Junior Play Next Monday

"Aaron Boggs, Freshman" at High School Auditorium.

On the opening day of school, the campus is crowded with upper classmen, who soon learn their proper place from Lizzie Maud. The spirit of hazing is aroused when Aaron Boggs, the Freshman, from Splinterville, brought to college by his paw, Epinetus P. Boggs, who gives him a few pointers on college life.

Happy Jimmie Jamieson, the most popular boy in college arrives. Happy is noted for his love affairs, and is soon busy engaged flirty with a homesick Freshman from Dayton, Cherry Carruthers, both forgetting those at home.

Casey Jones, the politician, decides to run Aaron for the presidency of the Freshman class, in rivalry of Beau Carter's crowd.

Evelyn Newcomb, the college Queen, helps Beau capture Aaron for the Theta Nu, much to the disgust of Lizzie Maud.

The result of the Freshman election will be given at the High School Auditorium, Monday, April 20, at 7:00 standard.

Fire Destroys Village.

Marquette, Mich.—A relief expedition was sent to the village of Chat-ham, 35 miles south-east of Marquette, with food and clothing for the 200 residents of that village whom a fire, sweeping the village left homeless. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Two boys, playing with matches in hay barn are believed to have started the blaze. No one was hurt.

U. S. To Produce Helium

Washington—The Bureau of Mines, under an act passed late in the last Congress, will take over from the Navy about July 1 the production of helium, the gas used in lighting the giant dirigible Los Angeles and Shenandoah. This transfer is not expected by Dr. S. C. Lind, chief chemist of the bureau, to involve any marked change in policy.

Navy Ranks Filled

Washington—The enlisted personnel situation in the navy is so satisfactory that recruiting has been stopped for the present. With the large number of re-enlistments, it is not believed recruiting will be resumed for some time. The navy personnel is up to the strength for which congress has made appropriations.

Aircraft Carrier Launched

Camden, N. J.—An experiment, as significant of the ultimate evolution of naval warfare, perhaps, as was the first trial of iron armor plating on battleships, was initiated by the United States navy in the launching of the U. S. S. Saratoga, which will be commissioned the world's largest air-plane carrier.

Patrol To Use Captured Craft

Washington—The specially designed speed boats which have become common in the illegal delivery traffic between Rum Row and the coast, are to be pressed into service, whenever captured, in the war to enforce the blockade under regulations now being prepared in the Treasury Department.

Mussolini Also War Minister

Rome—Premier Mussolini motored to the Quirinal, where he was received by King Victor Emmanuel, before whom he took the oath of office as war minister. The premier thus will take up, temporarily, the duties laid down by General di Giorgio, who resigned.

The way the American newspapers feature English scandal you would infer that our scandals are not up-to-date.

SECRETARY WEEKS TO RESIGN SOON

JOHN W. WEEKS

Washington—The resignation of John W. Weeks as secretary of war and the appointment of his successor probably Charles D. Hilles, of New York, is expected within a few days, according to reports in administration circles here.

Secretary Weeks has notified President Coolidge that he cannot continue in his post, but his actual resignation is being held up until Mr. Coolidge is ready to announce his successor.

Secretary Weeks' physicians have insisted that he leave Washington for a long rest, preferably in some rural retreat where absolute rest and quiet would be assured.

Ford Plant For Paris

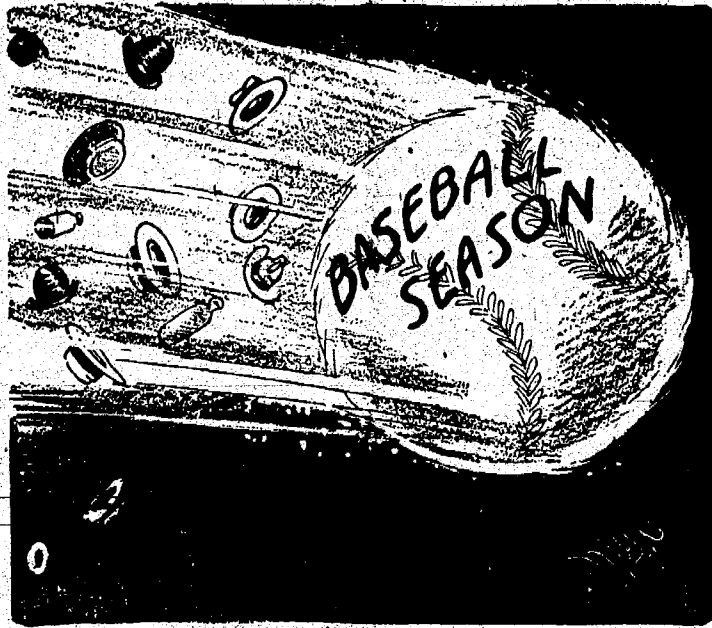

Paris—Henry Ford's dream of turning out cars in France with all-French labor and materials became a reality with the purchase of a group of buildings, formerly a liquid air factory, on the banks of the Seine at Asniers, 15 minutes from the heart of Paris. The price was not announced, but it is understood to have been at least 10,000,000 francs.

The new plant will be the largest of Ford's enterprises in Europe, and is expected to become the central distributing factory for the continent. Ford's nearest competitor, the Citroen company, has a production of 500 cars daily.

Roosevelts Sail on Hunt

New York—Kermit and Theodore Roosevelt have sailed on the Leviathan for India, thence to follow the path of Marco Polo, more than four centuries ago, to "Fair Cathay." Late in the summer their wives will meet them in India. The little party then will pick up Dr. Charles R. Cherrie, veteran hunter and explorer, who sailed for Europe a week ago, and make its way with him through the valley of the Cashmiri, into Asia.

Dairy-Alfalfa Campaign In Antrim County

This campaign should prove of great value to the farmers, and I hope that they will realize on the opportunity to get real honest to goodness help along these lines. Mr. Kurtz of the Farm Crops Department of the College will handle the Alfalfa, and Mr. Wells of the Dairy Dept. will handle the Dairy talk. Both these men are practical and have been in this work all over the state, so they have a wealth of experience to draw on. The meetings will have to begin promptly on time as there are three meetings a day. All meetings held at farms.

Detroit—Police reserves, routing a mob of 5,000 persons, saved Adline Mathis, Negro, his family and boarders at 5915 Northfield avenue, from a threatened violence after a crowd had advanced in close formation and bombarded his house with rocks and other missiles. A strong police picket thrown about the house, still was on duty early today to guard against another outbreak. Mathis told police move from the district.

Lansing—Three million dollars worth of highway refunding bonds was sold to a syndicate headed by Keene, Taylor and Company, by the State Administrative Board. The syndicate paid a premium of $270 for $2,410,000 of four per cent bonds and $590,000 worth of 4-1/2 per cent bonds. The average interest cost to the state will be 4.048. The proceeds will be used to retire an issue of short term five per cent bonds.

Ypsilanti—As a result of the action of the voters here in rejecting a proposed charter amendment, which would have raised the limit for the issuance of paving bonds from two per cent to four per cent of the assessed valuation, the same amendment which was defeated last fall, the council has refused even to allow a reading of bids offered by contractors for paving certain streets here. The ultimatum was issued that since the voters refused to allow the council a free hand, the latter will permit no paving whatever during the coming year.

Mrs. Nels Anderson Passes Away After Long Illness

Mrs. Nels Anderson passed away at her home in this city Tuesday night, April 14th, following an illness of several years duration from leakage of the heart.

Caroline Seflin-Anderson was born at Nordfjord, Norway, March 10th, 1886. In 1903 she came to the United States and in 1904 she was united in marriage to Nels Anderson at Traverse City. Since their marriage, they have always made East Jordan their home.

Deceased is survived by the husband and four sons and daughters, viz:—Miss Alma Anderson, Mrs. Inga Anderson-Smith, Miss Erna Anderson, and Robert Anderson. She is survived also by her father and two sisters in Norway and one sister in E. Stanwood, Washington.

Funeral services were held from the Norwegian Lutheran church in this city Thursday afternoon, April 16th, conducted by Rev. Johnson of Frankfort. Interment at Sunset Hill.

Lansing—Officials of the Ann Arbor-Railroad completed arrangements with the State Tax Commission whereby they will issue $1,500,000 worth of bonds against the physical property of the road and from it pay the state $600,000 for back taxes. The delinquent taxes cover a four-year period. Demand for payment has been made from time to time and has insisted on a year ago. On that occasion, Mr. Lord says, officials of the road protested that the Ann Arbor would be forced into the hands of a receiver if the state set about to collect the taxes.

Sandusky—Farmers and shippers living along the Detroit, Bay City Western Railroad route must raise $50,000 with which to purchase first mortgage bonds from the present owners if they wish to receive transportation service. The new owners, who purchased the road recently for $200,000 at a receiver's sale in Bay City, state that the section of the road in the vicinity of Sandusky can not be operated without the $50,000 additional capital. If the money is not forthcoming, it is stated, this part of the railroad will be scrapped.

Farmers Urged To Help Along County Clubs

Dear Farmer—
I am desirous of organizing several Boy's and Girl's Clubs in the County this spring and ask your co-operation and assistance. You no doubt remember the Pig Club that was organized 2 years ago and made up of over 20 boys and girls each of whom got a Registered Pig. Several of those members today have a mighty good start in the pig business and have made excellent profits. I am very sure you are interested in your boy or girl and would be glad to aid them in their development and training. This Club work is your best chance. It affords them pleasure and satisfaction in owning something of their own. It shows them the correct farm practices to follow. It will create an interest in the farm. Give your boy or girl a partnership in your business, you will never regret of so doing.

Last Fall a Calf Club was organized with 14 members and would like to increase the membership to about 20. It is open to any boy or girl between the ages of 10-20 inclusive. They can have their choice of a Jersey, Guernsey or Holstein, grade or purebred and any age they wish. They will exhibit at the County Fair in the Fall and attractive premiums will be offered.

Also want to organize a Bean Club, Ages of from 12-20. Between 12-15 inclusive must plant not less than 1/4 acre. Ages over, not less than 1 acre. The Club member keeps an accurate account of all the land operation and expenses incurred. Certified Robust Beans must be purchased for seed. They have out yielded any other bean in the State and are the most resistant to Mosaic and Blight. If you are intending to plant beans this year you would do well to use Robust. They cost a little more but will more than pay you.

Would like to organize a Potato Club along the same lines as Beans with same requirements. Exhibit at the Gaylord Show in the Fall. Also to exhibit at the County Fair where premiums will be offered.

For the Girl's Club work your Agent wants to organize Canning Clubs. Briefly the requirements are for ages 10-14 inclusive, must can 30 jars of fruit and vegetables. From 15-18 must can 50 jars. These will be shown at County Fair and attractive premiums offered. Each Club will have a local club leader who will work with the club at all times. If you have a boy or girl who would be interested in any of these Clubs please drop me a line and your Agent will be out to see you.

Yours very truly,
B. C. MELLENCAMP.

Deadlock Looms As Senate-House Breach Widens

Members Fear Friction Between Legislative Branches May Cause Delay

REAPPORTIONMENT REVIVED

Rural Bills Make Good Progress But Budget Requests are Cut To Bone

With April 10th, the date originally set for final adjournment, already passed, the lawmakers are beginning to wonder as to just when the work of the present legislative session can be brought to an end. Hopes for an early adjournment daily grow fainter as prospects of a deadlock between the Senate and the House loom up more ominously. One potent source of friction between the two branches of the legislature is in connection with appropriation bills. Thus far no final agreement has been reached regarding any of the more important budget requests.

A sample of the situation is in connection with the House bill to provide $350,000 for the construction and maintenance of a fifth state normal school to be located somewhere in the northern part of the lower peninsula. This bill passed the House with strong support, but the Senate cannot get up much favorable enthusiasm regarding it. Consequently, about a score of representatives who regard this normal school bill as their special pet, are not in a very friendly frame of mind toward the Senate. This is only a typical sample of many other similar situations.

Redistricting Up Again

Another fruitful cause of ill-feeling is in connection with reapportionment. Despite the fact that the House has gone on record by passing a resolution to postpone indefinitely the whole subject of reapportioning the representative districts. This troublesome issue does not seem destined to lie still in its grave. Senator Elijah B. Howarth Jr. of Royal Oak has introduced in the Senate a bill to allow Wayne 21 House members instead of 14 which they have now. This bill has now been reported favorably by the Senate Committee on apportionment and is up for general consideration. Even if it passed the Senate it can not be considered in the House except under a suspension of the rules, which requires a two-thirds affirmative vote.

It is somewhat hard for the up-state members to see why the Wayne people should crave additional members as long as those that they already have are not taking their responsibilities very seriously. In a debate on the floor of the House during the past week Rep. John Holland of Georgia pointed out that Wayne county delegation averaged about four members short at each daily session and one Detroit representative hadn't been present only about ten days during the entire session.

Potato Grades Adopted

Bills of direct interest to agriculture are receiving a considerable portion of the attention of the lawmakers. Senator Leland's potato grading bill held the center stage in the House last Thursday morning. This measure in its final form would make the Federal potato grades compulsory in Michigan, but would exempt from its provisions direct sales from producers to consumers of grocers. Several amendments which would have taken most of the teeth out of the bill and made it practically worthless were defeated and the bill was passed 78 to 13. It now goes to the governor for his signature.

Other agricultural standardization bills passed by the House during the last few days include Senator Leland's bill to decrease the number of apple grades from 7 to 4 and Rep. Kirby's bill providing some amendments to the present grape standards law.

Despite this apparent interest of lawmakers in the matter of grades and standards for farm products, they have cut down the appropriation for the enforcement of these grades from $85,000 to $25,000, and it is evident that unless this item is increased by the Senate, Michigan's standards of agricultural products will be so loosely enforced that they will carry little weight and merit slight respect either on the home or the out-state market.

Limit Corn Borer Fight

Another appropriation bill of particular interest to the farmers has also been passed to the bone. This is Rep. Joseph Warner's bill which in its original form would have set aside $25,000 of the state money for suppressing and controlling the European corn borer, a very destructive pest which has during the past three or four years spread rapidly in southeastern Michigan until today it is found in ten counties. If the full $25,000 had been granted the Federal government would have put $35,000 and $50,000 to aid in repelling the invasion of this enemy which is such a serious menace to southern Michigan's chief farm crop, but the appropriation has now been cut down to $12,000 and at this lower level has passed the House 98 to 0, and been sent to the Senate.

The M. A. C. appropriation bills for new buildings, maintenance and agricultural extension work have passed the House and are now being considered in the Senate. The college requests for maintenance and extension funds were cut practically in half. If the bill passes the Senate in this form it will mean curtailing extension work and abandoning county agent, boy's and girl's club and extension activities in several counties.

Defeat Pay Boost

Not following in the footsteps of the congressman who recently increased their own pay, the House defeated Rep. Palmer's resolution which would have submitted to the electors a constitutional amendment increasing the pay of the legislators from $800 to $1,800. The vote was 57 for to 34 against, but inasmuch as this was a proposed constitutional amendment it required a two-thirds vote, or 67 yeas.

Probably there can be little question but that the present amount of $800 for a two year term is wholly inadequate to cover the expenses of a primary and final election campaign and four months time and living expenses during the regular biennial session. However, probably many of the members thought that the increase was a little too great, and no doubt others were fearful as to what the folks back home would say about it. However, after the defeat of the resolution, the vote was considered and the matter laid on the table so that it may be revived before the end of the session.

With only two votes to spare, the House passed Rep. Turner's bill to prohibit secret societies or fraternities in high schools. This proposal provoked considerable debate pro and con, but it finally prevailed 53 to 35.

Because of its effect on the co-operative movement in Michigan, probably no bill passed at the present session of the Legislature is of greater importance to the farmers than Rep. Wm. J. Thomas' bill to exempt producers to co-operate marketing organizations from the provisions of the Michigan anti-trust law. This bill has now gone to the Governor for his approval.

New Income Tax Scheme

An income tax suggestion having much apparent merit has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Harvey Penney of Saginaw. It is in the form of a resolution requesting the Michigan delegation in Congress to work for a modification of the federal income tax law so that half of the amount collected in each state would be returned to it and go into the state treasury. The presumption is that the federal income tax would be doubled in rates, so that after returning 50 per cent to the states the national government would have just as much as at present. It is pointed out that such an arrangement would minimize the expense of collection, prevent duplication and avoid the confusion which would result from two separate income taxes which might have different rates, exemptions and deductions.

William Jennings Bryon would have been right in his element if he could have been in the Legislature Thursday, April 9. Everywhere bottles of grape juice were being tipped back and drained greedily by thirsty lawmakers. There was a reason. The prohibition drink was furnished by the Co-operative Associations of VanBuren county, the stronghold of Michigan grape production.

It was an interesting and significant moment when the House paused in its deliberations while Rep. Clancy of Hillsdale county introduced young Coe Emens Jr. of Prativille, boy's and girl's sheep and calf club member and National Health Champion. Rep. Clancy declared, "We are proud of the splendid products of Michigan and especially of our greatest asset, our boys and girls. I am honored to present to you a national figure, the Health Champion of the United States, Coe F. Emens." The boy received a real ovation from the representatives.

The so-called long bed sheet bill, sponsored by Rep. Cora Anderson, lady member of the House, has been the butt of much good natured merriment. It forbids the use of quilts or comforts in hotels and requires that sheets be at least 99 inches in length, so that they may be tucked in at the bottom and turned down over the other bedding at the top. Perhaps because of a spirit of chivalry toward their feminine member, but probably largely from the standpoint of sanitary considerations, the House passed the bill 63 to 21.

According to the doctors 25,000,000 cases of illness occur every year. Is this complimentary to the doctors?

OTIS J. SMITH,
City Clerk.

A wise man is just as foolish as anybody else, but he keeps his mouth shut.

Must Religion Divide?

The average American citizen is inclined to be partisan. He is a hard worker for his side, whether it is a political party, a ball team, a lodge contest or his religion.

We do not object to partisanship, which is necessary, but dangerous if blind. Take the subject of religion, and pick a conversation with the first stranger you meet. Nine out of ten subjects will be discussed in friendly fashion, but when you touch the great eternity or the workings of the great Jehovah you run into such positiveness that a very slight difference of opinion condemns you to hell-fire.

Why should a believer in any religion utter condemnation upon those who prefer some other belief? Is there something in religion that must make all converted ones intolerant? What kind of Christian fervor is it that moves those of varying beliefs towards persecution; that in the past has led to wholesale slaughter and ungodly cruelties, that today gives to many believers the idea that their duty is not so much to master themselves but rather to compel others to bow down in their fashion?

Certainly, no such idea of Christianity comes from the life or the teachings of Christ. This emotionalistic determination to convince, or failing to compel, others to swallow all sorts of interpretations and elucidations of Christian teaching does not pattern itself upon the life of the Master, whom the intolerant profess to serve.

There is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States of America that does not today bear its scars from narrow-minded religious warfare. Instead of getting together or worshipping truly in separate ways, the different classes of believers devote their energy to the creation of exaggerated differences, spending much time upon the justification of absurd contentions. We hope we have had the last outbreak of intolerant religion in our midst, that the individual in this community may worship his God in his fashion without unjust suspicions, and that the varying followers of the Great Teacher will follow the doctrine of love.

Remarkable Remarks—Mrs. Mabel Wilbrandt, assistant U. S. attorney general: "Prohibition is not being properly enforced on the Atlantic seaboard because of inadequate co-operation between federal enforcement agencies, political influence, laxity of federal attorneys and a failure to give more attention to the big bootleggers."

Running-in-oil and Timken Bearings

This new STAR, with either Timken Tapered Roller Bearings or "NO-OIL-EM" Bearings, running-in-oil, has great efficiency as a pumping power in 8 to 10 mile winds.

As you know, any mill will pump water in high winds, but the windmill that will provide water in the lighter breezes is the one you want.

The Star can do this because it has a scientifically designed wheel. The fans have just the right curvature and are properly spaced.

Bearings running in oil, with a flood of oil for cross-head, guides and pitmans, reduce friction to the minimum. The better features of the old Star, two gears, two pinions and two pitmans, are retained. This gives a direct center lift to pump rod and equalizes the load on working parts of the mill. Star is pivoted on ball-bearing turn table.

Come in and see this new Star. You will be interested in seeing how effectively it is lubricated, and we know one erected on your place will prove a better water pumper than anything you have used in the windmill line. May be fitted on any tower.

It may be interesting information for the so-called wets to learn that Great Britain is getting wetter and wetter. If you don't like dry America you might try the trans-Atlantic steamers, using a one-way ticket.

Helpless Information: A boy of 14, four feet ten inches tall, should not eat more than two pounds of candy and ice cream a day.

A Georgia man fell dead in his garden last week while planting potatoes. This ought to show your wife the danger of your working in a garden.

A Critic Criticized
James Agate in London Chronicle—
"Nine-tenths of our screen idols are as an English poet has said, 'faultily faultless, icily regular, splendidly null.'" Said of them, James?—Certainly not! Tennyson wrote that line in 1855, long before screen idols were dreamt of. And apart from that, James, your statement isn't true—no, sir, 'tain't so!

Barbaric Destruction

Diameter of Sun and Moon
The sun is immensely larger than either earth or moon. Its diameter is more than 100 times that of the earth and its volume more than a million times as great. Its mass is 332,900 times that of the earth. The moon has a diameter of 2,163 miles, about a quarter that of the earth. Its volume is about one forty-ninth that of the earth.

Detroit—Steamer Eastern States, of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company, has sailed for Cleveland on the opening voyage of the season. Over 250 passengers boarded the steamer for the pening voyage.

Bay City—Though it voted to instruct the superintendent of schools to give preference to single teachers, the Bay City Board of Education has voted against banning married teachers, a step for which there had been strong agitation.

Ypsilanti—Joseph Sackman, former State Trooper and for some time stationed at Wayne; has joined the Ypsilanti police force as a traffic officer. Last year Ypsilanti had but one motorcycle officer, but this season there will be two and possibly more.

Sault Ste. Marie—Water has been let into the American and Canadian locks at this port in preparation for the coming of the first boats. There is no ice in St. Mary's river between the two goes. The ice in Mud and Hay Lakes is still about 15 inches thick but is soft.

Lansing—A total estimated income for the year of $18,000,000 from the gasoline and weight tax laws was the figure arrived at by the department of state following the issuance of its quarterly report. When the highway finance plan was adopted by the legislature estimates ran as high as $23,000,000 or $24,000,000.

Ann Arbor—The University of Michigan during the preceding year cut down on maintenance of its buildings away below the point of good business, still, it has a deficit of $200,000. All this is due to lack of sufficient money, and that was caused by an arbitrary limitation on its revenue from the mill tax.

King Tommy

By George A. Birmingham

"He'll be surprised when I tell her I've met Mrs. Heard out here," said Allen. "That last letter I had from her she said she'd been invited to meet Mrs. Heard at a teaparty somewhere in Kensington. Unfortunately she couldn't go."

"That must have been a long while ago," said Tommy.

"Not so long," said Allen. "I only got the letter last week."

"If your sister had gone to that teaparty," said Tommy, "she wouldn't have met my wife. She's been out here for the last six months."

That, he felt, ought to put a stop to any chance meeting in London between Mrs. Heard and Miss Allen, whose name of course was not Allen any longer, for she had married an officer whom she met in the canteen—a thing which showed that Mrs. Heard had not kept a tight enough hand over her.

Tommy went to bed very well satisfied with himself. It had proved surprisingly easy to play the part of Colonel Heard. It would, no doubt, have been equally easy to play that of Lord Norneys. He began to feel sorry that he had not done so instead of claiming his own name and position. Then he remembered Miss Temple and felt glad that he had refused to be Lord Norneys. Miss Temple would, apparently, have been a hopeless obstacle to his marriage with Calypso. He wondered a little whether the existence of a Mrs. Heard would be another obstacle. If Calypso objected to a man who was engaged to be married, she might very well object even more strongly to a man who had been married for at least seven years.

CHAPTER XV

The princess, Janet Church and Tommy sat at lunch on the third day after their arrival in Breslau. Thanks to the king's influence with the manager of the hotel, they had a very pleasant table, placed in a bow window from which they had a view of the town's market place.

A large motor car drove slowly across the square and pulled up at the door of the hotel. The driver was remarkable. He wore a high cap of black fur with two long black ribbons hanging from the back of it, a brown overcoat, double-breasted and adorned with great silver buttons. The collar and cuffs of the coat were of curly black fur. Even while he sat at the steering wheel it could be seen that he was a very big man, probably tall, certainly broad and strongly built. A thick black mustache covered his mouth. He had heavy eyebrows which met across his forehead. His face was almost mahogany-colored.

Tommy stared at him with interest and pointed him out to the princess. The moment she saw him she jumped to her feet and clapped her hands in excitement and delight.

"It's Sandor," she said. "Sandor from the Schloss. He has come to take me home."

Tommy realized that they were entering a new stage of their adventure, that the journey into Lystra was to begin.

They hurried over luncheon. They spent half an hour in frenzied packing. Hotel porters dragged down bags and rugs. The little party gathered in the porch of the hotel. But the start was delayed.

An official in uniform, perhaps a policeman, perhaps a military officer, appeared from the room of the hotel manager, and walked up to Tommy. He held a small book and in a low speech asked to be allowed to see the passports of the party. Tommy did not understand anything the man said except the word passport. That made him uneasy. Breslau is not a frontier town. The examination of travelers' passports there is unusual, and in most cases unnecessary. Tommy turned to Janet.

"Is it our passports he wants?" Janet, who knew she was traveling with a stolen passport, became nervous. She spoke to the officer half-temperedly, asking him what right he had to inspect their passports. It was the worst thing she could have done. Her nervous irritation aroused the man's suspicions. Her question did not frighten him at all. His uniform gave him a right to do almost anything he chose.

"Come on," said Calypso. "We can't stand here all day." She seized Janet Church by the arm and pulled her into the car. The officer hesitated and stepped forward to stop them. He was a shade too late, but he stood between Tommy and the car, clearly determined that he at least should not get into it.

Tommy's mind worked quickly. One of two things had happened. Perhaps Colonel Heard had discovered the loss of his passports and set the German police looking for them. In that case Tommy saw no hope at all for himself and his party. Colonel Heard's passports would be recognized at once. But perhaps it was Prince von Steinfeldt who had set the police in motion. He might have changed his mind about leaving Tommy free to go where he liked. He might not care to run the risk of allowing the princess to enter Lystra. But he would not know what passports the party held. It might be possible to persuade this troublesome officer that he was Colonel Heard and that the two ladies were his wife and secretary.

He took the passports out of his pockets and handed them over. The officer scrutinized them carefully. He appeared to read through all the visas and to examine all the official stamps. At last he fixed his eyes on the photograph. As a rule, passport photographs are totally useless for the purposes of identification and might just as well represent any one else. But Colonel Heard had a heavy mustache. Tommy was clean shaven. The officer looked at the photograph, looked at Tommy, looked at the photograph and became suspicious.

Mrs. Heard was a plump, good-natured lady of about forty-five, with round cheeks, a double chin and fuzzy hair. The officer looked at her photo and compared it with Janet's lean face and sinewy neck. Then he tried to see if it in any way resembled Calypso. It did not.

"These are not your passports," he said. Tommy was actually uncomfortable; but he was not yet desperate. The officer was not searching for Colonel Heard's passports. He was merely looking out for suspicious travelers. It was possible that a bold attempt at bluff might cow the man.

"Here," he said. "I've had about enough of this tomfoolery. Hand over those passports at once and let us get away out of this."

The man did not understand a word that was said to him, but he was impressed by the confidence with which Tommy spoke. He might possibly have given back the passports, if the princess had not tried a plan of her own for getting away. She leaned forward and whispered to the driver of her car.

The man stepped out of the car and stood, a huge and threatening figure, in front of the officer. He deliberately unbuttoned his long overcoat, flung it open and displayed a whole row of weapons tucked into his belt. There were two large pistols, silver mounted, with very long barrels. They looked as if they might be of some value as antiques. There was also a heavy modern revolver which was certainly valuable as a weapon of offense. There were five large knives, two of them straight and pointed like daggers, the other three curved in a manner that struck Tommy as horribly murderous. These were evidently the man's favorite weapons. His fingers closed round the handle of one of them.

But the police officer was a man of courage. He had, besides, help at hand. From various parts of the market square uniformed men appeared, all of them with swords, some of them with revolvers. They gathered round the group in front of the hotel.

The swarthy driver was not at all dismayed. His heavy eyebrows were slightly raised. The eyes under them shone with a joyful anticipation of battle. He gripped his revolver with his left hand. His right hand held over the curved knife.

Tommy was frightened. A fight in the streets of Breslau might end in a victory for the German police, or it might end—that seemed almost probable—in a victory for the militant chauffeur. Either way Tommy and his party would get into serious trouble.

"Look here, he said to the officer, "if you don't believe we're the people we say we are, send in to the hotel and ask for Mr. Allen. He'll identify us."

The officer, who did not understand a word Tommy said, stared at him angrily.

"Oh, hang it," said Tommy. "Why can't the fool understand plain English? Say it to him," he turned to Janet. "In German or some language he does understand. And at the same time tell this swashbuckler to stop fiddling with his revolver and get back into the car."

Janet, who was quite as frightened as Tommy was, began with the orders to the chauffeur. She gave them in German, and the man took no notice of them at all. He understood German no better than the officer understood English.

"You tell him," said Tommy to the princess.

Calypso spoke to the man in a language which sounded as if several hungry ducks were quacking, all at the same time. The man rattled with a number of deep bass quacks, which sounded threatening. Calypso quacked back at him. The man bowed low to her, kissed her hand, and stepped back into the car.

Then Janet talked to the police officer in German. He was evidently relieved by the withdrawal of the threatening chauffeur and was quite ready to send for Allen.

There was an awkward silence for five minutes. Then Allen appeared and took command of things at once. He began by taking the passports out of the officer's hands and giving them, back to Tommy. Then he made a speech. It began wildly. It increased in speed as it went on. It became domineering and even threatening toward the end. The police officer was visibly uneasy while Allen spoke. Before the speech finished he was completely cowed. Allen had vouchered for Tommy's identity with Colonel Heard and had spoken with an assurance which carried conviction.

"I told him," he explained to Tommy, "who you were, and that you were in search for the graves of British soldiers. I said to him that if he interfered with you in any way I'd see to it that Germany's bill for reparations was double and that he wouldn't be particularly popular with his own people when that happened and it came out that it was his fault. I said that the way he was behaving looked uncommonly as if he had something in this neighborhood to conceal and that if you found a single British soldier in an unquiet grave, I'd put a fine of a million and a half marks on the city. I couldn't have done it, of course, any more than I could have doubled the reparations, but he didn't know that."

Tommy felt deeply thankful that Mrs. Heard had been kind to Allen's sister in her canteen in 1915. He was glad that he had not shrunk from discussing Soapy Simpson and Collins, who married the red-haired V. A. D., and the other members of "the old regiment." Allen could not have spoken as he did unless he had felt that Colonel Heard was a familiar friend of his.

"I say," said Allen cheerfully, "what a funny-looking bird your chauffeur is. Where did you get him?"

"Oh, just picked him up," said Tommy. "Fancy he's a Pole or a Russian."

"Looks to me like a brigand," said Allen. "The sort of fellow I shouldn't care to be left alone with on a dark night if I had any money in my pocket. Well, good-by, and good luck."

Tommy shook hands with him gratefully and stepped forward toward the car.

Then an odd thing happened. The tall chauffeur left his place, opened the door of the tonneau of the car, took Janet Church by the wrist, and, quite gently, pulled her out. For the moment Janet was too much astonished to protest or resist. The man, bowing low, motioned Tommy to enter the car and take the seat beside the princess.

"I thought he was an odd-looking bird," said Allen, "and he is. Fancy his dragging Mrs. Heard about like that."

Janet, furious at being treated with a total want of respect, forgot that the man knew no German. She told him angrily that she was a representative of the League for Establishing World Peace Through the Unity of Christian Churches, and that she would sit where she chose in the car. The only effect of this speech was to astonish Allen, who understood it, and to make Tommy uncomfortable because he did not.

Fortunately Calypso kept her presence of mind and quacked out a series of orders to the chauffeur.

"It's all right," she said, "he's mistaken you for my maid. That's all." Janet took her seat again sulkily. Tommy sat down beside the chauffeur. Allen, really bewildered, waved a feeble farewell. He found it difficult to believe that any chauffeur, even a Pole, could mistake his master's wife for the maid or a secretary typist.

Two days later he wrote a letter to Collins, at the Monte Carlo chicken farm, and told him that Heard was running a regular rig about Europe with a d-d good-looking girl, who certainly wasn't Mrs. Heard, but must be pretty well off because she traveled about in a big motor with her own maid. Colonel Heard, a most respectable man, spent months contradicting that story.

SUCH IS LIFE

Van Zelm

DID U EVER TH- OF THAT?

Spent Six Years on Novel

Gustave Flaubert, leader of the French realistic school of writers, spent six years in writing his novel "Madame Bovary." Its publication in 1857 laid him open to accusations of immorality, from which he was cleared.

Slow in Missing $2,500

A grocer of Cardiff docks, Wales, left his case containing $2,500 in treasury notes in his automobile outside his office for an hour, then drove to another part of the city before he learned that the case and contents had been stolen.

English War Mercenary

Prominent among the condottieri of continental Europe was the Englishman, Sir John Hawkwood, who led his famous "White company" in battle in the service of many Italian powers. He finally became captain general.

Pet Cat Honored

A wealthy and eccentric Scottish landowner who died some time ago left $500 in his will for the erection of a monument to the memory of a favorite cat.

Encouraging

Three chimpanzees are taking important parts in a new film. After this more people than ever will be justified in thinking that they have a film face.

Deception Justified

"What in the world did you mean by introducing me to Mr. Brown as your aunt?" inquired the mother with some warmth. "Forgive me, mother," said Dorothy, "but Mr. Brown seemed to be on the point of proposing and I felt that it would not do to take any risks. He has a strong prejudice against mothers-in-law."

War Nurses' Uniform New

There was no nurse corps as early as the Civil war. There were some women who volunteered to nurse the soldiers who wore no uniform. The army nurse corps was established in 1901 and, although the nurses have worn all white, there was no uniform until the World war.

Boys Encouraged to Box

Boys that are out of work in London are encouraged to spend their time in boxing and other sports at juvenile unemployment centers maintained by the government.

Locusts by the Bale

The oil obtained from locusts is said to be especially desirable for airplane use in that it does not seem to undergo any change at high altitudes. Eighty-eight bales of locusts were recently shipped from Africa to Holland. While a part of this shipment will be converted into oil, the greater part will be used for cattle and poultry food.

Clean-up and Paint-up

Many towns have made themselves better looking under the above slogan, and the paint dealers have not failed to take advantage of the effect of clean-up campaigns. It is to be hoped that the few unsightly premises in our midst will be attended to soon, and that owners of property, badly in need of paint, will not hesitate to apply the same.

We will never have a spic and span town until the individuals in it take the initiative and attend to their own property. Let every local citizen see if he cannot make some improvement, however slight, upon his property. The town will look better, make a better impression on strangers and have an effect upon future civic developments.

Simple Mixture for Gas on Stomach

Simple buckthorn bark, magnesium sulph. c. p., glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, helps any case gas on the stomach, unless due to deep-seated causes. The pleasant and QUICK action will surprise you. Because Adlerika is such an excellent intestinal evacuant it is wonderful for constipation—it often works in one hour and never gripes.—GIDLEY & MAC, Drug-gists. adv.

NEWS DISPATCHES FROM EVERYWHERE

Dodge Motors Sold to Banking Syndicate—To Remain Independent

Detroit—One of the biggest deals in the history of the automobile industry has been consummated here with the transfer of Dodge Brothers, Inc., to Dillon, Read & Company, bankers, of New York City.
Formal announcement of the purchase has been made by A. C. Schwartz, representing the purchasers, and confirmation has come from John Ballantyne, treasurer of Dodge Brothers, Inc. Consolidation with any other company or companies is not contemplated, they state, and rumors to the contrary are without foundation.
Back of the meager statement of the bankers that an agreement for purchase had been reached there is believed to have been a spirited contest for ownership indulged in between the successful bidders and the General Motors Corporation. This ended when the bankers outbid the motor company.
None of the interested parties would discuss the price to be paid for the property. The best information obtainable here is that it is $105,000,000. According to New York reports the price is $146,000,000 cash.

London and Paris
At the beginning of the Eighteenth century Paris equaled London in population and no doubt surpassed it at some earlier periods. The footing which England gained in India gave London a fresh source of wealth through its rich commerce with the Orient; it was then that London forged permanently ahead of Paris in the number of inhabitants.

Lilac Time
By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I WAS born in the spring when the lilacs were in bloom, and almost my first conscious memory is of a bright sunshiny day, when I was walking with mother in the garden down a pathway bordered with lilacs. There was a flowering currant in one corner of the garden, and I caught the glint of its yellow blossoms through the shrubbery, and smelled its pungent fragrance. The lilacs were in bloom, and the evening air was filled with the odor of the flowers. I was only a few years from babyhood at the time, but I never catch the scent of the lilac blossoms without recalling as vividly as if it were yesterday the beauty of the day and the details of our conversation. I can see mother's brown hair waving back from her forehead, I can feel the soft touch of her hand as we walked down the path, in my ears are the low musical tones of her voice, and the air is filled with the breath of spring, and the odor of the lilac flowers.

Mother had come that afternoon from the funeral of the mother of a little friend of mine, and she was trying to explain to my childish mind something of the meaning and certainty of death.

"And could you die?" I asked, my childish heart cold with fear.
"Yes, dear," she said, "everybody must do so, some day, and no one can tell when his time is coming."

"What would I do?" I asked, my lip quivering a little, "if you were gone."

"God would take care of you, lad," she said full of faith, "and if you are a good boy, you need not fear."

It's a long, long time ago, since that quiet evening in May, but so long as I live that will be "Mother's day" to me. I have never forgotten the simple lessons of truth and faith, and virtue and duty which she impressed upon me then, and though I may not always have followed them as I should, I never see the yellow currant blossoms or smell the fragrance of the lilac flowers without recalling the precious memory of mother and the lessons that she taught me, and I still believe that if I am good, I need not fear.

You mothers whose sons are far away from you, in college or in business, engaged in the work of the world, you sometimes feel that they have forgotten your admonitions, that they are beyond your influence, that they are drifting, perhaps, like a ship without a rudder at sea; but it is not so. The scent of a flower, a bit of color on the landscape, the touch of a hand, the intonations of a voice, will bring back to them with a rush the memories of childhood and the lessons and the principles which were then implanted in them.

There is lying on my desk now a letter from a young man in one of the big cities of the country. He has seen a good deal of the world, and might be expected, if one did not know human nature, to have forgotten most of the sentimentalities and emotions of childhood. Both of his parents have been dead for years.
"It's strange," he writes, "how impossible it is to get away from the lessons mother taught me. There is never a temptation comes to me but I hear her warning words; there is never a duty which I am inclined to shirk but I hear her old admonition, 'Run along, dear, and get it done now'; there is never a task well performed but I feel her approval."
They do not forget. They may grow careless; they may wander away for a time; but the lessons of youth will come back to them.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

Legislative Pay Raise Meets Defeat Though Majority Favor It

Lansing—Although the majority of the members of the house voted to raise the legislative pay from $800 a term to $1,800, two-thirds of the members did not, and the Palmer salary increase resolution was defeated.

Resolutions required a two-thirds vote. William J. Thomas, of Kent county, declared against the resolution because $1,800 a year is too much money for the kind of work we do.

Other opponents of the resolution declared there was no need to go on record for pay increases at the present time, since plans were for a revision of the constitution in 1927.

Transit Bill Passes House

Without a dissenting vote, the house of representatives passed the Callender rapid transit bill which defines the amounts of money that may be raised by Detroit by bond issue and by direct taxation, for a new transportation system.

It gives the council and the people at elections the opportunity to reject any plans of the transit commission as to routes or major expenditures. The council also will fix the limits of sums that may be raised by special property assessments.

The bill was approved, 97 to 0, and ordered sent to the senate for action there.

University's Needs Stressed

The Senate Committee on Finance and Appropriations journeyed to Ann Arbor to make an inspection of the University of Michigan and returned, visibly impressed with the university's need for an architectural building, a new museum and an administration building. Particularly did the members seem convinced of the inadequacy of the present quarters of the college of architecture, now housed in a wing of the Engineering Building.

House Appropriates Millions

Just five minutes sufficed for the house of representatives to pass six bills appropriating $3,678,316. Although it was only two weeks ago that the governor called house and senate leaders together to discuss the mounting total of appropriations, which threaten to boost the state tax in each of the next two years to more than $16,000,000, there was no argument or debate over any of the bills considered.

Longer Sheets Required

Rep. Cora Reynolds Anderson, of L'Anse, delivered her first speech in the House of Representatives. She defended her 99-inch sheet bill so ably that it passed by a vote of 63 to 21. All during the session Mrs. Anderson, first woman representative in Michigan, had answered when her name was called at the head of the list, but never had she indulged in flights of oratory.

Senate Passes Police Bill

The State Police Appropriation Bill passed the Senate with the $150,000 a year originally set aside for the Detroit River patrol merged with the rest of the money, so that it may be used for any purpose the director of public safety sees fit. The total appropriation for two years is $300,000. Senator Frank L. Young, of Lansing, cast the only vote against the bill.

Police School Defeated

The Department of Public Safety was struck another blow when the Senate failed to pass the department's bill to create a training school for police. The vote was 16 to 15. Senator Howard Baxter, of Grand Rapids, sponsor for the measure, immediately moved that the vote be reconsidered and the bill tabled, that a later vote might be had. His motion passed.

Auto Transfers Amended

The Wells Bill, to amend the regulations governing the transfer of automobiles, the lighting of automobiles, and to permit the secretary of state to pay whatever salaries he might wish to employ in the automobile license department without making an accounting, passed the House.

NEWS DISPATCHES FROM EVERYWHERE

Coolidge Decides Peru-Chile Settlement Shall Be By Plebiscite

Washington—President Coolidge has informed the Peruvian government that he was constrained to regard his award as arbitrator in the Tacna-Arica dispute between Peru and Chile as "final and without appeal." The communication pointed out that this action agreed with the terms of submission as signed by the two governments and also with the general principles of international law.

The Peruvian memorial devotes several pages to an argument contending that the arbitrator's action in ordering determination of sovereignty in Tacna and Arica through a plebiscite was the consequence of an error of translation which "runs through the entire opinion and award." The reference is to the English translation of clause 3 of the treaty of Ancón under which the two countries agreed in 1884 that plebiscite should be held either "at" or "after" the expiration of 10 years.

Lunch Rooms in Gas Stations

London—Quick lunch tea rooms are to be added to filling stations in England for the benefit of motorists. Gasoline supply branch stations are comparatively new here, but the idea has taken hold and spread rapidly, and some of the new houses now going up in and near London for the spring trade are known as "petrol palaces." Quite a number have free "wash and brush-up" rooms as well as quick lunch facilities, where members of the motor party may satisfy their thirst for tea, cake and sandwiches.

Air Express Launched

Chicago—Commercial aviation, already common in Europe, made its advent in the United States when the first plane of an air express service between this city and Detroit landed with 2,000 pounds of paid express aboard.

Arabs Attack Jews

Several Jews were injured. It was the first outbreak since Lord Balfour's arrival, despite the strike called by Arabs the day he reached Jerusalem.

Dodge Financing Launched

New York—The largest single piece of industrial financing in American banking history—the sale of $160,000,000 worth of securities for Dodge Brothers, Inc., the third largest manufacturer of automobiles in the world—has been launched by Dillon, Read & Co., bankers, who recently purchased the mammoth automobile business from the heirs of its founders.

Are You All Run Down?

Many East Jordan Folks Have Felt That Way.

Feel all out o' sorts? Tired, achy, blue, irritable? Back lame and stiff? It may be the story of weak kidneys! Of toxic poisons circulating about upsetting blood and nerves. There's a way to feel right again. Help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many East Jordan people: Delbert Turk, East Jordan, says: "I had a dull ache in my back and when I bent over to lift anything, sharp pains darted across my kidneys. I soon became run down, tired and all out of sorts. My kidneys were weak and I often had to get up during the night to pass the secretions. After using Doan's Pills from the Hite Drug Co. the trouble left." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
