Poultry Schools On Sept. 29th

J. A. DAVIDSON, POULTRY SPECIALIST TO BE PRESENT.

Plans have been completed to hold two Poultry Schools on Sept. 29th, at which time Mr. Davidson will discuss all poultry problems, fully, especially culling, feeding and management.

The first meeting will begin at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday morning, at the ranch of Arthur Guild, three miles south of Charlevoix and will continue the rest of the forenoon. This meeting is arranged so as to be convenient for poultry people to attend from the western portion of the County.

The second meeting will begin at 1:30 p. m. in the afternoon of the same day at the farm of Edward Hunt, second farm east of Deer Lake School House for the eastern section.

This will be your last opportunity to receive instruction in poultry, as only this one day could be given to Charlevoix County for poultry work and everyone interested in poultry is cordially invited to attend and learn all the latest in poultry management. B. C. MELLENCAMP, Co. Agr'l Agent.

Certified Potatoes Pass Inspection

FIELDS ARE OF HIGH QUALITY IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

Mr. Wheeler, Seed Potato Inspector from M. S. C. recently visited all the certified fields in the County and reports that they all passed the requirements in a very gratifying manner.

This year very little disease was found, indicating that the past year's work in hill selecting seed and destroying diseased hills, has raised the quality of seed to a very high degree and as a result very little roging was necessary in comparison with former years.

During the past five years averages show that certified seed has far outyielded table stock and has brought over 50 per cent more money, being sold almost entirely for seed purposes in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and other States.

This year the yield will run no doubt from present forecasts, 800 bushels per acre and price will be considerably over the 5 year average. The following are the fortunate seed potato men in this County.

Terry Barber, Boyne City, four and one-half acres Russets and one-half acre Irish Cobbler.

Edd. Jensen, Walloon Lake, 8 acres Rural Russet.

H. C. Stephens, Boyne City, five acres Rural Russet.

Chas. Koteskey, Boyne City four acres Rural Russet.

Harry Behling, Boyne City, three and one-half acres Rural Russet.

Zell Bricker, East Jordan, three acres Rural Russet.

W. K. Straw, Charlevoix, three acres Rural Russet.

B. C. MELLENCAMP, Co. Agr'l Agent.

Judging Teams Leave

The Agricultural Department of East Jordan High School was represented at the Traverse City Fair this week by a stock judging team consisting of Arnold Smith, Clayton Montroy and Alfred Larson, by a poultry judging team consisting of Harold Clark, James Gleason and Clayton Montroy, and by a grain judging team composed of Harold Clark, James Gleason and Arnold Smith. The teams left last Wednesday morning and returned the same day.

An Appreciation

To: The Electors of Charlevoix Co. I am indeed grateful to all the voters of the County for the support accorded me in my candidacy for the nomination for Congressman from the Eleventh District of Michigan, and appreciate all that was done by the many disinterested friends in my behalf. I hope that I may continue to merit your confidence, and extend to all my sincere thanks for your favors and support.

Sincerely yours,
FRANK P. BOHN

Ball Games

At Our Fair

East Jordan and Boyne City base ball teams split even in the two games at the Charlevoix County Fair last week.

On Thursday Boyne City won by a 4 to 3 score. Batteries were: Saffran and Bradley; Swafford and LaLonde. Hits off Swafford 4; off Saffran 10.

Boyne City—000 021 010—4

East Jordan—110 000 010—3

On Friday East Jordan won by a 13 to 9 score. Batteries were: Pequette, Manglos and Bradley; Swafford and LaLonde. Hits off Pequette, one in two innings; off Manglos, 11 in 7 innings; off Swafford, 11.

Boyne City—020 022 210—9

East Jordan—133 240 000—13

Field Trip

Last week Monday at class time the Zoology Class with its instructor, Mr. Keefer, head of the Agricultural Department, went on a short field trip to Brown's Creek back of the school building. The trip was for the purpose of collecting certain specimens of the lower animals that have been studied in class. This method of laboratory work gives the student a chance to study animals in their natural habits. The trip was quite successful as several butterflies, toads, and grass-hoppers were found by the different members. It is the intention of Mr. Keefer to take the class on more field trips while the weather permits, for it is a real help to the students in their work.

Architectural Ornament

An interrupted arch-shaped pediment, the central portion of which is set away, is very frequently found in early Georgian furniture and architecture with or without a central motif.

The Old Hunting Grounds

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Muskegon—Chief of Police Peter Hansen of Muskegon will head the Michigan Association of Police Chiefs the coming year. It was decided at an election here. He succeeds James P. Cole of Flint.

Detroit—Lieutenant Colonel Pillsbury, district engineer here, has been authorized by the chief of army engineers to issue a permit to Macomb county to dredge a cut for a drain outlet in Lake St. Clair, about one mile west of Point St. Clair, Mich.

Jackson—Mrs. Warren C. Stoddard, wife of the present sheriff and the first woman to seek the office of sheriff in this county, was defeated in the primary election by John Van Horn, former under-sheriff, who took the democratic nomination from her.

Bay City—The race between William Deshano, representative from the Second District of Bay County, and James McKeon, a former representative, was so close that a recount is likely to be demanded by McKeon. Unofficial returns give Deshano a lead of 12 votes.

Owosso—Any settlement of the war debts owed the United States must be based on the principle that the debtor nation must live, James Couzens, of Detroit, United States senator, declared in an address before the chamber of commerce and luncheon clubs here recently.

Detroit—Twenty-five men will be added to the federal prohibition patrol of the Canadian border, thus completing the local force that has undergone reorganization at the hands of Colonel A. J. Hanson. Applications for the jobs, which pay $1,800 a year, are now being received.

Ypsilanti—Twenty-six new teachers have been added to the faculties of the Michigan State Normal College and affiliated schools, which start classifying for the Fall term on September 28. Enrollment this year will be larger than ever, it is believed, although no official predictions have been made.

Royal Oak—A proposition to annex three square miles of territory between the Twelve and Fourteen-Mile roads, directly north of Royal Oak, to the city of Royal Oak, was adopted by the voters of the city and the affected territory. The proposal lost at the preceding election. Hazel

Compete With American Beauties

Here are the winners of the international beauty pageant which was held the other day in Paris. These girls were chosen as the most beautiful in France and England, and they will come to the United States to compete against America's representative for the world's beauty crown. Left to right, they are, Miss Mae Cooke, twenty-one, of England; Miss Jacqueline Schally, seventeen, of France; and Miss Mireille Soubrin, nineteen, of France.

Pomona Grange

Pomona Grange will meet with Barnard Grange, Saturday, Sept. 25th, 1926.

A fine program is being prepared for both afternoon and evening. Pomona delegates will be elected to attend State Grange at East Lansing. It is hoped that every Grange will be well represented.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of the Common Council of the city of East Jordan held at the council rooms, Monday evening, Sept. 20, 1926.

Meeting was called to order by the Mayor. Present: Mayor Dicken and Aldermen Ross, Gidley, Proctor, Watson and Aldrich. Absent: Alderman Sedgman.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Gidley, who moved its adoption; seconded by Alderman Aldrich:

Whereas, the cement walks along the east side of the south 7-10 of Lot 5, Block 3; along the south side of commencing at the S. E. corner of Lot 12, Block 6; thence west 27 ft., thence north to within 16 ft. of the north line of Lot 11, Block 6, thence east 27 ft., thence south to place of beginning; along the east side of the south 1/2 of Lot 4, Block 12, Nicholls Second Addition, and along the south side of Lot 12, Block 1, except commencing at the S. E. corner of Lot 12, Block 1, thence north 72 ft., thence west 27 ft., thence south 12 ft., thence east 27 ft., thence south 60 ft., thence east 49 ft., to place of beginning are deemed by this council to be in bad condition and a menace to public safety, therefore,

Resolved, that the city clerk be, and hereby is, instructed to serve the proper notice on the owner or occupant of said property to repair the said sidewalk within 15 days in accordance with the provisions of ordinance No. 28.

Adopted by the council of the City of East Jordan on the 20th day of Sept. 1926, by an aye and nay vote as follows: Ayes—Ross, Gidley, Proctor, Watson, Aldrich and Dicken.

Nays—None.

Bills were presented for payment as follows:

Nays—None.

On motion by Alderman Aldrich, meeting was adjourned.

OTIS J. SMITH, City Clerk.

Mt. Clemens—Lieutenant L. G. Elliott, of Seltrige field, won the John L. Mitchell trophy race Sept. 10, at the national air races at Philadelphia, defeating his brother fliers of the first pursuit group in a fast race. The Mitchell cup can be contested for only by men of this group. Captain F. H. Pritchard finished the race a few hundredths of a mile behind Elliott in average time, and Lieutenant J. J. Williams finished third.

Lansing—Wayne county's industrial property bears nearly half the state's 1926 tax levy of $17,800,000, it was learned from figures made public by Harold B. Fuller, secretary of the state board of equalization. Four counties of the state carry the tax burden by paying $11,013,803 or approximately 62 per cent of the general property tax of the state. These counties are Wayne, 47 per cent, and Oakland, Kent and Genesee counties.

Lansing—Twenty-five thousand cars and trucks were transported by the state ferries across the Straits of Mackinac during the month of August, the monthly financial statement shows. The trucks totaled less than 300. Three teams with wagons also were transported. The ferry transported 18,000 cars for the same period a year ago. Foot passengers remained about at a standstill, 8,710 being transported this year and 8,744 in August a year ago.

Football Season Opens Saturday

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS WORKING HARD UNDER NEW COACH

Coach Lee is working hard with about twenty candidates each night trying to round them into shape for their opening game Saturday, against Petoskey High at Petoskey.

The coach is handicapped by having only four regulars back from last year, Captain Danforth, Taylor, Gleason, and Barnett. The men out for the squad this year are very small and light, noticeably more so than in previous years, but they are working hard and no doubt before the season is far advanced they will be able to fill the shoes of the former players of East Jordan High School on the breaking point under the capable supervision of Coach Harry Lee.

The following schedule has been arranged for the season with two open dates yet to be filled:

September 25—Petoskey at Petoskey.

October 2—Charlevoix at East Jordan.

October 9—Gaylord at Gaylord.

October 16—

October 23—

October 30—Harbor Springs at East Jordan.

November 6—Manelona at East Jordan.

Notice!

The High School Athletic Association has asked all boys and girls in High School to try and find some kind of a job for this coming Saturday, in order that they may raise enough money to see the football games here this fall. Three home games to H. S. students for 50 cents. They will be glad to get any work you can provide for them such as throwing in wood, chopping wood, cleaning basements, yards, digging potatoes, washing windows, etc. If you desire a boy or a girl for such a job, call Mr. Wells at the High School Friday, or call 45 Saturday morning.

Sault Ste. Marie—The leg of William Shields, 60 years old, member of the crew of the tug Weston, was severed when a line became fouled, snapped against a post and caught him just below the knee. Because of his age, the injury is considered critical.

Algonac—The passenger steamer Harmonic of the Northern Navigation company stranded just north of Grand Point dock, near here recently. The vessel stranded when her wheel chains parted. After four hours the boat was released by the tug Louisiana of the Great Lakes Towing company.

Lansing—The list of law students who were successful in passing the bar examination held September 4 to 8 has been given out here. The 148 candidates who passed included Ned H. Smith, Michigan university's first blind student to graduate from the law college. He was graduated in June.

Bay City—The number of criminal cases to be disposed of at the October term of the local United States district court has been mounting rapidly of late, until at the present time there are 105 cases pending. Involved in these 105 cases are 141 defendants, the greatest part of whom are charged with violation of the prohibition law.

Jackson—An $800,000 bond issue to build a new county court house will be proposed to the voters of Jackson County in November; the board of supervisors decided before deciding to submit the proposal to the voters, the supervisors rescinded a previous resolution providing for a seven-year sinking fund, which was to have been used for the same purpose.

Adrian—Adrian city commission has accepted the resignation of Claude L. McGuffie, commissioner of public improvements, and appointed William F. Bowen to fill the unexpired term. McGuffie will go to Highland Park, where he will enter contracting work. Bowen served one year as street commissioner under the administration of Mayor W. O. Hunt.

Ann Arbor—University of Michigan's Greenland expedition, under the direction of Professor William Hobbs of the geology department, has left Holsteinborg, on the schooner "Morrisey" and is due to arrive here about October 10, a letter received by university officials says. According to the letter, the party expects to reach Sidney, N. S., about October 2, from where they continue by rail.

Seth Hammond

Seth Hammond of South Bend, Ind., was born on the farm where he now lives nearly ninety-one years ago. His longest absence during this time was a period of four weeks spent in California. He works on his farm every day. He is healthy, does not use tobacco and is a total abstainer from liquor. He has a son in Columbus, Ohio, who is professor of economics in the university there; a daughter in California, and a son in South Bend, who is a judge in the Superior court.

PRESIDENT CALLES WILL ENFORCE LAW

Mexico's Chief Executive Refuses to Yield to Demands of Catholics.

Mexico City.—Coincident with the opening of congress, to which the Catholic episcopate is appealing for modification of the religious clauses of the constitution, both President Calles and the episcopate again have reiterated the unalterableness of their respective positions.

Each has charged the other with responsibility for the situation.

In his message to congress a few days ago President Calles said that the rebellious attitude of the clergy had forced him to issue the religious regulations. He announced that he intended to proceed firmly along the path he had chosen.

The episcopate issued a statement saying that congressional relief was most doubtful, but that it was appealing to the legislators to aid its cause, as the only other course open was a religious war.

The episcopate also announced that it would submit its bill for modification. As the President must approve measures congress passes, even if congress modifies the present regulations final decision on the question rests with him.

Since enforcement of the religious laws, the President said, 42 churches, 78 convents and 7 centers of religious propaganda had been closed and 85 foreign priests had abandoned the country for violations of the law.

The message added that for 60 years the religious clauses had been in the constitution, but had not been enforced owing to revolutions and other incidents. There had been no persecutions of creeds, he said, and that alarm was unjustified.

The episcopate's statement says: "We believe our specific attitude, although energetic and firm, has taught a lesson to those who believe all conflicts should be settled by the use of arms and revolutions. We have given all the world an example of how tyranny should be opposed and how to fight for liberty."

The religious question, labor legislation, and a constitutional amendment, one effect of which might be to permit Gen. Alvaro Obregon again to assume the presidency of Mexico, are among the subjects to be discussed by the congress.

The constitution of 1917 provides that "the President will remain in power four years, and may never be re-elected." This clause was passed in 1910-20, the time of the overthrow of Porfirio Diaz, who virtually had become dictator of Mexico.

Many friends of General Obregon, who was President immediately preceding Calles, want him again as President when Calles' term expires in December, 1928.

Rev. Henry VanDeventer made a visit at Traverse City last Friday. Mrs. Anson Hayward's mother came to visit her daughter the week end.

Mrs. Winford Batterbee's father, who has been here for some time visiting, Win Batterbee and children took her father over to her brothers near Eastport, where he expects to go to his home in California.

Rev. Laberto made a two days' visit with Henry VanDeventer. Rev. Laberto took supper with Edmund Wilson, Sunday, Sept. 19th.

Too Many Clothes

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THERE was a good deal of discussion last winter as to the amount of clothing our young women were wearing. It may be still going on for all I know, for in these days there are no "heaves" and the amount worn varies little with the seasons, and these matters attract attention. Eight pieces is said to be the number now, including shoes, stockings, and shoe strings. It isn't enough.

As to the men, they are no better than the young women, though it seems to me they go too far in the opposite direction and, if they can afford the cost, swelter under too much clothing.

It begins early with the man. Bob, aged nine, sits perspiring in his lumber jacket with the thermometer in the house at seventy-five.

"Why don't you take it off?" his mother asks, noting his flushed cheeks and his discomfort.

"All the fellows wear 'em," he replies, and that settles it. He prefers style to comfort.

Last winter all the real fellows—in college at least—who could borrow the price, or cajole grandmother into coming across with a Christmas present, or by some other strategic means accomplish their purposes, had racoon coats. Now a fur coat is for cold weather—for North Dakota when the blizzard is raging, for the companions of Amundsen when he is hunting polar bears hiding behind the North pole, not for a climate where the thermometer climbs up to sixty or seventy in January.

The fur coat, like a girls lace handkerchief, is worn largely for show. It costs a lot of money, it will go out of style one of these cold days, so it must be paraded daily while the showing is good. The ordinary fellow with the fur coat has sunk all his substance in this one garment, so he has laid up no other sort for the rainy day or for the day when the sun shines and the soft breeze blows from the south. Consequently he drags himself about hot, uncomfortable, lethargic. He never walks rapidly lest he become heated up. He never skips along gayly; you never see him running. He has too many clothes. Perhaps, if the fur coat becomes a habit, he will ultimately, like his sister, leave off his flannels, discard his vest, and take to silken undergarments and bare knees and chignon hose so that he may be comfortable in his fur coat even in May and October.

As it is now, too many clothes weigh on him, make him a sort of intellectual freight train, a sort of scholastic mannikin. We know when he comes into the office, nine times out of ten, that he has been late to class or missed connections entirely because of oversteeping, that at any rate he didn't get off his mark with the rest of the bunch.

St. Paul, in speaking of the man who has the best chance of winning the marathon, says something about "laying aside every weight." The boy with the fur coat has little chance of winning the race; he has too many clothes.

Benton Harbor—H. D. Arnold, general passenger agent of the Goodrich Transit Company, has confirmed reports of the purchase of the steamer Theodore Roosevelt. The big excursion ship, said to be the fastest on Lake Michigan, is undergoing alterations at Mantowoc and will be used next season on the Benton Harbor-Chicago run.

Howard City—A conference of county agricultural agents, crop and soils specialists, and extension workers to consider problems of sandland farmers will be held here Aug. 27 at the demonstration farm of the Pennsylvania Railroad. This farm has been conducting a series of tests on sandlands with a view to helping farmers who are tilling light soils.

When the collection plate passes by you, you will be surprised to notice how easy the money sounds.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Saginaw—The Saginaw oil field yield was again increased when the well drilled by V. M. Voorhees and Thomas McNally on the Charles Ulrich property in Saginaw township, came in at 1,322 feet. This is the twenty-ninth well now producing oil.

Gladstone—A heavy wind, accompanied by rain, struck Gladstone Sept. 8, resulting in property damages that will run into hundreds of dollars. Trees were blown down, windows smashed, signs torn away, fences tumbled over, poles broken, wires brought down, roofs torn from buildings and gardens ruined. One girl was cut by glass when a window in her home was broken.

GREETINGS ALL PUPILS

Paris.—Provision for reduction in the French army was contained in a decree just issued by the ministerial council. The scheme provides for reduction of the army by 2,700 officers during a period of years and the elimination of 1,200 officers holding temporary rank.

The number of men called to the colors will be gradually reduced—first, by calling men to service at the age of twenty-one instead of the present age of twenty, and later by reducing the period of military training to one year. The number of skeleton regiments will be reduced from 25,000 to 28,800.

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog-up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Lansing—Receipts from the corporation tax to date this year total $6,025,475, slightly more than the receipts for the whole of 1925, Charles J. DeLand, secretary of state, announced. The total tax for 1925 was $6,002,117 and it is expected the returns this year will exceed that amount by at least $500,000. DeLand's report shows there are 16,255 corporations operating in the state. At the close of 1925 there were 12,329.

Lansing—Attorney-General Andrew B. Dougherty notified Charles E. Hughes that the state of Michigan elected to be a party in a special hearing over the division of water by the Chicago Sanitary district, in which Hughes will be the special commissioner of the United States Supreme Court. In addition to the suit filed against the sanitary district by Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio and Pennsylvania have a joint suit against the district.

Lansing—An affidavit demanding the removal from office of Jay A. Colling, of Tuscola County, has been handed to Gov. Alex. J. Groesbeck by William J. Spears, Vassar lawyer and banker and president of the Tuscola County Bar Association. The affidavit has been turned over to the attorney-general and it is probable that a member of the attorney-general's department will go to Caro, county seat of Tuscola County, to investigate the charges made by Mr. Spears.

Climax—Legislation for the regulation of commercial airplanes and airports was recommended by the coroner's jury which investigated the deaths of Victor Arnold of Battle Creek, and Clair Blodgett and William Burnham of this village in an airplane accident here Aug. 21. The jury further held that the Waco plane in which the three were riding during the Climax home-coming celebration, was defective. The three dropped a half-mile after one wing collapsed following a nose dive.

Ann Arbor—An attractive lake, to replace a stagnant and mosquito-breeding mill pond in the rear of Forest Lawn Cemetery, along the Huron river at the village of Dexter, is one of the projects which Henry Ford at present is considering to benefit Dexter. Mr. Ford was in Dexter recently looking over property he owns there, and also to make preliminary arrangements toward obtaining permission from the cemetery association to acquire the land to enable him to carry out this project.

Lansing—Apportionment of $1,000,000 to the various counties from the weight tax receipts was announced by Frank Fitzgerald, business manager of the state highway department. With this payment, the state has returned $4,000,000 of the $5,000,000 due the counties from the 1925 tax. The remaining $2,000,000 will not be paid until next January, when the amount paid in by each county can be totaled, Fitzgerald said. The $6,000,000 is apportioned by law according to the receipts of each county.

Monroe—Denias Dawe, mayor of Monroe, whose removal from that office was asked by Lyman J. Simmons, Monroe pool room and barber shop proprietor, has denied the allegations contained in Simmons' affidavit and announced that although he had not intended to seek reelection at the end of his term, he would not quit under fire and would fight against "pool room rule" in Monroe. Simmons, in his affidavit, alleged that Dr. Dawe, who is a practicing physician and surgeon.

Albion—Descendants of Andrew Warner, who came to New York state from England in 1688, held their 37th annual reunion here at the Woodmah hall. There were more than 60 present, the oldest being George Warner, of Albion, who is in his 86th year. The majority of those present were descendants of William A. Warner, who came to Michigan from Albion, New York, in 1834, and who helped substitute the name "Albion" for "The Forks," as the settlement of the early pioneers was known.

Bay City—Roy Harris, a paroled convict of Ionia prison, and an unidentified companion were killed here when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a south-bound interurban at the Bullock road crossing of the Michigan railway. Harris was identified by sheriff Ezra Marvin, as the man who was sent from here to Ionia on a one to ten year sentence and who was paroled from that institution April 22 of this year. His companion was so badly disfigured that identification was impossible.

GEN. HINES WOULD HAVE 150,000 ARMY

War Expert Says Economy Has Weakened U. S. Strength.

Washington.—A standing peace-time army of 150,000 men was urged by Maj. Gen. John L. Hines in an address welcoming the new class of army officers to the war college. General Hines deplored the condition, brought about by economy, which has weakened the military strength of the nation. "The effect of this reduction upon the regular army must, temporarily at least, result in a lowered morale," he said.

In advising the new class, he said: "In most respects our peace organization has been the result of a compromise between military expediency and cost, with cost usually in the role of dictator. Therefore, before you make recommendations for changes in our peace structure, I would advise that you consider the limitations imposed by appropriations and be sure that you fully understand the procedure involved in the operation of the budget system.

"The depletion of our World war reserve of material has been so rapid in recent years that the War department found it necessary to request increased appropriations from the last congress for partial maintenance of this reserve at the expense of a reduction of 1,385 of the total number of noncommissioned officers and specialists. The loss of these grades will seriously affect the training of the organized reserves, the National Guard and the reserve officers training corps."

Message on Birch Bark Tells Fate of Cyclops

Marshfield, Mass.—Memories of the naval collier Cyclops, which disappeared without trace in 1918, have been revived here by the discovery of a message in a sealed bottle. The message was scratched on a scroll of birch bark. The bottle was found in a heap of seaweed. Its metal cap was oxidized from exposure to the elements.

The message follows: "U. S. S. Cyclops is sinking 161 men board 10 degrees six minutes — 10 degrees 20 minutes — C. P. Arch II. S. N."

Where the dashes occur the message was indecipherable. In a roster of the missing crew published a month after the collier vanished, were two names resembling slightly the scrawled signature.

Russia to Negotiate War Debt Payment to U. S.

Moscow.—A formal offer to negotiate the Kerensky debt to the United States has been promulgated by Soviet Russia and is ready to be presented, providing it is assured the offer will not be rejected. The official spokesman, in giving out the information, said: "We are willing to discuss the debt without mentioning recognition. If we send a commission it will be ready to discuss all American claims, both governmental and private."

More Than 200 Deaths When Steamers Collide

HOW A STORY GROWS By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

WHEN I used to go to parties when I was a young boy in the country there was a game called "scandal" which engaged the attention of the young people and aroused their interest. The players sat around the room. The one who started the game whispered a story of some details to his neighbor who in turn told it as accurately as might be to the person sitting next to him, and so in succession until the tale got back to the one with whom it started. It was surprising, try as the players might, how many inaccuracies and exaggerations crept into the tale, and after it had passed the lips of a dozen or a score of individuals, how changed and distorted it had become. There was a cyclone out in Iowa a few years ago which, among other of its activities, wrecked a country schoolhouse, injured a number of the children who were within, and killed one child. The news of the disaster spread rapidly, and as it spread the story grew. When it reached the village six miles distant the general devastation of property had become tremendous and the number of killed had reached forty. A farmer driving in from the neighborhood in which the tragedy had occurred met a woman trudging through the mud toward the site of the schoolhouse. "Isn't it terrible," she said, stopping to speak to the man, "A million dollars worth of damage done, and forty children killed!" "There was only one killed," the farmer said, thinking to relieve her anxiety. "Only one," she said quite disgustedly, and turned around disappointedly, and walked back to the village. Mrs. Raymond was walking home from town a few weeks ago when she was met by a bright-eyed excited little colored boy who lives over by the honyard. "They tell me," he said quite disturbed, "that they killed a woman down the street this morning." The story had grown; the facts were not accurate. It was true that an old lady was dead; but it had not come about by foul or unnatural means. She had been ill for a long time, her going was not unexpected, and there was nothing tragic in her demise. How Joe had gotten the facts distorted is not quite easy to say. Death in any form had possibly in his mind come to mean murder, so he had not thought it irregular to substitute one term for the other. We all like to tell a story and we are reluctant, in most cases, to have it lose anything in the telling, so we color it with our imaginations, we touch it up with our own points of view, we add a little here and there of a trifle in another place until the one responsible originally for the story would not recognize it in its final form. It is chiefly our desire to make a good or an effective or a startling story that induces the change, and it is thus a story grows. (© 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

The Sandman Story by Martha Martin

COWS LOVE MEADOWS

"MOO, MOO," said Mrs. Cow. "Moo, moo," said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow. "And pray, have you something to say to me? You look as though you had something on your own mind." "Ah, yes," said Mrs. Cow, "I have something to say to you. In the first place, I've heard people talk about their homes. "Sometimes children will come to play with the farmer's children and they will talk of their homes and each will love their own home better than any other. "They enjoy going visiting, but home, they say, is the best of all. just as this meadow is filled with grass which I love, and down yonder is a brook which I love, and over there is a tree under which I like to lie. "Oh, a cow knows what it is to love her own home and to be proud of it. "In fact, I am so proud of it and I like it so much and enjoy the grass so thoroughly that at times I almost feel as though I had something to do with the making of the grass! "Moo, moo, I have written a song about my love of my home, and if you would like to hear it I will sing it to you." "I would love to hear it, moo, moo," said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow. So Mrs. Cow made what we would consider strange little sounds which she called singing. "This was her song: I love my home, my meadow home. In it I roam, in it I roam. In it I eat of its grasses and its grasses are sweet, And oh, its sky ceiling is always so neat. There aren't any cobwebs in my ceiling, the sky. In the first place a broom wouldn't reach that high. To brush it up and brush it down And brush it over the country and town. In the second place the sky is so very clean That it would never allow a cobweb to be seen, And so I say my ceiling is fine For with cleanly beauty it doth shine. "That word 'doth,'" said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow, sounds very poetical. "I thought you would like it, my dear," said Mrs. Cow. "But my song is not ended. Shall I finish it?" "Do," said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow. I love in my beautiful mirror to look. My mirror of course is yonder brook. In it I see if I look my cow best And when I see I do, I then take a rest. Then I rest and I dream and I think of my home. My beautiful home from which I'll never roam. I am what you would call a contented cow And the end of my song has been reached just now. Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow swished her tail and said: "Moo, moo, I don't know much about poetry, but as a cow critic, I'd say you have done very well." "Thank you," said Mrs. Cow. "I wanted a little praise, even though you may know nothing of what you are saying!" (Copyright.)

"And So This Meadow is My Home," She Said.

As Told by Irvin S. Cobb

THE BURDEN

RECENTLY I told a story relating to Booker Washington. Today I crave consent of the readers to tell another. It was a favorite anecdote of the great negro educator. He said that the citizens of a remote southern community got interested in a project to import some Europeans to the neighborhood and colonize them upon the fertile but gone-to-seed farm lands and truck patches which dotted the district. A meeting was held at the county courthouse to discuss ways and means and to raise funds for putting the undertaking through and for sending to New York an agent whose task would be to paint to desirable immigrants the joys and the profits of agricultural life in the cotton belt. In the audience sat an elderly and highly respected colored citizen. After the meeting adjourned the chairman of it hailed the old negro. "Hello, Uncle Zack!" he said. "I was glad to have you with us tonight. I take it that you indorse the project we've put under way?" "Well, kumple, I wouldn't go so far as to say dat," stated the old man. "To tell you de Gawd's truth, they's already mo' white folks in dis county than us niggers kin support!" (Copyright by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS By H. IRVING KING

STEPPING OVER THINGS

IF YOU step over a child you will stunt its growth, it brings bad luck to a person to step over him when he is lying down or to step over his feet if he is sitting. If you step over a fisherman's pole you "hoodoo" his luck. These are some of the superstitions common in this country with regard to "stepping over," and superstitions of a kindred nature prevail in Slavonia, France, Germany, Belgium, Austria, Bohemia, and Syria. In Scotland if you are out hunting or fishing and you step over your companion's pole or gun, he considers his luck gone for the day. Kindred superstitions are found among the North American Indians and among many African tribes. The "stepping over" superstition thus appears to be a natural evolution which might be malevolent. A person stepping over a recumbent person or his belongings was in a superposition to the person or thing recumbent, more powerfully placed for evil. It was largely this leyden-jar idea which, among some ancient peoples and savage tribes, caused them to surround their rulers with taboo and prohibit them from touching the ground; for the rulers were supposed to be more "highly charged" than ordinary mortals. Use of the Eyebrow

Volumes can be expressed in the lift of an eyebrow. The merest elevation of that crown of the optic, it is claimed, can express all emotions from joy to sorrow. It can express love or hate—"Will you?" "Won't you?" "How dare you?" It is one of the most valued instruments of expression used by the actor. More than the voice, it can convey a deeper meaning, though unspoken.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

The Doldrums In certain places close to the equator strange calms and baffling winds make it almost impossible for boats to navigate. These places are called the Doldrums and before the sea was charted so that sailors could avoid them sailing boats would sometimes have to stay weeks before the winds were so that they could get away. Mariette—A quilt started more than 100 years ago by a woman long since dead, has just been completed by a local church aid society. There are pieces of cloth in the quilt of a kind unknown to the present generation.

Muskegon—Albert B. Cayo, a captain in the Muskegon fire department, has resigned as grand president of the Metropolitan Club of the United States. The club is composed of policemen, firemen and postal employees.

Jackson—Cottagers on the north side of Clark's lake are planning to take up a collection for the purchase of a handsome collar for "Ted," year-old German pointer dog, which recently saved the life of 18-month-old Millicent Klockner, from the waters of the lake.

Louis—As punishment for escaping from the Michigan Reformatory here in the recent break, the recaptured prisoners will be obliged to serve the remainder of their maximum sentences, plus from three months to three years for escaping. This penalty is set by law.

Ludington—Phillip Bittel, 79 years old, Grant Township, was killed by a bull on the farm of his son, Charles Bittel, who was in Manistee. The supposition is that the aged man was leading the animal to drink, a thing he had been warned against by his son, when it knocked him down and butted him to death.

Pontiac—Widening of Saginaw street has begun on the southern end where 25 feet of pavement will be added to the width of the street, a continuation of Woodward avenue, or M-10. Work has been dependent upon agreements with property owners along the artery, which leads from Detroit to Flint and northern points.

East Lansing—The 1927 conference of the International Country Life Association will be held at Michigan State College, according to Kenyon L. Butterfield, president of the college, on his return from Europe, where he attended the 1926 conference at Brussels as a delegate representing the American Country Life Association.

East Lansing—The fact that marl, a valuable source of lime for Michigan farms, may for a short time, at least, be injurious when applied to the soil directly before seeding to alfalfa or clovers, is indicated by recent tests conducted at Michigan State College. A weathering, or curing period is often advisable before seeding.

Port Huron—Three men and three women, aliens who said they came from Jugoslavia are in custody here. They were ferried across the St. Clair River in row boats by immigrant runners and after landing on the American shore between Marysville and St. Clair were abandoned by the runners, who saw immigration officers approaching.

Albion—Owners of Calhoun county huckleberry swamps state that the season will close in about two weeks. As a result of the unusually heavy rains in August the season has been prolonged and the total yields will break all recent records. Hundreds of persons have been in the swamps for the last four weeks.

Grand Rapids—Severe burns on his back were suffered by William Norton, 22 years old, Lakewood, when in preparing to bathe, he slipped in the empty tub and opened the hot water faucet. His screams aroused hotel employees who forced open the locked door to his room and removed him from the tub. His condition is said to be critical.

Marshall—Carl Behnke, who was graduated from Marshall High school in June, has left with Harry F. Thaw on a motor trip through the east. Behnke, son of Frederick Behnke, of Marengo Township, met Thaw while he was a bell boy at a sanatorium in Battle Creek. Thaw stopped there en route to California. Behnke will attend the Michigan State College next year.

Grand Rapids—The Stout Air Service, Inc., which maintains an airplane line between Detroit and Grand Rapids, have introduced a new schedule which will permit Grand Rapids visitors to Detroit to make the round trip by airplane to a single day, the plan will leave here at 8:50 a. m. and will return to the local airport at 5:45, allowing five hours in Detroit. This schedule will prevail for Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays.

Grand Rapids—Temporarily erased, it is believed, by homesickness and anxiety regarding her contemplated departure for her home in Germany, Miss Emma Leitner, 21 years old, an employe at a Grand Rapids hospital who had been lodging with a sister near Hudsonville, ran into the nearby residence of Peter Karstens and jumped from a second story window. She suffered a fracture of the arm. Miss Leitner had been in this country three weeks.

Kalamazoo—Michigan's greatest grape crop in years is promised this fall, according to H. C. Hardy, secretary of the Southern Michigan Grape Growers' Association, of Lawton. Mr. Hardy reports that the members of his association are optimistic and that conditions in the vineyards are favorable. "We are estimating that we will have 65 per cent of a normal crop. Reports from throughout the district indicate that vines are generally freed from disease than any time in years." Mr. Hardy said in his report.

Sand Pocket in Marble

A large pocket of sand was discovered in a solid block of marble at Middlebury, Vt. This sand is unlike any found in that vicinity. It is like beach sand. Geologists who have looked at it say that the marble was formed under water and probably the sand was caught in the center of the formation.

Josiah St John Passes Away

WAS RESIDENT OF EAST JORDAN FOR 45 YEARS.

Josiah St. John passed away at his home in this city Tuesday, Sept. 21st, following a short illness.

Deceased was born in New York State, Oct. 14th, 1863, his parents being Mary and John St. John. When but a child he removed with his parents to Leland, Michigan, and some 45 years ago he came to East Jordan, where he since made his home.

He was united in marriage to Miss Maria Alexander on Oct. 14th, 1885, at East Jordan. She passed away June 22, 1918, and on Dec. 28, 1925, he was re-married to Mrs. Effie Alexander of East Jordan, at St. Clair, Mich.

Deceased is survived by the bereaved wife, and three daughters, viz.—Mrs. Maude Misenar, Mrs. Amy Harner, and Mrs. Audrey Babcock. Also by two brothers and one sister—James of Mattawan, Mich., Frank of Lansing, and Mrs. Ellen Grazier of Oregon.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon, Sept. 23, from his late home, conducted by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham. Deceased was a member of East Jordan Lodge No. 379, F. & A. M., and the remains were laid to rest at Sunset Hill with Masonic honors.

Red Cross Appeals For Contributions

Will Give Aid to Injured and Homeless in Florida

Mrs. J. M. Harris of Boyne City, county chairman of the American Red Cross, received the following telegram and has asked the Herald to give it full publicity:

"St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19—Red Cross mobilizing all resources for relief of disaster sufferers in Florida hurricane. Your chapter should give immediate publicity, calling attention to the great loss of life, large number injured and homeless. Announce readiness to forward contributions. This word should go to entire jurisdiction of your chapter. Remit sums received daily." The urgent need of immediate relief to these suffering people is imperative. Some dear friend or relative may be without the necessities of life. You can aid in no more just cause nor under more urgent circumstances. The State Bank and the Peoples State Savings Bank will take care of all local contributions. Get in touch with them and do what you can.

Paying Too Much

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THE story is told of a distinguished military officer—the truth of the tale I do not vouch for—that one Sunday while in New York he attended services in one of the fashionable churches on Fifth avenue. He was shown into a pew which later a man entered who seemed to be the owner of the sitting. The newcomer was evidently disturbed. He resented having near him a man whom he did not know. He was restless and uneasy for a time, and then finally taking from his pocket a calling card he wrote on the back of it:

"I pay a thousand dollars a year for the use of this pew," and passed it to the military stranger.

The visitor, having read the not very courteous message, wrote under it:

"You pay too darned much for what you seem to get out of it."

There are a good many things in life for which we pay too much. Education is a good thing, and yet I have seen instances in which it cost the possessor more than it has ever been worth to him.

Garwood had no money when he came to college, and little talent for making money. Some men whom I have known could pick up a dozen jobs and make money out of them where Garwood could get none. He plodded along, half-fed a part of the time, and never getting a well-cooked, well-served meal. He lived over a store in a stuffy back room without heat in winter or ventilation in summer. At the end of three years he was still wearing the same clothes with which he had come to college. He grew cynical, coarse, and untidy. His faith in himself gradually weakened, and when finally he got his degree, he was less worth-while than when he left high school. He had paid more than the little information he had gathered was worth.

Bradley had a hilarious evening not many weeks ago. It had to do with a motor car, a half-pine of liquor, and a companion not too finical. It resulted in the end in Bradley's arrest, in his being fined, in getting his name in the local paper, and a few days later, in finding himself without a job.

"It doesn't seem fair," he said to me. "I've been pretty straight all my life, and now when I make one false move, I get fired."

"There are a lot of things that cost more than they are worth," I remarked to Bradley.

I had a letter from a boy in one of the penal institutions of the East only a short time ago. He had been in prison for five years—from the age of twenty to twenty-five—all because of an indiscretion of a single evening. A reckless state of mind, a little stimulating liquor, two or three companions with flexible ideals, and the thing was done which took five years out of his life and set him back ten more, perhaps. It hasn't been worth what it cost.

Sleeves Features of New Frocks for Fall

Sleeves are the features of many new frocks for fall. Though the long, tight-fitting sleeve of tailored lines remains, many of the smart models recently introduced by famous Parisian houses distinctly feature sleeves of novel cut and trimmings. Interesting and novel are the loose peasant sleeves in this frock worn by Estelle Clark, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player. It is hand-painted in futuristic designs to match the designs on the frock.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

The Dead Sea

The reason the human body does not sink in the Dead sea is that the water contains one-fourth salt. This salt comes from three sources: salt springs, water that has run over the salt range of Sodom, and evaporation by the sun which leaves the salt behind. Salt lake in Utah is a similar body of water.

Where the Wood Goes

Building and construction take annually 800,000 cars of lumber; planing mills, 750,000 cars; the automobile industry, 60,000 cars. Even toothpicks and matches require 4,500 to 5,000 cars of wood each year.

DON'T OVERLOOK A GOOD THING

Foley & Co., 2835 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, value so highly the medicinal qualities of Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, that they guarantee them to give satisfaction. Relying on this guarantee, Mrs. Ellen Reighard, South Fork, Pa., gave Foley Pills a trial. In her frank, friendly letter, she says, "Nothing touched that aching spot until I took Foley Pills. I am so glad to recommend them." A reliable, valuable medicine, constantly in use over 25 years. Guaranteed. Ask for Foley Pills, diuretic.—Hite's Drug Store.

BUILD Re-pair Re-roof!

MULE-HIDE Roofs

There are many imitations of quality, but there is yet to be found a substitute for satisfaction.

Play safe. Avoid substitutes. We are exclusive distributors of Mule-Hide for this vicinity. Quality is always economy. See us for your building and roofing requirements.

Library Well Defined
Libraries are as the shrines where all the relics of the ancient saints, full of true virtue, and that without delusion or imposture, are preserved and reposed.—Bacon.

Gamblers Advertise
In China the gambling houses are among the largest advertisers.

Stellar System
The nava' observatory says recent estimates give the diameter of our stellar system as approximately 800,000 light years. The spiral nebulae are regarded as other stellar systems widely separated from ours, the presumably nearest ones being nearly a million light years away.
