Heavy Storm Last Monday

Wind and Lightning Cause Much Damage.

A downpour of rain accompanied by rapid-fire lightning and a heavy wind struck East Jordan and vicinity about one o'clock Monday afternoon, causing considerable damage to property.

At the James Liak farm in Jordan township, the main barn was struck by lightning and burned. The barn was well filled with hay, together with a mower, rake and a lot of farm implements. All was destroyed entailing a loss of nearly $2000. We understand the property was uninsured. An adjoining barn was saved with difficulty.

On the John Carson farm in South Arm, one silo was blown over and the roof of another thrown a considerable distance.

The Frank Lenosky barn was shifted a foot on its foundation.

At the Martin Ruhling farm just north of the city, a herd of five cattle were killed by lightning and another cow was stunned. In the herd were two blooded Shorthorns and the loss to Mr. Ruhling is considerable. The cattle were under a tree when struck, but the tree itself shows no trace of the bolt of lightning.

In the heavy downpour of rain high ways were washed out in places and orchards and other trees were badly injured by the high winds.

CHANGES ACCOUNT OF DEATH

Higgins Testifies He Did Not See Poison in Lucy's Hand.

Corunna, Mich.—Forrest Higgins, on trial in circuit court here on the charge of murdering his sweetheart, Lucy Wittum, whose death by carbolic acid last March he has pictured as suicidal, admitted on the witness stand during a grilling cross-examination, that he did not see the bottle containing the deadly poison. He had testified at the inquest that he had knocked the bottle from her hands but that the girl had again picked it up and swallowed the contents before he could interfere.

Higgins reiterated that not until the night of her death had Lucy revealed to him the knowledge of her approaching motherhood.

The trial, which has been in progress for over two weeks, is one of the longest on record here.

May Auction His Tombstone.

New York.—Money—the dread that shattered his boldest dreams and made his life one endless trouble—is haunting Oscar Hammerstein even to his grave. The claim of the makers against Hammerstein's widow for $1,256 was affirmed in court. If the auction-takes place it will be held in the cemetery.

G. C. R. vs Gr. and S. S.

Charlevoix Co. Has "Concrete" Example of Both Kinds.

Charlevoix, July 20, 1921. Reviewing the situation of Charlevoix County's road system, we all must analyze the thought of G. C. R. (good concrete roads) vs. Gr. and S. S. (gravel and soft stuff) construction, from a different angle than those who live where only gravel and soft stuff roads have been built, because we have the advantage of living in a county which has built both kinds and have ridden over them and know the advantages and benefits of one kind over the other.

Our G. C. R. was built twelve years ago and that for all we can see it is as good now as when first built. We know the upkeep is next to nothing—only Fourteen Dollars ($14.00) per mile for twelve years, or one Dollar and Twenty Seven Cents per mile per year, and that it has worn only 3-32 of an inch. No one in Charlevoix County knows either the cost of the Gr. and S. S. road or the upkeep of same but we do know that we have between Five and Six Hundred Thousand Dollars invested in roads and that about all we have to show for it is four or five miles of G. C. R. and 50 or 60 miles of the other, Gr. and S. S.

I would not build any of the cross roads now of concrete but we have twelve miles to build on the Dixie Highway—the road over which most of our tourists come here to spend the summer with us—and it is a National Highway. This road, I say most emphatically, should be built of concrete because of its durability and the large amount of expense which it will save in the upkeep for the same.

We can and we should take advantage of getting Federal Aid for this 12 miles of road, because we can get 50 per cent of the cost of it from 47 states which they will contribute to us on this piece of road. I think so and so does everybody else except perhaps a few. We can get state aid for building state roads. This money is from funds which we have contributed but here is an opportunity to get the sum needed from our neighboring 47 states.

The southern part of the state is getting Federal Aid in "large quantities" and they get it because they go for it and when we bonded for our One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, it was for a concrete road on the Dixie Highway. Frank Rogers, our State Highway Commissioner, promised us that we should have it for the Dixie Highway. Now I say while we can get the Federal Aid, let's go for it. It's for you taxpayers that I am talking and not for myself. Why? Because I have disposed of my property here and will not have the high tax to pay that you will have to pay on account of your present road system. It is the duty of every taxpayer to know what he pays his tax for and to see that he gets it. We should not calculate our county road problem singly as one against the other but collectively as a County Unit, and all of us using as much Federal Aid as we can get.

My contest between the building of G. C. R. and Gr. and S. S. roads is not with individuals, but with the rotten system and it is not necessary for me to refer to it. You all know it and why in the d—l you stand for it is more than I know. Say, fellows, let's see if we can't make more of our opportunities than we do. Let's ask ourselves a few questions. Am I doing all I can to make Charlevoix County a better place to live in? Is my example such as commands the respect of old friends and neighbors and all law abiding citizens? Do I obey the Golden Rule? Retire to the quiet of your own domicile and answer these questions and if any other questions pop up, answer them too—and then act accordingly to the dictates of an honest conscience.

Yours for the good of Charlevoix County,
"UNCLE" GEORGE VAN PELT.

EAST JORDAN ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO.

By L. G. Balch, Supt.

Charlevoix Co. To California

Mrs. Jennie M. Vance Writes of Auto Trip.

Oilfields, Cal. July 8, 1921. Dear Editor and Friends in East Jordan: Just a few sketches of trip home. Started from Charlevoix County on June 1st (having traversed the winding roads and viewed the beautiful scenery of N. Michigan for over 300 miles) came to visit a cousin in East Bay, Grand Traverse Co., (who by the way was Supervisor of East Bay township for 15 years). From there we went to Detroit where we had a warm welcome from many relatives and friends.

Among whose names are familiar to you E. E. Hall and family many years resident there. From Central Lake, Mrs. Thos. King, son George and family Mrs. Archie Cameron, F. Sissen and family, formerly of Echo, Mr. and Mrs. H. Vanderventer, Darwin and Noble Scofield and families. We saw many sights there which I will not mention as Detroit is so well known. From there we came to River Rouge where James Laginess lives. Mrs. Laginess was formerly Mrs. Arthur Vance a long resident of East Jordan. The next stop was at Coldwater, Mich. (the writer's birthplace) where another batch of cousins, nephews and nieces greeted us. There we renewed acquaintanceships of 50 years ago and visited scenes of our childhood. Then for our trip to the Land of the Setting Sun. We found the Lincoln Highway at Elkhart, Ind. and followed it to Ely, Nev. We made many detours on account of Road Construction, with the consoling thought that our fellow tourists would enjoy the future roads.

We found the roads in Indiana and Illinois very good. In Nebraska the Platte rivers were on the rampage, dams and bridges were washed out, so we detoured several miles. One of the bridges we crossed lost 2 abutments afterwards. In this state we saw hundreds of acres of potatoes in blossom which was a pretty sight. We soon got out of the rain belt into the mountains of Wyoming. That is a diversified state, even in the narrow southern belt in traversing it. The "wild and woolly" Cheyenne is no longer, but has all the earmarks of an eastern city, with an occasional cowboy or Indian mother with papoose strapped on her back. The sheep industry must have vast proportions as we saw a mammoth building inscribed Rawlin's Sheep Shearing Association. We went over mountains, 700 feet. The Great Divide we found here after descending the Rockies, here we found fertile valleys. One river, the Bear, was being converted into canals for irrigation by the State for experimental farms. Here we also saw large bridges under construction. We saw all thru' the state fences for railroad protection against snow. Also snowsheds, which we remembered as we came through this place by rail. One place in particular was a pleasing memory the name was Green River. Three stately mountain peaks with formations of rock guarded the town. One looked like a church, the others like castles of medieval times. Below the river went merrily over the stones. We camped on its banks and never will forget the grandeur of these natural curiosities. We came thru' several canyons and mining towns after this and at last came to Evanston, a little town the last in Wyoming and came soon into the state of Utah.

During this day's drive we found diversified features. One was mammoth brick colored mountains looking as if hewn to the line by a Master's Hand. Perhaps 20-story brick structures would faintly compare with them. This continued about ten miles, with occasional fissures or canyons perhaps 100 feet wide resembling cross streets but man could never have fashioned it or beautified it. After another series of lakes and rivers in fertile valleys we came to the grandest scene of all. We started in a rocky canyon with miles of rocky heights on our right, on the left was a laughing gurgling brook probably 20 feet wide, to the extreme left mountains, leaving a valley several hundred feet wide. The rocks were many colored, the boulevard wide and hard. It was a one half holiday for city people and they came in groups and singles in all grades of autos, to fish. Resorts were on the banks and there was a lively appearance of sport. We followed the brook and highway down until light broke in, but behold, we were still on the mountain with Salt Lake City, the Mormon Temple showing several miles distant. This was a winding drive down to the city itself. I am not going to describe the city but leave it to others who studied its different aspects. We drove several miles thru its streets and saw the outside of the Sacred Square. We followed the Lake Drive to several mining towns and at last out on the Great Desert. After many miles travel we came to a sign "17 miles highway made by Goodyear Tire Co." We expected something great but alas! the roadbed was made in good shape but the public had travelled on it during the wet season before the hard surface had been added. We encountered the bumpy ruts about half the way but we came to the gravelled road at last which assured us that the future tourist would enjoy the 17 mile drive.

From there we came to the mining towns of Gold Hill, McGill and Ely, all lying up high and dry, Ely being 6000 feet above the sea. Copper mining was the great industry but no demand at the present, so business was dull. From there to Tonopah Desert, mountain and valley. The valleys were fertile and beautiful mountain streams quenched our thirst. But frost had killed the fruit of the large orchards. From Tonopah to Goldfields where mining was also diversified. Gold, silver, lead and copper. The town was prospering.

We came over one more mountain range the first of the Sierra Nevada's, in Nevada. Nevada is a sparsely settled state of 70,000 population, not as much as our county of Fresno. The oil fever is raging now and surely Nevada needs something to boom its lands. We passed two mountain peaks in California before reaching the town of Big Pine Rivers. Fertile fields dotted the landscape. We came down thru 12 or 14 miles of Rocky Pass to reach it. One toll gate was reached. But the valley below was worth all our efforts. We then went south to escape the great height of Mt. Whitney (14,500) and other peaks which are the tallest of the Sierra Nevada's, down thru another canyon whose iridescent heights have drawn the attention of the film companies and they were planning for a grand scene background, as we went through Rock Hill Canyon. We then descended into the desert and came to Mojave, a typical desert town. Thence thru cactus gardens to no end and beautiful altho not in blossom at present. Then we came to the last of the Sierras. Tehachepe Pass which was over 30 miles long and a series of climbings and descendings but called a boulevard with two little towns in the midst with tunnels for the railroad and numerous beauty spots for the nature lover.

The rest of the journey was uneventful. Took lodgings for the night at H. B. Vance's, Orosi. Old-timers will remember Henry and family. Came home next day 88 miles, found all well and beautiful weather but it has been quite hot since, "Old-Thermom" climbing to 110 in the shade. A word about the tourists. We saw tourists from every northern state going west. Going east California predominated as we met 50 California cars bound for the east. We travelled westward 3422 miles in 20 days, average miles per gallon 21, average price 31c. Highest price 70c, lowest 22. Travelled in 11 weeks 7225 miles at a cost of $435.43. "Nuf Ced."

Best wishes to all East Jordan friends,
Truly yours
Mrs. Jennie M. Vance.

FORD MAY BUY NITRATE PLANT

OFFERS TO PURCHASE MUSCLE SHOALS WORKS AND LEASE DAMS FOR 100 YEARS.

FORD ENGINEERS SURVEY PLANT

Leads to Proposal of $5,000,000 Cash and $1,500,000,000 Annual Rental for Site.

Washington—Secretary Weeks has announced that he would ask congress for authority to accept a proposal by Henry Ford for acquiring the government nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., if the offer is found to be substantial after a study of its terms.

It is understood that the automobile manufacturer has offered $5,000,000 for the nitrate plant and to lease the waterpower for 100 years at a price of $1,500,000 a year. This property was created and developed by the government during the war at a cost of $80,000,000. The plant now is idle.

This is believed by persons in the manufacturer's confidence to be part of the general program of development planned by Ford. In the last year Mr. Ford has acquired considerable timber standings in the upper peninsula and purchased the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railway at a cost of several millions.

Mr. Ford proposes, it was said, to operate the government plant to manufacture commercial fertilizer and as an auxiliary plant for the manufacture of explosives in case of any emergency.

The proposal to the government was made following a complete survey of the Muscle Shoals property by Ford engineers. It generally is believed that if Ford procures the property an unprecedented supply of high-grade fertilizer will be made available to farmers throughout the United States. The gigantic Ford marketing plan would greatly facilitate the handling of the product.

The host was showing his author friend the room in which the latter was to sleep during his visit. Indicating the books in the room, he apologized. "I'm afraid you'll find them a pretty depressing collection," he said. "I always dump my rubbish here." The author ran his eye over the shelves. One volume seemed strangely familiar. He took it down and handed it to his host. "It took me two years to write that one," he said.

Honey Mentioned in Bible.

There are references to honey in the Bible, in the sacred books of the Hindus and in the Koran. In the Far East new honey has for ages been esteemed as a laxative and old honey as an astringent. Honey was one of the materials which the Egyptians used in embalming, and others of the ancients used it as a food preservative. There was a considerable traffic in bird's eggs and eggs packed in honey were shipped long journeys.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette. Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show. Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows. Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality. If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarette aftertaste, It's Camels for you. R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

EDUCATION.

THOMAS EDISON, whose ability to get space on the first page of the newspapers has of late been thoroughly demonstrated, announces that the modern college graduate has no education at all and that there is no place in his organization for the ignorant.

The trouble with Mr. Edison is that he has confused education and knowledge. They are entirely different things.

You can educate a horse or a dog, but nobody has yet succeeded in giving them knowledge.

Mr. Ford, who is a warm friend of Mr. Edison, has very little education, as he proved when questioned under oath on matters literary and historical, and yet no one would deny that he has knowledge.

Mr. Edison based his judgment of the college graduate of today on the answers submitted in response to a questionnaire which he prepared as a test for young men seeking employment with him.

Those same young men, even if they were only average college men, could have off-hand prepared a questionnaire in answering which Mr. Edison would have made a miserable failure.

It would be no trick at all for any well-informed man to write ten questions to which Mr. Edison could not furnish 50 per cent technically correct answers.

If you do not believe it, or if Mr. Edison does not believe it, try to write down without consultation of any books or seeking information from any outside source the answers to these:

- Who was Pilpay?
- What and where is the medulla oblongata?
- What point on the earth has neither latitude nor longitude?
- Of what nationality was Columbus?
- Which is the oldest of modern religions?
- How many teeth has a dog?
- How much does a cubic foot of air weigh?
- Were is the island of Philae?
- How many nations has the earth?
- What three noted men were contemporaries of Voltaire?

Of course as I wrote down these questions I naturally chose queries to which I knew the answers and yet I am not, even as the author of the queries, certain as to the accurate answers to two of them.

To be able to answer all of those ten questions correctly, offhand, would indicate education, but it would prove knowledge.

The mind of the college graduate when he leaves his alma mater is in much the same condition as the palate of a man who has tasted in rapid succession several varieties of spices.

He is unable to make prompt and accurate use of what he really possesses.

Temporarily to taste all the spices temporarily taste alike.

To the graduate his information is a conglomerate mass out of which he, with great difficulty, picks the fact which he requires.

Time will restore the accuracy to the palate.

Time and application of the knowledge will enable the college man to arrange his mental storehouse so that he knows where things are and how to use them.

Mr. Edison does the college graduates an injustice when he says they are uneducated. They are in most cases educated, but they are untrained.

Education you can get in part from books. Training comes only with experience and practice, in applying education.

St. Bernard, who was one of the greatest of ecclesiastics, writing to a friend, said: "Trust to one who has had experience. Stones and trees will teach you what you will never learn from the masters."

And Shakespeare, who had perhaps read what St. Bernard wrote, put those lines in "As You Like It": "And this our life, exempt from public haunt, Finds tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, Sermons in stones, and good in everything."

THE GIRL ON THE JOB

How to Succeed—How to Get Ahead—How to Make Good

By JESSIE ROBERTS

IN THE OFFICE.

THERE is no better way to waste your time than to work in an office where there is friction between the employees.

The root of the evil is generally poor organization. If you are given orders by someone whom you do not recognize as your superior, you are likely to get huffy. You don't carry out the orders as you should. The work of the office suffers.

Every office should have an understanding as to the rating of each employee. If you give orders there must be no mistake in your right. If you take orders you should understand that the person giving them has the authority.

If the office is small it is easy for the head to give instructions on this point. If it is large it is better to have a chart showing the exact position of each member of the force.

But there are other sources of friction. A habit of fault finding and criticism is an excellent medium for friction. Don't fall into the habit of criticizing your superiors. It is a schoolgirl trick. The entire atmosphere of an office can be poisoned by it.

If you are working in an office that is a hotbed of this sort of thing, get out of it. You will do better to take a chance, even to accept a lower salary, where the spirit of the employees is friendly, and the whole office force works together. You will do better work, stand more chance of promotion, and your character will not suffer.

Mother's Cook Book

Of all the earthly music that reaches farthest into heaven, is the beating of a truly loving heart.—H. W. Beecher.

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY.

GIVE the children carrots; the young tender carrot is rich in iron and other minerals needed in the blood. Serve them once or twice a week in different ways so that the family will not tire of them. Cooked in as little water as possible and served with butter in their own sauce, with perhaps a dash of lemon juice and a grating of nutmeg, no vegetable is more wholesome or appetizing.

Orangeade.

Take two cupsful of orange juice, add one and one-half cupsful of sugar, one cupful of strained cranberry juice and two quarts of water. Boil the sugar and water together five minutes, then cool and add the strained juices. Garnish each glass with a slice of orange hung on the edge of the glass.

Simple Dessert.

Break crustless bread into a bowl and pour over it enough canned fruit juice to thoroughly soak the bread. Set away to chill and serve with cream and sugar. Such a dessert is especially good for the little folks.

String Beans and Tomatoes.

Take freshly cooked string beans and put into a baking dish with some olive oil, chopped onion, parsley, salt and pepper. Cook slowly. As the beans dry out add the strained juice of tomatoes.

Cheese With Tomatoes.

Take one cupful of stewed tomatoes, one-half slice of onion chopped, and one cupful of cheese cut in bits; cook until soft and then add a teaspoonful of salt and the same amount of paprika. Serve on toast or hot crackers.

Orange Sherbet.

Use a pint of orange juice, a quarter of a cup of lemon juice, sugar to sweeten and add one pint of cream. Freeze and serve with a garnish of candied peel or orange marmalade.

Lemon Raisin Pie.

Take a cupful of large raisins, add a cupful of sugar, one large lemon, part of the grated rind, a tablespoonful of flour and a cupful of water. Bake with two crusts.

For a Friday meal serve boiled fish, lemon sauce, baked potatoes and a steamed pudding with an egg sauce.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"SINCERE."

AT FIRST glance the English word "sincere" would appear to have little connection with "wax"—but, by reason of a custom prevalent among Roman builders, that is precisely where it came from.

In ancient Rome workmen frequently took short cuts and skimped their labors, it being a common practice for marble workers to apply a piece of wax to a chipped part of the stone in order to conceal the defect made by a too hasty or too careless stroke. When the sun melted the wax, the defect in the statue or column or pedestal would be at once apparent. Meanwhile, however, the laborer had been paid and the purchaser would find himself with a damaged article on his hands.

In time, the words "sincera" (without wax) began to appear in building agreements, thus stipulating that the work would be carried out by skilled workmen and completed without the use of camouflage. Gradually the term took on a broader meaning and was applied to persons who were believed to be free from defects, who were genuine and who might be safely trusted. In English, therefore, all that is expressed in the one word "sincere."

LYRICS OF LIFE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE LITTLE GODS.

IS MAN all error, God all truth? I sometimes wonder, Why does God

Put noble hearts in coats uncouth And silken raiment on a clod? Rags for the innocent to wear And for the jade the satin shawl— I see such error everywhere I sometimes wonder, after all.

And yet I do not wonder long: This topsy-turvy is not His— The world of right, the world of wrong, The same today and ever is. If sin wears satin, virtue rags, 'Tis not God's fault—it is because We sit upon our money-bags And dare to change God's very laws.

Our little time we play the lord, Forgetting God, ourselves are gods, And virtue punishes, sin rewards, While judgment slumbers, justice nods.

And then some day a mighty hand Shall sweep us from our stolen throne—

No little gods shall rule the land, But God shall rule, and men atone.

The little gods are many—lust, Extravagance and idleness, And greed that bathes itself in dust, And flippant speech, immodest dress; The little gods shall rule awhile Their little women, little men— And then the Only God will smile And set the world to rights again.

Many followers of the "screen" pictures will readily recognize this smiling countenance of Betty Carpenter, the popular "movie" star, who is posing in a broad-brimmed hat of rough straw banded with wide orange ribbon in two shades and which is fringed at the sides to fall over the edge of the brim. The brim is bound with orange ribbon.

THE RIGHT THING AT THE RIGHT TIME

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

PLAYING CARDS.

"A wise player ought to accept his throws and score them, not bewail his luck."—Sophocles.

THERE are two sorts of rules for playing cards—if you know and follow one, you will be successful in playing the game for which those rules apply; but, you won't, unless you follow the other set of rules, be at all sure of finding partners to play with. For most of us can forgive indifferent playing better than we can forgive the inconsiderate or ill-bred player, no matter how skillful he or she may be at the game.

So bear this in mind, if you wish to be the popular card-player. Unless someone has requested you to give instructions in the game and asked you for criticism, avoid the post mortem. After the game is over do not turn to your partner and say: "Why didn't you return my lead in the fourth hand round?" or "Didn't you see by my discard that I was strong in clubs? Why didn't you play them?" The answer to these questions usually is that the player didn't play the game as well as might be, but most players don't like to be forced to admit it. Nor do they like to start an argument by asserting that what they did play was better. So make up your mind that when a hand is played, it is played. Don't bore those who are playing with you by telling them what a remarkable hand you had after the hand is played. If they have been watching the cards, they have seen that it was remarkable, but, anyway, they won't be interested in hearing about it afterwards.

Don't complain of your bad luck. When you do that the inference always is that you ascribe your poor success to your cards and your opponent's success merely to his good luck and not to his good playing. Yet there are persons who always, unless winning, assure us that they are having all the bad hands and that they play very much better when the cards favor them.

And here is an important "don't." Don't sulk if you don't win. If you are one of those persons who cannot enjoy a game without winning, you ought to put yourself on the list of those who do not play, for, somehow, when you show that you are not a good loser, you reveal something in your character that no one can admire. There is nothing so indicative of the truly well-bred person, as the ability to take defeat, whether in cards or in the affairs of business and social activity. The poor loser we always put down as being no thoroughbred.

If you do not play a game fairly well, do not accept an invitation to play with others who probably play better. If you see that you will be conferring a kindness by playing when, perhaps, they need you to make up a game, tell them quite frankly that you play indifferently. If, after you have made this announcement, you are severely criticized by one of the players for some mistake in the cards, you are quite justified in withdrawing from the game, quite amicably, of course, after you have played several hands around. You should not make it appear that you have been offended, but may conveniently seek some excuse for dropping out.

SUBMARINES.

THOUGH the submarine is generally considered a modern invention, records show that in the time of James I a crude boat, moved by oars, was exhibited. Somewhat later a man named Day built a boat and bet that he would stay down 24 hours. He won the bet, for he is still down. During the American Revolution Bushnell had a boat of this type, and Robert Fulton also experimented. Simon Lake made the first really practicable underwater craft.

UTILITY RATES UP TO COURT

Case Brought to Establish Gas Rate at Grand Rapids.

Lansing.—The question of the state utilities commission determining utility rates where franchise rights have expired, and the municipality and the utility cannot agree on new rates, is to be settled in the Michigan supreme court.

Claude O. Taylor, former president of the Michigan Federation of Labor and others have filed a petition, asking for an order to direct the utility commission to proceed to establish a rate for gas lighting in Grand Rapids. The gas company's franchise expired one year ago and the city and the company have been unable to agree upon new terms. The company charges $1.50 a thousand cubic feet. The petition filed in court alleges this is too much.

Looking for Tattooed Knee.

Chicago.—Chicago detectives are searching for a woman with a blue bird and rose tattooed on her knee—Mrs. Laura Birmingham, of Toledo who, her husband says, leaped with his son by a previous marriage. Mr. Birmingham telegraphed police her to find his wife, saying: "She usually wears her stockings rolled down, so you may find her if you station detectives at street car intersection. She has a rose and bluebird tattoo on her knee."

Some Solidity to Mercury.

A hot little planet, Mercury. About three times the size of our moon. It is a more solid body than the earth, weighing as much as a sphere of lead of equal bulk.

No Stars on Flag.

We are accustomed to speak of the "stars" on the flag. As a matter of fact, the national banner has no stars emblazoned on it. They are heraldic "mullets," or five-pointed representations of the rowels of the spurs of a knight. Thus we have today on the flag a rowel, and not a star, for every state in the Union.

Damp Stone House.

The dampness in a stone house can be lessened by painting the outside of the house first with a heavy priming coat, then in the usual way. The only other way to do away with the dampness is to lath and plaster the rooms, leaving an air space behind the plastering.

Why They Smiled.

I had been to a dance the night before and as my feet hurt me the next day I took off my shoes and kept my feet under my desk. I had just started typewriting and was deeply engrossed in the letter that I was transcribing when my boss called me into his office where he and six other men were holding a conference. I quickly jumped from my chair and walked into his office, forgetting my shoes. I noticed that the men were trying hard not to laugh and I finally woke up to the fact that I did not have my shoes on.—Chicago American.

"Jointed Snake" Really Lizard.

The glass, or so-called jointed snake, is really a lizard. When handled roughly the tail portion will break into two or three pieces. Contrary to superstition, these pieces will not unite with the body again, though a rudimentary tail is sometimes developed after the first one is lost.

POLICE HUNT FOR MISSING HEIRESS

NEWCASTLE, PA., GIRL DISAP. PEARs MYSTERIOUSLY FROM HOME OF GIRL FRIEND.

ALL TRACE LOST IN NEW YORK

Detectives Trail Young Woman as Far as Metropolis; Believe Frenchman Involved.

Newcastle, Pa. — A nationwide search is being conducted this week for Miss Charlotte Boyle, pretty 20-year-old heiress of David Boyle, retired business man and reputed millionaire, who disappeared under mysterious circumstances the night of July 8. The story had been kept a secret until July 17 while a still hunt extending to New York was going on.

The only plausible clue reads like fiction and has an international touch to it.

Guy Treppennard, a young Frenchman, came here two years ago ostensibly to learn American business acumen and return to his native land to engage in business. He met Miss Boyle and a warm friendship between the two developed only to be discouraged by Miss Boyle's parents. Three months ago Treppennard disappeared and nothing has been heard of him.

Miss Boyle accepted an invitation to stay at the home of a girl chum, Miss Mary Shaffer, July 8. During the night Miss Shaffer awoke to find Miss Boyle sobbing. Asked the reason, she replied: "Oh, nothing. I will be all right soon." She then left the room saying she would return shortly.

This was the last Miss Shaffer saw of Miss Boyle. The next morning private detectives were engaged and followed her from place to place until New York city was reached, where the trail was lost. Piers at New York are being watched closely as it is thought she may yet try to book passage on some steamer.

She is described as being five feet four inches tall, with a dark complexion, dark eyes and hair and when last seen wore a blue spring suit.

NO COMPROMISE SAYS DEVALERA

Irish Leader Declares He Will Hold Out for Demands.

London.—Eamonn de Valera Sunday evening issued the following statement:

"The press gives the impression that I have been making certain compromise demands. I have made no demand but one—the only one I am entitled to make. That is that the self-determination of the Irish nation shall be recognized."

This statement followed reports in Paris and London that Mr. de Valera was shelving the independent republic claim on the understanding that he would be offered "A practical equivalent" at a conference which has been called with British leaders.

EXTRA SESSION PAY REFUSED

Legislators Have Not Accepted 20-Day Pay for Short Session.

Lansing.—After having voted itself 20 days' pay, although it had worked only two days during the second special session, without expecting additional work, the legislature now shows a disposition to collect only a part, if any, of the $100 for each member that was provided by the July 19 final adjournment resolution passed July 1.

The senate payroll was prepared and sent to Auditor General Fuller, where warrants were drawn for the senators' pay, but the secretary of the senate did not claim them, asking instead that the warrants be cancelled.

329 TAKEN OFF WRECKED SHIP

Small Boat Lashed to Cable Makes Rescue of Tourists.

Ogdenburg, N. Y.—A small boat connected with land by a heavy cable hauled 329 tourist passengers through raging waters of the St. Lawrence to safety Sunday as they were being landed from the steamer Rapids King of the Canadian Steamship Line which went on the rocks last Saturday in the Long Sault Rapids.

The cable was attached to the tiny craft because it was feared that if the boat was turned loose, or even had a larger boat been used, the churning waters would have swept it away.

Appropriated Money For Strike.

Charlotte, N. C.—New England cotton manufacturers contributed some of the funds used in calling the recent textile strike in mills in Charlotte and nearby cities, "to injure their southern competitors," David Clark, editor of the Southern Textile Bulletin, charged in an address before the local Rotary club. One New England manufacturer recently admitted having made such a contribution, Mr. Clark declared, but he did not identify the man to whom he referred.

THE SANDMAN STORY

THE LATE GUEST.

IT WAS nearly the end of the season; in fact, it was for some of the wood folk, and as yet Mr. Fox had not given his yearly dinner party.

All the others had and were now waiting for an invitation from Mr. Fox before the ground was covered with snow and food scarce.

But wise Mr. Fox was waiting with a purpose in view, and it was that Mr. Bear should begin his winter nap before he gave his winter party. "He always eats so much," said Mr. Fox, when thinking it over, "that a body never has enough left even to make a soup, let alone a pick-up dinner."

And so while the wood folks waited for the invitations to be out Mr. Fox waited for Mr. Bear to go to sleep, and every day he walked past Mr. Bear's house to listen for his loud, deep breathing.

Of course, Mr. Fox intended to leave an invitation under Mr. Bear's door and pretend he did not know he had gone to sleep, and so when he did at last hear Mr. Bear taking long, deep breaths he hurried home and got the invitations and slipped one under Mr. Bear's door, as well as under the doors of all the other wood folks.

The night of the dinner party everybody had arrived when Mr. Fox, looking very innocent, said: "Mr. Bear is late; I hope he has not fallen asleep. I know I am a little late in giving my party, but I was trying to get some very nice honey especially for Mr. Bear. I hope, after all my trouble, he is not going to miss it."

Mr. Coon said he passed Mr. Bear's house that afternoon and heard sounds that made him think he had begun his sleep for the winter.

Mr. Squirrel said he also ran past Mr. Bear's that very night on his way to the party and he was sure Mr. Bear was sound asleep from the noise he was making.

Mr. Rabbit said he, too, was sure there was no use waiting any longer for Mr. Bear, for he had noticed that all of the windows were closed in Mr. Bear's house as he passed.

Mr. Fox coughed to hide a smile which he could not hold back and said: "Too bad, too bad; and I had planned so on giving him a nice treat. Well, we may as well begin, then, for I am afraid he has fallen asleep and won't come."

Mr. Fox had a big armchair which he said was to have been for Mr. Bear, but as he was not there to use it, being the next animal in size, he guessed he better sit in it himself.

It was the plan he had all the time, for Mr. Fox was very fond of comfort and planned to eat a great deal that night, as he had prepared things he especially liked for the party.

But he had hardly seated himself when the door opened and in came Mr. Bear, all out of breath from running.

He was smiling and in his paw he held the invitation that Mr. Fox had put under his door. "I almost missed it," he said, when he got his breath, "but I woke up and the moonlight shone on the floor just where the invitation was and I jumped right up."

"Of course, I knew what it was, for I was trying my best not to go to sleep for good until you gave this party, Mr. Fox. I knew you would be real disappointed if I did."

Mr. Fox, of course, said that was true and had to give up his chair to the late guest.

Mr. Bear did not waste time or words. He began to eat as soon as he was seated, beginning with the honey, which he finished in short order.

There was not enough left for even soup, just as Mr. Fox had thought, and as he lighted the guests out that night he looked up at the moon and shook his paw. "You are the meddling old fellow," he said, "that spoiled my party." And old Mr. Moon smiled back just as if he knew it and enjoyed the joke he had played on Mr. Fox.

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?
By C. N. LURIE
Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"FURTHER" AND "FARTHER."

PROBABLY the best way of showing the difference between these two words, in correct usage, is to give examples. The following two sentences will illustrate this:

"My time is limited, so I shall not be able to go further into the subject." "We have to travel ten miles farther before we reach our destination."

It will be seen from the foregoing examples that the word "further" is to be used when the writer or speaker intends to give the idea of quantity, or degree, and the word "farther" when the application is to actual distance. Thus, do not say, "San Francisco is further from New York than Chicago is," but "farther from New York." In the language of the grammarians, "farther" is the comparative of "far," and "further" is derived from the old Anglo-Saxon word "fore."

"What's in a Name?"
By MILDRED MARSHALL
Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

JULIETTE.

THE bearer of this name has the satisfaction of knowing that here is one of the most ancient and classical of names. It is an English derivation and the woman whose name it is is indeed fortunate, for hers is a name made famous through the centuries since times more ancient than the Roman empire.

Made famous by Shakespeare in "Romeo and Juliette" the name is associated with the beautiful green stone, the jade. This mysterious green stone is associated with mystical qualities by the Mohammedans and with therapeutic qualities by the Chinese. It is a secret symbol which represents the secret thoughts of the soul and the essence of happiness and love.

Like its masculine counterpart, Julius, the name Juliet had its origin in the Julian gens that preceded Roman civilization. Various legends are put forward to account for Julius and historians differ widely, but the generally accepted theory is that Julius is the diminutive for "Julus," meaning divine, and was evolved in the same manner that Zeus, father of the gods, came to be the Roman Jupiter. If such is the case Juliette may fairly be called a daughter of the gods.

The name has been carried to all nations in various forms. She is Giulia in Italy and Julija in Russia. In Brittany she is Sullana and Julianna in Spain.

Wednesday is her lucky day, according to all historical and mystical indications, and number five is her fortunate number.

For Dark Woodwork.
The best way to clean dark-colored painted doors and woodwork is to take a pail of clean warm water and pour a little paraffin into it and then wash the paint all over, working downward with a piece of old Turkish toweling. Next, dry with a piece of clean cloth and polish with a substantial duster. To attempt to clean such paint by hard rubbing is a mistake. It does not need it and will only be rubbed away.

With Harvey's Minstrels at Temple Theatre TONIGHT!

Simple and Convincing.
Film actresses work hard. They may not have late nights, but they have early mornings and they are often up, while other folks are turning over in bed for another nap. "What do you do in your leisure?" a cinema actress was asked. "Nothing," she replied. "How sensible, it's necessary. I never do anything in my leisure, because I never have any leisure to do it in."

Muzzled.
Speaking of garters, have you heard of the Harvard students who spied a pair with silver clasps in a Harvard Square shop window, and, thinking to raise a smile, at least, from the character at the counter, asked the price of a dog-collar, pointing at the same time to the silver-clasped garter? She turned, looked sweetly at the young men, and said: "We do not separate them for puppies, sir."—Boston Herald.
