EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1924.

No. 45

Flanders Wins On Slips

Defeats Primary Nominee Cooper By Good Margin

Probably the greatest outstanding feature of the election last Tuesday, as far as Charlevoix County is concerned, was the remarkable run made by Joseph Wm. Flanders of Eveline township on slips for election to the County Treasurer slip on the Republican Ticket.

Mr. Flanders was defeated at the September primary in a three-cornered contest for nomination. His many friends in the county urged him to enter the race on slips, and through their efforts, have elected him to the office by a good majority. Unofficial returns in the county give Flanders 2127, Cooper 1632 (exclusive of Peaine and Norwood) giving him an approximate 600 majority. East Jordan gave him a 212 majority, and South Arm township another even 100.

In East Jordan

The September primary is supposed to bring out the maximum of votes, but this year the rule was overturned. In September the vote in the city for County Treasurer was 504, while last Tuesday a 638 vote was cast. As a result there were not enough ballots to go around, a few eleventh hour voters were, so it is claimed, disfranchised. For this shortage no blame can be placed on the county board of election commissioners. The state law says that not less than 25 per cent more ballots per precinct shall be printed than the number of votes cast in said precinct at the last November election for the office of Secretary of State. In 1922, according to the Michigan Manual, Charlevoix county cast 2181 ballots for this office, and, plus 25 per cent would make it 2717. To date there were 3751 ballots cast for County Treasurer with two precincts yet to be heard from.

Following is the vote as far as East Jordan is concerned.

Phone Co. Wins Rate Case

Supreme Court Decides Reduction of 12 per cent Is Void.

Michigan telephone users will continue to pay approximately the same rates as they are paying now and the state public utilities' reduction order of 12 per cent is void, the state-supreme court ruled in an opinion handed down at Lansing, Oct. 31st.

The court also ruled the American Telephone & Telegraph company's four and one half per cent contract void.

Under this contract the Michigan Bell Telephone company paid the A. T. & T. four and one half per cent of its gross receipts for use of leased wires. The opinion settled a legal controversy which has been in the courts and before the state utilities commission since 1913.

The last phase of the telephone case started in August, 1922, when the company appealed from an order of the utilities commission which reduced rates on an average of 12 per cent throughout the state.

Under the opinion, the company is allowed a depreciation reserve of ten million dollars in computing its valuation, making its total of forty-nine million dollars instead of thirty-nine million dollars.

Save Your Seed Corn

There Will Be A Great Demand For It Next Spring.

The seed corn situation is again serious, even more so than last year. You recall what a high moisture content corn contained at that time and from your own experience how difficult it was to carry it through the winter in the proper condition for use in the spring.

This year the situation is even worse than last year. Nine-tenths of the crop will be harvested in a somewhat soft condition due to the very unfavorable weather conditions. If you expect to get a good crop of corn next year more than the average attention will have to be given it in the way of curing and storing. The importance of selecting your seed corn now for next year cannot be over-emphasized. Action now means dollars and cents.

The following are some seed corn facts:

Good seed corn can only be secured by thoroughly drying carefully selected ears before being exposed to the freezing weather. At this time corn contains from thirty to forty per cent moisture and is easily damaged by molding and freezing. In order to retain its vitality it must be rapidly dried so as to pass the winter with a moisture content of from twelve to fifteen per cent. Place it where it will receive free ventilation of air to dry rapidly. No two ears should touch. Corn can be stored in many different ways, but the main thing is to have good ventilation and have windows open to allow the removal of the excessive moisture.

Properly dried seed corn will not be greatly damaged by freezing, but prevention is good policy.

Dependable seed corn cannot be secured from crib.

It pays to handle seed corn properly, a little work this fall in selecting, drying and storing seed corn insures better germination and a more vigorous start next spring.

More full hills and fewer spaces in the row.

A heavier and richer crop for the silo.

A heavier yield of well ripened corn. In the Corn Belt they have scarcely a bushel of seed corn. They are willing to pay almost any price for Northern grown seed corn. Save your seed corn. There will be a great demand for it in the spring.

Groesbeck received 118, Fernsdorf 69.

Couzens (U. S. Senator) received 150 on long term and 149 on short term, Corley received 38 on each term.

For County Treasurer, Flanders running on slips, received 145; Cooper 45; giving Flanders an even 100 majority.

Seed Potato Growers In New Association

Better Tubers Aim of Organization to be Launched at Cadillac, November 25.

A new state farm cooperative association, to be known as the Michigan Certified Seed Potato Growers Association, will be launched at a meeting called for at Cadillac on Nov. 25th, according to farm crops extension specialists at the Michigan Agricultural College. Articles of incorporation have already been taken out, it is said, and the membership is to be open to all raisers of certified potatoes in the State.

Objects of the new organization, as expressed in the articles of incorporation, will be: to encourage the production of certified seed potatoes, as recommended by the Michigan Agricultural College; to effect distribution and sale of the same to the greatest possible advantage; and to improve the market quality of the general table crop, by encouraging the use of certified seed and employing better cultural methods.

The Certified Seed Growers group will not in any way interfere with or replace the two older co-operative potato organizations, it is said. The Michigan Potato Growers Exchange, with offices at Cadillac, and the Michigan Potato Producers Association, a pioneer in raising certified seed potatoes, will continue to function as in the past, the new group providing a new and somewhat wider field for certified seed production among growers.

J. W. Weston, extension specialist in crops at the Michigan Agricultural College, has been named temporary secretary of the Certified Growers, while H. C. Moore, also a crops extension man at M. A. C., will continue to serve as secretary of the Potato Producers Association.

Through a cooperative agreement, arrangements have been made whereby sale of the crop raised by the new association will be handled by the Potato Growers Exchange, of Cadillac. Individual members of the Association, however, will be able to market directly if they so desire.

Directors and officers of the new association are to be elected at the meeting Nov. 25th.

Alfalfa Best Breakfast Food For Mich. Dairy Cows

"Alfalfa is the greatest known breakfast food for Michigan dairy cows and possesses a flavor that makes the most blasé cow brighten up and pass her plate for more," according to a statement just issued by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. Where it can be grown successfully, it excels all other hay crops in yield per acre, feeding value, drought resistance, soil enrichment and weed eradication, the statement continues.

"Of the estimated sixty-odd millions of acres in tame hay this year, only a little over ten million acres are in alfalfa, although alfalfa will produce twice as much or more per acre than any other hay crop. While it takes a little more effort to grow alfalfa its requirements are not impossible, and only where some other legume can be grown with extreme ease and made to produce large yields is the omission of alfalfa from the crop scheme on the dairy farm justifiable.

"Average farm prices per ton shows that alfalfa generally brings more than either clover, prairie hay or timothy and possesses a much greater value for dairy cows. In spite of this and other advantages, however, many farmers have failed to take advantage of the possibilities of alfalfa. The last census showed that while seven out of every ten farms had dairy cows, only one grew alfalfa, and even Wisconsin, the distinctive dairy state, while reporting cows on ninety per cent of its farms, counted only seven per cent growing alfalfa.

"The 10,000 Acre Alfalfa Club project, which has proven so effective at Gauk Centre, Minnesota, and which the Creamery Institute of Chicago is helping to organize in various parts of the country, is demonstrating the possibilities of alfalfa, and dairy farmers are looking to this new feed to help them up the road to prosperity."

Nearly everybody is opposed to child labor and quite a good many to man labor.

"Poor as a church mouse" isn't a good figure of speech nowadays. Ladies Aid Societies serve so many dinners and have so many markets that a church mouse ought to fare a good deal better than any other kind.

Tuber Grading Well Accepted

State Inspector Finds Opposition Only In Backward Communities

After completing inspection tour covering every potato shipping point in Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Antrim, Kalkaska, Charlevoix and Emmett counties, State Inspector of Potato Grades W. G. Lensen states that with but very few exceptions shippers and growers in this territory are strongly in favor of the potato grades and are giving loyal support to this work.

It is a significant fact that what little opposition there is to grading potatoes centers around backward communities, usually more or less isolated from larger shipping points. This indicates that in prosperous sections where farmers have made a study of their marketing problems, grading is accepted as a necessary part of successful marketing.

General run of potatoes throughout the territory covered is exceptionally good. Occasional section where stock runs coarse. Many growers declare that by careful seed selection and closer planting especially on the heavier type of soils, they have been able to materially cut down percentage of coarse unmarketable potatoes produced.

With the good general run of stock and close grading that has been practiced shippers will be in position to put a grade of potatoes on the market far superior to that of last year.

Grange Closes Its Convention

Annual Session, Held At Petoskey, One of the Best.

The annual convention of the Michigan State Grange closed at Petoskey last Friday night following a day of important deliberations and the installation of the newly elected officers in the evening.

A long and heated debate on the child labor amendment resulted in the Grange adopting a resolution opposing the ratification of the measure. The amendment gives Congress the power to limit and prohibit labor of all persons under 18 years of age. The arguments for ratification were presented by Professor Mable Carney, director of the rural school department of the teachers college at Columbia University, New York City.

Arguing against the amendment were N. P. Hull, of Lansing, prominent in grange circles, and Stanley Powell of Ionia, connected with the Michigan Farm Bureau. Mr. Hull in referring to the Loeb and Leopold case, said that the best thing that could happen for the children would not be to keep them from working but to compel them to work. Mr. Powell said that the Farm Bureau had taken no definite stand on the question but stated that there are a number of objectionable features to the measure.

The matter of reapportionment of the legislators of the state came in for its share of discussion, the Grange advancing a plan not hitherto considered. The Grange favors limiting the representation to 100, as at present, with provision for one from each county, the others to be apportioned according to the population. The number of senators would remain 32, with the provision that no county have more than six. Another clause of the Grange recommendation provides that individuals considered in the reapportionment be able to pass a literacy test.

Other matters of interest to the Grange were discussed and resolutions adopted. In the afternoon a memorial service was held for departed members.

Adrian was chosen as the Convention city for 1925 at the regular meeting of the State Grange which commences on the last Tuesday of October.

Officers of the Grange

The Michigan State Grange has re-elected A. B. Cook of Owosso, grand master of the organization, and Mrs. Dora Stockman of Lansing, lecturer. Salsbury, St. Joseph county, was elected overseer.

GROESBECK AND COUZENS FAIRLY SWAMP OPPONENTS

Three Proposed Amendments to State Constitution Badly Beaten—Record Vote Is Cast

Detroit—Michigan gave preponderant majorities to President Calvin Coolidge and Gen. Charles G. Dawes to Senator James Couzens and Gov. Alex. J. Groesbeck, and to the Republican candidates for lieutenant governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, State Treasurer, and Auditor General. It cast what ap pears to be the heaviest vote in its history.

Coolidge and Dawes led the Democratic and LaFollette tickets practically five to one.

Coolidge's majority, it was estimated on incomplete figures from all 83 counties, will exceed that given to Harding four years ago.

Governor Groesbeck, it was estimated on early returns, won over Edward Frensdorf, his Democratic opponent by at least three to one.

Senator Couzens' victory over Dean Cooley, the Democratic candidate, was also approximately three to one.

It appeared likely that close to 1,250,000 votes were polled, more than 200,000 the number cast when Harding received a landslide in Michigan with a majority of nearly 500,000.

The expectation that the Michigan dries would continue their hostility to Couzens because of his advocacy of old-fashioned beer, was not borne out, however, by the vote of rural constituencies, which went heavily to the senator, notwithstanding the rural districts are conspicuously dry.

Proposed Amendments Meet Defeat:

A sound defeat was administered to all three proposed constitutional amendments.

The state income tax amendment was beaten by better than four to one in sections of the state which had been expected to favor it. The vote in these counties was even a more decisive repudiation of the proposed supplementary tax levy than that recorded two years ago.

The amendment proposed to levy a state tax on incomes exceeding $4,000.

The amendment proposing to abolish the parochial schools of the state also met with defeat at the hands of the voters, although it fared somewhat better than the income tax. In some of the counties this amendment did muster a slight margin, among which were Lapeer, Gratiot, Alcona and Midland counties. In Wayne it was defeated by better than two to one.

Had the amendment carried it would have required all children between the ages of 7 and 16 to attend the public schools, and would have closed all primary, private and church educational institutions.

The reapportionment amendment was proposed and backed almost solely by State Representative John B. Corliss, of Detroit.

The principal criticism against it has been that it sought to attain a greatly desired result by a somewhat questionable route and it had tough sledding in all parts of the state. It was buried by an emphatic majority.

The effects of the amendment had it passed, would have been to give Wayne and other large population centers a representative in the legislature based upon present population.

State Congressmen Republican

The following Republican congressmen were regarded as certain of reelection, on the face of early returns:

- First district, John B. Sosnowski, Detroit.
- Second district, Earl C. Michener, Adrian.

- Third district, Arthur B. Williams, Battle Creek.
- Fourth district, John C. Ketcham, Hastings.
- Fifth district, Carl Mapes, Grand Rapids.
- Sixth district, Grant M. Hudson, Lansing.
- Seventh district, Louis C. Cramton, Lapeer.
- Eighth district, Bird J. Vincent, Saginaw.
- Ninth district, James C. McLaughlin, Muskegon.
- Tenth district, Roy O. Woodruff, Bay City.
- Eleventh district, Frank Scott, Alpena.
- Twelfth district, W. Frank James, Hancock, (unopposed.)
- Thirteenth district, Clarence McLeod, Detroit.

Michigan Democracy lost her sole Representative in Congress in the Republican landslide. Robert H. Clancy, of Detroit, representing the First District, ran far behind his Republican opponent, John B. Sosnowski.

Detroit Mayor's Race.

John W. Smith was elected mayor of Detroit, in a three-cornered fight. Former Acting Mayor, Joseph A. Martin, former Postmaster, John W. Smith and Charles Bowles, a prominent lawyer and "sticker" candidate were the contestants. Smith's lead over Bowles was approximately 10,000. Martin ran third.

Unusual interest developed early in the campaign, when Mr. Bowles announced he would run on "stickers" after falling of nomination in the non-partisan primaries in September. He justified his decision to use stickers by stating that the newspapers almost completely ignored his candidacy in the primaries; that had they given him any publicity he would have been assured a place on the ballot. Without the support of a single newspaper he lost a regular nomination by less than two thousand votes.

Mr. Martin resigned his office as Acting Mayor to enter the campaign. He was previously Commissioner of the Department of Public Works under Mayor Couzens, and was supported by the Detroit News and the Free Press.

Mr. Smith vacated the postmaster ship to which he was appointed by the late President Harding and entered the race with the support of the Detroit Times.

Fair Weather Prevails.

Fair weather prevailed throughout the state. Everything was favorable to a big vote. While little interest was taken in the national and state tickets, as it was conceded that the Republicans would sweep the state, the campaign for and against two of the amendments had been bitter and everything possible had been done to get out all of the votes to decide these issues. They were the proposed anti-parochial school amendment, which was defeated four years ago in Michigan by nearly a two to one vote; and the proposed income tax amendment. An income tax proposal also has been defeated, but it was a somewhat different measure than the one on the ballot this year.

SENATOR JAMES COUZENS

Woman, 101, Casts First Ballot.

Mrs. John Dupont, 101, cast her first ballot at the polling place in Ira township near Port Huron. Mrs. Dupont is a resident of Fair Haven and on June 26 observed her one-hundred and first birthday. She was given a few instructions but marked her ballot without the use of glasses. Her mind is unusually clear and she is still active enough to take care of her own house work.

Monroe's Oldest Citizen, 97, Votes.

John Michael Godfried, aged 97, oldest resident of Monroe city, cast his ballot at Tuesday's election. He cast his first ballot for President Buchanan in 1856 at Tecumseh, having secured his citizenship papers at Adrian. There were no election booths in those days, and he voted on a table in a hotel. Mr. Godfried voted at every election since except eight years ago, when he was ill.

Denby Loses His Vote

Los Angeles—For the first time in many years, Edwin Denby, former secretary of the navy, failed to cast a ballot. Billed here as a witness in the government suit to cancel Doherty oil leases, Denby failed to receive an absent voter's ballot from his home in Detroit in time to cast his vote.

More than 5,000 gallons of oil were showered over the surrounding neighborhood, with a loss of about $800. Pressure from a sudden shifting of the tank caused one end to blow out.

Detroit—The bodies of James and Harry Caskins, brothers, whose automobile plunged into the Detroit river from the Belle Isle bridge, have been recovered. Seeing Ourselves

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK, Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THE Overmans and the Whites, near neighbors and friends of ours, had spent their summer vacations at the same village on the Maine coast. They had not known each other very intimately before going off together, but the place where they were staying was small and they came back each with a more definite opinion of the other than he had before. There is nothing like the associations of a vacation to show up the vagaries and weaknesses of an individual.

Mrs. Overman called on us soon after her return. We have known her a long time and are used to receiving her confidences.

"Did you have a good vacation?" I asked. It's a conventional question, but how else should one begin?

"Yes," she answered; "but don't you think the Whites are queer?"

"How so?" I inquired.

"Well, he seems so selfish and overbearing with her, and she—to be really plain about it is tight—just men's stinky tight. He's in rags, and she hasn't a decent dress to her name, and it isn't because they are poor. She's too close to spend the money."

It interested me. I had suspected that the Whites were frugal, and now my opinion was confirmed. A few days later Mrs. White dropped in.

"Wasn't it queer about the Overmans?" she ventured during our conversation. "They didn't get their meals at the hotel at all this summer. She did the cooking for the family in their little cottage, and she kept his nose on the grindstone all summer helping her with the work. I know if it had been Fred he would have protested. She has him horribly henpecked, and the way she hangs onto money is a fright."

I said nothing. It occurred to me, however, that I had heard it said by those who have had something to do with the underworld that thieves are the most likely to accuse others of stealing.

Have Kidneys Examined By Your Doctor

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salt occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.
To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

AMERICAN ENVOY TO CHINA IS DEAD

EDWARD BELL

Pekin—Edward Bell, American charge d'affaires, and well known in the American diplomatic service, died suddenly last week following an attack of heart failure. The body is being sent to the United States.
Ferdinand Mayer has assumed charge of the American legation.

TWO DRY AGENTS ARE FIRED

Found Responsible for "Tipping Off" Raid On Roadhouse.

Detroit—The failure of a carefully planned raid by Federal officers on the Riverview Inn at Ecorse, a few weeks ago caused an investigation which has resulted in the discharge of two prohibition agents, Jack Beamish and Lawrence J. Davis, on orders from Roy A. Haynes, Federal Prohibition Director, according to a statement by A. A. Merrick, in charge of the local Prohibition Navy.

The plans for the raid were carefully guarded as the officers hoped to catch certain public officials who have been aiding the violation of the Prohibition law down river, but when they arrived they found only three bartenders there, rolling away barrels of beer. The interior of the inn was wrecked as though the bar and equipment had been hastily thrown out. The signs pointed toward a "tipping off" of the place, Merrick said, and the investigation followed.

CREW OF WRECKED SHIP SAVED

Collision in Fog Sends Steamer to Bottom off Harbor Beach.

Harbor Beach, Mich.—Captain Fred Burge and his crew of 20 men were rescued from the Canadian steamer Glenorchy when that ship sank off Harbor Beach following a collision with the steamer Leonard B. Miller. The Glenorchy was rammed by the Miller in the heavy fog and smoke which hung over Lake Huron for days as a result of spreading forest fires on the east side of Michigan.
John Scott, 34, a wheelman, was seriously hurt when the boats jammed. He is the only member of either crew injured.

The destroyed vessel had a 6,500 tons capacity and was 356 feet long.

ETHYL GAS KILLS WORKERS

Inhalation Causes Insanity, Coma and Death Without Warning.

Elizabeth, N. J.—Tetra-Ethyl gas inhaled by workers in the Standard Oil company's plant here has caused the death of several and many others have been affected by its poisonous fumes.

Tetra-ethyl lead is used with gasoline to produce ethyl gas. It is the result of an effort to find a substance which can be used with straight gasoline to overcome certain inherent difficulties of motor car operation. The lead is said to lessen the speed of gas combustion and does away with "knocking" and also decreases the carbon deposits.

BRUSH FIRES MENACE STATE

Conservation Commission Takes Hand To Curb Spread of Menace

Lansing—Michigan's conservation commission last week asked the board of supervisors of several northern counties to issue orders against farmers burning brush until after rain has fallen. The entire country is exceptionally dry, according to the commission, and a widespread fire would do immense damage.
Fires have spread to dangerous proportions in some sections.

Windsor Wants to be Wet

Windsor—Upon the provincial government of Ontario rests the full responsibility of enforcing the Temperance act so far as the city of Windsor is concerned. A resolution to this effect was passed unanimously by the council and sent to Premier Ferguson. The resolution is designated primarily to save the municipal government the expense of arresting and prosecuting violators "of a law which was overwhelmingly rejected at the recent plebiscite."

PEKIN FALLS TO REBEL CHIEF

Armistice Asked—U. S. Naval Forces Being Withdrawn From Shanghai.

Pekin—Feng Yu-hsiang, the "Christian general," who returned from the front and seized Peking, overthrowing the government under whose banner he was supposed to have been fighting, has asked President Tsao Kun to order a cessation of hostilities.

The remainder of Feng's troops have reached Peking, giving him command of more than 40,000 men. The presidential body guard has been completely disarmed and the cabinet is being carried on under Premier Yen.

Advices to the state department from Consul General Cunningham at Shanghai reported that the U. S. naval landing forces at Shanghai were being withdrawn and that local conditions were declared to be "improving daily" with refugees returning to rural districts.

The Merchants' Volunteer Corps, the Fascist of China and the so-called red army of Chinese laborers, are still engaging in intermittent battles in Canton.

MAY LEVY TAX ON LA FOLLETTE

Political Meeting, Charging Admission, Not Specifically Exempted.

Washington—Internal revenue officials have received and are considering formal inquiries from two collectors of internal revenue whether a federal admissions tax should be levied on political meetings to which an admission is charged.

The question arose in Peoria, Ill., where a deputy collector declared that the ten per cent tax on all admissions by the federal government should be applied to receipts from a meeting held in behalf of Senators LaFollette and Wheeler.

Deputy Commissioner Estes of the bureau of internal revenue, in charge of such tax collections cited exemptions to the admissions taxes contained in the tax law, and these exemptions make no mention of political meetings to which an admission is charged.

The law provides that a tax of one cent shall be levied for each 10 cents or fraction thereof on the admission fee above 50 cents.

Wastage Costs 12 Billion Yearly.

Washington—American industry suffers a loss of $12,000,000,000 annually, due largely to preventable waste in manufacturing processes, according to Edwin Ely, government simplification expert in a report to the department of commerce. The report placed the average waste in six major industries at 50 per cent, ranging from 28 per cent in the metal trades to 53 per cent in the building trades, and 64 per cent in the manufacture of men's clothing.

Simple School Frocks Varied by Fabrics

If it were not for the great variety of patterns which manufacturers of popular clothes have presented this season, styles in frocks for little school girls would become monotonous. The vogue is for dresses made on the simplest lines, like that shown in the picture and dress after dress shows to variation of this style. But popular fabrics save the day with stripes, plaids, cross-bar and other patterns and when plain materials are used designers enliven them with platings, facings and bright touches of embroidery.
The dress pictured is made of striped flannel in blue and tan with collar and cuffs of plain linen. It may be taken as a criterion of good style for the young school girl and for her older sister also.—This simplicity in day frocks is not confined to the younger generation.

HELP US TO PLAY THE MAN

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

IT IS early in the morning as I write this. The sun is just coming up, and as I look out upon the world, there is a peace and a quiet and a beauty that thrills me. But suddenly there come to my mind all the things I must do—all I should like to do.

Labor with what zeal we will, something yet remains undone, something unaccomplished still. Waits the rising of the sun.

My courage fails me for a moment. I should like to run away from it all; I should like to go out into the woods alone and forget the irritations and the complaints, and the troubles, and the ceaseless routine of requests that the postman and the telephone and the tramping feet bring to my desk.

And then I think of Spencer, and the way he is meeting his difficulties. He's a handsome young fellow only nineteen. He has a trade, a very exacting trade, at which he is earning his living. Every moment of his day is taken up. He has no pleasures excepting the pleasure he derives from hard work and from doing the irritating tasks that hold him six days in the week. He has all of the desires of youth for friends and pleasure and recreation, few of which he can gratify. He never complains, he never curses his lot. He's always smiling, always with a cheerful word on his lips. At home there are father and mother and a family of brothers and sisters leaning on him, needing his help, requiring his aid; and he gives it cheerfully and manfully.

I know when I think of him that there is no task which one cannot perform if he has courage, no irritation which may not be overcome with patience, no temptation which may not be resisted if one has principle and keeps faith in God. The day brings difficulties but they are seldom beyond one's strength, and the duty done brings happiness.

It must have been early morning when Stevenson wrote: "The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to play the man, help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces, let cheerfulness abound with industry. Give us to go blithely on our business all this day, bring us to our resting beds weary and content and unadmonished, and grant us in the end the gift of sleep."

SINNERS in HEAVEN
by CLIVE ARDEN
COPYRIGHT BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

Without doubt this story is the work of a master. The characters are real human beings. They were faced with a thrilling situation involving a problem too trying for the average sinner and probably too great for a saint to handle; nevertheless there were smug individuals ready to condemn them.

If you regard black as always black and white as always white, you may decide that the first word of the title is most appropriate; but if you can see varying shades of gray between black and white, you will be able to observe the peculiar fitness of the last word of the title. Any way you view it, it is a great story.

The Herald has been handicapped a good many times in the past winter storms, but this is a new one—viz: LACK OF RAIN. A freight shipment of material necessary to issue an eight-page paper is held up at Grayling owing to the fact that the East Jordan branch of the Michigan Central has discontinued service for the time being. The reason given is that the locomotive was liable to set forest fires going through its 45 miles of mostly cut-over land. This is probably the driest fall we have ever known, forest fires are being kept in obedience only through hard work, and the utmost care must be exercised to prevent serious loss until the "fall" rains set in. East Jordan is receiving good services over the P. M. R. R. and E. J. & S. R. R. and next week The Herald—through express or parcel post service—will be back again to normal.

In a line with subscription renewal to The Herald, Mrs. Cummings says that the rooming house which she purchased is all occupied, and that in addition to this work she is matron of a dormitory this year having charge of twenty-four girls, which keeps her pretty busy. An Epic of the Airplane

By CLIVE ARDEN

A crack flyer, an English girl and the latter's chaperone, started via the air from London to Australia. They did not go to heaven but they dropped into an earthly place that was paradise for awhile.

Their adventures were entirely out of the ordinary and very thrilling, but in no way to be compared with a moral question that faced them. Can clean hands and a pure heart break a sacred convention? Can two people be married without a civil or religious ceremony? Did they dodge the difficulty or did they solve it? Did they regain their heaven?

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation; improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

State Comm'r Gives Probable Program For State

"I believe that I am safe saying that something will be done at once by the present administration to improve the condition of the tuberculous" declared Dr. Richard M. Olin, State Commissioner of Health, in outlining a probable tuberculosis program for Michigan at the banquet closed the annual meeting of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in Ann Arbor.

Speaking on the subject, "A Tuberculosis Sanatorium Program for Michigan," Dr. Olin said, "I believe state subsidized county sanatoria are a mistake. In the poorer counties they are too often boarding houses for the tuberculous; adjuncts to poor farms, so exist in many counties today. They cannot afford full time medical supervisors. County boards of supervisors fail to make appropriations from year to year.

"Officially, Michigan has done very little towards caring for its victims of tuberculosis. My plan, which is unofficial, and I say this after careful study of the situation in both Michigan and other states, would be to build district operated, state controlled sanatoria.

"There would be three or four in the lower peninsula and two in the upper. Each group would consist of at least one distinct, separate building for advanced cases, one for incipient cases, one for the child which has been infected, with facilities in each group for preventorium work."

Building and operating of modern sanatoria is not a waste of dollars, according to Dr. Olin. Results will be obtained in a hospital which is not a shack. A well operated sanatorium puts a patient in the proper frame of mind, which means so much in fighting tuberculosis.

Dr. Olin also said he believed there should be a social service bureau to find the tuberculosis patient and care for him after he graduates from a sanatorium. He closed his address by complimenting from the National Tuberculosis Association, saying "It has done more solid work than any health association which has ever existed. The state department of health is always glad to co-operate when called upon."

The adoption of a new and "workable" constitution and a change in the board of directors from 35 to 21 members, though still fully representative of all parts of Michigan, were two of the major accomplishments at the last annual meeting of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, just held in Ann Arbor.

The new directors for one year are: Mrs. C. J. Smith, Bay City; Dr. A. F. Fischer, Hancock; Harry D. Bennett, Lansing; W. R. Wooden, Battle Creek; Dr. B. A. Shepard, Oshkemo; Dr. J. H. Kellogg, Battle Creek and Henry P. Williams, Detroit. For two years: Mrs. L. L. Mautner, Saginaw; Dr. W. H. Marshall, Flint; Frank B. Leland, Detroit; F. E. Mills, Lansing; Dr. Edward Sawbridge, Stephenson; Marshall Uhl, Grand Rapids and Dr. John Sundwall, Ann Arbor. For three years: Dr. E. B. Pierce, Howell; Dr. E. R. Van Der-Slice, Lansing; Miss Marie Comstock, Alpena; Dr. Merlin Draper, Ironwood; Dr. L. A. King, St. Joseph; Robert P. Hudson, Sault Ste Marie and Dr. W. E. Coates, Kaleva.

Frank B. Leland, Detroit philanthropist, whose hobby is the eradication of tuberculosis, was re-elected president. He characterized the old constitution and board of directors as unwieldy, mentioning some of the largest and most successful corporation in the United States with less than twelve or fifteen directors.

"The Michigan Tuberculosis is in the last analysis temporary," said Mr. Leland in his opening address. "We are simply doing the work until the time comes when it will be done through public channels. I would remind those who maintain that we are visionary, that all great movements have been started by 'cranks.' Already in Michigan, 51 of the 83 counties are organized to fight tuberculosis.

"I do not believe the time will come when educating people to avoid tuberculosis will be enough. There will always be some who will need care. Free Chest Clinics are illustrative of the work now being done. Many practicing physicians believe that people will not attend these free clinics, but they are surprised to see the number who appear, and grieved to find so many affected."

Two famous graduates from the University of Michigan, class of '84, were speakers at the 16th annual meeting of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association just held in Ann Arbor. They were Dr. Woods Hutchinson, internationally known writer and lecturer on health subjects and Frank B. Leland.

Mr. Leland was re-elected president of the Association. During the closing session he told of a plane for "A contemplated after care colony" which he and other Detroit business men are fostering. "It is too well known to need explanation," said Mr. Leland, "that tuberculosis patients who are arrested cases cannot follow the advice of their physicians to do light work and get plenty of fresh air, in this day of labor competition, especially if they have a family to support.

"We have purchased a 190 acre farm on the Detroit-Ann Arbor road, about ten miles out of Ann Arbor. Here we expect to establish an After Care Colony, where arrested cases may have their little cottages and sell the products of the farm, which will be milk, butter, eggs and vegetables. We have a market already, in the Detroit sanatoria with their 100 or more patients. We do not expect our colony to be a money making project. If it pays expenses and gives home for the men and women whose lives have been wrecked by tuberculosis, we shall be satisfied."

Dr. Hutchinson, speaking at the banquet which closed the meeting, contrasted present and past methods of treatment for tuberculosis. Formerly, he said, "patients who lost their cough and gained weight, were declared cured. Now they are taught at modern sanatoria to take care of themselves after their cases are arrested and how to live with their disease. Rarely can they be called cured.

"The history of tuberculosis is the history of civilization. We think it has changed. It has not. It has simply changed from consumption, a disease unknown in origin, hopelessly incurable; to Tuberculosis, well defined as to origin and not hopeless to the victim who will follow a persistent and patient treatment."
