A Real Basket Ball Team

Although They Lose to Petoskey and Charlevoix.

East Jordan makes impression at Petoskey. Speltz referees well.

The East Jordan High School Basketball team has already demonstrated that it is one of the strong teams of Northern Michigan. The first two games were played with two of the strongest teams in this section, and although they lost to Petoskey 23 to 12 and Charlevoix 26 to 24 on the local court, they have shown the real article.

The Petoskey Evening News has the following to say: Visitors make many friends here. The East Jordan players were a hard playing, gentlemanly aggregation of athletics whose conduct both on and off the floor was a credit to the city they represented. Coach Speltz of Boyne City refereed the game giving general satisfaction.

The lineup for East Jordan was as follows:—Bowen and Hockstad, forwards; Hegerberg and Jones, center; Dicken, Sumner, and Malpass, guards. Bailey of Petoskey was the real star of the evening, scoring 16 of his teams points. The feature for East Jordan was the all round come back of the East Jordan team holding Petoskey 8 to 8 in the second half.

The Charlevoix game last Friday on the local court was a sizzler as well as heart breaker. The locals were ahead until within five minutes of the final whistle. In less than one minute Charlevoix made three baskets of the sensational type and were in the lead. The locals come back with one but in the last two minutes failed to come through with the necessary point to tie, although three chances for fouls were given them. It was anybody's game at all times and both teams showed real class.

The stars for the game were the Charlevoix center who made 7 field baskets in the first half and Bowen and Jones at center in the first of the second half in holding Charlevoix star to one basket and Malpass at guard substituted for Sumner in the second half.

We are sorry we lost but we are not going to lose many on the form of Friday night.

The preliminary game was between the High School Girls team against the Alumni. The Alumni won 20 to 12, yet the High School girls did well against their more experienced opponents. The Misses C. Hoover, Anderson, Supernaw starred for the H. S. people and Miss Dean for the Alumni. Next game Bellaire at East Jordan, Friday Jan. 6th. Girls and boys. First game at 7:15 p. m.

THE CHAPEL SINGERS

Variety and excellence mark the program offerings of the Chapel Singers, who will be heard here on the Lyceum course Tuesday evening, January 2nd.

This company, which consists of five splendid artists, will feature well-known sacred selections, but operatic quartets and solos and modern quartets and pianologs are also presented. A lively and humorous element in the program renders it so diversified as to make a universal appeal.

The Chapel Singers come here splendidly accredited. Recently this company made a tour of the Western states, and everywhere it was most enthusiastically received. During the past summer the Chapel Singers appeared on the program of the Chicago Redpath Seven Day Chautauqs and repeated their Western success.

Spokane, Wash., Review: "The program opened with a group of sacred songs, among them being 'Rock of Ages' and 'Onward Christian Soldiers.' The 'Hallelujah Chorus' from Handel's 'Messiah' gave the company full opportunity to exhibit a rare blending of voices. Lovers of Tennyson and Kipling were pleased with the interpretations of poetry in terms of music. Operatic numbers were given with dramatic intensity and remarkable volume. Miss Annabelle Krell, accompanist, also charmed with her well-selected pianologs."

The Chapel Singers are the leading attraction of East Jordan's Lyceum Course this year. They are making only a few cities in Michigan coming here direct from Pontiac, Mich.

INDOOR BASEBALL HAS IT'S FIRST SERIOUS ACCIDENT

East Jordan's baseball league recorded its first serious accident last Thursday evening at the H. S. Auditorium.

A. J. Suffern, while engaged in a practice game, received a badly sprained and fractured left ankle and foot. He was stealing home from third and several of the younger players on the opposing team blocked his way. Rather than use football tactics, he attempted a quick stop and in doing so threw his left foot over with the above results. The foot is now in a cast and Mr. Suffern is attending to his duties as cashier at the State Bank of East Jordan on crutches. It is hoped that no serious complications will follow and that within a month or so he will be able to again use the foot.

DR. W. H. PARKS NO. 41144 VICTIM OF FORD CRANK

While attempting to crank a cranky Ford, the old story again happened, and he received a badly smashed right hand, one of the bones being broken and the hand badly smashed. While suffering from the injury, he is about his professional duties as usual with the hand in a splint. It is hoped that nothing serious will develop from the injury.

MISS LEANORA McCARRY BECOMES BRIDE OF LEONARD TELGENHOFF

A very pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCarry of this city on the evening of Dec. 24, 1921 when their daughter Miss Leanora McCarry and Leonard Telgenhoff of Central Lake were united in marriage by Elder C. H. McKinnon. The bride looked charming dressed in a white bridal costume. Supper was served after the ceremony. Only a few near relatives were present at the wedding. They left Monday morning Dec. 26 for their home near Central Lake.

CAPT. FINUCAN WELL-KNOWN LAKE CAPTAIN PASSES AWAY

Capt. William Finucan, veteran Great Lakes sailor and pioneer resident of Charlevoix, died suddenly Christmas morning while returning to his home after attending morning church services. For years he commanded the Illinois and Manitou steamships out of Chicago, was captain of the Manitou for 11 years, and was also commodore of the Michigan Transportation company. His age was 71 years. He leaves his wife and four children. Among them is George Finucan, Charlevoix postmaster.

Perhaps the only thing more pathetic than an old woman who makes herself look like a young girl, is a young girl who makes herself up like a woman.

Veterans May Get Insurance

Time For Reinstatement is Prolonged Until March 4, 1926.

Regulations of the United States Veterans' bureau limiting the time for reinstatement of war risk insurance for ex-service men to Dec. 31 of this year have been amended, effective Jan. 2, 1922, so that men who have allowed their policies to lapse may reinstate them at any time before March 4, 1926, according to an amendment of Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the bureau.

It has come to the attention of the bureau that a great number of men have allowed their insurance to lapse because they do not realize their rights both to reinstate and convert their insurance into one of the permanent forms offered by the government.

Briefly, the requirements for reinstatement will be as follows:

1. If the ex-service man's insurance has lapsed for less than three months, and if he is in as good health as at the due date of the premium in default, he can reinstate by so stating in his written application, and by paying two months' premiums on the amount of insurance he wishes to reinstate.

2. If the insurance has lapsed for more than three months, it will be necessary for him to submit the report of a full medical examination in addition to his statement testifying to his good health, and to pay two months' premiums on the amount of insurance he wishes to reinstate.

3. Where a medical examination is required for reinstatement of lapsed insurance, such examination, at the request of the applicant, may be made by authorized medical officers or examiners of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau or the U. S. Public Health Service detailed to the U. S. Veterans' bureau, and shall be made by such officers when in the discretion of the director of district manager such procedure is deemed necessary, without expense to the applicant.

4. Notwithstanding the above stated requirements, an ex-service man who has allowed his policy to lapse may reinstate his insurance at any time prior to March 4, 1926, under the following regulations:

If the ex-service man is disabled as a result of any injury or disease contracted in or aggravated by his military or naval service during the world war, but is not totally and permanently disabled, he may reinstate his lapsed or cancelled renewable term insurance by submitting a report of a complete medical examination to show that he is not suffering for any disability other than that contracted in the service. He also will be required to pay all past due monthly premiums which would have become payable if the insurance had not lapsed, together with interest at a rate of five per cent per annum, compounded annually, on each premium from the due date thereof.

Any ex-service man who is interested in reinstating his insurance may secure reinstatement blanks or further information, by applying to the Veterans' bureau district office or sub-office in his territory.

Companies Blamed for Bringing Unauthorized Aliens Here.

Washington—Steamship lines which have brought immigrants in excess of national quotas under the 3 percent limitation law to the United States, face imposition of fines aggregating $1,000,000, if Attorney General Daugherty sustains the contention of the department of labor of their liability under existing statutes. ## RECORD ALFALFA SEED YIELD MADE IN STATE

What is said to be the largest supply of alfalfa seed ever reported as having been grown by an individual farmer in Michigan was raised this past season by F. A. Petz, of St. Clair county. Petz recently finished threshing out fifty-five bushels, enough, according to Prof. J. F. Cox, of the Michigan Agricultural College, to plant 300 acres of the leguminous crop.

"While the past season was unusually favorable for alfalfa seed production," says Cox in discussing the yield, "Mr. Petz has been producing seed reliably for the last three years. He has shown what can be done in Michigan.

"Fifteen acres of Petz's alfalfa were from seed of strains planted ten years ago from a selection from the Michigan Agricultural College apparently Old Frankish. Two acres were from seed secured three years ago from County Agricultural Agent Brody, now secretary of the State Farm Bureau.

"It is probable that this entire supply of seed will be used by local farmers, judging by interest shown in the crop during a recent Dairy and Alfalfa campaign in St. Clair County. Michigan-grown alfalfa seed, where available, or seed from hardy strains grown in the Northwestern States is recommended by the college crops department. Grimm is a variety strongly recommended."

The recent work in St. Clair county was part of a state-wide alfalfa campaign being pushed by field men at M. A. C.

MICHIGAN LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The thirty-second annual meeting of the Michigan Improved Live Stock Breeders and Feeders Association is to be held at the Michigan Agricultural College on January 11 and 12, according to announcement of George A. Brown, secretary of the association. Several hundred farmers of the state will gather for the conference, at which vital questions of the livestock industry are to be up for discussion.

Headed by Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, the list of speakers who will address the general meetings of the gatherings includes several of the foremost live stock men of the country. J. G. Brown, of Indianapolis, Ind., president of the Indiana Federation of Farmers Associations; W. M. McFadden, of Chicago; secretary of the American Poland China Record Association; H. H. Halladay, president of the Michigan Breeders and Feeders Association and head of the State Department of Agriculture; and J. A. Doelle, of the State Board of Agriculture, are headliners among the speakers.

Fifteen different special breed associations will hold meetings of their own before the general sessions. A sale of draft horses and one of Short-horn cattle will be held at the college on January 13, following the meetings of the Breeders Association.

RATS PROVE MILK VALUE

The lives of thousands of children may be saved from the study of rats. We are used to the illustration of "Sermons in stones, books in the running brooks," but it remained for the common rat to pave the way for better feeding of our children, by proving the value of milk in the diet of the young.

In a recently concluded nutrition experiment, a family of baby rats was divided, half being fed on bread and prepared food, and half on bread, milk and orange juice. The first group registered slight, if any, improvement; the second responded at once to the diet. Their fur became glossy, their eyes brighter, and their activity more marked.

A second group was divided, the first half being fed meat, potatoes, bread, bacon, turnips and beets—to all appearances a balanced ration. Group number two was fed the same diet, but with the addition of milk. The difference was noticeable from the start, number two gaining with twice the rapidity of number one, because of the milk diet.

Similar experiments with the mother rats proved the value of milk, the richer the mother's diet in milk, the more rapid being the development of the young.

Interesting experiments of this nature are being started at the Michigan Agricultural College now, and will be on display during Farmers Week at the college, Jan. 30 to Feb. 3, in demonstrations to show that milk is vital in the child's diet.

Cleaning Off the Slate

New Year's in Egypt

IF A group of people, were shipwrecked or otherwise cast upon their own resources and were to lose track of the date they would have no easy means of finding it again. Our year is an artificial one, and so must be made by careful study in well equipped observatories. Without precise instruments it would be difficult to fix the day when the new year begins.

The ancient Egyptians experienced no such difficulty. Their year, from which ours is derived, had a perfectly natural beginning. It always commenced on the day when Sirius and the sun rose together.

The temples of Egypt were really observatories, built to face this or that star as it rose. They were more or less elaborate, but all had as their fundamental plan a long narrow passage down which the star's rays came, and a dark chamber at the far end where the priest made the observation and where the image was kept.

The beginning of the new year was an important event. We can picture the scene as the priests, followed by the scribes, lawyers, merchants, and the curious crowd, wind their way up to the temple in the first streaks of dawn, and take their appointed places. As daylight comes on the interest of everyone is centered on two groups.

The priests on the roof are straining their eyes for the first glimpse of the coming sun, while those down in the dark chamber are watching for Sirius. Soldiers are stationed around the temple to keep the crowd silent and to prevent stragglers from crossing the path of the star's rays in front of the temple door at the critical moment.

A shout bursts from those on the roof as the sun tops the horizon. The observers below watch their water-clocks carefully now as the minutes are told off, and strain their eyes at the narrow opening where Sirius is to shine. In a few moments Sirius itself flashes into view, and the new year has begun.

The Egyptians discovered that the year has an extra quarter of a day in it. They did it by noting that on some years Sirius and the sun rose almost together, while on others there was an appreciable difference in time, and that these changes repeated themselves every five years. They found the length of the year to within 11 minutes of its true value, which was a remarkable thing to do with the primitive appliances they had at hand.

NEW YEAR'S THEN AND NOW.

As long as people can remember, there have been New Year parties. The old Romans gave theirs in honor of Janus, the two-faced god. One face looked back at the old, spent year, and one face looked forward to the new, fresh year. They gave presents to him and to each other with the hope that the new year would be good to them. Some of the people who lived long ago waited until the end of March to celebrate the New Year, since that was the time that the trees and grass began new life.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

"Are you making any good resolutions for New Year's Day?"
"No, I haven't had time to break all my last New Year's ones yet."

A GOOD RESOLUTION.

A good resolution is the offspring of remorse and regret, who were wedded by experience.

The New Year

THE year that has just closed means something different to most everybody. To some it has brought a great joy; to others a great sorrow; to many, both grief and gladness in full measure. Many of us have gone along the regular, uneventful path, filled with the happiness of love and work and the joy of everyday things, which, after all, is the best happiness.

To youth the New Year means a long, pleasure-filled evening and the writing of a new date on their letters. They look neither forward nor back. They make resolutions because it seems the correct thing to them to do. They keep them sometimes and it helps make them better men and women, but it is not a serious matter with them—just as is natural for youth.

Older folks involuntarily look back a bit on the even of a new year—not systematically, but with a general sweeping glance that usually makes them a bit uncomfortable at things left undone or failures to make good as they had intended. Maybe there has been just one thing accomplished that gives them a little warm feeling round their hearts—maybe not. The great sorrow or great joy stands out with more meaning to them than to youth. The another milestone passed.

The New Year may not present very bright prospects to some, but these same older folks know that there is something better in store than what the immediate future seems to offer—know that unhappy things can't last—that they are pretty sure to lead to something greater and better—know that even if they can't understand the reason for sorrow and trouble that there is a reason—know it deep down within themselves, though outwardly they resent and rebel against fate. It is not blind faith or optimism that teaches this, but reason and knowledge of life.

Older folks know that the year is bound to bring happiness and relief to those who are now bearing sorrow and trouble.—Mrs. J. E. Leslie, in the Detroit News.

BLACK NEW YEAR PUDDING.

Ingredients: One cupful black molasses; one cupful thick sour milk; one dessertspoonful soda; beat well. Add one teaspoonful salt; one grated nutmeg; one-eighth pound citron, chopped fine; one-fourth pound suet, chopped fine; four dry figs, chopped fine; one dozen almonds, minced fine; one cupful seeded raisins; three raw tart apples, chopped coarsely; three cupfuls flour. Mix all together, steam in a buttered mold for three hours and dry for 15 minutes in an oven. Serve with any good pudding sauce. This will serve 15 persons.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved: To save my money
And lead a frugal life.
Resolved: To do my duty
And still abstain from strife.
Resolved: To give up smoking
And never touch a drop.
Resolved: To heed the speed laws
And never offend a cop.
Resolved: To quit complaining
And smile whenever I can.
Resolved: To cease from knocking
And praise my fellow man.
Resolved—but what's the use of
My plunging in so deep?
I've made more resolutions
Than any man could keep.

CENTER PIECE HINT.

To launder heavy embroidered round or oval center pieces, wash and starch quite stiff. While wet, divide into fourths or eighths, place paper on rug and pin to floor, as you would stretch curtains on a stretcher. When dry remove pins, and you will have a center done up beautifully, without any ironing.

WARS EAT UP THE TAXES

When I set out to discover for you where the money you pay as federal taxes goes I did not have far to look. It goes for wars, past, present and prospective. Last year a little over 90 per cent of the national income went that way. In the report of the secretary of the treasury submitted to congress in December, 1920, he remarks:

An analysis of government expenditures for the fiscal year 1920, on the basis of daily treasury statements, develops the striking fact that of the net ordinary disbursements of $6,498,000,000 about 90 per cent consisted of expenditures under the following heads:

Purchase of obligations of foreign governments	$ 421,000,000
War department	1,511,000,000
Navy department	735,000,000
Shipping board	531,000,000
Federal control of transportation systems and payments to the railroads under the transportation act, 1920	1,037,000,000
Interest on the public debt	1,020,000,000
Pensions	213,000,000
War-risk insurance	117,000,000
Purchase of federal government bonds	30,000,000
Total	$5,716,000,000

Substantially all the expenditures entering into this total, and a large share of the expenditures on various other accounts, represent burdens directly traceable to the war, to past wars or to preparedness for future wars. These figures serve to indicate the direction which sincere efforts to reduce the cost of the government must take.

Then I found Mr. Gilbert, the under-secretary of the treasury, saying:

There has been much talk to the effect that the excessive cost of government is due to inefficiency and extravagance in the executive departments. Without doubt there has been waste and inefficiency in the various government departments and establishments, and much can be accomplished, and has already been accomplished, by the introduction of efficient and economic methods of administration and the elimination of duplication and unnecessary work. It might well be possible to save as much as $50,000,000 or $100,000,000 by careful and sensible reorganization of the government's business.

The figures show that over 90 per cent of the total annual expenditures of the government are related to war. Of total expenditures during 1920 of about $6,500,000,000, about six billions represented expenditures directly traceable to the war, to past wars, or to preparedness for future wars. Of this, about $2,500,000,000 went for the navy, over $500,000,000 for the shipping board, over $1,000,000,000 for the railroads, another $1,000,000,000 for interest on the public debt, almost $500,000,000 for purchase of obligations of foreign governments on account of their war expenditures, and the remainder for pensions, war risk allotments and miscellaneous items related to war. An analysis of the expenditures of the first six months of the fiscal year 1921 gives similar results. The figures also show that the total cost of running what may be termed the civil establishment proper—that is to say, the various government departments, boards and commissions and the legislative establishment, have not much exceeded $500,000,000 even in the abnormal war years.

I sought details. If more than 90 per cent of the entire disbursements of 1920 went for past and prospective wars, how much had we been spending to keep the world safe for democracy? We are all familiar with the argument that the best way to prevent war is to be prepared for war. I thought I might find out whether that was true. I went back into the records and found that year by year, from 1834 to 1919 inclusive, the treasury department had kept an account of the actual disbursements—not appropriations, mind you, but actual money expended—of the War department, the Navy department and for pensions. When I got all the figures before me I couldn't add them up.

In the bureau of internal revenue they loaned me a machine and an operator, and so I know and can tell you that from 1834 to and through 1919 the War Department actually disbursed $23,002,300,008.65. In the same period the Navy Department spent $1,907,300,022.54 and pensioners of past wars got $5,634,070,624.23.

That is a thundering total of $29,909,759,044.49 for the army and navy alone leaving out of account the $5,824,079,624.23 for pensions. I will let you decide whether any part of the twenty-nine billion dollars spent for preparedness and for war prevented our going to war or found us prepared when we went to war. The three items I have enumerated are only ribs of the skeleton of the cost of war preparation and activity. I have not been able to excavate any other detail figures. But it is known that the war of 1812 cost about $133,703,889.

The cost of the Mexican war is estimated to have been $38,605,021. The total cost of the Civil war, taking the period from June 30, 1861, to June 30, 1866, may be figured closely at $3,500,000,000.

The treasury in the winter of 1920-21 estimated in a report sent to congress through the secretary that the cost of the World war to us to that date had been $24,100,000,000, exclusive of our loans to the allies and other foreign nations.

So you see the cost of wars is going up, no matter how much money we spend by way of preparation.

THE BURDEN OF TAXES

Before the war the government of the United States spent about one billion dollars a year for all purposes, including interest on the public debt. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, the first full fiscal year after fighting stopped, the government spent in round figures six billion four hundred million dollars. In the fiscal year 1921, that is, up to June 30, 1921, it spent $5,115,927,689.30, and in the fiscal year of 1922, which will end on June 30, 1922, it will spend more than four billion dollars, says Secretary Mellon of the Treasury Department.

These figures include interest on the public debt which amounts to about one billion dollars, but include nothing for sinking fund or other debt redemption. Including both interest and sinking fund, the government will spend more than four times as much the fiscal year 1922 as it spent yearly before the war.

These expenditures and these heavy charges are a part of the price of victory. Your whole present problem is to curtail them. It concerns you to know just how these immense sums were gathered and how much you paid and are paying toward them, for of course we, the tax payers, the men and women with jobs, the men and women who have what the census calls valuable occupations, paid every cent of it. It was our money until the government took it.

Let us examine the fiscal year 1920. I have not the detailed account for 1921, but it was slightly less than the year previous, as the year ending June 30, 1922, will be a slightly less burden on us than the year preceding. According to a careful analysis made by the late Dr. E. B. Rosa, of the United States bureau of standards, a government scientist who was deeply and intelligently interested in the subject, every man, woman and child in this country contributes an average of fifty-three dollars in taxes to the support of the national government. Actually it is nearer fifty-four than fifty-three dollars, but I am taking the smaller sum for the sake of the round number. That is, the average family of five persons pays $265 a year out of its earnings to the federal government alone, in addition to what is paid for state, county and city taxes. The estimated average yearly income of a family of five is something more than $700. But before any of that $700 is spent $265 must be turned over to the general government to run the business of the United States.

The actual amount that each one of us paid was $53.77. We paid it through the medium of internal revenue taxes and customs duties on imported articles divided as follows:

Income and excess profit	$37.20
Cigars and tobacco	2.77
Transportation and other utilities	2.72
Autos, candy, furs, jewelry, etc.	2.52
Beverages	1.86
Special taxes on capital stock, etc.	.99
Estate inheritance	.97
Stamps on legal papers, etc.	.79
Admissions to amusements, etc.	.77
Insurance and miscellaneous	.23
Total	$53.77

The taxpayer is next of kin to the treasury. At any rate he is the first person notified when the treasury needs money, and he always has to dig down into his jeans for whatever is needed. Taxpaying, even more than charity, begins at home. The boy's best friend is his mother, but the taxpayer's only friend is himself. The only thing that can be done for him is to disclose as vividly as possible how much his government is costing and let him decide what he will do about it. It all comes down to this: The more money the government spends through defective organization or extravagance, the less you have to spend or save.

So much for the cost of the national business we support. We are all minority stockholders. The concern has no other source of revenue than our contributions. It doesn't make any money. In times like these, when almost everybody feels that he gets too little for what he sells and has to pay too much for what he buys, it seems to me the least we can do is to take an active and intelligent interest in this great common enterprise of ours and make sure that it is well organized; that it doesn't waste or spend extravagantly; that the employees are paid an adequate wage and have proper working conditions; that their morale is kept high and their enthusiasm in our interest unabated; in other words, that as a business it shall be conducted as efficiently and economically and on as modern scientific principles as any large private business.

Is it?
That is a question you must answer for yourself after I have acquainted you with the actual situation and condition.

True Detective Stories THE FINAL DETAIL

Copyright by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

The annals of crime disclose a surprisingly large percentage of cases in which the criminal, having spent months or even years in building up the superstructure of his scheme, makes a fatal blunder in connection with some apparently unimportant detail—a blunder which wrecks his entire plan and brings his operations to the attention of the authorities.

For example, the chances were more than a thousand to one that William Brockway, counterfeiter, being desirous of securing a proof of a plate on which he was working, would select a printer who was not a personal friend of a prominent detective. But chance, which so often plays a leading role even in true detective stories, directed him to a man who knew A. L. Drummond, of the United States Secret Service, well enough to call him by his first name.

"This man came into my place yesterday afternoon," reported the printer, "and wanted some proofs pulled of a plate which he had with him. I took one look at the plate and told him to come back today—said my machinery was out of order. He didn't leave the plate, but he didn't have to. I saw what it was—the figure $1,000, surrounded by a lot of scroll work. 'If he returns today,' directed Drummond, 'pull his proofs for him and hold one of them for me. A couple of my men will be outside your shop, so signal them and they will follow your customer.'

The plan worked according to schedule and, shortly after receiving a proof of the mysterious plate, Drummond got word from his operatives that they had trailed the suspect to a house on Greenwich street. In addition, one of the government agents had recognized him as William F. Brockway known to be the most expert counterfeiter in the country and the man who had achieved fame by manufacturing $100,000 worth of bonds which the Treasury department had accepted as genuine—only to reverse its opinion some weeks later.

Drummond accordingly made a report of the entire matter to Washington, and forwarded a proof of the plate which Brockway had in his possession. To his amazement, the treasury officials stated that the figures and the scroll did not form a part of any government currency or bond issue and that, as federal funds could not be used except in the search for counterfeiters of money or government bonds, Drummond could not be permitted to handle the case.

Accordingly, all the data was turned over to the New York police, and Brockway dropped out of sight for nearly a year, until a rumor was passed along from Washington that the master counterfeiter was working on some copy which would be the biggest of his career.

Drummond knew where to find Brockway, but the secret service men had to work under a handicap, because the ex-convict appeared to have an uncanny way of knowing just when he was being followed. Then he would slip and twist and turn and lose himself, no matter how many men were trailing him.

As a last resort Drummond enlisted the services of his son, a boy of ten, whom he sent to the elevated station at Twenty-eighth and Sixth avenue, with instruction to play around there until he received a signal from two of the operatives. Brockway, not dreaming that the secret service had begun to use children as detectives, was unsuspecting and the boy followed him until he entered the St. James hotel, at the corner of Twenty-sixth and Broadway. With that much of the trail already blazed, it was easy to pick up the rest, and within a few days Drummond was notified that the counterfeiter divided his time between the St. James and a house on Lexington avenue. His associates were two men of about his own age, men whom Drummond recognized as Lewis Martin and Nathan Foster, both of them proficient in all branches of the work connected with the manufacture and passing of counterfeit money.

But even when Chief Bepkoes of the secret service declined to allow Drummond to handle the case officially, because all the indications pointed to a plot to counterfeit railroad bonds, rather than United States currency. It was only when Inspector Byrnes of the New York police force, asked permission to use Drummond as a private agent that Washington permitted him to continue with the case.

Using the proof of the "$1,000 scroll" as a foundation, Drummond searched through all the prominent bond issues listed on Wall street, until he found its counterpart—the central portion of the bonds of the Central Pacific railroad. Armed with this information, which was essential to the securing of a definite and specific warrant, Drummond raided the house on Lexington avenue and Martin's room at the St. James hotel. There, in addition to ties, seals and tracing paper, he found fifty-seven counterfeit $1,000 Central Pacific bonds, all of which were so perfectly executed that one of the officers of the company said he would not have had the least hesitation of cashing the coupons. Brockway had slipped up on only one detail, the choice of a printer to pull the proofs, but this slip cost him five years in the penitentiary!

True Detective Stories THE RED HAND

Copyright by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

"A LL aboard! All aboard!" The guards who had charge of the London local which were due to stop at Hanciny shortly after six o'clock in the evening, were even more insistent than usual in their demands one night in the summer, for the train was already late, and trying to make up time. But a cry of consternation from one of the men who was boarding the train brought the attendants flocking around him.

"Look!" he cried, pointing through the glass of the compartment toward the cushions of the seat on the far side. My God, man! Don't you see? They are soaked with blood! And there's a man's walking stick and a black leather bag! Where's the occupant of this compartment?"

That was the question which puzzled every member of the London police force, and especially Col. James Fraser, head of the department.

Where was the man who had very evidently been murdered in the coach? Who was he?

The black bag, contained no information whatever, and the walking stick was merely an ordinary one, lacking even initials. The guard who had charge of that car said that he "seemed to recall two men getting into that compartment at Fenchurch street, in London," but he wasn't sure.

When Colonel Fraser examined the car carefully, however, he found the print of a bloody hand—a hand with short, squat fingers—on the wall of the coach, evidently where the murderer had stended himself after committing the crime. But where was the body?

This angle of the case was soon cleared up by the discovery of the body of a man near the railroad tracks in Victoria park. The head and face had been so disfigured that identification would have been almost impossible, had it not been for the card which was found in his vest pocket. By means of this it was found that the dead man was a certain Thomas Briggs, chief clerk of a London banking house, who had been on his way to visit his daughter in Peckham. According to his associates, he was in the habit of carrying a considerable sum of money with him, and also wore a very handsome watch and chain. When the body was discovered, however, the watch, chain and the money were missing.

Immediately after the body was discovered Colonel Fraser measured the fingers of the left hand, but found that they were entirely too long and well shaped to fit the bloody imprint on the wall of the coach.

Pinning his faith to the fact that the murderer would probably try to sell Briggs' watch and chain, the police settled down to watch all the pawn brokers in and around London, but days passed without any developments from this end of the case.

Finally, just as Fraser was nearing the end of his patience a second-hand dealer in Cheapside reported that a chain, similar to the one worn by the dead man, had been brought into his establishment on the day after the murder. The chain, he said, had been placed in with some others, and had slipped his mind, until he commenced to go over his stock. The only description he could give of the man who sold it was that he was "foreign-looking," in fact he felt certain he was a German.

More in order to quiet the press than because he attached any real importance to the discovery, Colonel Fraser made public the details of the dealer's story, and the following morning a man called, at police headquarters, bringing with him a card which he said his daughter had found on the floor of the room recently occupied by Franz Muller. The card bore the name of the second-hand dealer who had purchased the chain!

Muller, stated Fraser's informant, was a German who had boarded in his house for some time past, but who had suddenly disappeared, leaving most of his effects behind him. "Didn't happen to leave a photograph, did he?"

"Yes, sir, he did. Here it is," and the man produced a picture which the second-hand dealer immediately identified as the man who had sold him the chain.

It was a matter of only a few hours to trace the German to a steamship office and to find that he had sailed, 48 hours before, for America. Wishing his own men to have credit for the capture, Fraser dispatched two of them to New York on a fast boat, and when Muller stepped off the gangplank he was arrested for the murder of Thomas Briggs, although he vigorously protested his innocence, and stated that he had bought the chain from a man on the street. As further proof of his assertion, he produced Briggs' watch, which he said he had bought at the same time as the chain.

Inasmuch as the guard who had seen the man enter the coach at Fenchurch street could not positively identify Muller, the case against him appeared to be very flimsy—until Colonel Fraser compared the man's hand with the bloody outline on the wall of the coach. The two were identical to the thousandth part of an inch!

ALL TIRED OUT

Hundreds More In East Jordan In the Same Plight.

Tired all the time; Worn and worn out night and day;

Back aches; head aches, Your kidneys are probably weakened. You should help them at their work.

Let one who knows tell you how. Mrs. Henry Ribble, Bridge St., East Jordan, says: "Two years ago I was absolutely tired out. I wasn't in condition to do anything on account of a weak, lame, sore back. Many a morning I felt so miserable with lameness in my back that I dreaded to get up. When I straightened out from a stooping position terrible knife-like pains were sure to catch me in my back. For a time I didn't rest at all and I was tired out and worried considerably. I became nervous and depressed and was often irritable. Black specks often appeared before my eyes and I suffered from headaches. I certainly was in a nervous condition. I saw in the paper how Wey Doan's Kidney Pills were liked so I purchased a few boxes at Gidley & Mac's Drug Store and they cured me."

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

WHY—

ARE ROSES RED?

WHAT is commonly known as "color" is really nothing but the effect of light, as may be proven by looking at colored objects through a piece of stained glass. White light is a mixture of a number of colors, including red. The pigment or coloring matter in what we call a "red" rose absorbs all the rays of white light except the red, which it reflects. The result is that the object appears to be red—an arbitrary term which we have applied to such a color.

If a red rose is examined through a piece of green glass—green being the "complementary color" to red—it will appear to be green, while a blue flower, examined through the same glass would still retain much of its original shade. A white rose will, of course, appear white only in a white light. The colors of flowers and other objects is therefore a matter of light and of pigment which absorbs certain of the "color rays" and reflects others.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

AS YOU THINK.

THE lovely or homely lines on your face, the expression in your eyes, the curvature of your lips and in fact every visible lineament on your features, is but an outward sign of your thoughts—your hidden self.

"For as he thinketh within himself, so is he," says the Biblical proverb.

Whether you suspect it or not, you carry with you at all times in the tracings on your countenance, all the good and the evil thoughts that control your impulses and shape your destiny.

Some psychologists there are who can with a wonderful degree of accuracy read your face as they would read a printed book and determine after much observation the quality of your character.

A little child is often adept in reading at first glance the cast and build of the telltale marks on a face hardened by crime, and will shrink from it in abject fear, even when there is an attempted smile.

Through the lip-smile a child glimpses the soul and senses the soul's deceit and wickedness.

A thoroughbred dog has the same innate instinct.

At the sight of a hard face, the bristles on the dog's back will rise as he sniffs, steps warily and utters a resentful growl.

The thoughts that are yours, those that predominate, shape and compel your acts, govern your words and the intonation of your voice, light your eyes and color your cheeks, slowly and surely trace their indelible lines on your face, that wise creatures may read them with unerring certainty.

If thoughts be ugly, the face will be ugly, and you, yourself, will be as you think, in spite of artifice and diligently polished manners.

Upon the other hand, if thoughts be sweet, pure, charitable, kindly and noble, there will be perpetually shining on your countenance a glorious halo, beautiful and inspiring to behold.

The child will not turn from you; the dog will not growl at your approach; the old and maimed will smile upon you, and so will the world.

Wherever you may go you will be gladly received.

In whatever position in life you may be, whether lowly or exalted, you will find warm hearts and kindly people, because you are warmhearted and kindly, and have within you the "vital spark of heavenly flame."

By keeping your mind carefully on your business, you will keep other's mind off your business.

Did you ever notice how easy it is to dispense cheap sympathy and how hard it is when it costs something besides words?

If you can't be original, be natural—there is hardly anything so original as that.

A "live wire" ought to be dead game.

A girl knows she is going to "live happy ever after" because she can look around and find so many of them that are not doing it.

Censure.

We are apt to be very pert at censuring others, where we will not endure advice ourselves. And nothing shows our weakness more, than to be so sharp-sighted at spying other men's faults, and so perturbed about our own. —William Penn.

Saving Time With House Plants.

When potting a plant that will some time need repotting make a "lining" for the pot, using pieces of old wire fencing, tightly wired into shape. This enables one to repot the plant without disturbing the roots and the wire pot can be placed with the plant in the larger pot also, making it possible to repot again without disturbing the main roots, though the coarse mesh has not prevented roots from filling the new soil beyond its confining limits. You can keep ferns beautiful for many years by this system.—Mrs. M. C. S. Colo

Necessary.

"Tom, I told you to keep that dachshund out of the dining room." "Part of him has to project into the dining room, my dear when I feed him in the kitchenette." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

Gigantic Waterpout.

A waterpout recently measured from a British ship in the Indian ocean was 4,000 feet high to the base of the overlying cloud. The column tapered from 500 feet wide at the junction with the cloud to 150 feet wide at the sea.

Earth is Heaviest Planet.

The earth is the heaviest planet for its size, being 3.55 times heavier than its bulk of water. The sun's specific gravity is 1.39, that of Jupiter practically the same, while Saturn is only 7-10 as heavy as water, the lightest known planet.

Attention, Ford Owners:

Ford parts, like most everything else worth while, are counterfeited. The manufacturers of these imitation parts are obviously not as interested as we are in maintaining the high standard of quality and the complete satisfaction of Ford owners. Imitation parts are manufactured to sell at the highest possible rate of profit and the grades of steel used are consequently not the same high quality, specially heat-treated alloy steels specified in Ford formulas for the manufacture of GENUINE FORD PARTS.

Don't be misled—Insist upon GENUINE FORD PARTS made by the Ford Motor Company. By so doing you will get from 35 to 100 per cent more wear from them, and you will pay the lowest possible cost—the same everywhere.

Old Year—New Year

NEW Year, New Year, What do you bring? Your bag might hold anything!

Old Year, Old Year, What will you do With all the hope That I gave you?

There is a moment When you meet, Like two travelers On one street.

Old Year, New Year, In the sky, Out where the winds And ghosts go by.

But you leave me One bright hour, Glad like sun on A crimson flower

This is mine Eternally, You may not Take it from me!

New Year, New Year, Hear as you pass him In the blue?

To Travel Heavenward

TO BE strong and true; to be generous in praise and appreciation of others; to impute worthy motives even to enemies; to give without expectation of return; to practice humility, tolerance and self-restraint; to make the best use of time and opportunity; to keep the mind pure and the judgment charitable; to extend intelligent sympathy to those in distress; to cultivate quietness and nonresistance; to speak little and listen much; to adhere always to a high standard of thought, purpose and conduct; to grow in grace, goodness and gratitude; to seek truth and righteousness; to work, love, pray and serve daily; to aspire greatly, labor cheerfully and make God at His word—this is to travel heavenward.—G. To Welcome the New Year.

A PRETTY ceremony handed down from the past is to open the front door promptly on the stroke of midnight for the passing of the old year to join the centuries of the past, and for the entrance of the baby new year, who is just about to commence his earthly career.

NEW YEAR'S EGGS.

at Easter. But the rest of us now do our giving of presents at Christmas parties, though we may give to each other on January 1. In Scotland and England everybody calls on everybody else New Year's day, and drinks punch. Here in America calling has gone out of style, but if we do nothing more, we at least shout "Happy New Year" to everybody we meet on New Year's morning. When we shout that, we mean good luck to them for all the new year through.

NEVER AGAIN Ostrich—New-fangled breakfast food, eh? Well I swore off from that stuff the first of last year!

PUMPKIN PIE.

Stew the pumpkin and rub through a colander. Beat the yolks of four eggs light; add a cupful of sugar and beat until you have a quart of the steamed pumpkin. Pour in a quart of milk, a teaspoonful of nutmeg, and cinnamon. Fold in the stiffened whites of four eggs. Line a deep pie plate with puff paste, then fill with the pumpkin and bake in a moderate oven till done.

PREMIER CHIN, CABINET RESIGN

Unification of All China May Follow Reorganization.

Shanghai.—The unification of all China and an end of the civil war between the Northern and Southern governments is forecast as the result of the resignation of Premier Chin and his entire cabinet. It is rumored that Lian-Shi-Hi has accepted the task of forming a new cabinet.

Overthrow of the cabinet is the result of Gen. Chan-Tso-Lin's desire to set up a business government able to co-operate with the officials managing the Chinese consortium.

MUCH DAMAGE IS CAUSED BY STORM

WIND GALE HITS BUFFALO AND HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS IS REPORTED.

WIRELESS TOWER DEMOLISHED

Buffalo, N. Y.—A 95-mile an hour gale swept the city Sunday, uprooting trees, tearing down chimneys, smashing plate glass windows and piling up the water in the harbor to an unprecedented stage. One man was killed in the storm.

The damage throughout the city was great, but heaviest losses occurred along the water front, where a 300-foot wireless tower was demolished, boat houses and small docks were swept away and several hundred pleasure crafts smashed or carried down river.

Property loss will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars. A window hatch torn from the top of a business block fell on a passing automobile, killing Frank E. Kiefer, one of the two occupants, and injuring the other seriously. The hatch went through the windshield and pinned Kiefer to the seat. The automobile, with both occupants unconscious, ran a block before it swerved and crashed into a store front.

Two women were caught under a falling tree on Porter avenue, near the water front. One of them, Miss Margaret Cochrane, sustained two broken legs. Her sister, Katharine, was internally injured. Firemen had to cut away part of the tree trunk before she could be released.

The wind, blowing from the southwest, directly down Lake Erie, piled up the water until Bird Island pier and Squaw Island were almost submerged. Nearly 100 squatters' shanties were carried out into Niagara river. Their occupants were rescued by police, firemen and the coast guard crew.

Three ferry boats used in the service between Buffalo and Fort Erie were piled upon the rocks between the river and the canal.

At Tonawanda the water rose eight feet above normal, flooding the large lumber yards there and carrying thousands of feet of timber into the river and over Niagara Falls. A dredge anchored off Grand Island began to drift toward the falls, but managed to find anchorage by digging its steel dipper into the mud on the river bed.

FLINT BOYS AWARDED $95,000

Buffalo, N. Y.—A jury in the United States court here Dec. 21 awarded to David and Patrick Doherty, four and six years old, a verdict for $95,000 against the director general of railroads.

Their father, Patrick Doherty, of Flint, Mich., was killed in the wreck of a passenger train at South Byron on Jan. 12, 1919. Last April the boys were awarded $28,000 damages for the death of their mother, killed in the same accident.

The complainants demanded $1,000,000 damages for the death of Mr. Doherty, contending that he was earning $30,000 a year at the time of his death. He was 36 years old.

The suit was brought against the director-general of railroads because when it was filed the railroads were under government control. In reality the damages must be paid by the New York Central Railroad Co.

ENGLAND WANTS U-BOATS JUNKED

LORD LEE ASKS CONFERENCE TO LIMIT MENACE OF SUBMARINE.

SAYS IT IS OFFENSIVE WEAPON

Secretary Hughes Agrees Sub Warfare Must Be Restricted But Favors Limited Tonnage.

Washington—Lord Lee, first lord of the British admiralty, has made formal presentation of Great Britain's stand favoring the total abolition of submarines before the committee on limitation of armament and the subcommittee on the limitation of naval armament.

The other four naval powers praised his speech but stood out merely for limitation.

With no selfish motives responsible for the position of his country, Lord Lee pointed out that experience had shown the uselessness of submarines as defense weapons and their powerful efficacy as offensive weapons on unarmed and unarmored merchant marine vessels. He also expressed surprise that the new submarine tonnage proposals made by America should provide for an increase of such armament when the Conference had been called to decrease it. Finally, he expressed the desire that some agreement among the powers represented at the Conference be arrived at which would reduce the submarine menace.

Secretary Hughes in reply said that the American delegation had no comment to make for the present, but pointed out that the relative submarine strengths as proposed in the American program showed a slight reduction when compared with existing tonnages. Finally, he read an advisory committee report favoring the moderate use of undersea craft.

One thing that has been demonstrated, the Secretary said, is the unanimity of belief among the powers assembled that submarine warfare must be restricted and not permitted to run rampant and unchecked as it did in the late war.

For France, Minister Albert Sarraut deplored the "barbarous use of submarines" but insisted that the submarine was a defensive weapon and therefore essential.

Senator Schanzer praised Lord Lee's speech but insisted that the submarine was a weapon of defense, that the Italian delegation was not to associate themselves with the proposal of abolishing submarines.

Japan's contribution to the discussion, made by Masanoo Hanlhara, advocated reduction of submarines and a modification of the international rules of war "to vigorously guard against the abusive use of submarines."

NATION MOURNS 'MARSE HENRY'

Col. Watterson, Grand Old Man of Journalism, Dies in Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla.—From every state in the Union and from foreign capitals, from statesmen, publishers and public officials, telegrams expressing condolence for the loss of the "Grand old man of journalism" and appreciations of his contribution to American literature and history are pouring in to the family of Col. Henry Watterson, who died here Dec. 22, after an illness of only 24 hours.

Col. Watterson came to Florida recently for the winter, in the hope of building up his health which during the past few years had been falling. He was 81 years old, and the last survivor of the old school of "personal journalism."

With him, when death came, were his wife, his son, Henry L. Watterson, Jr., and his daughter, Mrs. William Miller.

Col. Watterson had been an active newspaper writer for 60 years. His retirement from the Louisville Courier-Journal, built up under his masterful editorial direction until the paper itself and the editor were practically identified as one, was a matter of universal regret in newspaper circles.

U. S. BOARD DOING LARGE BUSINESS

WAR FINANCE CORPORATION LOANS $34,000,000 FOR AGRICULTURAL PURPOSES.

CO-OPERATIVE BODIES GET HELP

From 40 to 50 Applications, Totalling Millions, Now Being Handled Daily, Report Says.

Washington—The War Finance corporation is doing business at the rate of several million dollars a day, according to the annual report that organization submitted Dec. 22 to Congress.

Up to Nov. 30, the date of the report of the corporation said its advances for agricultural and livestock purposes totaled more than $33,000,000, of which the principal items were loans on cotton aggregating $22,000,000, on grain $16,000,000, livestock $13,000,000 and for general agricultural purposes $34,000,000.

Calling attention to the fact that its credit relief were not broadened until last August, the corporation declared that it had perfected its organization of credit agencies in various sections of the country and by the latter part of October its machinery both in Washington and in the field was completed.

"Within the last few weeks," the report said, "the corporation has been passing upon from 40 to 50 applications daily, ranging in the aggregate from one million to several million dollars."

In addition to the agricultural financing advances were reported aggregating $51,500,000 on exports, of which the largest items were $28,000,000 on cotton and $11,500,000 on grain.

Summarizing its loans, the corporation showed that $52,000,000 had been advanced to co-operative associations, $72,000,000 to banking and financial institutions and $9,000,000 to exporters covering both agricultural and export advances.

Called upon to deal with an emergency situation resulting from the war, the corporation declared that "considering the magnitude of the task, it is felt that noteworthy results have been achieved."

Entirely aside from the direct financial aid extended, the corporation asserted it was rendering a helpful service from the psychological point of view.

'ENJOY' RATTLESNAKE DINNER

University Professor Laments The Waste of "Good Meat."

Morgantown, W. Va.—A score of students and laboratory instructors at West Virginia University were treated to a rattlesnake feast while Dr. A. M. Reese, head of the department of zoology, incidentally attempted to prove that a great deal of meat goes to waste every year owing to common scruples.

The rattler from the West Virginia hills was presented to the University several weeks ago. When it declined to eat Dr. Reese killed it and prepared it much in the same way that other meats are prepared. Those who partook of the meat said it was not unlike the breast of a chicken and had the same appearance in color.

Lansing—Professor David Friday, president-elect of Michigan Agricultural college, has been granted a leave of absence by the state board of agriculture until April 1, 1922.

This action was taken by the board at a meeting last week.

Professor Friday was to have taken up his duties as the new executive of the college Jan. 1. He is now economic adviser to the congressional committee on agricultural inquiry at Washington, and that committee does not expect to complete its work before April 1, Professor Friday assisting.

Dr. R. S. Shaw will continue to act as president.

Washington—The New York Central railroad applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission to issue $23,478,000 in new common stock with which it proposes to acquire ownership of all common and preferred stock of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad. The latter railroad is already controlled by the New York Central and the application was explained as merely to consolidate the stock holdings.

India is said to be "the burning heart of Asia." That is to say, it has a genius for religion that is unsurpassed. Of the four great faiths which had their genesis in Asia, three were born in India. It is a land of 147 languages. Some of them are spoken by only a few people, but there are ten of these languages, each of which is spoken by 10,000,000 or more. Of every 100 people in the world, eighteen live in India. The latest census of India gives the population as 318,192,587.
