STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Manelona—A 12-foot fall into the basement potato pit in his warehouse caused serious injuries to Asa Ball, potato buyer. He is believed to have lain there for 36 hours until friends investigated. It is thought he walked through an open trap door.

Port Huron—Deputy game wardens having jurisdiction in the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair district have received word from Lansing that a recent law prohibits the spearing of fish through the ice on Lake St. Clair and its tributaries during the months of January, February and March.

Adrian—An outbreak of hog cholera was reported from Deerfield, Mich., where on one farm 24 hogs were discovered suffering from the disease. County Agricultural Agent C. L. Coffen immediately placed the farm under quarantine. It is the first outbreak in the county in considerable time.

Owosso—Rev. F. E. Chamberlain, pastor of the Elsie Methodist church, speaking at the service in his church, declared that "if I had my way, I would have every lawyer acting in a case in court, sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth." The minister was discussing the modern jury system.

Adrian—The city commission has announced that it would purchase a new truck to replace the rural fire truck destroyed recently in a grade crossing accident in which Fireman William Vollmer, of the Adrian department was killed. Trucks assigned from the Adrian department will answer rural calls in the meantime.

Port Huron—George C. Watson, of Capac, a state representative, has been appointed by Judge E. F. Law as receiver of the Jeddo State Savings Bank, of Jeddo, Mich. The receiver will endeavor to straighten out the muddled condition of the bank's affairs and determine the shortage of the missing cashier, Squire Laings.

Lansing—The State Administrative Board has ordered the improvement of the last stretch of old road on M 16 between Grand Rapids and Detroit. The State Highway Department was instructed to prepare plans and secure right of way for widening and straightening the trunk line between Fowlerville and Howell. The present pavement is narrow, rough and crooked.

Sturgis—Fred Genbrow, an Indian, and Nelson Abbott, arrested at Three Rivers for collecting money "for disabled soldiers" were each fined $114.50 when they pleaded guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses. Both claim they are from Detroit. Genbrow and Abbott were suspected of complicity in a double safe blowing in Three Rivers; recently when they hilariously entertained police while the yeggs worked.

Muskegon—James A. Cronk, who has been the storm center in complaints made by various motor clubs regarding an alleged speed trap, is going to lose his job as motorcycle officer at North Muskegon. The city has agreed with the Attorney-General not to reappoint Cronk when his term expires Dec. 31. Upon the condition the city fire Cronk, the Attorney-General has withdrawn his demands for the resignation of Justice W. E. Oglesby.

Lansing—A contract for the establishment of a new industry in Jackson prison has been closed by the State Prison commission. The prison will take over the plant of the Cable Cot Co., of Boston, and produce steel cots. The Boston company will move its plant to the prison and give the equipment to the State. In return, the prison will make the cots for the company at a price of about $1.40 each. Orders for more than 200,000 cots are on hand.

Lansing—More than 1,000,000 quarts of whisky, beer, gin, wine, mash and moonshine have been seized by the State Police thus far this year, a report completed by the State Department of Public Safety shows. Much of the illicit liquor came from the Wayne county area where State Police combed the river front and raided numerous blind pigs and road houses. Prohibition violations constituted more than one-third of a total of 4,231 arrests made during the year.

Lansing—James Soper, said by medical authorities to be a typhoid carrier and to whom 21 cases of the disease have been traced at the Eaton Rapids church banquet, is to be isolated for life in a small house on a farm near Laingsburg, Shiawassee county, the state administration board announced. Soper, who is said to have been a typhoid carrier for 25 years, is to be moved to the farm of Harry Drake, where a permanent "Typhoid colony" will be established by the state. Drake will supply him with food.

Ypsilanti—An amendment to the city zoning ordinance designed to prohibit bill boards anywhere in the city except on the property or business which they advertise has been passed to second reading by the city council. The amendment is the outgrowth of a recent attempt on the part of an advertising concern to erect a 100-foot billboard adjacent to the Beyer Memorial Hospital here. Protests from large numbers of citizens and civic organizations were sent to the company at that time and it removed the billboard.

Saginaw—Oil has been struck in the third of the Saginaw Prospecting company's wells at a depth of 1,834 feet.

Greenville—Newsboys of this city will be in mourning on New Year's Day because of the death of John J. Winsler, 82 years old, a veteran of Civil War, who had made a habit for the past 15 years of giving the youngsters a New Year's dinner at one of the local hotels.

Lansing—The purchase of the state operative cement plant at Chelsea has been authorized by the state administrative board. Under the terms of an option secured when the plant was taken over the state has been renting for two years at $75,000 a year with a privilege of buying for $500,000. The $150,000 paid in rent will apply on the purchase price.

Pontiac—William E. Carpenter, 76 years old, former state legislator and county supervisor for many years, died here last Saturday after a long illness. He was elected to the legislature in 1882 and again in 1890. For 10 years he represented Waterford township as supervisor and was secretary of the Monitor Insurance company for 13 years. The funeral was held Tuesday.

Saginaw—Fire of undetermined origin last week destroyed the interior of the Boston Store, a small downtown department store, causing damage estimated at close to $100,000. The fire was confined to one building, a three story structure, but several stores and shops in adjoining buildings were damaged by water. A job printing shop on the second floor of the building was destroyed.

Iron Mountain—Ernest G. Struebing, 56 years old said to be the wealthiest man in Michigan, is dead at his farm home in Foster City. Struebing weighed 570 pounds and was six feet tall. His coffin will be seven feet in length, 38 inches wide and 34 inches high and will be carried by eight pallbearers. Because of its size, it will be impossible to use an ordinary motor hearse and a truck will be utilized instead.

Monroe—Nearly all of the wild ducks which had been resting on Lake Erie for several weeks have left for the southern climate, as the water is frozen a mile and half from shore in many places, according to an old hunter. Water in the creeks and marshes is likewise frozen, making it impossible for the fowl to obtain food. A few small flocks of ducks and geese are seen sometimes in the marshes toward night time.

Monroe—The anchor ice in Lake Erie, which has clogged the intake pipe of the crib in connection with Monroe's municipal waterworks system since last Wednesday, is clearing, and as a result, operations have been resumed at the waterworks pumping station near Lake Erie. It is expected that the reservoir of the filtration plant will soon contain its full quota of 3,000,000 gallons of water and there will be no water shortage for some time to come.

Lansing—The State will seek a permanent injunction to restrain the Detroit Reduction Co. from polluting the Huron River, despite equipment now being installed by the company designed to dispose of all waste matter. Officials of the company testified that evaporators and other equipment would be completed in about 60 days, which will prevent seepage from entering the river. The State decided to proceed with the case regardless. The hearing probably will last several days.

Flint—What is said to be the largest order of automobiles for retail delivery was entered recently at the Flint Motor company's plant when 2,000 machines were ordered for the Automobile Theft Bureau of America, according to an announcement made by factory officials. The Los Angeles Flint branch represented the company in the transaction. The plan of the bureau to curtail the increasing number of automobile thefts includes the use of both receiving and broadcasting radio sets for the automobiles which will patrol various districts in the country.

Big business is booming; if you are not you are not big business.
"Red" Grange has been out of the game for a few days with a sore arm. Probably caused by banging too hard on the cash register.

THE DOCTOR

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THERE were a good many things requiring serious consideration before a doctor was summoned, when I was a boy. It was no easy trip over the miles of bottomless road which stretched out between our house and the village where he lived. He could not be summoned at a moment's notice; someone had to go for him, for there were no telephones in those days, and there was the horrible dread that he might have been called to some other bedside far in the opposite direction.

I shall never forget the day that we waited for the coming of old Doctor Morrison. Mother was sick—dreadfully sick, we knew, for mother never took to her bed for any slight indisposition. Father had no skill in the sick room. We simply sat around, waiting.

"Shan't I send for the doctor, Dorothy?" he asked early in the morning. "No, I think I'll be better soon," she answered; but she got no better. "You'd better go for the doctor, John," father said to my brother finally. "Your mother's very bad. Go your quickest."

John did not need to be told twice. He was galloping down the road at a furious speed almost before we knew it.

I looked at the hands of the clock which moved so slowly it seemed as if they must have stopped, and I measured the almost interminable time which must elapse before John could get to the doctor. I wandered out to the barn and climbed upon the roof to watch. Many a time, long before it was humanly possible for him to come, I thought I could detect a dark spot on the horizon, only to find that I was mistaken. I had almost given him up when Mary appeared at an upstairs window.

"He's coming," she shouted. "I can see him over by Frances' barn."

I rushed down the road to meet them, for now my eyes could recognize the figure of the old man bowling along over the prairie in his two-wheeled sulky.

He was in the room shortly; he was standing over mother; he was pouring out something into a spoon and raising it to her head while she swallowed it. "You'll be better soon," he said in a kindly confidential voice, and I ran out of doors to hide my tears of joy.

When he left, I followed him silent and respectful to his sulky. He seemed like a god to me, simple old man that I am sure he was. He knew everything, he could do anything, he had made mother well. He gave me unbounded faith, and some way through all the years that have intervened, in spite of experiences innumerable which have revealed to me the limitations of medical science even at its best, that faith remains. Down deep in my consciousness there is still the belief of childhood that the doctor is all-powerful. So, infidel though I sometimes claim to be as to his effectiveness, in my heart I believe in him.

Satin Bloomers Are Worn With Tot's Cunning Frock

For very best dress-up occasions little tots are wearing cunning velvet frocks, and with satin bloomers, if you please. Fashion exacts that the satin be a perfect match color to the velvet. Furthermore, in order to do away with any thought of somberness, there must be flowerets in gay coloring embroidered in festoons and wreaths. The bloomers are finished with velvet bands to carry out the ensemble idea.

Navy blue, black and brown are the favorite shades of velvet, for lighter tones would not be practical. These dresses can be worn 'way into the springtime even after the little winter coat is discarded. Indeed they are ideal for midseason wear. The scalloped hemline piped with contrasting color is very popular for children's frocks.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Evolution of the Piano

The piano was originally a harp with two or three strings. More strings were added from time to time and early in the Thirteenth century, following the plan of stretching the strings across a box, the "dulcimer" was produced whose strings were struck by hammers. General advancement was made until the immediate forerunner of the piano we know today was produced early in the Eighteenth century.

The Interesting Emu

Among the indigenous birds of Queensland the emu rivals the ostrich for voracity. In the stomach of a specimen recently killed were found four pennies, nine nails, five marbles, one umbrella ferrule, key, a medal, a clock wheel and crockery.

Striking Painting of "Century" On New York Central Calendar

ONE of the most striking and impressive train pictures ever painted, is the feature of the 1926 Art Calendar now being distributed nationally by the New York Central Lines, bearing the artist's title "A National Institution."

The painting shows the Twentieth Century Limited, the fastest long distance train in the world, speeding southward along the east bank of the Hudson River, beneath the steel viaduct approach to the "Alfred H. Smith Memorial Bridge" across the Hudson River ten miles south of Albany, N. Y., a part of the $25,000,000 "Castleton Cut-Off" improvement, which includes also twenty-eight miles of connecting double-track railroad and large new freight classification yards.

The painting, which is by Walter L. Greene, upon exhibition won high praise for its illustration of thrilling speed and the impressive sense of the power and majesty of locomotive and train conveyed. The reproduction on the calendar is in five colors surrounded by a border semblance of a mahogany and gold frame.

Like the train paintings issued in preceding years, it is adaptable to framing and permanent preservation. The railroad's distribution of the picture includes all newspapers, hotels, banks, large industrial and mercantile establishments, commercial and civic organizations, public officials and other individuals and agencies, having to do directly with transportation.

The Twentieth Century Limited, running daily in twenty hours between New York and Chicago in from two to five sections, on June 15th, 1926, will complete its twenty-fourth year of continuous service. It transports more passengers each year than all the ocean liners plying between Europe and America carry in their first cabins. Each section of the Century represents an investment in locomotive and car equipment of approximately $575,000.

Strength of Wood

Wood is one of the strongest substances in the world, but its strength lies in one direction only. A thin strip of wood cut with the grain will withstand about three times as heavy a pull as steel wire of equal weight.
