Ex-Service Men Take Notice

Time Limit for Filing Claims for Vets Training.

The District Office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau at Chicago, Illinois announces that the last day for filing claims for federal vocational training is December 16, 1922. Every disabled ex-service man or woman who feels that he or she is entitled to government training must make application for same prior to the above date.

The Act of Congress making appropriations to supply deficiencies in appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921 and prior fiscal years and for other purposes, approved June 16, 1921 contains the following provisions:

"That any person entitled under the provisions of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, as amended, to take vocational training must make application therefor within eighteen months from the date of the approval of this Act."

No applications for vocational training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act can, therefore, be considered unless such applications are submitted prior to December 16, 1922.

The application for vocational training of any disabled ex-service person will be interpreted to mean any written application or communication from such person expressing a desire for vocational training. In other words a letter from a service man bearing his signature and stating that he wishes to make application for training will be sufficient to insure him a consideration of his claim.

All men and women who served in the armed forces of the United States during the World War, and who incurred a disability, either through wounds or disease, due to service, which would prevent their "carrying on" in their pre-war occupations, are entitled to government training. All applications and any information concerning same should be addressed to the District Office, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, 111 N. Canal Street, Chicago, Illinois.

TEACHERS Go To CADILLAC AND GRAND RAPIDS, OCTOBER 26-27.

East Jordan Public School faculty are divided on where to attend the Michigan State Teachers Association. The date and the programs are the same in either case. Last year the M. S. T. A. was divided up into seven districts, six in the lower peninsula and one in the upper. District No. 1 holds its meeting at Detroit, November 2-3; District No. 2, Saginaw, October 30-31; District No. 3, Jackson, October 30-31; District No. 4, Grand Rapids, October 26-27; District No. 5, Cadillac, October 26-27; District No. 6, Cheboygan, November 22-23. By so dividing the state they thought more teachers would attend, thus giving them a chance to hear some of the great educators of the country. Also it does away with the time-honored County Teachers Institute. Other years there has been two meetings, this year but one.

It is so difficult to get away that it will be necessary to allow the teachers to take the 11:00 o'clock train for Frederic in order to get there for the session. Part of the program is as follows: Some very strong men have been secured for these meetings, among them, Supt. A. S. Cook, State Supt. of Public Inst., Baltimore, Md., Dr. Bonser, University of Columbia, Dr. Ernest Horn of University of Iowa, Dr. A. J. Inglis of Harvard, Dr. Ernest H. Lindley, Chancellor, University of Kansas.

A notice from the State Supt. of Public Instruction requested that they close the schools to attend this Institute as it gives a certain enthusiasm and interest to the teachers attending that carries throughout the year.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

To the Teachers of Charlevoix County: Notices have been sent to all teachers informing them of the sectional meeting of the State Teacher's Association which includes Charlevoix County. No-County Institutes are to be held this year. For this reason all teachers, both rural and city are expected to attend. The place is Cadillac the time is Thursday and Friday, Oct. 26-27, and the fee is $2.00. All teachers will receive their regular pay for attending this meeting. Charlevoix City schools are to be 100 per cent present. Let's make Charlevoix County the same.

Comm'r of Schools.

EXPECT EXTRA SESSION NOV. 10

President Understood to Have Decided on That Date.

Washington—The proposed extra session of congress will begin November 20, according to the present plans of President Harding.

While the president has not announced any formal decision on the matter and it has been given out officially that he would make definite announcement after the election, senators and house members who have talked with him have been given to understand an extra session will be called and that it will probably open Monday, November 20.

GREECE AGREES TO SIGN PACT

Parley Delegate Instructed to Sign Armistice; Troops Rebel.

Athens—The Greek government has instructed its high commissioner to Constantinople to sign an armistice with the Turks, Greece being under the necessity of yielding to the force of circumstances.

An Adrianople dispatch announces that the Greek third army corps has refused to obey orders to evacuate Thrace.

A general retirement of the Turkish troops from the vicinity of Chanak is in progress.

300 Dry Officers Killed.

Washington—Three hundred officers of the law have been shot and killed during the past year, while engaged in enforcing liquor laws. This latest estimate of the prohibition death toll was made by prohibition enforcement officials. The list was said to include names not only of government prohibition agents, but of sheriffs and local officials. Most of the killings have taken place on the borders and along the coasts in combat with smugglers.

Mankind's Falling.

We think very few people sensible, except those who are of our opinion.—Rocheffoucauld.

Boyne City 50 East Jordan 0

Friday, the Thirteenth Proved a Hoodo for E. J. H. S.

The Boyne City High School displayed one of the classiest High School Football teams seen in these parts in two or three years and went into the game with such drive that they swept the inexperienced locals off their feet. In fact, the local boys never got started once during the game. It looked very much as though there was a good deal of stage fright on the part of the East Jordan team. The local boys did not show near the class that they did at Petoskey in the first game. However, this is always true in Football when you are against a team of the class of Boyne City this year. It is predicted that Boyne City will win the championship of the North-Western Michigan District. They have an experienced team from end to end and that aggressiveness that comes with experience. The greatest weakness on the part of East Jordan was their line. Boyne City continually outcharged them and was at all times carrying the fight into East Jordan's territory.

The Boyne City team used mostly straight Football. They blocked very well and pulled three or four very clever forward passes. Manglos, Server, Graham and Danjou all starred for the Boyne City team. From East Jordan's standpoint, it was rather discouraging and it didn't seem as though anybody was starring for East Jordan. Calkins, Walker, Streeter and Henry LaClair perhaps did as good work as any.

It's the same old story of a green team playing a veteran. The team must always be together at least one year in order to look like a real aggregation. Otherwise, the Boyne City defeat would look very discouraging indeed. However, the East Jordan management and boys did not take it that way. They are simply gritting their teeth and learning to play football and in about one year we will give the East Jordan band a chance to toot unless we are greatly mistaken for the boys have the makings of a great team. They have the fight, the nerve and the weight and they will put up some real games not only next year but this year.

Harbor Springs comes here to play East Jordan Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock standard time. We are calling the game at this hour in order to have anyone that would care to attend the Boyne City-Cadillac game at Boyne City which game we think will decide the championship of Northern Michigan. Do not forget the hour—10:00 o'clock standard time at the High School Athletic field.

E. F. GRABLE

Regarded as leader of the more conservative group of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers, Edward F. Grable was defeated for re-election as grand president by F. J. Fijozdal, of Dauphin, Manitoba, at the convention of the organization at Detroit last week. This is looked upon, as a victory for the radical element of the organization.

Try to Use Waste Gases.

German experimenters are trying to increase plant growth by the use of waste carbon dioxide from motors and furnaces, fed to the soil as a fertilizer through perforated pipes.

MICHIGAN GROWER'S WHEAT WINS FIRST

First prize in the class for soft winter wheat was won by a Michigan grower at the International Wheat show at Wichita, Kan., according to word received here. He is C. D. Finkbeiner of Clinton, a member of the Michigan Crop association. His entry consisted of one bushel of certified Red Rock wheat.

In a special class for wheat of any variety shown by persons making their first entry at Wichita. Mr. Finkbeiner with another bushel of Red Rock won third. This was in competition with hard winter and spring wheats from all over the continent as well as wheats of the same class as Red Rock. He will enter his wheat in the International Hay and Grain show at Chicago next December. Red Rock wheat is the variety developed by Prof. F. A. Spragg M. A. C. plant breeder. It has proved a favorite not only in Michigan but also with growers of several surrounding states.

Alva M. Cummings

Candidate for Governor on the Democratic Ticket

A Charlevoix County Tax Payer and a Summer Resident of Eveline Township

In the rush of fall work, the confusion in figuring out where the winter fuel is coming from, and possibly how the winter taxes are to be paid, it is more than likely that very few Charlevoix County voters realize that Alva M. Cummings whose name appears at the head of the Democratic Ticket for Governor, is the same genial Cummings who has, for the past ten years owned a cottage at Eveline Orchards Resort where his family spends the summer months, and where he comes for rest whenever he can get a few days from his business.

Mr. Cummings is recognized as one of (if not the) best Constitutional Lawyers in the State of Michigan, is always among the leaders in civic affairs of his home city, and highly respected in all parts of the state where known.

He is a man of the highest principals, splendid executive ability, and very capable and efficient in every sense of the words.

In Lansing, where he is best known, when he and Ex-Gov. Ferris, each gave their first campaign speech. The Prudden Auditorium, seating 3000 people, was filled to capacity, and in each case as each speaker took his turn, the great audience (all political parties well represented) arose, as one body, and cheered most heartily.

In Lansing the people know both of these men from "short range" observation. Why not Charlevoix County voters extend Alva M. Cummings, a "Charlevoix County Booster", a rousing complimentary vote?

Land of Stone Trees.

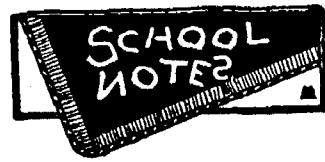

Rock impressions of palm leaves have been uncovered near Florissant, Col., the stem of an exogenous tree mined in a chunk of coal at Leyden, and petrified stumps of trees found in the streets of Denver.

EAST JORDAN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

School notes are edited by the Sophomore English class this semester.

Averages

The averages for the month of September have been completed and there seems to be a marked improvement over last year. Last year the highest average was C. This year the Sophomores have an average of B. The other classes are as follows:—

Seniors—C+
Juniors—C-
Freshmen—C-
Eighth Grade—C
Seventh Grade—D

Last year the Seniors were the leaders and the Freshmen were the lowest, but this year things have changed and the Sophomores lead the grades.

7th Grade Election of Officers.

The seventh grade had their class election last Friday the 6th. Mrs. Blount took charge of the class meeting and the following officers were elected:—President, Earl Gee; Secretary and Treasurer, Isabel Kiteman. As the seventh grade are working on the self-government plan the following captains and aldermen were chosen:—Captains, Dorothy Hager, Cuthbert Barnett, Dorothy Clark, and Margaret Staley. Aldermen, Dorothy McKinnon, Marcia Barnett, Kenneth Blossie and Walter Smith.

Assembly

On Wednesday, October 11th, assembly of the High School was called. It was opened by a few songs led by Mrs. Wyatt. Mr. Snellenberger then gave a few remarks on the football. Mr. Duncanson gave a short but interesting talk on the Eastern question. Assembly was dismissed with the announcement of the mass meeting Thursday.

Measles

There are several cases of measles in the High School, but most of them are in the Junior High, so far there is just one case above, the eighth grade. On Thursday, the seventh and eighth graders were sent home, that their room might be fumigated, but their school was in session again Friday morning, and it is hoped that there will be no more cases of Measles to care for at present.

Ticket-Selling Contest

Girls vs. Boys

Last week there was a ticket-selling contest between the girls and boys of the High School. The contest started Wednesday, October 11 and ended Friday, Oct. 13. They sold season football tickets and also single tickets for the game Friday, October 13th.

The girls proved to be the best salesmen in selling these tickets. They sold sixty-four tickets and the boys sold nineteen. Miss Bessie Kling is especially adapted to ticket-selling as she alone sold forty-two.

The loser was to give a party to the winners. Come on boys with the banquet!

Lockers

We consider our High School is pretty well equipped, but one thing we lack and need badly is lockers for both the boys and girls athletic teams.

As it is the boys and girls must leave their clothes on the floor of the rooms. In this manner several articles have been stolen in addition to several dollars in money.

Eighty dollars would supply fairly good lockers. Unless these are soon supplied more than eighty dollars worth of articles will be ruined or lost. Lets get busy! A stitch in time, they say saves nine.

Party Friday Night

The Basket Ball girls of the East Jordan High School gave a dancing party Friday night, October 13th. Twenty-five cents was charged for admission. After the dance was over and everything proved a success the girls had cleared $14.50. With the money they wish to purchase a basket ball and the remainder to put towards buying new middies.

English 10

The English class of the tenth grade is preparing some very interesting note-books. Among the articles in their note-books are some very fine advertisements which they have made themselves. They have been studying magazines for several days, and they are now describing and telling about the magazines which they like best.

Pep Meeting

A Pep meeting was held in the Auditorium Thursday night at 7:30 school time. A little after the appointed time the meeting was called to order with four good speakers on the platform namely: Reverend Sidebotham, R. G. Watson, Mayor Dicken; and coach A. J. Duncanson. Barton Stevenson acted as yell master. Some of the main things they talked about were hard playing throughout the game, a good sportsmanship.

East Jordan Defeated

A game of Foot Ball was played at East Jordan October 13, 1922. Boyne City vs East Jordan. Score 50 to 0. Boyne City brought over a team of players with red socks and brown helmets, and a large black number on each one's back. They worked just like a machine, every man knew just what to do and when to do it. East came running out with Malpass at the head of them and the pig-skin under his arm. They looked very good with their black helmets with two green ones among them. They also worked like a motor, only it was a Ford motor, a little out of tune. But they kept rambling right a long, although they never managed to get to their destination. Manglass of Boyne-City made 4 or touchdowns and was the star of the game.

The Lecture Course tickets will be on sale this week by the High School students. The first number will be on November 3, in the person Webster Davis.

Music for Games

Loyal Alumni and the townsmen furnished music for the Foot Ball game and Pep meeting. Which added to the spirit of our school. The music was greatly appreciated by every one.

Football Game Saturday

Although East Jordan did not win against, perhaps, the best team in Northern Michigan last Friday, October 13, we stand a good chance against Harbor Springs, with whom we will play Saturday, October 21, at 10:00 A. M.

It may be that the championship will be decided in the game Saturday afternoon at Boyne City will be between Cadillac and Boyne City, and to enable us to see both of the games the time has been set for our game at 10:00 A. M. Everybody Come!

THE SANDMAN STORY

WHICH WAS QUEEN?

MISS CORNSTALK grew very proud as the days went by and her silky hair floated over her pale green dress in the breeze.

"It is plain to me that I am the queen of the field," she said to the Pumpkin Vine, crawling on the ground nearby. "I feel sure that I was intended to be queen, else why should I be so much above all others around here?"

"We each play our part, I think," replied the lowly Pumpkin Vine. "My day has not come yet. I am sure when you behold me in my glory you will see that I am quite your equal, though I do not think I was made to be queen."

"I should say you were not," haughtily replied Miss Cornstalk, looking on Pumpkin Vine with scorn.

Pumpkin Vine Had a Pumpkin.

"and now that I think of it I wonder I even so far forgot my high station as to speak to you."

"A queen should speak only to her equals, and I wish you would not address me again, for I really cannot notice one so far beneath me."

Pumpkin Vine said something about kindness being the greatest virtue a queen could have, but Miss Cornstalk only shook her silken locks that they might glitter in the sunlight and held her head higher than ever as her green sash fluttered in the breeze.

But one day when Pumpkin Vine had forgotten all about the unkindness of haughty Miss Cornstalk, down fell something close beside her.

Pumpkin Vine now had a large yellow pumpkin of which any vine should have been proud, but she did not brag about its gold. She knew that other vines had golden pumpkins and that it was not the only beautiful thing in the world.

But what was it that lay on the ground beside her? Pumpkin Vine looked and there was Miss Cornstalk, proud and haughty no more, for her silken tresses were gone and her green sash and all that was left of her former glory was a long stalk with husks withered and dry.

Now was the time, you think, for Pumpkin Vine to have revenge; but not in the way you may think did she take it. Very softly she spoke to poor, fallen Miss Cornstalk. "The sun is nice and warm, even if the nights are cool," she said, "and it will not be long before you will be taken into a nice warm barn, so do not feel so sad."

"You are very fortunate to be able to see so much of the world, for from your lofty place you must have seen many things I have missed and I am sure you will see many things down here that will make you glad you came."

Miss Cornstalk looked at Pumpkin Vine and saw the big golden pumpkin. "You were right. Your day of glory has come and you are my equal," she sighed, "and you should have been queen of the field instead of me, for you know how to be kind to those who have been unkind to you, and the real queen is the one who rules herself first."

Poor, foolish Miss Cornstalk; while she was beautiful she had no time for wise thoughts, but when her beauty was gone she found out that beautiful deeds count for more than silken tresses and haughty manners.

The Friendly Path

By Walter I. Robinson

HELP YOURSELF

"MAN is in the world to overcome himself."

How often have you thought of this when finding fault with the world in general because you thought your luck was hard? It's a safe venture to guess that most unhappy persons never even consider their own positions from this angle.

Too many blame others for their own misfortunes when they could find the fault at their own doors. Too many consider their luck bad when it is better than they deserve. If they recognized their own shortcomings or tried to overcome them when acknowledged, they'd frequently overcome their worst handicaps.

If one starts out to get somewhere he isn't likely to reach his goal as quickly as he desires if he sits by the side of his pathway and hopes for some miracle to happen which will bring him to the desired destination without climbing up the hill.

Once in a while a kind motorist will overtake the lazy loiterer and give him a lift. But the chances are against such good fortune when the pathway follows an upgrade course. For few stop to pick up passengers while trying to reach the top on "high."

The same rule applies all along the path of life. Just as one is likely to meet disappointment if he depends on a lift by the road, is he almost certain to find his progress lagging if he waits for his fellowmen to shove him ahead.

Those who become disgruntled with their lot usually need to remember that their own indifference, inaction or the over-estimation of their proper sphere, are the greatest stumbling-blocks in their paths.

If one helps himself a little, the world will always help him more.

Ice That Sinks.

At 300,000 pounds pressure, water will turn to ice, though a thermometer may show it is at 32 degrees F. The first effect of pressure on ice is to lower the freezing point, but if the force is increased a strange collapse comes at 2,000 atmospheres. The force that holds the molecules apart is overcome, and the ice shrinks 18 per cent in volume. It will then sink in water instead of floating.

THAT DULL ACHING.

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and aching backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. John Fitzgibbons, Bridge St., East Jordan, says: "Whenever I did any stooping my back always to hurt me and it had me all tired out. The greatest trouble was a dull ache through the small of my back which settled there. I often saw black specks before me and they bothered my sight considerably. My kidneys were weak and irregular and I was nervous, run down and worn out. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and decided to try them. I used Doan's and they cured me."

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

HOW TO EAT

CORN—Pick up the ear of boiled corn with one hand and eat it from the ear. This is in perfectly good form and is better than cutting the kernels from the ear at table.

Cherries—Lift the cherry by the stem to the mouth, and discard the pit into the right hand. Then lay it on the plate.

Baked Potatoes—Cut them lengthwise or crosswise on the dinner plate if they have not already been opened in the kitchen. Take the morsels of potato from the open skin with the fork. Do not expedite this by squeezing the skin with the fingers. If you like to eat the skin cut the potato with the skin on with the knife and fork. Never scrape the skin with the side of the fork to get the last morsel.

Berries—All should be eaten with a fork or spoon excepting strawberries which, if they are served with the hulls on, are raised to the mouth by means of the hull and bitten off.

Lobster in the Shell—It is necessary and quite all right to pull such sea food apart with the fingers and such things as shrimps may even be separated and peeled with the fingers. However great daintiness should be exercised in doing this and one should take care not to put the fingers to the mouth or to eat the fish with the fingers. The fork should be used to convey it to the mouth though the fingers may be used in separating the parts of the fish.

YOUR HAND

How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—the Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

A BUSINESS PERSON'S HAND

AS SHREWDSNESS and caution are necessary to the business man or woman, in order to help in success, the line of life and the line of the head should be joined above the thumb. The line of the head must be strong, as brain power is required in great measure in struggling for success in business. Therefore, the line of the head should be clear and well-marked, and should extend right across the hand.

Of course, good fortune is necessary in business, and this is indicated by a strong line of fortune having its rise in the line of life and running toward or into the finger of Mercury, or little finger. If, in addition, there is a strong, short line on the mount of Mercury, it is also a very good sign of fortune in business.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"BOARD"

THE resources of a language for the expression of thought are frequently increased by attributing to the same word a number of different meanings. Thus we have "post"—from the Latin pono, "I place"—showing up in such words as "postage," "post-haste," "post-office" and the like, while "head" and "court" are others of the same type. But, of all these, the most interesting is "board," originally connected with "broad" and applied to that form of timber which is characterized by its breadth rather than its thickness.

Several boards manifestly go to make up a table but, in the old days, a single plank, rather firmly supported, was sufficient for this purpose. We, therefore, have the use of the word in the sense of the table itself—the "festive board"—and also the meals, "board and lodging." The significance of the table is also apparent in the use of the word in such titles as Board of Trade, Board of Commerce and the like—all of these bodies meeting around or sitting beside a table. Again, "board" is specifically used to denote the plank covering of a vessel, and in this sense, gives rise to a new group of phrases, of which "aboard" and "above-board" are typical. The paper-maker, too, has his technical uses for the term. To him it signifies the stiffest and thickest—the most board-like—of his products, and "card-board" is the result.

Ann Arbor—The annual flower show of the Michigan State Florists society will be held here, Nov. 10 and 11, in Barbour gymnasium, on the University of Michigan campus.

Kalamazoo—Miss Ruth Verburg, sophomore at Western State Normal school has been elected to the national student council of the Y. W. C. A. She is the only undergraduate representative from Michigan.

Alpena—The road commissioners have asked the supervisors for funds to pay the county's share of paying state street, which is the route of M-10 into the city. The city is building sewers preparatory to the paving.

Kalamazoo—The Gull road, leading out of Kalamazoo to Gull lake and places northeast, will be paved in 1924, Frank F. Rogers, state highway commissioner, has promised. The road is one of the principal routes out of Kalamazoo.

Grand Rapids—Co-operative canneries, increased storage facilities and a national demand for Michigan fruits will do much to eliminate fruit waste in Michigan in the future, fruit experts declared in announcing vast quantities of apples, plums and other fruits rotted on the grounds this year.

Grand Rapids—Recalling a June night in 1921, when a masked band of men and women forced their way into the bedroom of Nina D. Bennett, dragged her into the open, partially undressed, and pelted her with eggs, while calling her vile names, a motion to set aside a verdict of $2,000, awarded Mrs. Bennett, was filed in circuit court.

Flint—Experimenting with a strange appearing copper tube he found near a local factory, resulted in the maiming for life of Louis Bancheline, 45 years old. Bancheline found the tube on his way home from work. He attempted to clean it of some substance clogging it. As he probed in the tube, it exploded, tearing both of his hands.

Petoskey—Twelve thousand square miles of Michigan's 2,000 of inland waters have been robbed and polluted until they now are technically known as "barren." James Oliver Curwood, author and conservation advocate, declared at a meeting of conservation delegates here. Eighty per cent of our streams, he declared, have become useless except as disease laden and life-destroying sewerage channels.

Kalamazoo—James Wilson, a farmer, is in a critical condition at the hospital where he was taken after he was gored by a bull. Wilson was walking to the barn when the animal which had never before shown any traces of violence, suddenly charged upon him, knocked him to the ground and gored him. Wilson undoubtedly would have been killed but for the help of two passing boys who set their dog upon the bovine.

Ann Arbor—The annual report of Sheriff A. C. Pack, presented to the board of supervisors, showed that prisoners in the Washtenaw jail had been fed at an average cost of eight cents a meal, during the last year. Fearful lest supervisors should feel the men had been starved, the sheriff made mention of the fact that some of the prisoners had gained as high as 30 pounds on that fare, after they had been in jail for some weeks.

Battle Creek—Delegates to the Michigan state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in annual session here, were augmented by the presence of a new arrival, a real daughter of the Revolution, Mrs. Helen Barrett, 90 years old, of Richland, whose father was a soldier in Washington's time. Reports show that there are 19 other women in Michigan whose fathers served in the Revolution. Mrs. Barrett was given an ovation but was not strong enough to make response.

Bay City—Sensational movies of black hand operations were blamed by Frank Sedlar, of Owosso, for his trouble when he was sentenced to three years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., by Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, for sending black hand letters through the mails. Sedlar pleaded guilty to sending a letter demanding $10,000 to C. D. Bell, general manager of the Owosso Sugar company. The letter made threats against the life of Bell in case the money was not left at the place named, and was signed, "Iron Hand Gang."

Grand Rapids—Beginning a six-year cruise in a 16-foot canoe, L. H. Smith has left here for the Panama canal, where he expects to arrive in 1928. Hundreds turned out to see Smith launch his canoe on the waters of the Grand River and embark on his long voyage. The first leg of the journey will end at Grand Haven where Smith will ship his 58-pound craft overland to Chicago. There he will put the canoe in the water again and paddle to the south. Smith left practically without money and intends to earn his living en route.

Ann Arbor—The joint committee on public health has arranged a program of lectures for the coming year.

Pontiac—An old medal believed a relic of the war of 1812 was dug up by John Sargent of Troy in his potato patch. It was struck in honor of "Sir Isaac Brock, hero of Upper Canada."

Owosso—A judgment of $300 was given Herman Rieglo of Corunna by a jury in the circuit court against Clifford Ladd, Owosso musician. Rieglo sued for $5,000, charging Ladd with alienating the affections of Mrs. Rieglo.

Monroe—Monroe county's state taxes, according to the report of the auditor general before the board of supervisors at its opening session, was fixed at $214,160.23. The report was accepted. The tax last year was $257,160.

Muskegon—Officials have started an investigation of the fire which destroyed the large barn on the Alfred Stock Farm near Holton with 36 registered cows. Three other barns in the neighborhood have burned in the last three months.

Kalamazoo—A practical joke cost John Rollin 90 days in jail when arraigned in lower court. Rollin admitted stealing into William Cook's room at midnight and rifling his friend's pockets, but said he wanted to see what "Bill" would do.

Grand Rapids—Mrs. Jennie E. Baker, prominent in club circles, is dead as the result of burns suffered when gasoline with which she was cleaning a gas range, exploded, firing her clothes. A pilot light, unnoticed by Mrs. Baker, is said to have caused the accident.

Saginaw—This city is making preparations for the first annual convention of the second district of the Michigan State Teachers' association, October 30 and 31. Arrangements for the meeting here are in the hands of Superintendents Harold A. Steele and W. W. Warner and Miss Otilia Frisch, the county superintendent.

Flint—Edward Wiles, 20 years old, who pleaded guilty before Judge Fred W. Brennan in Circuit Court to a burglary charge, admitted that he had robbed 12 Flint homes, as nearly as he could remember. He was sentenced to serve 10 to 20 years in Marquette prison. The judge recommended that he remain there 10 years.

Traverse City—Christmas trees from Northern Michigan are already on their way to furnish the Yuletide setting in hundreds of Middle-West homes. About one-third of the tourists are carrying home trees for the holiday festivities, strapped to the top, side or rear of their cars. Balsams cut now will still be green at Christmas, if properly kept.

Kalamazoo—A committee of the Twenty-fifth Regimental Association has started to raise funds for the erection of a monument on the site of the camp at which the unit trained 60 years ago for service in the Civil War. The monument will consist of a stone shaft bearing a bronze tablet, commemorating engagements in which the regiment took part.

Petoskey—Four small Indian children, Father Dorotheus Phillips, Catholic missionary to Beaver Islands, and Guy Robie, tourist, were rescued after having drifted helplessly off Cross Island and Goodhart for 3 hours in the Robie launch. The party left St. James for Petoskey to bring the Indian children to the mainland, and about half way over, the engine broke down.

Lapeer—By the expenditure of approximately $400,000 for extensions to the Michigan Home and Training School here, the State will soon remove the reproach of failure to care for its sub-normals and dependents. Nine new buildings, to accommodate 775 patients, are near completion and the authorities promise that within 60 days the institution for the first time in many years will be without a waiting list.

Port Huron—Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner, has submitted a report to Governor Groesbeck regarding what might soon become an international question. The British embassy maintains that the local oil refinery located on Black river is slowly polluting the waters of the St. Clair, which marks the boundary between the United States and Canada, to such an extent that farmers near Sarnia, on the Canadian side, are having difficulty in finding a place to water their live stock.

Ludington—Investment of approximately half a million dollars is being made at Walhalla, a couple of miles from the Pere Marquette junction of that name, by the Wilkinson-McGee Co., importers, breeders and brokers of the silver black fox and representing W. Chester McClure, of Prince Edward Island, Canada. This company has purchased 120 acres, including the pheasantry and game preserve maintained for several years by E. Jasser and also including Emerson Lake and a half mile frontage on Long Lake.

Ludington—Mrs. Beatrice Hackett, 21 years old, was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun, in the hands of her husband, Frank Hackett. Not knowing the gun was loaded, Hackett placed a ramrod in the barrel to clean it. As he broke the gun and lifted it to look through it, the shell was discharged and shot the ramrod out toward his wife on the other side of the room. The rod passed through the woman's neck, through the wall of the house and out into the alley, 120 feet away. Investigators found no inquest necessary.

SPEAK TO FRIENDS

DON'T be one of those careless individuals who walk along the streets with their heads bowed, forgetting to look up when they pass their friends.

You will really find it a social acquisition if you cultivate the habit of keeping your eyes open, ready to greet your friends when you pass them in the street. You will acquire a reputation for friendliness and thoughtfulness that is quite worth while.

It is especially the part of anyone who has lived for a long time in a community to recognize the newcomers. She should remember that it is harder for one newcomer to remember a hundred old residents than it is for each of the old residents to remember the newcomer.

However, if you are the newcomer, make it your life work for a few weeks to remember the persons whom you meet in your new home town, for much of your future social success depends on recognizing the people you meet the next time you meet them. Many an undesired reputation for snobbishness has been the result of carelessness about remembering new faces. And you can remember new faces and the names that go with them if you give your whole mind to it.

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

BOWL 'EM DOWN

WHEN you've Troubles full of
Set 'em standing in a row
Like a lot of ten-pins all,
Then of Good Cheer make a ball,
And with aim that's straight and true,
And what strength is left in you,
Bowl 'em down!
Roll 'em down!
Send the Cheer Ball through and through 'em,
Crashing till there's nothing to 'em.
On some other bowling-alley.

MEASURE PASSED TO CONTROL COAL

LEGISLATURE VOTES FAVORABLE ON GOVERNOR'S BILL AFTER SHORT SPECIAL SESSION.

OPPONENTS ATTACH CHANGES

Law Limited to March, 1923 and Power of Administrator Reduced; Adjourn to October 20.

Lansing—The fuel regulating bill, with some minor amendments, passed the house late Oct. 13 and was sent to Governor Grosbeck who was expected to sign it without delay, giving the new law immediate effect. The measure had been previously passed by the senate by a 24 to 4 affirmative vote. Both houses adjourned until Oct. 20.

The only coal stock seizable under the bill adopted are excess quantities in the hands of wholesalers or retail dealers. In its final form, the bill embodies the amendments made to it in the house, the most important of which was the insertion of the limiting clause, fixing March 31, 1923, as the date for the termination of the bill; the limiting of the definition of fuel to coal and coke and the striking out of the provision giving the orders and rules of the fuel administrators, the force and effect of laws when approved by the administrative board and published by public proclamation by the governor.

The bill passed the house after a spirited battle for its defeat through amendments that would have made it practically inoperative, but with little doubt, from the time the vote was taken on the first amendment, as to the ultimate outcome.

Ralph Liddy, who battled to kill the bill in the state affairs committee, led the fight for the amendments when the bill came before the committee of the whole. Amendment after amendment was proposed by Representative Liddy only to be lost when put to a vote.

In addition to the amendment limiting the life of the bill, the only other important change made by the house was the striking out of the bill of the provision giving the rules and orders of the fuel administrator the force and effect of law. This amendment, advocates of the bill point out, will make little or no difference in the operation of the bill, as the lines immediately following those struck out, provide that violation of the orders and rules shall be a misdemeanor.

FRANCE GOING SLOW ON NAVY

Ship Building Program Extended Over 20 Year Period.

Paris—France's naval program, which will be presented to the chamber of deputies at an early date, according to the Figaro, will be spread over a period of 20 years, and consequently is of a very general character. It will fix the total tonnage for each class of ships, without specifying the number of vessels, which is left for the building programs to be arranged every five or six years.

It is understood the proposed figures are as follows: Battleships, 175,000 tons, the figure fixed by the Washington naval agreement; cruisers, destroyers and torpedo boats 330,000 tons, the existing tonnage; submarines, 65,000 tons, not including the small types suitable only for coast defense.

COMPANY GIVEN SHOALS LEASE

Secretary Weeks Says U. S. Will Get $10,000 Monthly Rental.

Washington—Renewal for another year of the lease under which the Alabama Power company operates the government's electrical generating plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., has been announced by Secretary Weeks. "The power company," Secretary Weeks said, "will pay the government $10,000 a month for use of the plant, plus a charge of 2 mills per kilowatt hour for all energy developed. During 1922, the rental to the government is expected to exceed $200,000."

Standard Oil Stock Jumps.

New York—Sensational gains in prices of shares of companies in the Standard Oil group during last week in response to announcements of proposed stock dividends by two companies, and rumors of such action by several more, have resulted in an appreciation of nearly $1,000,000,000 in quoted values above the low prices of the year. This remarkable increase, without precedent in the annals of Wall street, is the result of extensive speculation.

LIEUT. KOENIG WINS TROPHY

Army Flyer Averages 128.8 Miles in National Air Race.

Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Mich.—Friday the thirteenth was not such an unlucky day for the nine army air service pilots who flew for the Liberty Engine Builders' trophy during the national aeroplane races at Selfridge field.

Six of the nine planes finished the course of 257.7 miles. Lieutenant T. J. Koenig, United States army air service, won the trophy in a Pack-Lepere biplane with a 400 H. P. Liberty engine. His average speed for the entire race was 128.8 miles an hour. Koenig flew the same plane with which Lieutenant John A. Macready in September, 1921, made the present world's record altitude flight, reaching a height of 37,800 feet above McCook field at Dayton, Ohio. Koenig's plane was the only one of its kind in the race.

217 SAVED FROM BURNING SHIP

Several Ships Rush to Rescue of City of Honolulu, off Golden Gate.

San Francisco—While the steamer City of Honolulu was 670 miles off San Pedro, Calif., fire broke out in the second class cabins of the steamer. The flames gained such headway that it was necessary to abandon the ship, but in the meantime an S. O. S. call had been sent over the wireless and two ships, the Enterprise, of the Matson line, and the Thomas, an army transport, west-bound from Hawaii, caught the signal and turned toward the position the operator had given. Other ships also rushed to the rescue with the result that all of the ship's company of 217 was rescued without loss of life.

If you pay more than the Big-Six price, you may buy more weight, but it is impossible to get finer materials or better craftsmanship than are used by Studebaker.

Compare this Big-Six Sedan with the most expensive cars. Check the body with any body built, compare the chassis construction, look into the endurance records of the Big-Six as compared with any other car.

Get behind the wheel yourself. Test its performance, its comfort. Check its appearance with any car at any price. And don't overlook this point: Studebaker has more than 3,000 branches and dealers throughout the country who are always ready to render efficient service.

And finally, compare the equipment and appointments.

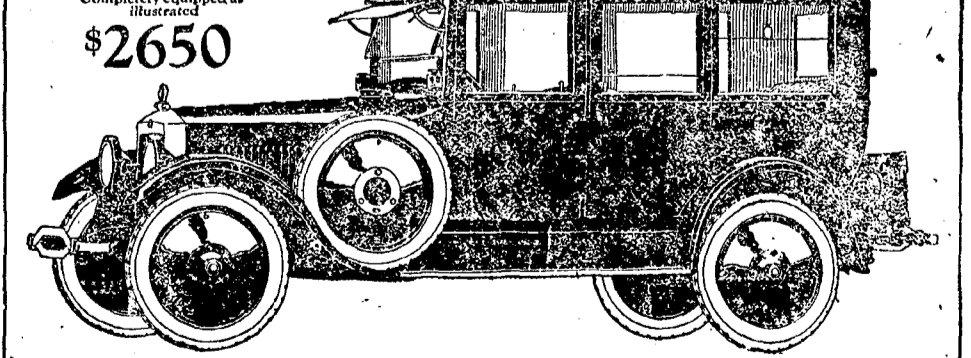

Consider the Big-Six Sedan as an investment. There is no reason to pay more. The name Studebaker stands for satisfaction.

The Dangerous Age.

"She thought that fifty years of age is nothing nowadays—if you are not an old maid and if you decorate yourself properly. Some women of fifty are still dangerously attractive—they act lending parts on the stage, they appear in divorce cases, they marry their third husbands."—From "The Spinster of the Parish," by W. B. Maxwell.

Why the Moon is Arid.

The moon is a smaller globe than the earth. Its gravity is only one-sixth of that of ours. As a consequence the atmospheric pressure normal to the moon is far too low to condense water. Steam issuing from a vent remains steam. The internal forces of the steam's molecules are greater than the attractive force of the moon. Steam flew away as it emerged, leaving the moon arid and waterless.—Chicago Tribune.

Beliefs Concerning Lightning.

Continental Europe had, and has, its superstitions regarding lightning. In some parts it is believed that the bird called cross-bill, kept in the house as a pet, is a sure preventive of destruction of the house by lightning or fire. It is said that this power is granted to the bird because it used its peculiarly shaped bill, with the two mandibles curved and crossed over each other, to extract the nails from the wounds of Christ impaled on the cross.

attributes his success to the fact that he always made the other fellow put his proposition down in Black and White.

That's what the merchants of this town are doing for you. Their advertisements speak for themselves in black and white. And what they put down in black and white they stand back of.

They want your business. Their advertisements are an invitation to do business with them.

That's why they advertise, and the wise housekeeper never does her shopping nowadays until she has read the advertisements and posted herself on prices.

DRY SHIP EDICT IS UP TO U.S. COURT

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON CENTERS ATTENTION IN OUTCOME OF INJUNCTION SUITS.

PASSENGER BUSINESS AFFECTED

If Only U. S. Ships Are Made Liquorless, Foreign Vessels Will Have Big Advantage.

Washington—Attention of government officials here Sunday centered in the outcome of injunction proceedings instituted in New York to set aside the Daugherty ruling barring liquor from American vessels everywhere and from foreign vessels sailing in American waters.

Hearings on three separate injunction proceedings have been set for this week. At that time Judge Learned Hand, federal judge for the southern district of New York, will hear arguments from government attorneys as to why the temporary restraining orders granted by him to the International Mercantile Marine, an association of independent American shippers, and to the White Star line, a British line, should not be made permanent.

Application of the Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique, a French line, for a similar restraining order, also will be considered.

According to the department of justice here, the injunctions will be fought to the last ditch. If the writs are made permanent they will be taken to the supreme court by the government for a final ruling. It is probable that if the injunctions are denied the shippers also will press for a supreme court ruling.

With shipping board vessels ordered completely dry, regardless of whether other American vessels are successful in setting aside the application of the Daugherty ruling, government officials fear that a successful outcome of the New York injunction will bring the shipping board liners to the verge of ruin.

Particular concern is felt for American trade in the Pacific, where the government has been endeavoring to build up a strong business in its ships. Though technically injunctions obtained in New York apply only in the southern district of New York, it is admitted here that the government can make no objection to the application of such restraining orders to enforcement officers in all parts of the United States.

LEGION FIGHTS WAR PROFITEERS

Put Graffers Behind Prison Bars, Cry at Convention.

New Orleans—Put the war profiteers behind prison bars! That's the outstanding demand among thousands of World War veterans arriving here for the fourth national convention of the American Legion, which opened Oct. 16.

There are several big policies upon which the delegates are determined to force a showdown, but the principal one seems to be a demand for action against the nation's graffers.

Resolutions and action to compel and support aggressive prosecution of war profiteers, not only to call unpatriotic individuals to account but also to serve notice as a timely salutary lesson to the nation, will be pushed at the convention sessions.

TRACKMEN GET TWO CENT RAISE

Board Grants Pay Boost That Affects 451,911 Men.

Chicago—Pay of railroad maintenance of way employes has been increased two cents an hour by the United States railroad labor board.

The increase affects 451,911 men. The increase will amount to $22,125,362.40 a year.

The decision of the board, which breaks a deadlock extending over a period of several weeks in which the members were unable to agree upon the amount of an increase, will make the minimum rates of pay for maintenance of way workers from 25 to 27 cents an hour.

IRISH CONSTITUTION NOW READY

Present Dall Eireann to Function As Parliament After Dec. 6.

Dublin—The Dall has completed the constitution bill. Minister of Home Affairs Kevin O'Higgins has announced that, after December 6, the present Dall Eireann will function as parliament of the Irish Free State, providing the members take the oath of allegiance prescribed by the new constitution.

Policemen Now Ride to Work.

Los Angeles—The "Modern policeman motors to work, even if that work be walking a beat for the day," according to members of the Los Angeles city council, who have found a problem to solve in the matter of parking the automobiles of the police force. The councilmen do not object to the policemen riding to work, but they have decided they must not park their cars in front of central headquarters or any of the sub-stations of the city.

How Aluminum Occurs.

Aluminum is not found in a pure form, but in combination, chiefly as an oxide in the mineral corundum (ruby, sapphire and emery); hydrated oxide in bauxite, hydargillite and diaspor; hydrated phosphate in wavellite; hydrous sulphate in combination with potash in alunite and in combination with oxygen and metals as aluminates, as in spinel, chrysoberyl and garnite. It also is found as a silicate in various clays. Its chief ore is bauxite.

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

Eating too much meat may clog the kidneys, then the back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness, and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to clogged kidneys and stimulates them to normal activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

He saw him late in the afternoon, shambling along, his eyes glaring, his lips moving wordlessly, and he took up the trail. But it led only to the office of the Silver Queen Development company, where the scar-faced man doubled at his desk and, stuffing a cigar into his mouth, chewed on it angrily.

Anita's note had told him little, yet had implied much. Something was fermenting in the seething brain of Squint Rodaine, and if the past counted for anything, it was something that concerned him.

An hour more, then Fairchild suddenly slunk into the shadows of a doorway. Squint had snapped out the light and was locking the door. Fifty feet, then Fairchild stepped from the doorway and took up the trail.

It was not a hard one to follow. Squint Rodaine passed the street leading to his house without even looking up. Two blocks more, and they reached the city limits.

A mile, and they were in the open country, crossing and recrossing the ice-dotted Clear creek. A furlong more, then Squint Rodaine turned to the lane which led to a great shambling, old, white building that, in the rosy days of the mining game, had been a roadhouse, but which now, barely furnished in only a few of its rooms, inhabited by mountain rats and fluttering bats and general decay for the most part, formed the uncomfortable abode of Crazy Laura!

And Fairchild followed. It could mean only one thing when Rodaine sought the white-haired, mumbly old hag whom once he had called his wife. It could mean but one outcome, and that of disaster for some one. Mother Howard had said that Crazy Laura would kill for Squint. And now that Squint Rodaine was seeking her, Fairchild meant to follow, and to hear—just such a thing were within the range of human possibility—the evil drippings of his crooked lips.

He crossed to the side of the road where ran the inevitable gully and, taking advantage of the shelter, hurried forward, smiling grimly in the darkness at the memory of the fact that things were now reversed; that he was following Squint Rodaine as Rodaine once had followed him. Swiftly he moved, closer—closer; the scar-faced man went through the tumble-down gate and approached the house, not knowing that his pursuer was less than fifty yards away!

"Boah! Course they got out when you wait until after they're gone. Why, one of 'em was downtown at the assayer's, so I understand, when you went in there."

"But the other—he's immortal. He got out—"

"You're crazy!" She suddenly shrieked at the word. "That's what they all call me—Crazy Laura. But I ain't—hear me—I ain't! I know—they're immortal, just like the others were immortal! I can't hold 'em when they've got the spirit that rises above—I've tried, ain't I—and I've only got one!"

"One?" Squint's voice became suddenly excited. "One—what one?"

"I'm not going to tell. But I know—I know!"

There was silence then for a moment, and Fairchild, huddled in the darkness below, felt the creeping, crawling chill of horror pass over him as he listened. Above were a rogue and a lunatic, discussing between them what, at times, seemed to concern him and his partner; more, it seemed to go back to other days, when other men had worked the Blue Poppy and met misfortunes.

Squint Rodaine was talking again. "So you're not going to tell me about the one, eh? What have you got this door shut for?"

"No door's shut."

"It is—don't you think I can see? This door leading into the front room." The sound of heavy shoes, followed by a lighter tread. Then a scream above which could be heard the jangling of a rusty lock and the bumping of a shoulder against wood. High and strident came Crazy Laura's voice:

"Stay out of there—I tell you, Roday! Stay out of there! It's something that mortals shouldn't see—it's something—stay out—stay out!"

"I won't—unlock this door!"

"I can't do it—the time hasn't come yet—I mustn't—"

"You won't—well, there's another way." A crash, the sudden, stumbling feet of a man, then the scratching of a match and an exclamation: "So this is your immortal, eh?"

Only a moaning answered, moaning intermingled with some vague form of a weird chant, the words of which Fairchild in the musty, dark hall below could not distinguish. At last came Squint's voice again, this time in softened tones:

"Laura—Laura, Honey."

"Yes, Squint."

"Why didn't you tell your sweet-heart about this?"

"I mustn't—you've spoiled it now, Roday."

"No—Honey. I can show you the way. He's nearly gone. What were you going to do when he went—?"

"He'd have dissolved in air, Roday—I know. The spirits have told me."

"Perhaps so." The voice of the scar-faced, mean-visaged Squint Rodaine

He felt his way up the remaining stairs, a rat scampering before him; he sneaked along the wall, hands extended, groping for that broken door, finally to find it. Cautiously he peered within, striving in vain to pierce the darkness. At last, listening intently for the singing from below, he drew a match from his pocket and scratched it noiselessly on his trousers. Then, holding it high above his head, he looked toward the bed—and stared in horror!

A blood-encrusted face showed on the slipper pillow, while across the forehead was a jagged, red, untended wound. The mouth was open, the breathing was heavy and labored. The form was quite still, the eyes closed. And the face was that of Harry!

CHAPTER XVII.

So this explained, after a fashion, Harry's disappearance. This revealed why the search through the mountains had failed. This—

But Fairchild suddenly realized that now was not a time for conjecturing upon the past. The man on the bed was unconscious, incapable of helping himself. Far below, a white-haired woman, her toothless jaws uttering one weird chant after another, was digging for him a quicklime grave, in the insane belief that she was aiding in accomplishing some miracle of immortality. In time—and Fairchild did not know how long—an ill-visaged, scar-faced man would return to help her carry the inert frame of the unconscious man below and bury it. Nor could Fairchild tell from the conversation whether he even intended to perform the merciful act of killing the poor, broken being before he covered it with acids and quick-eating lime in a grave that soon would remove all vestige of human identity forever. Certainly now was not a time for thought; it was one for action!

And for caution. Instinct told Fairchild that for the present, at least, Rodaine must believe that Harry had escaped unaided. There were too many other things in which Robert felt sure Rodaine had played a part, too many other mysterious happenings which must be met and coped with, before the man of the blue-white scar could know that finally the underling was beginning to show fight, that at last the crushed had begun to rise. Fairchild bent and unlaced his shoes, taking off also the heavy woolen socks which protected his feet from the biting cold. Stealing himself to the ordeal which he must undergo, he tied the laces together and slung the footgear over a shoulder. Then he went to the bed.

As carefully as possible, he wrapped Harry in the blankets, seeking to protect him in every way against the cold. With a great effort, he lifted him, the sick man's frame huddled in his arms like some gigantic baby, and started out of the eerie, darkened house.

"And you'll kiss me?"

"Yes. Just like I kissed you the night our boy was born."

It was sufficient. The chanting began again, accompanied by the swish of the spade as it sank into the earth and the cludding roll of the cloths as they were thrown to one side. Fairchild gained the door. A moment more and he staggered with his burden into the protecting darkness of the night.

The snow crept about his ankles, seeming to freeze them at every touch, but Fairchild did not desist. His original purpose must be carried out if Rodaine were not to know—the appearance that Harry had aroused himself sufficiently to wrap the blankets about him and wander off by himself. And this could be accomplished only by the pain and cold and torture of a barefoot trip.

Some way, by shifting the big frame of his unconscious partner now and then, Fairchild made the trip to the main road and veered toward the pumphouse of the Diamond J. mine, running as it often did without attendance while the engineer made a trip with the electric motor into the hill. Cautiously he peered through the windows. No one was there. Beyond lay warmth and comfort—and a telephone. Fairchild went within and placed Harry on the floor. Then he reached for the phone and called the hospital.

"Hello!" he announced in a husky, disguised voice. "This is Jeb Gresham of Georgeville. I've just found a man lying by the side of the Diamond J. pumphouse, unconscious, with a big cut in his head. I've brought him inside. You'll find him there; I've got to go on. Looks like he's liable to die unless you can send the ambulance for him."

"We'll make it a rush trip," came the answer, and Fairchild hung up the phone, to rub his half-frozen, aching feet a moment, then to reclothe them in the socks and shoes, watching the entrance of the Diamond J. tunnel as he did so. A long minute—then he left the pumphouse, made a few tracks in the snow around the entrance, and walked swiftly down the road. Fifteen minutes later, from a hiding place at the side of the Clear creek bridge, he saw the lights of the ambulance as it swerved to the pumphouse. Out came the stretcher. The attendants went in search of the injured man. When they came forth again, they bore the form of Harry Harkins, and the heart of Fairchild began to beat once more with something resembling regularity. His partner—at least such was his hope and his prayer—was on the way to aid and to recover, while Squint Rodaine would know nothing other than that he had wandered away!

Grateful, lighter in heart than he had been for days, Fairchild plodded along the road in the tracks of the ambulance, as it headed back for town.

The news already had spread by the time he reached there; news travels fast in a small mining camp. Fairchild went to the hospital, and to the side of the cot where Harry had been taken, to find the doctor there before him, already bandaging the wound on Harry's head and looking with concern now and then at the pupils of the unconscious man's eyes.

Eloquent, inspiring, a man of superb platform presence and great personal charm, he is one of the outstanding figures of the lecture platform today.

John Hay, Private Secretary to Abraham Lincoln, and Secretary of State under President McKinley, said: "Mr. Webster Davis is one of the foremost orators and public speakers in the United States."

Five Numbers

The High School again assumes the responsibility for a high class lyceum course of five numbers which it offers to the public at a very low admission price.

Last year the course was such a success that the management felt warranted in closing a contract for a far better course, with the same admission fee.

The Talent

We invite your careful inspection of the high grade talent offered in this course as portrayed on this page.

JOSEPH CROWELL.

CROWELL MIRRORS LIFE Noted Make-Up Artist Coming Soon on Lyceum.

For a number of years Joseph Crowell has been one of the leading character impersonators in New England, using wigs and make-up. In an adept manner, Mr. Crowell effects all his changes of character in full view of his audience. All his portrayals are "fruit-eyes," so natural and true to life are they. This season he is touring this section under Interstate auspices and will be an important number of the Lyceum course here.

In Mr. Crowell's program one comical, whimsical character follows another with stories, talking-songs, dialect, and pianologues. Although only one man is on the platform, still it is far from being a "one-man show," since so many different characters and personalities are introduced.
