

SIRDAR OF EGYPT SHOT TO DEATH

MAJOR GENERAL SIR LEE STACK FALLS AT THE HANDS OF ASSASSINS

BRITAIN DELIVERS ULTIMATUM

Demands Apologies, Indemnity for The Crime and Withdrawal of Egyptian Troops

London—Strong, immediate action has been demanded by the British government in representations to the Egyptian government as a result of the murder of Major General Sir Lee Stack, governor general of Sudan and sirdar of the Egyptian army, last week.

A sharp note to Cairo was prepared by Premier Baldwin and was delivered by Lord Allenby to Premier Zaghiul Pasha demanding an apology for the crime, indemnity of approximately $2,500,000, required the withdrawal of Egyptian officers and troops from the Sudan, and the protection of foreigners in Egypt to be given over to the British government. The Sudan government was to increase its irrigation project to an unlimited figure.

The Egyptian reply agrees to make the proper apology for the crime, agrees to pay the required indemnity and to punish the criminals involved, but denies their complicity with any governmental organization.

Replying to the irrigation proposals, the note declares the British demands are "premature" and not in accordance with their previous declarations of policy. It suggests a settlement should be effected by a mutual accord, with the proper regard for the interests of Egyptian agriculture.

Concerning British officials, the note replies the matter has already been settled by a diplomatic agreement.

Three Pullmans and Engine Overturn—Passengers Escape Injury

Detroit—Several hundred Detroiters, returning from the Michigan-Iowa football game at Ann Arbor, had miraculous escapes from death when their train, an eight-car all-steel Pullman special of the Michigan Central, left the tracks just west of the Schaeffer road in Springwells last Saturday evening.

The wreck occurred just as the train passed over the new viaduct over Schaeffer road. Railroad officials expressed the belief the wreck was caused by a sagging brake beam, broken wheel or split rail.

JURY FINDS AXE SLAYER GUILTY

Murder Charge against Dyke Reduced To Manslaughter

Grand Haven, Mich.—Egbert ("Happy") Dyke, 34 years old, axe slayer of pretty Molly Fleming was convicted of manslaughter in circuit court here.

The jury reduced the state's charge of first degree murder to that of manslaughter. Dyke's attorneys were successful in establishing that the young Marne mechanic had not intended to kill his school teacher fiancée.

The killing occurred October 17. Dyke came to the country school late in the afternoon and asked the girl to ride home with him. She refused and went to the woods behind the school house. Dyke followed and attacked her with an axe, crushing her skull. The girl died a few hours later.

Sentence will be imposed this week. Dyke is liable to up to 15 years in the state penitentiary.

Young, American financial genius, who started the machinery of Dawes reparations plan working, has returned from abroad, confident that Europe is on its way to harmonious co-operation and prosperity. Young said France had come to consider a fully developed German democracy as the best safeguard of the future.

Young asserted that the best evidence of the success of the Dawes plan was reflected in the bringing of private deposits in Germany, previously hidden, to the banks.

BRITAIN BIDS FOR AID OF U. S.

Rejects League of Nations Plan For Disarmament Conference.

Washington—The unwillingness of Great Britain to enter any new international peace conference without the United States as a participant and the hope that President Coolidge may be induced to summon such a gathering, is the real reason for British disapproval of the plan for a disarmament conference under the auspices of the League of Nations, according to press dispatches.

Since the success of the conservatives in the British election, there has been a series of speeches by British statesmen, all highly laudatory of the United States and its Government. The attitude of France has been considered a stumbling block in the way of assembling another such conference.

INCE, GENIUS OF SCREEN, DIES

Veteran of Films Succumbs at His Beverly Hills Home

Hollywood, Cal.—Thomas H. Ince, pioneer motion picture director and producer, died of angina pectoris at his Beverly Hills home.

He entered motion pictures in 1911. After having acted parts on the legitimate stage and playing in vaudeville, his screen parts at first were small, but he soon was given more important roles.

He became a director, then a producer, and, in the last 10 years, built some of the best-known studios and produced some of the most pretentious and successful screen dramas.

Corey Resigns Farm Loan Board Job.

Washington—The resignation of M. L. Corey as a member of the Federal farm loan board has been tendered to president Coolidge. Mr. Corey was appointed to the board as a representative of the midwestern farming area. His intention to leave the board to resume the practice of law was indicated several days ago when Mr. Corey declared it was too much of a sacrifice to remain in his present position. He will practice his profession in New York.

American Autos Superior To Foreign Makes

Auto Shows at Paris and London Shows Conditions in Two Countries

For the first time, a specific comparison is here drawn by a leading American manufacturer just back from Europe, between foreign and American cars, which makes clear the reasons for American superiority of manufacture.

BY A. R. ERKINE.

President, The Studebaker Corporation Two of the world's greatest automobile shows were held in October at Grand Palais, Paris, and Olympia, London. The number of firms exhibiting at both shows exceeded considerably the number which exhibit at our annual shows in Chicago and New York, but the character and quality of their automobiles, bodies parts, and accessories were certainly not superior to ours.

Different conditions in Europe and the United States explain the numerical superiority of the foreign shows. With the exception of two or three manufacturers in both France and England, all producers of motor cars are assemblers who purchase their bodies and parts from different makers of such things, and consequently, there are a host of such makers competing for this business. The ownership and operation of foundries, forge shops, stamping plants, and body factories by car producers is quite limited.

Numerous manufacturers sell more chassis than they do complete cars, and retail buyers of chassis purchase their bodies from the body makers direct. Then again, the Paris and London shows contain many cars of foreign make, where as our New York and Chicago shows house only cars produced in the United States.

More Exhibition.

At the Grand Palais, a commodious, beautiful building, 122 different makes of motor cars were on exhibition, including 87 French, 10 Italian, 12 American, 8 Belgian, and 5 British makes.

Olympia had 134, including 75 English 22 American, 22 French, 10 Italian, and 5 Belgian makes. At Paris, 53 makers of commercial vehicles and trucks, 78 different makers of bodies, 128 motorcycle and bicycle manufacturers, and over 3,000 makers of parts and accessories exhibited their products. About the same number of similar manufacturers were present at London.

The number of body, motorcycle, bicycle and parts and accessory manufacturers in the United States is much smaller than in either France or England, and of these, only parts and accessory manufacturers are permitted to exhibit at our national show. Our motor car companies are, furthermore, real manufacturers to a greater degree than in any other country.

The attendance at both Paris and London was enormous. People from all over the world attended the Paris show and London had numerous foreign visitors. It was estimated that over 100,000 people visited the Grand Palais on each of the two Sundays upon which the show was open, and 700,000 during the eleven days it continued.

The same interest prevailed in England. Such attendance proves that public interest in motor cars is as keen in Europe as it is with us. Both shows were an unqualified success from every standpoint.

Most Cars Tiny

Another marked difference between the automobile industry in Europe and America is in the size of cars produced. Perhaps three-fourths of all European makers produce small cars. Many of these cars are of short wheelbase and of treads as narrow as 46 inches, against the American standard of 56 inches.

Small tires and low road clearance are common, as are open cars seating two and three people, with quite flimsy tops.

Small bore motors with high compression, under speeds of from 3,000 to 4,000 r. p. m. prevail.

Owners are accustomed to climbing hills in second gear which American cars breeze over on high.

Andre Citroen, the Ford of France, has five plants in Paris which are now producing 300 cars per day and are being enlarged to produce 500 per day. He is producing over half the cars sold in France. His product consists of a 5 H. P. car, the three-seater or white, sells for 11,800 francs, and a 10 H. P. priced at 16,500 francs. He will sell perhaps 50,000 cars this year. Renault ranks next, with an output of 35,000. The total French output will approximate 100,000 cars.

Morris-Cowley is the Ford of England. Their small cars, 11.9 H. P., four-seater, sells for 1195, and his 14 H. P. for 1285. This concern is probably producing one-half of the cars in England. Numerous other concerns in France, England, Belgium, Italy and Germany are producing small cars.

America produces nothing comparable to these European small cars, as the reasons which compelled European manufacturers to make them do not exist in America.

Taxes Govern Size.

Europe was forced to build them because of the basis of taxation, which generally is a high tax on horsepower. The French tax is 30 francs per on H. P. on cars of 10 H. P. and less, 44 francs per H. P. for those from 10 to 20 H. P. and 52 francs per H. P. for those above 20 H. P. The Belgian tax is 30 francs per H. P. and English is per H. P. flat. France has also a 10 per cent luxury tax on the retail price. These taxes compare with something like 25c per H. P. in the United States.

The mathematical formula used by practically all countries to determine horsepower rating is admitted by all engineers to be grossly inaccurate, and yet the governments use it as a tax basis. Without attempting to describe the formula, it can be said that the actual horsepower of an engine can be determined only by test, and cannot be arrived at by formula, because it involves not only bore, stroke and speed, but the additional factors of compression ratio, valve size, valve lift, timing, weight of reciprocating parts, and the nature of ignition; also manifold design density of gas, and frictional resistance. Citroen advertises 20 H. P. as the effective power of his 5 H. P. car.

Morris-Cowley advertises 30 H. P. as the effective power of their 11.9 H. P. car.

High Speed Motors

They actually get the higher power from these small engines by running them fast under high compression, but buyers pay tax on the formula rating.

American cars like the Ford, Chevrolet and Overland have much bigger, slow speed, normal compression motors, whose buyers must pay much higher taxes. Consequently, the European small cars have a big advantage.

Large European cars with slow speed, normal compression motors, comparable to American made motors, come within the luxury class, and buyers pay about the same taxes as American cars of the same kind carry.

These cars, like Buick, Studebaker, Nash and others, are marketable in Europe in competition with the local product, while our small cars which appeal to buyers of limited means suffer by comparison. All European countries except England have a tariff on motor cars, which is 45 per cent in France and Italy, and American manufacturers have this disadvantage. Gasoline is from 50 to 100 per cent higher in Europe than it is in our country.

Quietest, durability, comfort and performance are vital factors in motor car satisfaction. They are impossible of attainment by high speed, high compression motors. Slow speed, moderate compression American motor cars afford them in high degree. Our cars are likewise unsurpassed in the world in design, quality and appearance.

Gorgeous Fabrics for Evening Wear

This is the season when dinner and evening gowns flourish at their best, and the oldest fashion reporter can recall no time in the past when fabrics were so gorgeous and lovely—and so simply handled. Everything in the materials used has a sheen or a shimmer or the glitter of metallic threads or jewel-like spangles or beading. Rich metallic and silk brocades, metallic laces and tissues and sheer, silky materials are united in the gowns that make this a memorable winter in the history of fashions.

All the heavier fabrics, the brocades, gold and silver tissues, velvets and metallic laces are adapted to the straightline gowns that hold a strong position in the mode. They are occasionally used alone and simply draped. More often they are made up with sheer materials, as georgette or chiffon, as shown in the picture given here. In the gown a front and back panel of silk and metal brocade are posed over georgette, arranged in plaits at each side. Ornamentations of metallic beads on the shoulders and at the sides of the low waistline tell all the story of its decoration.

Woman Com-mitts Suicide

Mrs. Louis Marivan Ends Life With Revolver.

About 1 p. m. Tuesday Louis Marivan ran into the logging camp of Henry Korhase and Loyal Barber on section 25 Wilson township shouting my wife has shot herself turned and ran to his home some forty rods distant followed by Mr. Korhase and others.

Mrs. Marivan was found dead on the kitchen floor with her head in the oven of the stove. She had fired one shot into her abdomen which ended her life. The revolver was found in the woodshed, where she evidently had shot herself and then gone into the kitchen. The husband told his neighbors that his wife had stated she was not very well and would not get up with the family Tuesday morning but would rest. Shortly afternoon he went to the barn to feed the team. He returned to the house inside of twenty minutes and found his wife dead with her head and shoulders in the oven of the kitchen range. Apparently the fall of the body had been in the direction of the stove. Mr. Marivan states that the empty revolver was kept in the bureau drawer in the sleeping room while the cartridges were kept in the kitchen cabinet in the kitchen. The wife's maiden name was Anna Stanek, her age was 41 years. She and her husband grew up in the neighborhood where they have resided and have many relatives in the prosperous Bohemian settlement. The health of Mrs. Marivan has caused much anxiety for some years. She had been an inmate of the hospital at Traverse City for some time and wished to return there for further treatment. She had confided to her friends that while she knew what she was doing she seemed to lack the power to follow her wishes. The family was not harassed by any financial trouble. The farm and buildings are as good as the neighbors and the home was spick and span when the coroner arrived. There are three children Ella sixteen years of age who is attended high school in East Jordan. Florence age twelve and Arthur nine attended the Brown school. Funeral services were held at the church in the settlement.

Public Schools Backing Lyceum

When the Public Schools dropped the Lyceum Course about a year ago, Mr. Olson suggested that he might take it over for at least one year. The schools promised to co-operate to the extent that they would help sell tickets and advertise the Course. Mr. Olson went further, asking your Superintendent of schools to select it. This was done from the Redpath Lyceum Bureau, one of the strongest and most popular Bureaus in America, thus assuring East Jordan as good a Course as they have had at any time.

Mr. Olson has an announcement of the program elsewhere in the Herald.

About 10 p. m. Saturday night the old Burch Mill between, Clarion and Petoskey burned to the ground. The lumber and shingles were not damaged Millwrights were repairing the mill until 2 p. m. of the day it burned but the cause of the fire is unknown. For many years it was operated as a saw mill and shingle mill drawing its log supply from the Bear river valley. Some months ago the Fitchman interests of Petoskey secured the property and have been operating the plant. No information has been received in regard to rebuilding.

Tobias Laska, aged 40, of Alba, who for several months has been caring for his six motherless children, who range in age from 2 to 12, ended his life last week by hanging himself. The children were found in the Laska home by a neighbor Thursday without a fire in the house and huddled together for warmth. They told that their father had left home Wednesday evening, telling them to go to a neighbor's if he did not return. Neighbors stated the man had been despondent since the death of his wife Aug. 15. The body was taken to Marcellona.

A concerted effort is being made all over the State, it is reported, to increase the income of the primary school fund. This is to be done by petition to the legislature for a new law at the coming session, for the payment into this fund, of similar taxes like the receipts are now levied from railroad, telegraph, telephone companies, etc., from other sources like foreign insurance and bonding companies. It is said this will increase the fund fully one-third to one-half, and just that much help on school taxes.

WHERAHIKO RAWEI Mr. Rawel, of Polynesian birth, was early in life adopted by a British army officer and his wife, who, on returning to their home in England, placed him in Oxford University. After the death of his foster parents, Mr. Rawel returned to his native islands, where he lived among the various island peoples of the Pacific, and where he soon became absorbed in the captivating glamour of the South Seas. In his lecture-recital he tells most interesting tales of the dwellers on the Samoan Islands, owned by the United States, but of which we know comparatively little. Mr. Rawel is an educated gentleman, an adept at describing the witchery of his native islands. As an entertainer, he is making a big contribution to a broader and more general culture.

MONDAY ONLY, Dec. 15th At The Temple Theatre. TRAGEDY By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK Dean of Men, University of Illinois. THERE are a good many tragedies in the real world today, as there are in books, and I have seen not a few of these. Of all those that I have seen I think the memory of Arnold, though that was not his real name, comes back to me most vividly and haunts me most often. Arnold's tragedy was a tragedy of drink. There are a good many people drinking today, thoughtlessly, recklessly, because it is clever, or expensive, or illegal, or devilish, to do so, and not because they have an appetite for drink. Otherwise sensible people take the habit lightly, girls joke about it, college boys play with it as children play with fire, and middle-aged people take it to prove that they can afford the stuff. City officials wink at it and order the police to arrest no one unless it is absolutely impossible to do otherwise, but to get the fellows off the main streets. Few really do anything to help matters—except to try to decide whether prohibition is a blessing or a crime. I was called to Arnold's room one dull gray Saturday afternoon in winter. It was necessary that I come quickly, the messenger said. There were three or four fellows in the room when I tobaccoed, and the air was heavy with the odor of whisky. Gilbert, sitting crumpled up in the corner of the room with his head in his hands, looked up white-faced and terrified as I entered. No one spoke, but speech was unnecessary. On the bed, ghastly and horrible, lay Arnold, dead. I got the story out of them brokenly, for they were all too agitated to talk coherently. Gilbert had furnished the whisky and they had spent the afternoon gambling and drinking. It was a lark only that was intended, but there was a good deal of the liquor, and they were all soon under its influence. Then suddenly as they were in the midst of their hilarity Arnold had pitched forward upon the table. They thought it a joke at first, but nothing that they could do would revive him; he was quite dead. Staggering, they carried him to the bed and sent for me. I recall all the details of the inquest two days later—the mother of Arnold broken-hearted, Gilbert searching in vain for comfort and consolation, and the dead boy lying upon the bed, the fumes of liquor still coming from his lips. There was nothing to be done, nothing to be said; there is not now. Gilbert departed and I have never seen or heard of him again. (© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

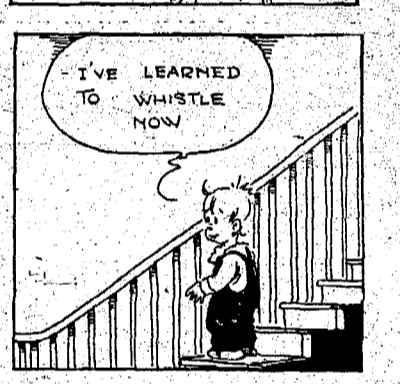

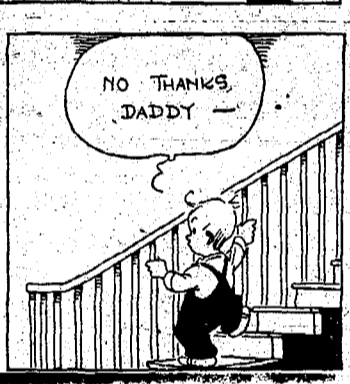

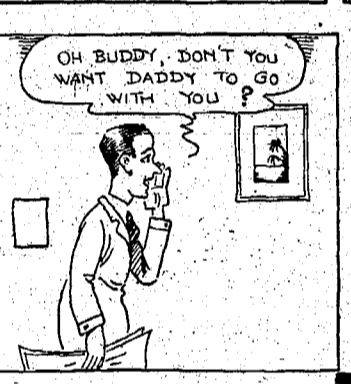

Cannibal Ancestors The discovery of a pile of human bones dating from the Neolithic period—at least 6,000 years ago—in a cave near Auch, in the south of France, has given rise to the theory that prehistoric men at that period were undoubtedly cannibals. The bones all bear marks of teeth and apparently form the remains of some gigantic cannibal feast.

DETROIT GRAFT QUIZ IS OPENED

One-Man Grand Jury Investigating Irregularities in D. P. W.

Detroit, Mich.—The one-man grand jury investigation of charges of irregularities and neglect of duty in municipal departments began last week in Recorder's court before Judge Frank Murphy with the examination by Leo M. Butzel, appointed by Mayor Smith as special counsel for the city, and Robert M. Toms, chief assistant prosecuting attorney, of city employees and private citizens.

Cinder deals between the City and the Wayne County Moving and Storage Co. formed the opening wedge by which employees of the Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research, John W. Reid, commissioner of public works, William J. Curran, city budget director, and others found evidences of irregularities in the street and alley cleaning and other divisions of the D. P. W.

John J. Knight, general superintendent of the street and alley cleaning division, was discharged after he admitted signing vouchers for the payment of $7,500 to the Wayne County Moving and Storage Co. for 5,000 cubic yards of cinders, only 500 yards of which were delivered.

TAFT URGES COURT RULE CHANGE

Letter To Federal Judges Outlines Methods of Expediting Trials

Washington—Important changes in rules for the transaction of business in Federal Courts throughout the country, which are expected to speed up the conduct of trials, are outlined in letters just sent to all Federal District Judges by Chief Justice William H. Taft.

The district courts are urged to adopt a rule that would prevent the continuance of cases to another term by agreement of counsel.

It is also suggested that the courts, at frequent intervals, fix times for the hearing of motions and the settlement of issues. Postponement on such calls should not be permitted, the conference agreed, except for causes that would justify continuance of a case set for trial.

It also suggests adoption of a rule whereby the examination of prospective jurors would be made by the district judges alone, and dismiss cases after 30 days notice, in which no action has been taken, that might have been brought to trial within one year.

TWO STATE PRISONERS ESCAPE

Tell Guard They "Forgot Coats," Fall To Rejoin The Gang

Jackson, Mich.—Two convicts, sentenced from Detroit, made their escape from Jackson prison guards last week, while a working gang was being assembled to march to their cells. They were Duane Burgess, 20 years old, and Goebel Baker, 24 years old.

According to the report made to Warden Harry Hulbert, the men had been employed on the new prison building. When lined up for roll call at the end of the day, Burgess and Baker remarked to the guard that they had forgotten their coats and were given permission to return to the building. When they failed to rejoin the gang within a few minutes an investigation was made, which revealed that the pair had escaped through a fence.

Panama Canal Shows Profit

Washington—The fiscal year ended last June 30 was the most prosperous in the history of the Panama Canal. The total net revenue mounted to $17,209,672, and to this peak was added the sum of $1,044,887, earned by the Panama Railroad, bringing the combined net revenue to $18,254,559. The tabulation shows that the income from tolls and miscellaneous receipts was $16,307,984, as compared with $10,601,066 for the preceding year and $8,468,574 in 1932.

COMMERCE HEAD URGES RADIO AND AIRCRAFT CONTROL AND DEVELOPMENT.

WOULD REVISE NAVIGATION LAW

Says Government Will Make Special Study of St. Lawrence Project During Next 4 Years.

Washington — Recommendations concerning legislation for the reorganization of the commerce department, for the control and development of radio and aircraft, and for a revision of the navigation laws, has been submitted to President Coolidge by Secretary Hoover in the annual report of his department.

The outstanding feature of our foreign trade in commodities is its strong real growth since 1918. Our total imports and exports in that fiscal year amounted to $4,279,000,000 against $7,865,000,000 in 1923-24. If we correct this difference by the depreciated buying powers of the dollar we still find an increase of 18.2 per cent, according to the report.

This compared with decreases of 12 per cent for the United Kingdom, 14 per cent for France, and 51.4 per cent for Germany, the report said.

Secretary Hoover, appointed by President Coolidge as head of an American advisory commission to study the St. Lawrence waterway project, states that the government intends to give special attention in the next four years to constructive works, such as the St. Lawrence and Colorado River developments.

HARRY HILL IS UNDER ARREST

Charged With Crime For Which Man Is Serving Life Sentence

Detroit, Mich.—The elusive Harry Hill, so-called "phantom hijacker," came back to Detroit last week in charge of officers who proved in Chicago that he is very much alive, and is being held in jail incommunicado.

Inspector Fred H. Hessler, of the state police, and Stanley Ferguson, a detective with the same department, were responsible for Hill's arrest at Chicago and brought him back.

Hill has been charged with the murder, January 1921, of Alexander Dombrowski, a Gibraltar township farmer and for whose death, Leo Sauerman is now serving a life sentence at Jackson prison.

Sauerman vigorously protested his innocence and repeatedly referred the authorities to his supposed strong resemblance to the then reputed mythical "Harry Hill."

Mrs. Dombrowski, whose positive identification of Sauerman as her husband's slayer sent him to prison for life, was herself a death victim a few weeks ago in the same spot, almost where Dombrowski was killed a year previous.

CAPPER APPROVES AID PROGRAM

Farm Bloc Chief Says Coolidge Plan Will Solve Farm Problems

Washington—Plans for the aid of the farmer at the short session of congress are understood to include a fourfold proposition — co-operative marketing, preferred railroad rates for farm products, development of the European market, and easier credit for the cattle raiser.

Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, spokesman for the western farm bloc, who recently discussed the agricultural situation with President Coolidge, said that in his opinion the commission's report would offer a solution of the farmer's difficulties.

"The domestic marketing situation, he said, can be solved by properly operated, co-operative marketing agencies with federal support and the development of European markets.

KORETZ TURNS OVER PROPERTY

Makes Assignment To Trustees For Benefit Of Creditors

Hallfax, N. S.—Leo Koretz, arrested here on a charge of swindling Chicagoans of huge sums, appeared before a commissioner under the bankruptcy act last week and voluntarily assigned all his assets in this country to the Eastern Trust Co., acting for the Chicago Title & Trust Co., trustees of the Koretz estate in the United States.

Koretz arrived in Chicago this week to face former friends who were victims of his many get-rich-quick schemes.

U. S. Wood In German Cigar Boxes

Hamburg—American cedar for cigar boxes is again being brought to Germany after an interruption of more than 10 years. During the war the Germans made cigar boxes chiefly of a paper combination. After the armistice, when the mark began to tumble, the trade could not afford the American cedar, but with the virtual stabilization of the mark the manufacturers have been able to bring the wood from the other side of the Atlantic.

His Real Name

By MINNA IRVING in New York Herald

YOUNG January, being poor, wears nothing but his skin,
While February in a robe of ermine rare comes in,
March shivers in a worn brown cloak, and April, frail and fair,
Is folded in a rainbow scarf with snow-drop in her hair.
May dons the apple blossom's pink and June the rose's red,
July in faded overalls picks cherries for his bread,
And August treads the sunny fields a stately Indian queen,
Apparelled like the standing corn in alken gold and green.
September, garbed in purple, bears a basket piled with grapes,
Dark amethystine globes from which a juicy dew escapes.
October is a cavalier, so flaunts a crimson plume,
November, telling beads of rain, is cowed in fog and gloom.
But when December comes, behold! he's whiskered, booted, furred,
His ringing laughter like the sound of merry bells is heard.
His arms are filled with many gifts and holly wreaths because
The little children knew him first and named him Santa Claus.

Form of Crosses Varies

There is a slight difference between the Latin and Greek crosses. The lower branch of the Latin cross is considerably longer than the other three, while in the Greek cross all branches are of equal length. St. Andrew's cross consists of two shafts of equal length, bisecting each other diagonally in the form of the letter X.

What My Neighbor Says

is of interest to East Jordan Folks.

When one has had the misfortune to suffer from backache, headaches, dizziness, urinary disorders and other kidney ills—and has found relief from all this sickness and suffering, that person's advice is of untold value to friends and neighbors. The following case is only one of many thousands, but it is that of an East Jordan resident. Who could ask for a better example?

Mrs. Maurice Gorman says: "My back was so weak and lame I found it hard to go on with my work. I often felt depressed and irritable, too. Dixey spells came over me, and black spots floated before my eyes. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. Three boxes of Doan's Pills rid me of the trouble." (Statement given April 23, 1920.)

On Oct. 11, 1924, Mrs. Gorman said: "I never had any sign of kidney trouble since Doan's Pills cured me."
