Ferris Wins By 20 to 30,000

First Democrat From Michigan in Senate in Sixty Years.

Lansing, Nov. 8.—The first democrat to be elected to the United States senate from Michigan in 60 years appeared well on the way toward success late today.

Late this afternoon the following vote, 2625 out of 2907 precincts, was:—
Ferris 272,428. Townsend 259,012.
If the Big Rapids school teacher maintains in the late returns, the percentage of gain he has shown thus far, he will be elected by from 20,000 to 25,000, it is believed.

Of the miss'g precincts many are in Wayne County (Detroit), where the substantial majorities piled up for Ferris in every precinct reported helped him cut down the early lead Townsend obtained in other counties of the state.

Townsend failed to carry his home county of Jackson, according to complete unofficial returns, Ferris polling a majority of over 500 in the republican senator's home district.

Ferris carried his home city of Big Rapids and Mecosta county by slightly over 100.

Ferris' large majorities have come from the industrial centers of the state. The rural districts also supported him well, although returning, in a majority of cases, a plurality for Townsend.

Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck was an easy winner over Alva M. Cummins, his democratic opponent, the latest figures showing Groesbeck to be leading by 112,376 votes. The complete vote is Groesbeck 297,262; Cummins 184,986.

Republican candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general and auditor general, were re-elected by substantial majorities, it is conceded.

Next in importance to the senatorial and gubernatorial contests came the proposed amendment to the state constitution, providing for an income tax, similar to that levied by the federal government. Returns on this were slow. Indications were, however, that it will be defeated by a substantial majority.

Only the late returns will decide whether the other two amendments to the state constitution—port district and excess condemnation—will carry. Of the two the port district amendment is more likely to carry.

Weather by Wireless.

Weather data are sent by wireless to English agricultural fair grounds, where they are exhibited on a large chart with a forecaster in attendance to explain how deductions of local interest can be drawn.

Island Brings Bride Luck.

A romantic superstition has earned for Norfolk island, in the Pacific ocean, the nickname of "Honeymoon island." It is believed that a bride who spends her first month of married life there will be assured of long life, health, wealth and happiness.

Ancient Doors.

Greek and Roman doors always opened outward, and when a man was passing out of a house he knocked on the door so as not to open it in the face of a passer-by.

GOING WEST

J. Leahy, the Optometrist will leave the last of November to spend the winter on his ranch near Bechl, Idaho. His last visit here this fall will be Nov. 15 and 16. adv.

"Earl" Has Two Wives

According To Records Shown At Charlevoix Trial

Charlevoix, Nov. 4.—The trial of A. J. W. Greig, self-styled "Earl of Dunblain," on a charge of misappropriating funds of the Title Guaranty & Casualty Co. of America, which he organized was adjourned yesterday until Nov. 13, so that Judge George W. Sample, of Ann Arbor, can hold court in his own district. This respite will allow the Earl to devote his entire time to clearing up his tangled matrimonial affairs, which overshadowed everything else today.

Greig is anxious that his second wife, the "Countess of Dunblain," who was Sara Turngren, daughter of S. J. Turngren, a wealthy Chicago contractor, and who is here to help him fight the $90,000 stock fraud case, shall not read newspaper interviews printed yesterday with Mrs. A. J. Greig, of Toronto, Canada, the mother of eight children, who claims to be Greig's legal wife, having she says, married him 27 years ago in Scotland.

Greig admitted that the Toronto woman was his first wife.

"Were you ever divorced?" he was asked.

"Well, there was an understanding," he replied, but refused to discuss the matter further.

Later, when newspaper men questioned him about his marriage to Sara Turngren, he advised that they look up "the status of the other side of that matter." By that he said he meant the legality of his second marriage.

Friends of the "Earl" and "Countess" here say that the provisions of the divorce granted to the "Countess" from her first husband throw doubt on the legality of her second marriage. She was forbidden to remarry within two years. Attorneys declare, however, that the only action that could be taken if it was shown that the divorce decree was violated, would be contempt of court against the "Countess," and that such action would not invalidate the marriage.

The "Countess" believes her husband has obtained a divorce from his Toronto wife. He told her that he had been previously married and divorced before they were married, she said. The "Countess" father has put up $10,000 bonds to guarantee attorney fees and other expenses of the trial.

"She will have to show me," declared the "Countess," when shown the newspaper interviews with the Toronto woman claiming she was Greig's legal wife.

Greig and the "Countess" have a son 2 years old. At the time of their marriage, he gave his age as 36 and that his present wife as 28. The date of his marriage to Mrs. Christina Greig, of Toronto, and the age of his children by this union, however, indicate that "Earl" is nearly 50 years old.

Yesterday's court session was occupied by the testimony of expert accountants regarding the financial condition of the Title Guaranty & Trust Co. The defence announced that Greig probably will be one of the last witnesses called.

Auto Owners Must Have Title

State Reports Many Owners Fail to Get Certificates.

Approximately 50,000 Michigan automobile owners are going to be "out of luck" when it comes time to get their 1923 automobile licenses, unless they obtain a certificate of title for their cars before Jan. 1, 1923.

Secretary of State Charles J. DeLand estimates that there are that many motorists who have failed to obtain certificates of title as provided in the law passed by the 1921 legislature.

Automobile owners must show a certificate of title for their cars before they can get their 1923 license.

John Haller, chief of the title division of the state department, declared that an average of three cars a week are recovered as a result of the title law. Each application for a title is checked against a list of stolen cars of Michigan and all other states. If the engine number of a car given on an application corresponds with the number on one of the stolen cars lists, the person making application for the title is held for questioning.

East Jordan 19 Petoskey 0

Petoskey Reserves Beaten By a Decisive Score.

East Jordan High School plays a brilliant passing game in their 19 to 0 win, against Petoskey Reserves Saturday last. However, the locals did not win without a struggle and for the first ten minutes it looked as though the boys would have all they could do, for Petoskey went some forty yards down the field until they were within striking distance of our goal. One or two rather questionable penalties helped to put the East Jordan High School on the defense. At this time the East Jordan line held firm and Capt. Malpass booted the ball to the center of the field and out of danger of our goal. The second quarter opened with a rather stubborn battle continuing but on some brilliant passes Captain Malpass to Russell Johnson and Streeter carried the ball over for the first touchdown. In the second half it was but a few minutes before you could see that East Jordan was the superior team and in a short time on three beautiful passes, all engineered by Capt. Malpass, one for forty yards to Russell Johnson and the last one again to Edward Streeter for the second touchdown. All the way through this part of the game the East Jordan line proved impregnable. It was impossible for Petoskey to make any ground through the East Jordan forwards. In the fourth quarter the same brilliant passing game put the ball within ten yards of the Petoskey goal where with thirty seconds to play, Capt. Malpass tossed a beautiful pass directly over the line to the waiting arms of Edward Streeter. The feature of the game was the beautiful forward passing of the East Jordan team. The work of Malpass, Johnson, Streeter and LaClair was of a high order. Malpass played the best game of his career. However, it was too bad that more of the fans did not see the game.

Saturday, Cheboygan plays the locals at 2:30 with a great team that came after winning their last game 54 to 0. Mr. Titis, Supt. of Cheboygan, said their team had improved steadily and was now playing their best game of the year. East Jordan has been looking better in every game. This is Armistice Day. There's a fine show at the Temple and a good Legion Dancing party at the Armory. Let's start in by celebrating Armistice Day with the old Football game. Let's go! We are making this the booster game of the year. Therefore, the tickets, are fifty cents and as much more as anyone feels that they can pay. We went behind in the last game quite heavily. This game costs twice as much, therefore, we are asking your support. Charlevoix next week.

Of course youth is fleeting, but then so is about everything else that is worth while.

HERE is romance that is alive with action and so real that no severe tax is placed upon the reader's credulity. Whether or not the incidents and human participants were taken from life, it is a certainty that such things have happened, and such people have figured in the history of the Southwest, particularly that portion forming the borderland of Mexico.

The hardihood and courage of settlers and rangers; the cruelty of bandits and guerrillas; the craft, mysticism and guile of Yaqui and Papago Indians are elements in a wonderfully stirring tale. Added to these are the lure of gold and a tender love story, while pervading it all is the fascination of the ever mysterious desert.

CLASS AVERAGES

Senior C+, Junior C+, Sophomore C+, Freshmen C+, Eight Grade C, Seventh Grade C+.

Track

Under the supervision of track coach Gibbs, East Jordan is to have a new running track encircling the football field. The track will be ready to use by late fall and will be constructed of fine cinders. It is elliptical in shape and is a quarter mile in diameter.

Mr. Gibbs is a track enthusiast and firmly believes it should rank with other high school athletics.

The East Jordan and Charlevoix annual cross country meet will be held the same day the football game, between these two towns, is played. The date is set for November 18.

Of course East Jordan expects to "cop" the banner.

The Sophomore Banquet

The Seniors and Foot-Ball men wish to congratulate the Sophomore class for the splendid Banquet given on Saturday evening. Supper was served at six o'clock in the gymnasium. The Sophomore girls were the waitresses of the evening. Everyone enjoyed the delicious food.

After the supper was over the tables were moved out in the hall and room was made for those who wished to dance. Miss Cleora Smith played the piano, and Mr. Milton Meridith accompanied with the violin. When the evening was nearly over Mr. Duncanson gave the dancers a talk on proper dancing, which they seemed to take cheerfully. The merry crowd departed at 9:30.

The American History Class

At the present time the American History class is studying the causes of the Revolutionary War. Mr. Duncanson is the instructor and makes the study very interesting by giving talks various subjects. Current events are usually given on Monday. Topics have been assigned for reports on, "The Life of the Indians in America, Life of the Puritans, The Important Men of the old Puritan Days and others similar to these.

The class consists of twenty-eight students from the Junior and Senior Classes.

Experiments in Soils

The soils class have been doing some interesting experiments. They have studied the growth of plants under various conditions.

The planted corn and beans in pulverized peat soil and put them in the dark. Then they planted corn and beans in a fine sandy soil and left them in the light. The corn and beans that were planted in the dark grew about four times as fast as those that were in the light. Those that were in the dark were a light yellow in color, but those that were planted and put in the light were a bright green. When they were tested for starch the plants in the light had the most starch.

To Have Cross-Country Run

The first annual Cross-Country Run will be held between Charlevoix High School and East Jordan High School, Saturday, Nov. 18 at 10:00 a. m., previgues to the Charlevoix football game in the afternoon.

This is the first encounter of this type between the two schools and a good turnout is hoped for. The start and finish will be at the High School; the distance covered by the five men from each school, being between two and three miles.

Candy Sale

The fourth grade, under the supervision of Miss Fransech, decided they wanted some material that would give them a supplement for geography and reading. After a long discussion they found an advertisement which met precisely with their necessity. The advertisement told them of little booklets that could be obtained in a bulk lot which would only cost them $2.45. How would they get the money? This became the problem of every fourth grader. They troubled their brains for 24 long hours and finally they came to the conclusion that a candy sale, conducted by themselves, would be their only resource. Everyone that could brought a plate of candy to school one Tuesday morning (October 31) and those that could not bring candy brought pop-corn balls. The sale of the candy was held in the hall of grade building at noon and recess and in the hall of the high school building at noon. Those who were best in arithmetic were allowed to conduct the sale of the candy. The proceeds were $3.27. The Fourth graders have decided to give the remainder of the money to the Near East Relief.

Desert Gold

By Zane Grey

Author of "The Lone Star Ranger," "The U.P. Trail," "The Heritage of the Desert," Etc.

One of the most stirring and at the same time convincing and pleasing novels of the West is "Desert Gold." It is founded mainly on a recent border uprising, and in its descriptions of battles with Mexicans, the operations of raiders, of prospectors and others braving the perils of the desert, proves that portions of the West can still yield adventures as exciting as anything that happened in the old days; that there still is a land of gold, the development of which is attended by dangers and hardships sufficient to tax the courage of the most venturesome mortals. Along with the intense, dramatic action is a strong play of human hearts in which love and loyalty are ranged against ambition, hatred, revenge.

Gay Little Pin Trees

We can help start the new year right by giving Christmas gifts of little pin trees to our women and girl friends. Two corks and a florist's pin, sharpened at both ends, make the foundation for the pin tree illustrated. The large cork—of wood—is painted green and the smaller cork is gilded. They are joined by the long pin, and into the gilded cork many pins, with colored heads, are thrust, to form a tree. A band of baby ribbon, tied about the larger cork, holds small safety pins.

Santa Claus sometimes jokes with folks, big and little, and he nearly always has some comic toys for the children. This year he will leave them funny spoon dolls made of paper picnic spoons and dressed in crepe paper clothes. A clown doll, with dangling legs, a Chinaman and a Puritan have had their pictures taken so that any one can make them.

RAILWAY EXECUTIVE TAKEN BY DEATH WHILE TRAVELING

THOMAS DEWITT CUYLER

Philadelphia—Too much hard and continuous work is believed by friends to have been the chief factor that led to the sudden death of Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, national railroad figure, who was found dead in a Pennsylvania railroad private car Nov. 2. They had for some time warned him to "go slow," telling him that for a man of his years—he was 68—he was working too hard.

Mr. Cuyler, who was chairman of the Association of Railway executives and a director in the Pennsylvania, the Santa Fe and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads, died as his car was coming into Philadelphia from Rochester, N. Y., where he spoke on railroad matters.

A report made to the coroner's office gave the cause of death as acute dilation of the heart.

As president of the Association of Railway Executives Mr. Cuyler was severely criticized by labor leaders who charged him with a leading part in the movement for reduction of wages.

BORAH PREDICTS THIRD PARTY

Says People Will Seek Relief Through New Political Organization.

Spokane, Wash.—Prediction that a third party movement will sweep the country in 1924, unless there is a complete change of program on the part of the Republican party by the adoption of a "liberal and constructive policy," was made by United States Senator William B. Borah, of Idaho, here. Senator Borah is on a speaking tour.

"A man is totally blind to political conditions in this country who does not understand that there is practically a political revolution," he declared. "The people are going to have relief, and if they cannot get it through the old parties, they will get it through a new party."

"The economic conditions growing out of, among other things, governmental extravagance and oppressive taxation, demand a change of program and policy, and if the Republican party does not give it, another party will."

Adrian—The Gregg hotel of this city was transferred to the Lenawee Hotel Co., which plans to rebuild it into a $150,000 establishment. The hotel will be managed by Birney Bros., hotel men of Niles, but Adrian business men and banks control the board of directors of the new company.

Mason—The annual meeting of the Ingham county Farm Bureau held in the courtroom here, brought out a very small attendance. L. T. Laseby was again elected president and Frank Seely was re-elected secretary. The organization is in good shape financially, having a substantial balance of some $1800 on hand.

Battle Creek—The price of milk was advanced from 10 to 12 cents a quart here by milk distributors, following a raise in price by the Calhoun County Milk Producers from $2.50 to $3 per hundred pounds. Producers say that all supplies which go into the milk producing business have recently been raised around 30 per cent.

Muskegon—The Crosby Transportation Co. will start work soon on two large boats to be built for the Muskegon-Milwaukee run. George F. Munzer, traffic manager of the company, was in Muskegon recently making arrangements for the placing of $300,000 in bonds on the market in connection with the financing of the project.

Cadillac—Though the local Michigan Potato Growers' exchange is handling about 25 carloads of potatoes a day, it could ship many more if cars were available. The delayed movement of potatoes, however, is seen as a factor in the farmer's favor. He will receive more for his product when it is eventually shipped, it was stated.

Muskegon—"Swat the Fly" was the unseasonable warning issued Nov. 1 by the Muskegon Health Department. The department says it believes the fly is the carrier of typhoid fever germs in this city. There are now 12 mild cases of typhoid fever and the department says a further spread is not expected if persons will "swat the fly."

Lansing—The State Administrative Board authorized the purchase of two tracts of land, as a site for the new law building, by the University of Michigan. The total cost of the property was given as $125,000. The building to be erected is the gift of an anonymous Michigan alumnus, announced some months ago. The cost will be well over $1,000,000.

Detroit—One local automobile manufacturer turned into the revenue collector here for the month of October, excise taxes on $80,000,000 worth of cars sold during the month. Collector F. L. Woodworth announced. The collector commented that the excise tax payments from this and other sources indicated clearly to him that the country was in a prosperous state. October levies on luxuries were greater than for many months, he said.

Charlotte—After a lapse of more than 30 years since his death, a petition has been presented in probate court here for the re-opening of the estate of Henry L. Robinson, of Belle Isle, and the naming of Attorney R. S. McPeak of this city as administrator. The reason for asking the continuance of the administration of the estate is that the final accounting had been made without any mention of the real estate being made or the heirs being determined.

Grand Rapids—Ray Judd, 17, farmer boy, living near Mesick, shot and killed Loretta Redman, 16, shot and seriously injured Nettie White, also aged 16 and then turned his gun on himself, committing suicide. The girl had been attending a high school lyceum lecture at Mesick. Judd, also had attended the lecture, hastened home for his gun, met the girls and fired upon them. It is said that Loretta Redman was his sweetheart. Nettie White was Loretta's chum. She is in a critical condition in the Cadillac hospital.

Kalamazoo—A state-wide conference for the purpose of combatting the evolution theory and demanding its eradication from the text books of Michigan schools will be held here Nov. 13-14.

Niles—Michigan Central detectives are working on a mysterious robbery. A "pony" safe, containing drafts, checks and cash amounting to $7,275, was stolen from the offices of the Railway Express Company at the Michigan Central station here.

Dowagiac—Convicted of shooting to death in May, William Baldwin, farmer, Clarence W. Cole, of Paw Paw, was sentenced to life imprisonment in Marquette by Circuit Judge DesVoignes. The killing was the result of a quarrel over a line fence.

Lansing—Following complaints from the vicinity of Mt. Pleasant that poor service is being given by the Union Telephone Co., the State Public Utilities Commission issued an order citing the company to show cause why it should not either improve the service or discontinue it.

Grand Rapids—Joseph Wenzel, 71 years old, veteran deer hunter, has left for the upper peninsula to begin his thirty-fourth deer hunting season. His camp will be located at his old hunting grounds, 20 miles northwest of Newberry, near the site of his old shack, destroyed by fire last summer.

Lansing—A runaway horse attacked a speeding automobile and came out second best here. The animal reared up as the car approached and leaped through the windshield, badly damaging the automobile. The driver, William Sheppell, injured slightly, was removed to his home. The horse had to be shot.

White Cloud—This section of Western Michigan is again turning to wood as fuel because of the high price of coal and the difficulty in obtaining it. During the last few weeks hundreds of families in Newaygo County have taken down their coal stoves and replaced them with others that will burn wood.

Monroe—Four big paper mills here are working full blast, day and night, with more business in sight. There are now more than 3,000 hands employed. There were four new paper machines installed in each of the plants. There are 12 machines in these mills, manufacturing 1,000 tons daily of box and container board.

Iron Mountain—The $25,000 damage suit brought by Charles Kalsely against the Northern Sawmill Co. has been settled out of court for $3,000. C., J. H. Brown, manager of the tour has announced.

Ann Arbor—President M. L. Burton, of the University of Michigan, has announced receipt of a gift for the advancement of science, from Robert P. Grand Rapids—Mrs. Lou I. Sigler, of this city, is elected the new chairman of the fourth district Michigan state teachers' association, which has closed its annual meeting. A. A. Rather, superintendent of the Ionia schools, was made vice-chairman. The secretary will be appointed by the executive board of the state association.

Muskegon—"Stop, Look, Listen" warning posts at railroad crossings in Michigan are soon to pass, say county road officials. They are giving away to progress. Under the new law, signposts announcing railroad crossings are placed 300 feet from tracks, and these will take the place of warnings of the olden days. The new posts were brought about by automobile traffic. The new signs give the motorist warning before he reaches the crossing and can be seen at night.

Monroe—A mail pouch, containing first class mail gathered from southern points, stolen from the Pere Marquette depot in this city, was found by Postmaster Sidney Younglove, in a field within the city limits of Monroe. The lock to the pouch had been jimmied, most of the letters opened, but the contents were left intact. Many checks were found nearby the spot. It is believed the thugs were amateurs and obtained but little money. Furs stolen from parcel post sacks have not been recovered.

Muskegon—Eugene Meurer, Muskegon's millionaire paper manufacturer, is happy with the prospect of getting his $40,000 cook back. He received word that Mrs. Margaret Wasserman had sailed from Germany to resume her work in his home. She left several months ago after a dispute with Meurer's daughter following the announcement that Meurer had given the servant $40,000 in cash in hopes of keeping her when she threatened to leave. Since the cook left, Meurer's daughters also have moved away.

WHEN EVERY MOVE HURTS

Lame every morning, achy and stiff all day, worse whenever it's damp or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use. Ask your neighbor!

Erlo Farmer, railroad engineer, East Jordan, says: "I had a sore feeling across the small of my back that stayed with me for days and I had itches in my back when I wasn't able to move at all and my back was always lame. When I stooped, I could hardly get up again. Mornings I felt tired. Black specks came before me and blurred my eyes so I couldn't see. Through the night I often had to get up and the secretions were not only painful but always filled with dark sediment. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a few boxes at Gidley & Mac's Drug Store and they fixed me up in good shape."

CHAPTER XX

Quietly, as though nothing had happened, the three men went down the stairs, passed the sleeping night clerk, and headed back to the sheriff's office, where waited Anita and Harry, who had completed his last duties in regard to the chinky-faced Maurice Rodaine. The telephone rang. It was Denver. Mason talked a moment over the wire, then turned to his fellow officer.

"They've got Barnham. What's more, he had close to a million dollars in currency strapped around him. Guess we'd better stir up some horses now and chase along, hadn't we?"

"Yes, and get a gentle one for me," cautioned Harry.

"That goes for me, too," laughed Fairchild.

"And me—I like automobiles better." Anita was twisting her long hair into a braid, to be once more shoved under her cap. The start was made.

A detour, then the tracks led the way to the Ohadi road, and behind them came the pursuers, heads down against the wind, horses snorting and coughing as they forced their way through the big drifts, each following one another for the protection it afforded. A long, silent, cold-gripped two hours—then finally the lights of Ohadi.

But even then the trail was not difficult. The little town was asleep; hardly a track showed in the streets beyond the hoofprints of a horse leading up the principal thoroughfare and on out to the Georgeville road. Onward until before them was the bleak, rat-ridden old roadhouse which formed Laura's home, and a light was gleaming within.

Silently the pursuers dismounted and started forward, only to stop short. A scream had come to them, faint in the bluster of the storm, the racking scream of a woman in a tempest of anger. Suddenly the light seemed to bob about in the old house; it showed first at one window—then another—as though some one were running from room to room. Once two gaunt shadows stood forth—of a crouching man and a woman, one hand extended in the air, as she whirled the lamp before her for an instant and brought herself between its rays and those who watched.

Again the chase and then the scream, louder than ever, accompanied by streaking red flame which spread across the top floor like wind-blown spray. Shadows weaved before the windows, while the flames seemed to reach out and enwrap every portion of the upper floor. The staggering figure of a man with the blaze all about him was visible; then a woman who rushed past him. Gropping as though blinded, the burning form of the man weaved a moment before the window, clawing in a futile attempt to leap from every portion of his body, enveloping him. Slowly, a torch-like, stricken thing, he sank out of sight, and as the pursuers outside rushed forward, the figure of a woman appeared on the old veranda, half naked, shrieking, carrying something tightly locked in her arms, and plunged down the steps into the snow.

Fairchild, circling far to one side, caught her, and with all his strength resisted her squirming efforts until Harry and Bardwell had come to his assistance. It was Crazy Laura, the contents of her arms now showing in the light of the flames as they licked every window of the upper portion of the house—five heavy, sheepskin-bound books of the ledger type, wrapped tight in a grasp that not even Harry could loosen.

"Don't take them from me!" the insane woman screamed. "He tried it, didn't he? And where's he now—up there burning! He hit me—and I threw the lamp at him! He wanted my books—he wanted to take them away from me—but I wouldn't let him. And you can't have them—hear me—let go of my arm—let go!"

She bit at them. She twisted and butted them with her gray head. She screamed and squirmed—at last to weaken. Slowly Harry forced her arms aside and took from them the precious contents—whatever they might be. His old Sheriff Mason wrapped her in his coat and led her to a horse, there to force her to mount and ride with him into town. The house—with Squint Rodaine—was gone.

Back in the office of Sheriff Bardwell the books were opened, and Fairchild uttered an exclamation.

"Harry! Didn't she talk about her books at the corner's inquest? See if there's any entry along early in July—about the time of the inquest."

Bardwell turned the closely written pages. At last he stopped.

"Resisted today at the inquest, he read. I lied. Roudy made me do it. I never saw anybody quarreling. Besides, I did it myself."

"What's she mean—did it herself?" the sheriff looked up. "Guess we'll have to go 'way back for that."

"First let's see how accurate the thing is," Fairchild interrupted. "See if there's an item under November 9 of this year."

The sheriff searched, then read: "I dug a grave tonight. It was not filled. The immortal thing left me. I knew it would. Roudy had come and told me to dig a grave and put it in there. I did. We filled it with quicklime. Then we went upstairs and it was gone. I do not understand it. If Roudy wanted me to kill him, why didn't he say so? I will kill if Roudy will be good to me. I've killed before for him."

"Still referring to somebody she's killed," cut in Anita. "I wonder if it could be possible—"

"I've just thought of the date!" Harry broke in excitedly. "It was along about June 7, 1892. I'm sure it was around there."

The old books were muffled over, one after the other. At last Bardwell leaned forward and pointed to a certain page.

"Here's an item under May 28. It says: 'Roudy has been at me again! He wants me to fix things so that the three men in the Blue Poppy mine will get caught in there by a cave-in.'"

The sheriff looked up. "This seems to read a little better than the other stuff. It's not so jagged. Don't guess she was as much off her nut then as she is now. Let's see. Where's the place? Oh, yes; 'If I'll help him, I can have half, and we'll live together again, and he'll be good to me and I can have the boy. I know what it's all about. He wants to get the mine without Sissie Larsen having anything to do with it. Sissie has cemented up the hole he drilled into the pay ore and hasn't told Fairchild about it, because he thinks Roudy will go partner-ship with him and help him buy in. But Roudy won't do it. He wants that extra money for me. He told me so. Roudy is good to me sometimes. But that's when he wants me to do something. If he'll keep his promise I'll fix the mine so they won't get out.'"

"The poor old soul," there was aching sympathy in Anita Richmond's voice. "I—I can't help it if she was willing to kill people. The poor old thing was crazy."

"Yes, and she's 'ad us bloody near crazy too. Maybe there's another entry."

"I'm coming to it. It's along in June. The date's blurred. Listen: 'I did what Roudy wanted me to. I sneaked into the mine and planted dynamite in the tubers. I wanted to wait until the third man was there, but I couldn't. Fairchild and Larsen were fussing. Fairchild had learned about the hole and wanted to know what Larsen had found. Finally Larsen pulled a gun and shot Fairchild. He fell, and I knew he was dead. Then Larsen bent over him, and when he did I hit him on the head with a single-jack hammer. Then I set out the charge. Nobody ever will know how it happened unless they find the bullet or the gun. I don't care if they do. Roudy wanted me to do it.'"

Fairchild started to speak, but the sheriff stopped him.

"Wait, here's another item: 'I failed. I didn't kill either of them. They got out somehow and drove out of town tonight. Roudy is mad at me. He won't come near me. And I'm so lonesome for him!'"

"The explanation!" Fairchild almost shouted it as he seized the book and read it again. "Sheriff, I've got to make a confession. My father always thought that he had killed a man. Not that he told me—but I could guess it easily enough, four other things that happened. When he came to, he found a single-jack hammer lying beside him, and Larsen's body across him. Couldn't he naturally believe that he had killed him while in a daze? He was afraid of Rodaine—that Rodaine would get up a lynch-party and string him up. Harry here and Mrs. Howard helped him out of town. And this is the explanation!"

Bardwell smiled quizzically.

"It looks like there's going to be a lot of explanations. What time was it when you were trapped in that mine, Harkins?"

"Along about the first of November."

The sheriff turned to the page. It was there—the story of Crazy Laura and her descent into the Blue Poppy mine, and again the charge of dynamite which wrecked the tunnel. With a little sigh, Bardwell closed the book and looked out at the dawn, forcing its way through the blinding snow.

"Yes, I guess we'll find a lot of things in this old book," came at last. "But I think right now that the best thing any of us can find is a little sleep."

Rest—rest for five wearied persons, but the rest of contentment and peace. And late in the afternoon, three of them were gathered in the old-fashioned parlor of Mother Howard's boarding-house, waiting for the return of that dignitary from a sudden mission which Anita Richmond had sent her, involving a trip to the old Richmond mansion. Harry turned away from his place at the window.

"The district attorney had a long talk with Barnham," he announced, "and he's figured out a way for all the stockholders in the Silver Queen to get what's coming to them. As it is, they're about a 'niner thousand short some-er.'"

Fairchild looked up.

"What's the scheme?"

"To call a meeting of the stockholders and transfer all that money over to a special fund to buy Blue Poppy stock. We'll have to raise money anyway to work the mine like we ought to. And it'd cost something. You always 'ave to underwrite that sort of thing. I sort of like it, even if we'd 'ave to sell stock a little below par. I'd keep Ohadi from getting a bad name and all that."

"I think so, too," Anita Richmond laughed. "It suits me fine."

Fairchild looked down at her and smiled.

"I guess that's the answer," he said. "Of course that doesn't include the Rodaine stock. In other words, we give a lot of disappointed stockholders par value for about ninety cents on the dollar. But Farrel can look after all that. He's got to have something to keep him busy as attorney for the company."

A step on the veranda, and Mother Howard entered, a package under her arm, which she placed in Anita's lap. The girl looked up at the man who stood beside her.

"I promised," she said, "that I'd tell you about the Denver road."

He leaned close.

"That isn't all you promised—just before I left you this morning," came his whispered voice, and Harry, at the window, doubled in laughter.

"Why didn't you speak it all out?" he gurgled. "I 'ard every word."

Anita's eyes snapped.

"Well, I don't guess that's any worse than me standing behind the folding doors listening to you and Mother Howard gushing like a couple of sick doves!"

"That 'olds me," announced Harry. "That 'olds me. I ain't got a word to say."

Anita laughed.

"Persons who live in glass houses, you know. But about this explanation, I'm going to ask a hypothetical question. Suppose you and your family were in the clutches of persons who were always trying to get you into a position where you'd be more at their mercy. And suppose an old friend of the family wanted to make the family a present and called up from Denver for you to come on down and get it—not for yourself, but just to have around in case of need. Then suppose you went to Denver, got the valuable present and then, just as you were getting up speed to make the first grade on Lookout, you heard a shot behind you and looked around to see the sheriff coming. And if he caught you, it'd mean a lot of worry and the worst kind of gossip, and maybe you'd have to go to jail for breaking laws and everything like that? In a case of that kind, what'd you do?"

"Run to beat bloody 'ell!" blurted out Harry.

"And that's just what she did," added Fairchild. "I know because I saw her."

Anita was unwrapping the package. "And seeing that I did run," she added with a laugh, "and got away with it, who would like to share in what remains of one beautiful bottle of Manhattan cocktail?"

There was not one dissenting voice!

[THE END]

Pearls Long Imitated.

The imitation of pearls is not a new industry, but was carried on centuries ago. In the inventory of the jewels of a French lady of high degree in 1731 there is named "un collier de perles fausses," a necklace of false pearls, but more than a century earlier pearls were made in France by a jeweler named Jaquin, and so successful was the manufacturer, it was said the finer ones were bought up by the dealers of Asia and became rare in France.

TURKS GO INTO NEUTRAL ZONES

NEW ANGORA GOVERNMENT DEFIES BRITISH, TEARS UP MUDANIA PACT.

ALLIED TROOPS ORDERED OUT

Hamid Bey Tells Entente Powers to Withdraw Troops From City of Constantinople.

Constantinople—The Turks have torn up the Mudania convention and gendarmes are moving into areas known as neutral.

Turkish nationalist gendarmes are advancing into the British-Chanakk area. The Kemalists have established an administration at Berzaj.

Hamid Bey representative of the Angora government, in a note to the entente powers demands withdrawal of the Allied troops from Constantinople.

The sultan's ministry resigned and Rafet Pasha, representative of the Angora nationalist government, has assumed power. He issued a manifesto Sunday, which declared that from noon, November 4, the administration of the great national assembly of Turkey is established in Constantinople.

The manifesto announced that the sultan's position has been clearly defined by the decision of the national assembly and that the rights of the citizens are absolutely safeguarded by the laws of the great national assembly of Turkey.

The Allied high commission has accepted the new regime. This leaves no choice for the sultan. All the Turkish courts are suspended and Rafet Pasha, the new governor of Constantinople, has ordered the attorney general to dispense justice under the jurisdiction of the Angora government. This further imperils the sultan's position.

Owing to the suppression of the ministers, all government employees except those identified with the municipality who continue at work have been requested to await instructions from the Angora government. Saturday the government employees went on strike, a message being sent to Angora that they had done so in protest against the Sublime Porte's refusal to comply with the Angora ultimatum.

Prior to accepting the announcement of Rafet Pasha that the fundamental organic law promulgated by the Angora government would be applied to Constantinople Sunday the Allied high commissioners and generals gathered Saturday evening in the British embassy to examine Rafet Pasha's proposals, which were for the establishment of Turkish civil administration in Constantinople and the neutral zone. Rafet participated in the meeting which discussed in all its details the advisability to the Angora government.

MICHIGAN DOUBLES ACTIVITY

U. S. Report Shows State Conditions Much Better Than 1921.

Washington—Featuring the October report of the United States Employment service is the statement that activities in Michigan so far this year have doubled those of 1921.

While the same condition prevails in a general way in all sections of the country, Toledo and Indianapolis reported a decrease in the demand for labor.

The report for Michigan says in part:

"Industry steadily adding to payrolls and Michigan reports favorable outlook in automobile, metal, textile and iron industries with an unusually promising outlook for steel industry. Paper industry normal. The continued tremendous building operations have kept the lumber demand at a high point and producers are increasing output. Numerous road projects under construction."

SOCIALIST WEEKLY SUSPENDED

Publishers Announce Change of Policy for "Appeal to Reason."

Kansas City, Mo.—The Appeal to Reason, a weekly magazine published at Girard, Kansas, and which for 27 years has expounded socialism, was suspended after Monday's issue. It was announced by E. Haldeman-Julius, who for five years has published the periodical. The name and policy of the paper will be changed, he said. The new name of the magazine will be the Haldeman-Julius Weekly and its policy will be devoted to the advancement in historical, scientific and philosophical matters, the announcement says.

Declares Epilepsy, Insanity Curable.

Chicago—Glandular treatment of epilepsy and insanity was outlined here by Dr. William Held in an address at an epilepsy clinic at the Illinois post-graduate medical school. "Epilepsy and insanity are not 'taints,'" Dr. Held declared. "They are simply the result of inharmonious functioning of the ductless glands, and they can be cured! Improper functioning of the glands, he said, produces a toxic condition which results in a mental cloud.

Big Eaters Get Kidney Trouble

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat often too much red meat and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Can Fish Hear?

Fish have no ears, but there is no doubt that they can detect sounds. It is probable that they feel the vibrations which sounds set up in the water, by means of a sensitive nerve that runs down each side of their bodies.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Rub Rheumatism or Sore, Aching Joints

Rheumatism is "pain" only. Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right into your sore, stiff, aching joints and muscles, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacobs Oil" has relieved millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

RED PEPPER FOR COLDS IN CHEST

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

Red Pepper Rub is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known.

A Graceful Lantern

No decoration will be more effective in dressing up the house at Christmas time than lanterns and candle shades of crepe paper and tinsel. A graceful lantern is illustrated here, made on a wire frame over which the paper covering is pasted and cut-out figures are pasted to the sides. The long tassel may be of tinsel or crepe paper. Festoons of flower petals, strung on cords, finish this pretty decoration.

Zane Grey

A descendant of the famous Zane family of frontier origin, he was born in Zanesville, O., and received his early education in that place. Later he graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, but outdoor sports attracted him more than school or routine, and he played amateur, college and professional baseball.

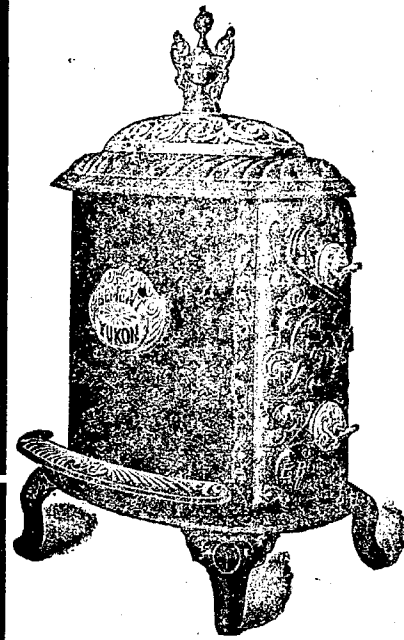

Pioneer instincts and love of the open drew him to the West. Much of the material for his stories has been obtained in western travel, especially in out-of-the-way places. He delights in picturing the deserts, particularly the arid expanses of Arizona and Sonora. No writer excels him in this specialty. Truly remarkable is his ability to impart the fascination and mysterious qualities of the great wastes.

Zane Grey has written many successful novels, of which none is more charming than "Desert Gold," for which we have secured the serial rights and are pleased to announce early printing in this paper.

Pretty Sewing Basket

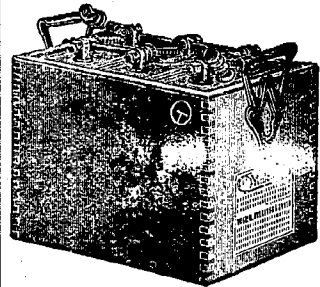

Work baskets of figured cretonne or silk may be made, in several sizes, of two circular pieces of the material. For the foundation of the basket a light, square cardboard box is used, split at the corners, so that it can be flattened out. A pocket, gathered on one edge, over an elastic band, and an oblong pin cushion, are sewed to one of the circular pieces. The two pieces are then pasted together with the flattened box between them. Eyelet holes in the spaces between the sides of the cardboard foundation carry a small cord that holds the basket in shape as shown in the picture.

In the government of men a great deal may be done by severity, more by love, but most of all by clear discernment and impartial justice, which pays no respect to persons.—Goethe.

All Have Their Troubles.

"I can't find a place to park my car," complained the rich man. "And I can't find a seat in the car to park myself," growled the poor man.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Man Too Richly Endowed.

Man's happiness, as I construe, comes of his greatness; it is because there is an infinite in him, which, with all his cunning, he cannot quite bury under the finite.—Carlyle.

CO-OPERATIVES TO HOLD FIRST MEET

INVITATIONS OUT FOR NATIONAL COUNCIL OF FARMERS AT WASHINGTON, DEC. 14-16.

MICHIGAN DELEGATES TO ATTEND

Better Marketing of Agricultural Products to be Chief Topic to Receive Consideration.

Washington—Invitations to send delegates to the first annual convention of the National Council of Farmers' Co-operative Marketing association were sent out last week from headquarters of the national committee to more than 200 co-operative marketing associations of the commodity type including among others in Michigan, the Michigan livestock exchange, and the Michigan Farm Bureau Elevator exchange and the Michigan State Farm Bureau wool pool, of Lansing, the Michigan Fruit Growers' exchange of Benton Harbor, and the Michigan Potato Growers' exchange of Cadillac.

This will be the first nationwide meeting of commodity co-operative marketing associations, or farmers' business organizations for orderly marketing, ever held in the United States. It is scheduled for December 14 to 16, 1922, in Washington.

While one of the main features of the convention program is consideration and recommendation from the standpoint of co-operative marketing associations of rural credits legislation, all common problems of co-operative marketing will be considered and problems common to handling of each commodity will be discussed by group meetings of representatives of organizations handling the same product.

KIDNAPPER GETS LONG TERM

Mob Threatens Man Who Confessed Luring Away 12-Year Girl.

Muskegon—Hurried from the city where a frenzied mob was threatening his life, Raymond Eugene Wilson, 31 years old, confessed kidnaper of 12-year-old Rosalie Shanty, was taken to Marquette, to begin serving a 35 to 40 years sentence.

As the judge pronounced the sentence and recommended that Wilson be confined for the maximum term, there was a storm of applause. Instantly, Judge Vanderwerp leaped to his feet and sharply rebuked the spectators.

U.S. DEBT INCREASES IN OCTOBER

Washington—An increase of more than $265,000,000 in the public debt during October, is shown in figures made public by the treasury. On October 31, the gross public debt stood at $23,077,000,000, as compared with $22,812,000,000 on September 30, and with $23,459,000,000 on October 31, 1921.

Issuance of government securities in excess of redemptions during the month, particularly the half billion dollar bond issue, treasury officials explained, was responsible for the increase, but was not regarded as interfering with the orderly reduction of the national debt, which is effected quarterly.

ARMISTICE OBSERVANCE ASKED

Governor Calls On Communities to Remember Fourth Anniversary.

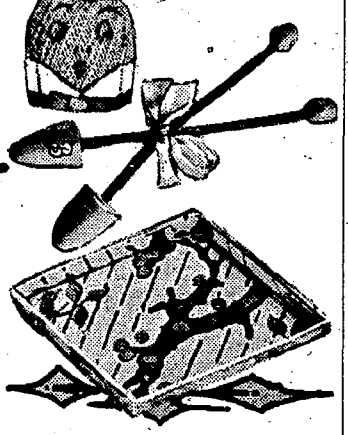

Lansing—Governor Groesbeck issued the following Armistice day proclamation: "Saturday, the 11th day of November, will mark the fourth anniversary of the signing of the armistice in the great World war in which our American soldiers, sailors and marines bore such a worthy and distinguished part, and it is highly desirable that the day should be observed in becoming fashion.

"Therefore, as governor of Michigan, I hereby request a fitting observance on the part of the various communities of the state on Armistice day, November 11, 1922."

Women Board Members Indicted.

Chicago—The special grand jury investigating alleged graft in school board transactions has returned four new indictments. For the first time women trustees were named, Dr. Sadie Bay Adair and Mrs. Pauline E. Strewing were indicted with Edwin S. Davis, and Albert H. Severinghaus, the latter two named in previous bills, all school trustees. Meanwhile Judge McKinley was investigating an alleged plot to bribe members of the grand jury.

Three Gifts for Men

Small and unimportant gifts are the kind that make Christmas merry. Here are three of them that men will appreciate. They are an astonished gentleman, with painted face, made of a ball of twine and wearing a stiff white collar and tie of paper, a pair of painted and initialed shoe-trees and a cretonne-covered ash tray, fitted with a glass bottom.

Eucalyptus Has Advantage.

It requires more than a century for a cedar tree to grow large enough to yield a 30-foot telephone pole. The eucalyptus will attain a larger growth in 30 years, and its wood is quite as durable.

Wise Ohion.

The Toledo (Ohio) Blade asserts as a well-known fact that no girl ever enters a beauty contest herself. She always has friends in need who possess her photographs. One of them can be trusted to do the right thing.

Wrong Slant.

A pessimist is a fellow who, when told that he should cheer up, as things are not as bad as they look, replies: "No, but they seem so."—Vaudeville News.

Kerosene Makes Heat.

One of the new rivet heaters uses kerosene for fuel, transforming it into gas that is blown by compressed air to create a temperature of 3,000 degrees.

"Facing the Music."

The proverbial phrase "to face the music," is probably derived from the stage, where it was used by actors in the greenroom when preparing to go on the boards.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.
