Lake Charlevoix

Suggested Plan For Raising of the Water Level.

Action by the Supervisors, in a resolution, to change the name of this Pine Lake to that of Lake Charlevoix seems like a wise first step. Why not aid the infant toward taking a stronger step so it will be more quickly walking and even running?

Why not, through the Board of Supervisors and the proper Government sources, carry out the idea, often suggested, of constructing a water gate, or lock, at the outlet of Lake Charlevoix so that the original level may be maintained throughout the summer season thus restoring the many excellent bathing beaches which may have been more or less impaired by the receding of the water?

By holding the water up during the summer, then allowing it to drop late in the fall and remain low until spring, it would then be possible to build boat-houses and inexpensive docks for summer use and to maintain them at minimum cost by not subjecting them to heaving ice in the winter. Bath houses, and other apparatus for water sports would be less expensive to maintain.

Water frontage has already taken on a "per front foot" value, why not do everything possible to enhance that value to the extensive developments may be hastened? This lake already has the distinct advantages of both the Great Lake and the Inland lake, being navigable for large cruisers and yet protected from the big storms which make the shores of the great lake hazardous for small boats.

Suppose some such plan were carried out. Would it not quickly result in extensive developments by placing this beautiful body of water even further in advance of any other in this part of the U. S. than it is at present?

The result should be a real (not imaginary) increase in value which would without question, warrant the Assessing Officers to greatly increase the valuations on their Rolis.

Suppose it made but an average of $1 per front foot in actual increased value the first year, that would mean more than $300,000 increased valuation, and an increase of $10 would bring it to three millions.

It seems more than possible that the first cost, the cost of maintenance, and of operation, might soon be absorbed from the hastening of the good results expected.

Will not some other Charlevoix County Tax payers add some points to this suggestion, through their local paper, as well as the manner in which to go after it—if the idea sounds good? Yours for Lake Charlevoix (and especially its picturesque South Arm, W. Asa Loveday, East Jordan.

Tousch--Carrier

Charles Tousch of Flint, formerly of this city, and Miss Leone Carrier, also of Flint, were united in marriage in that city on Saturday, June 19th. They expect to arrive at East Jordan July 17th for a few weeks visit with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tousch, after which they will return to Flint and be at home to their friends at 927 E. Hamilton Ave.

Uncle George Favors Our Parking System

Uncle George H. Van Pelt was up from Charlevoix for a brief visit with The Herald publisher, Tuesday.

He commented most favorably on East Jordan's new parking system on Main Street, stating that many of the smaller cities throughout the country are adopting the plan, and that he considers it a logical one.

Uncle George in his year's traveling covers the entire eastern part of the United States from Maine to Florida and his endorsement is appreciated.

Every man has a few pet schemes that he thinks will be worth millions, properly sold—to somebody else.

Our extra slice of pie for this week is awarded to the sweet young thing in the neat little, cute little, bathing suit.

We see where somebody has drawn up a code of ethics for the preachers. Must they be bothered with these modern inventions?

Dairy Club Members Meet

Mr. Nevels Pearson, Assistant State Club Leader visited Charlevoix County on July 7th, and 8th, and accompanied by County Agent Mellenkamp, met with the members of the Club.

The first meeting was held at Fred Wurns', East Jordan, where four members were present. Mr. Pearson gave the young dairymen a demonstration of how to fit their animals for the show to be held at East Jordan during the County Fair and discussed the care and attention that should be given in order for them to develop normally. The boys were interested and have been working hard to learn how to properly manage their young stock.

The next stop was at Sam Straws', Charlevoix, where all the members from that section were on hand and glad again to have Mr. Pearson with them. These members having been in the club last year were given a practical judging demonstration. The points to be considered in choosing the best dairy animals were discussed and explained, after which three cows were selected for a class and each boy had to place them. In addition each boy had to give his reasons why he had placed them the way he did. It was indeed very gratifying to see how well the members had learned in such a short time to judge dairy cows. Watch out fathers or your son will be a better judge than you are.

Thursday forenoon eight club members were met at Fred Larsens, East Jordan, in the last meeting of the visit. As was the case previously, fitting and judging demonstrations were given to prepare the members for the County Fair.

The big event that all club members are hopefully anticipating is the Club Camp for Northern Michigan at Gaylord from August 17th to August 20th, inclusive, where it is hoped all the club members can attend. This is the first time that the club members have had a camp where they can play and work and meet each other. The expenses will not be over $3.50 and as a result all can afford to go and have the big fun. At the same time two or three judging teams will be selected to go to the State Fair and surely Charlevoix County will fight hard to be one of them.

At the present time twenty-one boys and girls from this county are enrolled in Dairy Club Work, three more boys having been added to the club as follows: Earl Stallard, East Jordan—Jersey Cow; Oswald Hosegood, East Jordan—Jersey Calf; Harvey McPherson, East Jordan—Guernsey Calf.

Who will be next to join and receive all this assistance and instruction? B. C. MELLENCAMP, Co. Agr'l Agent.

Annual East Jordan-Detroit Picnic Sunday, July 25th

Chairman J. M. Cuson writes The Herald that the annual East Jordan-Detroit Picnic will be held at Bob-Lo on Sunday, July 25th. Boat will leave foot of Woodward Avenue at 9:00 a. m. This annual event is looked forward to by not alone those formerly residing at East Jordan and now in Detroit, but by many who attend from Flint and other points in that part of the State.

Finds Battle Axe S. B. Harvey of Traverse City on Tuesday morning picked up an Indian Stone Battle Axe in Marion township on the road between here and Charlevoix. Mr. Harvey saw a peculiarly shaped stone among others near the highway and after examining it found it to be a perfect specimen, the "ring" around the head being perfectly formed. He brought it with him to East Jordan, and, weighing it, found it weighed 4-3-4 pounds.

Events of the Week

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Lansing—Financial statistics on the state government of Michigan published recently by the U. S. Department of Commerce, show that collections of property and special taxes increased 145.8 per cent between 1918 and 1924. Between 1924 and 1925 the yield of the same taxes showed a decrease of 1.8 per cent.

Detroit—Telephone rates in Royal Oak will be increased in the near future, the Michigan Bell Telephone company having won authority for such action from the state public utilities commission at Lansing. The order was the first to be issued in connection with the company's state-wide application for higher schedules.

Ann Arbor—More than 89 per cent of the students enrolled in the summer session of the University of Michigan hold degrees from colleges throughout the United States, or from this university according to a report issued by the dean. The 1,496 degrees are held by 1,288 students, some of them holding as many as four degrees.

East Lansing—Faith E. Main, a blind co-ed at the Michigan State College, won the coveted "All-A" rating in the spring term, according to a recent announcement by Elida Yakeley, registrar. Miss Main took the full course and attained the grade of A in all subjects. Only a few other students made the honor list, and with one exception, all were co-eds.

Saginaw—The Saginaw Oil Field had another producing well added to its number recently when the No. 8 well, owned by the Saginaw Prospecting company, showed oil content when the drillers reached a level of 1,811 feet in the berra sand. The new well is the shallowest in depth of any drilled in the local field, adjudged a favorable sign by oil men here.

Port Huron—More than 12,000 automobiles were transported across the St. Clair River at this point the week end of July 4th. With an average of four persons to a car, it is estimated that nearly 50,000 passengers passed in and out of Canada via Port Huron over the week end. All week end records for tourist travel for the Port Huron-Sarnia Ferry Co. were broken.

Mt. Clemens—Upon the heels of agitation for a new water pumping system and a more adequate water supply for Mt. Clemens, has come the announcement that local wells are nearly exhausted because of the drought and some emergency measure must be adopted to curtail water consumption so that an adequate supply may be available in the event of a serious fire.

Detroit—Increase in the personnel of the customs inspection service in the Detroit district will aid materially in stopping smuggling of Canadian liquor across the border, Carey D. Ferguson, United States collector of customs announced recently. Mr. Ferguson also explained his plan to prevent liquor smuggling by rail and expressed hope that Canada would adopt anti-smuggling legislation to keep liquor cargoes from entering American ports.

Pontiac—Eighty-four residents of the village of South Lyons are plain plaintiffs in a civil suit against the Detroit Panel and Plywood Co. in which they seek the return of $43,000 paid for stock in 1923. They claim the company promised to move its factory from Detroit to South Lyon but before a factory could be completed the company went into the hands of a receiver and the industrial prize the board of commerce had expected to 'add proved a fizzle.

Kalamazoo—Three separate official investigations of Kalamazoo's fire mystery are under way as a result of the destruction July 7 of the First Presbyterian church with a loss of about $150,000. The officials plan to co-operate in their effort to learn the identity of the pyromaniac believed to be responsible for the destruction of three churches and two lodge halls and the damaging of many other buildings in the last seven months with an aggregate loss of more than $700,000.

Port Huron—Miss Elizabeth Carlisle, teacher of the Washington Junior High school civics class, has received word that Port Huron's entry in the "Better Homes in America" movement won third prize in the 1926 national contest. Miss Carlisle and her class had charge of the construction of the home. In 1923 Port Huron won first prize in the contest and in 1925 a special prize was awarded Port Huron for its model home entry. The 1926 entry was an English type of cottage.

Kansas Harvesting Big Wheat Crop

Kansas, which produces by far more wheat than any other state in the Union, is now in the midst of its harvest. Somewhere in the neighborhood of 140,000 bushels of excellent wheat will be Kansas' gift to the world this year. The 1926 crop is the fifth largest ever produced in the state. Approximately 40,000 hands recruited from points outside the state are helping to put wheat in the farmers' bins.

New Canning Club Organized

At a recent meeting held on July 9th at the home of Frank Wangeman, East Jordan, "The Pep Canning Club" was organized with eight members from Eveline Township. Miss Ruth Featherly assistant State Club Leader was present and outlined the work in detail and discussed questions pertaining to canning of fruits, vegetables, and jams and jellies. The girls under fourteen in the first years work will can at least 30 qts. those over fourteen can 50 qts. In the second year work in addition to fruits and vegetables the girls will can jams and jellies in larger quantities.

The club is planning on getting up a demonstration team to compete at the Gaylord Camp for the honor of being selected to go to the State Fair at Detroit. It is hoped that the girls can all attend the Club Camp at Gaylord in August.

The following are the members and officers:

Katherine Wangeman—President
Alice Russell—Vice President
Alfreda Reich—Sec. and Treas.
Eula Arnoit
Ellen Reich
Alice Stallard
Violet Ward
Doris Russell

All the girls live in the same community and have as their leader Miss Mildred Wangeman, who also led the Club last year.

To Sell Two Government-Owned Steamship Lines

Washington.—Preliminary steps have been taken by the shipping board toward the sale to private interests of the two largest government-owned steamship lines, the United States Lines and the American Merchant line, both operating out of New York on trans-Atlantic routes.

The United States Lines operate, among other ships, the giant Leviathan with a gross tonnage of 59,956, as well as two other former German liners, the George Washington and the Republic. It also has the American-built steamers President Harding and President Roosevelt of about 14,000 tons gross, and the former German liner, now named the America, which was seriously damaged by fire while undergoing repairs at Newport News.

The American Merchant line includes eleven ships of approximately 8,000 tons each, among them five war-time army transports.

Convicts Lock 391 Men in Mine 730 Feet Down

Lansing, Mich.—Sixteen officers and guards and 376 miner convicts were locked in the coal mines of the Kansas state penitentiary here, 730 feet below the surface, following a mutiny among the convicts.

The miners blocked the cage in the shaft, making it impossible to send aid down to the guards, Warden Mackey said.

The cage was tied at the bottom of the shaft and telephone wires in the mine were cut, making communication impossible.

Prison officials said they expected the mutineers would come out of the mine when hungry.

May Lose a Million in Taxicab Failure

Chicago.—More than a million-dollar loss to stockholders—perhaps 5,000 of them, and mostly small investors—was forecast as the probable outcome of the crash of the Premier Cab company.

The assets are represented by upwards of 700 taxicabs—some of which are reported to have disappeared.

After a cursory survey of the assets, Receiver Samuel Howard, former deputy United States marshal, was of the opinion that little could be salvaged for the stockholders—many of them school teachers, small tradesmen and household servants.

World Drive on Drugs

Philadelphia.—Delegates to the first world conference on narcotic education made plans here for an international campaign to break up the production and sale of habit-forming drugs.

"Sheik" Durkin Guilty

Chicago.—Martin Durkin, the Chicago "Sheik" bandit, was found "guilty of murder" by the jury that has been trying him for the slaying of Edwin C. Shanahan, federal agent.

Harbor Wins From E. J.

Well-Contested Game Goes to Harbor Springs 4 to 0.

(Petoskey News) By shutting out East Jordan, Sunday, Harbor Springs proved its superiority over one of the best clubs in Northern Michigan. "Red" Spink pitched his second six-hit game in one week and made three of Harbor's nine hits. An unusual feature of the game was that the entire East Jordan club got but four assists.

Harbor collected three runs in the first inning, after two were out. Spink singled, Starkoff got through an error hit, this time through second and all three scored on Kimball's double. Another run was scored in the third when Hursh, first up, walked. Spink, next up, doubled, scoring Hursh.

Saffron tightened up after third inning and although Harbor had runners on second and third in the fifth and again in the eighth inning. Two fast double plays by the Wagner, Cornell, Talbert combination brought cheers from the crowd. Pettinger, in right field, made two sensational catches of what seemed sure hits. Kimball again hauled in two hard drives in his territory. Starkoff, although bothered by a lame back, from last Monday's contest, caught a fine game for Harbor.

The Games at Grayling

East Jordan team got an even split in the two games with Grayling, July 4-5. The first game went to Grayling by an 8 to 6 score. In the second game East Jordan won by 13 to 6. Saffron pitched a no hit run game up until the ninth frame when he weakened.

The East Jordan team will probably play its next game on the local diamond on July 25th.

Embarrassing Question

While Jane was attending a vaudeville show with her mother the "headliner" appeared in all her glory, reclined upon a chaise longue, and began to sing a beautiful love ballad. All was so quiet you could hear a pin drop when Jane spoke up, loud and clear: "Oh, mamma, don't you wish you was nice like that lady?"

Lake Charlevoix

Suggested Plan for Raising of the Water Level.

Action by the Supervisors, in a resolution, to change the name of this Pine Lake to that of Lake Charlevoix seems like a wise first step. Why not aid the infant toward taking a stronger step so it will be more quickly walking and even running?

Why not, through the Board of Supervisors and the proper Government sources, carry out the idea, often suggested, of constructing a water gate, or lock, at the outlet of Lake Charlevoix so that the original level may be maintained throughout the summer season thus restoring the many excellent bathing beaches which may have been more or less impaired by the receding of the water?

Bath houses, and other apparatus for water sports would be less expensive to maintain.

This lake already has the distinct advantages of both the Great Lake and the Inland lake, being navigable for large cruisers and yet protected from the big storms which make the shores of the great lake hazardous for small boats.

Suppose some such plan were carried out. Would it not quickly result in extensive developments by placing this beautiful body of water even further in advance of any other in this part of the U. S. than it is at present?

The result should be a real (not imaginary) increase in value which would without question, warrant the Assessing Officers to greatly increase the valuations on their Rolls.

Suppose it made but an average of $1 per front foot in actual increased value the first year, that would mean more than $300,000 increased valuation, and an increase of $10 would bring it to three millions.

It seems more than possible that the first cost, the cost of maintenance, and of operation, might soon be absorbed from the hastening of the good results expected.

Will not some other Charlevoix County Tax payers add some points to this suggestion, through their local paper, as well as the manner in which to go after it—if the idea sounds good?

Convicts Lock 391 Men in Mine 730 Feet Down

Lansing, Mich.—Sixteen officers and guards and 375 miner convicts were locked in the coal mines of the Kansas state penitentiary here, 730 feet below the surface, following a mutiny among the convicts.

The miners locked the cage in the shaft, making it impossible to send aid down to the guards, warden Mackey said.

The cage was tied at the bottom of the shaft and telephone wires in the mine were cut, making communication impossible.

Prison officials said they expected the mutineers would come out of the mine when hungry.

May Lose a Million in Taxicab Failure

Chicago.—More than a million-dollar loss to stockholders—perhaps 8,000 of them, and mostly small investors—was forecast as the probable outcome of the crash of the Premier Cab company.

The assets are represented by upwards of 700 taxicabs—some of which are reported to have disappeared.

After a cursory survey of the assets, Receiver Samuel Howard, former deputy United States marshal, was of the opinion that little could be salvaged for the stockholders—many of them school teachers, small tradesmen and household servants.

Chicago.—Martin Darkin, the Chicago "Sheik" bandit, was found "guilty of murder" by the jury that has been trying him for the slaying of Edwin C. Shanahan, federal agent.

Harbor Wins From E. J.

Well-Contested Game Goes to Harbor Springs 4 to 0.

(Petokey News)

By shutting out East Jordan, Sunday, Harbor Springs proved its superiority over one of the best clubs in Northern Michigan. "Red" Spink pitched his second six-hit game in one week and made three of Harbor's nine hits. An unusual feature of the game was that the entire East Jordan club got but four assists.

Harbor collected three runs in the first inning, after two were out. Spink singled, Starkoff got through an error hit, this time through second and all three scored on Kimball's double. Another run was scored in the third when Hursh, first up, walked. Spink, next up, doubled, scoring Hursh.

Saffron tightened up after third inning and although Harbor had runners on second and third in the fifth and again in the eighth inning. Two fast double plays by the Wagner, Cornell, Talbert combination brought cheers from the crowd. Pettinger, in right field, made two sensational catches of what seemed sure hits. Kimball again hauled in two hard drives in his territory. Starkoff, although bothered by a lame back, from last Monday's contest, caught a fine game for Harbor.

The Games at Grayling

East Jordan team got an even split in the two games with Grayling, July 4-5. The first game went to Grayling by an 8 to 6 score. In the second game East Jordan won by 13 to 6. Saffron pitched a no hit run game up until the ninth frame when he weakened.

The East Jordan team will probably play its next game on the local diamond on July 25th.

Embarrassing Question

While Jane was attending a vaudeville show with her mother the "headliner" appeared in all her glory, reclined upon a chaise longue, and began to sing a beautiful love ballad. All was so quiet you could hear a pin drop when Jane spoke up, loud and clear: "Oh, mamma, don't you wish you was nice like that lady?"

LAZY OLD HIPPO

"I AM a fat old creature and I don't mind," said the Hippopotamus in the zoo. A sparrow had had a bath in the Hippo's pool and now was sitting on a bar of the Hippo's indoor zoo room. "I'm interesting for I belong to an old, old family. They can't think back to a time when there weren't some of our family about. "At least none of them can I know, and I've heard them even say that.

"I Don't Speak Greek Myself," said the Hippopotamus. their grandmothers and great-great-great-great-grandmothers can't remember the time when there weren't some of us to be seen somewhere—either in Africa or in a zoo. "For the members of our family lived a very, very long time ago. Our name of Hippopotamus comes from two words—two Greek words, I'm told. I don't speak Greek myself. Never did and never shall. At least, I don't ever expect to learn the language. "Hippopotamus talk is the same everywhere. We don't change our speech from African to American for example. In that way animals are far more sensible than people, I think. In one part of the country people speak in one language, and in another, quite a different language. Now, animals have the same language. Lions speak lion talk wherever they are! We speak Hippopotamus talk wherever we are. "But people! No, they're always thinking of how to give themselves extra trouble. But as I started to say our name comes from two Greek words. We are given our name by people, you see. "The two Greek words mean river horse. That is what Hippopotamus means. And it's not a bad name, though it could be better. Still it might be worse! I eat enormous quantities of grass every day. I've a good Hippopotamus appetite and my keeper says I do not need a tonic. "In fact, I'm almost growing too fat. I weigh several thousand pounds, I believe. It is all because I eat a lot and don't exercise. But I don't care about exercising. I like to swim and they say that my relatives when free can climb up banks which are ever so high and can swim magnificently. But I don't care about exercising. "I'd never care to do calisthenics every morning and evening, nor would I care to walk around my yard several times a day as quickly as I could. No, I wouldn't care for exercise. "I would rather be fat. Oh, yes, I'd much rather be fat. How dreadful it would be to be a thin Hippopotamus and not have lots of weight. I'd hate to be called 'skinny' and I make sure there will never be any danger of that. Oh, I must have a nap now and I shall lie in my pool and take it. Later I may have a little splash and then a good meal and another rest. "Oh, it is fun to rest and eat and dream hippopotamus dreams. They are dreams of more resting and more food by the way." And the little sparrow flew out then, while the Hippopotamus did just as he had said he would. He had a nap and he was in his pool. Then he had a little splash. Then a good meal and another rest. And if you had looked at him you would have been pretty sure that he was dreaming of more rest and more food. He had that look on his Hippopotamus face! (Copyright.)

The Hotel Stenographer

"THEM two hens have been sitting there cackling for three hours," exclaimed the House Detective, jerking his thumb over his shoulder toward two women on a divan in Peacock Alley. "They are not hens and they are not cackling," protested the Hotel Stenographer. "They are both well-dressed women and both smoke cigarettes, so they must be ladies. They are not cackling, they are chatting. Men can argue, but only women can chat. "When you chat you must keep your voice low and punctuate your remarks with 'oh, my dear' and 'now this is in strict confidence' and 'I cannot tell you the source of my information, but if her husband knew, there would be a divorce' and 'under no circumstances must you quote me.' "Chatting is the gentle art of tearing the hides off other women with a noise-like peeling burlap off a dining-room wall when you are going to re-paper. "Chatting is the refined way of turning another woman's skin inside out like a gemmed stocking, sprinkling a little salt on the inside of the hide and replacing it to prove you would not harm her for the world. "Chatting is the pastime of explaining that while some other woman's husband pretends to be absorbed in business, any person who takes one look at his bob-haired blonde private secretary knows why. "Men argue about religion, politics and golf, Kelly, and the man who talks the loudest and swears the hardest feels that he has won the argument, but it is all noise and bluster. "Women chat as quietly as a cat slips up on a baby mouse, and they are gentle and sweet like the cat which has caught his mouse, but the final result is the same in both cases." As Told by Irvin S. Cobb

THE BOSS AND THE STAFF

ON THE occasion of a local election in a small Tennessee town an old colored man was the only member of his race who voted the Democratic ticket. It was felt that this devotion to the cause of the Caucasian—as it prevailed in that vicinity—was deserving of recognition and a substantial reward. Accordingly the incoming administration promptly created a department of street cleaning—something of which the municipality had never seriously felt the need before. This department was to consist of two members, namely, a foreman or superintendent and a staff of one. Naturally, to a white man went the job of foreman—but upon the worthy old black man was conferred the honor of being the staff. Now, he had the idea, which is not uncommon among other political appointees, that holding a public office meant regular wages and considerable glory and no appreciable amount of manual exertion. Nevertheless on the Monday morning when he reported for duty, as a consequence to the conventionalities, he did bring a shovel along with him. But the white man who had been selected as superintendent had a very different idea of the obligations which he owed the municipality. He might not work much himself, but he was determined that the force under him should not be idle. No sooner had the old negro shoveled up one of the accumulated piles of vintage rubbish of the years from the public thoroughfare than the vigilant eye of the boss spied out at least half a dozen more smaller mounds which to his way of thinking seemed to require immediate attention. As a consequence it was four o'clock in the afternoon before the surprised and chagrined and pained old man had time to blow on the plump new formed blisters in the palm of his hands or to rub the cracks out of his back. Finally in a merciful lull in the operations he straightened his spine with an almost audible creak, and as he wrung the dew of unwanted toll from his forehead he inquired of his superior: "Look here, mister, ain't you got nothin' to do 'ceptin' jes' to think up things for me to do?" "Yep," said the white man briskly, "that's all my job—just to keep you busy." "Well, huh," said the old man softly, "in dat case you'll prob'ly be pleased to know dat you ain't goin' to be workin' tomorrer." (© by the Central Press Association.)

A Thirteen Million Dollar Concern

Some Remarks By "Uncle George" before the Supervisors

[Some remarks by "Uncle George" H. Van Felt about a Thirteen Million Dollar Concern before the Charlevoix Co. Board of Supervisors, Charlevoix, Michigan, June 28, 1926.]

A few days ago, it occurred to me that in reality our county of Charlevoix is just a thirteen million dollar concern; for thirteen million dollars is the sum of this county's assets, on which we collect our taxes to run our county government. They it naturally came to me to compare the administration of this thirteen million dollar enterprise under the management of good shrewd American business men.

Right now, before I go any further, let me say that in my 55 years of business experience, I have associated constantly with business men of the highest reputation for successful good judgment. And my observation of their methods, together with my own hard earned experience at the head of a business have led me to some of the conclusions that follow.

We all know that the affairs of our thirteen million dollar business here in Charlevoix county, and those of equally large business concerns are conducted very differently. That was my first conclusion.

The management of the business affairs of a thirteen million dollar corporation or of a county in any state, is a man-sized job. Only the best equipped efficient and well-trained organization can carry the load over the peak and place a profit on the right side of the ledger. Many a time there is a gold mine right at our door, but we either overlook it, or we may not be able to develop it.

Why do we speak of great men in terms of praise? Simply from the point of view of their having done something worthy the name great. But only those things are great which tend to render life more happy, or which increase the innocent enjoyments and comforts of our existence.

Charlevoix county, Michigan, is an undeveloped gold mine; and it is high time that we united all our forces in every township in the county to do the great thing with it—to work out, first of all—it can be developed. We cannot make a development in any part of the county without benefiting the whole county.

We have seen the business Charlevoix and Boyne City dwindle until it is far below normal. But we have one chance to recoup and restore and even increase our prosperity far beyond what it ever was, I refer to the tourist business.

Here is a cash crop. But as it is today the time for harvesting this crop is really only six weeks. This time can be increased a week or two, both at the beginning and at the end of the season, if we go at it right. And then it can go on increasing, year by year, until it will be six months instead of six weeks.

You wonder how Uncle George is going to show you the way to do this. Now, just look to last fall. With your roads so much superior to what they were ten years ago, your citizens were able to light out for Florida or California to rest after a strenuous summer, even right up to Christmas time. And with the first waves of the real estate activity beginning to wash this way, land seekers were able to get in here from the south until very nearly the first of the year. It was all due to roads—an increased confidence in the feasibility of motor travel, which will extend to the tourists, as they learn that the roads are here for them. Good roads will extend our season just as they have extended it elsewhere. But when we consider this plan to make us all richer, we must guard against any schemes which seek to influence us, without sound foundation in fact and experience—which are not for the good of ourselves, our friends, the taxpayers of this county. We want to begin our planning to make this thirteen million dollar concern pay, just as shrewdly as those aforementioned hard-headed business associates of mine planned and did make their companies shower down the gold.

If they had the problem that we have or if I had had it when I was running my business profitably, it would have been figured out from facts like the following:

Twelve years ago, when this county was bonded for $350,000, each of the three cities was allotted $100,000, and Boyne Falls received $50,000. Now, Charlevoix went ahead and put its money into 12 miles of concrete road, which is today worth the entire amount of the bond issue—$350,000—and has not cost a cent for repairs. Compare this with the cost of rebuilding and repairing the gravel roads built by the other towns at the same time. Charlevoix's investment went into a profit-making property that has run itself at practically no expense, and has appreciated immensely in value. The others spent their money for gravel roads. Now, the most that can be said of their roads is that they are graded; and the grading they did, worth three to four thousand dollars a mile, will today reduce the cost of building concrete roads by just that much.

Concrete roads were built last year for $23,000 a mile; but with us, because water and gravel are more convenient and accessible to operations, our roads should be built for the same amount, even including grading, bridges and all. So that it is safe to say that a concrete road around Pine Lake, with from three to four thousand dollars worth of grading per mile already done could be completed for $20,000 per mile; and that with the reservation that no road today should be less than 20 feet wide.

Gentlemen, I have studied this subject not only because I have lived in Charlevoix county for 43 years, but also because for many years I was a member of the good roads committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce where I saw all kinds of roads built under all kinds of conditions. "Was there I learned about concrete roads.

The price of learning wisdom established the truism that only by putting into practice the good things we know, can we proceed to build up for our county a national as well as a state-wide reputation as the best and most beautiful tourist's resort in the United States.

For 43 years I have devoted all my spare time, as well as much of the time while engaged in business, talking of the beautiful, health-giving properties of our pure water and our water-washed air. No place on earth can excel this. So boys, why not spend our money and our time advertising it to bring the tourists here. Nothing we can do for them will bring them so quickly as will concrete roads—and especially a good concrete road around Pine Lake. Thank you.

Gen. Booth Certain Prohibition Would Boost British Wage

LONDON, July 5.—Gen. Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, in the current number of 'The Humanist,' London, undertakes to tell his fellow Brits the way to get higher wages and in so doing points to the United States as an example, among other things urging prohibition.

The coal strike and its economic effects is still fresh in the minds of the English people, and an outcropping fact is that English labor seems to be underpaid.

"I am so little concerned when I notice the tendency in the business world to seek reduction in wages," says Gen. Booth. "It seems to me that this is a mistake, and especially is it a mistake for this country. When in my travels I observe the economic conditions of different countries, I am intensely impressed by the fact that England, almost alone in the world, and England alone in the British empire, has fallen so grievously behind in production. What I would like to see would be a great campaign to encourage output, leaving wages where they are, or even with a prospect of increasing them.

"Prohibition Means Business"

"It may be said that the production of this or that article can be of no serious advantage unless there is a market for what is produced, and here my recent experience of the results of prohibition on the other side of the Atlantic throws light upon the situation. Prohibition means business, because it at once sets free an immense sum of money and stimulates demand for commodities which need production. I know that we temperance people are looked upon by a certain class of the population as fanatics, but there is no fanaticism about a balance sheet.

"Our debt of about $1,500,000,000 for drink in 1924 has no corresponding credit, and further, our exports are declining at approximately $5,000,000 a month. Anyone with half an eye can see that business has been going ahead in the United States at an abnormal rate during the last few years. Considered for the moment not in its moral or spiritual aspect, but in the much lower terms of business, prohibition has produced marvelous results. During the years when the United States progressed with their prohibition legislation the production figures increased considerably, and now we find that the average production figure of the American worker is $6,850 against $2,700 per year, an increase of $4,150 per person per year.

"Production was never so high as at present. Wages were never so high. All the thrift agencies were never so prosperous, the result being a spending power by the worker hitherto undreamed of. It is significant, for instance, that in 1924, 2,427,000 motor vehicles were sold in the United States, showing a purchasing power which, to drinking America, would have been an impossibility.

Sees Credit Increase

"Two aspects of the new business in the United States have especially impressed me. First, the credit business done in the past few years has been very significant. Almost anything can be had on credit. Everybody who desires it can get an extension of credit. People who formerly could scarcely get trusted for a pot of beer are now to be found with high credit rating. This means business. The non-drinking man requires, of course, many things which the drinker cannot afford to purchase, and this applies not only to him but to his family. There are fewer bad debts per cent than ever.

"The second point which has impressed me has been the steady rise from the lower grades of labor to the higher grades. Men who, when they did work, formerly worked so badly or so irregularly that what they did was almost negligible, and what they earned correspondingly disappointing, are now pushing their way up to the higher levels of producing power and drawing correspondingly improved wages. We of the Salvation Army are especially in a position to notice this, because so many of those for whom we labor are found among the casual and uncertain workers in all departments of industry.

"I believe that if the agitation for reducing wages in this country was dropped and attention given to production, and if we could be delivered from the ghastly waste and moral deterioration which the drink trade involves, we could enter upon a period of abounding prosperity."

The worst thing that can happen to some people is to fall into the hands of friends.

Honeymooning with the aid of Long Distance

They were married in Saginaw and John and Mary left on a tour of Michigan that would take them to Detroit, Ann Arbor, Lansing, Grand Rapids and up to Petoskey; thence across the Straits of Mackinac.

Wise John changed plans, at the last moment, to outfit the well-wishing jokers, however.

And so he telephoned ahead, changed hotel reservations and got into touch with Aunt Jane at Grand Rapids, a friend at Petoskey and another at Sault Ste. Marie. The value of Long Distance appealed to him.

18 BODIES REMOVED FROM HULK OF S-51

Remains of Twelve Identified at Naval Hospital; 24 Are Still Missing.

New York.—The sealed death chambers of the sunken S-51 were burned open with acetylene torches.

Tight-lipped naval officers with oxygen masks went in and came out pale after viewing what had happened on the night of September 25, 1925.

They found eighteen bodies. There may be more. Twelve have been identified.

The hopeless fight of the men as the air gave out and the water rushed in through a fifteen-foot gash in the port bow was revealed after nine months when the first rescue party penetrated her hull at the Brooklyn Navy yard.

Four bodies were found in the battery room. These men were apparently asleep in their bunks when the prow of the City of Rome cut through the side of the S-51.

Six more were found in the forward torpedo compartment.

Seven others were in the motor-control room.

The body of Lieut. Frederick D. Foster, in charge of the watch, was found wedged above the port Diesel engine, one hand reaching for its control valve.

The body of Ensign Edward Webster Egbert was found in the forward part of the motor room hanging by the knees.

Identification at the Brooklyn Navy hospital was speedy.

Tooth, tattoo marks and bits of clothing facilitated the work. Those identified thus far are:

Lieut. Frederick D. Foster of Nutley, N. J.; Ensign Edward Webster Egbert of Annapolis; First Class Seaman John Joseph McCarthy, New York city; First Class Fireman Charles Carroll Thomas of El Paso, Texas; First Class Torpedo Man Robert Holland Wills of Norfolk, Va.; Coxswain Harry Dick Elser of Columbus, Ohio; Third Class Fireman Frank Lester Mims of Augusta, Ga.; War Room Cook George Henry Martin of Philadelphia; Chief Torpedoman Valentine Nilsen of Newport, R. I.; First Class Engine Room Allen Clifford Barie of Gloucester, Mass.; Machinist's Mate James Franklin Pierce; First Class Torpedoman Stephen Hartley Triffitt.

Nine of the bodies were found floating near the scene of the wreck.

Twenty-four were still to be accounted for. The search is being continued through the nooks and crannies in the twisted hull.

Brazilian Bank With $4,000,000 Assets Fails

Rio de Janeiro.—Excitement prevailed in Pernambuco on the suspension of payments by the Bank of Recife. The bank filed a petition in bankruptcy which was granted. The book value of the assets of the bank is said to exceed $4,000,000. Liabilities are close to $4,000,000. The general monetary crisis in Brazil is considered here to have been one cause of the bank's failure. Another contributing factor is believed to have been a crisis among sugar growers over the amount of sugar grown in the state of Pernambuco.

FARM LEADERS WILL PLAN NEW MEASURES

Meeting to Be Called at Des Moines in a Few Weeks.

Washington.—Following the defeat at the recent session of congress of the McNary-Haugen bill, the Farm-Tincher bill and other measures for the relief of agriculture, it is announced here by farm leaders and leaders of the agricultural group in congress that one or more important conferences will be arranged soon in the Middle West.

The expectation is that the first of a series of conferences will be called to meet at Des Moines within a month or six weeks. That conference will probably be followed by others.

The object of the coming conference or conferences is to map out plans to continue the fight in the house and senate for legislation along the lines of the McNary-Haugen bill or similar bills. The advocates of such legislation took on the equalization fee as the vital principle. They also regard it as essential that there be a strong farm board at Washington and that this board be selected from real farmers, nominated by the farm organizations.

The conference at Des Moines probably will be called by President Charles Hearst of the Iowa Farm Bureau.

$2,793,583 Was Cost of Pennsylvania Primaries

Washington.—Expenditures of the three rival tickets in the Pennsylvania Republican primaries totaled $2,793,583.02, according to a revised official tabulation made public by the senatorial investigating committee.

This total included $1,804,976.25 expended on behalf of the Pepper-Fisher-Smith-Woodward ticket, $800,114.00 for the Vore-Beideman-James-Woodward ticket, and $188,492.77 for the Pinchot senatorial candidacy.

The revised figures were compiled by the senatorial committee on the basis of information furnished by witnesses and reports officially filed with the staff of Pennsylvania by the various campaign committees.

Washington.—The investigation of the Pennsylvania primary campaign expenditures, which was begun by the senate select committee June 9, has been completed and the committee adjourned until July 26, when it will meet in Chicago and begin its inquiry into allegations of the use of "slush funds" in Illinois.

Phases of the activities of the Anti-Saloon league and Association Against the Prohibition Amendment affairs will be explored further as occasion may arise.

In some quarters, it is predicted, the Illinois expenditures will be found to have rivaled those of Pennsylvania.

Passion Music

Passion music is music that endeavors to picture the suffering and death of Christ. The subject has been a great favorite with composers. Probably the greatest masterpiece of this kind is the passion music by Bach. The passion may be said to consist of the seven last words of the Savior on the cross.

Were Good Groaners

We have often noticed that the less a person has the matter with him the more he complains about it, and we often wonder if old Job, as he patiently cursed the day he was born and remarked that he was nothing more or less than a brother to dragons and a companion to owls, really had anything worse than a touch of eczema. —Ohio State Journal.

Otherwise, "Going West"

The expression "kicking the bucket" is said to have originated from the suicide of a man who stood on a bucket while he adjusted a noose to his neck and then kicked the bucket from under himself and accomplished his purpose.

Why He Is a Pessimist

An optimist proclaims that we are living in the best possible of worlds; the pessimist fears that this is true.—James B. Cabell.

Pointer for Salesmen

Recent tests are said to prove that salesmen are able to obtain the best results while wearing dark, plain-colored neckties, and that the worst results came while wearing polka-dot ties. It would appear from this that such dotted ties have a tendency to distract the buyer's attention from the importance of the dotted line.

"Line" on Future Husband

In certain parts of England girls have a test that is supposed to indicate the identity of their future husbands. The test consists of selecting an onion to represent each of the eligible men. They are then placed in a box, well fertilized, and forced to grow. The first to show signs of sprouting is considered to represent the lucky man.

Then They Wonder

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

FEATHER BEDS, DEATH

AN OLD-TIME superstition which still lingers in the rural districts, and which is found in England and in continental Europe, is that a person cannot "die easy" on a feather bed. Folklore investigators every now and then discover instances of people "in extremis" being removed from a feather bed to a bed stuffed with something other than feathers, in order that the agony of the death struggle may be assuaged. It would be hard to account for this superstition did we not find it still existing in rural England in its more ancient form, which is that a person cannot die easy on a bed stuffed with the feathers of "game chickens" or fowls that have a strain of the game chicken in them—fighting fowls. Dyer reports a conversation between two British matrons, one of whom cast doubts upon the superstition. "You use such feathers, then?" asked the second woman. "Oh, no," replied the first one, "we burn them." The idea in the old form of the superstition is clear. The feathers in the bed are from fowls which are constantly fighting and struggling with each other and, of course, by that rule of magic by which any part of an animal retains the qualities of that animal, the feathers retain the desperate struggling qualities of the game fowls, which qualities, by the magic of contact, are imparted to the dying persons. Hence he struggles and "dies hard," as they say. We inherit the superstition from England but in its emigration it has "suffered a sea change," so that, with us, it applies to any sort of feathers. WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

By JOSEPH KAYE

At 21—Max D. Steuer Was Working His Way Through College.
I MATRICULATED at Columbia university law school at nineteen and at twenty-one I was admitted to the bar, but I continued at the law school for another year, when I was graduated.

"In my early days I sold newspapers on the street and matches among the families in the East side tenements of New York, where I lived. While there was a tax on matches I sold three boxes for a nickel and when the tax was removed I sold eighteen for a quarter.—Max D. Steuer."

TODAY—Max D. Steuer is among the most celebrated trial lawyers in the United States. He was and is the lawyer for Mrs. Stokes and has officiated at many other famous trials. His cross-examinations have become noted far and wide and there is always a crowd in the court where Steuer conducts a case.

Mr. Steuer's office is in New York, the city to which he was brought at the age of seven. He is another example of the man who rose from the plane of direst poverty to national distinction. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

WHEN IN ROME

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

PERKINS took a trip abroad last summer with his wife and daughter. Mrs. Perkins is a graduate of Smith college and is proud of the fact, and Perkins had the honor of getting his degree from Harvard. I give these details to indicate that the Perkinses are no common trash, but really some people with training and experience and manners and taste. Their daughter is sixteen and as self-possessed as her mother was at twenty.

They went on an English boat, and it was a shock to Perkins when he walked into the dining saloon for dinner to find that all the men but himself were in dinner coats and the ladies in evening dresses. They didn't do it that way in Kankakee. They visited Spain first, the customs of which country they were unfamiliar with excepting as they had been presented in Don Quixote. Perkins was wearing a very light-gray suit, and Mrs. Perkins and her daughter were in tan-colored costumes. They were at once the center of comment and attention. Walking down the streets of Madrid or entering the cathedral at Seville, they could see at once that they were queer; there was something the matter with them; they were different from other people.

Then it dawned upon Perkins that their clothing was not in accordance with Spanish customs. Women on the streets in Spain wear black, and if they enter a church, their heads are discreetly covered with a veil. Men, too, dress in dark clothes—black or blue serge, with black hats. When Perkins realized all this he felt almost as if he were going about in his pajamas.

Mrs. Perkins has modern ideas. Occasionally, just to show that she can do as she pleases, she smokes a cigarette—not because she enjoys smoking especially, but to establish her independence. She discovered in Barcelona that ladies in Spain do not smoke. Some women do; but they are not ladies. When they arrived in Geneva it was decided to put Mildred into school in order that she might to some extent perfect her knowledge of modern languages, and she was entered in a high-class boarding school. At the first meal to which Mildred sat down she amazed the instructor in charge.

"Such manners!" she exclaimed in perfect French. "Mademoiselle! Where have you been reared?" Mildred was cutting her food with her knife and fork in the ordinary way employed by civilized Americans, and then transferring the fork to the right hand in order to convey the food to the mouth. It was a process not to be thought of. Mildred explained that in America she would be an object of derision if she did otherwise, but she was informed that no one could go out of Madame Fouré's school eating as Mildred did.
So Mildred learned to keep her fork in her left hand only and to balance all sorts of nourishing articles of food upon the back of it—never on the front. If peas rolled off they should be mashed. Whatever could not be loaded upon the back of a fork must be left on the plate. It is not done otherwise in Rome, no matter how it is done in Kankakee. (© 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Too Late With Invention
Francis Macerotti, an English inventor and soldier of fortune of Italian descent, just missed lasting fame. He invented an improved type of steam coach for ordinary roads, but the introduction of railways made it valueless.

Help Kidneys By Drinking More Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter the acid from the blood—and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders, caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

Indian "Big Medicine"

The Indian ceremony of "making medicine" in the medicine lodge is a solemn scene on the Glacier National park reservation. Articles of clothing, pieces of meat, hides and small trinkets of all sorts are wrapped around the tree as "powerful medicine" while the Indians sit around and commune with the Great Spirit.

Disappointment

One of the great disappointments in life comes just after you have succeeded in getting hold of the book that was barred from the public library.—Don Marquis in Colliers.
