Locals Show Football Form

Gaylord Smothered By Avalanche Of Jordan's Touchdowns

It is true that Gaylord was inexperienced not having football for a number of years. At the same time, the locals showed their first real football of the year. Their blocking and tackling was pretty to watch. Chris Taylor no doubt was the star of the encounter, but it takes eleven men to make a football team and Taylor's runs would have been made impossible if it had not been for the fine blocking by his team mates Thomas, Gleason, Barnett, Danforth, and Shedina. Snyder played a strong steady game at center. He seems to be improving with every game.

On defense, Danforth stood out as one of the best defensive men on the local grounds this year, at one time tackling a man with the ball for a 20 yd loss. Although Gaylord was outclassed from the start, they played a plucky game and they had plenty of weight, but showed lack of team work which comes only with experience.

They proved first class sportsmen on and off the field. Their Coach and Superintendent is a gentleman and very pleasant athletic relations have been started with our sister city on the Michigan Central.

The game opened by East Jordan kicking off to Gaylord, who almost immediately lost the ball on downs, on a forward pass Thomas to Danforth who ran thirty yds. to the shadow of the Gaylord goal post where Taylor with good interference carried the ball over for the first touchdown of the game. Gaylord received at the east goal for the second time where Gaylord threw two or three good passes for a substantial gain, along with one or two end runs carried the ball well into the East Jordan territory, finally East Jordan stopped them on the 10 yd. line and soon marched down the field, where East Jordan alternated on line smashes, Thomas, Taylor and Barnett carrying the ball, Taylor circling Gaylord's R. E. for 20 yds. and a touchdown. Quarter up. Score 14 to 0.

In the second quarter, Gaylord kicked to East Jordan where they carried the ball into Gaylord's territory, where Gaylord held for downs, the ball sawed pretty much in the middle of the field throughout the quarter. The Half up. Score 14 to 0.

Second half, East Jordan came out with a gleam in their eyes that seemed to indicate that they had caught the idea of real football. They immediately proceeded to circle Gaylord's ends and use the over head game to such an extent that the scores came so quick and fast, it was difficult to mark them down. East Jordan received and on two or three beautiful passes where Thomas heaved successive passes to Shedina, Taylor, and Danforth, Shedina catching one for 25 yds. that was a beauty. A score was made and the goal kicked after about three minutes of play. Gaylord received and was immediately held for downs. At this point should be mentioned, that LaLonde was doing a superior brand of booting on Kick-offs, so that Gaylord continually had to catch the ball almost under their goal post. About the same process was repeated for the next two touchdowns, making the score in the third quarter 28 to 0.

Gleason scored the last touchdown in the third quarter and the first one in the last quarter. Taylor was the big ground gainer in the latter part of the game following beautiful interference by Thomas, Gleason, Danforth, and Barnett. Last quarter 12 to 0.

The boys travel to Cheboygan Friday for the next game. At the rate they are going now, the fans look for Coach Waggoner to show the boys on the east side of the state a little football that they haven't seen before this year.

Mancelona might have surprised quite a number of football fans in this section by completely outplaying the heavier Charlevoix High School team last Saturday which trounced the locals in a very close game a week or so back. Angel and Hickman seemed to have Charlevoix completely baffled by their end running and line plunging. They were greatly aided by one red headed tackle who was the classiest line man on any of the football teams this year. Coach Wile's men have East Jordan

M. H. Robertson Passes Into The Great Beyond

Not unexpectedly was the news received here that Mr. M. H. Robertson a long time resident of East Jordan had passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dole at Lansing, where he had gone a few weeks previously. Mr. Robertson had been in failing health, owing to heart trouble for the greater part of the summer, that, together with the sudden passing of his beloved wife five weeks previously was beyond his strength to surmount.

Mr. Robertson was born at Defiance, Ohio, Feb. 15, 1855. In his earlier manhood taught school, leaving this profession for clerical work. He was married to May M. Kuhn on April 4, 1877, at Ney, Ohio.

Mr. Robertson came to East Jordan in 1890 to enter the employ of East Jordan Lumber Co. as book keeper, holding this position many years, later acting as Sales Manager. Has since made this city his home; save for three years he resided at Boyne City, and of late spending the winters in Florida. He was one of the organizers and acted as Manager and Sec'y. of the E. J. Flooring Co., and for some years past has been the Representative and Inspector of the Maple Flooring Ass'n.

Mr. Robertson was an earnest member of the Methodist Church, always ready to keep in all departments of church work, especially was he identified with the Sunday School where for twenty-one years he served as Supt. He, passing the characteristics of executive, discipline and music ability raised the standard of the school above the average. Here as well as in all church work he had the hearty co-operation of Mrs. Robertson to whose heart the work was dear. She, retaining the buoyancy and enthusiasm of youth throughout her mature years added much to the religious life of home, church and community.

Mr. Robertson is survived by a daughter, Mrs. B. A. Dole of Lansing; son M. Frost Robertson of Cleveland, Ohio, and seven grandchildren.

The remains were brought from Lansing and taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Porter, his life long friend and business associate, from where the funeral was held Monday afternoon, Oct. 12 conducted by Rev. Henry Hiles, pastor of Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Sidebotham of Presbyterian church. Interment at Sunset Hill.

Among the relatives attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Dole of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Frost Robertson of Cleveland, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Crago and son of Petoskey.

and Waggoner worried and the game next week at Mancelona should be a hummer, for the Mancelona boys do not seem to know when they are beaten even if they aren't much larger than a pint of cider. They seem to display nothing but knees and elbows by the number of men carried off the field when they are in action. Yet they play a clean game.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Horseshoe Luck

A halo around the head of a worshiped saint found in early homes, being shaped much like a horseshoe, gave rise in the popular mind of good luck being attached to this halo-shaped bit of iron. The horseshoe, when it became common, thus became the symbol of protection which the saint was thought to provide.

Call Trip To Study Corn Borer Control

Still greater activity in efforts at control of the European corn borer, destructive crop pest, will follow a special inspection trip called for October 22, in the opinion of specialists at the Michigan State College.

Representatives of all phases of agricultural service in the state will join in this observation tour, which will cover some of the most heavily infested sections of Ontario, Canada. Fields are to be seen in this section which are almost total economic losses as a result of corn borer damage, according to Prof. J. F. Cox and R. H. Pettit of the college staff, who have just returned from a visit to the fields in question.

The corn borer was introduced to our eastern states some years ago, an unwelcome guest from Europe, and since has spread as far west as Michigan, being reported even in Livingston county this summer. Quarantine work has been carried on very effectively by the Michigan State Department of Agriculture has slowed up the spread of the pests in the state, and similar work has been done in other sections.

Entomologists who have been studying the situation for years, however, fear that the borers will eventually spread throughout the corn belt, unless something startlingly effective shows up to check them. As a result, farm crops men are planning to bend every effort toward learning ways and means of growing corn in spite of the pest; entomologists are speeding up their experimental program seeking effective parasitic control; and quarantine and other regulatory steps are being continued.

The inspection trip on October 22 will start from Detroit in the morning, covering many corn borer sections of Ontario before night. Plans for the establishment of a special corn borer test station in south-east Michigan may grow out of the trip, it is said by the college men interested. The State Department of Agriculture and U. S. Department of Agriculture would undoubtedly join in the establishment of such a station.

Grand Rapids—At a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission examiner at Chicago, Grand Rapids furniture manufacturers will protest that the proposed increase in freight rates to the eastern seaboard would be unwarranted. Because of increased and keener competition, even a light advance in these rates would handicap the industry, E. L. Ewing, acting for the manufacturers, said.

Negaunee—Winter is treading on the heels of autumn in the Upper Peninsula. Snow fell in Negaunee, although the trees still are robed in the gorgeous colors of early fall. Public buildings, houses and automobiles presented a Christmas picture for early risers. Negaunee welcomed the snow, since a heavy fall during the winter is necessary for the success of the ski tournament to be held here Feb. 22.

Ann Arbor—Captain Roald Amundsen, Arctic explorer, will address the students of the University of Michigan in the opening program of the Oratorical association, October 24. It was announced by the officers of the association. His address is entitled "Our Airplane Dash for the North Pole." Captain Amundsen will be the first of a list of nationally prominent men who will address the students during the coming year.

Teachers Meet At Big Rapids

The Fifth District Of The M. S. T. A. Meet In Annual Conclave

The local public school faculty take train and buss for the fifth district meeting of the Michigan State Teachers Association, which convenes at Big Rapids next Thursday and Friday. Nearly 100 per cent of the teachers of northern Michigan will attend similar meetings directly following each other about the state. Michigan is divided into seven districts. The local teachers belong to the north-western district of Michigan, considered the past few years the liveliest district in the state.

Many of the famous educators of the country will speak at the meetings. Among others will be Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin and said by the Michigan State Journal to be the finest platform speaker in the United States today. Lorado Taft, nationally known sculptor, will speak. Some of his recent work is the Columbus Memorial Fountain at Washington, D. C. and the Fountain of the Great Lakes, adjoining the Washington Monument at Seattle, Washington. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, famous Arctic explorer, will talk on phases of geography. A. E. Winship, one of the most famous journalists in America, is another of the famous educators to be present at the Big Rapids meeting.

The inspiration received at this annual fall meeting carries through the year with most of the teachers, and the schools are always greatly benefited by it.

School will be closed Wednesday afternoon, Thursday and Friday to allow the teachers time to get there for the Thursday morning meeting.

Stump And Stone Blasting Demonstrations In Charlevoix County, Oct. 22-23.

Are you interested in blowing out those pesky stumps that are forever in the way and causing more expense on your farm implements than the work they do? One farmer blew out a stump for 15 cents and found 8 broken plow points. Wonder what his thoughts were? Or have you some big stones that are always a source of annoyance and are expense in your field operations? If you want to know how to put an end to these obstacles in an inexpensive manner plan to attend one of two demonstrations to be given by Mr. N. A. Kessler, Blasting Specialist. The first will be held on the farm of Fred Larson two miles south of East Jordan, at 2:00 o'clock fast time on Thursday afternoon, October 22nd. Both stumps and stones will be demonstrated. The second demonstration will be conducted at the farm of Howard Stephens one mile west of Horton's Bay, at 9:00 fast time on Friday morning, Oct. 23rd.

Dynamite costs over 20 cents a pound while Pyrotol, the war Salvage Explosive, costs only 9 cents and it will be shown that it is just as effective. We are not advocating the clearing of more land but rather the clearing of the land you are working, the better for farm efficiency and profit, in addition to showing the proper way of handling and safety precautions. Remember the dates and places and plan to attend.

FUGITIVE "CON MAN" RETURNS HOME TO DIE

John W. Worthington of Chicago Wills $2,000,000 to Daughters.

Chicago.—John W. Worthington, facing death in a tiny hotel room here, calmly told how he had disposed of his fortune of more than $2,000,000 in a will made a few hours before.

With every breath an apparent torture and a doctor standing by to administer hourly stimulants to keep alive the spark of life, the "Wolf of La Salle Street" detailed his bequests.

To Alice, the twenty-one-year-old daughter who spirited him from under the nose of federal agents from a sanitarium in Los Angeles and took him to exile in Mexico, he gave $1,000,000 in "first-class stock, first mortgages, and bonds."

He gave $1,000,000 more to another daughter, Mrs. John Rogers, New Rochelle, N. Y., wife of a New York broker. She, too, he said, had never "neglected her father."

"My dear little granddaughter, Helen"—the daughter of Mrs. Rogers—"will get $200,000."

Worthington slipped back into Chicago after an absence of two years, much of which was spent in his self-imposed exile in Mexico, with federal agents always on the alert to recapture him. He is under a two-year federal sentence.

For years Worthington battled to escape a cell, but in 1923 Judge Samuel Alschuler sentenced him to serve two years at Atlanta on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Col. Mitchell Refuses to Testify Before Board

Washington.—"I've been under coercion ever since I was ordered to Washington. Threats of court-martial were hanging over me while I was testifying before the President's aircraft board. Do you think I'd give the navy a chance to get statements from me that the War department might use against me? Not on your life."

This was the statement of Col. William A. Mitchell after he had refused to testify before the naval court of inquiry investigating the Shenandoah disaster.

"At first I didn't object to testifying," he said. "But Congressman Frank R. Reid, my counsel, did. He was right. A member of the general staff, Col. Charles E. Stone, was in the room with a stenographer prepared to take down my testimony."

"And no matter what I would have said, this navy board would have twisted it around and put me in a bad light."

"As soon as we are through this court-martial, then I'll be glad to testify, and under oath."

Racing Plane Falls at New York Meet; 1 Killed

New York.—A perfect opening for the New York air races at Mitchell field, L. I., with the largest assembly of military and civilian planes ever brought together in this country, was marred by a crash: the first race which killed one man and badly injured another.

The Balzanca plane, piloted by Clarence D. Chamberlain in the contest for civilian machines, fell in Hempstead, badly injuring him and instantly killing Lawrence Burnell, his passenger.

The race in which Burnell was killed was won by Basil Rowe in a Thomas Morse with a speed of 102.9 miles an hour.

Company officials said the explosion apparently was caused by an expansion of ammonia fumes in pipes leading to a refrigerating plant in the basement of the building.

Lansing—Fear that continued rains will cause damage to stocks stored in basements near the Grand River, which is at its highest level since last spring, has caused a number of business men to transfer their merchandise to higher ground. The river has risen several feet in the last few days and has over flowed its banks at several points.

Grand Rapids—Disregarding traffic signals and traffic officers stationed along the route, John Rood is believed to have saved the life of his 2-year-old son, Otto, by rushing him on a truck from his home to Butterworth hospital, after the child had swallowed a cupful of kerosene. Delay by observing the traffic signals would have caused the child's death, hospital attaches said.

Manistee—Ground was broken recently for Manistee's new high school on the northern half of Sanda Park. The excavating will be completed in about two weeks, preparatory to building the foundation. Actual construction will be started this fall if the weather remains moderate. It is to be a three-story building, capable of filling the needs of this city through years of ordinary growth and will be completed in time for occupation early in 1928.

Battle Creek—Declaring their city market a proven success, and the space provided for it to be inadequate the federated clubs composed of practically all women's organizations in Battle Creek, and with a membership running into the thousands, has petitioned the city commission to investigate existing conditions and provide adequate space for the parking of wagons and trucks and to provide shelter for the same during inclement weather.

East Lansing—Representatives of Michigan scientific and agricultural interests will hold a meeting in Detroit October 22 to plan a campaign against the cornborer, following an inspection trip which has just been completed through southeastern Michigan, northern Ohio and Ontario. The cornborer, which originally came from Europe, started its depredations in the eastern part of the United States, reached Michigan three years ago and now has advanced as far as Livingston county.

Grand Rapids—The attitude which many citizens have assumed toward the federal prohibition law has created "a terribly menacing situation" in this country, declared District Judge C. W. Sessions in his charge to the grand jury. Discussing the point that there is a prevailing opinion that the prohibition act should be repealed or modified, Judge Sessions said, "It requires a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress and the affirmative vote of 36 states to repeal a constitutional amendment. Do you imagine for one moment enough votes could be mustered to repeal the prohibition amendment?"

Saginaw—Although the Consumer's Power company declares it has the right to put into effect lighting rates submitted a week ago to the council and which are materially higher than the present schedule effective for the last 10 years the company is willing, according to John K. Samson, district manager, to follow the state rates. These are considerably lower than those offered. The council which received this statement has asked the city attorney to prepare a statement defining the city's rights in the matter.

Lansing—Lansing is to have a landing field on state property, Governor Groesbeck said recently. The administrative board is expected to approve a proposal that the city be given the use of part of the boys' vocational school farm, for aviation purposes.

Allegan—Henry Bollinger, 10 years old, was taken to Grand Rapids to face a charge of stealing a car belonging to Charles Walker of Byron Center. The boy was arrested at Bradley, when the machine he was driving ran out of gasoline. His youth led the officer to make an investigation which resulted in the arrest.

Monroe—Sheriff Joseph Kinsey has started an investigation as to how hack saws, which gave liberty to four prisoners, were smuggled into the county jail. It was discovered that only four escaped instead of all the prisoners, simply because the remaining 14 were too large to crawl through the small opening in the bars.

GREEN SAYS LABOR WILL FIGHT MOSCOW

Spurna Appeal by Briton for Closer Relationship With Communists.

Atlantic City, N. J.—An appeal to American labor by Arthur A. Purcell, member of the British parliament, to establish close relations with the organized workers of Russia was spurned by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor at its annual convention.

President Green, in his answer to Mr. Purcell, said: "I want to be frank and kindly in all I say, but we in America know something of the teachings of Communism and the control the Communist party exercises over the so-called Russian International.

"We know that influence emanating from Moscow is seeking, as it has always sought, not to co-operate with us but to capture and control us. They call the officers and representatives of the American labor movement fakers, scabs, and scoundrels. Frankly they say they do not believe in collective bargaining. They do not see in any strike an opportunity to increase wages, to shorten hours, to improve the condition of the employment for workers, but they see in every strike an opportunity for revolution.

"The Trade Union Educational League here in America, which is a creature of the Communist party, frankly announces that its policy is to bore within the labor movement, to destroy it and substitute for our philosophy the philosophy of Communism.

"We are not ready to accept that, and we wish that our friend who has so kindly offered such frank suggestions might take back to the Russian International this message: That the American labor movement will not affiliate with an organization that preaches that doctrine."

Green swung his fist, and his powerful voice reached all parts of the hall. The delegates rose as one, stamped their feet, and yelled their approval.

Air Board Hears Views of Naval and Army Officers

Washington.—Two rear admirals and a navy captain took diametrically opposed positions to that of an army lieutenant colonel, the leading tactical expert of the army on air defense, as they sought to be done with the country's special investigating board.

The navy officers all contended that under no circumstances should the air service be separated from navy command. The army officer, Lieut. Col. Thomas Dewitt Milling, said that chaos would result in battle and the national defense be crippled unless a separate air force was set up.

The navy officers were Rear Admiral Charles H. Hughes, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, who took the stand for the second time, and Capt. George W. Steel, commandant of Lakehurst air station.

$30,000,000 Coal Merger Announced at Nashville

By the merger the Bon Air corporation takes over the properties of the Tennessee Consolidated Coal company and the Chattanooga Gas and Coke company. The sale of the Chattanooga Gas and Coke company is subject to ratification by the stockholders.

Five Air Mail Routes Given to Private Firms

Washington.—Another chapter in American postal history began with the award of five contracts to private enterprise for the carrying of the mails by airplane. On the results of the undertaking, Postmaster General New declared, the future of aerial transport in the United States depends. The National Air Transport, Inc., of Chicago, was one of the successful bidders. It was awarded the route from Chicago to Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex.

Anthracite Districts Peaceful

Mining Men Meet at Capital

CHRISTY MATHEWSON, BASEBALL IDOL, DIES

Tuberculosis, Developing From Gas in War, Fatal.

Saranac Lake, N. Y. — Christy Mathewson is dead.

Baseball's "Big Six" lost his fight against tuberculosis.

More than five years ago the great pitcher, loved and honored wherever the game is played, began what was to be a losing struggle. Gassed in the World war in France, where he served with distinction, Mathewson returned from overseas to coach with the Giants, the club with which he won his fame, but the illness which was finally to take his life forced him to retire for recuperation in 1920.

On the training trip South last spring with the Braves Mathewson took cold and he never fully recovered.

Christy Mathewson.

ered. He had been in bed at his home ever since, Mrs. Mathewson being in constant attendance.

Death, according to his physician, was due to tuberculosis and pneumonia. A son, Christy Mathewson, Jr., who is at college, was not at the bedside when his father died.

Mathewson was the idol of baseball fans for more than two decades.

Sees Doom of Electric Roads Unless Given Aid

Atlantic City, N. J.—"We are not crying 'help the railways,' but we do say that without co-ordination and co-operation from the public and the authorities they cannot continue to exist except as municipal undertakings and only by increasing the general tax roll. To have public transportation cease means decreased values in every other kind of prosperity, public and private alike. The problem is one that cannot be solved by railway management alone. The public and its representatives must lend a helping hand or the industry in many localities is doomed."

The future of electric railway transportation in the United States was thus epitomized by B. C. Cobb of New York in an address before the American Electric Railway association in convention in this city.

Red Crown—A Premium Gasoline at a standard price—glides up the grade of popular favor with great ease.

Thousands of motorists have recognized the force of the "price per mile" argument and switched over to Red crown.

The price per gallon contention is weak-kneed—has no bearing.

The story is told better by what is built in the gasoline.

Of what significance is the question of a saving of a few cents on an investment of hundreds of dollars?

If you pay less for your gasoline than the price of Red Crown, you are getting less—and that is false economy raised to the nth power, no matter how it is disguised.

Take Your Choice

(From Grand Rapids Herald)
United States Judge Clarence W. Sessions, addressing a federal grand jury in Grand Rapids this week, flung a straight-shooting challenge at those citizens who assiduously cultivate the idea that "Prohibition can't be enforced." Those who encourage this notion are largely responsible for the precise difficulty which they apostrophize. "If enough people say a thing 'can't be done,' it is only a question of time before all effort to 'do it' becomes impotent. A more insidious influence could not be imagined. Now listen to Judge Sessions:

To admit that the prohibition laws cannot be enforced would be equivalent to stating that a small ring of bootleggers is more powerful than the United States Government. Every honest man, whether he believes in Prohibition or not, will concede that so long as the law is on the books it ought to be enforced; to think otherwise is to think contrary to the fundamental principles of lawful government.

"There you are! Take your choice! In 'Prohibition can't be enforced,' then the United States government is subordinate to the illicit and despicable despotism of night- prowling rum pirates. If 'Prohibition can't be enforced,' then our alcoholics care more for their vagrant appetites than for 'the fundamental principles of lawful government.'" We are not ready to agree that the Republic has abdicated or that sanity is dethroned. We frankly admit difficulties—for the sake of their correction. We frankly welcome any further ballot tests to prove what we believe to be the constancy of "dry" opinion. We frankly concede to those who disagree with us the perfectly honorable right to proceed, under the Constitution, to try for the changes in law which their preferences and their opinions recommend. But we reject the sordid idea that "a ring of bootlegger" is more powerful than "the government of the United States" or that something "can't be done" which is legally ordered by American majorities. Judge Sessions correctly indicates the only possible alternatives—and correctly points the only American attitude. Take your choice!

Charlevoix 7; East Jordan 0

(Received last week too late for publication)

Two good scrappy football teams met on the gridiron last Friday at Charlevoix and the result was adverse to the locals. Both teams are to be complimented on their hard, clean playing. This can nearly always be said when these two teams meet. Hard luck stories and sobbing are practically unknown when these two keen rivals battle.

Charlevoix's team was the heavier and won on its merits. At the same time it takes nothing from Charlevoix's fine team to say that the locals lost their chance of winning the game in the first half when three different times they carried the ball down the field to within Charlevoix's ten yard line for the first touchdown and did not score. The main reason was that they tried to hit the powerful Charlevoix line instead of trying an end run for a pass. This was a very serious mistake in judgment and no doubt cost them any chance they had of winning the game. The locals distinctly outclassed Charlevoix in the first half. Charlevoix had the edge in the second.

Although Charlevoix won 7 to 0 as a matter of fact luck broke with them for an intercepted forward pass and penalty gave them their touchdown, the locals holding them to three or four yards gain and four downs, so that the game was as close as possible for a football game to be. Both lines showed up well. The defense of both teams was remarkable. Charlevoix's line is perhaps as strong as any High School line in northern Michigan and is much stronger than their back field. The whole Charlevoix line are veterans and should be heard from. East Jordan's greatest fault was inexperience.

Stellar work for East Jordan was performed by Chris Taylor. Capt. Thomas also played a good game as well as Howard Snyder at Center. The officiating of Burnham and Burkett from Grayling and Gaylord respectively was good. The game was clean and evenly contested throughout before a large enthusiastic crowd. Many East Jordan fans were on the side lines, including the local High School band. East Jordan suffered a severe loss when Paul Somerville was removed from the game through injury as he was perhaps the strongest football man Coach Waggoner had on his squad. Carl Wright, another veteran, also had to leave the game for the same reason but will be back in the lineup very soon. Somerville aggravated an old knee trouble he had a year ago by turning his ankle.

Officials: Burkett, Referee; Alberts, Umpire; Burnham, Head Umpireman.
Score:
Charlevoix 7 0 0 0-7

Rocking the boat in the summer time is not as dangerous as holding an unloaded gun in the fall.

Many people worship things away from home—especially if pictured in a mail order catalogue.

If you want to see what a modern beauty show is like stand on the street and look them over. It is foolish to buy tickets.

Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Thirty-three farmers round about Alba, progressive farmers who are in the certified seed potato game, will harvest 200 to 300 bushels per acre as against a much smaller yield elsewhere. And the price will be $1.50 or more against probably 75 cents to $1.00 for other stock. Alba farmers will clear up to $2,000 or more above expenses, while many other farmers will have trouble to get cash to pay taxes. There surely is a difference. Improved methods of farming and quality always pay.—Mancelona Herald.

Fashion Rediscovered Virtues of Velvet

Since velveteens have blossomed out with the sheen of silk (and this luster is permanent) they have become a very important factor in the modes for both dresses and coats. Fashionables appear to have rediscovered the beauty of this dependable material and the season's new colors are very effective in it. Wine, vivid blues, bottle green, maroon and golden browns are added to black, navy and brown in the staple shades and are at their best in pile fabrics. Any one of them might be used to make the handsome afternoon frock shown here, with fine ecru lace to finish the scallops on the bodice and the collar and cuffs of ecru batiste.

Lansing—An investigation into the insurance activities of the "Stags," a fraternal order, has been undertaken by the state insurance department, L. T. Hands, commissioner, announced. A number of complaints relative to group insurance policies taken out for the entire membership, with the order named as beneficiary, have been received. It was charged that the order was to receive the money from the insurance company in the event of death of a member, and pay the dependents, but that it failed to turn the funds over to the claimants.

THE FLOWER IN THE BUTTONHOLE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

ARNOLD, though he was past fifty, used almost invariably to come down to his office in the morning with a flower in his buttonhole—a bright marigold, or a sprig of forget-me-nots, or a crimson rosebud. He liked variety.

Mrs. Arnold said that the flower made him look ten years younger, and Arnold, to please his wife, was willing to look less than middle aged.

The flower gave a certain tone to the office which we all felt we had to live up to, and though we never felt under the necessity of taking flowers ourselves, yet we did give somewhat more attention to our general appearance because of it. We couldn't go about careless and untidy with the perfume and color of the flower constantly in the office.

And Arnold himself repeated the experience of the woman who, having bought a pair of fine curtains for the parlor windows, found that ultimately she had to refurnish the entire house to have things in keeping with the parlor curtains. He had to live up to the flower. His trousers were always carefully pressed; there was never a spot or a wrinkle upon his coat, and his linen was always immaculate, and his nails carefully manicured. There was nothing overfastidious about him; his general appearance was simply in proper keeping with the flower.

He always came into the office with his shoulders thrown back and an unmistakable appearance of being alert and well set up. One can drag his feet if his shoes are down at the heel or his trousers baggy, but not with a flower in one's buttonhole.

Arnold's desk was a model of order and neatness, and I used to ask myself if the flower in his buttonhole did no., perhaps, have something to do with that. It would seem incongruous to have one's desk untidy and littered up with dust and scraps of paper when one has a rose in his buttonhole.

We always thought, too, that the flower which he wore gave Arnold more poise, more self-control. He always spoke in a quiet voice, he never seemed to lose his temper or to show irritation, and he never descended to coarse or vulgar language as men often do. It seemed as if a man couldn't rage with the perfume of a gardenia permeating his office. The flower suggested refinement, and the man had to live up to the suggestion.

Possibly it was all our imagination in attributing so much influence and suggestion to the flower which Arnold wore, but, be that as it may, dress, and the small and seemingly insignificant details of dress, have much to do in giving every man self-respect, self-control, self-confidence even. A man sloppy and unkempt in his dress is more likely to be so in his manners, in his speech and in his ways of doing business.

It would help a lot of people to have a flower in the buttonhole.

MRS. OSTRICH TO MARKET

MRS. OSTRICH was troubled. Something was wrong with the children. Her fourteen beautiful eggs, like ivory globes, had hatched into fourteen lively young birds. They had eaten gravel for several days after they came out of the shell, which all ostrich mothers know is the best thing for their young stomachs, but after that they didn't seem to thrive. Father Ostrich had brought them the tenderest leaves and twigs, and even some of those wonderful watermelons which grow on the edge of the desert, but nothing agreed with them.

"What's to be done, my dear?" roared Father Ostrich in his loud, important voice.

"Well, I don't know, Father," said Mother Ostrich, "but it does seem to me as if I could find something which would be good for the children. I don't believe you looked far and wide. I shall go a long distance away to-day. I am a faster runner than a horse, so it will be easy."

"Now, Father, Don't Be Cross," Said Mrs. Ostrich.

"I don't know how far you'll go," said Father Ostrich a bit peevishly, for he didn't like Mrs. Ostrich's criticism, "but I'm sure you'll go wide if you go around in circles as usual. And mind, don't get frightened and hide your head in the sand!"

"Now, Father, don't be cross," said Mrs. Ostrich. "You have the same bad habits that I have, you know. Good-by, I'll be back before dark," and she trotted away over the desert, her legs moving so fast that her toes seemed scarcely to touch the ground.

"I'll have to go toward those trees and growing things over there," thought she. "There's nothing here on the desert fit for my babies to eat." And she ran so fast that all at once she found herself in the thick, deep jungle.

"Now, I wonder," she said aloud looking up, "if that breadfruit would be to the children's taste."

"It looks good to me," said a small merry voice which seemed to come from right under Mrs. Ostrich's very toes. "But of course I don't know for whom you are marketing."

"Dear me," snapped Mrs. Ostrich in surprise and alarm, "dear me, who's interfering now?"

"It's only Cheerups, Madam, and I thought perhaps I could help you pick out your fruit for breakfast, as you were a little uncertain," said the voice.

"Well, well, this is luck," cried Mrs. Ostrich, looking down at Cheerups from her eight feet of height, and winking and blinking her great eyes with their long lashes. "To think that I should run right into you, Mr. Cheerups. Why, all the Desert and Jungle Folks are talking about you and your wise words and your wonderful ways. Here I am in a terrible tangle, and you appear right in front of me to unravel it. Miraculous, I say, simply miraculous!"

"First, please tell me who you are," smiled Cheerups, "and what is your trouble. I surely don't deserve the fame you speak of, but I shall be very glad to help you if I can."

"Oh, thank you, Mr. Cheerups; you are so kind. You see, I am Mrs. Ostrich and I have at home fourteen as handsome little Ostrich babies as you could see any day in a twenty-mile run."

"But I couldn't run twenty miles," cried Cheerups.

"Oh, excuse me," replied Mrs. Ostrich. "I forgot that you hadn't the long-distance apparatus," and she looked proudly at her tall, strong legs. "Well, my babies had their gravel meals for two or three days, as was right and proper, and then they didn't seem to like the leaves and vegetables which Father Ostrich brought them. We just can't find anything they will eat. And if they don't eat, they will die. Oh, Mr. Cheerups, I'm almost distracted!"

"Don't be anxious, Mrs. Ostrich. I beg of you," said Cheerups in a tone full of kindness. "I have a plan. Just lay a few extra eggs outside the nest and feed the wee birdlings on them until they are old enough to eat other things. And when you hatch the next brood, you might lay the extra eggs first, so the babies' breakfast will be all ready and waiting for them when they come."

"That's a splendid idea," cried Mother Ostrich. "Thank you a thousand times, Mr. Cheerups; I'll do just as you say," and off she ran at top speed toward home. Ever since, Mrs. Ostrich has followed Cheerups' advice with success.

VIOLA

THE practically unique occurrence of an old Latin word as a modern feminine name, without change of spelling or significance is evidenced in Viola. It is one of the few names which has not undergone a lengthy process of evolution from some root in a dead language. It has not even submitted to revival but has passed down through the centuries as the Latin word for "violet" and will remain a feminine proper name signifying violet to the end of time.

There are many instances of the use of Viola in England and Scotland. There is the equivalent Yolande in France and also Violetta. But in Italy, where the Viola arose, there is no record of its having been used as a proper name.

The common opinion of etymologists seems to be that it was a fanciful name imported from Italy by Shakespeare and bestowed upon one of his heroines in "Twelfth Night." But however it may be, the Viola who loved Orsino endeared the name in English hearts and it has continued with great popularity ever since the time of Shakespeare.

The amethyst is the talismanic gem assigned to Viola. It promises her success in love and freedom from vexation. Friday is her lucky day and 3 her lucky number.

WHO SAID

"Man is to man either god or a wolf."

ERASMERUS ERASMUS, the author of the above quotation, was born at Rotterdam, Holland, in the year 1467. His real name was Gerard, but this he changed—a practice which was greatly in vogue in his day.

Erasmus had been left an orphan at an early age, and the efforts of his guardians were largely responsible for his entering a monastery and swearing he would become a priest. This determination he later relinquished, and by special dispensation from the pope at Rome was relieved from his monastic vows.

In the year 1492—the year that Columbus first set foot on the shores of the new world—Erasmus left his home in Holland and, with the permission of the bishop of Chambery, who was in charge of the monastery where the lad was living, traveled to Paris. There he studied theology and literature and there he formed acquaintance with many wealthy Englishmen whose instructor he became. One of these—Lord Mountjoy—was so impressed with the monk, and became so great an admirer of him, that he settled on him a life-long pension.

In 1497 Erasmus accompanied Lord Mountjoy to England, where he was graciously received by the king and where his learning secured him considerable attention from the men of letters of that country. Soon after Erasmus returned to the continent and secured the dispensation from the pope relieving him of his monastic vows. Upon obtaining this release, he published several of his works. In 1510 he again returned to England where he was given a professorship at Cambridge. In 1514 he returned to the continent where he lived until death overtook him in 1536.

Erasmus was easily one of the most notable scholars of his day and to him can be given much credit for the reviving of scholarship in that age. He attacked the disorders of monasticism and superstition and was active in the reformation, although he was scored by Luther for lukewarmness. The "Praise of Folly" is, perhaps, his best work.—Wayne D. McMurray.
