Normal School Site Party

State Board of Education Visits East Jordan Last Friday.

East Jordan went under the microscope last Friday forenoon when the members of the State Board of Education, endeavoring to find the best spot in the Northern part of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan to locate a new state normal school, authorized by the last session of the legislature under the Bryant bill arrived in our city to inspect East Jordan's offerings.

The personal of the distinguished body present were as follows:

Frank Cody, Detroit, president of the State Board of Education and superintendent of Detroit schools.

Thomas E. Johnson, Lansing, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and secretary of the State Board of Education.

Allen Freeland, county school commissioner for Kent county and a member of the State Board of Education.

Frank Sparks, newspaperman, prominent in the state official circles, is a member of the party.

The third member of the State Board of Education, Fred A. Jeffers, superintendent of schools of Painsdale, Upper Peninsula, started out with the state officials was detained at Travers City on account of illness.

When the normal committee arrived at East Jordan they were greeted by a well decorated Main Street. They were escorted to the high school building where they were met by many representative citizens of East Jordan, Boyne City, Charlevoix, Boyne Falls, and other places in Charlevoix County, who, by their presence, expressed their desire to have the state school located in this county. A sumptuous course dinner was served by the high school domestic science department, aided and abetted by some of our progressive women citizens. Some sixty-odd covers were laid, and the visitors present expressed themselves as well pleased with the entertainment.

Following the dinner the committee investigated the city's qualifications as a normal school town. Actual site offered the state consists of 63 acres within a block of the high school, overlooking Pine Lake, grounds level, fringed in backgrounds with wooded hills. Across one corner is a scenic trout stream bordered by birch, oak and maple trees. The city also presents the state with its entire school system to use as training school.

Visited Eleven Cities

On the trip up the western part of Michigan last week the Board visited eleven cities. They were Ludington, Manistee, Frankfort, Traverse City, Petoskey, East Jordan, Central Lake, Mancelona, Kalkaska, Reed City and Cadillac.

Another Trip Next Week

According to announcement made by Thomas E. Johnson, superintendent of public instruction, at Lansing this week, the State Board of Education will complete the tour of the northern Michigan cities bidding for the proposed fifth state normal college, the coming week.

The board will meet in Bay City, Oct. 14 and swing through the cities and towns in the central and eastern part of the territory in which the college would be located. On the first day West Branch, Grayling, and Wolverine will be inspected. The board will go on to Cheboygan that night, inspecting the site there the following morning and proceed to Alpena. Returning it will strike Tawas City.

Some time after next week's trip the board probably will be called together to consider the information secured and recommend a site. The location must be approved by the governor.

East Lansing—A fellowship for the benefit of graduate students of Michigan State college who wish to continue their scientific studies with a view to applying their knowledge to social problems was established here when the estate board of agriculture accepted the offer of $5,000 a year made by A. C. Burnham, 93 years old, in honor of his son, Don, who died in 1906.

Alpena—Declaring that the purpose back of the American legion endowment fund drive of $5,000,000 was such that no man could refuse to lend his support to the movement, Herbert J. Markham, president of the Alpena National bank at a special meeting here accepted the chairmanship of the local committee, which will conduct the drive in the campaign for Alpena's share of the fund. Byron H. Olds was named secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson in New Romance, Is Report

Paris.—A possible romance, in which the names of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Dr. Sterling Ruffin of Washington, D. C., have been linked together, has been the subject of much speculation in Geneva and Paris in the last few weeks. Mrs. Wilson is being entertained by her friends here, but Doctor Ruffin sailed for New York September 23 on the steamer Majestic.

Rumors of the impending engagement of Doctor Ruffin and Mrs. Wilson brought the following statement from a close companion of the former President's widow:

"Mrs. Wilson adheres to the policy she has followed since she was in the White House and refuses to confirm or deny any newspaper reports concerning her."

Landslides Bury Many in Tokyo and Yokohama

Tokyo.—More than thirty persons are dead, scores injured, and many more are believed to be buried alive by landslides in Tokyo, Yokohama, and vicinity.

Thousands of houses were inundated, nearly a hundred being demolished under the landslides. The damages total several million dollars.

The Tokosan naval station reports damage to the naval yards and many narrow escapes. As the retaining walls in a Tokyo building broke many crippled girls were pinned under the ruins of the structure and tons of earth, but were extricated unscratched. Two women were killed by falling debris in the same house.

Jack Dempsey and Wills Sign to Fight in 1926

Niles, Mich.—Jack Dempsey, heavy-weight boxing champion of the world, signed articles to defend his title against Harry Wills, negro challenger, somewhere in the United States some time in September, 1926.

The articles call for a ten-round no-decision contest. Forfeits aggregating $350,000 are on deposit with the First National bank of South Bend, Ind., as evidence of the good faith of all parties concerned.

New York Heiress Robbed of Gems Worth $750,000

New York.—The theft of more than $750,000 in gems from a suite in the Hotel Plaza was disclosed here.

The jewels were two strings of matched pearls, one alone worth more than $450,000, and a ten-carat diamond ring in marquise form. They were stolen from the room of Mrs. James P. Donahue, daughter of the late F. W. Woolworth, founder of the five and ten cent stores, and coheiress with her sister to his $50,000,000 estate.

Boundary Police Seize Rum Valued at $180,000

Winnipeg, Man.—Police of Minnesota and North Dakota along the Manitoba boundary announced that liquor valued at $180,000 had been prevented from reaching its American destination during the past month.

Chile President Quits

Santiago, Chile.—President Arturo Alessandri resigned after appointing Luis Barros Borgoño minister of the interior and vice president and turning over the presidential powers to him. The president's resignation followed a dispute with Col. Carlos Ibanez, minister of war.

The World Series Is Now on the Air

Michigan Cows Rank High In Production

Ranking second only to Wisconsin among dairy states of the country in the number of heads which have qualified for the National Dairy Exposition "300-pound-herd-average" honor roll, Michigan dairy farmers have made an enviable name for themselves as efficient producers.

A total of 813 Michigan herds are listed in the national roll as having averaged more than 300 pounds of butterfat per cow from the period from July 1, 1924, to June 30, 1925. Wisconsin, with 934 herds in the select circle, tops the entire country; while Minnesota takes third place with 387 herds listed. Other leading states are: Pennsylvania, 259; Iowa, 193; Ohio, 150; Indiana, 145; and Illinois, 115.

The Michigan herds are all members of 86 of the state cow testing associations. There are 106 active cow testing associations in Michigan now, according to A. C. Baltzer, extension specialist at the Michigan State College who has charge of the association work. Wisconsin has more than 160 active associations, and Mr. Baltzer points out that Michigan's percentage of 300 herds is greater in proportion to the number of test associations than is Wisconsin's. Special certificates will be awarded the 813 Michigan "300-pound" herd owners during the National Dairy Exposition, in Indianapolis from October 10 to 17. A number of prominent dairymen of the state are also entering animals in the competitive judging classes at the big show.

It seems that everybody is entitled to except the printer—he gets, for his reward, competition from the government printing office.

Start Super Grade Potato Seed Class

A super grade of potato seed stock, to be known as "registered" seed, will be included among classes certified in the future by the Michigan Crop Improvement Association, according to announcement made here this week by extension specialists at the Michigan State College.

Foundation stock for the certified seed potato growers of the state will be provided by the new grade. The result is expected to mean constantly improved quality of seed tubers, as produced under the grading program of the college crops department and the improvement association.

Points upon which the new registered seed will be selected, as drawn up by the seed potato inspection committee of the college, are as follows: Freedom from disease; uniformity and vigor of plant growth; yield and quality of crop; known history of seed and at least two years of satisfactory results with the seed in Michigan State College official seed tests; and seed to be grown harvested, stored and marketed under conditions that meet the approval of the college inspection committee.

Districtive certification tags and special tags for the registered grade will be used for the inspected potatoes, it is understood. The new registered grade was decided upon by the M. S. C. potato certification committee, which includes H. C. Rather, secretary of the Michigan Crop Improvement Association, who is chairman; H. C. Moore and J. W. Weston, potato specialists of the college; R. J. Baldwin, director of extension work; and J. F. Cox, head of the college crops department.

If ye drive recklessly ye'll hev an accident sooner or later; ef ye drive carefully, some reckless guy hits ye. Moral: They git ye either way!

Sault Ste. Marie—After being lost for two days and two nights in the treacherous Gogewala swamp, 40 miles south of here, while hundreds of his friends and the entire force of soldiers at Fort Brady here hunted for him, James McKenna, Jr., 29 years old was found alive and brought to the Soo. McKenna became lost from a fishing party and was at first thought to have drowned in Prentice Creek.

Jackson—Lured into the automobile of a stranger here by the promise of 50 cents, 11-year-old Clarence Updyke thwarted the plans of his kidnapper when he jumped from the machine into the road after the driver had speeded to the country. Bleeding from cuts and bruises sustained when he struck the road, the lad was picked up by Mrs. Fooninan, of Akron, Ohio, who took him to a farmhouse and called the sheriff's office.

Fire Prevention Week

Governor Groesbeck Has Designated This Week.

Michigan paid a fire carelessness bill of $21,419,285 last year according to Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck proclamation declaring October 4 to 10 fire prevention week.

"Every fire which destroys property in your community is a loss that the people themselves must pay," the proclamation said. "Statistics show that about three-fifths of all fires occur in homes."

"I earnestly urge home owners, business men, farmers, lodge members, school boards, hotel owners and superintendents of public instruction to be prepared to combat the fire demon and that a portion of the day Friday, October 9, the anniversary of the great Chicago fire of '71 be devoted to education exercises pertaining to fire prevention."

Fire prevention week is sponsored annually for the purpose of instilling into the minds of the people of the country the necessity of being careful to avoid fires that are a big loss to the country yearly. The national board of fire underwriters announce that last year America burned up $548,800,000 in improved property of all kinds, bringing the total fire losses for the fourth consecutive year in the nation to more than a half-billion dollars.

The department of public safety of the state of Michigan announces some important "don'ts" which are as follows:

Don't allow children to play with matches.

Don't block the fire escape; you may need them yourself tonight.

Don't leave everything to the landlord; inspect your own house from cellar to garret and locate all exits.

Don't throw away lighted matches, cigars, or cigarettes.

Don't go into dark closets, bedrooms, or cellars, using matches or candles to light your way.

Don't use insecticides in the vicinity of open flame lights. Many such compounds contain inflammable oils.

Don't use kerosene, benzine or naphtha in lighting fires, or to quicken a slow fire—it may result in death.

Don't use gasoline or benzine to clean clothing, near an open flame, light or fire.

Don't fill any lamp with gasoline, kerosene or other oils while it is lighted. Keep the burners of all oil burners thoroughly clean.

Don't use alcohol lamps, especially those made of glass; they often break and the fluid is ignited at once.

Don't fill kerosene lamps after dark or within fifteen feet of the light or fire.

Don't put ashes in wooden boxes or barrels. Keep ashes away from boards. Don't place them on dumb waiters or in closets. Hot ashes will take fire by themselves, as they frequently have small bits of coal mixed in with them.

Don't use oils with a low flash point. Don't accumulate rubbish in premises cellars or workshops, and don't deposit such material on dumb waiters, unless it is to be removed at once, while awaiting removal keep such materials in covered metal-lined receptacles.

Write to the department of public safety at Lansing for literature to read and distribute. You will help save life and property.

Excites City Yokels

Many newspapers in the United States, wasted valuable space last week in relating in much detail the marriage of an Italian Princess to a Prince of Hesse. Just why the ceremony was fraught with such news value in this country is not visible to our naked eye. We have in this country too many open-mouthed, city rustics who stand agape when royalty "struts its stuff." Eminent Americans have asserted in the past that all men are created free and equal but there seems to be a considerable body of our citizenry who are anxious to confirm the age-old tradition that a king and prince are many degrees above the common herd.

Air Mail Successful

While the attention of the public mind is focused on the Naval Court of Inquiry, considering the circumstances surrounding the fatality to the Shenandoah, we wish to call your attention to the successful inauguration of air transcontinental air mail service. This service flew more than two million miles during the last fiscal year and carried more than nine million letters. Postmaster General New reports as follows:

"Up to this time the Postoffice, Department on all its air mail operations has spent $10,000,000. For the sum spent we have carried on the service to date and are now taking in about $90,000 a month on the transcontinental line alone. We have built about 1,190 miles of lighted airway, built our shops at Maywood, our hangers at all division points, paid all operating expenses and have on hand assets valued at $3,655,000 as of September 15, 1925."

Christians And War

Last week we called your attention to the statement of Dr. Fosdick, at Geneva, challenging Christians with the words: "We cannot reconcile Jesus Christ with war." For the benefit of those who may be under the impression that this divine has the wrong idea we submit the following.

The New York Times recently quotes from the diary of an unspecified Canadian who served in the Foreign Legion of France in a regiment decorated for bravery. This regiment has been in the Riff fighting since the beginning of the war but after a month the soldier gives up his writing. Telling of the various enterprises of the troops in relieving the hard pressed outposts of the French, he describes a cemetery in the desert where forty legionnaires were buried. "It made an unpleasant impression on me to see that nearly all of them bear no name or date—buried like dogs."

On another day, "terrific heat, men dropping like flies all along the road, overcome by heat and fatigue. Sent to rear to pick up stragglers. Lieutenant F. kicked them to make them march." Another extract, "Burned all the villages on the hillsides belonging to the Arab rebels."

Other entries describe brutalities on both sides. Read this about French soldiers "killed with knives." "Distinctly saw Riffians cut off their heads and carry them away with them." That the French were also doing their part in making this war hell is evident from the next entry. "Rested all day. The prisoners were shot."

The old-fashioned woman who was accused of putting everything on her back, now has a daughter who cannot be said to be doing the same thing.

There is still plenty of opportunity for the boy who is willing to get up on a cold morning and start his industrial career by sweeping out the town clothing store.

Automobiles are said to have brought the factory nearer the worker—except, of course, in those cases where the boys forget what street the factory is located after they get the automobile.

Banker's Wife Advises

East Jordan People

"I had stomach trouble so bad that everything I ate soured and formed gas. Was miserable until I tried Adlerika. This helped the first day." Adlerika helps any case gas on the stomach unless due to deep-seated causes. The QUICK action will surprise you. Because Adlerika is such an excellent intestinal evacuant it is wonderful for constipation—it often works in one hour and never grips.—GIDLEY & MAC, Druggists.

Uncle George; His Hobbies

At Charlevoix Board Of Commerce Wednesday, Sept. 30th.

What have we got to show for our $350,000 bond money raised ten years ago.

Charlevoix has 13 miles of good reinforced concrete road at $25,000 per mile, value 325,000 and no expense to speak of for maintenance.

What has Boyne City got for its $100,000?

What has East Jordan got for its $100,000?

What has Boyne Falls got for its $50,000?

The greater part has been blown away, and you probably know what has become of the balance. Any way it is all rough. Some of the soft stuff has saw tooth edges and what is left is wavy and full of holes. The waves are permanent as the ladies hair dresser would say. None of the SOFT STUFF roads are smooth or can be built so they will remain smooth. The material from which they are made has no substantial wearing quality and it is utterly impossible to make a road with it that will carry the SIXTEEN ton load and the truck combined.

No more money should be spent for any kind of black soft stuff to put on our roads. When it is first put on it spatters over your car in proportion to the speed you are going and when it is dry its marks stay forever. It evaporates and is absorbed by the gravel. It breaks up easily, is hard on tires and rough to ride on.

No better piece of gravel road has been built on the Dixie Highway, north of the Antrim County line and now it is one of the worst wash-board pieces in the County; notwithstanding the fact that a maintenance tractor and man was on it all summer.

Another and most potent fact is that the first big car that goes over the road after it has been smoothed and leveled off makes as big a rut as before. Oh; what a monstrous mistake to spend any money simply to subdue the dust for a few weeks. Better suffer the dust for a season and spend the money for a piece of concrete road, which I am now satisfied will last for 200 years. Moreso even than I thought first when I said 100 years. Experience warrants me in saying this because no concrete road, as yet, has been worn out by rubber tires, but anything can be broken when you put a weight on it in excess of what it was built for, and this same applies to bridges or foundations for buildings. D... it all Gentlemen can't you see it. Of course you can and you know it as well as I do. Some few of you are like the fellows down in Florida. Don't want to see it.

You all say that my friend Len Adams made the best talk that was made at Boyne City: "Good Reinforced Concrete Roads are best" but one thing Len said was DEAD WRONG; "If we can't get concrete lets put on TARVIA. Let me ask you; what is Tarvia good for? on our roads, with our rich summer friends who drive big heavy cars and at great speed. We have had carload after carload of Tarvia in this county and now what have we to show for it.

We are an awfully forgetful people, but to forget to build concrete and to use the money for anything else would be a howling shame, a disgrace and an awful expense.

Don't forget what Charlevoix did with its $100,000, and it would have done the same in proportion to Boyne City, East Jordan and Boyne Falls had they put it in concrete. It will continue to do it as long as time lasts. If we can only build a mile or two a year, do it and then you will have something to show for your money; otherwise you can go on building your temporary roads until the Hot Place freezes over and you'll have no skates to skate on.

Your Truly
Uncle George H. VanPelt.

Was Honored On 87th Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson in Echo township was the scene of a pleasant birthday surprise party on Sept. 23, the occasion being Mr. Thompson's 87th anniversary. Among the guests were his daughter, Mrs. Albert Kile; the latter's daughters Mrs. Sedgman with daughter, Marian; and Mrs. Stryker with daughter Lillian of New York State; Mrs. Swanson and little son Junior; and Miss Nita Kile.

Mr. Thompson was showered with birthday cards, and with other valuable remembrances.

OTIS J. SMITH, City Clerk

One thing that can be said in favor of the Chinese—they don't shoot anybody but themselves.

A little Lapeer girl started out the other day to peddle salve and became lost. A number of Michigan politicians are experiencing the same fate.

Col. Mitchell seems to appear in the role, when as kids we caught the teacher in a mistake—it didn't get us to the head of the class.

How truthful the admonition: "Invest your money where you can see all of it in a single afternoon." Real communities are bullded of such capital.

SAFE FOR CHILDREN

Made without opiates, and only of the best California honey and purest ingredients, FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR is safe for children. A trial will prove to you why this has been one of the largest selling cough remedies for over 50 years. "Can't recommend FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR high enough," writes Mr. J. R. Dennis, Spiro, Oklahoma. KRIM'S CAPITAL IS REPORTED IN FLAMES

Spanish Troops Capture Muekran Heights—Paris Correspondent Killed.

Madrid.—Ajdir, Abd-el Krim's capital in Spanish Morocco, a few miles from Alhucemas bay, is in flames, but whether set afire by the much beset Rifians themselves or by shells from the Spanish guns is not known here. General Primo de Rivera, aboard the dreadnought Alfonso XIII, lying off the Alhucemas coast, sent by radio the fact that Ajdir was burning. It was against this stronghold that the Spanish advance in the last few days has been directed.

In his message Primo de Rivera tells of the Spanish troops reaching the Muekran heights without resistance by the Moors and with few casualties. Of the fate of Ajdir he says:

"Ajdir is afire, including Abd-el Krim's headquarters. The conflagration, viewed from our new positions, presents a strange spectacle."

An official communique reports that the Spanish troops in the Alhucemas bay sector, following up their advance in which Monte Palomas was occupied, captured the important heights of Ad-rar and Seddon, in the direction of Ajdir.

From these heights the Spaniards are able to dominate with their fire the camps of Krim's followers.

Fez.—An official communique says the offensive has ended with every objective taken, the French troops having carried their lines twelve kilometers (7 1/2 miles) north of Kifane.

Reginald Kuhl, correspondent on the Moroccan front for Le Temps, leading Paris newspaper, was killed by a Rifian bullet a few moments after leaving the staff headquarters of General Naulin.

Scranton Body Hopes to End Hard-Coal Strike

Scranton, Pa.—Hopes that a foundation for resumption of anthracite mining operations had been laid were expressed by members of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce committee after a conference with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

After the conference, which lasted for four hours, the only statement forthcoming from the committee was that the outlook was hopeful and that definite results were expected from another conference to be held with Mr. Lewis within a few days.

Bread Prices Are Reduced 20 Per Cent at Chicago

Chicago.—A slash of approximately 20 per cent in the wholesale price of bread to Chicago dealers will go into effect at once, a large baking company of Chicago announced.

As a result of the cut the retailer can sell the large 1 1/2-pound loaves that now sell for 15 cents at 12 1/2 cents. The small one-pound loaves now retailing at 10 cents can be sold for 8 1/2 cents.

Bread prices have been higher in Chicago than in other cities for the past five or six years.

Recommend Revision of Live-Stock Freight Rates

Washington.—After a parliamentary investigation of complaints of the American National Live-Stock Association and the National Wool Growers' association, interstate commerce commission examiners recommended that rates on live stock west of the Mississippi river be revised to conform to provisions of the mileage scale.

In the proposed revision some rates would be lowered while others would be raised, effecting a reasonable readjustment.

LaFollette Wins Senate Race by 130,000 Majority

Milwaukee.—Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., in being elected overwhelmingly to a seat in the United States senate here, not only rolled up a majority in excess of 130,000 votes, but carried 70 out of 71 counties in the state.

Kenosha county, home of the Coolidge stalwart Republican wing of the party in the state, went over to the opposition, LaFollette carrying it by a plurality over Dithmar of 216 votes.

Scopes Enters U. of C. for Course in Evolution

Chicago.—John Thomas Scopes, central figure in the evolution trial at Dayton, Tenn., hasn't enough of that subject. At the University of Chicago, where he will do postgraduate work, he said he would attend lectures on evolution to be given by Prof. H. H. Newman. He also signed up for a course in geology, which plays a big part in the evolution theory.

Seek Wilson Memorial Fund

Washington.—The National Woodrow Wilson Memorial association launched a drive to raise $5,000,000 for memorials at Washington and Princeton university. The Washington memorial would be an educational institution.

Veterans Install New Chief

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Col. Orin Thompson of Cleveland was installed as the new commander of the United States War veterans.

SCHOOL DAYS

YOUR Last Name

IS IT VANE?

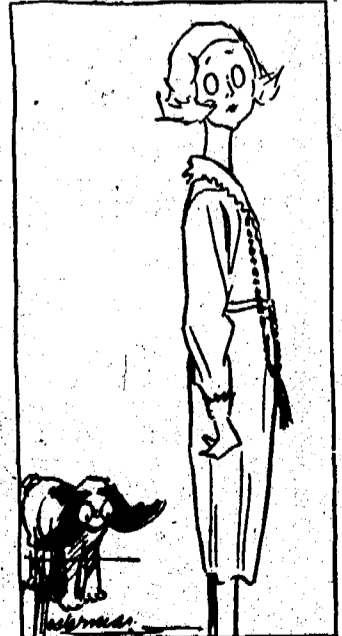

THIS name is said to be the same as Fane, or at least the two names had the same derivation. They are said to have come from the Welsh personal name Fane, meaning slender. A family of the name Fane or Vane were ancestors of the earls of Westmoreland, and this Vane or Fane family is said to have been descended from a Welshman named Howel ap Vane, of Monmouthshire, who lived and died before the time of William the Conqueror.

The most interesting person of the name Vane in this country's history was Sir Henry Vane, governor of Massachusetts, in 1636 and 1637. He was born in Hedlow, Kent, England, in 1612, so that he must have been governor when only about twenty-four. His father was Sir Henry Vane, controller of the household of Charles I of England. Sir Henry, the son, was a well educated man, having studied at Oxford and later having traveled extensively. He was sent to Vienna in 1631 with the English ambassador and later in Geneva he became a Puritan. Returning to England he found himself out of sympathy with the religious beliefs of the court party and accordingly came to the new world to find religious freedom.

He at once became prominent in affairs and then became governor. Soon he attached himself to the faction headed by Mrs. Ann Hutchinson and came into clash with the authorities, especially with Governor Winthrop, who succeeded Vane in office. He returned to England in 1640, where he became a member of parliament. The fees of his office amounted to thirty thousand pounds a year. This Vane regarded as excessive so he returned the amount to parliament. He was eventually executed by his political opponents on a charge of treason.

WALKER—An officer of the forest in old England who patrolled the forest on foot, walking, was called a walker. The name sometimes comes from this, sometimes from a word Wenke, Anglo-Saxon for a fuller.

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

The young lady across the way says she believes she'll drop in at the bank on the way home today and get her father a new checkbook as she overheard him say he was a little short of ready money.

It is asserted by a Norwegian natural scientist that a Norse expedition visited the Pacific Northwest in 1010 A. D.

THE SECRET OF HAPPINESS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

IN SPITE of speeches, songs and swords, I have seen many men content. Red flags are waved, and red-hot words are hurled against the battlement of wealth entrenched, and kings are cursed— Yet kings there have been from the first. And wealth there will be, I opine Long after words of yours or mine.

Yes, I have seen some happiness; And, strange to say, not always on the throne, nor always in the press That swept ahead when thrones were gone. Yes, even those who hate employed, And what they hated thus destroyed, And far ahead their banners bore, Seemed little happier than before.

So hate and envy are not all, I said, whatever flag's above. The very man who makes to fall, Would you be happy, you must love. Hate is the passion of an hour, But happiness is like a flower, That love must plant, and love must tend, And share its fragrance with a friend.

Yes, I have seen some men content, And they but little were concerned With kings, how others' fortunes went. What others had or others earned. The secret of our happiness Is not a secret hard to guess: For happiness, I find, succeeds Not greater wealth, but simpler needs.

Among the NOTABLES

EDWARD BURNE-JONES

WHEN Sir Edward Burne-Jones was a growing boy at school he read the "Morte d'Arthur" and "Modern Painters" and these two books made an impression on him that lasted all his life.

Everyone is familiar with the paintings, "The Golden Stairs," "The Merciful Knight" and "Love Among the Ruins," all being widely reproduced. He had an unusual manner of painting, very pictorial and romantic, idealistic, as artists would say.

He was born August 23, 1833, near Birmingham, England. From the time he was a baby, mythology and classic tales interested him. At college he adopted Rossetti as his master, though he had not met that famous man. He knew little of draughtsmanship, but his wealth of pictorial detail made up for that. A trip to Italy, in company with Ruskin, did much to develop him.

His first "Love Among the Ruins" was a watercolor, which was utterly destroyed by a cleaner who thought it was an oil. So Burne-Jones worked it out again, this time in the more lasting medium of oil paints.

"Of his own work, he said: "I mean, by a picture, a beautiful romantic dream of something that never was and never will be, in a light better than any light ever shown, in a land no one can define or remember, only desire—and the forms divinely beautiful." No other artist carried out details more nearly than he.

He lived to be quite an old man, dying in Exeter, in 1908. One of his best paintings was "Arthur in Avon."

Though a portable scaffold of many uses can be moved on wheels by one man, it is held rigid when extended by two legs that replace one of the wheels.

Firestone

Safety and Mileage For Rough Winter Driving

OPERATORS of large truck, bus and cab fleets must have rugged, long-mileage tires if they are to make money. That is why so many of them have standardized on Firestone. Experienced race drivers, almost to a man, equip with Firestone. Car owners can have this same extra safety and economy—by using Gum-Dipped Cords.

Gum-Dipping, the Firestone extra process, impregnates and insulates every fiber of every cord with rubber—insures greater safety and comfort over rough winter roads—builds extra strength and flexibility into the sidewalls—an exclusive feature that adds thousands of miles to the life of a tire.

Come in—let us save you money by equipping your car with a set of these wonderful tires—prices are still low.

AMERICANS SHOULD PRODUCE THEIR OWN RUBBER

If our mental resolution continues we affirm that there will be no pun this fall at the expense of the noble gobbies.

If good luck doesn't come to you when you pay your subscription you will at least be followed with good wishes.

Six years ago a Detroit janitor bought a small farm just outside the city limits for $3,700. Last week he sold it for $60,000, but so far we haven't heard of any rush from Florida setting in.

It will interest farmers to learn that next spring there will be many to figure out their profits by April and not fall prices.

The way college America will carry on this fall at gridiron would lead one to think that civilization was again at the stake.

One of the things that makes arguments so useful is that they have two sides. If you fail to see one you are a partisan and if you see both you are a hypocrite.

HELPED HIS BOY

Henry Duncan, Alpine, Alabama, writes: "My boy had a bad cough and cold. I read about FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR and after giving it to him a few days he was well. He had been having this cough for two years, but FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR stopped it and made him well." Contains no opiates. Good for children and they like it. Get a bottle today from your druggist and it will be on hand to check coughs and colds.—Hite's Drug Store. adv.

"Ten Commandments" Booked At Temple Theatre

The mightiest spectacle of all the age to be shown at local theatre, costliest production ever attempted was produced without thought of profit. All producing companies contributed toward the success of this wonder picture. Seventeen popular Stars (the pick of the industry) play the important roles. To bring before the people the moving elements of the impelling story of exodus required the building of a special city known as Camp DeMille covering 24 miles on rolling sand dunes, to this location were transported 2,500 men, women and children, and 3,000 animals. Here the work of 20 months was started with Cecil B. DeMille as Director General.

Mayor Elvin Swarthout has joined in the invitation.

Sault Ste. Marie—Despondent over his slowness in school, Stewart H. Faulkner, 17 years old, committed suicide by swallowing a strychnine capsule. A physician was called, but the boy died three hours later. He had returned from a Chicago school recently and was attending the local high school. His father is a dentist.

Lansing—A return to the former limitations regulating ages of women operating dangerous machines in Michigan factories is to be asked of the coming legislature by Carl Young, commissioner of labor. The session of 1926 changed the minimum age from 18 to 21 through the passage of a House bill, which was amended in the Senate.

Ann Arbor—Construction of new buildings for the Department of Architecture and the museum will constitute the program of expansion for the University of Michigan during the next year, according to J. Christensen, assistant secretary. The Architecture building will be started on the $400,000 provision made by the state legislature last spring.

Saginaw—Pastors and teachers attending the seventy-fourth annual convention of the joint synod of Ohio and other states at the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church voted unanimously for a union of the Ohio and Iowa synods. Delegates were directed to instruct their respective congregations to vote on the matter before November 1.

Baldwin—Michigan's right to fish in Michigan streams was assured temporarily here recently, when the jury hearing the case of Frank Collins, of Toledo, O., owner of stump lands on both sides of Pine River, against Gideon S. Gerhardt, of Reed City, who crossed Collin's river fence while wading in the bed of the stream in fishing, returned a verdict of no cause for action.

Cheboygan—Instead of the elaborate wedding festivities planned, a very simple, quiet ceremony marked the union of Miss Celia Brovage and her second cousin, Louis Brovage, of Riggsville. The groom, while taking the bride's father, Anthony Brovage, to the wedding by motor car met with a serious accident, in which he was hurt painfully and the elder Brovage was injured so seriously he lies in an unconscious condition in the hospital in the city.

Lansing—A new high record for gasoline tax collection was set in August a report completed by the Department of State shows. The two-cent levy netted the State $977,010, an increase of $29,232 over the net return of $947,677 in July. Gross collections in August were $1,025,433, refunds totaling $48,423. That the total yield of the new weight and gasoline highway finance plan will yield in excess of $21,000,000 appeared certain. The weight tax, up to Sept. 1, had turned $12,866,438 into the treasury and the total probably will run close to $14,000,000.

A mixture of rub alcohol, canned heat, sugar, water, Indian and an ancient Ford touring, produced a freak auto accident on our streets, Monday afternoon. Two Indians had left a car parked just east of Main on Esterly st. next to the drug store. Evidently they had been imbibing too freely of the above fire-water, for when they again started the auto they first rammed the sedan belonging to Glenn Bulow; the bersek car then swung to the opposite side of the street and rammed a coupe belonging to Dr. Dicken. One running board and the fore part of the two autos were somewhat damaged. The Lizzle was too far gone to sustain damage. It is understood the Indians will take care of the cost of repairs on the smashed autos.

Friday, Oct. 2, the season opened on the raccoon. From then on until Dec. 31 it will be lawful to trap or hunt Old Ringtail. This is the only fur-bearer in the state that can be taken during the month of October and the list will not be added to until Nov. 1 when Bre'r Skunk will find himself the target of traps and guns. Mink, muskrat, otter, fisher, marten and beaver are on the "don't-kill" list at least until 1927 and the high prevailing prices on muskrat won't help Michigan trappers this year. According to marsh trappers, the muskrat is sadly in need of this protection and ought to stage a good comeback with two year's protection.

Mr. Scow, who bought the Frank Laurie farm 2 miles south of Walloon Lake, has not lived there for 3 years, having another home in Chicago and employment. A few weeks ago Mrs. Scow and children motored up and found, in addition to window breakage by storm and shot, someone had stolen all their silverware, dishes, lamp, clock, phonograph records and cooking utensils so they were forced to take refuge with a neighbor and shorten their stay. Mr. Scow is now here and finds since his wife left another window has been broken, a keg planted outside with a board leading inside so the miscreants could go in and out at ease. His underwear and bedding, like old Grimes, cow, turned up missing. Yesterday a party of neighbors, Louis Laurie and the two Larson boys, helped him board and nail up all the windows, the authorities have been notified and it is to be hoped those committing the depredation will be caught.—Boyne Citizen.

It is remarkable how many international cries amount to nothing. Never say you don't get anything for your taxes; keep your receipts. No wonder the world is upside down; it turns over every day.

FARM FACTS

Exercise is important in maintaining brood sows in good condition. Strong, healthy sows insure strong healthy litters at farrowing time.

Abundant light and ventilation are essential for cattle comfort and high milk production. Plan now to remodel stables and provide these essentials.

Horses need air and action. They will keep healthier if they are exercised every day by driving or by being allowed to run in the yard or pasture.

Do not neglect the ice harvest but take advantage of the cold weather and put up a supply of the frozen necessity. Plenty of ice next summer will keep the milk sweet until it reaches the market.

Poultrymen attempting to better the quality of stock by careful selection and breeding should pay some attention to the selection of breeders. Careful study of birds and their records before selection of breeding stock will be rewarded by the better chicks next spring.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and see it like cold cream.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

THE SMILING HEART

YOU'LL know at a glance the man or woman who is on intimate terms of friendship with the smiling heart, though the face may be serene and undemonstrative, yet beaming with an unspoken gladness.

Lip-smiles have become mechanical, a mere outward show without meaning. Yet so it is; the tale-bearer smiles; the bandit smiles as he pokes you in the ribs with his gun, steals your last dollar and robs you of your sweetheart's picture.

But how different is the heart-smile, rich with unspoken words of love and truth.

The heart that smiles when everything goes wrong is the heart that is abounding in unsalable faith.

It is the heart that is unselfish; that is overflowing with sympathy; that is willing to face obstacles and go to any trouble to lift up the fallen and bind the wounds of the injured.

It is the smiling heart that builds a cheerful fire in the rusty stove of the poor man's hut and puts pleasant food upon his table; it is the smiling heart that finds warm beds for half-frozen children and comforts their despairing mothers; it is the smiling heart that is helping to bring about the redemption of the world and perhaps saving the worldlings from destruction.

If you could penetrate the depths of the smiling heart, you might discover that its loveliness came from the bitter valleys of sorrow.

Through its own experience, its own disappointment, its own tears it grew through the hard sod, sprouted and burst forth a beautiful flower, that the discouraged might see it and take heart again and move on toward the upward path.

The little bent old woman with a basket on her arm filled with food for the hungry is carrying with her outward evidence of nobility, a heart that radiates mercy, smiling like the noon-day sun, which she cannot hide beneath her thread-worn cloak.

That is the heart-smile, with its lips that never lie and its eyes that never scorn.

Who at some period of his or her life does not need the comforting companionship of the smiling heart?

The smiling heart is the invisible link that binds this world to the world beyond, neglecting to fill its purse with gold, but filling the breasts of humanity with a love as bright as the stars and a hope eternal.

THE LUSCIOUS MELON

IF ONE has never preserved the hearts of pink watermelon they have something worth the trouble. Cut the centers from slices of watermelon and make balls, using a French potato ball cutter. Cover them with water in which a small piece or a bit of pulverized alum is dissolved and let stand overnight. Drain and in the morning drop into a thick hot sirup and just scald. Can at once. The melon balls keep their shape and color and are delightful for garnishing dishes in the winter when that color is hard to get.

When mawk and watermelons are fresh and good cocktails are especially good.

Cantaloupe Cocktail.

Cut the melon into balls with a potato scoop and fill serving glasses; add a few seeded white grapes, a little lemon sirup and garnish with a sprig of mint in the top of each glass.

In serving melon never place ice in the melon to chill it, as it destroys its flavor. And the most delicious melon may be ruined by being served unchilled. To chill a melon let it stand in ice or in a cold place long enough to become chilled before cutting it. If a large melon cut it and place near ice. Tasteless melons may be treated with a salad dressing, using oil and vinegar, with red pepper and a dash of lemon juice.

Cantaloupe With Ice Cream.

Scoop out the halves of cantaloupe, leaving only the rind; use this melon or cocktails or salads. When well-chilled fill the melon molds with ice cream. Caramel ice cream may be used; garnish it with almonds dipped into chocolate or bits of candied or reserved ginger cut to resemble seeds. The sirup from the preserved ginger is a most delicious sauce to serve with it.

Another Cocktail.

Cut the melon, a cantaloupe, into balls, six or eight to a glass, add a little sliced pineapple, a slice or two of peaches and cover the whole with a thin sirup, using a little strawberry or cherry juice for flavor, and serve garnished with a cherry and one or two slices of white grapes.

A little nutmeg is liked with cantaloupe, and a little red pepper and more salt than usual in the dressing will be found agreeable.

Ricardo Cortez

Ricardo Cortez, well known as a "movie" actor, was born September 19, 1889, in Vienna. He is five feet eight inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. He has black hair and brown eyes. Before becoming a motion-picture actor he had played minor parts with stock companies.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

THE PINK THINGUMMY

"OH, DEAR, Aesop!" complained Mrs. Dumkopf, "I ordered a blue thingummy and they went and sent me up a pink one, and thingummies aren't supposed to be exchangeable and I suppose I'll have a ferri-ferri time getting a blue one for it."

"You won't if you go about it as a man would—as I would, for instance," said Mr. Dumkopf vigorously. "I would simply walk up to the proper official, briefly explain, and demand a blue thingummy in exchange."

"Oh, Aesop, will you exchange it for me?" crowed Mrs. Dumkopf admiringly, and the next day Mr. Dumkopf found himself briefly stating the case to the proper official and demanding a blue one.

"H'm," said the proper official, with a glance that made Dumkopf feel like a pickpocket contemplating arson—"thingummies not exchangeable. H'm. When was it bought? Who bought it? Is this the one that was bought? Why not pink?"

"Why—er—I did, I mean, she did, I don't know. Because."

"Why wasn't it brought back before? Have you a middle name? What was the sales person's number? Were you born in this country?"

"Er—who, me? No. Yes. What?" floundered Dumkopf.

"Why blue? Did you ever exchange a thingummy before? If so, what color? Was this spot on it? Was that? Were those? How much education have you had? Why not more?"

"Blydooff!" gasped Dumkopf, and, trying the pink thingummy in an inextricable knot around the official's neck, he bought a blue thingummy at the thingummy department.

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs

A SUGGESTION

IF YOU would fill the passing day with cheer, Spread far and wide the good news that you hear. Upon your neighbor's virtues smiling dwell, And if some bit of gossip you must tell Let it be of some kindness he has done, Or of some honor high that he has won; And ere the day shall pass into the night You'll find the flying minutes all delight. And when the sunset glows out in the west And you shall come into the vales of rest, Faith, Hope and Cheer will be your comrades on The highways leading to the golden dawn. Deer Facing Starvation

Out on the Arizona desert, that reaches from the colored cliffs of Utah to the Colorado river, circles the Grand canyon, and goes on indefinitely southward, there is a great plateau, higher than the rest of the country and covered with a mighty forest. The plateau is called the Kaibab plateau; the forest, the Kaibab forest.

On this plateau, in this forest lives a herd of deer, the most magnificent in America. During the past year or so it has been reported that these deer have increased to such great numbers on the isolated plateau that they are virtually doomed to a death by starvation, having eaten everything palatable, says Outdoor America. Escape from the plateau, it is pointed out, is made impossible by the deserts that surround it.

THE HOLDUP

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Mass., University of Illinois.

THERE was a holdup down in Thomasville one morning last summer—a really dreadful thing for a quiet country town and quite unexpected. It wouldn't have happened. It is very sure, if it hadn't been for automobiles and hard roads, two recent novelties in Thomasville. The hard road that connects the little village with the metropolitan centers of the country had just been opened with appropriate ceremonies, and about the same time the Thomases for whom the village had been named had bought a wonderful high-powered car. It was this car that the robbers got away in over the hard road that had just been finished.

The holdup dropped out of a clear sky one bright spring morning just as people were rousing for the work of the day. A dozen men appeared suddenly, brandishing huge revolvers, or armed with villainous-looking shot-guns, giving orders to people who were not used to being ordered about, getting everyone out of bed who had not already arisen, herding them into one central place at the point of a revolver, and frightening the women not to speak of the men, into a nervous collapse.

Then they went through the houses, looted the bank, jumped into the machines in which they had come in addition to the Thomases, which they had appropriated, and drove away with the money and other loot which they had collected.

The city papers were full of the outrage the next day and amazed at the nerve the bandits had exhibited. It was something dreadful—poor men robbed, women and children half frightened to death, and the money loss was not inconsiderable.

I saw Jim Falkner (two or three months after the thing had happened and he told me about it.

"Of course I'm against holdups in general," he said, "but I believe this one was a good thing for Thomasville."

"How so?" I asked, always having looked upon a holdup as something to be avoided and to be abated.

"It's brought the people together. There was a lot of quarrelling and jealousy among the 'high-hats' before. The Thomases hadn't had anything to do with the Snyders for years. Somebody was always pulling and hauling at somebody else. The half-hour that they spent huddled together in front of the city building looking into a shooting-iron stopped all that. The lions have been lying down with the lambs as quietly as two kittens sleeping in a basket since then. There's unity in Thomasville, there's friendliness and co-operation, and the people are awake. I don't hanker after either earthquakes or holdups, but if a holdup doesn't cost more than two or three thousand dollars it would be a good thing for some towns to invest in."

All of which goes to establish the truth of the saying that "There's no loss without some small gain."

Wireless Waves

Wireless telegraphy is possible because of "waves" produced by a high discharge of electricity in the air. One vibration is required for each wave. The electro-magnetic waves, coupled with "carrier" waves, make radio transmission possible. A limited amount of broadcasting has been done, however, without the continuous use of the carrier waves.

RESULTS THAT LAST!

Proven by East Jordan People.

Thousands of kidney sufferers have tried remedy after remedy with only temporary benefit. That's mighty discouraging! But one kidney remedy has earned a reputation for lasting results and there's plenty of proof right here in East Jordan.

Read the experience of one who used Doan's Pills years ago and now makes her endorsement even stronger.

Mrs. Henry Ribble, Bridge St., East Jordan, says: "I had a lameness in my back and when I stooped, knife-like pains took me across my kidneys. I felt nervous and depressed and headaches and dizzy spells were frequent, too. I saw Doan's Pills advertised and I used a few boxes from Oldley & Mac's Drug Store. They cured me." (Statement given April 23, 1920.)

On Oct. 11, 1924, Mrs. Ribble said: "The cure Doan's Pills made for me has stood the test of years. It is a pleasure to recommend them."

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog your most believe them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

GITTUP N. GETT

ALTHOUGH, as a professional humorist, Gittup N. Gett had invented and sold 987 variations of the joke about the talkative barber, he habitually shaved himself and had his wife cut his hair, and as today's story opens he found himself in a barber's chair for the first time in years.

"Shave? Haircut?" said the barber. "Haircut," said Gett, and waited humorously for the flood of chatter. But nothing followed save silence and the click-click-click of the barber's scissors.

"Well, this is strange," thought the humorist. And he said: "Aren't you unusually silent today, my tonsorial friend?"

"Who, me? No," replied the barber. "That stuff about barbers' all time gabbling is bunk. We don't talk unless we are talked to. Sometimes not then."

Another silence followed, deeper and, it seemed to Gittup N. Gett, more strained than the first. He paid for his haircut and visited three other barber shops, ordering a shave in the first, a shampoo in the second, and a cotton-seed oil rub in the third. In none of them did the barber open his mouth for one syllable more than was absolutely necessary.

Deeply mortified at the thought that for so many years he had obtained money under false pretenses, Gittup N. Gett stopped in at a costumer's, purchased an inexpensive hermit's costume and spent the rest of his life, far from mankind, brooding in the forests.

WHO SAID

"A jealous man always finds more than he looks for."

MADÉLAINE DE SCUDÉRI, the French romanticist, was the author of these words which sound almost ominous in their propheticness.

Madelaine de Scuderi (1607-1701) was a writer of romances that were interminably long and boring. Her best known works are "Artamene ou le grand Cyrus," "Ibrahim ou l'illustre Bassa," "Clélie," and "Almahide." All achieved great popularity in their day.

The writings of this woman, who was considered one of the leading literary figures of her day, owed their popularity to the fact that they were remarkably true descriptions of the time and of the people living when she did.

For this reason the books of Mlle. Scuderi had a remarkable circulation among those living at the time they were written, but to this same reason can be attributed their failure to be popular at the present time. They do not portray so much types of human nature as they describe individuals who lived at that time, and thus have little application to the present day.

In her day Mlle. Scuderi was a conspicuous figure in the literary circle that congregated at the Hotel Rambouillet in Paris. These gatherings were later broken up when the trouble with the Fronde occurred and Mlle. Scuderi and her literary circle moved to her own house. The Fronde was a party in French politics which caused considerable disturbance during the minority of the reign of Louis IV. They opposed the dominance of the courtiers and the wealthy.

A brother of Mlle. Scuderi, Georges, was a writer of tragedies and was a lifelong enemy of the famous French poet, Corneille. He was born in 1601 and died in 1637.—Wayne D. McMurray.

In the JUNGLE
With Cheerups and the Quixies
By Grace Bliss Stewart

MR. LION'S WHISKERS

"GOODNESS gracious!" cried Cheerups, with a chuckle. "Just think of little me being able to do something for the King of the Beasts. I have always wanted to be helpful, but I never dreamed of that. What did you say was troubling you, Your Highness?"

"Oh, please don't be formal, Mr. Cheerups," said the Lion, with a gracious wave of his tail. "Plain Mr. Lion is nicer between friends. But get back to important things. I have been most dreadfully worried lately. You may think that because I am strong and fierce, there is nothing in the whole Jungle of which I am afraid; but, dear me, what a mistaken notion that is! Gray Ears the Elephant is often more than a match for me; sometimes Gensbok the Antelope is able to thrust his long, strong horns through my body; but, worse still is the hunter called Man, who, for such a puny creature, seems hardest of all to escape."

"But you have your wonderful eyes which see so well in the dark; and the soft fleshy cushions under your paws which make you able to walk very quietly. Why, I don't believe my Quixle Quicker could hear you in those padded slippers. And your coat is just the color of the desert sand, so you are very hard to see in the daylight. Really, Mr. Lion," said Cheer-

ups, with a hint of reproof in his voice. "It seems to me that you have a great deal to protect you."

"That's a fact, now that you remind me of it; I have lots to be thankful for," said Mr. Lion, with such a hearty roar of delight that Cheerups almost fell out of his house in surprise. "But there's Mrs. Lion and Tawny and Fuzzy to be thought of. Who would bring them their dinner and their tea if anything should happen to me? I always get the food for them myself; in fact, I don't think much of fathers who don't provide for their families. Selfish, I say! So, you see, I need just one thing more to protect me. Sometimes when I walk through a path in the Jungle, it grows so narrow that I brush against leaves and twigs on each side, and that makes a rustling sound or a crackling noise which tells my enemies that I am coming. Neither my keen eyes nor my soft cushioned feet do any good then. Could you suggest some way out of a tight place like that?"

"To be sure, my friend, to be sure!" cried Cheerups good-naturedly. "It's a pleasure to help such a polite husband and kind father. Now let me see—eyes, paws, coat; why, you have forgotten your whiskers!"

"They are good-looking, aren't they?" said Mr. Lion proudly, trying to see himself in a dewdrop and falling.

"Now, now, sir," laughed Cheerups. "you don't think your whiskers were given you just for looks, do you? Why, everything is useful in some way, if you only know it. The next time you are going through a trail in the Jungle, extend your whiskers straight out on both sides, and when the path grows narrower you will know it as quick as a wink. Your whiskers stretched out are exactly as wide as your body, and in each one is a tiny nerve, which when touched, telegraphs the message to your brain. So when you find out in this manner that the path is too narrow, you can turn back and take a different way."

"Oh, Mr. Cheerups, that's the most astonishing thing I ever heard. I hope I can repay your kindness some time. Now I'll go right home and tell Mrs. Lion, so she won't worry any more. I just can't wait to use my whiskers. Good night," and Mr. Lion was gone through the Jungle.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS
By H. IRVING KING

WISHING ON A RING

A SUPERSTITIOUS custom prevailing widely at the present day is that of "wishing on" a ring.

Probably you all have, when you were children, performed this magic rite. You take a ring from your own hand and place it on the finger of a companion, preferably one of the opposite sex, and wish at the same time. The ring must not be removed until the "wisher" gives permission. If these conditions are fulfilled your wish will "come true."

We have here an echo of the old legends and superstitions of the East which ascribed to certain rings power over the genii so that those who possessed the rings had all their wishes fulfilled for them.

Solomon is said to have had such a ring and such a ring was given to Aladdin. That's where the wish part comes in.

Now the most powerful ring of which the people of the olden days had any actual experience was the monarch's signet ring which he placed upon the finger of the man whom he sent forth to do his (the monarch's) will. So when we "wish on" a ring we imitate the monarch; with a subconscious harking back to the powers of the rings of Solomon and Aladdin.

"What's in a Name?"
By MILDRED MARSHALL

MARIETTA

FAR as it seems to have strayed from the simple Mary, which is the basis of the name, Marietta is still one of the sacred and holy names of feminine nomenclature. Marlon is its direct predecessor and through the latter it preserves its significance of "bitter."

When the French Marlon was found, her fame traveled abroad through the popularity of "Robin Hood" and in 1832 the play of "Robin et Marlon" was performed by the students of Angers, one of them appearing disguised as the girl. Thus the origin of Mariettes, puppets disguised to play the part of Maid Marlon, is accounted for.

It was also customary at that time to call small linnages of the Blessed Virgin Mariettes or Marlonettes. These images were placed in the streets for public worship and the streets came to be called the Streets of the Mariettes; in old Paris the fame of the Rue des Mariettes is still remembered. Mariette, or Marietta, as the English preferred it when they took the name over, became popular as a feminine cognomen. In this country it was borne by the clever New England novelist, Marietta Holley.

The pearl is Marietta's talismanic gem. It will bring her beauty, magnetism and extreme popularity. Monday is her lucky day and 2 her lucky number.

MITCHELL CALLS U. S. DEFENSELESS IN AIR

Tells Probers Aviation Force Is Antiquated.

Washington.—The United States has no air force for defense worth speaking of, Col. William Mitchell, who precipitated the aircraft controversy and investigation, declared before President Coolidge's special investigating committee.

Neither in personnel nor equipment is the present air force adequate, he declared, asserting that development of aircraft in America has been "slow and inefficient." He reiterated his demand for a department of national defense, with the air force as a separate unit with the army and navy. This, he asserted, should be done by the next congress.

"The present aircraft equipment consists of 12 old worn-out pursuit planes and 22 old bombers. All the rest are DH-4 Liberty engine planes which are old, worn out and dangerous to fly," he said.

The United States now stands exposed to an air attack which could reach our cities and inflict serious damage from both the Atlantic and the Pacific, he asserted.

SCHOOL DAYS

Among the NOTABLES

JOHN LOCKE

IN GREAT contrast to the undemocratic teachings of the German philosophers, are the gentler and far more liberal ideas of the great English thinkers.

There is Locke, for instance, the great English philosopher, born almost a century and a half before Hegel. He was born in Somersetshire, August 29, 1632. He studied at Oxford, and developed a fondness for politics, theology, medicine and philosophy and studied all of these. Thus he fitted himself to look at subjects from a mental, an abstract, a physical and a religious point of view—certainly taking a comprehensive attitude.

A discussion among some friends, one day, concerning the human mind, led to the beginnings of his "Essay Concerning Human Understanding," which was not compiled, however, until twenty years of work had gone into it. Troubled times in politics sent Locke and other liberal thinkers to take refuge in Holland. He was well in his fifties before he returned to England, where he received all of $150 for his copyrights on the great "Essay." He wrote, later, the "Reasonableness of Christianity," and died in 1704, in "sincere communication with the whole church of Christ by whatever names Christ's followers call themselves."

The whole sum of his teachings is universal toleration, freedom of thought and action, almost opposite to the preachings of the German thinkers.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS
By H. IRVING KING

WISHING ON LOAD OF HAY

THE custom of wishing when a load of hay passes is common in the rural districts all over the country. It is a survival from that ancient nature worship which manifested itself in various cults and myths having to do with the spirit of vegetation, the personification of the "kindly fruits of the earth" as the embodiment of a god.

The growing crop is Osiris, Adonis or Balder, alive and the harvested crop is the same gods temporarily dead. At the gathering of all crops—the killing of the god—the ancients were accustomed to practice solemn rites, many of which in a maimed form, exist among us today as popular superstitions. A load of hay is a gathered crop—it is the body of Balder which is passing, and a wish upon a load of hay is an appeal to the spirit of that god for a fulfillment of the wish.

Those who are inclined to question the survival of ancient religions in fragmentary form under the guise of current superstitions should consider that, without considering the significance of the fact at all, we still call five days of the week by the names of heathen gods and two after the moon goddess and the sun god respectively; while of the months four are dedicated to heathen gods or goddesses, one perpetuates a very ancient heathen festival, and two are dedicated to deified Roman emperors. Which, it must be acknowledged, is a rather striking example of the survival in our daily lives of fragments from ancient cults and mythologies.

THINGS FOR WINTER

WHEN the cucumbers are just finger size try this recipe: Company Sweet Pickles.

Take one pound each of candied cherries and layer raisins left in clusters two or three on a stem, six dozen of the Tiny Tim cucumbers. Put a quart of the best cider vinegar into a porcelain-lined kettle, add one pound of granulated sugar and boil to a sirup with two teaspoonfuls each of white pepper and nutmeg, one teaspoonful of mace and one-half teaspoonful of ground cloves. Bring the sirup to a boil, then add the cherries; when they are plump remove them with a skimmer and add the raisins. As soon as the raisins are plump, skin them out and add the cucumbers. Boil two minutes; they should be tender but not soft. Fill glass jars with cucumbers in layers, with the cherries and raisins. Pour over the sirup boiling hot and seal.

Mushroom Catsup.

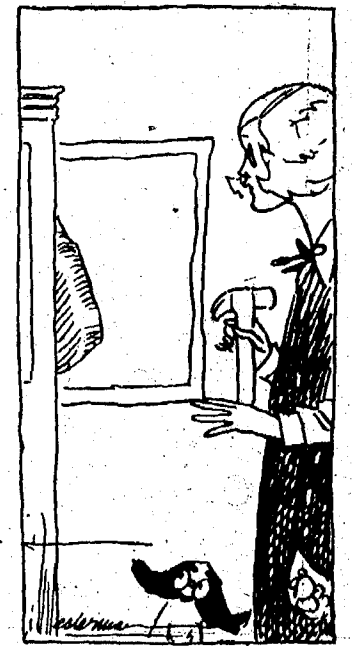

Wipe the freshly-gathered mushrooms, if perfectly clean they are much better if not washed. Put in layers in a stone jar, sprinkling each layer with salt. Cover with a folded cloth and keep in a warm place twenty-four hours. Put into a colander to drain off the salt, and dash over cold water to rinse. Put the mushrooms through a coarse sieve and to every quart of liquor add an ounce of pepper corns and simmer for thirty minutes. Add one-fourth ounce of whole allspice, one-half ounce of sliced ginger root, one dozen whole cloves, three blades of mace and cook fifteen minutes. Put into small bottles, cork and dip corks in hot paraffin.

Pepper Jam.

Wash and remove seeds from six sweet red peppers. Put through a food chopper, sprinkle with salt and let stand three hours. Drain, rinse in cold water and put into a saucepan. Add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of vinegar and boil all together until of the consistency of jam. Pour into glasses. When cool cover with paraffin.

CAILLAUX TAKES U. S. DEBT PLAN TO PARIS

Secretary Mellon Asks $40,000,000 per Annum Until 1930.

Washington.—Negotiations for the funding of the French war debt of $4,200,000,000, which have been going on for eight days, were suspended sine die when Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance, agreed to take back to his government a temporary proposal made by Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury.

This suggestion provides that France pay $40,000,000 annually to the United States for the next five years.

At the expiration of that period, or at any time during its course, the French government would resume the discussion of the definite funding of its obligations, taking up the pourparlers from the point where they are now left off.

Secretary Mellon's proposal was presented to the French commission after the French terms for settlement had been pronounced unacceptable.

The American offer which M. Caillaux will carry back amounts to an acceptance of 1 per cent interest on the total French debt, with accrued interest, as it now stands, at over $4,000,000,000, for five years. The annuities of $40,000,000 in reality represent only an addition of $20,000,000 as France has been paying $20,000,000 annually in interest at 5 per cent on the A. E. F. war stocks she acquired for $407,000,000 in 1919.

Mr. Mellon's offer is admittedly only a stopgap to prevent the total of the debt with accruing interest rolling up to a greater grand total.

Muskegon—Another step to save White Lake harbor from abandonment by the government was taken by the Muskegon chamber of commerce when it authorized Secretary John Beukema to go to Washington to make overtures for continuance of harbor aid, should Major Gilbert Wilkes not withdraw his recommendation that the harbor be abandoned. White Lake harbor is of great importance in the resort and tourist development of western Michigan.

Kalamazoo—Modern efficiency methods made possible the removal of the old Michigan Central Railroad bridge over the Kalamazoo river and the installation of a new bridge, all within the period of six minutes. There was no interruption of traffic. The new bridge was constructed just north of the old one. As the old bridge was lifted by four cranes to waiting flat cars the new bridge attached by cable to a locomotive, was hauled into position. It was the work of but a few minutes to add the capping.

Benton Harbor—Prosecuting Attorney Bookwalter announced here that Ruth Bamford Reed, of Detroit, had written him a letter asking that her charges against the fugitive Benjamin Purnell be withdrawn. It was the strength of this girl's charges, together with those of her sister, Gladys Bamford Rubel, that a warrant was issued by Circuit Judge White more than two years ago for "King" Benjamin, charging him with criminal assault. The prosecutor said the girl did not withdraw the charges, but asked them dismissed for her family's sake.

Ann Arbor—Dr. Clarence Cook Little, new president of the University of Michigan, greeted and was greeted by his students in a rousing convocation at the auditorium. Dr. Little's address was a broad bit of modernism built on the solid foundation of fundamentalism. He urged the students to be open-eyed explorers always ready for anything new. But he also advised them to seek facts with humility and to whet the scapel of their researches on the grindstones of hard work, while breathing a prayer to God.

Well, here's looking for October, with its five pay days.
