured stenographer in the hotel, determines to investigate the robbery herself and is much impressed by the suspected Mr. Dow. Sadie is a very winning heroine with plenty of snap and go; a real and interesting young woman posing as an illiterate stenographer when in reality she is the investigating agent of the Insurance Company. Cameron, the detective, is completely baffled by the suavity of Mr. Dow and suspicion begins to rest on the unctuous Dr. Beedle, a college professor of Moral Philosophy. The second act occurs the night of the grand ball at the hotel and the thief is hard at work rifling the rooms of the merry-makers. Sadie wrings a confession from Harriet that the necklace was not really stolen, but when Harriet tries to find it she discovers that it is missing. As a climax to the mysteries of the second act, Mrs. Quinn, the quaint Irish maid, announces that Dr. Beedle has committed suicide.

This proves to be a mistake, however as the good doctor has only been chloroformed and his room rifled. The third act occurs in Mr. Dow's room, where he is cleverly trapped by Sadie and the detective, but manages to elude them and makes his escape. In the last act Sadie succeeds in establishing Dow's innocence and fixing the crime on Cameron, the detective, who is the real culprit. The slangy little bellboy, the Irish maid, the droll Mr. Dow and the vapid Mr. Null assist in the comedy scenes.

C. S. Abbott Starts Suit

Against Henry Richardi of Bellaire and City of Charlevoix.

(From Charlevoix Courier.)

Last week suit was commenced in the circuit court of Antrim County up on bill of complaint filed by Charles S. Abbott, against the city of Charlevoix, Henry Richardi and the Hydraulic Light and Power Company of Bellaire. The suit arises out of transactions between Mr. Richardi and Mr. Abbott prior to the lease made in December, 1917, whereby the city took over the operation of the Bellaire power plant. It is claimed by Mr. Abbott that he secured an option, dated September 8, 1917, wherein Mr. Richardi agreed to sell to him the plant, transmission lines flowage rights, etc., for $100,000 to be paid by the sale of an issue of bonds on the plant. After obtaining this option, which was for 60 days, Mr. Abbott entered into a contract with the city of Charlevoix to furnish electric current for a ten-year period, under terms similar to the old Richardi-Charlevoix contract.

In his contract with the city Mr. Abbott agreed to move the steam plant at Bellaire to Charlevoix, loop in the East Jordan system, via Ellsworth, and secure a release from Richardi of any and all claims arising out of the old Richardi-Charlevoix contract. It will be recalled that the city of Charlevoix, at and before this time was obtaining its current from Rock Product company's steam plant, which was only a temporary arrangement, and likely to be terminated at any time. For some reason Abbott and Richardi never consummated their deal. The 60 day option expired, and Mr. Abbott was apparently unable to acquire the plant and perform his contract with the city.

It appears that the city council at that time were advised by Mr. Abbott that the whole deal was off, whereupon the city entered into the lease of December 18, 1917, and later exercised the option of purchase contained in the lease. Since that time the city has been in possession of the plant, has made extensive improvements and repairs, and has paid a considerable part of the purchase price as the bonds issued therefore matured.

It was not until quite recently that the city council became aware that Mr. Abbott claimed any rights under his Richardi option, and his contract with the city. Plaintiff is asking for a decree compelling the performance of the terms of the option and contract, and an accounting of profits.

The issue presented in the case raises the question of whether Mr. Abbott's default was caused by matters or happenings beyond his control. To excuse his default the plaintiff charges that the city of Charlevoix, through its proper officers conspired with Mr. Richardi to prevent performance, and by fraud, cheating, persuasion, solicitation and inducements, hindered and embarrassed him in procuring performance.

Our citizens will be interested to learn in just what way our former city officials succeeded in perpetuating such a gigantic conspiracy. It is to be observed that none of the then aldermen have been proceeded against individually.

Mr. Abbott is represented in the case by Att'y Rood and Vischer of Detroit with Att'y Dwight L. Wilson of this city as counsel. The city of Charlevoix is represented by Att'y Arthur L. Fitch.

and the good little bad girl, Bebe Daniels on Sunday. The change of program on Wednesday night has struck the popular fancy, it consists of a feature and The Lost City. Those who do not like a serial can go and see a good five reel feature which is really Monday's show moved up to Wednesday with the Lost City thrown in for good measure.

STATE TAX RATE SLIGHTLY HIGHER

REGULAR APPROPRIATIONS FOR 1921-22 ARE $19,069,922; EXPECT REDUCTION IN 1923.

SOLDIERS BONUS NEXT PROBLEM

Special Session Must Provide Means for Taking Care of $1,250,000 Interest on Bond Issue.

Lansing.—Michigan's total state tax levy will, during the two ensuing years, be slightly larger than for the biennial period just closed. The appropriations of the regular session, show a slight increase over the appropriation of two years ago, but the increased assessed valuation, figured at nearly half a billion, will reduce the rate sufficiently to bring it at or below the figure of the last two years.

But there is still the special session to come, with an almost certain appropriation of $1,250,000 for each year for interest and sinking fund on the soldiers' bonus bonds. The special session might pass a few other appropriation bills, so, until its business is done, exact tax rates will not be known, but they will be in the neighborhood of 34 per thousand of valuation, as against 33.87 last year.

In the year 1922, however, the tax will be lowered about 60 cents per thousand, as the regular legislative appropriations for that year are approximately three millions less than those for 1921 collection.

The situation will contain an unprecedented element in that business year, the state will collect its first corporation tax. It is estimated to produce $6,000,000 annually, and out of this money, plus three million fees annually, it is expected to do all the state building. The regular tax levy contains no building appropriation except $1,107,000 to complete the state office building and less than $100,000 for a new cell block at Marquette prison.

The regular appropriations for 1921-22 are $19,069,922 and for the following year $18,391,738. These include the mill taxes of three million each year for the University of Michigan and $1,000,000 each year for the Michigan Agricultural College. These institutions get no other state moneys except the conditional building appropriations out of the corporation tax and fees. These figures in the last two years were $17,432,512 and $17,379,244. The totals thus show $639,148 more this session than last with the soldiers' bonus to come.

Maple Is Much Used
Makers of croquet sets use more maple than any other wood; but the mallet heads of fine sets may be lignum-vitae or teak; and the mallet handles may be beech and birch as well as of maple, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The balls wear out sooner than the other parts of the outfit. They gradually go to pieces by splitting, chips at a time.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

It never fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Menthol Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

HARDING INSISTS ON U. S. RIGHTS

PRESIDENT TELLS FLEET, BACK HOME, WE WILL NOT HAVE PEACE WITHOUT HONOR.

PLEADS FOR EFFECTIVE NAVY

Expresses Hope That The Navy Might Never Again Have to Fire A Gun During War.

Aboard the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, Hampton Roads, Va.—President Harding served notice upon the "whole world that the United States does not want anything that is not hers by right, but that she does want that which is righteously her own and, by the eternal, we mean to have it!"

This ringing declaration was made in a brief speech to the officers of the Atlantic fleet following the presidential review.

When the cheers had died away the president, continued:

"I wish you might never be called upon to fire a gun again.

"If every government was inspired by the same motives as ours there would always be peace, but I would not have peace without honor and without consciousness that America is right and is protecting its every interest. I bid you make ours an efficient, conscientious and effective navy and I pledge you in return the confidence and confidence of 110,000,000 Americans.

"I want to tell you who serve, how deeply interested and thoroughly confident America is in you. America will never ask anything of you that is not in accord with the best conscience of the freest people on earth.

"The United States does not want anything that is not right. It does not want any territory. It does not want any tribute, but it does want that which is righteously ours and, by the eternal, we mean to have that."

Guns on the neighboring men of war thundered salutes and scores of sightseeing craft circled in and out amidst the great sea fighters as the president boarded the Pennsylvania. The president was taken to the quarter deck where Admiral Wilson presented the officers of the fleet. The president gathered them about him and it was then that he delivered his brief, but emphatic speech.

THE "PLUS" SIGN.
The "plus" or sign of addition, is derived from the Latin word "et," meaning "and." Originally the word "et" was written as a capital E with a flourish across the lower extremity. This in time, as haste dictated to convenience, degenerated into a simple cross.

Panama Troops Concentrate

San Jose, Costa Rica.—Troops of the Republic of Panama, concentrating in the Coto and Almirante districts, along the Costa Rican frontier, are being closely watched by military leaders here. Military preparations for the purpose of encountering any blow struck by Panama are not being made because the government and people of Costa Rica are confident the United States will follow out the program laid down by Secretary Hughes in his note.

THE WOODS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

RAIN.
RAININ', is it? So it is—
An' I knew it would.
When a man has rheumatiz
in this old left stem of his
He can tell as good
When it's gon' to leak
As your fancy weatherman
Down here in Chicago can,
If he thinks a week.
An' I guess it's just because
Rheumatiz an' Nature's laws
Sort of work together—
Lots of moisture in the air,
Rheumatiz a-plenty there,
Both mean stormy weather.

This left stem of mine can smell
Water miles away;
This old stem of mine can tell
Fifty furlongs from a well
Where it ought to lay.
An' I'll tell you why:
This old stem an' me has tramped,
Waded, swum an' drove an' camped,
Never gittin' dry,
Forty Winters, forty Springs;
Do you wonder that she sings
When she smells the water?
If you fellows really know
All that big an' me went through
Guess you'd think she oughter.

You ain't never had the luck
Swampin' in the snow;
None of you ain't never stuck
To your bog-tops in the muck
When it's tan below.
There ain't none of you
Ever drove the Chippeway
In the early days of May
When a norther blew,
When the river water froze
In your boots an' in your clothes—
Freezin', thawin', freezin'!
If this stem of mine finds out
When there's water 'round about,
Surely there's a reason.

An', besides, there's quite a line
Of such signs of rain,
There is many another sign
'Ceptin' this old stem of mine
That is just as plain.
There is bunions yet—
An' a corn or bunion is
Most a good a rheumatiz
'Prophevin' wet.
When you see a cat eat grass,
When you see a small-mouth bass
Sendin' up a bubble,
When you hear a rain-crow caw—
It is simply Nature's law
Indicatin' trouble.

Rainin', is it? So it seems;
It's a nasty night.
Yonder how the street lamp gleams—
Like the light you see in dreams,
Set an' far soft an' white,
Like the light you see
When you let life's half-hitch slip,
When you kind of lose your grip
On the things that be.
An' I sometimes think the shore
That we all are headin' for
Looks so far an' shortly
'Cause we're lookin' (like tonight)
We are lookin' at the light)
Through a fog-bank mostly.

How the asphalt pavements shined
Almost lookin' clean,
Every lamp post makes a line
Like the shadow of a pine
On a snowy scene.
In the gutter high
Little ripples curl an' comb,
Little dirty rivers foam.
In an hour to die
They are like the stream of life,
Full of work an' play an' strife,
Proud with splash an' splutter.
Each believes himself a flood—
Most of us is only mud
Runnin' down a gutter.

Rainin'? Sure enough it is,
But it ain't the goods;
Doesn't git right down to his
Like the whirlin' raindrops whis
Up there in the woods.
It's a city shower,
Like the other kinds of stuff
In the city, mostly bluff,
Lastin' fer an hour.
Up there, when it rains, it rains,
Fillin' rivers, floodin' plains
Down the mountains washin'.
Up there when a rain we get
When we're really through with it,
Things are jest a-sloshin'.

For a rainstorm in the brush
Is the wettest thing,
Ground beneath you soft as mush
An' around you all a hush,
Not a bird to sing—
Jest the droppin' slow
Of the raindrops on the leaves,
Spillin' from a billion eaves.
On the earth below:
Jest a blanket in the mire,
Jest a smudgy kind of fire.
Weak an' slow an' smoky;
Breakfast—pancakes simply lead;
Dinner—wet an' soggy bread;
Supper—biscuits soaked.

Rainin', is it? So it is.
Glad I'm high and dry.
When a man has rheumatiz
In this old left stem of his
Keep inside, say I.
Now, this city stuff
Ain't like woods rain near as wet,
Ain't like woods rain in an' yet
It is wet enough.
Course the woods rain is the best
It is dampest, healthiest,
Better altogether.
But I guess I'll stay inside
Tryin' to be satisfied
With this city weather.

WHY WE'RE PROUD OF OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

East Jordan has every reason to be proud of the record made by her school during the last year. The debating team consisting of Paul Franseth, Arthur Secord, Gayle Hudkins, Floyd Liskum has won every debate so far, defeating Boyne City, Charlevoix, Gaylord, Pellston, Cheboygan, Saginaw, Petoskey, Iron Mountain, Allegan and won second place in the state contest at Ann Arbor in the debate with the Kalamazoo Normal High School.

In oratory Virginia Pray won first honors in the subdistrict contest held in Harbor Springs, defeating Traverse City, Cheboygan, Boyne City, Kingsley, Harbor Springs and Charlevoix. In the district contest held in East Jordan she won first place against Manistee and Muskegon which entitles her to enter the state contest held later.

At the district shorthand contest held this week at Traverse City, Helen Stroebel won first place in beginners' shorthand and Alice Malpass won second place in advanced shorthand.

This sends both young ladies to the state contest at Kalamazoo.

Our basketball team won third place at the Petoskey Tournament and later went to Ann Arbor for the state contest. So far our baseball team has been victorious in every game it has played.

ARCHABLE M. MURPHY PIONEER RESIDENT OF EAST JORDAN

A. M. Murphy passed away at his home on the West Side Thursday, April 28 following an illness of some five months from cancer of the stomach.

Deceased was born at St. Johns, New Brunswick, June 1, 1844, being nearly 77 years of age at the time of his death. He grew to manhood in New Brunswick, going from there to Maine where he sailed on the Atlantic for several years. In 1866—fifty years ago—he came to this region and located in what was destined to become the City of East Jordan. At that time the place here was still virgin timber and Mr. Murphy cut the pine trees where a part of East Jordan now stands.

On December 13, 1877, he was united in marriage to Miss Sadie Gregg of South Arm. He is survived by his wife and nine sons and daughters, viz: Charles P., of this city; Kebe, of Montana; John, of Kansas; Reuben, of Sandusky; Willism, of East Jordan; Irwin, of Kansas; Clarence, and Archable, of East Jordan; Mrs. Anna Nason, of East Jordan.

Deceased served on the East Jordan public school board for some fifteen years and was a member of the Grange. Funeral services were held from his late home Saturday afternoon, April 30 conducted by Rev. John Duncan. Interment at the Jones Cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the sickness and death of our husband and father, for the beautiful singing, the comforting words of the minister and for the beautiful flowers.

Mrs. A. M. Murphy and family.

EDWARD CHARLES SULAK
APPENDICITIS VICTIM

Edward Charles, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sulak of Jordan township, Antrim county, passed away Friday, April 29th, following an illness from appendicitis. He was taken to the Charlevoix hospital April 9th and operated upon for appendicitis. Later it was found necessary to perform another operation from which he failed to recover.

Deceased was born July 25, 1907, in Jordan township, and leaves, besides his parents, two brothers, Jerome and Frederick, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Kroll and Agatha.

Funeral services were held from St. John's Church in the Bohemian Settlement, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Drinan. Interment at the Wilkes cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our kind friends and neighbors for their kind assistance during our sorrow for the death of our son and brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sulak.
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kroll.

Furniture Cleaner.

Home-made furniture cleaner can be made by adding one tablespoonful of turpentine and three tablespoonfuls of linseed or lemon oil to one quart of boiling water. When cool enough to be comfortable to the hand, use as a wash water on all furniture except white enamel. Soft cheesecloth for wash cloth and a dry piece for a soft wiping cloth will give the good polish of clean wood. There being no varnish in the mixture, the furniture will not be sticky from this cleaner.

Hygienic Sleeping Rooms.

A sun-bath, at frequent intervals, is effective in keeping the bedding healthy, sweet and wholesome. To this is added, of course, daily airing of the bed-clothes for not less than two hours. Elderdown quilts, though tempting to the eye of the housewife, are not as hygienic a covering as the more easily washed woolen blankets. As at least a third of our lives is spent in the bedroom it behooves us to see that it is clean, airy and hygienic, otherwise refreshing sleep will be impossible, and health will suffer.

Oil of Apples.

Chemists have newly succeeded in extracting from apple parings, by means of ether, an essential oil, yellowish, and of a somewhat gummy consistency, which possesses in high degree the characteristic and delicious odor of fresh apples. Crabapple parings yield more of this oil than those of ordinary apples. It is likely to be turned to useful account for flavoring purposes and conceivably for perfumes.

Orange-Outang Misnamed.

Occasionally the underbrush (southern Borneo) crashed beneath the tread of some heavy animal—a rhinoceros perhaps or possibly an orang-utan. I might add, parenthetically, that orang-utan means, in the Malay language, "man of the forest," while orange-outang, the name which we carelessly apply to the great anthropoid, means "man in debt."—E. Alexander Powell in Scribner's Magazine.

Temperamenta.

Six-year-old Bessie, returning from church and eager to tell the news, said, "Oh, mother, we have a new terror in the choir."—Boston Transcript.

"Where Everybody Goes"

Gentleness Always Best.

Gentleness is far more successful in all its enterprises than violence; indeed violence generally frustrates its own purpose, while gentleness scarcely ever fails.—Locke.

Source of Icebergs.

The source of practically all the icebergs of the arctic and subarctic regions is Greenland.

Long Shoe Points.

At one time—in the Fourteenth or Fifteenth century—people wore the points of their shoes so long that they were in danger of tumbling over them when they walked. To overcome this inconvenience it became fashionable for both men and women to tie their shoe points to their knees by laces or chains.

Mothers' Day

A Proclamation by the Governor.

It is a beautiful custom which decrees that one Sunday in the year shall be set apart for the purpose of honoring the memory of the mothers who have gone from us and of paying a tribute of affection and reverence to those who are still left to us. It is impossible to compute our debt to our mothers. Their devotion and sacrifice guarded and sheltered and cared for us from the cradle up to manhood and womanhood. To them most of us owe whatever there is of sterling character in our make-up. The mother is the heart of the home, and from the hearthstones, around which linger the recollections of our mothers, come inspirations that give hope and courage and steadfastness to fight the battle of life.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Michigan, I do hereby designate and set aside and I call upon our people, both young and old, to gather in their several places of worship and take part in services appropriate to the day.

Sunday, May 8th, 1921 as Mothers' Day

And let absent sons and daughters take this occasion to visit the mother in the old home, or, where such a visit is impossible, let them send a message of cheer and greeting.

In accordance with a resolution of the Congress of the United States, I further request the people of Michigan on the day aforesaid to display the United States flag in their homes and in other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this Twenty-second day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-fifth.
ALEX. J. GROESBECK, Governor.

The Wreckers

"Clanahan," he began, as cold as an icicle. "I didn't get you down here to argue with you. You've bungled this thing once, and for that reason you've got it to do over again. We haven't asked you to 'croak' anybody, as you put it, and we are not asking it now."

"This d—d little you lack av asking it," retorted the divekeeper. "Listen," said Hatch, leaning forward with his hands on his knees. "Besides keeping cases on Norcross here, we've been digging back into his record a few lines. Every man has his sore spot, if you can only find it. Clanahan—just as you have yours. What if I should tell you that Norcross is wanted in another state—for a crime? Before he came here he was chief of construction on the Oregon Midland. There was a right-of-way fight back in the mountains—fifty miles from the nearest sheriff—with the P. & S. F. Norcross armed his track-layers, and in the bluffing there was a man killed."

Though it was a warm night, as I have said, the cold chills began to chase themselves up and down my back. What Hatch said was perfectly true. In the right-of-way scrap he was talking about, there had been a few wild shots fired, and one of them had found a P. & S. F. laborer. I don't believe anybody had ever really blamed the boss for it. But there had been a man killed.

While I was shivering, Clanahan said: "Well, what av it?"

"Norcross was responsible for that man's death. If he was having trouble over his right-of-way, his recourse was to the law, and he took the law into his own hands. Nothing was ever done about it, because nobody took the trouble to prosecute. A week ago we sent a man to Oregon to look up the facts. He succeeded in finding a brother of the dead man, and a warrant has now been sworn out for Norcross' arrest."

"Well?" said Clanahan again. "Ye have the string in yer own hand; why don't ye pull it?" "That's where you come in," was the answer. "The Oregon justice issued the warrant because it was demanded, but he refused to incur, for his county, the expense of sending a deputy sheriff to another state, or to take the necessary steps to have Norcross extradited. If Norcross could be produced in court, he would try him and either discharge him or bind him over, as the facts might warrant. He took his stand upon the ground that Norcross was only technically responsible, and told the brother that in all probability nothing would come of an attempt to prosecute."

"Thin ye've got nothing on him, after all," the Irishman grunted.

"Yes," Hatch came back; "we have the warrant, and in addition to that, we have you, Pete. A word from you to the Portal City police headquarters, and our man finds himself arrested and locked up—to wait for a requisition from the governor of Oregon."

"But you said 'requisition wouldn't come,'" Clanahan put in.

Hatch was sitting back now and stroking his ugly jaw.

"It might come, Pete, if it had to: there's no knowing. In the meantime we get delay. There'll be habeas corpus proceedings, of course, to get him out of jail, but there's where you'll come in again; you've got your own man for city attorney. And, after all, the delay is all we need. With Norcross in trouble, and in jail on a charge of murder, the railroad ship'll go on the rocks in short order. The Norcross management is having plenty of trouble—wrecks and the like. With Norcross locked up, New York will be heard from, and Disnuck will step in and clean house. That will wind up the reform spasm."

"This a small chance," growled the chief of the ward heeled. "I'll talk it over with the big fellow."

Again Hatch leaned forward and put his hands on his knees. "You'll do nothing of the sort, Pete. You'll act, and act on your own responsibility. If you don't, somebody may wire the sheriff of Silver Bow county, Montana, that the man he knew in Butte as Michael Clancy is . . ."

The divekeeper put up both hands as if to ward off a blow.

"This enough," he mumbled, speaking as if he had a bunch of dry cotton in his mouth. "Slip me the warrant."

Hatch went to the small safe and worked the combination. When the door was opened he passed a folded paper to Clanahan. Through all this talk, Henckel had said nothing, and I suspected that Hatch had him there solely for safety's sake, and to provide a witness. With the paper in his pocket, Clanahan got up to go. It was time for me to make a move.

It's curious how an idea will sometimes lay hold of you and knock out reason and common sense and everything else. Clanahan had in his pocket a piece of paper that simply meant ruin to Mr. Norcross, and the blowing up of all the plans that had been made and all the work that had been done. If he should be allowed to get up town with that warrant, the end of everything would be in sight. But how was I to prevent it?

The three men were on their feet, and Hatch was reaching for the wall switch which controlled the single incandescent lamp hanging from the ceiling of the scale-house. If I could only think of some way to blow the place up and snatch the paper in the confusion.

Up to that minute I had never thought once of the pistol I had taken from Fred May's drawer, though it was still sagging in my left hip pocket. When I did think of it I dragged it out with some silly notion of trying to hold the three men up at the door of the shack as they came out. Hatch's stop to light a cigar and to hand out a couple to light the other two gave me time to chuck that notion and grab another. With the muzzle of the automatic resting in the crack of the opened window I took dead aim at the incandescent lamp in the ceiling and turned her loose for the whole magazineful.

Since the first bullet got the lamp and left the place black dark, I couldn't see what was happening in the close little room. I could hear them gasping and yelling and knocking one another down as they fought to get the door open. Sticking the empty pistol back into my pocket I jumped to get action, hurrying my sore hand like the mischief in doing it.

Hatch was the first man out, but the big German was so close a second that he knocked his smaller partner down and fell over him. Clanahan kept his feet. He had a gun in his hand that looked to me, in the darkness, as big as a cannon. I was flailing against the side of the scale-shack, and when the divekeeper tried to side-step around the two fallen men who were blocking the way, I snatched the folded paper from his pocket; snatched it and ran as if the dickens was after me.

That was a bad move—the runaway. If I had kept still there might have been a chance for me to make a sneak. But when I ran, and fell over a pile of loose coal, and got up and ran again, they were all three after me, Clanahan taking blind shots in the dark with his cannon as he came.

Naturally, I made straight for the wagon gate, and forgot, until I was right there, that it, and the wicket through one of the leaves, were both locked. As I shook the wicket, a bullet from Clanahan's gun spat into the woodwork and stuck a splinter into my hand, and I turned and sprinted again, this time for the gates where the coal cars were pushed in from the railroad yard. These, too, were shut and locked, and when I ducked under the nearest gondola I realized that I was trapped. Before I could climb the high fence anywhere, they'd get me.

They came up all three of them, puffing and blowing, while I was hiding under the gondola.

"It's probably that cow-boy spotter of Norcross', but he can't get away," Hatch was gritting—meaning Tarbell, probably. "The gates are locked and we can plug him if he tries to climb the fence. There's a gun in the scale-house. You two look under these cars while I go and get it!"

It was up to me to move again. Henckel was striking matches and holding them so that Clanahan could look under the cars, and I could feel in anticipation the shock of a bullet from the big gun in the divekeeper's fat hat as I crawled cautiously out on the far side. Creeping along behind the string of coal cars I came presently to the great gantry crane used for unloading the fuel. It was a huge traveling machine, straddling the tracks and a good part of the yard, and the clam-shell grab-bucket was down, resting on its two lips on the ground.

At first I thought of climbing to the frame-work of the crane and trying to hide on the big bridge beam. Then I saw that the two halves of the clam-shell-bucket were slightly open, just wide enough to let me squeeze in. If they were looking for a full-sized man—Tarbell, for instance, who was as husky as a farm-hand—they'd never think of that crack in the bucket; and in another second I had wriggled through the V-shaped opening and was sitting humped up in one of the halves of the clam-shell. That was a mighty good guess. When Hatch came back with his gun, they combed that coal yard with a fine-tooth comb, using a lantern that Hatch had gotten from somewhere and missing no hole or corner where a man might hide, save and excepting only the one I had pre-empted.

As it happened, the search wound up finally under the crane, with the three standing so near that I could have reached out of the crack between the bucket halves and touched them. "Der tuyfel has gone mit himself ofer der fence, yes?" puffed Henckel. And then: "Yot for iss he shoot of dem pistols, ennahow?"

Clanahan confessed, I suppose because he knew he would have to, sooner or later. "It was a hold-up," he growled. "The warrant's gone out av my pocket."

Hatch's comment on this was fairly blood-curdling in its profanity. "Then it's up to you to get him some other way, you blundering son of a thief!" he raged. "I don't care what you do, but if you don't make this country too hot to hold him, it's going to get too hot to hold you!"

And what more he was going to say, I don't know, for at that moment a belated police patrol began pounding at the gates on the town side and wanting to know what all the shooting was about. It was after they had all gone away, leaving the big coal yard in silence and darkness, that I got mine, good and hard. Sitting all bunched up in the grab-bucket and waiting for my chance to climb out and make a get-away, the common sense reaction came and saw what I had done. With the best intentions in the world, in trying to kill off the chance offered to the enemy by the Oregon warrant and the trumped-up charge of murder, I had merely saved the boss an arrest and a possible legal tangle and had put him in peril of his life.

CHAPTER X

The Man at the Window

Of course, the first thing I did, the morning after that adventure in the coal yard, was to tell the boss all about it, and I was just foxy enough to do it when Mr. Ripley was present. Mr. Norcross didn't say much; and, for that matter, neither did the lawyer, though he did ask the boss a question or two about the real facts in the Midland right-of-way squabble.

But I noticed, after that, that our man Tarbell was continually turning up at all sorts of times, and in all sorts of odd places, so I took it that Ripley had given him his tip, and that he was sort of body-guarding Mr. Norcross on the quiet, though I am sure the boss didn't know anything about that part of it—he was such a square fighter himself that he probably wouldn't have stood for it if he did.

Meanwhile, things grew warmer and warmer in the tussle we were making to pull the old Short Line out of the mud; warmer in a number of ways, because, in addition to the fight for the public confidence, we began just then to have a perfect epidemic of wrecks.

The boss turned the material trouble over to Mr. Van Britt and devoted himself pretty strictly to the public side of things. Everywhere, and on every occasion—at dinners at the different chambers of commerce, and public banquets given to this, that, or the other visiting big-wig—he was always ready to get on his feet and tell the people that the true prosperity of the country carried with it the prosperity of the railroads; that the two things were one and inseparable; and that, when it came right down to basic facts, the railroads were really a part of the progress machinery of the country at large and should be regarded, not as alien tax-collectors, but as contributors to the general prosperity and welfare.

By this time, also, Red Tower Consolidated was beginning to find out what it meant to have active competition. The C. S. & W. people were hammering their new plants into working shape, and they were getting the patronage, both of the producers and consumers, hand over fist. Track facilities and yard service were granted freely; and while no discrimination was permitted as against the Red Tower people, the friendly attitude of the road counted for something, as it was bound to.

During those few pre-election weeks the New York end of us seemed to have petered out completely. We heard nothing more from President Dunton, worse than an occasional wire-complaint about the number of wrecks we were having, though the stock was still going down, point by point, and, so far as a man up a tree could see, we were making no attempt to show net earnings—were turning all our money into betterments as fast as it came in. I knew that couldn't go on. Without a flurry of some sort, the New Yorkers would never be able to break even, to say nothing of a profit, and I looked every day for a howl that would tear things straight up the back.

While all these threads were weaving along, I'm sorry to say that I hadn't yet drummed up the courage to tell the boss the truth about Mrs. Sheila. He kept on going to the major's every chance he had, and Maisie Ann was making life miserable for me because I hadn't told him—calling me a coward and everything under the sun. I told her to tell him herself, and she retorted that I knew she couldn't: that it was my job and, nobody else's. We fussed over it a lot; and because I most always contrived some excuse to chase out to the Kendrick house at the boss' heels—merely to help Tarbell keep cases on him—there were plenty of chances for the fussing. It was on one of these chasing trips to "Kenwood" that the roof fell in. The major had gone out somewhere to the theater, I guess—taking his wife and Maisie Ann, and the boss and Mrs. Sheila were sitting together in the major's den, with a little coal blaze in the basket grate because the nights were beginning to get a bit chilly.

I Had Butted In With a Telegram

I had butted in with a telegram—which might just as well have stood over until the next morning, if you want to know. After I had delivered it, Mrs. Sheila gave me that funny little laugh of hers and told me to go hunt in the pantry and see if I could find a piece of pie, and the boss added that if I'd wait, he'd go back to town with me pretty soon.

I found the pie, and ate it in the dining-room, making noise enough about it so that they could know I was there if they wanted to. But they went right on talking, and paid no attention to me.

"Do you know, Sheila," they had long since got past the "Mr." and "Mrs."—you've been the greatest possible help to me in this rough-house, all the way along," the boss was saying. "You have held me up to the rack, time and again, when I have been ready to throw it all up and let go. Why have you done it?"

I heard the little laugh again, and she said: "It is worth something to have a friend. Odd as it may seem, Graham, I have been singularly poverty-stricken in that respect. And I have wanted to see you succeed. Though you are still calling it merely a 'business deal,' it is really a mission, you know, crammed full of good things to a struggling world. If you do succeed—and I am sure you are going to—you will leave this community, and hundreds of others, vastly the better for what you are doing and demonstrating."

"But that is a man's point of view," the boss persisted. "How do you get it? You are all woman, you know; and your mixing and mingling—at least, since I have known you—has all been purely social. How do you get the big overlook?"

"I don't know. I was foolish and frivolous once, like most young girls, I suppose. But we all grow older; and we ought to grow wiser. Besides, the woman has the advantage of the man in one respect; she has time to think and plan and reason things out as a busy man can't have. Your problem has seemed very simple to me, from the very beginning. It asked for a strong man and an honest one. You were to take charge of a piece of property that had been abused and knocked about and used as a means of extortion and oppression, and you were to make it good."

"Again, that is a man's point of view." "Oh, no," she protested quickly. "There is no sex in ethics. Women are the natural house-cleaners, perhaps, but that isn't saying that a man can't be one, too, if he wants to be."

At this, the boss got up and began to tramp up and down the room; I could hear him. I knew she'd been having the biggest kind of a job to keep him shut up in this sort of abstract corral, when all the time he was loving her fit to kill, but apparently she had been doing it, successfully. There wasn't the faintest breath of sentiment in the air; not the slightest whiff. When she began again, I could somehow feel that she was just in time to prevent his breaking out into all sorts of love-making.

"The time has come, now, when you must take another leaf out of my book," she said, with just the proper little cooling tang in her voice. "Up to the present you have been hammering your way to the end like a strong man, and that was right. But you have been more or less reckless—and that isn't right or fair or just to a lot of other people."

"The tramping stopped and I heard him say: 'I don't know what you mean.' 'I mean that matters have come to such a pass now that you can't afford to take any risks—personal risks. If the plan the enemy is trying doesn't work, it will try another and a more desperate one.' 'You've been talking to Ripley,' he laughed. 'Ripley wants me to become a gun-toter and provide myself with a body-guard. I'd look well, wouldn't I? But what do you mean by 'the plan the enemy is now trying'?"

She hesitated a little, and then said: "I shall make no charges, because I have no proof. But I read the newspapers, and Mr. Van Britt tells me something, now and then. You are having a terrible lot of wrecks."

"That is merely bad luck," he rejoined easily. "Rashness is no part of true courage," she interpolated, calmly. "As a private individual you might say that your life is your own, and that you have a perfect right to risk it as you please. But as the general manager of the railroad, with a lot of your friends holding office under you, you can't say that. Besides, you are fighting for a cause, and that cause will stand or fall with you."

"You ought to be a member of this new reform legislature that some of our good friends think is coming up the pike," he chuckled; but she ignored the good-natured gibe and made him listen.

"I was visiting a day or two at the capital last week, and there are influences at work that you don't know about. If the opposition can't make your administration a failure, it won't hesitate to get rid of you in the easiest way that offers."

There was a silence in the major's den for a minute or so, and then the boss said:

"As usual, you know more than you are willing to tell me."

"Perhaps not," was the prompt answer. "Perhaps I am only the on-looker—who can usually see things rather better than the persons actually involved. Hitherto I have urged you to be bold, and then again to be bold. Now I am begging you to be prudent."

"In what way?" "Careful for yourself. For example: you walked out here this evening; don't do that any more. Come in a taxi—and don't come alone."

I couldn't see his frown of disagreement, but I knew well enough it was there.

"There spoke the woman in you," he said. "If I should show the white feather that way, they'd have some excuse for potting me."

There was a silence again, and I got up quietly and crossed the dining-room to the big recessed window where I stood looking out into the darkness of the tree-shaded lawn. It was pretty evident that Mrs. Sheila knew a heap more than she was telling the boss, just as he had said, and I couldn't help wondering how she came to know it. What she said about the increased number of wrecks looked like a pointer. Was she in touch with the enemy in some way?

Then my mind went back in a flash to what Maisie Ann had told me. Was the husband who ought to be dead, and wasn't mixed up in it in any way? Could it be possible that he was one of those who were in the fight on the other side, and that she was still keeping in touch with him?

They soon heard the murmur of their voices again, but now I was so far away from the bamboo-screened door that I couldn't hear what they were saying. I wished they would break it off so the boss could go. It was getting late, and there had been enough said to make me wish we were both safely back in the hotel. It's that way sometimes, you know, in spite of all you can do. You hear a talk, and you can't help reading between the lines. I knew, as well as I knew that I was alive, that Mrs. Sheila meant more than she had said; perhaps more than she had dared to say.

It was while I was standing there in the big window that I saw the man on the lawn. At first I thought it was Tarbell, who was never very far out of reach when the boss was running loose. But the next minute I saw I was mistaken. The man under the trees had on a long traveling coat that came nearly to his heels, and his cap was the kind that has two visors, one in front and the other behind. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

Doctrine of Reincarnation.

The doctrine of a previous existence being made manifest to the individual is very old, and certain sects, especially in the Far East, believe that their experiences many incarnations, carrying the memory to a greater or less degree from one incarnation to the other. Theological writers have taken up this strange state of feeling as an evidence that our mentality had an existence before our present bodily life—souls being created from the beginning.

Might As Well Tell Him.

Nine times out of ten when a man asks for advice, what he really wants is to have you tell him he is doing exactly the right thing.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

For three generations mothers have successfully used Foley's Honey and Tar as a safe remedy for the relief of cold, cough, croup and whooping cough. It is pure, wholesome, and children like it. Contains no opiates. Especially good for croup and whooping cough—the two terrors of childhood.

Mrs. W. E. Thornton, Little Rock, Ark., writes this: "My little boy had a severe attack of croup, but two doses of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved him, and he went back to sleep and was troubled no more. I would not do without it at any price."

The Number Isn't Limited. "One can get a lot of enjoyment out of a small piece of mistletoe," states a gossip writer. So can two—Passing Show, London.

OLD-TIME GOLD-CURE DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Brest Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF ACHING JOINTS

Rub Soreness from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of old St. Jacobs Oil.

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacobs' Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia.

Linger up! Get a 35 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizziness, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

51st LEGISLATURE PASSED 420 BILLS DURING SESSION

DEPARTMENT REORGANIZATION MARKS IMPORTANT CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT OF STATE'S AFFAIRS.

RESPONSIBILITY PLACED ON ELECTIVE OFFICERS

Governor As Chairman of Administrative Board Now Has Veto Power in Control of State Business.

(By William Lee Calnon.)

Lansing—The fifty-first Michigan legislature closed its regular session with less noise and more trouble than any previous session in the entire history of the state.

Should all the new provisions made by this legislature work out as is hoped by their sponsors this legislature is bound to take rank as the most constructive one thus far.

It has created what amounts to a board of directors to control the whole state business, with a chairman of the board whose veto is final.

The total acts passed by the 1921 legislature are 420, of which 262 originated in the house and 158 in the senate.

Following is a digest of all bills which passed both houses:

BIG CHEBOYGAN TANNERY CLOSES

The big Pfister & Vogel Tannery, at Cheboygan, was completely shut down at midnight, Saturday, April 30, to remain closed throughout the summer and until November 1.

Many men will be affected by the closing of the big plant, but the management stated to the Daily Tribune that all warehouses will be stored with hides in process of curing so that operations can be started November 1, without preliminary preparations.

Manager Lawler stated that the concern was stocked with surplus hides and that the Pfister and Vogel company was one of a few tanneries in the country that have been operating during the last six months.

By closing the plant during the warm season the employees will have opportunity to seek employment elsewhere, and no hardship so severe as were the concern to shut down in the winter will be felt.

RESORT GOVERNMENT HELD SANITARY NEED.

Some adequate form of governing organization is the outstanding need at most Michigan summer resorts, according to Maj. Edward D. Rich, director of sanitary engineering of the state department of health.

"Summer resorts are summer colonies," Maj. Rich points out, "often closely built up and densely populated; dwellings are frequently occupied by more people than commonly occupy residences of the same size; hotels are crowded to the utmost during the rush season; and dealers in all kinds of foodstuffs do a thriving business—and too often are poorly equipped for conducting their businesses in a careful, cleanly manner."

As a solution for the betterment of conditions Maj. Rich proposes that resort districts form subsidiary branches of the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association—for the purpose of furthering local sanitary government—and hire trained sanitary inspectors for the summer months.

"A large part of the people spending their vacations at our resorts are from cities where water supplies are carefully guarded," says Maj. Rich, "and they consequently give little thought to the water supplies at resorts, even though water supplies in the thickly populated resort communities are almost certain to become dangerous unless given careful attention."

"When the temporary and overcrowded conditions at many resorts are considered—along with the fact that a large part of the patrons at resorts are persons not up to their physical par—need for the most scrupulous supervision to protect the public health at Michigan resorts will be realized."

Garden Notes

(By M. A. C. Horticultural Dept.)

Time now to sow seeds of hardy annual flowering plants.

It is not too late to start celery for the late crop. Seed may be sown in well prepared out-door seed beds. Make the soil fine, cover the seed very lightly, and keep the soil moist.

The common varieties of spinach go to seed quickly in warm weather. If you are fond of this vegetable, try New Zealand. This variety grows all summer and repeated pickings may be made from the same plants, only the tender growing tips being used.

Try plantings of sweet corn and wax beans now. There is still danger of frost, but if the planting is lost, re-plant. The cost of seed is of minor consideration. Don't plant Lima beans until the weather is settled and the soil is quite warm, otherwise the seed will rot. Henderson's Bush Lima is the most dependable variety to grow in Michigan.

It is a mistake to start an asparagus bed from old plants. Only one or two year old seedling plants should be used. Set the plants 18 inches apart in rows spaced 3 or 4 feet apart. Always set the plants deep. The crown of the plant should be at least six inches below the normal level of the soil.

Plan to grow more vegetables for canning and storing this season. All reports indicate that the supply of canning fruits will be limited.

DON'T SPRAY FRUIT TREES DURING BLOOM

A warning against spraying with arsenical poisons while fruit trees are in bloom has been sent out by R. H. Pettit, entomologist at the Michigan Agricultural college. Nothing is to be gained by this practice, while serious loss through poisoning of bees is likely to follow, according to Professor Pettit, who takes a positive stand on the question.

"If arsenicals are needed in the early spring to check the work of bud-moth canker-worm, and other early spring insects, the arsenicals should be used in the spray which is applied just previous to the opening of the flowers, or while the buds are in the 'pink'" says Pettit.

"After the petals have dropped, another arsenical spray is usually applied in the regular routine. The spray of lime-sulphur sometimes applied for scab on Duchesne during bloom, should not contain any arsenical, since it kills a great number of wild bees, as well as honey bees, all of which are the principal agents for pollinating flowers."

Use of the spray at the wrong time brings loss not only to the bee-keepers of the district, but also to the orchard men themselves, because of the loss of these valuable pollenizing agents.

The fellow who recognizes the goodness of others is merely responding to the same qualities in himself.

"Keep to the middle of the road" is ancient advice, but today it is only the road hog who does it.

And yet there is one advantage in keeping prices up a little longer. We can wear last summer's suit without being termed too cheap.

MANY LIKE THIS IN EAST JORDAN

Similar Cases Being Published in Each Issue.

The following case is but one of many occurring daily in East Jordan. It is an easy matter to verify it. You cannot ask for better proof.

Robert Grant, East Jordan, says: "Kidney trouble had me in a mighty poor shape some ten years ago. At times my back played out while at work. I couldn't lie still in bed as my back hurt so. After a hard day's work I couldn't get any rest. I would go from one side of the bed to the other all night long. Night after night I had to get up and sit in a chair. My hands and feet often swelled and suffered with rheumatic pains. My kidneys were in such an unhealthy condition that I had to get up many times during the night. The secretions were badly colored and filled with sediment. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought a few boxes at the Hite Drug Co., and they cured me in great shape."

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

SADIE.

THE quaint name of Sadie, lately spelled Sadye, has its origin with Sarah. It comes from a Hebrew verb meaning to fight or rule, and hence came to signify "princess." The first record of the use of Sarah or Sara belongs to Bible history where the wife of Abraham was so called.

Sadie came into existence through the Irish—unless one came to believe that she is only an Americanization of one of Sarah's many derivatives. But for the sake of etymological exactness, it is nice to believe that the Irish Sadhbh was the real forerunner of Sadie.

But between the time of Abraham's wife and the appearance of the Irish version of her name, Sarah had been adopted by other countries and had won great popularity. In England Sara Beauchamp gave it vogue in the reign of Edward I and Sarotta de Moulton, who lived in a former reign, was also supposed to possess a name which was another and favorite form of Sarah.

The French preferred Sara without the "h" and it still continues in great vogue there. They have another form, Sarotte, which is also popular. Ireland's Sadhbh and America's Sadie are apparently the only other existing forms.

Sadie has a curious talismanic gem—malachite. If it is engraved with an image of the sun, it will bring her peace, freedom from danger and disease, and sound sleep. It is particularly lucky for children, and it is said that a piece of malachite tied to a child's cradle will protect it from dangers throughout later life. Saturday is Sadie's lucky day and 7 her lucky number.

HOW FARES THE LEAF?

HOW fares the leaf that you turned o'er?
When glad New Year first showed her face?
Today what seems to be the score?
No mortal hand can e'er erase?
'Tis withered? And your promise fair?
Hath gone to glimmer with the days?
And many a blot hath fallen there
Through lapses into former ways?
Ah well—too bad. And yet Time's tree
Holds leaves abundant to your hand.
And if this one shall withered be
A fresher waits for your command.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.
Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.
Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untried research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.
Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.
Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.
The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and a quarter complexion are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Imparting the Truth.
There can be no doubt that the proper way of conveying to my understanding a truth of which I am ignorant, or of impressing upon me a firmer persuasion of a truth with which I am acquainted, is by an appeal to my reason.—William Godwin.
Insist on "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a "Bayer package," containing proper directions for Colds, Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, and Rheumatism. Name "Bayer" means genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for nineteen years. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost few cents. Aspirin is trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoacetic Salicylic Acid of Barmen, Germany.
