Memorial Day In East Jordan

Excellent Program. Address by Chaplain Blewfield.

The Memorial Day parade will start in the same manner as last year. That is, the band will assemble at the Public Library where the lodges and other city organizations will meet and follow the band to the High School where the Catholic children will fall in behind the lodges and band, behind them the Public School and the march will go south to on Fourth St. to State St., then to Main St., up Main St. back to the library and east to the Public School where the following program will take place, Mayor Dicken acting as chairman: Open by singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic". A solo by Ingram Little, then Lieut. Floyd Blewfield, Chaplain, will speak. Rev. Blewfield is pastor of the Petoskey M. E. Church, during the World War he served as Chaplain of the 164th D. B., 10th Div. At present he is Chaplain of the 123th F. A., U. S. Reserves. Then there will be a violin solo by Norbert Hart, announcements and music by the quartette of Vanluseen, Porter, Watson and Sloan. The old soldiers will be provided with cars and they will get them at their homes or the G. A. R. Hall at 10:00 in the morning to decorate the graves, along with six High School girls and six Catholic girls and a Legion firing squad. The Holy Name society will also take care of the cemetery in the Bohemian Settlement at the hour stated above, 10:00 o'clock. The parade in the afternoon will assemble at 1:00 o'clock sharp. The program in the High School will begin 1:30 and will last about forty minutes.

Would Make Their Eyes Pop. Movie Director (before Niagara Falls, to his first lieutenant)—Now, Jim, if we could arrange so that Miss Florabelle could be carried half-way over the falls and still be saved by our hero, would that be a stunner?

Virtue of Courage. Courage is a virtue that the young cannot spare; to lose it is to grow old before the time; it is better to make a thousand mistakes and suffer a thousand reverses than to run away from battle.—Henry Van Dyke.

Fred Kilpatrick, farmer, living near 14 may lose the sight of both eyes as the result of injuries suffered while blasting stumps last week. As he leaned over a stump a delayed blast went off, hurling him 20 feet. He also is injured internally.

Kalamazoo county and southwestern Michigan fruit growers generally anticipate a bumper fruit crop. Reports from all parts of the district indicate that the first estimate of the damage caused by the recent snow and frost were exaggerated.

Mrs. Daniel Stocker, Lansing, spoke at Dowagiac, last week at the twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary society. Delegates were present from Niles, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Coldwater and Colon.

The bodies of Captain John McPherson, Gus Johns and Fred Regan, the last of three missing men off the tug Reliance, wrecked off the north shore of Lake Superior, December last, were found last week, by Charles Graham, of Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Helen T. Tickner, 84 years old, a pioneer resident, died at Owosso last week. Just before she died she wrote her own obituary for publication.

Two of Ionia's early settlers are dead. George L. Dalsell, farmer of North Plains, dropped dead at his home in Muir, while preparing for supper and Daniel P. Kelly, 40 years a resident of Ionia and practically the last of the old-time sailors, died last week.

Memorial Day, 1923

A Proclamation by the Governor.

Lee's surrender to Grant at Appomattox marked the close of the Civil War which had cost this country millions of treasure and many, many thousands of precious lives. Three years later Memorial Day was instituted to honor the memory of the brave men who had given their lives to the Union cause. A generation passed and America again found herself in arms, not to put down rebellion but to establish the liberties and maintain the rights of a young, sister republic. Less than a score of years saw the outbreak of the great world conflict and, while at first it seemed that we might be able to keep out of it, as the war progressed it became more and more evident that the fruits of liberty, so dear to the hearts of every American, were seriously menaced and that to insure our national independence we must take our place by the side of those who were battling for the freedom of the world. We all know the story. We know how splendidly on land and sea our gallant soldiers, sailors and marines upheld the honor of the American name. Memorial Day is for the men who took part in all these wars, but our first thought will be for the grey-haired veterans, that fast thinning blue line whose step is growing feebler year by year; and in this thoughtfulness for the old soldier none will join more heartily than the younger veterans of more recent wars. Therefore, in order that we may pay a tribute of respect and affection to the surviving veterans of the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the Great World War, and do honor to the memory of their fallen comrades, I hereby sincerely urge that Wednesday, May thirtieth, 1923, be fittingly observed as Memorial Day; and I earnestly appeal to the people of Michigan for hearty cooperation in plans for the observance of the day in their respective communities. On Memorial Day flags should be displayed at half-staff until noon and then hoisted to the top of the staff. Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this fourteenth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-seventh.

ALEX J. GROESBECK, Governor.

EAST JORDAN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Triangular Track Meet
Petoskey wins Meet on the new northern track at East Jordan. The Track Meet was held Saturday afternoon, May 19. It being very good weather and a good track, very good time was made in running events. The field events were somewhat below the standard. The new cinder track constructed by Coach Gibbs was initiated by the three contesting teams in very good form. Petoskey won the meet very easily with 80 points. East Jordan trailing with 26 and Charlevoix brought up the rear with 11 points. George and Parish starred for Petoskey Love, Kling and McCalmon for East Jordan. Those playing in the Meet last Saturday are bound for Cadillac, May 25-26. Track is a great sport and those not seeing the Meet missed a great deal of excitement.

E. J. H. S. Adds Another Game By Defeating Central Lake.

The 5 to 4 victory over Central Lake High School Friday made the 4th straight game for E. J. H. S. The game was hard fought from start to finish with East Jordan holding the advantage. It was the best game played this year. Nice started the game for East Jordan and pitched well until the 3rd, when Malone, Mathers, and T. Sutton hit in succession, scoring 2 runs. Peebles finished the game and held the visitors scoreless until the 9th when Mathers and T. Sutton connected for safeties and a run. In 3 innings Nice allowed 4 hits, 3 runs, gave 2 bases on balls and struck out 3 men. Peebles in 6 innings gave 7 hits, no walks, 1 run and struck out 10 of the visitors.

After the first two innings Mathers pitched an airtight game until the 6th when Halstad connected with one of his shots and drove the ball out to the goal posts in center field. By the time that Central Lake had recovered from the shock Halstad had crossed the home plate with Stewart scoring ahead of him. Hits by Peebles and Malpass followed by a sacrifice foul fly by Love scored another run in the 7th. East Jordan has defeated Charlevoix,

Boyer City, Mancelona, and Central Lake. Four more games remain on the schedule as follows:
Boyer City there May 22nd
Charlevoix here May 29th
Petoskey here June 1st
Bay City here June 8th

Eighth Grade Play

The eighth grade pupils of the first division in English have been busy practicing and getting ready for the coming play—"Calico Land." They have been putting their fullest energy in making it a successful and interesting four act play. They show their loyalty to the school giving this for the benefit of the Commercial department in order that their expenses to the district contest might be defrayed. One might wonder at the low price of the tickets, only five cents for children up to the ninth grade and ten cents for adults. The reason for this is that it is the last of a series of matinees, the object of these programs being to furnish interesting entertainment available to all, while at the same time the pupils receive drill in oral English. The time was changed so that more parents might be able to see the program. The play has been coached by Miss Helen Etcher under the supervision of Miss Shipp. The date of the play is Monday May 28th at 6:30 standard.

Fourth Grade News

The fourth grade have read all the readers they have and are now beginning to prepare for book reviews. Instead of a test in reading, each child is asked to read a book from the library that is on the approved list and give an intelligent review of it before school closes. Any child who shows that he has understood what he has read through his report, and is able to read parts of the book aloud well, will

Roundtable In Best Meeting

Massalink of Ferris Institute Gives Fine Address.

In point of numbers and enthusiasm, the Western Michigan Roundtable had the biggest meeting in its history at East Jordan, Friday and Saturday. The school men carried away the finest memories of East Jordan's hospitality possible. The Western Michigan Roundtable, by the way, includes all of the Superintendents, Principals of High Schools, County School Commissioners, and Agricultural men from Big Rapids north to the Straits and is perhaps the liveliest Roundtable in Michigan. There were some fifty school men present, besides members of the school board of East Jordan and vicinity. It has not been the custom to furnish such hospitality as shown by East Jordan. They nearly always take care of their own lodging and the big dinner always costs a dollar, so it was almost impossible for them to understand how East Jordan not only put up the finest dinner they have had but on top of this some real Northern Michigan trout all for nothing. The principal address was given by Garret Massalink of Big Rapids and he gave one of the finest addresses the school men have had. Mr. Massalink made a distinct hit. He is an earnest and enthusiastic speaker and broad enough to discuss the unusual subject he chose. The title was "It's Up To You." Under this heading he considered the problem of the negro and the immigrant, showing how the negro expects and will insist on his rights, mentioning some of the great things this race did in the war. He wanted to see the foreigner get justice. At the same time, he urged stricter immigration laws and limited numbers allowed to come. The point he emphasized most was the relation between Great Britain and America, saying that these two nations must stand together. The world's civilization hinges on this fact. The verbal scrap between the British commonwealth of nations and France over Germany is one of the most important in the world's history. Germany is instrumental in the world's significance of this struggle. It's a question of Britain or France dominating Europe for the next two or three hundred years. The school men themselves in conference discussed the matter of tests in the Public School, Athletics and other Local School problems, besides the coming meeting of the Michigan State Teachers Association. Among others mentioned was the fact that they will edit a School Journal for Michigan. At the present time 94 per cent of the teachers belong to the M. S. T. A. This would be about 24,000, the largest organization of its kind in Michigan. A duet by the Misses Gunderson and Arntson, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Nelson, an encore in norwegian, made a real hit with the schoolmen, as also did the solo by Mrs. Dicken, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Bechtold. The dinner was put on by Mrs. Duncanson, Miss Massalink, the wives of the members of the School Board and the girls of the Domestic Science department. These ladies, assisted by the girls of the Domestic Science department, received numerous congratulations from the School men on the success of their repeat. They said it was many a day since they saw its equal. There was a separate committee, headed by Mayor Dicken, and assisted by Mrs. Dloken and Mrs. Carr, and a number of others, including Dr. Pray and A. J. Suffer, who assisted in the getting and cooking of the fish. The quality of the fish was proved by the eating. They were excellent, it goes without saying. A number of the citizens of East Jordan had cars to take the School men around to see the lake and it all ended up by a very successful Track Meet with Charlevoix and Petoskey, and in every way it was pronounced the most pleasant and enthusiastic gathering of the Western Michigan Roundtable thus far and East Jordan has a large place in their pleasant memories.

E. Jordan Beats Harbor Springs

Johnny Johnson Pitches First Victory of the Season.

Though the weather was threatening to rain, our boys went down to Harbor Springs and by the time the game was called the sun came out in full attire. During infield practice, Morgan made a spectacular catch by running way out his territory and grabbing the ball with one hand. Covey, who has been nick-named "Pepper," made the longest hit that has been made on the Harbor Springs field. The ball went over the center fielder's head and a few more feet it would have gone to the cement road leading to East Jordan and we would probably have found the ball in Petoskey headed for East Jordan. Covey was hit by a pitched ball from Spink which dazed him so it affected his eyesight for awhile but he continued the whole game. Our boys were full of pep and talked it up during the whole game—and that is what we want is talk and pep. Everybody for East Jordan batted around in the first inning and our boys could have kept it up, but took it easy as it was their first game played this year. Hank Kamradt, our little Dutchman, caught a perfect game behind the bat. Ward, playing first, made a good catch of a foul ball which was hit near by the Harbor Springs dug out. Elmer Smith played a perfect game but was a little nervous at the start. He will soon throw that off. He got three hits which helped in the scoring. Rod Davis ("Lightning") played a good game in center field and his speed was right with him. Once he got on the bases he did not lose any time in coming home on the first ball hit. Peebles, another high school star, is a comer and will probably be carried with the Club this year. He has the world's of speed and he can hit the pill; he got one hit and 'twas a good one. He needs instruction and will get that from his older team-mates. Sam Kamradt did not get many chances in the field but he sure did use his war club to good advantage, and boy he cracks them right on the nose; he got three hits and three runs out of six times to bat. The boys are just rounding into form and watch them go from now on. East Jordan plays Petoskey May 27 at East Jordan watch for bills that will state the time of starting the game. Petoskey has a strong team this year.

Happiness and Sorrow.

There is something more awful in happiness than in sorrow—the latter being earthly and finite, the former composed of the substance and texture of eternity, so that spirits still embodied may well tremble at it.—Hawthorne.

Wait of the Psalmist. Dr. Alfred Russell Wallace says that "man has shown no improvement, either in intellect or morals, from the days of the earliest Egyptians and Assyrians, down to the keel laying of the latest dreadnaught."

Stray Bits of Wisdom. An empty helmet, an edgeless sword, a shield without a grip—such is glory!—Ibsen.

MANY ARE KILLED IN SCHOOL FIRE

SOUTH CAROLINA COUNTRY "SOCIAL" TURNED TO HORROR AS LAMP UPSETS

WHOLE FAMILIES WIPED OUT

Wooden Stairway Collapses Crushing Many In Debris—Rescuers Helpless To Aid.

Camden, S. C.—Seventy-one known dead and two unaccounted for was the toll of the Cleveland schoolhouse fire as determined here last Friday. The school is in an isolated community eight miles from here.

The fire which destroyed the frame building, apparently resulted from the explosion of an oil lamp on the stage arranged for the closing entertainment and "social" of the school.

Scores of the audience made a concerted rush for the single entrance to the stairway, despite the counsel of cooler heads. Men, women and children fought madly to escape. Some, unable to penetrate the jam to safety, leaped from the second-story window, to die of injuries or be taken from the scene suffering from broken limbs.

Collapse of the narrow wooden stairway caused many of the deaths, a number of persons being crushed in the debris.

The school building, a two-story frame structure containing three rooms, had virtually burned to the ground before outside aid could be summoned.

In the meantime, without means of stopping the blaze, those who had escaped or who were attracted to the scene could only stand by and see the flames complete their work of destruction, helpless to aid.

The more seriously injured were rushed to hospitals at nearby places or taken to their homes.

The death list reads like a roster of the families of the community. Family after family was virtually wiped out.

In almost every instance where parents are listed as dead, from one to four children perished.

Among the dead is County Coroner G. L. Dixon and his young daughter.

BISHOP TUCKER HEADS DIOCESE

Elected On Fifth Ballot—Replaces the Late Bishop Williams.

Detroit—The Right Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, missionary bishop of Japan, was elected bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Michigan last week to succeed the late Bishop Charles D. Williams, who died on Ash Wednesday.

The election was announced on the completion of the fifth ballot, after an all-day special convention of the diocese in St. Paul's cathedral house.

The bishop-elect was nominated by Rev. W. L. Torrance of St. Andrew's church, Detroit, who described him as "a young, vigorous man of 47 with a fine commanding presence."

Bishop Tucker cannot take his office before August at the earliest. He has resigned his position in Japan because of the ill health of Mrs. Tucker and plans to return to America at that time.

In the meantime, the election must be approved by a majority vote of the bishops and councils of the other dioceses of the church in America, a mere formality but one that takes some time.

MACKINAC PARK IS ENLARGED

Legislature Grants Funds to Increase Acreage.

Lansing—Under a bill that passed the legislature in the final hours of the session and which Gov. Groesbeck will sign, the acreage of the State Park at Mackinac Island will be increased from 1,041 to about 1,640.

The area of the island is about 2,200 acres. By acquiring the Dousman farm the State will own all but about 600 acres. This will make it the largest of all the 44 state parks.

Historically, it is one of the most famous parks in the United States, for on the island are battlefields where Indians, French, British and Americans fought for territorial supremacy.

Mackinac Island was one of the first locations to be created a Government park.

In the park are upwards of 40 miles of roads of which 25 miles are improved, and 60 miles of Indian trails and paths.

Automobiles have never been permitted on the island.

Many Tons of Coal Saved by Dam.

Keokuk, Ia.—Six million tons of coal are saved annually by the operation of the Keokuk Dam, in the Mississippi River here, according to an estimate by the operators of the dam. Power hidden under the surface of the Mississippi and harnessed by the dam is lighting stores and running street cars in St. Louis and a great many smaller towns in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. Miles of cables and conduits run out from the dam in every direction.

GEORGE J. GOULD

Mentone, France—George Jay Gould, the American financier, who has been ill at Cap Martin, near here, for some time, died last week. Mr. Gould succeeded to the leadership of the famous Gould family upon the death of his father, Jay Gould.

WAR CLOUDS LOOMING IN EAST

Greeks and Turks Declare They Can Not Agree on Peace Terms.

Paris—Ismet Pasha and M. Venizelos, respective heads of the Turkish and Greek delegations to the Near East conference, admit that their efforts to settle directly between themselves the problem of reparations in Asia Minor have failed utterly. The situation as between Turkey and Greece, is so serious that the success of the conference is doubtful.

A Polish delegation headed by Baron Modzelewsky, Poland's minister to Switzerland, has arrived here to negotiate the establishment of diplomatic and consular relations with Turkey.

Lausanne—Renewal of the Turco-Greek war, involving Serbia as an ally of Greece, and Bulgaria as an ally of Turkey, is threatened. Such a Balkan conflagration, it is feared, might precipitate another general European conflict.

The Greek delegates threatened to leave the Near East peace conference here unless the Turks forego their claim to reparations, and at the same time the Athens government is threatening to send troops across the Maritza river into territory held by Turks.

There is also an unconfirmed report that British officers in Turkey have been requested to cancel their social engagements.

The Greeks are now as truculent as the Turks. They have recovered from their recent defeat, and the Greek army in Macedonia is strong and well equipped, its morale is excellent.

NEW FARMERS' BANK ORGANIZED

Operations Confined to Michigan and Ohio at Present.

Detroit—Michigan's first banking institution organized to serve the farmer was perfected last week, with capital and surplus of $275,000. The name of the new organization will be the Bankers' Joint Stock Land Bank of Detroit.

The directors chosen include some of Michigan's best known banking and business men. The following directors were elected: Frank W. Blair, Henry H. Sanger, Henry M. Campbell, Harry C. Bulker, Thomas J. Anketell, William A. Comstock and John N. Stalker, of Detroit; Dudley E. Waters, Charles H. Bender, of Grand Rapids; Herbert E. Johnson, of Kalamazoo, and Edward Frensdorf, of Hudson.

The business of this new organization, as of all other Joint Stock Land Banks, will be to assist the farmer in his efforts to purchase farm land and to provide funds for the improvement and upkeep of the farm.

The loans will call for payments of 7% of the original amount of the loan annually of which 6% is applied in payment of interest and the balance on the principal. This pays out the loan in thirty three years.

It is the plan of the new bank to inaugurate its functioning immediately. The territory to come within the scope of the bank's activities will be Michigan and Ohio.

The officers elected at the meeting last week, were Frank W. Blair, Detroit, President; Henry H. Sanger, Detroit, Dudley E. Waters, Grand Rapids and Edward Frensdorf, Hudson, Vice-Presidents.

The offices of the Company will be located in Detroit.

Drilling World's Deepest Well.

Washington—The deepest well in the world is in Upper Silesia, in the German Empire. It is a diamond-drill hole in a coal field, and is 7,350 feet deep. A well in the United States which may go deeper, according to the United States Geological Survey, is four miles northwest of McDonald, Pa., and about 15 miles west of Pittsburgh. This well, which is being sunk to the Medina sandstone—a bed that contains oil and gas—is now 7,174 feet deep.

Veteran Actor Dead.

Coytesville, N. J.—Frank Finley Mackay, 90 years old, a member of the original Union Square Theater Company in New York, died last week at his home. Of late years he had been active in the affairs of the Actor's Home, New York. Mr. Mackay was born in Toronto. He joined a theatrical company at Memphis, Tenn., and later played the West. In 1865 Mrs. John Drew offered him an engagement at her theater in Philadelphia.

TREES REQUIRE CULTIVATION

Row Crops, Such as Potatoes, May Be Grown in Between—Soil Mulch Is Essential.

"Trees require cultivation just the same as any farm crop," says D. C. Mooring, horticulturist with the extension division of the Oklahoma A. and M. college. "Cultivated row crops, such as potatoes, may be grown in between the rows of the trees while young. As the trees enlarge in size less row crops should be grown until the entire space is left to the trees. A soil mulch established with whatever practical tool available, should be maintained about the young trees from early summer until the last of July during the average season. During a dry year continue your cultivation until August."

MORE ATTENTION TO FENCES

Very Little Real Building Has Been Done for Some Years—Labor in Repairs Wasted.

Very little real fence building has been done in a number of years, but a lot of labor has been put on old fences in trying to make them do service a little longer. Much of this labor has been practically wasted. No sooner is a fence that has outlived its usefulness, repaired in one place, than it breaks down in another, and before the breakdown is discovered, heavy damage has been done to some crop by live stock.

CORN MOST IMPORTANT CROP

Quantity of Yield is Greatly Influenced by Quality of Seed—Let Hogs Harvest.

Corn is the most important crop in the United States, both in acreage and in value. The quantity of yield is greatly influenced by the quality of the seed planted. A practical way to decrease the cost of harvesting the crop if it is to be fed to hogs is to let the hogs do the harvesting or "hogging down" by turning them into the fields in the fall.

Great Advantage Over Taxes. We may be sure of death and taxes, but death only bothers us once—Columbia Missourian.

CHAPTER XVII

Westlake Brings News.

In the week that followed, the partners of the Three Star managed to find many hours for holiday-making. The ranch ran well on its own routine, and Molly was a princess to be entertained. Kate Nicholson emerged from her chrysalis and became almost a butterfly rather than the pale gray moth they had fancied her. Even Miranda revised her opinion. The Nicholsons, it came out, had been a family of some consequence and a fair degree of riches in South Carolina before an unfortunate speculation had taken everything.

Kate Nicholson, left alone soon afterward, had assumed the role of governess or companion with more or less success and drifted on, submerged in the families who had used her services, until Keith had secured her for the post with Molly when things had seemed particularly black. Now, riding with Molly, with Sam and Sandy for escorts, over the open range or up into the canyons, on picnics, the years slid off from her. She laughed understandingly and talked spontaneously. Evenings, when they would return to the disconsolate Mormon, who bewailed openly his lack of saddle sense, they found two nights out of three, Miranda Bailey, self-chlorinated in her flapper with offerings of cake and doughnuts to supplement Pedro's still uncertain efforts. Molly chuckled once to Sandy. "Miranda's a dear," she said. "I wish she'd marry Mormon. But Kate Nicholson is a far better cook than she is. Only she won't do anything for fear of hurting Miranda's feelings."

Yet the governess did cook on occasion, trout that they caught in the mountain streams, and camp biscuits and fragrant coffee when they made excursions, so deft a presiding genius of the camp-fire that Sam declared she belonged to Sageland. "I love it," she answered, sleeves tucked to the elbow, stooping over the fire, her face full of color, tucking a vagrant wisp of hair into place.

Sam had stopped playing, Kate Nicholson was weaving chords in music unknown to those who listened, save that it seemed to speak some common language that had been forgotten since childhood. The fire shifted, there was silence in the big room. Mormon sat shading his face, Miranda Bailey beside him, her knitting idle. Sam lounged in a shady corner near the harmonium. Grit lay asleep. It was infinitely peaceful.

There was the sound of a motor outside, the honk of a horn. The door opened and a man came in, gazing uncertainly about him in the half-light—Westlake.

"This is the Three Star, isn't it?" he asked, evidently puzzled at the group.

Sandy lit the big lamp as they all rose, Grit nosing the engineer, accepting him.

"Sure is," he said. "You know Miss Bailey, Westlake? Miss Keith an' Miss Nicholson, Mr. Westlake. They both know something about you. Come to stay, I hope."

His voice was cordial as he gripped Westlake's hand, though the remembrance of what Sam had said at the mining camp leaped up within him. Westlake and Molly! Here was a man who might mate with her, might suit her wonderfully well. Upstanding, educated, no lightweight pleasure-seeker, as he estimated Ronald Keith. Here was a complication in his dreams of happiness that he had lost sight of.

"If you can put up with me, for a bit," said Westlake. "I've come partly on business, Bourke. I've left Casey Town. I came over with a machine from the garage at Hereford. I'll get my things and send him back."

Sandy went outside with him and helped him with his grips. The machine started.

"Quit Keith?" asked Sandy.

"Yes; we had a misunderstanding. About my staying here, Bourke. It may be a bit awkward. Young Donald Keith intends coming over. I am sure he doesn't know a thing about his father's business affairs. But I have a strong hunch that Keith himself will be along later to offset any talk he thinks I may have with you. He'll figure I've come here. He doesn't know all that I have found out, at that. If it's likely to embarrass you or your guests in the least I'll go on to Denver tomorrow. I'm headed that way. I've got a South American proposition in view. Wired them yesterday and may hear at any minute." "Shucks!" said Sandy. "You're my friend. Young Keith don't interest me, save as Molly wants to entertain him. I'm under no obligations to Keith himself. You're my guest an' we'll keep you as long as we can hold you in the corral."

"I had no idea Miss Casey would be like—what she is," said Westlake, as Miranda Bailey, Mormon in attendance, came out of the house.

"Time fo' me to be trawlin' back," said the spinster. "Moon's risin'. Good night, Mr. Westlake. See you ag'in before you go, I hope."

She climbed into the machine, which Mormon cranked. It moved off, Mormon watching it. Then Sam came out and joined them.

"Gels gone to bed," he announced. "What's Keith doin' up to Casey Town, Westlake?"

"It won't take long to tell you."

The four walked over to the corral and the three partners climbed on the top rail, ranch-fashion. Westlake stood before them.

"Practically all the gold found in Casey Town comes from the main gulch where the creek runs. The gulch was once non-existent. It is likely there was a hill there. Its nub was a porphyry cap; the rest of it was composed of layers of porphyry and valueless rock dipping downward, nested like saucers in the synclinal layers. Ice and water wore off the nub and leveled the hill, then gouged out the gulch. They ground away, in my belief, all the porphyry that held gold except the portions now lying either side of the gulch."

"It was the top layers that held the richest ore. Of those that are left only one carries it and that is the reef that outcrops here and there both sides of the gulch. This isn't theory. All strikes have been made in this top layer. Where they have sunk through to a lower porphyry stratum they have found only indications where they found anything at all. But the strikes were rich because sylvanite is one of the richest of all gold ores. Some of the strikes have been on the Keith Group properties. They have boosted the stock of all of them."

"I have been developing these group projects. The value of group promotion, to the promoter, is, that as long as one claim shows promise, the shares keep selling. The public loves to gamble. Keith came back this trip and proposed to purchase a lot of claims that are nothing but plain rock, surface dirt and sage-brush. He can buy them for almost nothing. But he does not propose to sell them for that. He was going to start another group. He ordered me to make the preliminary surveys."

"He knew one would have as much chance digging in a New York back yard. I told him so. He has his own expert, and, if he didn't tell him so too, he's a crook."

"Keith said he understood his business and suggested I should attend strictly to mine. I was hot. I suggested that wildcat development was not my business. He called me a quixotic young fool, among other things, and I may have called him a robber. I'm not sure. Anyway, I quit."

"I'm comparatively a kid. But I know what is going on generally in Casey Town. There have been no more strikes, for one thing; the discoveries have all been in the one layer and they are gradually working out. Keith would rather develop a good property than a bad one. He carries his investing clients from one proposition to another. He never has to risk his own money and he has been lucky. He has made money—lots of it. Now, then, why does he start wildcatting? I believe he's been stung somewhere. I know he's been fooling with oil stocks. His mail's full of it. And I believe he's been bitten by the other fellow's game instead of sticking to his own."

"It's been done before."

"But that isn't all." Westlake brought down his right fist into the palm of his left hand for emphasis. "Yesterday they closed up the stopes in the Molly. Boarded 'em over. This was done without consulting me. I heard of it after I had walked out of Keith's office, resigned, or fired."

"Now, then—there's no gold left back of the boarding in those stopes—practically none! The Molly is played out, picked like a walnut of its meat! If they do develop down to the second porphyry level they won't find anything to pay for the work. They have taken all the sylvanite out of your mine and Keith is trying to cover up the fact."

Westlake stopped and eyed them. Sandy's eyes closed slightly.

"Keith can't help the mine peterin' out," he said. "Jest why is he hidin' it? So's he can unload?"

"Plain enough. Now the Molly mine stock isn't on the market. It is all owned, as I understand, by Miss Casey and you three holding the controlling interest, Keith the rest. He's been paying dividends from the start. Keith will try to unload. He may try to sell it to you."

"Not likely. He doesn't expect us to have the money. We haven't. I take it he can't dump 'em in a hurry. That's why he's boardin' the stopes. If he don't trail over here in a day or so I'll shack over to Casey Town fo' a li' chat. Much obliged to you, Westlake."

Westlake nodded. He understood that quiet drawl of Sandy's. If the li' chat came off, Keith would not enjoy himself, he fancied.

"The question is what move to make an' when to make it. If Molly is one thing she is game. We've got a good deal out of the mine an' it's all come so far from the sale of gold to the mint, I take it. We don't dabble in stocks. We're ahead. If the mine's gone bust she's done nicely by us, at that."

Back of Sandy's talk thoughts formed in his brain that held a good deal of comfort. Molly was no longer an heiress, if Westlake's news was true. Molly would not have to go back east. Her relations with the Keiths would be broken.

"I figger you're right about Keith trawlin' over here to see if you've showed," Sandy went on. "That's the way I'd play him. As you say, he's got to get rid of his shares quietly an' he can't do it in a rush. I don't want to tell Molly she's bust'd until we're plumb certain. An' Keith's got money of hers. If he don't show inside of a couple of days I'll take a passar over to Casey Town an' have a li' chat with him."

"Young Keith sabs his father's play?" asked Sandy.

"No," Westlake spoke decidedly. "He's not interested in mining. He's on the trip because his father holds the purse strings. He's a good deal of a cub, at present. I mean he don't show much inclination to use his brains. He's a likable kid in many ways, but he's just a kid."

"'Twouldn't be fair to hold anything ag'in him, 'count of his breedin'," said Sandy, "but colts that ain't bred right bear watchin'. Now tell us some about that South American berth of yours, Westlake."

Westlake rather marveled at the ease with which Sandy and his chums dismissed a matter that meant a material loss of money to them, but he had seen the light in Sandy's eye and he knew his capacity for action when the moment arrived. The four sat up late, talking of mining in various ways and places.

"This Westlake hombre'll go a long ways," summed up Sam to Sandy after Westlake had turned in and Mormon had yawned himself out to bed. "He sure knows a heap, he don't brag, he's on the square, an' he ain't afraid of work."

That Westlake won approval from Molly, and also from Kate Nicholson, was patent before breakfast was over the next morning. A buyer came out from Hereford demanding Sandy's attention and he stayed at the ranch while the three and Sam went off saddleback. Westlake had expressed a desire to see the ranch and Molly had volunteered to display her own renewed knowledge of it. The buyer looked at the Three Star stock with expert eyes and made bids that were highly satisfactory.

"Better beef, better prices, that's the modern slogan," he said at the noon meal with Sandy and Mormon. "I see you believe in it. I heard some talk in Hereford this morning of trouble at one ranch not far from here. A horse ranch run by a man named Pillsoll. Waterline ranch, I think they call it. I have a commission from a man in Chicago to look up some horses for him and I had heard of Pillsoll before, not over-favorably. I understand he is not fussy over brands."

"He's got a big herd," said Sandy noncommittally. "Claims to round up slick-ears—wild hawsses. What was the trouble?"

"General row among the crowd, far as I could make out. Pillsoll shot at one of his men named Wyatt, I believe, and started to run him off the ranch. There were sides taken and shots fired."

"News to me," said Sandy. He was not especially interested in Waterline happenings so long as Pillsoll remained set. The buyer left and the rest of the day went slowly.

When the quartet returned, Molly and Westlake were obviously more than mere acquaintances. Sandy felt out of the running, though Molly held him in the conversation.

Miranda Bailey, driving over, created a welcome diversion.

"I've brought a telegram out for you, Mr. Westlake," she said.

The engineer read it and passed it to Molly. Sandy saw her face glow.

"That's fine!" she exclaimed. "But it means you've got to go. I'm sorry for that."

The relief that Sandy felt, and dismissed as selfish, was marred by the cordial understanding that had sprung up between the two. He wondered if they had discovered a real attach-

Chief Operator Helps to Keep Your Telephone Service Good

"Please give me Chief Operator"

How often have you spoken that phrase to "Central"?

Chief Operator is your immediate point of contact with the Telephone Company on service problems.

Your request to Chief Operator is cared for by a young woman especially trained to interpret your telephone needs and handle your inquiry. She helps solve your service problems.

It would be worth your while to visit your telephone exchange some day, between the hours of eight and five, and meet the Central office folks. Come alone or with a group of friends. Clubs and associations always are welcome.

You will find everyone alert to give you good service. You will have an interesting visit and it will be mutually advantageous for us to become acquainted. You will learn how, through co-operation, telephone service is kept at high standard.

Longest Word.
More than two months ago the "longest" word was stated in this column to be "antidisestablishmentarianism." Last week a reader in the West dug up a mate to it. His word is "antitransubstantiationism." — Grit.

Console yourself, dear man and brother; whatever you may be sure of, be sure at least of this, that you are dreadfully like other people. Human nature has a much greater genius for sameness than for originality.—Lowell.

Church Seats.
Up until the early part of the fourteenth century worshippers in churches were accustomed to stand or sit on the floor. Then they were provided with short three-legged stools, and from 1450 onward mention is found in church records of pews or "pues."

STUDEBAKER SPECIAL-SIX TOURING CAR $1275

Studebaker

One and One-half Billion Miles of Satisfaction

Studebaker Special-Six owners have driven their cars a total of more than one and one-half billion miles!

This enormous mileage has been piled up in everyday service over every conceivable kind of road and under every condition of weather throughout the world.

And no Special-Six has ever worn out. So far as we know there isn't a single dissatisfied owner. These one and one-half billion miles of satisfactory service prove positively the outstanding merit of the Special-Six.

It is the strongest recommendation possible for dependable performance, economical maintenance and long life. It is striking evidence of the high quality that is responsible for Studebaker Special-Six leadership in fine car sales.

To call a car "special" doesn't make it special unless there is special merit to back up the name. The Studebaker Special-Six is special not only in name but in performance. One and one-half billion miles to its credit are proof positive that it lives up to its name.

The name Studebaker is assurance of satisfaction.

be passed in reading. We hope that our parents will help us in selecting these books and get all that we can from reading as that is a subject that will help us meet every need of life successfully.

The fourth grade are preparing a review of the Western States. In order that they might remember more distinctly the development of the Western movement from the time that gold was discovered until now, they are going to act it out. We hope that the parents will come to assembly when the date is announced. We also ask, that if anyone has any "Wild West" material from which we can get information will you kindly lend it to us?

Kindly help us to get all that we can from our year's work in geography.

Sophomore Play

On Wednesday, May 16th, six of the Sophomores presented a very clever little play in assembly. The parts were taken as follows:

Mrs. Sherwood—Leatha V. Cox
Mr. Sherwood—Alfred Smith
Their daughter Maude—Rose McCary
Mrs. Trask—Frances Rogers
Mr. Markham—Thurlof Payne
Mary, the Maid—Marie McDonald
Frances Rogers gave an original monologue and Bessie Kaufman played some lively selections on the piano while the crowd assembled. Then the play was given entitled "Putting Up a Prosperous Front."

High School Sells

"Ladies Home Journal."

Friday morning and afternoon the High School was visited by Mr. Mattson who wished to interest the school in introducing the 'Ladies Home Journal' into the homes of East Jordan and also giving to the Athletic Association fifty cents on each magazine sold.

Two teams were organized one which was named "Spark Plug," and the other "Sassie Susie."
They will compete with one another in trying to sell the most magazines, the person selling the most, receiving a gold pencil and every person selling four magazines receiving a silver pencil.

A week will be given in which to sell these magazines, and so there is a chance for the pupils to earn a gold pencil or a silver one, and a chance for the public to help the Athletic Ass'n. The price of the magazine is $1.50 per year.

Ward Primrose and Marguerite Ingles were married last week.

Doris Shepard left Monday for Big Rapids where she expects to attend Ferris Institute.

Sidney Eby and family of Stover visited Mrs. Eby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Anderson, the last of the week.

Mrs. Nellie Lingle expects to leave this week for her cottage at Torch Lake Joe Anderson who has for some time been in Detroit taking treatment has returned to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Spink of Mesick have been visiting the latter's mother and other relatives here. Mrs. Spink's mother, Mrs. Sloat, will accompany them home to spend the summer.

Clyde Bailey was quite badly hurt while cutting wood for Mr. Blanchard when the axe he was using struck his foot. Several stitches were required to close the gash.

Homer Tobias while on his way to town with his father's car, tried to show off to the two smallest Peterson boys who were riding with him. He let go of the steering wheel and lost control of the car which left the road, turned over and headed in the other direction. The two little boys were quite badly hurt, one sustaining a broken collar bone and the other having a cut on his head which required several stitches to close. Homer escaped without injury.

PENINSULAR

(Edited by Mrs. E. Hayden)

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wurn received word last week of the painful injury of their son, George, in Detroit on May 10, later they received word he was getting along alright. He was working on a car that was jacked up when the jack gave way and the crank flew up and struck him very forcefully.

Peninsularites will be interested to learn Miss Margaret Smeltzer of Petoskey, who taught the Three Bells school for a few weeks in the spring of 22 and who has been attending the State Normal at Ypsilanti during the school year has a contract to teach in Chattanooga, Tenn., for 1923-24.

Ray Loomis, Geo. Jarman and Mrs. Mercy Woerful, were among those who received day old chicks from the Brunner Poultry Farm, Holland, Mich., last week.

John Davidson of Cadillac was on the Peninsula Saturday letting contracts to grow pickles for Libby, McNeil & Libby at a very material raise in price.

F. D. Russell of Ridgeway Farms is putting in a tile ditch from the N. W. corner of his farm on the south side of the road running south east.

F. D. Russell made several trips to Petoskey last week for drain tile for his ditch.

Murry Follett of the Jones Dist. rode his wheel out to the Geo. Staley farm Sunday.

Mrs. Mercy Woerful received a long distance call from Mackinaw Monday morning, stating her sister, Miss Dorothy Jarman, who has been employed there since the first of Feb'y, was very ill, she left immediately for Mackinaw to care for her.

Little Miss Phyllis and Master George Woerful are visiting at the home of their great aunt, Mrs. J. W. Hayden at Orchard Hill, while their mother, Mrs. Mercy Woerful is at Mackinaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones of the Jones Dist. visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Staley of the Star Dist. Sunday. When they got there they had the misfortune to break their car and Mr. Staley was obliged to take them home.

Junior Follett worked all day Monday on the Jones car, which broke down at the Geo. Staley farm Sunday, but did not get it all repaired.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnett and Mr. I. Nurco and his brother-in-law of Boyne City made a dinner party at the F. D. Russell home Sunday.

Mr. Larson of Detroit who has purchased what is known as the Fowler Steele farm in the Three Bells District is visiting the Will Looze and F. H. Wangeman homes several days last week. Mr. Larson lived on the place several years ago and expects to occupy it again in about a year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beers are making flower gardens at their new home on the F. H. Wangeman farm. The foundation for their cottage is completed and the walls will soon be completed.

Miss Clara Sailer, a Misson teacher in India, arrived at the home of her mother, Mrs. Gaylon Sailer and brother, J. P. Sailer Friday morning. She left India April 1 on a year's furlough. She expects to spend the summer on the Peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt and family of Three Bells Dist. were dinner guests at the Ira McKee home in Star Dist. Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt and family motored to Essex May 13th and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gaunt. The Mr. Gaunts are brothers and the Mrs. Gaunts are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Orval Bennett motored to East Jordan Sunday and visited Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Staley.

A bunch of resorters were at Chula Vista Saturday night and Sunday. They report some fine catches of fish.

The Deed for the Whiting Park to Charlevoix County has come and we now own one of the finest parks in Michigan.

F. H. Wangeman, Eveline Twp. Supervisor was taking the assessment Monday, May 21.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayden of Orchard Hill received a letter from their son, Cash, written on the Red Sea, dated April 22, it arrived May 19. He was in the best of health.

Joel Bennett went to Gaylord Monday May 21 to see about his new teeth. He expects to go again next Monday.

Oats are nearly all sowed and most of the oat ground is being sowed to alfalfa. A fine rain visited this section Saturday night.

PREMIERSHIP OF BONAR LAW ENDS

CABINET CHIEF SENDS RESIGNATION TO KING—LORD CURZON LIKELY TO SUCCEED HIM.

VERDICT SURPRISES COUNTRY

Crisis Comes When Parliament is Dispersed—King Expresses Regret.

London—Andrew Bonar Law, the prime minister, sent his resignation to the king Sunday night, because of ill health. He was unable to present it personally. Thus ends his brief but eventful administration, and he ends with important and perplexing problems, particularly Great Britain's relations with France and Russia, unsettled.

The crisis comes upon the government in the midst of a holiday when parliament is dispersed and few members of the government are in London.

Two days ago, when the result of Bonar Law's consultation with his physicians in Paris became known, this end was forecast, but the country was not prepared for it and will await developments with anxiety and regrets over the untimely leaving of a trusted pilot.

Mr. Bonar Law's resignation was taken to the king at Aldershot by Colonel Waterhouse, the prime minister's private secretary, and Sir Frederick Sykes, his son-in-law, who motored from London. They had a long audience with the king, who appeared much moved by the news of the aggravated condition of Bonar Law's health.

It is understood that he will not resign his seat in parliament and will thus remain a member of the house of commons. But it is definitely decided that his political career is closed.

Lord Curzon has been mentioned as Bonar Law's successor.

CHINA GIVEN STERN WARNING

U. S. Minister Demands Release of Captives Held By Bandits.

Tsao Chwang, Province of Shan-Tung, China—Get the foreign captives out of the grip of the Pekin Express bandits, and talk terms afterward, otherwise there will be "drastic action" was the ultimatum laid down to Chinese government officials here Thursday by Dr. Jacob G. Schurman, American minister to China.

Shanghai—American and British captives of the Shan-Tung bandits will be shot if the Chinese troops are not withdrawn, according to the "final ultimatum" of the bandits, brought from the mountain stronghold by Marcel Oliver Berube, a Frenchman, one of the prisoners, released for the purpose.

Bandits last Thursday attacked Tawenkow, 90 miles north of Lincheng, and seized a number of captives, according to a report received here.

Washington—A Pekin dispatch to the State Department said that Consul J. K. Davis and Maj. Philoon, assistant military attaché, at Lincheng, had reported that the bandits had stated they were ready to negotiate with Chinese authorities for the release of Americans and other foreigners recently captured.

The message said that a representative of the Chinese government was due Thursday to begin the negotiations.

The dispatch said the Chinese minister of communications admitted that he did not know exactly the terms the bandits proposed, but that he "blames the magnitude of them on 'foreign interference.'"

CLARA PHILLIPS IS CAPTURED

Arrested in Honduras—U. S. Sheriff Gains Confession.

Teguicgalpa, Honduras—Declaring she would rather die than be taken back to life imprisonment in San Quentin, Cal., Clara Phillips, convicted "hammer slayer," was closely guarded Saturday, following a dramatic confession of her identity.

With arrival here of Under Sheriff Biscailuz from Los Angeles, the woman held here on suspicion of being the slayer of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, and who escaped from a California jail after her conviction of that crime, broke down, and admitted she was none other than the woman sought for months throughout the United States and Central America.

From the first she had declared she was not Mrs. Phillips.

Insomnia Victim Wants Bride.

Washington—Somewhere there is a mate for John A. Price, 29 years old of this city, and he sent out last week to seek her. But his bride must meet his qualifications, which are without precedent. Price hasn't slept a wink for ten months, he declared since he had a nervous breakdown. He rests at night, but never sleeps, and shows no ill effects. And he wants a "sleepless" bride who can stay awake with him 24 hours each day without impairing her health.

ATTORNEY D. L. WILSON MOVES LAW OFFICES TO LANSING, MICH.

Att'y D. L. Wilson has closed his law office in East Jordan and shipped his office outfit to Lansing, Mich., where he expects to open offices at 506 Tussock Bldg. about June 1st.

"Judge" Wilson, as he is known to his friends, has practiced law at East Jordan for the past ten years. During these years he has been active in the up-building of his home town, and his going is a matter of sincere regret.

He served East Jordan as Mayor for a term of three years and for many years was Secretary of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society. In both capacities he sacrificed his personal business interests for the up-building of the community and the county.

East Jordan and Charlevoix County loses, while Lansing and Ingham County gains—an able attorney and a public-spirited citizen.

MRS. JOSIE CIHAK OF JORDAN TOWNSHIP PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Frank Cihak passed away at her home in the Bohemian Settlement Friday, May 18th, following a three-days illness from heart and kidney trouble.

Josie Kotalik was born in Bohemia, May 20th, 1853, her parents being Joseph and Anna Kotalik. In 1876 she was united in marriage to Frank Cihak at her home in Bohemia. They came to the United States in 1893 and located that year in what is now known as the Bohemian settlement near this city. They have made that place their home for the past thirty years.

Deceased is survived by the husband and the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Mary Kubeck of Alba; Frank and Joseph of Jordan township; James and Louis of East Jordan; Josie, Mrs. Nettie Hulbert and Bohumil at the old home.

Funeral services were held from St. John's Catholic church, Sunday p. m., May 20th, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Drinan. Interment at the Catholic cemetery in Jordan township.

Michigan Happenings

An insane passion for firearms resulted in the death last week of Ewald Peters, 19-year-old Leland youth, victim of a mysterious shooting at the farm home of his uncle near Maple City, was the coroner's verdict. No weapon was found near the boy and there is no reason to suspect murder, but a bullet hole was discovered in the window. The finding of a piece of a file embedded in the youth's brain offered the theory that he had been firing a cartridge which had exploded with fatal results.

Governor Groesbeck last week vetoed the Thomas bill to permit boards of supervisors to suspend local highway improvements under the Covert act. In his veto message he asserted that if the bill became law, boards of supervisors might prevent the raising of money to meet outstanding bonds, and that the measure proposes giving local officials power outside the districts in which they were chosen. He also held the measure unconstitutional.

Under the supervision of the state conservation department, J. A. Sumner and S. A. Brown, of Saginaw, are in Newaygo for the purpose of stocking the lakes with wall-eyed pike, caught below the dam in the Muskegon river. Permission has been granted to use nets to catch the wall-eyed pike and the state will pay 20 cents for each pike more than 18 inches long. All under 16 inches go back in the river.

Farm-labor shortage may decrease crop production materially in northern Michigan this year, it is feared. Applications for help from farmers throughout the region are piling up at labor agencies. W. W. Smith, in charge of the state employment office, stated last week. The Negro labor, reported pushing steadily northward, has not appeared in northern Michigan and apparently would not be welcome.

Prof. Allan A. Hoben, president of Kalamazoo College, in a talk to the students last week, urged that the pictures of Washington and Lincoln be placed in every home. Prof. Hoben also declared that the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln should be celebrated as are family birthdays, making these great men, in effect, honorary members of every family.

For the first time in Flint's history, the C. A. R. will not have charge of the Memorial day program, this year. They have stepped down for the more active Oakley Traynor post, American Legion. While the veterans of the World war will prepare the plans and look after all the details of the occasion, the "boys of '61" will occupy the place of honor on the program.

Governor Alex J. Groesbeck, vetoed the Wayne county superior court bill, planned to effect the reorganization of the city justice courts. The governor rejected the bill on the ground that when it passed the senate it had only 20 affirmative votes, whereas bills affecting the changing of courts must have a two-thirds approval, 22 votes.

Through the co-operation of a lumber company at Cadillac, a forest fire fighting crew of 20 men has been organized at a logging camp in Antioch township. A watchman now is on duty at the state fire tower in Selma township. Edward Thalman has been appointed for the fourth season as fire patrolman for Wexford county.

Boys' week was observed at Owosso last week, under the auspices of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the program took in the church, school, factories and other institutions. A father and son banquet was held, when Thomas P. Johnson, superintendent of public instruction, acted as toastmaster.

Harper Cook, 70 years old, one of the earliest pioneers of the county, died last week, at his home in Bennington township near Owosso. He had lived on one farm 70 years.

The board of education of Monroe last week re-elected Dean Spencer superintendent of the Monroe public schools for the sixth successive year.

Chiropractors of Michigan will meet at Muskegon in their annual state convention, June 15 to 17, it was announced by Dr. William A. Firth.

Bishop John N. McCormick, of Grand Rapids, head of the Episcopal Diocese of Western Michigan, has been appointed bishop in charge of all American Episcopal churches in Europe.

Andrew J. Scott, 84 years old, pioneer of the lumber industry in the Saginaw valley, and at one time one of the largest logging operators here, dropped dead in the lobby of the Yeague hotel at Saginaw, while talking to a friend.

UNSHAKEN TESTIMONY

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in East Jordan. No East Jordan resident who suffers backache, or annoying urinary ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony.

Mrs. Wm. Harrington, East Jordan, says: "I was troubled considerably with dull, nagging backaches and distressing pain through my kidneys. My kidneys were very irregular in action. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved the backache and corrected the action of my kidneys." (Statement given Aug. 3, 1903.)

On April 23, 1920, Mrs. Harrington added: "I haven't had occasion to use a kidney medicine since Doan's cured me years ago. The cure proved to be complete."

SOVIET ENVOY ASSASSINATED

PRESS BUREAU'S HEAD AND DELEGATE'S SECRETARY WOUNDED.

SWISS FASCISTI IS BLAMED

Government Fears for Own Citizens in Russia—Victim Warned to Leave Lausanne.

Lausanne—M. Vorovsky, head of the Russian Soviet delegation and un-bidden guest, at the Lausanne peace conference, was assassinated Thursday night. He was shot several times and killed outright. M. Ahrens, head of the Soviet press bureau in Lausanne, and M. Didwilkowski, another Russian, were wounded, the former seriously.

Vorovsky was the first victim, and the assassin then turned the weapon on Ahrens, who was struck by three bullets, then shot Didwilkowski.

The assassin was seized as he attempted to escape from the hotel. His name is Maurice Alexander Conrad, and, according to the police, who subjected him to a severe grilling, belongs to the canton of Grisons.

The tragedy has shaken staid Lausanne to its foundations. Swiss opinion is inclined to condemn the assertion that the crime is attributable to a Fascist plot. The Swiss Fascisti are not taken very seriously.

There is considerable apprehension in Swiss government circles regarding the consequences the crime may have for the 800 Swiss citizens residing in Russia.

The Russian delegation issued a statement accusing the Swiss authorities of being tacit accomplices in the cowardly crime.

The powers which organized the Lausanne conference also are morally responsible, because they created confusion in the public mind by their attitude against the Russian delegation and provided the atmosphere from which the crime sprang.

The recently organized Fascisti took up the matter and warned Vorovsky and his colleagues to leave Lausanne by Friday. Vorovsky ignored the warning.

The leaders of the Fascisti, however, disclaimed responsibility for the crime. They asserted that the only plan they had in view was to kidnap Vorovsky Friday and escort him over the Italian frontier.

The assassin Conrad told the police that he was born in Petrograd of Swiss parentage. He said he served as a captain in the Russian army during the World war.

ENDS 50 YEARS AS M. E. PASTOR

Former Detroit Bishop Honored by Church and Laity.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Rounding out the fiftieth year of his service in a ministry that began in the Detroit conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, Bishop Joseph F. Berry, now the senior bishop of his denomination, celebrated his half century of service here Thursday evening.

Congratulatory telegrams poured in to him all day from every part of the United States, Bishop Berry's practice of presiding at many conferences having brought him into friendly contact with a host of Methodist clergy and laity.

Leaders in Methodism joined Thursday evening in paying tribute to their oldest bishop at a dinner given in his honor.

After entering the ministry in the Detroit conference, Bishop Berry served various congregations in different parts of Michigan for 12 years, and then began his long career with the Michigan Christian Advocate, which continued until 1904 when he was elected bishop.

BURIAL DENIED SLAIN PRELATE

Body of Soviet's Victim Cannot Be Found by Friends.

Petrograd—The clerical associates of Monsignor Butchavitch, who was executed in Moscow early in April, are as much in the dark as to what became of his body as anyone else, except the men in the execution department of the Cheka, who know what is done with the remains of those whom they shoot.

If the body could be delivered to the associates and parishioners of Father Butchavitch it would be buried with all the honors due to a saint.

Members of the Monsignor's parish seldom even mention his name, but they have a silent way of paying tribute to his memory by kneeling before his door in the parish house of St. Catherine's.

Silver Dollar Halted Bullet.

El Centro, Cal.—It may be true that a dollar does not buy much nowadays, but Gene Hudson, Negro pool-hall proprietor of El Centro, bought his life with one today. A bullet from a large caliber revolver, said to have been fired at him by an angry gambler, struck a silver dollar which Hudson carried in a vest pocket. The bullet and the dollar, both badly bent and twisted, were found in the Negro's pocket. Another bullet went through Hudson's right hand.

MR. COON'S SURPRISE

MR. COON poked his head out of the hollow tree where he and his wife had spent the winter. The sun was nice and warm and Mr. Coon thought it would do no harm to take a little run when it grew dark, for he was sure spring had come to stay.

So when Mrs. Coon was fast asleep out crept Mr. Coon. Down the tree he ran and off to the farm.

But he found nothing there. The poultry house was fast locked, there was no corn in the fields and no cherries or grapes. He was out too early, much too early, and Mr. Coon sighed, for he was hungry.

He had spent so much time in hunting about that he found it was almost day and he was far from his hollow tree home, so he ran up a tree close by and there he found an old nest left by Mrs. Hawk.

"Ah! here I will take a good nap," said Mr. Coon, "and be off early to-night for a farm I know about, where chicken he was to take to his wife; he thought only of feeling warm once more, and down he jumped and off he ran to his home. But when Mr. Coon was drawing near to the hollow tree he heard strange sounds. He stopped and listened. "What in the world is that?" he thought. "It comes right from my own doopway, too."

Up went Mr. Coon very cautiously and peeped in, and there in the hollow tree he saw six tiny coon babies, their eyes not open and all of them crying.

"Now, where is Mrs. Coon?" said Mr. Coon, right out loud. "How careless of her to go away and leave the house alone! Some one has been here and left these crying children in our nest."

"What homely-looking creatures they are, too! I won't have them here another minute. What right had any one to come to the hollow tree and leave all this trouble?"

Mr. Coon was just going in when he felt a sharp rap right on his ear, and the angry voice of his wife said, "Don't you dare touch those darling pretty babies, you heartless parent!"

Mr. Coon looked into the flashing eyes of his wife. "Heartless parent?" he questioned. "Do you mean to say those crying, blind creatures are our children?"

"Yes, I do; but you do not deserve to have such pretty babies," snapped Mrs. Coon. "And as for their crying, why shouldn't they, when their heartless father stays away all day and part of the night and their mother has to go looking for him? Now you go in the house and don't you dare stir until I tell you. I am almost frozen, and how can you expect me to keep six children warm all alone?"

"I thought it was springtime," stammered Mr. Coon.

"Well, it isn't," said his wife. Mr. Coon meekly crawled into his nest and curled up with his family, glad to be back where it was warm, and he made up his mind to stay there until the springtime came to stay, for he felt sure that six children to care for would not have been thrust upon him if he had been there instead of Mrs. Coon.

The Friendly Path

By Walter I. Robinson

FENCE-CORNERS

CLEAR out the fence corners. Any good farmer knows that he is endangering his crops when he permits weeds and briars to grow in adjoining pastures or in the areas near to fences surrounding the fields.

Everyone has some idea of the disreputable appearance of farms where fences are tumbling down and all sort of rubbish and undergrowth conveys the impression of a run-down place. Yet it is not uncommon to find disgruntled agriculturists who complain of weeds in their fields and low prices offered for their land.

An authority recently said that wayside weeds should be destroyed for these reasons:

"They act as centers of weed infection for adjoining fields.

"They sometimes are carried for miles by vehicles and passing animals.

"They harbor harmful insects and plant diseases.

"They create unsanitary conditions.

"They are unsightly."

Admitted that this is true of the fence corners which have been neglected, is it not also as true in the case of other corners which have been permitted to lie uncleaned and unsightly? How about the corners in men's minds and men's hearts which are filled with unimportant, unwholesome and disappointing thoughts and desires?

Is it not just as important to keep homes and lives free from contamination as it is to keep fields free from weeds and disease?

MEN YOU MAY MARRY

By E. R. PEYSER

Has a man like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: Small face and freckled, little bridgeless flat baby nose; great builder of air castles with no airplane approaches—impracticable chap whose ma and sisters have filled him to his eyes with what a marvelous bridge player, billiard player, chauffeur, etc., he is. His delight is spying ahead to see how rich he'll be out of some unknown by-product of some manufactory.

IN FACT

He himself seems to be a by-product.

Prescription for bride-to-be:

THE RIGHT THING at the RIGHT TIME

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

DON'T BE TOO NICE

You are too finical for me; speak plain, sir.—Ben Jonson.

There are always some persons with whom we have to come in contact, who, in their effort toward displaying good manners, are really too nice. The unfortunate result is that instead of appearing extraordinarily well bred they appear ridiculous. We accuse the man who has acquired such tricks as being a "Miss Nancy."

What are some of these undesirable mannerisms?

One of them is a too finical way of handling things. The woman who keeps her little finger at right angles or curved back when using a fork or spoon may think she is displaying a charming delicacy, but to most persons she is offensively prim when she does this. There are some men who handle cards when they play cards as if they were afraid they might soil their fingers if they touched them too freely, so they shuffle them and deal them and hold them—well, you have seen this mannerism and know how ridiculous it is.

Then there are some finical habits that come really from a fear of contact and not from any false nicety. Thus some persons always wipe off fork and spoon on their napkin or the edge of the tablecloth before beginning to eat, and I have even seen these cranks polish off the top of their drinking glass before they would touch it with their lips. The fact is that if you dine at a restaurant or house where there may be contagion or germs or something of that sort lurking in the forks and spoons they may quite as likely be lurking in the napkins and flying—if those creatures do fly—about in the air. So really no good is achieved by this precaution. And of course it is in very bad manners and is decidedly a slur on the housekeeping.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowley's Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Drink Water to Help Wash Out Kidney Poison

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then set fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

ment for each other.

"I'll have to go first thing tomorrow," said Westlake. "I'm sorry, too. They've come up to my counter-offer, Bourke, and they want me to come on immediately. It means a lot to me. Everything," he added, with a smile that Molly returned.

"You'll write?" she said. "You promised."

Miranda broke in. "I'm sure glad it's good news," she said. "I've got some of my own. There's been some trouble out to Jim Pillsoll's. He shot at Wyatt or Wyatt at him, I don't know which rightly. But there was sides taken an' a gen'ral rumpus. Several of his men quit or was run off the place. Pillsoll's almin' to sell out, Ed heard. It'll be a good ridance."

"I'll have a telegram fo' you to take back, Mirandy," said Sandy. "You sendin' one, Westlake?"

"If you'll take it, Miss Bailey." "Glad to."

Westlake and Molly were both standing. They moved toward the door and out to the moonlit veranda together.

"They seem to hit it off well, that pair," said Miranda.

Kate Nicholson murmured something about the kitchen and left the room to attend to some refreshments.

"Now tell me about Keith," demanded Miranda. "What's he been up to?"

Sandy told her.

"I ain't a mite surprised. That Westlake acts white. I liked him from the start. What are you goin' to do about Molly? You ain't told her yet?"

"No use spoilin' her holiday befo' we have to," said Sandy. "I'm goin' to talk with Keith first."

Kate Nicholson returned and the talk changed. Westlake and Molly remained outside until the food was served. Then there was music. Miranda departed at last with the telegrams. Molly lingered as good-nights were said.

"I've got something to tell you, Sandy," she said. "It's private, for the present," she added with a glance toward Westlake.

Sandy sat down by the fire with a sinking quail. Molly perched herself on the arm of his chair, silent for a moment or two.

"It's a love story, Sandy," she said presently.

"Westlake?"

"Yes. He wanted me to tell you before he went. He's very fond of you, Sandy."

"Is he?" Sandy spoke slowly, rousing himself with an effort. "I think he's a fine chap. I sure wish him all the luck in the world." He fancied his voice sounded flat.

"I suppose you wondered why we were so chummy all the evening?"

"Yes. I wondered a l'il about that."

Sandy did not look at her, but gazed into the dying fire. He saw himself sitting there, lonely, woman-shy once more, through the long stretch of years, with a letter coming once in a while from far-off places telling of a happiness that he had hoped for and yet had known could not be for him; Sandy Bourke, cow-puncher, two-gun man, rancher, growing old.

"I was the first girl he had seen for a long while, you see," Molly was saying. "And he had to talk it over with someone. He told me about it first."

this morning and then the telegram came.

"Talkin' about what?"

"His sweetheart. Now he can marry her with this opportunity. She may sail with him. Isn't it fine? He showed me her picture."

"It's the best news I've heard fo' a long time," answered Sandy soberly.

"I'm sleepy," said Molly. "Good-night, Sandy, dear."

She put her lips to his tanned cheek and left him in a maze. The dying fire leaped up and the room lightened. It died down again, but Sandy sat there, smoking cigarette after cigarette.

Dehorned.

Miranda Bailey had offered to come in for Westlake with her car, but the train went early and he had refused. Molly drove him in the buckboard, his grips stowed behind, and Sandy saw them go with the old light back in his eyes. He gave Westlake a grip of the hand that made him wince.

"You can rely upon my information being correct," were Westlake's last words, spoken aside before he climbed into the buckboard and Molly stirred the reins over the backs of the team shooting off at top speed.

She came back a little before noon, her eyes wide with excitement.

"Mr. Keith's in town," she said.

"With Donald and his secretary, Mr. Blake. He asked me if Mr. Westlake had been here and he seemed annoyed when I told him I had just seen him off on the train. They all came from Casey Town in the big car. Mr. Keith has some business in Hereford. He and Mr. Blake will stay on their private car. He told me to tell you he would be out tomorrow to see you. Oh, here's a telegram for you."

"Thanks." Sandy tucked the envelope in his pocket. "Hop out, Molly, an' I'll put up the team."

"I'll help you. I haven't forgotten how to unhitch." Her nimble fingers worked as fast as Sandy's with buckles, colling traces and looping reins.

"Goin' to take Donald Keith out fo' a real ride on a real hawss?" he asked her.

"Yes. Tomorrow. He's keen to go. You'll come. And Sam and Kate?"

"I've got a hunch I'm goin' to be busy ter-morrer. Keith's comin', fo' one thing."

"I forgot. I wish you could come."

Molly went into the house and he opened the telegram. It was from Brandon, as he expected.

"Thanks. Coming immediately. Was starting anyway. That trap worked. May need horses for eight. Will you arrange?"

"BRANDON?"

"It sure looks like a busy day ter-morrer," Sandy said half aloud.

"Keith and Brandon—which means roundin' up Jim Pillsoll. Sam don't get to any picnic, either. He'll have to tend to the hawsses."

The Keith touring car arrived in mid-afternoon with young Keith at the wheel, the chauffeur beside him, grips in the tonneau. Young Keith inspected the corrals and the stocks with eager interest and the riders with a certain measure of awe, which he transferred to Sandy on learning that he had broken two colts that morning.

"Know what time yore father expects to be out?" Sandy asked him.

"He didn't say. He's got some business to attend to. Some time in the forenoon, I imagine."

Keith Senior arrived after lunch had been cleared the next day. He was brisk and brusque, breathing prosperity.

"I was detained in Hereford, Bourke," he said. "I haven't much time for anything but a flying visit. Donald's out with Molly, you say. I'll leave him with you on your invitation and pick him up when we go back East. That will be in about a week. Sooner than I expected. I'd like to spare a day to look over the ranch. I've heard fine things about it."

"Thanks," drawled Sandy laconically. "Glad to have a talk with you. Sam, Mr. Blake might like to see the hawsses gentled that came up this mornin'."

Keith raised his eyebrows but said nothing. Leaving Blake, Sandy led Keith to his office, rolled a cigarette, offered a chair to his visitor and smoked, waiting for the latter to open the talk.

"There are some papers for you to examine, as Molly's guardian," said Keith. "But Blake has them."

"We'll take them up later. Anythin' else?"

"Nothing of great importance. I hear Westlake has been over here, Bourke. We had a misunderstanding. Sorry to lose him, since you recommended him. His opinion clashed with that of my engineer-in-charge, an expert of high standing. Westlake was hot-headed and would not brook being overruled. There is no doubt but that he was mistaken. He is a valuable man, under a superior, but he is intolerant."

"He didn't strike me that way," said Sandy. "Me, I set a good deal on his opinion."

"I didn't imagine you knew much about mining, Bourke." Keith looked at his watch. "I'll really have to be going as soon as you have looked over those papers. Hadn't we better call Blake?"

Sandy looked out of the window. He saw Miranda Bailey's silver halting by the big car, Mormon walking toward her, and wondered what had brought her over. Then he saw Mormon leave Miranda and come toward the office, bowling along at top speed.

"Excuse me a minute, Keith," he said. "My partner wants to see me."

Keith's face wore a scowl as Sandy stepped outside. His conscience was not entirely clear and he did not like the general atmosphere of the office. He took out a cigar, bit off the end savagely and lit it.

"Mirandy wants to see you," panted Mormon. "She's found out somethin' about Keith that sure shows his play. He's been discardin'!"

The Keith chauffeur had wandered off to the corrals where Sam was showing Blake around. Miranda handed Sandy a long envelope.

"Hen Collins had an accident last night," she said. "Blew a tire on the bridge by our place an' smashed through the railin'. Busted a rib or two an' was knocked out. We took him in. Hen was grateful to Ed fo' takin' him in an' puttin' him to bed an' sendin' fo' the doctor. Don't open that envelop, that Keith weasel might be lookin'. I reckon you'll want to spring it on him sudden."

"Sure," said Sandy. "Spring what?"

"I'm flustered," admitted Miranda. "I usually talk straight. Now I'll start to the beginnin'." When Keith arrived on this trip he held quite a reputation in his private car. Ed was there with the rest. He invited them up fo' cigars. Talked big about Casey Town an' gen'ally patted himself on the back. Said it was too bad all the stock of the Molly mine at par. Hen was locally, but of co'se the pore promoter had to have somethin' fo' his money. He was real affable.

"This time, when he come back yesterday, he brings up the subject ag'in. I don't know how many he saw or jest what he said, but this is what he told Hen. That Casey Town was boom'n' big an' that his own holdin's was nettin' him a heap. That he liked Hen fine an' had picked him out as a representative citizen. With a lot mo' slush, the upshot of which was that he lets him have a hundred shares of the Molly mine at par. Hen was to say nothin' about it because, says Keith, it got out he was sellin' the shares. Hen was sure tickled. He wadat have said a word about it only Ed picks these shares up out of the bed of the creek an' give them to Hen atfeh he'd been fixed up."

"Ed went nosin' around Hereford this mornin'." He got eight men—their names is inside the envelope—Creel one of 'em—to admit they bought some shares. Mighty glad they was to have 'em. Ed didn't tell 'em anything different, but he come scootin' home at noon an' I borrowed Hen's certificate, seein' he was asleep. An' here it is."

"Mirandy," said Sandy. "I'll let Mormon tell you what we all think of you. You've sure dealt me an ace."

He returned to the office. Keith eyed the envelope.

"Blake comin'?" he asked.

"Not yet. When do we get another dividend from the Molly, Keith?"

Keith laughed. "Needin' some ready money?"

"How about the dividend?"

"Why, that depends upon the output." Keith's voice purred but his eyes had narrowed. "The output has been big. The Molly has been a bonanza, so far. I do not think it wise always to pay dividends according to the immediate production, however. It is better, as a rule, to average it, generally to develop the mine as a whole rather than work the first rich veins."

"That why you boarded up the stopes?"

Keith's face grew dark. The veins twitched at his temples.

"Look here, Bourke," he blustered. "You've been listening to some fool talk from that cub, Westlake. I know my business. You've got some stock in the mine, twenty-five per cent. I've put money and brains into it and I've got forty-nine per cent. Molly . . ."

"If you had forty-nine per cent I wouldn't be worryin' so much."

"What the devil do you mean?"

"I took you fo' a better gambler than to git mad," said Sandy. "I'll jest ask you a question on behalf of mysef an' partners' twenty-five per cent, an' Molly's twenty-six, me bein' her guardian. Plump an' plain, is the Molly pinched out? How about it?"

"It's a d-d falsehood."

"Then why are you sellin' your stock?"

The words came like bullets as Sandy whipped the certificate out of the envelope and slapped it smartly on the desk. Keith whitened, flushed again, recovered himself.

Cut Your Gasoline Expense

You can do it easily by selecting a gasoline which is uniform at all times; which exactly fits the needs of your engine and which can be secured wherever you may be. Miles per gallon is the truly important measure of gasoline efficiency. To cut your gasoline expense you must get maximum mileage. To do this

Buy Red Crown

The High Grade Gasoline

Red Crown will give you more miles per gallon than any other gasoline you can buy, regardless of price, because—

Red Crown Gasoline contains a perfect chain of boiling point fractions, commencing at about 95 degrees Fahrenheit and ending at about 427 degrees Fahrenheit—without a gap.

Red Crown vaporizes to the last drop—there is no waste—every atom is converted into miles—to cut your gasoline expense.

PROPER CARE OF LAMBS IS URGED

Rapid Development and Profitable Gains During Growing Period Are Important.

FACTORS TENDING TO STUNT

Young Animals Should Not Only Be Properly Nourished but Also Kept Free From Various Ailments—Diseases Cause Loss.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The rapid development and profitable gains of lambs depend largely upon their freedom from disease and upon the nourishment they get during the first few months of their lives, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. Both disease and lack of nourishment, if continued for a number of days or weeks, tend to stunt the young animals. An animal once thoroughly stunted requires a long time for recovery. In fact, four months, which is usually a desirable age at which to sell lambs to the best advantage, is not sufficient for the animal to recuperate and develop into a choice market lamb, say the department specialists. Lambs, therefore, should not only be properly nourished, but must also be kept free from the various ailments of young lambs if the greatest amount of money is to be realized from them at market time.

Proper Care Prevents Disease.
Lambs from well-fed ewes which are properly cared for have few troubles or diseases. There are, however, several ailments which sometimes appear among lambs which, if not given attention at the proper time, may cause considerable loss or affect their early development and hence their market value and profit.

Some of the infectious diseases of lambs, such as joint ill and others, may cause quite serious losses. Some of these diseases do not respond rapidly to treatment, but they can be prevented by proper sanitary conditions. Clean, well-bedded and well-ventilated quarters should be provided for the ewes and lambs in order to prevent these diseases. Sore eyes or a sore mouth often develop, particularly if the flock is kept in unsanitary quarters or if they are exposed to rainy weather and the udder and flanks of the ewe become wet and dirty. In case of sore eyes among the lambs the eyes should be cleansed each day until cured with a 3 per cent solution of boric acid or a 15 per cent solution of argyrol. If the lambs are troubled with sore mouth all the scab and diseased tissue should be scraped away and the sore covered with sheep dip or carbolated vaseline.

Remedy for Constipation.
Constipation is one of the most common ailments of young lambs. This may be remedied by giving one or two ounces of castor oil or linseed oil.

White scours is another infectious disease of lambs which may become quite serious and affect large numbers of the lambs where the flock is kept in unsanitary quarters. Lambs and their dams so affected should be taken from the flock and isolated. Such lambs should be given two teaspoonfuls of castor oil, which should be followed for several days by daily doses of one-half teaspoonful of salicylic acid.

BRAIN FAG

DON'T worry about brain fag. It is a rare disease. And the chances are strong that you will never get it. There are a few overworked brains in the world. But for every overworked brain there are at least two million underworked brains.

And the man whose brain is overworked can usually afford to rest it by taking a vacation. The man with an underworked brain isn't likely to have any money to spend on a vacation.

Your brain can stand a great deal more work than you think it can. If you are anything like the average human being you are working it at about half its capacity.

The man who uses his brain continuously, even while engaged on a difficult task, is unusual. Most of us find plenty of excuses for resting—with the result that the momentum is destroyed, and when we attack the job we have to get up steam all over again.

Among men who are really brain workers, and who prosper because they are brain workers, there is very little fear, and very little danger of brain fag.

Worry wears out more brains than work. Worry comes oftenest from inefficiency, from the knowledge that the job we are attempting is beyond our powers.

The way to cure that is to make ourselves efficient, and the only method by which we can make ourselves efficient is by employing our brains to their fullest capacity.

If you use your brain till it is tired, it will slow up and refuse to function easily. That is plenty of warning, but you are not at all likely to reach that stage. Few men do.

What is commonly called overwork is, as a general thing, overworry. Avoid that. Avoid worry in any form, if you can.

But don't bother about overwork. The men who have done things in this world have always overworked. They wouldn't be successful if they hadn't. That is, they have worked far beyond the hours that the average man thinks he ought to work.

Peg away at what you are doing as hard as you can. Play in the meantime, and play hard. Keep your body in good condition and your mind will stand any strain you are likely to put on it without any danger of breaking down.

BASIS FOR FEEDING RATION

Corn Is Hard to Beat and Only Supplement Necessary to Purchase Is Protein.

Corn is hard to beat as a basis for any feeding ration. The only form of feed it will be necessary to buy to supplement corn is protein, and farmers are just finding out that they can produce much more of this at home than they once thought they could.

CONTROL OF ORCHARD PESTS

Thorough Tillage, Pruning and General Care of Great Importance—Keep Weeds Out.

The thorough tillage, pruning and general care of orchards is of great assistance in pest control. An orchard full of weeds, grass and trash of various sorts offers favorable conditions for the harboring and propagation of some enemies. Dead and dying branches attract bark beetles and are a handiicap and menace in other ways. Weedy, neglected trees are unable to outgrow injuries and are also more susceptible to successful attack by their enemies. Keep the trees pruned, tilled and fertilized as well as sprayed.

THE UNDER-DOG

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE under-dog is popular. And ev'rybody's for him; They root for him both near and far. The orators adore him. They hope he wins his gallant fight. He hears a lot of rooting— But ev'ryone gets out of sight. The minute there is shooting. The under-dog has caught the crowd; Folks full of admiration

Will shout his praises long and loud. In earnest adulation. They raise an awful lot of din; Their lungs are good and limber— But when the upper starts to win They beat it for the timber.

The under-dog is in the right. Of that they're always certain; They hate to see him lose the fight And get the final curtain. But, when the dog that is a top Begins to really get him, To see the rest they never stop— They run away and let him.

It seems to me the under-dog, If he could have the choosing, When things are getting thick as fog And plainly he is losing, Would gladder be, without a doubt, If cheers you wouldn't yelp him. When he is nearly down and out— But just jump in and help him! (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

GOOD QUALITY SIRE OF BIG IMPORTANCE

Influence of Male Is Greater Than That of Female.

Figures Collected by Department of Agriculture Show Economy of Beginning Improvement With Use of Purebred Sires.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Although the sire and the dam contribute equally to the heredity of an animal, the influence of the sire in a herd or flock is much greater than any one of the females because in practically all cases a sire is the parent of a much larger number of offspring than the dam.

Figures kept by the United States Department of Agriculture, representing the proportion of males to females on more than 8,900 farms in 46 states, show that the male has from 13 to 30 times more influence than the female, among all classes of animals, in determining the character of the offspring.

These ratios are based on more than a million head of breeding stock listed with the department in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign.

The figures show that on the average farm where purebred sires only are kept, there is one bull to 18 cows; one stallion to nearly 20 mares; one boar to 13 sows; one ram to nearly 30 ewes; one buck to 25 does; and one rooster to 21 hens. These figures show at once the economy of beginning improvement in animal breeding with the use of purebred sires.

The history of the nation-wide movement for better live stock shows, however, that the use of purebred females quickly follows the use of purebred males. More than one-third of the female live stock and more than two-thirds of the female poultry listed in the better-sires campaign are themselves purebreds. This promises much more rapid improvement in the quality of the country's live stock than if purebred sires alone were used.

PURCHASING POWER GOES UP

Agriculture Continues on Mend Financially According to Index Figures Just Released.

Agriculture continues financially on the mend according to Department of Agriculture index figures just released. The index number of the purchasing power of farm products in terms of other commodities that farmers buy is placed at 63 for December, as compared with 66 for November. The average for the year is 60, compared with 67 in 1921, and with 86 in 1920.

The improved condition for December is brought about by an increase of 5 points in the index number of the average farm prices of ten leading crops, and a decrease of 1 point in the prices of commodities, excluding farm and food products, that farmers buy.

For the year the average farm prices of ten leading crops is given an index number of 113 as compared with 109 in 1921 and with 238 in 1920. The average farm price for the year of live stock is placed at 111 compared with 107 in 1921 and with 108 in 1920. The average index number of prices of commodities other than farm products which farmers buy is placed at 163 for 1922 compared with 161 in 1921 and with 234 in 1920.

CAUSE LAMENESS IN HORSES

Some Are Hereditary and Others Are Environmental—Many Can Be Prevented or Checked.

There are several factors which cause lameness in horses. Some are hereditary and others are environmental. The hereditary ones can be prevented largely in the future by using only good, sound breeding stock, and the environmental effects can only be checked by providing the proper surrounding conditions for the horse.

MAKING HONEY FROM HUBAM

Iowa Specialist Says It Is of Excellent Quality and Has Fine Color and Body.

Hubam, the annual sweet clover developed at the Iowa experiment station, is the best of the sweet clovers for honey production, according to W. A. Jenkins, apiarist, of Shenandoah, Ia. He says that the honey made from Hubam is of excellent quality and has a fine color and body.

Mr. Jenkins planted some Hubam in 1921 and has found that it keeps blooming from June until frost comes, and that it gives bees something to work on when other clover is gone. Forty-four hives of bees owned by Mr. Jenkins made a total of 4,362 pounds of honey from Hubam clover during the period from July 25 until the end of the season last year. During 1922 he got practically as good results.

TIMOTHY AND SWEET CLOVER

When Grown Together Will Make More Per Acre and Is an Advantage in Curing Later.

Timothy and sweet clover grown together will make still more per acre and is an advantage in curing the sweet clover. To cure sweet clover hay well it should be stirred often and never allowed to sunburn. Sweet clover and alsike make a still richer feed when grown together, but this mixture is harder to cure.
