Scholarship Will Be Encouraged

W. P. Porter Offers Scholarship For Best Students

At a Board Meeting Friday evening, upon the recommendation of the Superintendent, medals will be awarded for scholarship in the following manner: Any Freshman who gets 95 per cent or better for an average throughout the year will be awarded a bronze medal at the Commencement exercises, a silver medal for each Sophomore with similar record, a gold filled medal for each Junior and a solid gold medal for the Seniors who have a 95 per cent average.

Without a doubt, this should be a great incentive to scholarship. The idea is to continue this year after year and the School Board went on record to this effect. It was thought best by the Board to give the Senior the gold since they did not have a chance to win the other three. At the same time this might have been done by a number of them, so that the Freshmen this year who gets a bronze medal in his Sophomore year and so on through to the gold medal.

A number of schools have done this in the past and are doing it now and it is a distinct honor to win a medal of this nature. The intrinsic value is nothing compared to the support it would win for a student with such a record. It is the aim of the school to give every opportunity possible to the student who is willing to work along these lines. Sometimes the football boy is eulogized far above his worth. It takes more real grit to fight a battle for high honor in scholarship than it does to whip another team in football with ten other men helping and the side lines cheering, because in the former case the boy has to sit alone day in and day out throughout the year in order to win, not that it is impossible for the athlete to win these honors. In fact, he has an advantage over the other students if he knew it.

Carl Johnson and Joe Horner, two of the greatest athletes the University of Michigan ever saw, won the high honors in scholarship. The writer that the students of the East Jordan Public Schools can fully appreciate what a distinction it is to win in the contest for scholarship.

One of the finest things that has been in some time, along the same line as the medals, was the offer of one of our most public spirited citizens, W. P. Porter, to give a scholarship annually of $100 to the boy or girl who has the highest average standing for the year, and $50 to the student who has the second highest standing, these students to be chosen by a committee, possibly by a member of the School Board, the High School Principal and the Superintendent of Schools.

Very few, if any, other High School in northern Michigan gives a similar opportunity to its honor students and the school is greatly indebted to the generosity of Mr. Porter in making this possible.

It will take years to tell how much of a contribution these scholarships are to education in East Jordan. It isn't because of the value of the scholarship but the striving for the same that is the big thing.

The community is to be congratulated on having a man who takes such a pride in the education of its young as Mr. Porter.

Some necessary minor details in regard to these scholarships will be announced in the very near future.

FOR GIRLS ONLY

Girls, when your sweetheart calls on you, and has stayed as late as you think your pa would like him to stay, give him the following problem to work out: Take any number between one and nine, add one, multiply by nine, cross out the left hand figure, add fourteen, add the number you took, and look for results. This ought to work and if he does not grasp the situation he is too stupid to call again.

TO THE OWNERS OF CEMETERY LOTS AT SUNSET HILL:

Several have failed to pay their regular yearly assessment for up-keep of cemetery lots and, as we wish to close up the season's work, your early attention to the matter will be appreciated. ALVERATTA ROY, Cemetery Commissioner.

JOSEPH VOTRUBA MEETS DEATH WHILE BLASTING STUMPS.

Joseph Votruba, former East Jordan resident, met death at his farm near Ladysmith, Wis., Oct. 18th, while blasting stumps.

He was plowing a field near his home and decided to clear out some stumps. As he was familiar with this work, little was thought of any danger. When he failed to return, Mrs. Votruba started a search, and, led by a dog, found him lying in a ravine. He lived about a day after being found.

Evidently there was a premature explosion, which took effect in his face. The nearest neighbor was two miles away and considerable time was lost before aid could be secured, and the badly-injured man taken to St. Mary's hospital at Ladysmith, where he passed away.

Mr. Votruba was 56 years of age and leaves a wife and six adult sons and daughters. He was a brother of Mrs. Anthony Rebec of East Jordan who attended the funeral which was held Oct. 22nd.

They were residents of near East Jordan for many years, leaving here in 1915 for Ladysmith, Wis.

Night School

There will be a real opportunity for a great many people in the city and community to add to their education through Night School at the High School, beginning next Monday night, Nov. 12th, at 7:00 o'clock standard time.

A meeting of prospective students was held a few nights ago, at which meeting ten or twelve students were present and we know of perhaps as many more that have indicated their intention of taking night school work. Every course given will be of a practical nature. In fact, the course will be just as good as you would get by going to some business college in a distant city.

Taking into account the requirements of the students who attended the meeting mentioned, the following courses will be offered:—Bookkeeping, Typewriting, Shorthand, Penmanship, Spelling, Correspondence, English.

It is possible for other courses to be added, providing the demand is great enough. We should have at least six or seven in a class in order to give the course. No one can take all of these courses but it will be possible to get in English and Bookkeeping and perhaps Typewriting or Correspondence, etc. That is, the course is arranged so that one of these classes would not recite every night. In that way three courses could be taken. There will be two class periods of 45 minutes each, making an hour and a half every Monday and Wednesday evening.

The cost will largely depend upon the number of people who want such a school. It will not be more than $10 to $12 for the entire course, which will begin next Monday and continue until about April 1st.

There is no end to the amount of work anyone could do in these five months. I hope you will fully appreciate that the work given is of the most practical nature, work that will directly add to your ability to keep books and things of a similar nature.

If you are expecting to take the course, get in touch with Supt. Duncanson at once for books must be ordered and other matters arranged for. If you cannot do this before Monday night, come at that time and it will be arranged by the following week.

The regular Commercial teacher will take care of the work in that department and Principal Waggoner of the High School, without a doubt, will handle the English.

Grand Rapids—Two hundred credit men of the state convened here for the annual convention of the Michigan Credit Men's association.

Lansing—The Bible and Missionary Conference of the Northern Baptist Convention was held in Lansing recently, 2,000 delegates attending.

Kalamazoo—Public memorial services were held here in honor of Dean Clark Benedict Williams, of Kalamazoo College, and his wife, who lost their lives in the Japanese earthquake Sept. 1.

Ludington—The Rev. Holden A. Putnam, who resigned from the pastorate of the Ludington Congregational Church, a month ago, after a service of 11 years in that capacity, died at his home here.

A lot of writers don't care who makes the laws of the world so long as they can butcher its songs.

New Wells Are Installed

East Jordan Water Works Now Have Twenty-one Wells.

Work has just been completed on the driving of six new wells near the East Jordan Water Works Municipal Pumping Station. This gives our city a total of twenty-one wells of pure artesian water—more than ample to supply our maximum wants in the driest summer.

The installation of the new wells, while rather costly, is expected to cut the cost of pumping about fifty per cent. In the past, with the fifteen wells, the pumps have been working against a vacuum of twenty-three points—the maximum being twenty-seven. With the addition of the six new wells, this vacuum has been reduced to between five and six points.

Pure water is considered among the chief assets of any municipality and East Jordan can well be proud of its water supply. Every year samples of our water-supply are being taken from taps and sent outside for analysis, and the reports received are more than merely commendatory. In the past, many cities in Northern Michigan have been beset with the problems of both contaminated and restricted water-supply, but the residents of East Jordan have always been fortunate in having an unrestricted supply of purest artesian-well water.

Ann Arbor—More than 300 degrees were awarded by the regents of the University of Michigan at their meeting here this fall.

Lansing—Uriah H. Lazell, 78 years old, a resident of Lansing and vicinity for the last 60 years and a Civil War veteran, died at his home here.

Flint—Mrs. Emily P. Torrey, 83 years old, and Mrs. Alzina Calkins Felt, 87 years old, two of Genesee county's oldest pioneers, died here last week.

Alpena—Mrs. Martha Portwine, 82 years old, and for 63 years a resident of this city, died here recently. The Portwine family was among the earliest settlers of this section.

Saginaw—After more than two years of suspension, Saginaw street cars resumed operation Nov. 1st, running with motor bus extensions, under the franchise granted by the people last June.

Kalamazoo—Robert Campbell, assistant director of the Kalamazoo automobile license bureau, dropped dead a few minutes after he had conferred with Charles Deland, secretary of state last week.

Hillsdale—Mrs. Marjorie Kuhn, who was convicted on the charge of slaying Zelon Lake, with whom she lived, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Detroit House of Correction by Judge G. M. Chester.

Fremont—The Fremont apple and potato show, was the largest and best ever held by the Newaygo County Horticultural Society, according to County Agent Clair Taylor. A poultry exhibit was an added attraction.

Battle Creek—Mrs. Julia Morrissey McCausland, 93 years old, a pioneer of Michigan, died here at the home of her niece, Mrs. Julia Lawler, recently. In 1849 she settled in Plainwell and in 1850 married George McCausland.

Grand Rapids—Dr. V. W. Sheppard, who as an itinerant preacher of the Church of Christ in Kent, Ottawa and Mecosta counties in the pioneer days, established the first church of that denomination in Grand Rapids, died at his home in Ashley, Ind.

Grand Rapids—Funeral services were held here recently for Walter Burling, 79 years old, former city assessor at Muskegon and for nearly 70 years a resident of Michigan, who died at his home here. He had been an Odd Fellow for a half century.

Sault Ste. Marie—After working 46 years on the canal locks here, Captain Charles Spaulding, 72, has been officially retired on pension as assistant superintendent of St. Mary's Falls canal. He built the first coal chute for loading steamers in 1878.

Grand Rapids—More buyers of Michigan farm lands come from Illinois than from any other outside state, according to report just compiled here. Indiana ranks second; Ohio is third and Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota just about tie for next honors.

Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids banking circles report marked evidence of prosperity in the Western Michigan agricultural regions through the ability of the smaller banks, which borrowed last spring to assist in financing the farmers, to take up their loans earlier than usual.

Going On Hunting Trips

Many East Jordan Hunters Leave for Upper Peninsula.

This week marks the annual exodus of East Jordan hunters who hie themselves to the Upper Peninsula in search of the elusive deer.

Among the many hunting parties leaving from East Jordan and surrounding towns are the following gentlemen:—

Left Wednesday for Soo Junction:—Roscoe Mackey, Chas. J. McNamara, Dr. W. H. Parks, Dr. Geo. W. Bechtold, S. A. Covey, S. A. Covey, John Gundersen, A. C. Cameron and A. W. Freiberg.

Thursday, to Big Bay—20 miles north of Marquette—Dr. C. H. Pray, H. C. Clark.

Thursday, to Lake Gogebic:—Richard Lewis, LeRoy Sherman, Hubert Ackert of Charlevoix, and Arthur Menzies of Vanderbilt.

Thursday, to Sheldrake, near the Soo:—John McKinnon, C. H. McKinnon, R. D. Davis of Boyne City, and R. D. Klecker of Alanson.

Music Makers

The second number of the Lecture Course comes Monday, Nov. 19th at 7:30 o'clock.

A program brimful of music, made with instruments and made with voices is that presented by the Music Makers, a quartet of young college men who will appear Monday evening, Nov. 19, at the High School auditorium. The instruments used are trombone, cornet saxophone, together with banjo and guitar for some novelty.

The outstanding feature of the Music Makers' program is the true artistry of the instrumental numbers, and especially in the brass quartet arrangement of trombones and cornets. The playing demonstrates a highly developed technique and the real mastery of the instruments.

Their vocal numbers are highly entertaining, being full of punch and snap, and while their selections do not embrace the strong classical features of the instrumental program, it is a popular and much appreciated part of the entertainment.

In addition to the brass quartet and the vocal quartet, there are novelty features including humorous readings and dialogue, and a dramatic skit dealing with American college types. The program is full of comedy, clean play and tuneful music and is received with enthusiasm wherever the company has appeared.

The Music Makers are well named. They are players, singers and gunsters besides. Their entertainment will be one of the most popular on the local Lyceum Course.

There will be a chance to secure a season ticket for $1.50 for the last three numbers of the Course and $1.00 for High School students. This gives everyone a chance to secure the ticket at the same rate and at the same time anyone who was not able to attend the first number will still have a chance to boost the Lyceum Course.

A little inquiry will show you that the last number was worth the price of admission and more. Those missing their first number missed one of the finest speeches East Jordan has had in years.

Do not miss the next number!

Marquette—A comprehensive survey of the timber resources throughout the Great Lakes region, constitute the first step in the activities of the Lake States Forest Experiment station, and is included in a report of the activities recently submitted to the Upper Peninsula Development bureau.

Kalamazoo—Five thousand teachers from 16 counties in southwestern Michigan attended the annual convention of the fourth district, Michigan State Teachers' Association here. The counties that were represented are Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph, Branch, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Van Buren, Allegan, Barry, Ionia, Montcalm, Kent, Ottawa, Muskegon, Oceana and Newago.

Ann Arbor—Six students have been awarded Henry Strong scholarships by the regents of the University of Michigan. Holders of the scholarships this year are: Millard Pryor of Detroit; Elsa A. Schuler, of Royal Oak; Elizabeth Carson, of Ann Arbor; Rowan Faquelle, of Petoskey; John W. Shenefeld, of South Bend, Ind., and Dorothy Jeffrey, of New York City.

EAST JORDAN WHIPS HARBOR SPRINGS LAST FRIDAY

By staging one of the most sensational comebacks that has ever been witnessed, East Jordan's revamped team beat Harbor Springs last Saturday by a 6-7 score.

Will wonders never cease, and will football ever cease to be upset. These are the questions that invaded the minds of the Fans as they think of last Saturday's game. Instead of a howling, whining, and licked bunch of boobs who were so in evidence in the previous game, there came onto the field a fighting aggregation, who carried on their faces the do or die expression, and went into that fight to win or never come home.

How this change was brought about is a story in itself. Last Monday night there assembled in the High School Auditorium all the members of a would be football team. To these men Coach Duncanson talked. He gave them the straight shoulder to shoulder stuff. After this they went out on the field and practiced as they had not practiced before this year. This was continued throughout the week. On Friday Ed Childs was declared ineligible and Jack Chellis quit school. With these two men gone gloom pervaded the camp, but Coach Duncanson was equal to the occasion. He rearranged his team and with a green but fighting aggregation he humped it to Harbor Springs so hard that they thought they were retreating down Bunker Hill with General Putman after them.

The team showed form for the first time this year. Everybody played the game. Smith actually blocked a man and Izzy galloped around the ends like a true old nag, he seemed to drag off his many years and come back into old form. A. J. Wangeman went mad and fought so hard that even Barton Stevenson took heart and tackled a man. There was pep and punch in abundance. There was spirit and fight in profusion. Moreover, each fellow remembered that the coach back there on the bench had been giving a lot of effort all season and hadn't been getting very good support and somehow they just couldn't help but fight. They knew that they must win for him.

This is the kind of playing we want. Give the game all that's in you and all will be satisfied.

Lansing—Smallpox is increasing in Michigan, according to the Michigan department of health. A gain in smallpox at this time is quite natural for it is a winter disease. But the increase is more pronounced, especially when compared with 1922. Then the first three weeks of October saw 34 cases reported. This year the figure is 127. This is in excess of the average for the past 10 years, which is 72.

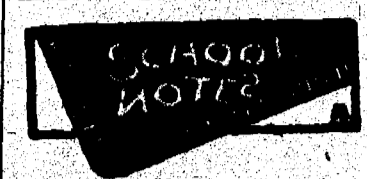

East Lansing—Leaders of college activities also proved to be leaders in the class room among the men of the Michigan Agricultural college, when the first annual prizes for excellence in scholarship were awarded recently. Paul Hartsuch, East Lansing, editor of the college paper, a varsity track man and member of the cross-country squad, won first place. He had high average over all students in the school for the first three years of his college course. Hartsuch is registered as an engineering student.

EAST JORDAN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

HIGH SCHOOL ASSEMBLY.

During the High School year, a period of one hour each week is devoted to the High School Assembly. In this short space of time, an attempt is made to bring to the pupils enough concentrated thought and information to form a thought formation, capable of enduring one week. In order to do this, much time is spent in preparing for these assemblies. The speakers are all very capable and a high school audience is ever a receptive one. If any person, or persons, other than High School pupils, should wish to attend these meetings, they would indeed be welcomed. It is the wish of the faculty that more people visit the schools and here is an excellent opportunity.

This week the Senior Class has charge of Assembly and they are indeed capable of great things. They will put on a Mock Faculty Meeting. This Assembly is held every Wednesday from 1:15 to 2:15 eastern standard time. Consider yourself invited and then come.

Future assembly announcements:—
—November 14—
Address by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham. Special Music.

—November 21—
Short Play by Sophomore Class, under direction of Miss Smythe.

—November 28—
Address by Mr. D. S. Camrie. Special Music.

FRESHMAN PARTY.

The high school freshmen opened their social calendar this week by entertaining themselves with a party in the high school auditorium. It had been decided that a masquerade was the order of the evening, but some evidently thought that they were badly enough deformed when dressed up in their best bib and tucker, so they left off the additional finery. The rest came tramping in, in their Cowboy, Indian, and Hobo outfits, and it was a merry sight indeed to see so many pretty lads and lasses galloping around the old gym. Many a game was played and laughed at but the climax came when they went in western territory and there satisfied the inner craving of man, known as hunger. Each man enjoyed himself as only a freshman can, and each woman perfected herself a little more in the coy art.

As the greenings toddled home, it was easy to guess by the happy little smiles on their cupie chins, that the evening had indeed been a success. It was just a lot of good old-fashioned fun.

An Imperishable Gift.

When you make a Christmas gift of a year's subscription to The Youth's Companion you think, of course, of the first great thrill that comes when those first holiday issues are opened and read. But you are giving more than that. You are giving the assurance of fifty-two more thrills before the capacities of the gift are exhausted. You can't do that with any gift that is made for immediate consumption, like candy or fruit. Today it is here; tomorrow it is—but a memory. But the Companion is imperishable. Its last taste, a year from now, will be as appetizing as the first on this coming Christmas day. You cannot put your money to better use or advantage in Christmas giving than in a subscription to The Youth's Companion.

The 52 issues of 1924 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1924.
 2. All the remaining issues of 1923.
 3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1924. All for $2.50.
 4. Or include McCall's Magazine, the monthly authority on fashions. Both publications, only $3.00.
- THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Commonwealth Ave. & St. Paul St., Boston, Mass.

Few things are more pathetic than a really good man trying to act as if he is a "good sport."

True Dishes of Columns

P. G. WODEHOUSE

The gods must have been having a revel on Mount Olympus and there was a rainbow in the sky when Peham Grenville Wodehouse was born. Strangely enough, for he is a humorist, the event occurred in England, at one of those places with a whole string of names denoting the town, country, road, farm, grove, house, nearby stream and current state of the crops.

After going through the customary boys' schools, colleges, etc., and getting married, he set up in business as a writer in London; but realizing that there was no proper outlet for such effervescent humor as his in staid old England, he came to the United States in 1909. Right away he caught the American style; in fact, his brand of fun was just what we had been needing. He has tickled the sides of Americans with more than a dozen novels and innumerable short stories, musical comedy lyrics and plays. One of his most smashing successes is "Three Men and a Cradle" which will be printed serially in this paper and which you must not fail to read.

Do You Want to Verify This?

Every human being on the face of the globe is compelled by the demands of Nature to have two parents, four grand-parents, eight great-grandparents, 16 ancestors in the fourth generation back, 32 in the fifth, almost 1,050,000 in the twentieth, and nearly 1,073,000,000 in the thirtieth. The whole number of one's ancestors in the fiftieth generation is 5,832,704-914,214,046—a multitude which no man can number.

Why Babies Cry.

National war debts are said to incur a financial burden of fifty odd dollars upon every baby born in England and some war asks if this isn't why babies cry so much. Doubtless it is in those cases where the breadwinner pays so much tax that sufficient food and comfortable clothing for the baby must be foregone.

PENINSULAR

(Edited by Mrs. E. Hayden)

Mr. Marving the Rawley man, was on the Peninsula last week Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Sweet of Advance were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Ray Loomis, at Gravel Hill, north side, Sunday.

Mrs. Mercy Woerful of Gravel Hill, south side, went to Lansing, Monday, called there by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Harriett Conyer.

Mrs. Ernest Loomis of Maple Lawn received a letter from her sister, Mrs. Geo. Loomis, of Detroit, recently, stating she was enough improved from her recent severe illness to take short auto rides.

Little Miss Pauline Loomis was quite ill Saturday and Sunday with a very bad cold.

F. H. Wangeman and the James Johnston heirs have sold the timber belonging to the said parties to the Boyne City Lumber Co.

Albert Bacon and Bill Ralston of Boyne City have the job of lumbering off the timber on the Peninsula recently purchased by the Boyne City Lumber Co.

Bill Ralston is boarding at the Ernest Loomis farm and Albert Bacon is boarding at the Ray Loomis farm in Star dist. while they are starting their lumber job.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Hewitt and family of Charlevoix visited his sister and family, Sunday, prior to Mr. Hewitt going to Flint where he will be employed at carpenter work through the winter.

Miss Viva Follet of east of Boyne City visited her step sister, Mrs. Geo. Staley, in Star dist., Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Staley were Charlevoix visitors, Sunday.

Orval Bennett is so far recovered from his broken arm to be clerking for Mr. Shafer in Boyne City.

W. C. Howe is hauling potatoes to Boyne City for Geo. Staley with his truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swain and Johnnie Uptegrove of Muskegon have been visiting Mrs. Swain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Arnott of Maple Row, Bunker Hill, north side, since Wednesday.

Mrs. J. P. Seiler and infant son, Allen Benton, are doing very nicely under the care of Mrs. Nancy Munson of Ironton.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt and daughter, Miss Mamie, visited their son, Arthur, and family in Boyne City, Sunday.

Mrs. Will Gaunt and daughter, Miss Louise, visited the Clarence Johnston home, Sunday.

F. H. Wangeman of Three Bells dist. and son Lyle are at the Loeft Farm with their cider mill making cider last week and this.

Ralph Gaunt of Three Bells dist. is at the Loeft Farm helping make cider.

L. E. Phillips is delivering apples to the cider mill in Boyne City.

It seems ridiculous there should be so much snow fall farther south when the ground has not been covered here yet and only a few very light flurries.

Fall work was never in better condition; all crops are in good shape and quite a lot of fall plowing is being done.

Afton School Notes.

The pupils were all busy practicing on their program last week.

There was a very good time reported at the pie social, Friday, Nov. 2. They made $12.08 which the school will use toward buying a Victrola.

The pupils had their picture taken and they are all good-but the 8th grade and it is thought the picture is spoiled because Percy was not in it.

Detroit—Not one Michigan farmer has borrowed any money from the Federal intermediate credit banks created recently in accordance with the act passed at the last session of Congress. Figures issued by John A. Doelle, vice-president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul, show that Michigan is the only state in the Seventh District which has failed to take advantage of the credit made available. Wisconsin farmers have borrowed $51,214.12, farmers of Minnesota have borrowed $203,594.

Lansing—Despite a comparatively late start, which handicapped building operations, and the indecision in the early part of the season regarding finances, indications are that the state will complete from 15 to 20 per cent more highways this year than in 1922. According to a report completed by the highway department, 424.7 miles of surfaced roads have been completed so far this year. Indications are that with a few weeks of fair weather the total mileage will run up to 450.

Seek Prehistoric City. Thorn lake, in eastern Oregon, has for years been thought the site of a prehistoric city. In its depths are walls, rising in geometric precision, which bisect the lake bed, and investigation has just been set afoot to learn whether their origin is from a natural cause or the work of man in years gone by.

Not a Bit.

CORNERSTONE LAID BY MASONS

George Washington Memorial Monument Ceremony Impressive

Alexandria, Va.—George Washington, master Mason and first president of the United States, was honored Thursday as few men have ever been honored before him.

In the presence of his twenty-ninth successor, President Calvin Coolidge, the chief justice of the supreme court and thousands of masons from all quarters of the globe, the cornerstone of Masonry's greatest shrine, a memorial to Washington, was laid on Shooters Hill here.

Dreams of Masons throughout the world came true as President Coolidge sealed the cornerstone of the $4,000,000 national Masonic Memorial to Washington on Shooters Hill.

Seldom, if ever in Masonic history, has there been a greater gathering than that here Thursday. Every grand master, or his accredited representative, was present. Fully 30,000 Masons joined with the president in honoring Washington.

Strictly Masonic services throughout the ceremony, all members wearing their lambskin aprons and white gloves. Right Worshipful Charles H. Callahan, deputy grand master of Virginia, presided in the absence of James H. Price, supreme head of Masonry in Virginia.

The same trowel, used by Washington in laying the cornerstones of the United States capitol, spread the cement over the initial stone in the newest monument to the first American.

SETS PRECEDENT BY DECISION

Utilities Commission Loses Fight to Control Auto Lines

Detroit—Judge Arthur J. Tuttle signed an order restraining the Michigan public utilities commission from enforcing against interstate motor bus or truck lines, the new state law providing for licensing and regulation of the companies.

The law is the Act 209 passed by the last Michigan legislature.

The decision is regarded of wide importance as it constitutes a precedent whereby all motor transportation companies doing an interstate business may demand exemption from the provisions of the law which, as restricted by the decision, now may be applied only to transportation companies doing a strictly interstate business.

It was argued that enforcement of Act 209 against interstate shippers by the public utilities commission would be usurpation of the prerogatives of the interstate-commerce commission.

Cabinet Expects Him to Live Quietly On His Old Estate.

Berlin—The German cabinet has agreed "in principle" that the former Crown Prince may return to Germany to live. The Crown Prince agreed to give notice to the government when, if ever, he decides to return, government officials revealed.

It was stated, however, he did not intend to return "immediately." The idea of the cabinet was that the former heir to the German throne could live unmolested and quietly in Germany much as the former King of Saxony lives in Silesia.

The Socialist members of the cabinet agreed to this.

War Files 200 Miles Long.

Washington, D. C.—More than 200 miles of shelving would be required to file the documents of the World War which have a claim to be preserved as valuable sources of material for history, according to the annual report of the Carnegie endowment for international peace just issued. How many more hundreds of miles of documentary files were produced to be destroyed, as merely routine matter it would be idle to imagine.

Items Of Interest In World's News

Mt. Etna Erupts Many Times. Naples—Fourteen times in the last eight hundred years has Mount Etna, the snow-capped volcano on the east coast of Sicily, burst into violent eruption.

Terms Are Accepted. Dusseldorf—The conference of the industrial chiefs of the Ruhr with the French has adjourned and Hugo Stinnes, acting with full powers from Chancellor Stresemann, accepted almost every demand of the French and Belgians.

Bunker Hill Battle Plan Sold. London—The plan used by the British forces at the battle of Bunker Hill was sold at a London auction room for £195. The purchaser was not an American. The map is about eight inches square and bears the signature of Major General Sir Henry Clinton.

Chow Dynasty Treasures Unearthed. Peking—Laborers digging a well in a little village in the province of Honan, China, unearthed an ancient tomb containing nearly $3,000,000 worth of treasures, recently. The tomb dated back to the Chow dynasty 1156-1122 B. C. The treasures consisted of richly decorated bronze vases, filled with pearls and jewelry.

Yukon Now Reached By Wireless. Ottawa—Completion of the wireless station at Mayo, Yukon Territory, the last link in the Dominion's radio communications, was announced recently by Charles Stewart, minister of the interior. The Mayo Station is the connecting link between Dawson and the rest of Canada. Mayo is 120 miles southeast of Dawson City.

Many Rebels Slain. Rio de Janeiro, Brazil—Hundreds of lives have been sacrificed already in the so-called "election fraud" revolt that has swept the rich cattle state of Rio Grande do Sul for eight months and the ever-spreading warfare threatens to drag the state into ruin along with the nation, according to Senator Soares Dos Santos who arrived here.

Hawaii Imports Eggs By Millions. Honolulu—Hawaii has ceased to figure its egg consumption by the dozen or even by gross lots. It now figures it by the million. During the 12 months ending June 30, 1923, the islands received from the mainland approximately 18,000,000 eggs. There are no figures available to show the number of eggs produced in Hawaii during that period.

Ducks Mistake Pavement for Pond. Champaign, Ill.—Presumably mistaking a wet concrete pavement for a body of water, more than 100 wild ducks broke their necks after diving from a great height near here. They were found by tourists, strewn along the roadside. The pavement was wet from a drizzling rain and lighted occasionally by the moon shining through the broken clouds.

Urges Harding Memorial Park. New York—Improvement of East Potomac Park in Washington, and its dedication as a memorial to the late President Harding, was urged in a letter from Acting Mayor Hulbert to President Coolidge made public. The late chief executive, Mr. Hulbert said, visited the park week ends and there played golf or watched the children play about the grounds.

Five Destroys Speedway. Beverly Hills, Cal.—The Beverly Hills speedway, midway between Los Angeles and Santa Monica, and scene of national automobile races, was damaged by fire when flames destroyed more than one-eighth of a mile of the wooden saucer track. The track will be reconstructed immediately and be in shape for the annual Thanksgiving races, it was announced by A. M. Young, secretary of the speedway association.

"Lightning Man" Struck. Portland, Ore.—James Ely, farmer of Marionco, who was unconscious for six weeks in 1916 after being struck by lightning has been hit again, but this time he suffered only a slight headache. Ely is known as the "Lightning Man" among his neighbors, because of his ability to foretell electrical storms many hours before they break. He says he has possessed this power ever since he was struck seven years ago.

Cree Indians To Kill Buffalo. Ottawa—Early buffalo hunting scenes are being staged in the Wainwright Park, Alberta, where 2,000 buffalo are being slaughtered to reduce the herd. One hundred and fifty Cree Indians, in native costume, are hunting the buffalo with pointless arrows. The buffalo are being shot by men placed in concealment as they are driven past by the Crees. The whole proceedings are being filmed. The heads, hides and meat will be sold.

POPULARITY OF MULE FOR FARM WORK IS RAPIDLY INCREASING

Mule is Able to Perform Sterling Service on Farm.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The ability of the mule to endure hardship and perform sterling service under adverse conditions has established him as a real asset in American agriculture, says the United States Department of Agriculture, and his importance and popularity as a work animal is attested by his rapidly increasing use. In 1910, the number of mules on farms and ranches was 4,209,769. The number on January 1, 1920, was 5,432,391, an increase during the decade of nearly 30 per cent. Nearly three-fifths of all the mules in use in the United States are found in the nine Cotton Belt States. These states, Texas, Georgia, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Louisiana, had a total of 3,172,797 mules in 1920 as compared with 2,855,253 horses. Texas and Oklahoma were the only Cotton Belt states having more horses than mules.

Useful for Utility Purposes.
While the mule is essentially a draft animal, it is used widely for utility purposes, especially in the South. Mules vary in height from 12 hands to 17½ hands and in weight from 600 pounds to 1,600 pounds. They are divided into five general market classes: Draft, farm, sugar, cotton, and mining. Each of these classes again is graded according to conformation, soundness, quality, condition, and action, and classified as choice, good, medium, common, or inferior.

Form and Appearance.

The general form and appearance of the mule should resemble closely that of a horse, and in judging mules the same general points of perfection are to be looked for. The nearer the mule approaches the ideal desired in a draft horse the more valuable he is from a market standpoint, department specialists state. The form of the mule should be compact, with a deep body, broad chest, full flanks, short back, and well-sprung ribs, similar to the pair shown in the illustration. The loins should be broad, short, and thickly muscled; the croup long and level; the hips long, level, and muscular; the thighs thick, long, and well muscled; and the hind legs well set, with broad, clean-cut hocks and flat, dense bone. The mule should stand on good feet that are well shaped. While style and action may not be so important in a mule as they are in the lighter breeds of horses, these qualities add materially to its value. A smart, alert mule with a long, free stride at the walk and a snappy, balanced trot is highly desired.

Disease of Sweet Corn Is Discovered in Ohio

A disease of sweet corn, which causes stunted growth followed by wilting and death of affected plants, has been reported to the Ohio experiment station by several growers.

Station pathologists state that in this affection, known as Stewart's disease, the interiors of the stems if cut just above the ground are found to be discolored and the sap to be thick and sticky, due to the presence of the bacteria which cause the disease.

The disease is carried on the seed and in the remains of diseased plants in the soil or in manure. To prevent the spread of the disease, affected plants are pulled up and burned and corn is not grown on the ground for at least four years. Though field corn is not noticeably affected it is not advisable to grow it upon land where diseased sweet corn has been grown, as it may serve to keep the infection in the soil.

Best Depth for Plowing Will Vary With Seasons

Commenting on an article regarding deep versus shallow plowing which appeared in a recent issue of Seasonable Hints From the Dominion Experimental Farms, Ottawa, Canada, Prof. Alvin Kezer, chief agronomist, Colorado Agricultural college, said: "The truth of the matter is that there is no one depth, shallow or deep, that is the best depth to plow. The best depth will vary with the time the plowing is done, the soil, crop to be grown, the length of the season where the crop is to be put in or where the plowing is done. I can illustrate this last point by quoting the Canadian experience again. They found that anything over the four-inch plowing in the Peace River country delays the wheat crop so that it is often attacked by frost, while the shallow plowing enables the harvest to get out of the way before frost. There is no one right depth, deep or shallow."

Mineral Mixture Helps Laying Hens or Chicks

A mixture of salt, lime, and bone meal added to soy-bean meal or other vegetable protein nearly doubled its value in the feed for laying hens or growing chicks, in recent tests at the Ohio experiment station.

These minerals, though making up only 4 per cent of the mash and costing less than 4 cents a year per hen, proved as necessary as any other part of the feed.

Grains and seeds are deficient in protein and minerals. These are supplied by the addition of meat scrap, skim milk or other animal supplement to the feed of grain and mash. Soy-bean meal, peanut meal, cottonseed meal, and the like supply protein but are deficient in minerals.

When the mineral mixture was added to soy-bean meal at the rate of four pounds per hundred its value was doubled, making it almost equal to meat scrap or milk for egg production and growth.

The station mineral mixture is made up of 80 parts of bone meal, 20 of limestone and 20 of coprolite salt.

Inspection of Milk Is Discussed in Bulletin

Work Includes More Than Detection of Adulteration.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"The work of milk inspection has broadened in recent years and now includes more than the detection of adulteration, though many people in their ordinary use of language do not recognize this fact, and continue to speak of 'pure milk' as milk that is not watered and contains no preservative," say Ernest Kelly and C. S. Leete, joint authors of Department Circular 276, Inspection of Milk Supplies, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. "The bacterial content of the milk must always be taken into consideration when designating milk as pure. The chemical, bacteriological and sanitary aspects should not be confused. Each is essential in studying the purity of milk."

Circular 276 treats of inspection in the city as well as on the farm. It gives the qualifications for milk inspectors and discusses milk ordinances. The score-card system of inspection of dairy farms and milk plants is described, and samples of score cards for each are reprinted. The circular also takes up laboratory control, giving a list of equipment and the procedure for analyzing samples of milk.

"Milk inspection has reached the point in its development where three distinct features are now practically essential," says the circular. These features are: Dairy inspection, dairy instruction, and laboratory control. "As recontamination after pasteurization may prove serious, the milk control officials should make frequent and methodical examination of apparatus, bottles and cans with which the milk comes in contact after pasteurization. Laboratory control of this phase of the work is essential. Those who handle milk or milk containers on farms where milk is sold for use in its raw state or in pasteurizing plants should be subject to frequent medical inspection." The circular may be obtained, while the supply lasts, upon application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Grease or Lard Aids to Prevent Tools Rusting

No matter if tools are kept out of the wet, even the dampness of the air will cause them to rust. A paste made of tallow or lard and graphite, with a little camphor gum will prevent rust when applied and afterwards rubbed dry. Mix two parts grease to one of graphite. Add about one-fourth as much camphor gum as there is of the graphite. Get the tools quite clean and dry, apply the paste and allow it to remain on all metal parts for 24 hours or longer, then rub dry. Tools treated in this way will not rust for several months, though exposed to damp air. Treat in this way every two or three months, not only tools, but any steel or iron surface.

THE UNSOUGHT

By GRACE E. HALL

She sits alone beside a dying fire, And sees her hopes to fleecy ashes go;

Bids sad farewell to feminine desire For love and praise that other women know; The baby head she visions on her breast Is but a sickening phantom, like the rest; The little home she one-time planned, is fled, And mourned in silence, like the sacred dead.

She sees her idol as in years long past She saw him, towering high among his kind; In agony she sees him choose at last A painted doll, with neither heart nor mind; Beholds his home, where children are unknown, And knows his hopes, like hers, have sadly flown.

In secret she has dared to call his name, To clasp him to her breast with ardent word, Has e'en expressed, without a blush of shame, The burning love no other ears have heard; Has kissed the lips that only smiled, one day, And left her to her dreams—and ashes gray.

Something to Think About
By F. A. WALKER

PRACTICE PATIENCE

IT OUGHT to be impressed upon all of us, whether young or old, that patience is one of the higher attributes of good breeding and gentility. No person, however accomplished he may be, can continue to hold the respect of others if he is given to frequent outbursts of ill-humor.

Patience, it is generally conceded, is ennobling. It builds character, courage, thoughtfulness and friendliness. It never consciously ruffles another.

It is a subject about which in the present day probably nothing has been rightly spoken or written. We like to see its manifestation in others, but balk at its use ourselves when we are suddenly overwhelmed by a stress of passion which sweeps us off our feet and loosens an unruly tongue.

Poor, little, inconsistent mortals that we are, swept hither and thither by adverse forces, we have at least the courage sometimes to commend others for their good deeds. But through some imperfection in our makeup, or laxity of spiritual strength, we fail to emulate their worthy examples.

For some undiscovered reason we seemingly prefer the gale and the snarling sea to the calm and quiet harbor. We often elect to rush into storm rather than to enjoy the quietude of our own friendly home.

We are so overwrought, so mentally mullah, that we are unable to compose ourselves or commune intimately with reason.

We risk our social position and good name by a stinging quip or an angry glare, caring not how deeply we may hurt our friends or injure ourselves. Failure to practice patience in the home has often robbed the inmates of comradeship and love, both of which are indispensable to continued happiness.

Penetrate as far into the truth as you are able, and you will discover that patience veils from our lives more joyous sunshine and inspiration than do many of our grosser iniquities. A pleasant smile and a kindly word are the good disciples of patience, always striving for peace and content. Let us become their intimates.

YOUR HAND How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

THE FINGER NAILS

OCCASIONALLY we find finger nails that are long, thin and curved or ribbed. These tell us something of the physical constitution of the owner. He or she is likely to have tendencies toward diseases of the head, throat or bronchial trouble. Nails that are seen, upon observation, to be unusually thick, bent and long, are held to indicate a nature inclined to cruelty and unfaithfulness in love.

If the nails are square and very short, we may read therein a tendency toward disease of the heart. This must be confirmed, naturally, by close inspection of the line of the heart.

Nails that are brittle and inclined to break easily are a sign of ill health and nervous weakness. There are some nails which narrow very much at the base, coming some times to a point, or nearly to one. I they also bend over the ends of the fingers, we may read in them a sign of spinal trouble, past, present or future.

Prevent Diseases by Exercising Good Care

Seed Bed Often Is Source of Various Plant Ailments.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Cabbage and other crucifers, such as brussels sprouts, kohi-rabi, kale, turnips, radish, rape, rutabaga and churlock, are subject to fungous and bacterial diseases which are carried from place to place by various means, including insects, infected seed, transplanting from an infected seedbed to field, drainage, cabbage refuse and the other plants mentioned, and stable manure, farm animals and tools, and wind. These diseases are preventable in the main by simple means of plant sanitation, says the United States Department of Agriculture, even as human diseases may largely be prevented by proper care.

As the seedbed is often the source of infection, the truck farmer will find it profitable to take the greatest pains to insure healthy plants. Locate the seedbed on new ground if possible, advises the department. Crop rotation, avoiding crops which belong to the cabbage family, will help and is worth while, regardless of whether or not it is necessary to control plant maladies. A good rotation system will starve out many fungous diseases that may exist and will help control many weeds, particularly wild mustard and its relatives, which harbor cabbage pests.

The leaf diseases of cabbage, cauliflower, and related crops are relatively so unimportant that spraying is seldom required. The most important diseases are internal or soil parasites, which are out of reach of fungicides. The free use of lime will help in controlling such parasites and the disinfecting of all cabbage seed before planting, to prevent black rot and black leg, will be of considerable value, according to tests carried on by the department. The use of disease-resistant varieties of cabbage and other crucifers will also pay.

Hogs Show Good Profit by Hogging Down Corn

Some practical feeders seem to question the advisability of hogging down corn at present prices, but plenty of tests show that hogs give as much profit when they are allowed to help themselves as when the corn is fed by hand—in fact, these same hogs will show greater profit by hogging down corn than digging it out of muddy feed-lots.

THE MUSIC-MAKERS ARE SINGERS, INSTRUMENTALISTS AND FUNSTERS

Here are four lively, peppy young Americans who are not only good singers, but they are exceptionally good performers on trombone, cornet, and other instruments as well. The outstanding feature of their program is the professional atmosphere noted throughout. Their playing demonstrates a highly developed technique and they are better than the average in their vocal work. The combination is rare indeed. They are players, singers and funsters, and they are four excellent performers in everything they do.

THE FIVE BAD GOBLINS

FIVE BAD GOBLINS

ONCE in a garden, long, long ago, there grew a rose bush, and in those days, so the fairies say, the rose bush had no thorn to prick fingers.

And the fairies say it never would have had thorns if something had not happened which made it necessary for the protection of the little fairies that every pretty rose bush should have thorns.

In this long-ago garden one night five dainty little fairies, after they had finished their work tinting the flowers, crept into the half-opened buds of five roses and went to sleep.

They did not intend to sleep very long, just long enough to rest before joining their sister fairies and their Queen in the dell for a midnight frolic.

But the little fairies were tired and they did not wake up at the magic hour when all the little magic folk are abroad.

Out of their rocky doorways at the midnight hour tumbled all the goblins, bent on mischief as they always are, and five of them ran out of the woods into the road, and, finding a nice smooth path made by a cart wheel, those five naughty goblins followed it.

The wheel path led straight to the garden, right up to the gate and when the goblins reached the end of the path they tumbled into the garden.

"This is the Flower Garden and the Tinting Fairies Have Been Here."

"Oh," exclaimed one little goblin, "this is a flower garden and the tinting fairies have been here. Let's spoil every flower that has been colored. The Queen will be sure to see it and scold them."

To every flower they went and pulled off a petal, and, of course, they came to the rose bush where the five little fairies were fast asleep.

The goblin that had climbed the rose bush where he discovered the sleeping fairies quickly scrambled down and ran to tell his brothers. "They are fast asleep and we will hide their wands," he said.

"No, let us carry them off to our home and change the stones into things we want," said another.

"Yes," whispered the others; but while they were climbing the rose bush to get the wands one goblin whispered it would be great sport to pull the rosebuds apart and let the fairies tumble out.

To each rosebud went a goblin. First he took the wand from the sleeping fairy and tucked it under one arm. Then he pulled at the rosebud, and amid the falling rose petals each little fairy fell out on the ground.

The five bad goblins jumped and away they ran before the bewildered little fairies could pick themselves up, or know just what had happened.

Five little fairies jumped up and rubbed their sleepy eyes, but it was only a second before they discovered that their wands were gone.

"It was the goblins," said one. "They must have wandered into the garden and climbed the rose bush and carried off our wands."

"Look, sisters," said another little fairy; "those bad goblins came here to do mischief. Look at the pretty flowers that were tinted. Every one has lost a petal."

"They came to destroy our work and happened to find us asleep, so they stole our wands. We must hurry to the dell and tell the Queen what has happened."

"When the Fairy Queen heard their story she did not scold. She smiled and said: 'Wait and see what happens. You shall have your wands this very night, I promise you. Now run along and join in the dance with your sisters.'"

How long the merrymaking of the fairies had been going on no one could tell, but long before daylight streaked the sky five unhappy looking goblins came slowly into the dell and made their way to the throne of the Queen.

Under one arm each held the wand he had stolen just as he carried it away from the rose bush. They had not been able to do anything else, for when they tried to take the wand from under their arm each goblin found he could not move it or his arm either.

All of their brother goblins tugged and pulled at the wands, trying to help them. But it was of no use, the arm and wand could not be moved, so they had to come to the Fairy Queen for help.

Very shamefaced did those five naughty goblins look as they approached the Queen; they did not have to tell her why they had come. She gently touched each arm that held the wand and down fell the wand and away scampered those five goblins so fast that their heels looked like tiny pebbles tossing up and down.

They did not even thank the Queen. All they thought of was getting away from the fairy dell and locking themselves in their rocky homes.

But the roses had to be thought of, now the wands were safe, for the fairies always used them to sleep in when they were away from home. So the Queen that very night started off in her pearl coach with its white mice horses, visited all the rose bushes and placed thorns on every one.

And now you know why the sweet-roses have thorns on their stems—to keep the goblins from disturbing the fairies if they happen to fall asleep in a rosy bed. For I am certain you will agree that once a goblin pricked his finger with a sharp thorn he would scamper away and never touch a rose bush again.

GRACE

THE origin of the name of Grace is curious and somewhat imaginative. Several versions of its real derivation may be eliminated and the contention that it really comes from the Latin "gratia," meaning favor or bounty, accepted. It is through this interpretation that the Greek Charities have come down to us as the three Graces. Gratia was used by early Italian writers for divine favor, hence the theological meaning of grace.

The English name Grace is intended as the abstract theological term and was adopted at the time of the Reformation. Its continuation is thought to be due to its popularity with the Irish, who think that it resembles Grains (love). Grace and Gracie are both very popular in England and Ireland. Spain, likewise, has Gracela in honor of a maiden cruelly tortured to death at Zaragoza in 304, and Italy knows Gracella through Lamartine's pretty romances.

The most celebrated Grace was Grace O'Malley, also known as Graine O'Malley, a notable sailor chieftainess of the southwest coast of Ireland. Once she came to visit Queen Elizabeth, and when the two high-spirited women were together, the semi-barbarian was more than a match for the civilized queen. She scorned Elizabeth's gift of a lapdog and offered the queen her own infant son, born on the voyage, saying that the queen was welcome to educate him, as he would never make a man of spirit since his father came of bad stock.

Gracie is another charming form of the same name, which is attributed to Spain.

The amethyst is Grace's talismanic stone. It promises her immunity from harm and disease, especially if it be set in gold. To one of high-strung nature, it has power to soothe and calm and enforce even temper. Saturday is her lucky day and 4 her lucky number. The primrose is her flower.

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs

THE SHOE

THE shoe I deem a model thing—
It always holds its tongue,
And not a single word to sting.
It ever spoke or sung;
And even in the sore and brown,
However deep its dole,
'Tis never on its uppers down
Till it has lost its sole.

THE RIGHT THING at the RIGHT TIME

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

WHEN TRAVELING

DON'T carry more hand luggage with you than you can conveniently dispose of. Remember that you are only entitled to a single seat in the day coach or a chair in the Pullman car and if you have ever so many bags and boxes they are sure to trespass on the territory of your fellow travelers.

Large luggage should be checked on your ticket and sent to the baggage car.

Don't open windows regardless of other persons. Always consult the wishes of the others sharing your seat. Don't permit the raised shade of your window to let in blinding sunlight in the eyes of a passenger behind you.

If possible provide yourself with a time-table and correct your watch before starting on your trip so as not to have to ask the conductor or brakeman innumerable questions in transit.

Don't leave luggage projecting so that those passing in the aisle might stumble over it. Don't put heavy luggage in the racks. This is dangerous, as a sudden lurch of the train might cause it to fall, and injure those below. These racks are intended only for light objects.

Don't disturb others by walking up and down the aisle, and leaving your seat for innumerable drinks of water. The one who travels with the least commotion and who sits most quietly is the one who feels and looks less fatigued after the day's trip.

Don't think that just because you are off on a holiday, everyone else is. You may have time to loiter, but others may be intent on business.

MEN YOU MAY MARRY

By E. R. PEYSER

Has a Man Like This Proposed to You?

Symptoms: Glasses. Sometimes boned spectacles. Always a copy of Wall Street Journal in his hand. Very quietly, very well dressed, very good appearing, rather aristocratic. He has a sweet smile, but uses it seldom. Seems a bit weary, yet he rises for a fairly dressed woman in the surface car with a visible hatred at being seen offering his seat. He is shy. Seems to take little notice of anything going on about him. His brows contract a bit occasionally. Seems young for responsibility. Yet you feel he has a lot of it.

IN FACT

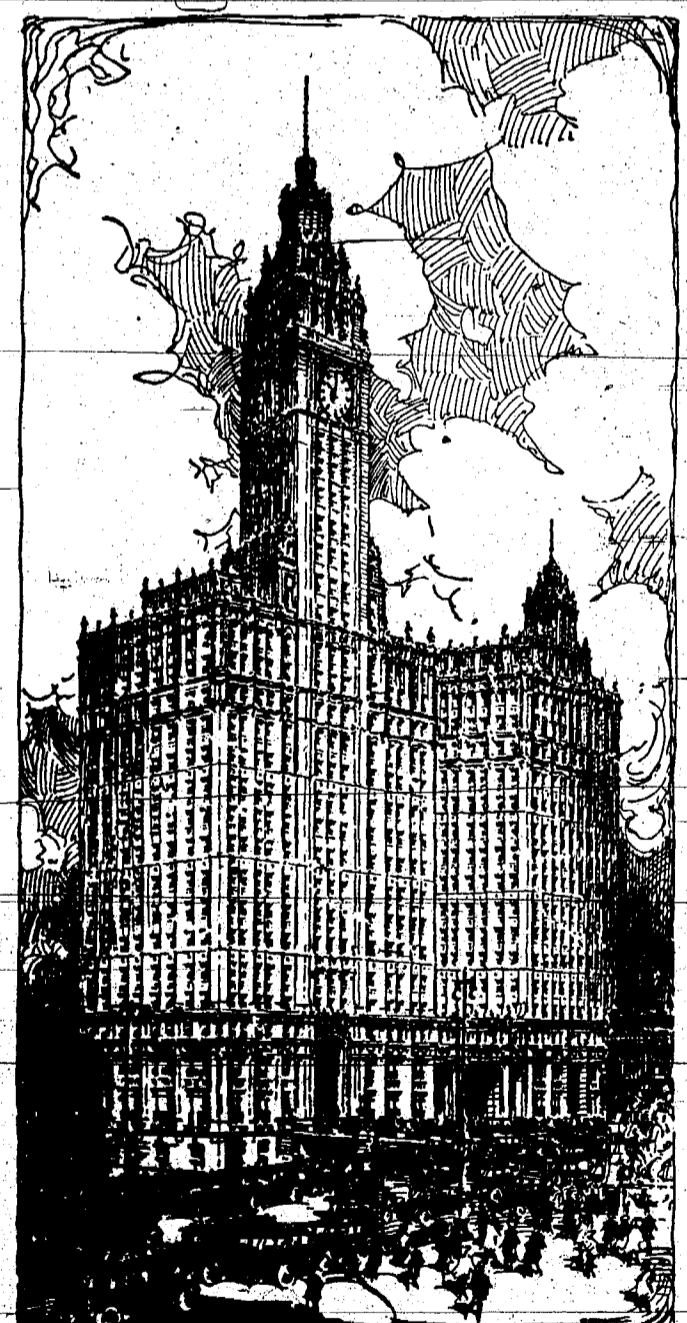

He himself is a responsibility. Prescription for His Bride: Just love your home, quiet, and him and forsake all other things. Upholster the easy chair often; he loves it better than theater seats.

Absorb This: A WALL STREET MAN IN THE OFFICE IS WORTH TWO IN THE HOME.

Here's Proof That Advertising Pays

Famous Wrigley Building in Chicago Being Doubled in Size

The part of the Wrigley Building erected two years ago has filled such a want that the north section, nearly double the floor area of the south section, is being added. This north section, nearly completed, occupies the entire block, immediately across North Water Street, fronting on Michigan Avenue and reaching to the height of the main part of the first structure, with a connecting bridge. The space in the new section is already nearly all taken by high-class firms in advance of the completion of the building.

Here is a concrete (as well as a steel and glass) proof of the saying that "advertising pays." In these magnificent buildings, Mr. Wrigley has erected an impressive testimonial to this great truth. They loom large and beautiful. They typify the achievements of the man who built them. They stand as a monitor over the activity of the Nation's second city—inspiring—dominating—massive—bearing unanswerable testimony to the POWER OF ADVERTISING.

If Back Hurts Begin on Salts

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally, and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

RED PEPPERS END RHEUMATIC PAINS

When you are suffering with rheumatism so you can hardly get around have the quickest relief known.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Instant relief. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Frees the blood circulation, breaks up the congestion—and the old rheumatism torture is gone. Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Use it for lumbago, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, colds in chest. Almost instant relief awaits you. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and discomfort. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good drug-gist and use it like a cold cream.

Detroit—Marked by the tread of 10,000 pairs of feet, tramping its broad asphalt surface, the City of Detroit took formal possession of the new Belle Isle bridge last week.

Exercises in observance of the bridge's completion and its official opening were held at the mainland end of the bridge and were participated in, it is estimated, by more than 25,000 people.

Detroit—Captain John Stevenson, state representative, who served Michigan in the role of purchasing agent in connection with the acquisition of two new boats to be used in state ferry service at the Straits of Mackinac, has been advised that the boats have left Boston under their own steam, for Detroit. They are the "Colonel Card" and the "Colonel Bond," both practically new vessels.

Monroe—For the first time in its history Monroe had a real Hal-oween festival. It was given under the auspices of the Monroe Community Service, formed recently. The parade was more than a mile long, with practically every organization in the city represented.

Exercises were held on the public square, attended by 5,000 people. With tents and booths erected the scene resembled a Mardi Gras celebration.

Detroit—Celebrations of National Apple-Week, with "Michigan Apples for Michigan Folks," as its slogan, were held here. Other sections of the country emphasized in many ways the importance of apples as a food, their abundance at this time of the year, and urging the people to use their own home-grown apples.

Governors and mayors have taken occasion to call the attention of the people to Apple Week through proclamations.

Powder Puffs' Toll of Swans.
Forty thousand swans are killed each year to supply the world's demand for powder puffs. The best swansdown for this purpose comes from Norway, the young birds being hatched out in May or early June and killed the following winter. The price of the commodity has risen so greatly since the war that many new swan farms have been established in Sweden and the Baltic Islands.

Bank To Distribute "True-To-Life" Stories

Monthly Folders Will Relate Typical "Success Experiences" of Home People.

There will never be anything half so interesting to big, warm-hearted people as—other people. We enjoy music, we are interested in art and science, but nothing so tugs at our heart-strings as the things which happen to people just like ourselves.

The folders, written in story-form, to be distributed every month by The Peoples State Savings Bank deserve to be received with the keenest interest and approval.

According to the Bank's officers, these stories are to deal with the lives and fortunes of a typical family—not geniuses, nor people the least bit out of the ordinary, but "just folks" like the rest of us.

In the first story to be mailed this month—under the heading "The Joy of Living"—the Bank introduces this family at one of their informal gatherings. And right from this first acquaintance, on through the other stories that go to make up the series, the reader may see mirrored his own ideals, ambitions, problems, struggles and achievements.

And, too, he will learn from this happy-united family group much that will be of help to him—much that will give him a firmer, truer grasp on the realities of life—and much that will increase his own "joy of living."

The literature to be distributed by the Bank is not only interesting, in that the stories related are so true to life, but also because they are so handsomely illustrated with photographs, some in full color—likely to be retained and prized for their artistic merit.

German Communists' Fear of Famine Relieved by Large Shipments of Wheat.

Paris—With Germany perhaps on the verge of civil war, the situation in Eastern Europe has suddenly become exceedingly tense.

Soviet Russia gives every sign of contemplating armed intervention in Germany in behalf of the German Communists, opposing, if necessary, even Poland and France. The Soviet garrisons on the Polish and Lettish frontiers recently have been considerably strengthened.

At the same time, the Third Internationale has renewed propagandist activities in all the principal European countries. A series of suspicious strikes have broken out in Polish industrial centers.

A Communist "university" has just been opened in Amsterdam. Karl Radek, regent of the Third Internationale, recently flooded French and German Communist newspaper with incendiary and threatening editorials, promising Russian support to all militant Communists and giving assurance that "Russia's bayonets are not yet blunted."

To relieve the German Communists' fear of famine in case they attempt a revolution, large shipments of wheat have been made to Saxony. At the same time, strong diplomatic pressure has been brought to bear on the Baltic States, to oblige them to enter the Soviet confederation.

There is no doubt that the Soviet leaders have never wholly abandoned their plans for a world revolution. These Soviet moves have profoundly disturbed Western Europe, Russian Monarchist organizations, both in Russia and abroad, are gathering strength and plucking up hope.

RADIO RECORDS ARE BROKEN

Signals Sent at Rate of 4 1/2 Million Miles in 25 Seconds.

New York—Providing a revolutionary step in the scientific and commercial development of radio telegraphy a radio signal today made 20 round trips from the New York office of the Radio corporation of America to Warsaw, Poland—traveling at a speed of 4,500,000 miles in 25 seconds—without the assistance of an operator at either end.

The feat definitely demonstrated that simultaneous acknowledgement can be given long distance radio telegraph messages.

A single loop connected the vast space, while an epoch-making "dot" raced through the ether with the speed of light and was fully recorded on a tape, each return from Warsaw, negotiating on each round trip 8,500 miles.

Traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, the "dot" message covered a mileage distance equal to 20 trips to the moon.

The accomplishment means that commercial and other radio messages will be checked as to proof of their receipt and accuracy almost instantly with their sending.

BLAME PLACED IN NAVY WRECK

Three Officers Held Responsible—Cost Set At 13 Millions.

Washington—The disaster off Point Honda, Cal., September 8, which resulted in the stranding of nine destroyers, is directly attributable to the "errors of judgment and faulty navigation on the part of three officers attached to and serving on the Delphy," the official board of inquiry found in its report to the navy department made public.

The report, upon which an order for court martial of 11 officers was based, recommended that Captain Watson be brought to trial on charges of "culpable inefficiency in the performance of duty," and "through negligence suffering vessels of the navy to be run upon rocks," and that similar charges be brought against the other two officers.

Attached to the report was an estimate fixing the money loss as a result of the disaster at $13,274,952.90. Against this, however, is to be offset the value of any salvaged material.

Michigan Men Honored.

Washington—Officers were elected, the executive council for the ensuing year was formed and action was taken looking toward standardization and elimination of waste in the commercial printing industry at the concluding session today of the annual convention of the United Typothetae of America. In addition to George K. Horn, of Baltimore, president; George K. Hebb, of Detroit first vice-president, and Fred W. Gage, of Battle Creek, treasurer.

FRANCE WANTS HER DEBTS DISCUSSED

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON REPARATIONS MAY BE OBSTRUCTED.

AMERICA WILL REFUSE, BELIEF

Demand of Premier Poincare Directly Opposite Stand Taken By Secretary Hughes.

Paris—The phantom reparations peace ship is foundering in the swirl of international politics on its first trial trip, observers believed here Sunday, following the stand taken by Premier Poincare in notifying Washington that no international conference of experts can be held unless the French war debt to the United States and other allied war debts are discussed.

Impartial newspaper and political observers saw in this stand a definite obstruction to the conference proposal, since the United States has maintained that war debts cannot be discussed.

The United States takes the position, according to word reaching here, that the French war debt and others are separate matters having nothing to do with reparations.

The United States lent this money during the war and received promises of payment, it is contended. Revision of the promises should be taken care of by the American debt funding commission, especially organized by congress.

The French government position is if the United States will not lower the war debt of France she cannot expect France to lower the war debt owed by Germany to her.

The French premier told Ambassador Jusserand in Washington to explain to the American government "clearly and loyally" that:

1. The French would accept no international conference unless it took up allied war debts.
2. The French government would accept at this time no negotiations of any sort which bring in the question of occupation of the Ruhr, which France intends to maintain.

MONARCHISTS DEMAND POWER

Mailed Fiat Dictatorship Insisted Upon By Autocrats.

Berlin—The ultra-reactionary organs are clamoring for the retirement of both President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann, and demand a mailed fiat dictatorship. Although the Bavarian rumbungs have a suggestion of stage thunder, Military Dictator Von Kahr's continued flouting of the central government infuses a seriously disturbing element into the situation confronting Chancellor Stresemann, who, however, is hopeful that with the disappearance of the socialists from his ministry the Bavarian autocrats will be inclined to concede to the federal government a more generous measure of consideration.

Central government officials try to dislodge the Bavarian troop concentrations on the Thuringian border and the Fascist's threatened advance on Berlin by calling it a typical Hitler bluff and say they are informed that the units there constitute what they term the "rag-tag and bob-tail" of Hitler's youthful guard, comprising elements which would not be tolerated by von Kahr in Munich.

The Bavarians' units however, are described by reich officials as matching up with the Separatists in the Rhineland, although the Bavarians are in possession of better arms and equipment.

U. S. UPHOLDS BRANCH BANKS

Denies State Has Right to Regulate National Institutions.

Washington—The right of state to exercise any control over national banks, especially as to branches, as involved in a case brought by the First National bank of St. Louis against the state of Missouri, was challenged today by the government in a brief filed in the supreme court.

A number of states opposed to branch banking have joined Missouri in defending the jurisdiction of states in such matters, while the federal government has intervened to assert exclusive jurisdiction over national banks.

Declaring that states have no jurisdiction over national banks, the federal government asserted in its brief that national banks can exercise all powers and transact all business permitted by congress irrespective of state laws.

Where Bananas Grow

New Orleans, La.—The ordinary fruit banana is grown chiefly in Jamaica, Costa Rica and other parts of tropical America. Some attempt has been made to grow them in California, Louisiana and in other states with warm climates, but this is more or less of an experiment because the plant cannot endure the slightest frost. As a novelty, a few banana plants have borne fruit in colder climates, but under special protection.

Artificial Lighting of Henhouse Is Permanent

The artificial lighting of henhouses has become permanent, and popular during the last few years. Contrary to the first opinions of some people, electric lights are not installed for the purpose of fooling the hens. The use of lights merely endeavors to aid in duplicating spring conditions whereby hens have more opportunity to consume a large amount of feed and thus have material in which to manufacture a large number of eggs. Lights in the evening will give the hens less time between the last evening meal and the first one in the morning, so that the crop never gets empty.

Fairly Good Silage Can Be Made Out of Alfalfa

Because of the abundance of protein in alfalfa and the shortage of sugars and starches, it is hard to make really first-class alfalfa silage. At the Missouri station, however, they found that if care was taken, a fairly good grade of silage could be made out of alfalfa. The important thing was to let the alfalfa dry enough so that at the time of putting it into the silo it contained 30 to 45 per cent of dry matter. When it contains more water than this, it seems to make a sloppy, foul-smelling silage. The best plan seems to be to let the crop lie in the swath for a few hours after mowing until it is well wilted, but not dry.

Generally.
