EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1926.

No. 24

Closing of the School Year

East Jordan High Graduates the Largest Class in Its History.

BACCALAUREATE

On Sunday evening, June 6th, baccalaureate program of this year 1926 was held in the High School auditorium. The stage had been simply and tastefully decorated with red and white lilacs, silver and old rose crepe paper. The freshmen class had charge of this part of the program.

Mrs. A. J. Suffern played the prelude during which the senior class and faculty, led by the senior class president, Miss Eva McBride, and conducted by a representative of the freshmen, Miss Louise Hipp, marched to the seats reserved for them. The invocation, scripture reading and benediction were given by Rev. Henry Hiles. The combined choirs of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches gave two special numbers, "Send Out the Light," "Remember Now Thy Creator." Mr. R. E. Webster, Mr. W. H. Sloan sang the tenor parts. Mrs. R. L. Waggoner, Mrs. George Bechtold, soprano; Mrs. A. J. Duncanson, Mrs. H. P. Porter, altos; Mr. H. P. Porter, Mr. John Seiler, bass.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham of the Presbyterian church. The subject was "The Greatest Thing in the World." This was shown to be character. The service was made doubly impressive by the senior caps and gowns.

CLASS DAY

Class Day program given on Wednesday evening, June 9, at seven thirty was almost called off on Wednesday afternoon when it was learned that Ralph Clark, who had part in the double quartet, male quartet and who was to give the giftatory, had decided to stay at home and have the measles. However, Miss Kelly scurried around and was able to secure Mr. Seiler to take the part in the quartet and Marjorie Mackey gave the giftatory.

The program was opened by the presentation of the graduates. The spot light was turned on the stage and as each graduate stepped into the light they were introduced to the audience. Miss Lucille Bartlett gave the salutatory Harold Price a trombone solo and Fern Gidley gave the class history. This last was an especially clever production each member was likened to a flower and the selection was very appropriate. Ernest Ross read the class will. Marguerite Rogors recited the class poem and Dorothy Joynt rocked out the class prophecy. Miss Eva McBride gave the valedictory, after which the entire class united in singing their class song. This year, instead of buying a class song already made, as has been the habit in the past, a member of the class, Miss Dorothy Webster composed one. The results were so much more pleasing and fitting that the practice will be continued in the future. The double quartet which was composed of Reva Williams, Dorothy Joynt, Sylvia Tusch Ruth Chadsey, Harold Price, Carl Wright, Egedio Demaino and John Seiler and the male quartet which was composed of the four men named above, did unusually well under the difficulties caused of having practiced together for only a short time during the afternoon.

Immediately after the program the class and High School teachers went to the Russell House where a fine banquet was served.

The stage which had been decorated by the Sophomore class was made to represent a library. For the first time in the history of the school, the graduates sat on under-stuffed furniture instead of folding chairs. From the look of satisfaction which seemed to creep around the circle they did not wish the program to come to an end. It is a difficult task to secure furniture and then get it returned again. The Sophomores did an especially good job and great should be their credit.

SENIOR ASSEMBLY

Last Friday afternoon the final senior assembly was given in the High School auditorium. The lower grades first took their places in the auditorium and then the Juniors, led by their class president, Gladys Neilson, and conducted by a page in uniform, took their accustomed seats. The Seniors, dressed in their caps and gowns and conducted by another page, marched to their places. Mr. John Ter Wee gave a clarinet solo. Miss Ardith Richardson gave the senior address to the Juniors, and Edward Carr gave the junior response. Superintendent A. J. Duncanson then delivered an address to the course of which he brought out the following points:

There are thirty-six members in the class of 1926, fourteen boys and twenty two girls, four more than any previous year. The honor students are: Valedictorian, Eva McBride; Salutatorian, Lucille Bartlett; first honor student, Fern Gidley. Twenty-six of the students have an average of above eighty-five per cent. Ten have an average above ninety per cent, five have an average of eighty-nine per cent. The present senior class sent six of the ten who went to Mt. Pleasant to the Scholastic contest. They had seven members on the basket ball team and seven on the football team. Eleven students are from the country. At least sixteen expect to go away to school. They made the Lyceum Course a permanent institution, were instrumental in organizing the band, gave one of the best J-Hops ever put on, started cap and gown idea, and have always been strong on co operation and have thereby shown that they have learned the one lesson that a democracy most demands.

The scholarship of the class did not have as high a light as some of the preceding classes but the average marks were higher.

Following Mr. Duncanson's address Mrs. Leonor Dicken of Boyne City sang "A Song of Spring."

The Seniors then marched from the auditorium and the Juniors went down into the Seniors place. Mr. Clyde Snellenberger, who will be class advisor for the Seniors next year, and the High School Principal, then gave an inspirational talk to the coming Seniors in which he outlined their duties and responsibilities for the coming year.

The assembly was closed by a number by the orchestra.

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Gidley, who moved its adoption; seconded by Albermar Aldrich:

Whereas, on May 1, 1926, the property described as follows: Commencing at a point ninety-two (92) feet north of the southeast corner of Lot 1, Block 2, Original Plat, Village of South Lake, now known as City of East Jordan, Michigan; thence west eight (8) rods; thence north twenty-two (22) feet; thence east eight (8) rods; thence south twenty-two (22) feet to place of beginning, was deemed by this council to be unsanitary and a menace to public health, and,

Whereas, the owner of said property had been notified to clean up the same, and had failed to do so, and

Whereas, the City of East Jordan has paid from its general fund the sum of three and no one hundred dollars for having the said premises cleaned up, therefore,

Resolved, that the City Clerk be, and is, hereby instructed to report the said amount to the City assessor, instructing him to spread the same upon the city tax roll to be collected with the regular city taxes for the year 1926.

Adopted by the council of the City of East Jordan on the 7th day of June, by an aye and nay vote as follows:

Robert Campbell Becomes Cashier At East Jordan

(Mancelona Herald, June 3)

Robert A. Campbell, teller of the Antrim County State Savings Bank for the past six years, has accepted the position of Cashier of the East Jordan State Bank, and will leave tomorrow to assume his new duties.

Mr. Campbell's rise above the teller's window has been expected as a natural thing sure to come, not only by the local banking officials but by the public with whom he has come in contact. His pleasant smile and always courteous treatment, coupled with his natural abilities, has marked him for early advancement in his chosen work. As a matter of fact, this is Mr. Campbell's second offer of substantial advancement within a month.

The local banking officials, as anxious to keep him as they are and wondering who can be secured to really take his place, were still unwilling to stand in his way and gave him the glad hand on the opportunity thus presented him to do better elsewhere.

Mr. Campbell as a lad did his first work in the grocery store of Sam Wisler, then at the age of 18 was picked for a position in the bank. Two years later he was a fixture at the teller's window.

His family will remain here for a portion of the summer, before moving to East Jordan.

Brennan-Richardson

Miss Drusilla Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richardson of Norwood, near Charlevoix, Mich., was united in marriage to Glenn A. Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Brennan of East Jordan. The ceremony took place at St. Mary's Church, Tuesday, June 1st at East Chicago, Ill. The young couple will be "At Home" at 419 Hickory Street, Hammond, Indiana after June 16th. Their many friends of this vicinity extend sincere congratulations.

Grand Rapids—The Grand Rapids Railway company announces that insurance policies have been obtained by the company for its employees. The policies range from $500 for those in service more than a year and less than 10 years, to $1,500 for those in the company's employ 11 years or more.

Lansing—the thirty-third annual convention of Michigan grand-coun-headquarters in the new Hotel Olds. America, opened here June 3, with headquarters in the new Hotel Olds. Grand Rapids looms as the probable meeting place of the Travelers next year. Sault Ste Marie also is making an effort to land the convention.

OTIS J. SMITH,
City Clerk.

Lansing—Encouraged by the co-operation given by manufacturers and municipalities in clearing streams of pollution in Southern Michigan, the State Department of Conservation, the Department of Health and the Attorney-General's office will hold a series of meetings in the Upper Peninsula beginning July 13 to request the same co-operation in stream pollution work in that section.

Imlay City—At the request of Representative Cramton, an investigation was recently made in regard to a star mail route from Imlay City to Cass City and as a result an order has been issued by the postoffice department, effective June 14, changing the service on this route so as to supply the postoffices at Wilmot and Deford and to include also supply of the postoffices at Lum and Kings Mill.

Jackson—The medical societies of Jackson and Washtenaw counties will join in an open air meeting at the Sylvan Estate Country club, east of Grass Lake, Thursday, June 24, it was decided at a meeting of committees from the two organizations. It is planned to make the affair an annual one. A golf tournament, quilts and indoor baseball will be sports for the outing. After dinner each society will be expected to offer two entertainment features.

Mt. Clemens—The first move to build two bridges over the Clinton River near Mt. Clemens was taken here when Clinton Township voted three to one to annex two plots of ground adjoining the river at the French Claims road and the proposed crossing of the new Groesbeck highway. The bridges will open the two major highways northward from Mt. Clemens. Both projects are included in the super-highway plan of Wayne and Macomb counties.

Flint—Plans have been announced by a committee of Flint business and professional men for a civic demonstration June 27 to celebrate the advancement to the rank of major-general of Brig-Gen. Guy M. Wilson, of Flint, commander of the Michigan National Guard. Plans are being made to bring to Flint a number of units of the National Guard from surrounding cities for a parade and military demonstration to be followed by a reception to Gen. Wilson.

Pontiac—The recent announcement by officers of the General Motors Corporation of their intention to build a new $5,000,000 plant for the manufacture of Pontiac sixes was one of the biggest industrial surprises Pontiac has ever enjoyed. It came out of a clear sky and was known in advance to few persons outside of Oakland officials. The new plant will be built just outside the north limits of Pontiac, and will employ, it is estimated, about 3,500 men.

Ann Arbor—Three hundred and thirty-two business and professional men of Chicago, alumni of the University of Michigan, have registered with their association secretary their businesses, addresses and telephone numbers, and have individually pledged themselves to "give kindly welcome" to any Michigan graduate or student calling upon them, to give such advice and help as they are able and to assist in finding positions for those desirous of obtaining them.

Ann Arbor—Members of the University of Michigan's new board in control of athletics at a 10-hour session here recently, completed plans for the purchase of a site for the new athletic stadium, but, according to Fielding H. Yost, director of intercollegiate athletics, all announcements relative to location and construction are to be withheld until later. A style of stadium seating approximately 79,000 persons and with sufficient land adjoining to provide space for all manner of intramural activities will be recommended.

Twelve Moving Picture Meetings

During the last month your County Agent Mellicamp has conducted a series of meetings in the various townships in the County, where motion pictures are shown on various agricultural subjects as well as the scenes of the County Fair.

This machine is run by means of special equipment placed on the Ford car, making it possible to get the current by running the motor and can be used in any suitable building located anywhere in the rural districts.

Much credit has been given to the twenty-one business men of the County who have purchased advertising slides, thereby making it possible for the Agent to use moving pictures in his work.

The following meetings have been held:

- May 1st—Pomona Grange, Afton Grange Hall
 - May 12th—Ironton Grange Hall
 - May 13th—Peninsular Grange Hall
 - May 14th—Advance School House
 - May 17th—Deer Lake Grange Hall
 - May 18th—Afton Grange Hall
 - May 20th—Wildwood School House
 - May 22nd—Mountain School house, Township Day
 - May 31st—Clarion Town Hall
 - June 1st—Boyer Falls Town Hall
 - June 2nd—Horton Bay Church
 - June 4th—Maple Grove Grange
- During the next three weeks eight more meetings will be conducted in other townships.

E. J. H. S. Band At Mancelona

(Mancelona Herald)

A band lives up to a parade as nothing else seems able to do, and the Decoration Day exercises Sunday were an unexpected success as a demonstration of Mancelona's desire to honor the Nation's Dead.

Too late for news of it to be published last week, the East Jordan High School band, 28 strong, offered to come over if transportation was furnished. Too many cars were actually put at the disposal of the American Legion boys for this purpose.

The East Jordan High School band, neatly uniformed in red, is composed of boys from 11 years of age up, and is under the direction of John Ter Wee. Mr. Ter Wee we are told is a former bandsman of Grand Rapids who went onto a farm near Ellsworth. He never thought of himself as a leader until the East Jordan School Board imprompted him to try his hand at forming a band. He proved himself a leader of men as well as music, and now East Jordan's band with 34 members is fast making a reputation for itself. Central Lake some time since engaged his services for their High School, and now Charlevoix has engaged him for the remaining nights of the week.

First Annual Achievem'nt Day

Will Be Held At Boyne City, Wednesday, June 16th.

The Charlevoix County branch of the Michigan State College Clothing Project Extension Service will hold its First Annual Achievement Day in Boyne City at the Community Hall on June 16. This course consists of Girl's Clothing Clubs, Boy's Handicraft Clubs and Women's Sewing Clubs. There are 4 girls clubs, 2 boys clubs and about 150 women who are benefiting by this work. The boys and girls will have a splendid display and the women will have gowns which have that Paris look! Each boy's and girl's club has a local champion who will compete on this day for the County Championship. Mr. Kettunen who has charge of the clubs, Miss Harris the women's instructor, and Miss Brekke who has charge of the women's work throughout the state will act as judges.

The Extension work of interest to the women has been represented by the Clothing Project given both this year and last. The first year was given to the use of sewing machine attachments, short cuts in sewing and the making of the "one hour dress." This year's instruction has been on the remodeling of the commercial patterns to suit individual needs, while not as attractive as the last years work, this has been, by far, the more beneficial to the home seamstress. These classes and clubs are absolutely free and are worth a great deal to the ones who took advantage of this opportunity.

The program for the day is as follows: Morning session from 10:30 to 11:30 fast time. Miss Katherine Wangeman, a club girl, as chairman, Mr. Kettunen will give a talk and the County Champion will be selected, after which, weather permitting, the crowd will adjourn to the City Park where they will enjoy a basket picnic. The drinks are on the County and Mr. Mellicamp promises nothing stronger than lemonade, but there will be oodles of it—cups and plates will be furnished also. If it's rainy, the dinner will be eaten in the dining room at the Hall. The afternoon session will open at 1:30 sharp. Program as follows:

- Prayer—Mrs. Linnell
 - Song—By All
 - Extension Work—Miss Brekke
 - Report of Charlevoix County—Mrs. Wm. Severance
 - Music—Mrs. Bissell's Orchestra
 - Club Work—Mr. Kettunen
 - Dance—Misses Virginia Bissell and Helen Rovick
 - Clothing Project—Miss Harris
 - Song—By All
- All this is free and worth a lot—a whole day's enjoyment! Everybody and their family is invited. Don't forget the date, June 16. Make a red mark on your calendar.

Poultry Specialist Visits County

Mr. J. Davidson, Poultry Specialist of M. S. C., spent the 24th, and 25th, with County Agent Mellicamp in making a tour of inspection in the interests of improving the poultry situation in this County.

During the two days the following farms were visited:

- Wm. Sanderson—East Jordan
 - Arthur Guild—Charlevoix
 - Mrs. Geo. E. Lee—Petoskey
 - Mrs. Henry Roy—East Jordan
 - Mrs. Geo. W. Brown—East Jordan
 - Harris Egg Ranch—Charlevoix
- The first four have been enrolled as demonstration farms and the latter two will start their project Nov. 1st 1926. While far from perfection, rapid strides have been made by these several poultry raisers and their stock is of the highest quality and as free from disease as possible, as a result of culling, breeding and feeding.

By another year, it is anticipated that you can purchase high quality stock locally and as good as anywhere in the State. It seems as though our County is falling down on the job, if it is necessary to have to send outside to get high producing young stock, hence our poultry demonstration farms will be in a position to fill your wants and give you exactly what you want.

DAWES SEES SENATE KILL RULE REFORM

Leaders Unite in Assault on Change Championed by Vice President.

Washington.—A grim scowl settled on the features of Vice President Dawes as he saw his campaign for change in senate rules shattered under a smashing attack on the gag rule proposal.

All legislation was thrust aside for a day as senators joined in a fiery denunciation of the proposal by Senator Underwood of Alabama to apply cloture by majority vote to appropriation and revenue measures—one step in the Dawes rules revision plan.

The effect of an extended plea for the cloture rule made by Underwood and starting the fireworks, was nullified by reminders that he led the famous filibuster that killed the Dyer anti-laboring bill.

The debate reached a climax when Senator Reed of Missouri assailed the gag-rule proposal as an attempt to throttle free speech and as the "last resort of the legislative scoundrel."

Shaking his fist at the vice president, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, declared: "Nothing worse could happen to the American people than adoption of the Underwood proposal. A majority gag-rule would be an intolerable tyranny in the greatest legislative body on earth."

Robinson challenged Underwood to bring his proposal to a vote, but the Alabama senator did not accept. Underwood was scathingly arraigned by Robinson for "desecrating his brilliant career in congress" with an attack on the "integrity and efficiency" of the senate.

Referring to the use of cloture by the administration forces to cut off debate on the world court, Senator Reed said:

"There isn't a senator here who does not wish that he had not voted so precipitously on that question."

Declaring that the majority had no "sacred rights" in America, Reed said that the Constitution was written "in a large part to prevent majority rule," and added that the majority "has been wrong oftener down through the pages of history than it has been right."

Reed declared that the Underwood proposal, if adopted, would give the majority the power to "enact wicked and sinister measures without the country being informed of their evil provisions."

U. S. World War Dead in Army and Navy 126,935

Washington.—Figures made public disclosed that 121,614 enlisted men, 5,045 officers, and 276 army nurses were killed while serving in the United States army and navy during the World war.

A total of 119,568 individuals lost their lives while serving in the army. Of those 114,886 were enlisted men and 4,807 officers.

Of the army casualties 85,191 enlisted men and 1,824 officers were killed in action, 66,557 enlisted men and 2,384 officers died of disease or other causes, and 12,937 enlisted men and 500 officers died of wounds received in action.

Navy figures disclose that disease caused the death of 5,852 enlisted men and 284 officers. Accidents and other causes accounted for the death of 1,198 enlisted men, and 116 officers. Enemy action resulted in the killing of 264 enlisted men and 98 officers.

The army figures cover the period from April 6, 1917, to July 2, 1921, while the navy figures are for only the period between April 6 and the armistice.

Recommends Shelving Modification Measures

Washington.—Shelving of all prohibition modification measures was recommended by the senate judiciary subcommittee which held the recent public hearings participated in by wets and dries.

Taking final action on all proposals affecting relaxation of prohibition laws, the subcommittee adopted a brief report to the full committee recommending that further consideration of the various joint resolutions and bills be indefinitely postponed. The report declared that bills authorizing the manufacture of light wine and beer are "contrary to the spirit and intent of the eighteenth amendment."

Ford Co. 7-Year Profit Is Put at $526,441,951

Detroit, Mich.—A suit against the Ford Motor company for alleged infringement of patent rights brought to light the fact that the Ford Motor company made a net profit of $526,441,951 from 1917 to 1924. The company had its biggest year in 1922 when it made a net profit of $115,787,861.

Mr. Holt will have general supervision of all work between the government and rubber growers, manufacturers and users in the general development of the rubber industry.

O. K.'S RIVERS AND HARBORS MEASURE

Omnibus Waterways Bill Gets
Vote of 219 to 127.

Washington.—After a somewhat stormy session in the house the omnibus rivers and harbors bill was passed by a 219 to 127 vote. Previously the representatives had refused, 195 to 97, to permit deletion of the Illinois river appropriation. Still earlier Representative Sosnowski's (Republican of Michigan) motion to eliminate authorization for a survey of the New York State canal was defeated 186 to 68.

Sections to authorize surveys of the following projects were approved:

Menominee harbor and river, Michigan and Wisconsin; South Haven harbor, Michigan, with view to extending breakwater; Black river at Port Huron, Mich.

Great Lakes, with view to providing ship channel with sufficient depth and width to accommodate present and prospective commerce at low-water datum from Great Lakes and their connecting waters and their principal harbor and river channels.

Saginaw river, Michigan, and entrance thereto.

Harbor at Mackinaw bay and Muskegon bay, Black river, Michigan. Illinois and Mississippi canal in the vicinity of Mud creek, Illinois.

Galena river, in Illinois, with a view to straightening the channel near Galena.

The Mississippi river between the Missouri river and Minneapolis, with a view to providing a nine-foot-deep channel at low water, with suitable widths.

Headwaters of the Mississippi, with a view to maintaining a minimum fixed head of water in all channels of this system at all times.

The Mississippi river from the upper end of Quindaro bend to the mouth, with a view to providing a channel nine feet deep at low water, with suitable widths.

Yes there is a better gas

If all the power contained in gasoline could be converted into momentum, one gallon would be able to propel the average motor car 300 miles, says the American Research Foundation.

"No mechanical wizard, however," says the bulletin, "can ever hope to attain that. The best internal combustion engine today converts only about 5% of the potential power in gasoline into motion. The heavier the gasoline, the more actual power in it. Kerosene, if it could be used, would develop more mileage than the best aviation gasoline."

INDIAN TRAIL GASOLINE—THE BETTER GAS AND
HAVOLINE—THE POWER OIL ARE
"TWINS IN POWER."

Try them and be convinced there's a difference.

FOR MEN WHO WORK HARD
Factory workers, railroad men, farmers, miners, mill-employees, teamsters, and those constantly exposed to changing weather, who work at hard physical labor, are more or less subject to kidney ailments and kidney ills. J. F. Wolf, Green Bay, Wis., says, "Foley Pills (a diuretic stimulant to the kidneys) relieved me of a severe backache that had bothered me for several months. A few bottles fixed me up in good shape." Costs little, but a reliable, valuable medicine guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for Foley Pills—Hite's Drug Store.

Candidate For Sheriff

I will be a candidate for nomination for Sheriff of Charlevoix County on the Republican Ticket at the Primaries Sept. 4th.
adv. 24-4 DAVID VAUGHAN

Fashions In College Morals

By Charles A. Selden.

More gratifying assurance of the sound moral tone of our college youth is furnished by Mr. Selden's account of conditions at two California universities Leland Stanford and Berkeley. Right after the war there was here, as in all other universities, "a bad period of alcoholic bravado against law. It was not a continuation of or a development from the old "beer trust" days, but a phase set off by itself and now happily over." What we are hearing about college dissipation comes, therefore, from the past, and Mr. Selden's reports will do much to silence the echoes.

The substitution of student government for faculty government has been an important factor in improving the moral tone. "We get our best control over both men and women at Stanford" the president told Mr. Selden, "by relying on their own self-criticism and on the high standards of youth in the late adolescent years. It is the period in which they will fight for ideals."

And the California students are fighting for ideals of clean conduct. "There little left of the liquor problem at California except rare cases who are punished by their fellow students. Group orgies are done for" Of the 5,700 men students at California last spring (1925), when Mr. Selden was there, only seventy had been charged with various offenses, five were guilty of intoxication. There were no sex offenses at either university.

In the early years of prohibition bootlegging and other poisons were substituted for beer and there was much drunkenness and even more illness. That practice has been stopped entirely by student opinion. Now if anybody takes liquor to a Daily Californian dinner he is kicked off the staff and turned over to the associated students for discipline.

Tired business men who have to send son to the corner grocery store after a hard day's work, last winter, are now able to play golf in the hot weather.

The Call of the Country

Out and away from the humdrum of the ordinary—in your own car—with the blue sky above and a thrilling road ahead! The Middle West has a glamour all its own—the glamour of the unexploited and unspoiled. Marvels of nature—places of romance—beautiful scenery—are waiting for you to find them out.

Not very far from your home you may find them. The short list below is a mere suggestion:

- 1—Sequoia Cave, Missouri. Contains enough water to make a lake. Its stalagmites and other wonders can be viewed from a boat. Sequoia State Park is eight miles southeast of Springfield which is on State Highways No. 3 and No. 14.
- 2—Backbone State Park, Delaware County, Iowa. Beautiful Richmond Springs and trout fish hatchery nearby. Near Manchester which is on State Highways No. 5 and No. 13.
- 3—Statue of Sacagawea who helped Lewis and Clark win the race with England for the Oregon country, a more important and romantic figure in our early history than Pocahontas. At Bismarck, North Dakota. State Highways No. 3 and No. 6.
- 4—Galena, Kansas, center of America's greatest Lead-Zinc fields. Itasca Park Highway No. 7 from Pittsburg.
- 5—Tomb of Lincoln at Springfield, Illinois, with hundreds of souvenirs of his life. The town of Old Salem nearby, preserved as it was when Lincoln lived there. State Highways No. 10 and No. 4.
- 6—Man-shaped Indian mounds. Two miles north of Baraboo, Wisconsin. State Highway No. 13.
- 7—Lake of the Torch, Michigan, named from the habit of the Chippewa Indians of fishing at night by means of birch bark torches. Glorious resort region. State Highway No. 11.
- 8—"Hole Tavern" or "High Street House", an old tavern in New Albany, Indiana, where Daniel Webster, Andrew Jackson and Henry Clay stopped. State Highways No. 16 and No. 5.
- 9—The Mississippi Valley in Minnesota from the Twin Cities to the Iowa line. High wooded bluffs and beautiful scenery. Good fishing. State Highway No. 3 follows the river all the way.
- 10—Sylvan Lake, more than a mile above sea level, a fairland of untrodden beauty locked in by granite walls. In the Black Hills of South Dakota. State Highway No. 36.

A trip of exploration will be easy—inexpensive—and joyous! Wherever you go—good roads and Red Crown Gasoline! Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Service Stations will supply the needs of your car wherever you may motor in the Middle West. Start tomorrow!

CHAPTER XVIII

"Fetch Aft the Rum, Darby McGraw!"

Murray had predicted that the looting of the Santissima Trinidad would send the frigates to sea from Santo Domingo, St. Pierre, the Havana and Kingston, and the adventures of the Walrus furnished ample confirmation of his words. Six days' sail to the southward we raised the tops'ls of a lofty stranger whom the lookouts identified as a king's ship.

Flint, summoned from his perpetual debauch in the main cabin, agreed with them and ordered the helm put over. The Walrus headed west, and the stranger followed her. She clung to us through the day and night, and in the morning our glasses revealed the ominous belt of gunports of a sixty-gun raze. But like all English second-rates, she was clumsy in the water, and Flint was a good seaman, if nothing else. He contrived to keep beyond cannonshot and during the second night shifted his course cleverly and gave our pursuer the slip.

For us three prisoners the Walrus was a floating bledium. Moira might not stir from her stateroom unless it be at night when Flint occasionally slept and the most of the crew were carousing in the foc'sle; but she never complained of the confinement that washed the color from her cheeks, and retained her buoyant spirits despite the hideous danger which shadowed her every hour.

Without Darby she would have been in even worse case. 'Twas he splied out the moments she could venture abroad and thrust himself dauntlessly betwixt her and any threats. He carried her such food as she would eat and often did the same for us, for Flint was become subject to seizures of ungovernable ferocity, in the grip of which he distrusted all aboard the ship saving Bill Bones and Darby, and was in terror of unseen presences that lurked about the cabin's corners and mowed at him from the stern windows.

In these seizures he would take his pistols and shoot in every direction, regardless of who might be present, or with his hanger he would hack at the walls and pursue imaginary enemies along the companionway. But for Darby he would have slain Ben Gunn, and he did actually cut down one unfortunate fellow who goggled at him as he stamped out upon the deck, foaming and mouthing defiance to the ghosts that tormented him.

It was soon after this that the fever first appeared in our midst. I can still see the look, half-doubt, half-nisgiving, in Silver's face as he heaved himself aft by one of the life-lines which grided the main deck and hailed Flint on the poop.

"There's ten lads groanin' in their hammocks, cap'n." "Take your crutch to 'em," snapped Flint.

in' as if ye was sick some o' them swabs for'ard might try to come by it."

"Don't ye worry about that," advised Flint grimly. "It's safe—and it will stay safe."

A second man died the next day, and there were eighteen sick instead of ten. A panic possessed the crew, and Silver mustered a foc'sle council of frightened pirates, who whispered and nudged each other as they gazed awestruck at Flint's congested visage atop of the barrel which was his official throne. Thorough scoundrels themselves, they accorded him the sincerest respect which was the due of one who utterly surpassed them in wickedness. He was "a rare 'un," "a main desperate rogue"; "lead and steel was same as bread and meat to him."

"What'll ye have?" he growled. "Well, 'tis this way, cap'n," Silver broached diplomatically. "The crew feels as the fever comes from the ship bein' foul and at sea so long—"

"We ain't been long at sea." "Maybe not so long from the Rendy-voo, but we ain't careened or cleaned ship this year."

"Whose fault is that?" "It ain't nobody's fault. But it do seem as if we'd oughter run into some likely port where we could get sweet water and greens and check the fever before it runs through the crew."

"There's a many ports we could make," commented Flint sarcastically. "We could allus head up for the island," interposed a man. "So's you could go for to dig up the treasure we just stowed away," snorted Flint. "Not if I know it!"

"There ain't been talk o' the island," said Silver hastily. "But what would ye say to the Bermoothes?" "Too many reefs to pile ourselves on—Hamilton is a port a' call for the king's ships."

"Them's the very words I said myself!" exclaimed Silver. "And what would ye say to Savannah, cap'n, which same is a quiet spot and has no garrison, seemin' as Georgy is the newest o' all the colonies in Ameriky?"

Flint reached down to the deck beside him and lifted a bottle of rum to his mouth, going through the usual performance of draining it at one colossal gulp to the considerable admiration of the crew.

conditions aboard the Walrus might not harm them. A week from the day we steered westward we sighted the mouth of a broad river, crossed a bar at high tide and bore upstream between low, sandy shores overgrown with pine forests. On the verge of evening we rounded a point of land and dropped our anchor opposite a little log-built town perched on a sandy bluff.

Peter and I had seized the opportunity of the semidarkness to escort Moira to the rail for a view of our new surroundings, and we were staring hungrily at this outpost of civilization when the thud-thud of Silver's crutch sounded on the deck behind us.

"Ye might think from them goin'-on-ashore as there was a mighty treasure in Savannah," he observed; "but bless ye, there ain't enough worth the takin' in that town to pay for the gunpowder to blow down the stockade."

I assented, and Flint's voice came faintly through the twilight: "Fifteen men on the Dead Man's Chest—Yo-ho-ho, and a—"

"Ho, Darby! Darby McGraw! Fetch aft the rum, Darby McGraw!" "Ho's main bad, Flint is."

Silver thrust a thumb over his shoulder. "Won't hardly last till mornin', Bill says."

"Oh, poor soul!" exclaimed Moira. "And him with so much wickedness to answer for! I am thinking he will have a great need of prayers, so if you will be after taking me below, Bob—"

Flint called out suddenly in a frenzy of fear: "Bill! Where's Bill Bones? Stand afore me, Bill. There's them here I can't face."

The guttural mutter of Bones' voice answered the plea. Silver cocked his head on one side, hand cupped to ear, listening eagerly. But the words were impossible to distinguish.

"No, no, not yet, Bill," wailed Flint. "I ain't a-goin' to die. Where's Darby? Here, lad, you come and sit by me. You're my luck, Darby. I can't die with you by me."

"Be off with ye, ye red-haired rat," he growled. "You and your luck! Aye, 'tis fine luck ye brought to John Flint, w' the rattles in his throat."

"Darby McGraw!" wailed Flint. "Ho, Darby! Fetch aft the rum, Darby McGraw!"

The stateroom door slammed shut on the dying man's plaint, and Darby stood for an instant shaking his fist at its panels.

"May the priest fall dead that would be sayin' mass for your soul!" he cursed. "May him that offers ye bite or sup put the bitter poison in it! May ye never know sleep that will rest ye or kindness that— Ah, but there will be the use of it all? For there will be nothing but just the fires of hell to punish one that's as bad as you."

He turned wearily and saw me, and the tears trickled down his freckled cheeks.

"Oh, Master Bob, I doubt me the cap'n dead or close to it, and Bones he—he—drove me forth, for—for fear I'd spy on him, says he—and him w' the treasure-map he blundered from Flint in his weakness. By the Rock o' Cashel, I'm finished w' pirates. They're a poor lot. Leave us go home!"

"If we only could, Darby!" I said. He dashed a grimy paw across his eyes and gave me one of his shrewd looks.

"Troth, Master Bob, I'm thinkin' we're none of us like to live eithe'r," he answered.

Drugs Excite the Kidneys, Drink Water

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES
APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

The Danger Line

The years in a man's life from thirty to fifty represent his period of greatest accumulation, his ability to earn and, if he will, save the most. At this time, success or failure is settled. It is plainly the case of "now or never." Don't you make the mistake so many make, and let the fiftieth year in your life find you without a savings reserve. After that, it is too late—the time too limited. Save when you can afford to save and use this bank as a depository.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Valleau and son, George, were called to Flint first of the week to attend the funeral of the former's grand-daughter, Marjorie Mae Valleau, aged 18 months. The child died Sunday and was buried Tuesday. The father, Harry Valleau, was killed in an accident at Flint last fall. The mother was formerly Mary DeWitt, a resident of East Jordan for years.

Several East Jordan merchants are talking of having mid-week half-holiday during July and August as in the years past. Some suggest Wednesdays would be best as there are no pay-days falling on Wednesday during these two months. However plans should be made at once, so that the residents of East Jordan and surrounding region may have ample notice in case it is decided to close. In the past, there has been some criticism over the various closing days, without due notice.

Pythian Sisters Met At Gaylord

The twenty-first annual Convention of District No. 2, Pythian Sisters, was held at Gaylord, Friday, June 4th.

Grand Officers present were, Grand Chief, Minnie E. Nix of Lapeer; District Deputy Grand Chief, Ida M. Ryan of Detroit and Past Grand Senior, Rae Kramer of Gaylord. Roll call found every Temple represented. Delegates from Traverse City, Central Lake, Gaylord and East Jordan responding with good reports. Ludington sending theirs in writing.

Gaylord sisters opened the Temple in ritualistic form, after which the Initiatory Ceremonies were exemplified by East Jordan Temple Officers, assisted by Damon Temple Staff. Much praise is due them for their excellent staff work.

Memorial services were given in a very impressive manner by Gaylord staff and delegates.

Among those who attended from East Jordan were: Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bulow, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kimbal, B. Milstein, Helen Ward, Mrs. Mae Ward, Mrs. Ben Reid, Mrs. Mason Clark, Mrs. Walter Bigelow, Mrs. E. Hiatt, Mrs. Sitner, Mrs. Benson, Mrs. J. Burney, Mrs. Courier and Mrs. Anna Bulow.

The next annual Dist. Convention will be held at Central Lake.

Sheer Tub Frocks in Pastel Colors

Midsommer brings us those pretty frocks made of fine voile and adorned with needle-work, that have as much class as their silken sisters. For wear on a summer day, they are as cool as georgette and as dainty, but voile is more sturdy and somewhat less expensive than that exquisite and delicate fabric. The marvelous wear resisting quality of fine voile, makes it worth while to lavish hand-wrought needlework on it and in the frock pictured this appears in drawn work on a front panel, and applique of squares of the material on the under side, at the bust and waistline. Tubbing occasionally, keeps these colorful frocks fresh looking, and if they fade a little, they may be easily retined.

New Calf Club Organized

Five Purebred Jerseys Receive New Home.

The greatest event in the lives of several young boys took place May 29, when five high quality Purebred Jerseys were distributed and became the property of new owners.

The following boys are the proud owners of the new Jerseys:

W. F. Wurn—East Jordan
Bruce Sanderson—East Jordan
Ernest Brown—Ironton
Arnold Smith—East Jordan
Alfred Larsen—East Jordan

These bred heifers and calves came from a herd of seventeen years constructive breeding, having fine production and Jersey type that cannot be beat anywhere in the state. They selected by County Agent Mellicamp during the three day trip in the southern part of the state and were here and delivered in exactly one days time from the time they left Allegan County, which can be considered as a speedy trip.

In connection with buying dairy animals it must be said, one has to travel far and wide to secure desirable stock.

The southern part of the state has been covered from one side to the other by out of state buyers and the result is that everything has been picked up that is offered for sale.

In addition to the above mentioned members there will be several others who will have their calves placed this week and a complete report of calf club members will be made at a later date. With fourteen members from last years club and the new members this year, it is thought that a fine record will be made and a fine exhibit at the County Fair.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Speaking of flies, swat'em! If there is anybody who believes everything that he sees in print we would like to have a photo of the individual. It's been a long time since somebody figured out how much money the average mass of beans cost the home gardener.

The TALE of KIDDIE KATYDID

by Arthur Scott Bailey

A NOISY CROWD

WHEN the night of the races and other sports finally came, when Katydid, Mr. Frog, Benjamin Bat, and others had planned to meet, a great crowd began to gather about Farmer Green's place soon after dark. Although Benjamin Bat had told people that the fun wasn't going to begin until almost morning, they were all so excited that they couldn't wait for the night to pass.

They lingered around the dooryard and talked so loudly that they actually disturbed the household. Farmer Benjamin Was Very Short-Tempered. "What's the Matter," He Snerred. Green was even tempted to get up and shut his window, he found it so hard to go to sleep. The noisiest of all the gathering was Mr. Frog, the tallor, who lived over by the creek. He had a great deal to say about everything; and it soon became plain to everyone that he was trying to manage the whole affair. Mr. Frog objected to every arrangement that Benjamin Bat had made. When he learned that he was expected to enter a jumping contest with Kiddie Katydid he explained that he and Kiddie were such good friends that he hated the thought of trying to beat Kiddie at jumping. "Kiddie might feel bad," said Mr. Frog. "People might laugh at him because I won." "Don't you worry about me!" Kiddie Katydid called out. "Where are you?" asked Mr. Frog, looking all around. "I can hear you, but I can't see you." But Kiddie Katydid refused to show himself. He preferred, for the time being, to remain safely hidden among the leaves, where he could listen to what people said—and talk to them when he wanted to. "Wouldn't you prefer some other sort of contest?" Mr. Frog then asked him. "Now, there's swimming! We could swim in the watering-trough, or the duck pond. And if I beat you, you could stick your head under water, so you wouldn't hear what people said. Don't you think that's a good idea?" "Goodness, no!" cried Kiddie. "I'd drown myself in no time." "Dear me!" said Mr. Frog. "I never thought of that."

And then everybody laughed so loudly at him that he hurried off to the watering trough to dive under water, and stay there until he was sure that his remarks had been forgotten. Meanwhile Benjamin Bat was worrying. He couldn't find anybody who was willing to try the sport of hanging head downward by his heels. He asked Kiddie Katydid, and Kiddie declined flatly to do any such thing. Now, since Benjamin had not yet dined, he was very short-tempered. And he grew angry at once. "What's the matter?" he sneered. "Don't you know how to do any easy trick like that? If I could see you—" he declared, peering among the maple leaves—"if I could see you I'd show you how it feels to hang beneath a limb."

Kiddie Katydid said no word in reply. He knew well enough what Benjamin Bat meant. Benjamin wanted to eat him! And he wished that Benjamin would go away and get a good meal somewhere before he came back again. (© by Grosset & Dunlap)

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

TORPEDO GINDLE

IN THE office of the Gindle whistle factory, Torpedo Gindle gave audience to the representatives of his employees. "You ask for a 22-hour week and a 60 per cent increase of wages, with time and a half for work on Sundays, holidays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. In the past three months I have raised the men's wages 483 per cent, thereby reducing my own profits from 900 per cent to a miserable 600 per cent, barely sufficient to feed my eight motor cars. Therefore I have a proposal to make: Rather than go on living from hand to mouth, I will make a gift of the factory to my employees, who will all be promoted to the rank of owners and managers, while I, my brother Submarine Gindle, and my uncle, Periscope Gindle, will serve as salaried workmen." "Mr. Gindle, you are a just man," said the spokesman for the employees in a voice choked with emotion. "Very well, the new order of things will go into effect tomorrow morning," said Gindle crisply. At noon the next day the three Gindles, the only workmen, went on strike for a three months' vacation. The former employees, being now all owners and managers, naturally refused to lower their dignity by actually working and the factory went to the dogs and at the present writing the whole lot, including the three Gindles, are in the poorhouse. THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

CROSSING THE LINE

EVERYBODY has heard of—many have seen—the ceremonies with which sailors mark the crossing of the equator—the visit of Neptune to the ship and the ensuing "highlinks" which initiates the neophyte who sails for the first time below the "line." Formerly these ceremonies were seldom omitted; now they appear to be falling into desuetude. Still, if we could be given the power of sweeping the seas with a glance on this very day we should see many a ship slipping into the southern hemisphere on whose docks Neptune is holding his court and sentencing those who have never crossed the line before to the pains and penalties of duckings, rude shaving, etc., escaped only by the payment of a fine to be expended for the jollification of the crew. The ceremony is a sailors' frolic now, Neptune the beatawain wearing whistlers of oakum; but it has come to its present state from a great antiquity and real sailors of the old school still feel that it is not good to cross the line without some notice being taken of the event. The modern ceremonies are a survival of the ancient custom of early seafaring folk to sacrifice to their gods when entering unknown waters—especially to the sea-god, Poseidon as the Greeks knew him, Neptune as he was called by the Latins. In ancient times ships did not sail below the equator and by the time they began to do so Christianity had replaced heathenism. But the old idea had lingered among seafaring folk, exhibiting itself in various forms, and when, toward the close of the Middle Ages, ships began to sail into the strange waters south of the equator the sacrifice to Neptune was revived—or sprang up as a custom—practically in the form it is in today. All idea of reviving a heathen custom was denied but it was a clear case of atavism and underneath the ceremony of crossing the line still lurks the ancient superstition. Great Financial Center

Lombard street is a street in London, famous for many centuries as the financial center of Great Britain. It derives its name from the Lombard money lenders of Genoa and Florence, who, in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth centuries, took the place of the persecuted Jews of "Old Jewry." One authority says the money lenders "were sent by Pope Gregory IX for the purpose of advancing money to those who were unable to pay the taxes so vigorously demanded throughout the country in 1220."—Kansas City Star.

GUM-DIPPING

the Extra Process for Extra Miles! Breaks all Tire Records

The 500 Mile Speed Classic at Indianapolis has always been a Battle of Tires. In 1911, Firestone won with cord tires at 74.59 miles per hour. In 1920, Firestone won with cord tires at 88.55 miles per hour. In 1925, Firestone won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons at the record breaking average speed of 101.13 miles per hour. In 1926, Firestone again won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. The ten cars to finish "in the money" were all Firestone-equipped. They went the distance without a single blowout and with but two tire failures—one due to a puncture and the other to a leaky valve.

The Firestone Record in Battle of Tires at Indianapolis

Year	Driver	Car	Tires	Miles Per Hour
1911	Harroun	Marmon	Firestone	74.59
1912	Dawson	National	Michelin	78.70
1913	Cox	Peugeot	Firestone	76.92
1914	Thomas	Delage	Painos	82.47
1915	DePalma	Mercedes	Goedrich	89.24
1916	Rosta	Peugeot	Goedrich	83.26
1917	(No Race)
1918	World War
1919	Wilson	Peugeot	Goodyear	88.06
1920	Chevrolet	Monroe	Firestone	88.55
1921	Milton	Frontenac	Firestone	89.62
1922	Murphy	Murphy Sp.	Firestone	94.48
1923	Milken	HCS Spec.	Firestone	90.95
1924	Corum-Duesenberg	Special	Firestone	96.23
1925	DePaolo	Duesenberg	(Full-Size Balloons)	101.13
1926	Leckhart	Miller Spec.	(Full-Size Balloons)	95.68

This performance is even more remarkable when you consider the terrific speeds at which the cars traveled over this fifteen-year-old, rough brick track. Experienced race drivers will not risk their lives or chances of victory on any other tires. And in the commercial field, large truck, motorbus and taxicab fleet operators, who keep careful cost records are among the big users of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. The City Transportation Co., of Tacoma, Wash., writes: "One of our 12 buses on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has gone over 40,600 miles and still looks good for many miles of extra service. For all around tire safety and mileage, Firestone cannot be beat." From Calumet Motor Coach Co., Hammond, Ind., the following: "We operate 40 buses all equipped with Gum-Dipped Tires. The very low cost per mile on which these tires operate is considerably less than that of any other make." Hayes Bus Lines, Columbia, S. C., says: "We operate 19 buses equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. A number of these tires have run over 45,000 miles without ever having been removed from the rim." The largest taxicab companies in the world standardize on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. W. R. Rothwell, taxicab operator, Detroit, Mich., writes: "Two of my Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have run 76,000 miles." Hundreds of thousands of car owners voluntarily testify to the safety, comfort and economy of Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. W. H. Peacock, Birmingham, Ala., testifies: "I have had Firestone Balloons for thirteen months and they have delivered in that time 24,469 miles." H. C. Staehle, Minneapolis, Minn., says: "My Firestone Balloons have gone 49,900 miles and are still in good condition." These records of endurance, speed, safety and mileage could only have been made because of Firestone development of the Gum-Dipping process which insulates and saturates every fiber of every cord with rubber, reducing friction and heat and building greater strength and endurance in the cords—assuring you at all times—

AMERICANS SHOULD PRODUCE THEIR OWN RUBBER... Harvey Firestone

Mt. Pleasant—Central Normal's twenty-sixth annual summer school session will continue from Monday, June 28, to Friday, August 6, with a greatly enlarged faculty. At least 1,500 students are expected to attend. Many extra-curricular activities are being planned.

St. Joseph—A 125-pound sturgeon, the largest caught here in recent years, was brought in on a fishing boat, by F. J. Mollhagen, veteran local fisherman. The sturgeon was taken in Whitfish pond nets about a mile south of here, near the shore of Lake Michigan.

Lansing—A closed season on part-ridge until 1927 in the Upper Peninsula has been declared by the State Conservation Commission. The commission has also directed that the bass season, which opens elsewhere in the State June 16, shall remain closed in the Upper Peninsula until July 16.

Kalamazoo—Grand Rapids was chosen as the 1927 Masonic convention city by the grand lodge of Michigan, in annual convention here. The convention was attended by more than 1,000 delegates and visitors and more business was transacted than at any meeting in several years, it is said.

Pontiac—The largest commencement exercises ever held by eighth grade graduates in Oakland county schools were held in the Oakland theatre, Saturday, May 29. A class of 319 received certificates. Dr. Ernest Burnham, state director of rural education, delivered the commencement address.

Kalamazoo—Peter Speyer, 41 years old, manager of an exclusive woman's shop here, was accidentally drowned while taking a bath in his apartment, according to the Kalamazoo police, who have rejected early theories of foul play. Police believe he was overcome while bathing by the effects of medicine he had taken and the warmth of the water.

Flint—Matt Boudin, 25 years old, a "fire eater" who was performing at the Flint Amusement Park, is in a hospital here with burns about his face received when a strong wind blew some burning gasoline into his face after he had blown the liquid under a lighted torch to exhibit his fire eating ability. Hospital attaches said his burns were not serious.

Grand Rapids—Scarcely more than 100 of the "boys in blue" fell into line for the annual Memorial day parade. Almost at the head of the first contingent was Skipper Matt Green, 105-year-old veteran of the Mexican and Civil wars, who, attired in the uniform of a seaman in the Civil war, marched along Monroe avenue to the plaudits of spectators.

Baldwin—State Trooper Carl Braun recently staged a movie stunt when he stood on the front fender of Sheriff Bates' car and leaped to the rear of a fleeing touring car on a rough country road while traveling 80 miles an hour. The lead car proved to contain four gallons of moonshine. Ernest Metcalf, of Chase, the driver, was jailed on charges of possessing and transporting liquor.

Lots of people who went into the poultry business in March have gone into debt.
