

Charlevoix County Herald.

VOLUME 30

EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1926.

NUMBER 45

Canning Factory Meeting Tonight

At East Jordan H. S. Auditorium. Farmers Should Be Present.

Plans have been completed to hold a meeting in the County for assistance to farmers who are raising crops for the new Canning Factory at East Jordan, or are interested in the proposition for another year. The officials of the factory have decided to add the necessary machinery to take in small fruits and vegetables for next year, which news is very welcome to many farmers.

Mr. Geo. E. Starr, Prof. of Horticulture of M. S. C. will be the main speaker at the big meeting to be held at the High School Auditorium of East Jordan on the night of Nov. 5th, at 7:30 standard time.

He has had considerable experience with small fruits and vegetables and the many factors involved in the success of a Canning Factory. He can give you valuable suggestions as to the right varieties to grow, cultural methods, preparation of the land and seed, harvesting methods and many other factors, which will be of mutual benefit and profit to you and to the Canning Factory.

By all means plan to attend this meeting at East Jordan on Friday night, Nov. 5th, at 7:30 standard time.

B. C. MELLENCAMP,
Co. Agr'l Agent.

First Reunion 125th Infantry

WILL BE HELD AT OWOSSO, NOVEMBER 20th and 21st.

The many members of Headquarters Company, 125th Infantry, 32nd Division, who went from East Jordan and surrounding region, will be interested in the following article, relative to a First Regimental Reunion, sent The Herald for publication by Lt. Col. John H. Stock, of Owosso.

Former doughboys from this section of the State who once did squads east and west in the training camps with the 125th Infantry, 32nd Division, or who lugged their weary feet over the hot sands on the border, or remember the long, long trail in France where they earned the nickname "Les Terribles" because of their furious onslaughts on the enemy, are all invited to attend the Regimental Reunion to be held at Owosso on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 20 and 21.

This will be the first Regimental Reunion to be held since the War. There have been 125th Infantry dinners at the various divisional reunions, but no get-together for the sole purpose of fighting the battles all over that the 125th took part in, and renewing the old friendships of close comrades-at-arms.

The 125th Infantry served under the command of five colonels during the War, and it is expected that most of them will be present. Major General Guy M. Wilson, Commanding Officer of the 32nd Division, will also be at the reunion. The colonels who commanded the 125th during the War were Col. John B. Boucher, Chéboyan, who was in command prior to embarkation of the regiment for France. He was followed by Col. Ambrose Pack, Ann Arbor, and he by Colonel Morrow, a regular army officer. Col. Robert B. McCoy, later general commanding the Division followed Colonel Morrow, and the regiment was brought home by Col. E. G. Heckel, now a brigadier general.

Lt. Col. John H. Stock, Owosso, Michigan, formerly an officer of the 125th Infantry, and now a staff officer of the 32nd Division, is head of the committee that has the reunion in charge. Colonel Stock states that there will be a general meeting of the veterans at the Armory in Owosso on Saturday afternoon, there will be a memorial service for the regimental dead on Sunday morning, and the regimental banquet, at which former commanding officers and General Wilson will speak, will be held on Sunday afternoon.

Water Tax Notice.

Water Taxes for the City of East Jordan will be due and payable at my office on and after Nov. 5th.

G. E. BOSWELL,
City Treasurer.

Green Elected In Light Vote

Light Vote Throughout State In November Election.

Fred W. Green was elected Governor of Michigan at the election held Tuesday, by what appears on first returns a two to one vote. The first returns indicate that only about one-half the number of votes were polled last Tuesday to what were recorded in the September primary. The balance of the Republican State ticket was elected by larger majorities.

All four of the proposed Amendments to the State Constitution were running behind in the returns, as was also the proposal to hold a constitutional convention.

THE CITY VOTE

Only about 275 votes were cast in the three wards in the City of East Jordan. The returns for Governor and Secretary of State, in East Jordan are as follows:

	1	2	3	Total
Green	61	61	118	230
Comstock		9	26	35
Haggerty	46	60	116	222
Doran		9	18	27

IN THE COUNTY

The Republican County Ticket was unopposed and the following officers were elected:

Prosecuting Att'y—Arthur L. Fitch.
Sheriff—David Vaughan.
County Clerk—George A. Roderick.
County Treasurer—Joseph Wm. Flanders.

Register of Deeds—Frank F. Bird.
Circuit Court Com'r.—Lisle Shahan.

Drain Com'r.—James Simmons.
Coroner—F. F. McMillan.
Coroner—W. M. Boylan.
County Surveyor—E. A. Robinson.
County Road Com'r.—William E. Byers.

Mid Touchstone Suddenly Dies

Was Victim of Heart Failure While Attending Football Game.

Mid Touchstone, well-known resident of this region for over half a century, passed away suddenly at the Fair Grounds last Saturday, Oct. 30th, while witnessing a football game.

Deceased was born at Columbus, Ohio, May 13th, 1853. When a lad he came to Northern Michigan, locating in what is now Jordan township, Antrim County, and has made that place his home since then. He was depot agent for the D. & C. R. R. at Jordan River for a number of years, and was auctioneer at various times.

He had been ill with dropsy and heart trouble for the past year. He is survived by Frank Justice, an uncle, and Arthur Touchstone, a nephew, both of Jordan township. Funeral services were held from the Mt. Bliss school house, Monday afternoon, conducted by Elder C. H. McKinnon. Interment was at Mt. Bliss cemetery.

NOTICE!

TO EAST JORDANITES IN DETROIT AND NEARBY COMMUNITIES.

Your presence is requested at the annual East Jordan dance to be held at Northwestern Community Hall, corner of Grand River and Wreford Avenues, near McGraw, Detroit, Saturday, Nov. 13, 1926.

Dancing old and new will be on the docket. A good time for all is assured.

If you see this notice pass the good news on to all East Jordanites.
Committee—V. R. Richards, A. Blake, C. Kimes.

WONDERFUL HEALTH REPAYS WISE FORETHOUGHT.

Mrs. Wm. C. Fischer, 2003 Woodbourne Ave., Louisville, Ky., occasionally takes Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, which helped her over a quite severe ailment. "Yes," she says, "I still take Foley Pills, diuretic, at times, when ever I feel I need them, and as a result my health is wonderful." Not surprising, for Foley Pills, diuretic, are a reliable, valuable, tonic medicine, constantly in use over 25 years, promoting that satisfactory cleansing flow so necessary to good health. Try them. Hite's Drug Store. adv.

Allan Green Victim of Fatal Accident

Killed Sunday Night While Working at the Iron Furnace.

Allan Green, aged 17 years, received injuries in an accident at the Michigan Iron & Chemical Co.'s plant in this city last Sunday night, Oct. 31st, from which he died shortly afterwards.

He was employed on the tramway assisting in unloading an iron ore boat, and was in the act of oiling one of the stopped buggies when it was started. He was caught beneath the moving buggy and it passed over his body badly crushing him. He passed away about one hour and a half afterwards.

Allan Norman Green was born at Petoskey, Sept. 6th, 1909, his parents being Mr. and Mrs. Edd. Green. He came with his parents to East Jordan from Van (near Petoskey) some eight years ago and was making his home with them and attending High School at the time of his death. He is survived by the parents; two sisters, Ione and Norma; two brothers, George of Flint, and Eddie at home; also by a number of other relatives.

Allan Green was a young man beloved by all who knew him. He was in his second year in our High School and was esteemed and loved by teachers and pupils. He was a member of our High School Band and was most faithful to his music. In addition to his studies, his unusual ambition led him to put in many extra hours at manual labor and he was following this work when he met his untimely death.

Funeral services were held from the Presbyterian Church Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 3rd, conducted by Rev. B. E. Manker, pastor of the Pilgrim Holiness Church. His brother-members of the High School Band acted as pall-bearers. Among relatives here to attend the funeral were George Green and Mrs. Ezzie Palmer of Flint; Mrs. Roy Ellison and family, Phil Giffin, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fuller with daughter, Elizabeth, all of Bellaire.

A Home Wedding Saturday Evening

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wright, in this city, was the scene of wedding festivities last Saturday night, Oct. 30th, when their daughter, Miss Paula, was united in marriage to Everett Spidel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Spidel, of Eveline township.

Rev. V. J. Hufton, pastor of the M. E. Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of about thirty relatives. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis of Grand Rapids, sister of the groom. The bride wore a nile green beaded gown and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The home was decorated in white and gold with ferns and roses.

A wedding supper was served at the close of the ceremony, and the newly-weds were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Spidel left that evening for a short visit with relatives at Traverse City. They plan to spend the winter at Grand Rapids.

Love and a little bit of loving are two different things.

School Notes

(News furnished by English 12 Class)

Hallowe'en Party at High School
The Juniors and Seniors under the direction of Mr. Keefer and Mr. Snellenberger gave a Hallowe'en Masquerade Party for the Freshmen and Sophomores Saturday evening. The party was a result of the ticket contest of the benefit picture "Hold That Lion." The gymnasium was decorated in Hallowe'en colors and figures. Cider and doughnuts were served. The Seniors appeared for the first time in their Turkish caps of green and gold. Some of the alumni who were home over the week end attended the party. Carlton Bowen, Emil Hegerberg and Frances Rogers of Central State Normal and Dorothy Kitsman and Thaxter Shaw of Western State Normal were present.

Musical Activities of the School
The regular High School Band, directed by Mr. Ter Wee, have been working very hard this year, and expect to give a concert in the near future. Various solos for different instruments and some popular pieces will be included in the program. The beginners' class consisting of two cornets, two clarinets, one piccolo, two altos, and one E flat bass, one baritone, one tenor, one saxophone, and two drums are also working hard, and are slowly working into shape. The thirty-three members of the regular band meet Monday afternoon and Thursday evening. The thirteen members of the beginners' band meet Monday evening.

The High School orchestra meets every Wednesday evening. The Chorus of eighty-six members meets Wednesday nights after school. From this a boy's quartette consisting of Ralph Mackey first tenor, Ralph Josefek second tenor, Harold Clark first base, and Harry McHale second base, has been organized. One-fourth credit is given for each of these activities.

ASSEMBLY

After the opening songs and Scripture readings in Assembly last week Mr. Snellenberger read to us from the book "At the Crossroad" by J. J. Hardy.

Home Economics Department

One group from the ninth grade Foods Class served a breakfast Friday, October 29. The problem was:

- To plan a well balanced breakfast which could be prepared and served in the class period.
- To plan the division of time.
- To divide the work to be done among the girls in the group.
- To serve the breakfast in family style.

Pomona Grange

Pomona Grange will meet with Boyne River Grange, Saturday, Nov. 6th, 1926.

This is the last Pomona meeting this year and it is hoped that every Grange will be well represented. A good program is being prepared. Hon. W. Pearson of Boyne Falls will be there and talk to us. A report of State Grange will be given at this meeting. Several questions of importance will be discussed.

Harbor Springs Defeated, 6-0

Result Gives Team Claim for Northern Mich. Class C Championship.

It had been the forethought of both Harbor Springs and East Jordan that the game, played at the Fair Grounds last Saturday, would be the most evenly matched and best game of the season—all of which was quite true.

During the progress of the game both teams threatened many times for goals and it was notable when Gleason secured the only score in a wide end run of 18 yards for Jordan's touchdown. Besides the scoring of the touchdown Taylor starred in a number of runs and Weaver and Whiteford did fine work on the line. Cornell and Shaw seemed the starring factors for Harbor.

FIRST QUARTER

Harbor kicked and Whiteford returned five to thirty yard line. Pass to Gleason was incomplete. East Jordan lost three and Gleason made same off left end. East Jordan punted to Harbor Springs thirty yard line. In the first down Harbor off-side—Harbor Springs penalty five yards. They lost two with next play no gain, completed a fourteen yard pass and made first down in a line smash. Taylor stopped an end run with gain of only three yards. Harbor made pass over center for run of twenty-five yards followed by a right end run of ten yards and a five yard penalty on East Jordan. First down and Harbor downs ball on five yard line. Goal threatened twice and Barnette recovered fumble. East Jordan immediately punted the ball from danger. Harbor failed to make gains and East Jordan punted after two losses. Visitors made one yard, and a fumbled pass gave three yards gain for locals. Quarter ended as Taylor made first goal run for twenty-five yards of left end.

SECOND QUARTER

Nothing was spectacular in first part of second quarter, there being only a series of punts. Finally Taylor turned seventeen yards off left end. Being stopped at line Chris made twenty at end and was downed with twenty yet to go. Time out both sides. With a loss of five yards and an unsuccessful pass Taylor again turned left end for ten yards. Their second incomplete pass resulted in five yards penalty. Gleason failed at end and Harbor punted to Pray returning ten. With loss of nine half ended.

THIRD QUARTER

East Jordan kicked off with some return. In second down Harbor made pass and run for thirty five yards followed in third by a pass of eight yards. After gaining first down end runs an incomplete pass resulted. They were next penalized for off side for five yards and twice for two more, unsuccessful passes. Their kick for goal in the next play fell short and the ball was returned to the thirty yard line. Taylor was held at line and Gleason punted twenty five yards. Weaver intercepted Harbor's pass with five yards gain and Gleason made another five around right end. Weaver recovered a fumble and in first down Jordan took five off left end. Pray made two and four yards on a center fake. Ball on their forty yard line. Taylor then made twelve yards and first down off left end. Harbor intercepted a pass by Taylor and immediately after St. Charles went twelve yards on their fumbled ball. Gleason made five and Taylor lost same after four men successively tackled him. With a gain of one yard the Jordanites tried to kick a goal but ball was low. Harbor's ball on twenty yard line. With a gain of five yards in two downs Harbor kicked for loss of four yards. Before they were aware of it Gleason was sweeping around right end for the only touchdown of the game. The pass for point was incomplete.

FOURTH QUARTER

Gleason kicked the ball out of bounds on first attempt but did well on second. In next play a pass was grounded and in the third Harbor was penalized fifteen yards for holding. They then kicked to Pray in middle of field. Pray passed to Barnette with twelve yard gain and Taylor made a total of nine in three center line smashes. Harbor made a successful pass for a covering of fifteen and another for ten yards. With two plays of three yards each through line Harbor made another wonderful sixteen yard forward pass. They then were penalized ten yards for three incomplete passes in four downs, losing their attempt for a goal. East Jordan kicked to safety on their thirty five yard line with three minutes to go. They failed in

Dairy Meetings Next Week

What To Feed and How Much Are Among Things To Be Discussed.

A series of Dairy Feeding Schools will be conducted in the County for assistance to farmers with their many problems, connected with dairy production.

J. G. Wells, Extension Specialist in Dairying will be present and is particularly fitted to discuss dairy problems, as at present he is in charge of the dairy work in the Upper Peninsula and has had considerable practical experience with the dairy industry all through the State.

The following meetings have been arranged for the County: Hours are fast time.

Tuesday, Nov. 9th, 12:30 p. m.—farm of Martin Howard, Chandler Twp., Chandler Hill road.

Tuesday, Nov. 9th, 3:00 p. m.—east Boyne Falls road, farm of Robt. Russell, Hudson Twp.

Wednesday Nov. 10th, 9:30 a. m.—1/2 mile east Greensky, farm of John Struthers, Hill on M 11.

Wednesday Nov. 10, 1:30 p. m.—east and north of Horton's Bay, farm of Albert West, Bay Twp.

Thursday, Nov. 11th, 9:30 a. m.—5 miles south of Charlevoix on M-11, farm of Geo. Ver Snyder.

Thursday Nov. 11th, 1:30 p. m.—two miles west of Phelps, farm of Lawrence Best, Marion Twp.

Friday, Nov. 12th, 9:30 a. m.—6 miles south of Boyne City on East Jordan road, farm of Terry Barber.

Friday, Nov. 12th, 1:30 p. m.—two miles north of East Jordan, Charlevoix Co. Poor Farm, South Arm Twp.

Now is the time of year to make plans for the winter. What to feed and how much to feed, are two of the big questions. These and many other subjects will be discussed by Mr. Wells. Don't dress up, come just as you are. All meetings will probably be held in the dairy barn, where the atmosphere will be pure dairy.

Don't put me in the waste basket, but hang me up and be sure to look me over on Nov. 8th and decide to attend your nearest meeting during the next four days.

B. C. MELLENCAMP,
Co. Agr'l Agent.

LINE UP

Harbor Springs	East Jordan
Hahn	L. E. Shepard
Lane	L. T. Whiteford
Tillowson	L. G. LaPeer
Grunes	C. Amburgey
House	R. G. Weaver
Backus	R. T. Danforth
Taylor	R. E. Carr
Shaw	R. H. Gleason
Cook	L. H. Barnette
Johnson	F. B. Taylor
Cornell	C. B. Pray

Substitutes, Harbor Springs—Wright for Tillowson, Campbell for Taylor.

East Jordan—St. Charles for Carr. Umpire—Burkett, Gaylord. Referee, Eckerman, from M. S. C. Head lineman, McMillan, Petoskey.

STATE BANK OF E. J. INSTALLS BURGLARLY PROTECTION SYSTEM

There is no matter that is given greater publicity, and which concerns the public more than the success of bank burglars. The Bankers Ass'n at the present time are greatly aroused over this situation. The burglary losses are continually on the increase, and it appears that in the near future the burglary insurance companies will be compelled to increase the insurance rates accordingly.

The officers and directors of the State Bank of East Jordan, believing that their bank should be immune from a successful burglary attack, have installed the most modern form of burglary protection. The system consists of a mechanical and chemical resistance which will combat the burglars with their acetylene torch or any other method of burglarious attack. The protection is approved and recommended by the highest crime commissioners of the country.

Citizens of this community will greatly appreciate the interest that this bank has shown in providing protection for their customers' property. The system was installed by the Anakin Lock and Alarm Company of Chicago, Ill., who have already prevented 110 bank burglaries.

Looks Like a Hard Winter

Peoples' Wants

MUNNIMAKERS

Notices of Lost, Wanted, For Sale, For Rent, etc., in this Column is 25 cents for one insertion for 25 words or less. Initials count as one word and compound words count as two words. Above this number of words a charge of one cent a word will be made for the first insertion and one-half cent for subsequent insertions, with a minimum charge of 15 cents. These rates are for cash only. Ten cents extra per insertion if charged.

WANTED

WANTED to purchase FALL PIGS. Also have For Sale some Turkeys and two Guernsey Cows.—W.M. SPENCER, R. 1, Boyne City. 44x2

OLD HORSES WANTED at my Fox Ranch, near East Jordan on the Charlevoix road.—W. M. PICKEL, Route 1, East Jordan. 43x3

WANTED—HORSE, weighing between 1100 or 1200 lbs. Mare preferred.—ED. KOWALSKIE, East Jordan, E. 1, phone 162-F13. 43-3

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—Purebred Mammoth Bronze Turkeys, Champion strain, large and vigorous.—MRS. B. SMATTS, Phone 118-F31, Route 1, East Jordan. 45-3

FOR SALE—Ford Truck in good condition.—FRANK ZOULE, phone 40-F3, Route 2, East Jordan. 44x2

I PAY Twenty cents per pound for Live Chickens.—C. J. MALPASS, 17-t. f.

FOR RENT—House for a small family. Inquire of JOHN BURNEY. 43-t. f.

FOR RENT—Desirable location for photo studio, including suite of rooms for dwelling. Centrally located.—MRS. JOHN MONROE, East Jordan, Mich. 40 t. f.

FOR RENT—House with all modern improvements.—Inquire of MRS. G. WALSH. 42-t. f.

FOR SALE—Purebred O. L. C. Pigs for breeding purpose.—EDW. THORSEN, Phone 165-F22, R. 3, East Jordan. 41-t. f.

FOR SALE—Auto Camp Outfit, including tent, beds, chairs, boxes, etc. Inquire of MRS. JOHN MONROE, East Jordan. 40 t. f.

REPAIRS—You can get Repairs for any Stove, Range, Washing Machine, Engines, Cars, Sewing Machines, Cream Separator, Plow, or any Farm Machinery at C. J. MALPASS HDWE. CO. 10-t. f.

CUT THIS OUT—IT IS WORTH MONEY.

Send this ad and ten cents to Foley & Co., 2835 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, Ill., writing your name and address clearly. You will receive a trial bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, for coughs, colds, croup (spasmodic) and tickling throat; also a trial packet each of Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, and Foley Cathartic Tablets for constipation, biliousness, and sick headaches. These wonderful remedies have helped millions of people. Send for them.—Hite's Drug Store.

Ann Arbor—According to Professor C. E. Grimm, of the Business Administration School of the University of Michigan, $7,000,000 automobiles will be in use in the United States by 1930. He is a recognized authority on the automobile industry. The present output of 4,000,000 cars each year would be necessary at this point merely to supply worn-out cars.

Detroit—Detroit is to have a nine-story skyscraper church, that of the Boulevard Methodist Episcopal congregation. It will be erected near the General Motors Building. The building will cost approximately $1,000,000 and as well as being a house of worship, will have offices, and it is expected the gross income from the commercial part of the building will be approximately $100,000 a year.

Bessemer—Playing with matches in the barn at her home at the Ironton Location, Lucy, 8-year-old daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martenloch, received fatal burns resulting in her death. At the time of the tragedy the screams of the child brought the mother to the rescue and while carrying the child out of the building the mother fell and broke her arm. The girl was in the hay loft when the fire started.

Manitowish—Transfer to the city of a 48-acre tract 14 blocks from the heart of the downtown district, for a flying field and airport has been completed. Believing that in a quarter of a century or so the city without an airport will be like the city without a railway depot today, the city commissioners recently took advantage of the opportunity to purchase the tract for $1,500 from the estate of T. J. Ramsdell, banker and lumberman of Magistee's heyday.

CHARLEVOIX CO. HERALD

G. A. LISK, Publisher.
Subscription Rate—$1.50 per year.
Entered at the Postoffice at East Jordan, Michigan, as second class mail matter.

PENINSULA

(Edited by Mrs. E. Hayden)

Mrs. Grant Moore and infant son, Basil Grant, of Three Bells Dist. is visiting her parents-in-law in Boyne City this week.

A very pleasant Hallowe'en party was held at the Star school Friday evening. The school put on a very nice program. The party was well attended. Apples and pop corn was served at the close of the program. The Ward family who have occupied the David Staley farm the past season, moved out Wednesday, and Fred Kroll and family moved into the house.

The dance at the Gleaner Temple Saturday evening was very well attended and all had a jolly time.

Mrs. Mercy Woerful of Gravel Hill south side, went to Frankfort Saturday for a visit.

Johnnie Healey and Bob Willson motored up from Muskegon Friday night and attended the dance at the Gleaner Temple. They returned to Muskegon, Sunday.

Bob Willson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Willson of Mountain Dist., and Miss Dorothy Jarman, daughter of George Jarman of Knoll Crest, were quietly married at East Jordan, Sunday morning, while enroute to Muskegon, where they expect to make their future home.

Miss Eulah Arnott of Maple Row farm, Bunker Hill, north side, and Miss Ellen Reich, Lone Ash farm, Bunker Hill south side began boarding with Mrs. Will McGregor in Boyne City, Monday, while attending High School in Boyne City.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickie and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Leu Sandle of Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt in Three Bells Dist., Sunday.

Mrs. Will Gaunt and two children motored to Holland Oct. 20th, where Mr. Gaunt has a year's job of digging sewers.

There was to be a Hunt Supper at the Gleaner Temple Nov. 1st, but because of the storm, only a few went.

Bert Gould of Mountain Dist. who has been taking the High School pupils to and from Boyne City mornings and nights, had the misfortune to get his car disabled Saturday so could not take them, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McGregor of Boyne City called on Mr. and Mrs. James Arnott at Maple Row farm, Bunker Hill, north side, Sunday.

Potato digging is about completed. Lyle Wangeman of Three Bells Dist. spends all his spare time delivering potatoes to Boyne City for his neighbors.

The last week in October was ideal for fall work and the East Eveline Threshing outfit started up Wednesday and finished the buckwheat and sweet clover threshing.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Hayden and daughter, Arlene, of Orchard Hill were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hitchcock in East Jordan, Sunday.

Kenneth Russell of Ridgeway farm had the misfortune to completely demolish his truck in the storm Monday while going to Boyne City.

A. Reich of Lone Ash farm began work at the Chemical plant in East Jordan Wednesday night, after ten days vacation, while he dug his potatoes.

Someone was so anxious to pick up souvenirs that they carried off the box stove from the Sid Hayden cottage between Oct. 18 and 22nd, they must have had a full load as they left the pipe. If it is brought back very soon, names will not be published.

MILES DISTRICT

(Edited by Mrs. A. Miles)

Mrs. Mary Clark is visiting in Rock Elm Dist. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Swanson.

Gleaners of Ellsworth Arbor held a special meeting at the home of A. Miles last Thursday evening. Mrs. Jennie Sharp of Indiana and Mr. Henry Miehle of Fife Lake, field workers for the Gleaner organization were present. Meeting was held for arranging for a Rally to be held at Manacelona early in Nov.

Alfred Bancroft returned from the Charlevoix hospital last Tuesday and is feeling fine.

Lyle Kowalske of Charlevoix called on Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miles last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Strong of East Jordan spent Sunday with her parents Mrs. Albert Medema, Jake and George Tjapkes were Charlevoix visitors Tuesday.

Jake and George Tjapkes of Muskegon came home last Monday for a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tjapkes.

Misses Esther and Agnes LaLonde of East Jordan were Sunday callers at the A. Miles home.

A "Husking Bee" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miles last Friday. Those that took part were Mrs. George Kake, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morgan, Miss Leda Woods and Charles Blaha of East Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. A. Miles. A chicken supper was served and all had a good time.

Mrs. Pauline LaLonde of East

Jordan and Miss Jessie Metz of Rock Elm Dist. spent Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mr. and Mrs. Frank Addis to Traverse City where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mullen. Miss Metz staying for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. McKinnon were pleasantly surprised last Wednesday evening. It being Mrs. McKinnon's birthday anniversary. Those present were Mrs. John Cole and son Howard Mr. and Mrs. Walter Youngedike and family, Mrs. Mary Clark, Miss Blanche Stohlman and Patrick McKinnon of East Jordan. The evening was spent in visiting and singing old time songs, accompanied by Miss Stohlman on the organ. Mrs. McKinnon received many nice presents. A very nice lunch was served and all had an enjoyable time.

Mrs. Bert Elliot and grandsons, Albert, Arthur and Sam Parron of Phelps were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kowalske and children of East Jordan spent Thursday evening at the East Devons home.

A. Steenhagen of Grand Rapids motored up Friday for a visit with his parents. Sunday, the Steenhagen family took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. John Ter Wee in East Jordan. Mr. Steenhagen returning home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weiland of Ellsworth spent Sunday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Steenhagen.

Frank Addis is at Jerry Moblo's threshing to-day, Monday.

James Evans threshed buckwheat at Lewis McDonald's last Thursday.

WILSON

(Edited by Mrs. O. D. Smith)

Deer Lake Grange held their annual Hunt Supper last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nowland have returned to East Jordan for the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shepard are planning on going to Muskegon to spend the winter.

A small crowd out to Election last Tuesday. Only 54 votes cast during the day.

George Jaquays went to Grand Rapids last week Tuesday, where he was called to serve on a High Jury.

Mrs. Bergman of East Jordan spent the week end with her granddaughter, Mrs. Wm. Vrontron and family in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Price and daughter Marie from near Lansing spent a few days recently at the home of J. L. Sutton in this place.

Wm. Vrontron returned home recently from Mayo Bros. Hospital, where he was treated for an infection of the Pharynx gland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bricker and two daughters from near Lansing spent a few days recently at the home of Albert Todd in this place.

Henry Timmer who has been spending the past two weeks with his family in Afton, started on his return trip to New York last Thursday.

Mrs. J. L. Sutton is enjoying a visit from her brother, Levi B. Phillips of Clinton, Mass. Although nearly blind and 72 years of age, the gentleman made the trip alone as far as Lansing, where relatives met him and accompanied him the rest of the journey. The pleasure of the visit is intensified by the fact that the brother and sister had not met for 51 years.

NOWLAND HILL

(Edited by Mrs. C. M. Nowland)

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hott of Afton, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Trojanek and George Trojanek of Jordan township and Mrs. Joe Trojanek of East Jordan were recent Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Nowland.

Mr. and Mrs. Darius Shaw of East Jordan were Sunday visitors at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Nowland.

George Jaquays is serving on the Jury at the Federal Court at Grand Rapids from the Grand Traverse District. He came home Saturday and returned Tuesday for further duty.

Miss Lila Batterbee spent the week end in East Jordan.

A number from the Hill enjoyed the Hunt Supper at Deer Lake Grange Hall October 30th.

A large crowd attended the Masquerade Dance at the Wilson Grange Hall Oct. 30th.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nowland and his aunt, Mrs. Chester Shepard of East Jordan visited at the home of the former's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nowland, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Zinke of East Jordan spent Saturday afternoon and evening at the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kurchinski.

Bill Stanek of the East Jordan Co-op. Ass'n delivered kerosene oil on the Hill, Monday.

Anson Hull took Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Nowland for a short visit at the home of the latter's uncle, James Isamer of South Arm, Sunday.

The sweet young things do not hibernate during the winter.

Many a man knows that the things he reads in the newspapers are not as important as a nice write up of his life would be.

NORTH WILSON

(Edited by L. Knop)

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bergman and family took supper with Mr. and Mrs. C. Schroeder, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weldy and family spent the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Cook at Charlevoix.

Mrs. Ralph Collins and daughter, Eldean, of Alma are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burd.

John Vrontron and daughter and Mrs. William Vrontron and family visited Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Weldy, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Cook of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook of Detroit visited at E. Weldy's Thursday afternoon.

The Box Social which was held at the school house netted $18.60 Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Riedel and family of Deer Lake spent Sunday evening at the home of C. F. Knop.

Forty-five young folks met at the home of Frank Behling, Jr. Sunday evening. Games were played, ice cream and cake were served to all. Our Young Peoples Society will meet again Thursday evening, Nov. 11th.

Rev. Optiz of Petoskey took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Afton, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archer and son, visited Mrs. Archer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sloop, Sunday.

Lansing—Michigan's 4,000,000 inhabitants consumed at the rate of one and two-thirds pints of milk a day during the fiscal year ending July 1, the annual report of the State Bureau of Dairying, reveals. The report also showed the 865 co-operative and independent creameries in the state increased their production of creamery butter 1,000,000 pounds during the year, reaching the grand total of 78,899,558 pounds, while dairy butter, largely made by the farmers' wives, decreased 480,000 pounds to 19,500,000 pounds.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of the common council of the city of East Jordan held at the council rooms, Monday evening, Nov. 1, 1926.

Meeting was called to order by the Mayor. Present: Mayor Dicken, and Aldermen Ross, Gidley and Sedgman. Absent: Aldermen Watson, Proctor and Aldrich.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Bonds were presented for approval as follows:

G. W. Kitman as principal, with James Gidley and C. A. Brabant as sureties; John LaLonde as principal, with Frank Phillips and D. E. Goodman as sureties; Bulow Bros. as Principals, with Geo. A. Bell and C. A. Brabant as sureties; and Sam Bennett as principal, with W. B. Barnett and F. H. Benett as sureties.

Moved by Alderman Sedgman, supported by Alderman Ross, that the bonds as listed above be approved and accepted. Motion carried by an aye and nay vote as follows:

Ayes—Ross, Gidley, Sedgman and Dicken.
Nays—None.

Bills were presented for payment as follows:

Howard Cook, reading meters	$ 8.50
Ormand Winstone reading meters	5.25
Chester Amburgey reading meters	1.75
John Whiteford, work at dem.	44.75
Thos. St. Charles, cleaning streets	32.00
Wm. Nachazel, bal. on water works inventory	100.00
Anthony Kenny, draying	2.50
Peoples Bank, ins. on Town Hall	19.50
Jos. Martinek, gravel	.75
G. A. Lisk, printing	110.00
Henry Cook, sal. for Oct.	125.00
Edward Kamrad, sal. for Oct.	100.00
Otis J. Smith, sal. & postage	36.64
Grace E. Roswell, sal. & pgs.	63.10
Elec. Light Co. lighting Sts.	515.00
Elec. Light Co., pumping	175.15

On motion by Alderman Gidley the bills were followed by an aye and nay vote as follows:

Ayes—Ross, Gidley, Sedgman and Dicken.
Nays—None.
On motion by Alderman Sedgman, meeting was adjourned.

NOTICE OF ERROR.

At the previous meeting of the Council held Oct. 18th, the Mayor appointed Mrs. Earl Hager as member of the Library Board to succeed Essay G. Sidebotham, deceased, and when the minutes were written for the Herald, this matter was omitted. OTIS J. SMITH, City Clerk.

It is great to imagine what you would do if you hadn't done something else.

You can go all over the world and fall out with people just as easily anywhere else, as in this old town.

G. Searle

Optometrist

OF PETOSKEY

Son of "LITTLE WILL"

Will be at

Palmiter's Jewelry

Store

To Test Eyes

Friday, Nov. 12

All Day and Evening.

Persons having defective vision, will do well to consult him.

FARMERS WEEK

Nov. 8th to 13th, inc.
We are holding this sale in honor of our good friends—the farmers. Look over this list of wonderful values—check your requirements and make your purchases at the nearest A. & P. Store.

A & P
Where Economy Rules

A. & P. Evaporated MILK
Pure and Wholesome
3 tall Cans, 25c

Pure LARD
Absolutely snow white
2 lbs. 35c

PRUNES.....Large and Meaty.....	2 lbs. 25c
CORN FLAKES.....Sunnyfield.....	3 packages 25c
LONGHORN CHEESE.....	Lb. 29c

8 o'clock Best Grade Santos

Coffee

3 lbs. $1.00

A. & P. Family

Flour

24½ lb. bag $1.09

PEANUT BUTTER.....in bulk.....	Lb. 19c
FIG BARS.....Fresh-Baked.....	2 Lbs. 25c
ROLLED OATS.....	8 Lbs. 25c

Nutley and Golden Hue

OLEO

2 lbs. 45c

A. & P. Oven Baked—Delicious—Appetizing

BEANS

No. 2 Can 12 Cans 89c

Karo SYRUP
Blue Label, 5 lb. can.....26c
Red Label, 5 lb. can.....30c

P. & G. SOAP
or Kirk's
10 bars 38c

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.

Established 1859

The Girl in the Mirror

By Elizabeth Jordan

(By The Century Company.)
With Service

(CONTINUED)

He had promised his new brother-in-law, Bob Warren, to keep an eye on Bob's sister while Warren and Barbara were in Japan, and Laurie had kept the promise with religious fidelity and very real pleasure. He immensely liked and admired Mrs. Ordway, who seemed, strangely, to be always at home of late. He had formed the habit of running in several times a week. Louise not only talked, but as Laurie expressed it, "she said things." He had spent with her many of the afternoons and evenings Bangs checked up to the cabinet.

He glanced at his watch. For an hour he had been impersonating a gentleman engaged in profound meditation, with the sole result that he had decided to go to see Louise. It was quite possible he could enlist her interest in Doris. Now, that was an inspiration! Perhaps Mrs. Ordway would understand Doris. Every woman, he vaguely believed, understood all other women. He smoothed his hair, straightened his tie, and hurried off.

He found Mrs. Ordway reclining on a chaise longue before an open fire, in the boudoir in which his sister Barbara had spent so many hours of the past year, playing the invalid to sleep. She wore a superb Mandarin coat of soft and ravishing tints, and her love for rich colors was reflected in the autumnal tones of her room and even in the varicolored flames of her driftwood fire. To Louise these colors were as definite as mellow trumpet-her. She had responded to them all her life. She was responding to them still, now that she lay dying among them. Something in their superb arrogance called for an answering note from her own arrogant soul.

He Found Mrs. Ordway Reclining on a Chaise Longue Before an Open Fire.

She greeted her brother's young brother-in-law with the almost dis-

WONDERFUL HEALTH REPAYS WISE FORETHOUGHT.

Mrs. Wm. C. Fischer, 2009 Woodbourne Ave., Louisville, Ky., occasionally takes Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, which helped her, over a quite severe ailment. "Yes," she says, "I still take Foley Pills, diuretic, at times, whenever I feel I need them, and as a result my health is wonderful." Not surprising, for Foley Pills, diuretic, are a reliable, valuable, tonic medicine, constantly in use over 25 years, promoting that satisfactory cleansing flow so necessary to good health. Try them.—Hite's Drug Store, adv.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How to Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or nose disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear, and you can breathe freely. No more snuffing, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache, struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Salve from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic! Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

dainty smile she now turned on everything, but which was softened a little for him. Ignorant of the malady that was ending her life away, as indeed all her friends were ignorant of it, save Barbara and her doctors, Laurie delighted in the picture she made. He showed his delight as he dropped into a chair by her side. They fell at once into the casual banter that characterized their intercourse.

"I wonder why I ever leave here?" he mused aloud, as the clock struck six. He had been studying with a slight shock the changes that had taken place in the few days since he had seen her. For the first time the suspicion crossed his mind that she might be seriously ill. Throughout their talk he had observed things, trifles, perhaps, but significant, which, if they had occurred before, had escaped him.

Susanne, Mrs. Ordway's maid, though modestly in the background, was rarely out of sight; and a white-capped nurse, till now an occasional and illusive vision in the halls, blew in and out of the sickroom like a breeze, bringing liquids in glasses, which the patient obediently swallowed. Laurie, his attention once caught, took it all in. But his face gave no hint of his new knowledge, and the eyes of Louise still met his with the challenge they turned on every one these days—a challenge that definitely forbade either understanding or sympathy.

"The real problem is why you ever come," she spoke lightly, but looked at him with genuine affection. Laurie was one of her favorites, her prime favorite, indeed, next to Bob and Barbara. He smiled at her with tender significance.

"You know why I come."

"I do," she agreed, "perfectly. I know you're quite capable of flirting with me, too, if I'd let you, you absurd boy. Dearie!—for a moment or two she was almost serious—"why don't you fall in love?"

"And this from you?"

"Don't be foolish. You know I like your ties," she interpolated kindly. "But, really, isn't there some one?"

Laurie turned his profile to her, pulled a lock of hair over his brow, clasped his hands between his knees, and posed esthetically.

"Do you know," he sighed, "I begin to think that, just possibly, perhaps, there's a slight chance—that there is!"

"Be serious. Tell me about her."

"Well, she's a girl!" He produced this confidence with ponderous solemnity. "She lives across the square from me," he added.

"Things brighten," commented Louise, drily. "Go on."

"She's mysterious. I don't know who she is, or anything about her. But I know that she's in trouble."

"Of course she is! I have never known a mysterious maiden that wasn't," commented the woman of the world. "What's her particular variety of trouble?"

Laurie reflected.

"That's hard to say," he brought out at last. "But it appears to be mixed up with an offensive person in a crumpled blue suit who answers to the name of Herbert Ransome Shaw. Have you ever heard of him?"

Louise wrinkled her fastidious nose.

"Never, I'm happy to say. But he doesn't sound attractive. However, tell me all about them. There seems a good chance that they may get you into trouble."

"That's what she said."

"It's the one gleam of intelligence I see in the situation," commented his candid friend. "Is she pretty?"

"As lovely in her way as you are. Think you could help her any?" wheedled Laurie.

"I doubt it. I'm too selfish to be bothered with girls who are in trouble. I'll tell you who can help her—Sonya Orleaneff."

"Of course!" Laurie beamed at her. "Wonder why I didn't think of that."

"Probably because it was so obvious. Sonya is in town, as it happens, stopping at the Warwick. She has brought the infant Samuel to New York to have his adenoids cut out. Samuel made a devastating visit here this morning. He's getting as fat as a little pig, and when he walks he puffs like a worn-out automobile going up a steep grade. He came up my stairs on 'ow, and I'm sure they heard him on the avenue. I almost offered him a glass of gasoline. But he is a lamb," she added reflectively. "Oddly enough, Samuel, late of New York's tenements, was another of her favorites."

Laurie was following his own thoughts. Sonya was in town! Then, however complicated his problem, it was already as good as solved.

"My dinner will be up soon," suggested Louise. "Are you dining with me?"

He glanced at his watch, reproachfully shook his head at it, and rose.

"Three hours of me all you can have this time. But I'll probably drop around about dawn tomorrow."

"Nice boy!" Her hot hand caught his and held it. "Laurie, if—if I should send for you suddenly some time—you'd come and—stand by?"

All the gaiety was wiped from his face. His brilliant black eyes, oddly softened, looked into her haughty blue ones with sudden understanding.

"You bet I will! Any time, anything! You'll remember that? Send for me as if I were Bob. Perhaps you've forgotten it," he added, more lightly, "but I happen to be your younger brother."

For a moment her face twisted. The mask of her arrogance fell from it.

"Bob didn't know," she said. "If he had felt the least suspicion he wouldn't have gone so far, or for so long. I thought I had three or four months—"

Laurie bent and kissed her cheek. "I'm coming in every day," he said, and abruptly left the room.

In the lower hall he stopped to take in the full realization of what he had discovered. Louise, superb, arrogant, beautiful Louise, was really ill, desperately ill. A feeling of remorse mingled with his sense of shock. He had believed her a sort of nervous hypochondriac. He had so resented her excessive demands on Barbara that it was only since he had seen much of her in this last month that he had been able wholeheartedly to like and admire her.

As he stood silent, he became conscious of another presence—an august, impressive one, familiar in the past but yelled now, as it were, in a midst of human emotion. It was Jepson, the butler. He coughed humbly. "Excuse me, sir," he faltered. "But Mrs. Ordway hasn't quite so well lately, sir. 'Ave you observed that?"

Laurie nodded. "I noticed it today," he admitted.

"She's losin' strength very fast, sir. Half of us 'as seen it. Cook says she don't eat nothing. And Susanne and the nurse says it's 'ard work to get 'er from the bed to 'er chair—"

Laurie checked these revelations. "Has the doctor been here today?"

"Yessir, two of 'em 'ave been 'ere. Doctor Speyer comes hevery day. This morning he brought Doctor Hames again. Hit's very hupsetting, sir, with 'er brother away and all."

The man was genuinely anxious. Laurie tried to reassure him.

"She may be better in a day or two," he said, more buoyantly than he felt. "But I'll come in every day. And here's my telephone number. If anything goes wrong, call me up immediately. Leave a message if I'm not there."

"Yessir. Thank you, sir." Jepson was pathetically grateful and relieved. He had the English servant's characteristic need of sanction and authority.

When Laurie reached his rooms, he called Sonya on the telephone. Like Jepson, he was feeling rather overwhelmed by his responsibilities. It was a relief to hear Sonya's deep, colorful voice.

"Didn't know you were here till just now," he told her. "I'm coming to see you in the morning. I want to talk to you about a lot of things."

"Including Mrs. Ordway?" suggested Sonya.

"Yes." You saw her today. You noticed—"

"Of course. Samuel is to be operated on tomorrow. I'll send him back to Devon House with his mother in a few days, as soon as he can safely travel and I shall stay right here."

"That's splendid of you!"

"It's what Barbara and Mr. Warren would wish. And Mrs. Ordway, too. I think, though she would never suggest it."

"I'm sure it is."

Laurie hung up the receiver with a nervous hand. To a youth of twenty-four it is a somewhat overpowering experience to discover that destiny is especially busy over the affairs of two women for whom he has assumed a definite responsibility. As he turned from the instrument its bell again compelled his attention. He took up the receiver, and the voice of a girl came to his ear. A week or two ago he had rather liked that voice and its owner, a gay, irresponsible, good-hearted little creature who pranced in the front row of an uptown pony ballet. Now he listened to it with keen distaste.

"Hello, Laurie," it twittered. "Is that you? This is Billie. Listen. I gotta plan. A bunch of us is goin' out to Gedney to supper tonight. We're goin' to leave right after the show. Are you in?"

Laurie got rid of the fair Billie. He did it courteously but very firmly. A rather unusual degree of firmness was necessary, for Miss Billie was not used to having her invitations refused. She accepted the phenomenon with acute unwillingness and very lingeringly.

Bangs was not at home, to divert his chum's mind with his robust conversation. As he dressed for his call on Doris, the sharp contrasts of life struck Laurie with the peculiar force with which they hit the young and the inexperienced.

But were they really contrasts? On the one side were Louise, dying, and Doris, seemingly eager to die. On the other were Billie and her friends—foolish little butterflies, enjoying their brief hour in the secret garden of life, eternally chattering about "good times," playing they were happy, perhaps even thinking they were happy, but infinitely more tragic figures than Louise and Doris. Yet a week ago he had thought they amused him!

Pondering on these and other large problems, he absently removed the bloom from three fresh white ties.

At eight o'clock Laurie found Doris sitting under the shade of a reading lamp in her studio.

"I left them there for you to see," she remarked.

"Did the kind gentleman under the three balls give you all that?"

"He did. Count it."

Laurie frowned.

"Don't be so arrogant about your wealth. It's fleeting. Any copy-book will tell you so."

She opened a small drawer in the table, swept the bills into it, and casually closed it. Laurie stared.

"Are you going to leave it there? Just like that?"

She looked patient.

"Why not?"

"I begin to understand why you are sometimes financially cramped."

He took the bills, smoothed them out flat, rolled back the rug to the edge of the table, laid the money under it, and carefully replaced the rug. "That's the place to put it," he observed, with satisfaction. "No one connected with a studio ever lifts a rug. Bangs and I used to throw our money under the furniture, and pick it up as we needed it; but others sometimes reached it first. This way is better. How lovely you look!" he added. As he spoke he comfortably seated himself on the other side of the reading lamp, and moved the lamp to a point where it would not obstruct his view of her.

She did look lovely. She had put on an evening gown, very simply made, but rich in the Oriental coloring she loved. She was like Louise in that. Laurie thought swung to the latter's sick-room, and his brilliant young face grew somber. The girl lounging in the big chair observed the sudden change in his expression. She pushed a box of cigarettes toward him.

"Smoke if you like," she said, indifferently. "All my friends do."

He caught the phrase. Then she had friends!

"Including Herbert Ransome Shaw?" he asked, as he lit a match.

"Don't include him among my friends! But—he was here this afternoon."

"He was!" In his rising interest Laurie nearly let the match go out. "What did he want?"

"To warn me to have nothing to do with you."

"I like his infernal cheek!"

Laurie lit the cigarette and puffed at it savagely. Then, rising, he drew his chair forward and sat down facing her.

"See here," he said quietly, "you'd better tell me the whole story. I can't help you much if I'm kept in the dark. But if you'll let me into things—And before I forget it, I want to bring a friend of mine to call on you. She will be a tower of strength. She's a Russian, and one of the best women I know."

She listened with a slight smile.

"What's her name?"

"Miss Orleaneff, Sonya Orleaneff, a great pal of my sister's, and an all-round good sort. I'd like to bring her in tomorrow afternoon. Will 'ave be convenient?"

"No." She spoke now with the certainties of the morning. "In no circumstances," she added, decisively.

"But—why?"

He was dazed. If ever a knight errant worked under greater difficulties than these, Laurie told himself, he'd like to know the poor chap's name.

"I have no wish to meet Miss Orleaneff."

"But she's an ideal person for you, to know, experienced, sympathetic, and understanding. She did a lot for my sister last year. I must tell you all about that sometime. She could do more for you—"

"Mr. Devon!" The finality of her tone brought him up short. "We must understand each other."

"I should like nothing better." He, too, was suddenly formal.

"This morning you projected yourself into my life."

"Literally," he cordially agreed.

"I am grateful to you for what you did, and what you wish to do. But I will not meet any more strangers. I will not meet Miss Orleaneff, or any one else. Is that clear?"

"Oh, perfectly!" Laurie sighed. "Of course you're a crowned head." He mused aloud. "Had forgotten. Would you like my head on a charger, or anything like that?"

She studied him thoughtfully. "Almost from the first," she said,

"and except for an occasional minute or two, you have refused to be serious. That interests me. Why is it? Aren't you willing to realize that there are real troubles in the world, terrible troubles, that the bravest go down under?"

"Of course." He was serious now. He had begun to realize that fully. "It's my unfortunate manner, I suppose," he defended himself. "I've never taken anything seriously for very long. It's hard to form the habit, all of a sudden."

"You will have to take me seriously," he made a large gesture of acceptance.

"All right," he promised. "That brings us back to where we were. Tell me the truth. If there's anything in it that really menaces you, you'll find me serious enough."

Before answering, she rose and opened the studio door, on which he observed with approval, a strong new lock and an inside bolt had already been placed. He saw her peer up and down the hall. Then she closed and bolted the door, and returned to her chair. The precaution brought before him a mental vision of Herbert Ransome Shaw prowling about the dim corridor. He spoke incredulously.

"Are you really afraid of that chap?"

"I have good reason to be," she said quietly. She sat down in her chair again, rested her elbows on the table and her chin in her hands, in the pose already so familiar to him, and added quietly, "He is the source of all my present trouble."

She stopped and turned her head to listen.

"Do you hear anything moving in the hall?" she asked, almost in a whisper.

"No. Shall I look?"

She shook her head. "Don't unbolt the door."

"You're nervous. I'm sure there's nothing there. Please go on," he urged. "Our little friend Bertie—"

Seeing her expression, he stopped short. "Forgive me," he said, humbly. "But the plain truth is, it's awfully hard for me to take that fellow seriously. Oh, I know he's venomous," he conceded, "but I can't help feeling that he hasn't as much power over you as you think he has."

He realized that she was listening, but not to him.

"There is some one outside that door!" she whispered.

Laurie leaped to the door as noiselessly as a cat, unbolted it, and flung it open. The hall was empty. He had an instantaneous impression that something as silent as a moving shadow had vanished around the staircase at the far end, but when he reached the spot he saw nothing save the descending iron spirals of successive stairways. He returned to his companion, smiling reassuringly.

"It's our nerves," he said. "In a few minutes more I shall be worrying about Bertie, myself."

"Bolt the door again," she directed.

He obeyed. She went on as if there had been no interruption to their talk.

"It isn't what he is," she admitted. "He himself is nothing, as you say. It's what is back of him that frightens me! Why don't you smoke?" she interrupted herself to ask.

Laurie automatically selected and lit another cigarette.

"I know what's going to be back of Bertie pretty soon," he darkly predicted. "Whoever he is, and whatever he is doing, he's a big job coming to him, and it's coming fast."

He laid down the cigarette and turned to her with his most charming expression, a wonderfully sweet smile, half-shy, wholly boyish. Before this look, any one who loved Laurence Devon was helpless.

"Come," he said gently, "tell me the whole story. You know it's not curiosity that makes me ask. But how can I help you when I'm working in the dark?"

As she hesitated, his brilliant eyes, so softened now, continued to hold hers.

"And I want to help you," he added. "I want that privilege more than I want anything else in the world."

For a long moment she sat still, as if considering his words, her eyes on her hands, folded in her lap. The strange, deep flush he had noticed once before again, stained her face. At last she straightened up with a quick movement, throwing back her shoulders as if to take on again some burden they had almost cast off.

"I am sorry to seem so mysterious," she said, "and so unresponsive. I will tell you this much, and it is more than I ought to say. In the situation we are in, I am in his power, horribly so. He can crush me at any time he chooses."

"Then why doesn't he?"

The gentleness of her caller's voice softened the brusqueness of his words. "Because—" She stopped again. For the first time she had become embarrassed and self-conscious. She made her climax in a rush: "Lately he insists that he has fallen in love with me!"

Laurie uttered an ejaculation. It was not a pretty one, but it nicely fitted the emergency.

"He has hoped that to save myself, and others, I will marry him, the contemptible, crawling snake!"

The listener was impressed by her comparison. Certainly there was something oppidant about Shaw. He himself had noticed it.

"Then, for the time being, you're really safe?" he suggested.

"No. His patience is exhausted. He is beginning to realize that I'd rather die."

"The police can stop all this nonsense." But Laurie spoke without his customary authority.

(Continued on 4th Page)

CHAPTER VII

Griggs Gets an Order.

At eight o'clock Laurie found Doris sitting under the shade of a reading lamp in her studio, deep in the pages of a sophisticated French novel and radiating an almost oppressive atmosphere of well-being.

Subconsciously, he resented this. His mood was keyed to tragedy. But he returned, her half-conscious, half-mocking smile, with one as enigmatic, shook hands with grave formality, and surveyed with mild interest a modest heap of bank-notes of small denominations that lay on the table, catching the room's high lights. Following his glance, Doris nodded complacently.

"I left them there for you to see," she remarked.

"Did the kind gentleman under the three balls give you all that?"

"He did. Count it."

Laurie frowned.

"Don't be so arrogant about your wealth. It's fleeting. Any copy-book will tell you so."

She opened a small drawer in the table, swept the bills into it, and casually closed it. Laurie stared.

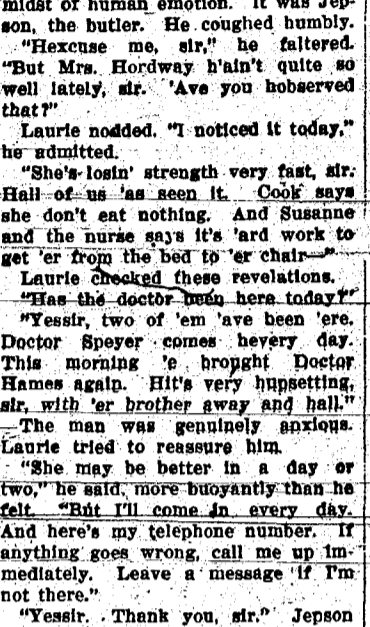

"Are you going to leave it there? Just like that?"

She looked patient.

"Why not?"

"I begin to understand why you are sometimes financially cramped."

He took the bills, smoothed them out flat, rolled back the rug to the edge of the table, laid the money under it, and carefully replaced the rug. "That's the place to put it," he observed, with satisfaction. "No one connected with a studio ever lifts a rug. Bangs and I used to throw our money under the furniture, and pick it up as we needed it; but others sometimes reached it first. This way is better. How lovely you look!" he added. As he spoke he comfortably seated himself on the other side of the reading lamp, and moved the lamp to a point where it would not obstruct his view of her.

At Eight o'Clock Laurie Found Doris Sitting Under the Shade of a Reading Lamp in Her Studio.

She did look lovely. She had put on an evening gown, very simply made, but rich in the Oriental coloring she loved. She was like Louise in that. Laurie thought swung to the latter's sick-room, and his brilliant young face grew somber. The girl lounging in the big chair observed the sudden change in his expression. She pushed a box of cigarettes toward him.

"Smoke if you like," she said, indifferently. "All my friends do."

He caught the phrase. Then she had friends!

"Including Herbert Ransome Shaw?" he asked, as he lit a match.

"Don't include him among my friends! But—he was here this afternoon."

"He was!" In his rising interest Laurie nearly let the match go out. "What did he want?"

"To warn me to have nothing to do with you."

"I like his infernal cheek!"

Laurie lit the cigarette and puffed at it savagely. Then, rising, he drew his chair forward and sat down facing her.

"See here," he said quietly, "you'd better tell me the whole story. I can't help you much if I'm kept in the dark. But if you'll let me into things—And before I forget it, I want to bring a friend of mine to call on you. She will be a tower of strength. She's a Russian, and one of the best women I know."

She listened with a slight smile.

"What's her name?"

"Miss Orleaneff, Sonya Orleaneff, a great pal of my sister's, and an all-round good sort. I'd like to bring her in tomorrow afternoon. Will 'ave be convenient?"

"No." She spoke now with the certainties of the morning. "In no circumstances," she added, decisively.

"But—why?"

He was dazed. If ever a knight errant worked under greater difficulties than these, Laurie told himself, he'd like to know the poor chap's name.

"I have no wish to meet Miss Orleaneff."

"But she's an ideal person for you, to know, experienced, sympathetic, and understanding. She did a lot for my sister last year. I must tell you all about that sometime. She could do more for you—"

"Mr. Devon!" The finality of her tone brought him up short. "We must understand each other."

"I should like nothing better." He, too, was suddenly formal.

"This morning you projected yourself into my life."

"Literally," he cordially agreed.

"I am grateful to you for what you did, and what you wish to do. But I will not meet any more strangers. I will not meet Miss Orleaneff, or any one else. Is that clear?"

"Oh, perfectly!" Laurie sighed. "Of course you're a crowned head." He mused aloud. "Had forgotten. Would you like my head on a charger, or anything like that?"

She studied him thoughtfully. "Almost from the first," she said,

"and except for an occasional minute or two, you have refused to be serious. That interests me. Why is it? Aren't you willing to realize that there are real troubles in the world, terrible troubles, that the bravest go down under?"

"Of course." He was serious now. He had begun to realize that fully. "It's my unfortunate manner, I suppose," he defended himself. "I've never taken anything seriously for very long. It's hard to form the habit, all of a sudden."

"You will have to take me seriously," he made a large gesture of acceptance.

"All right," he promised. "That brings us back to where we were. Tell me the truth. If there's anything in it that really menaces you, you'll find me serious enough."

Before answering, she rose and opened the studio door, on which he observed with approval, a strong new lock and an inside bolt had already been placed. He saw her peer up and down the hall. Then she closed and bolted the door, and returned to her chair. The precaution brought before him a mental vision of Herbert Ransome Shaw prowling about the dim corridor. He spoke incredulously.

"Are you really afraid of that chap?"

"I have good reason to be," she said quietly. She sat down in her chair again, rested her elbows on the table and her chin in her hands, in the pose already so familiar to him, and added quietly, "He is the source of all my present trouble."

She stopped and turned her head to listen.

"Do you hear anything moving in the hall?" she asked, almost in a whisper.

"No. Shall I look?"

She shook her head. "Don't unbolt the door."

"You're nervous. I'm sure there's nothing there. Please go on," he urged. "Our little friend Bertie—"

Seeing her expression, he stopped short. "Forgive me," he said, humbly. "But the plain truth is, it's awfully hard for me to take that fellow seriously. Oh, I know he's venomous," he conceded, "but I can't help feeling that he hasn't as much power over you as you think he has."

He realized that she was listening, but not to him.

"There is some one outside that door!" she whispered.

Laurie leaped to the door as noiselessly as a cat, unbolted it, and flung it open. He had an instantaneous impression that something as silent as a moving shadow had vanished around the staircase at the far end, but when he reached the spot he saw nothing save the descending iron spirals of successive stairways. He returned to his companion, smiling reassuringly.

"It's our nerves," he said. "In a few minutes more I shall be worrying about Bertie, myself."

"Bolt the door again," she directed.

He obeyed. She went on as if there had been no interruption to their talk.

"It isn't what he is," she admitted. "He himself is nothing, as you say. It's what is back of him that frightens me! Why don't you smoke?" she interrupted herself to ask.

Laurie automatically selected and lit another cigarette.

"I know what's going to be back of Bertie pretty soon," he darkly predicted. "Whoever he is, and whatever he is doing, he's a big job coming to him, and it's coming fast."

He laid down the cigarette and turned to her with his most charming expression, a wonderfully sweet smile, half-shy, wholly boyish. Before this look, any one who loved Laurence Devon was helpless.

"Come," he said gently, "tell me the whole story. You know it's not curiosity that makes me ask. But how can I help you when I'm working in the dark?"

As she hesitated, his brilliant eyes, so softened now, continued to hold hers.

"And I want to help you," he added. "I want that privilege more than I want anything else in the world."

For a long moment she sat still, as if considering his words, her eyes on her hands, folded in her lap. The strange, deep flush he had noticed once before again, stained her face. At last she straightened up with a quick movement, throwing back her shoulders as if to take on again some burden they had almost cast off.

"I am sorry to seem so mysterious," she said, "and so unresponsive. I will tell you this much, and it is more than I ought to say. In the situation we are in, I am in his power, horribly so. He can crush me at any time he chooses."

"Then why doesn't he?"

The gentleness of her caller's voice softened the brusqueness of his words. "Because—" She stopped again. For the first time she had become embarrassed and self-conscious. She made her climax in a rush: "Lately he insists that he has fallen in love with me!"

Laurie uttered an ejaculation. It was not a pretty one, but it nicely fitted the emergency.

"He has hoped that to save myself, and others, I will marry him, the contemptible, crawling snake!"

The listener was impressed by her comparison. Certainly there was something oppidant about Shaw. He himself had noticed it.

"Then, for the time being, you're really safe?" he suggested.

"No. His patience is exhausted. He is beginning to realize that I'd rather die."

"The police can stop all this nonsense." But Laurie spoke without his customary authority.

(Continued on 4th Page)

WONDERFUL HEALTH REPAYS WISE FORETHOUGHT.

Mrs. Wm. C. Fischer, 2009 Woodbourne Ave., Louisville, Ky., occasionally takes Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, which helped her, over a quite severe ailment. "Yes," she says, "I still take Foley Pills, diuretic, at times, whenever I feel I need them, and as a result my health is wonderful." Not surprising, for Foley Pills, diuretic, are a reliable, valuable, tonic medicine, constantly in use over 25 years, promoting that satisfactory cleansing flow so necessary to good health. Try them.—Hite's Drug Store, adv.

OUCH! Lumbago Pain! Rub Backache Away

Instant Relief with a small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

Kidneys cause Backache? No! They have no nerves, therefore can not cause pain. Listen! Your backache is caused by lumbago, sciatica or a strain, and the quickest relief is soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Rub it right on your painful back, and instantly the soreness, stiffness and lameness disappears. Don't stay crippled! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil" from your druggist and limber up. A moment after it is applied you'll wonder what became of the backache or lumbago pain.

• Rub old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" whenever you have sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism or sprains, as it is absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

"I left them there for you to see," she remarked.

"Did the kind gentleman under the three balls give you all that?"

"He did. Count it."

Laurie frowned.

"Don't be so arrogant about your wealth. It's fleeting. Any copy-book will tell you so."

She opened a small drawer in the table, swept the bills into it, and casually closed it. Laurie stared.

"Are you going to leave it there? Just like that?"

She looked patient.

"Why not?"

"I begin to understand why you are sometimes financially cramped."

He took the bills, smoothed them out flat, rolled back the rug to the edge of the table, laid the money under it, and carefully replaced the rug. "That's the place to put it," he observed, with satisfaction. "No one connected with a studio ever lifts a rug. Bangs and I used to throw our money under the furniture, and pick it up as we needed it; but others sometimes reached it first. This way is better. How lovely you look!" he added. As he spoke he comfortably seated himself on the other side of the reading lamp, and moved the lamp to a point where it would not obstruct his view of her.

At Eight o'Clock Laurie Found Doris Sitting Under the Shade of a Reading Lamp in Her Studio.

She did look lovely. She had put on an evening gown, very simply made, but rich in the Oriental coloring she loved. She was like Louise in that. Laurie thought swung to the latter's sick-room, and his brilliant young face grew somber. The girl lounging in the big chair observed the sudden change in his expression. She pushed a box of cigarettes toward him.

"Smoke if you like," she said, indifferently. "All my friends do."

He caught the phrase. Then she had friends!

"Including Herbert Ransome Shaw?" he asked, as he lit a match.

"Don't include him among my friends! But—he was here this afternoon."

"He was!" In his rising interest Laurie nearly let the match go out. "What did he want?"

"To warn me to have nothing to do with you."

"I like his infernal cheek!"

Laurie lit the cigarette and puffed at it savagely. Then, rising, he drew his chair forward and sat down facing her.

"See here," he said quietly, "you'd better tell me the whole story. I can't help you much if I'm kept in the dark. But if you'll let me into things—And before I forget it, I want to bring a friend of mine to call on you. She will be a tower of strength. She's a Russian, and one of the best women I know."

She listened with a slight smile.

"What's her name?"

"Miss Orleaneff, Sonya Orleaneff, a great pal of my sister's, and an all-round good sort. I'd like to bring her in tomorrow afternoon. Will 'ave be convenient?"

"No." She spoke now with the certainties of the morning. "In no circumstances," she added, decisively.

"But—why?"

He was dazed. If ever a knight errant worked under greater difficulties than these, Laurie told himself, he'd like to know the poor chap's name.

"I have no wish to meet Miss Orleaneff."

"But she's an ideal person for you, to know, experienced, sympathetic, and understanding. She did a lot for my sister last year. I must tell you all about that sometime. She could do more for you—"

"Mr. Devon!" The finality of her tone brought him up short. "We must understand each other."

"I should like nothing better." He, too, was suddenly formal.

"This morning you projected yourself into my life."

"Literally," he cordially agreed.

"I am grateful to you for what you did, and what you wish to do. But I will not meet any more strangers. I will not meet Miss Orleaneff, or any one else. Is that clear?"

"Oh, perfectly!" Laurie sighed. "Of course you're a crowned head." He mused aloud. "Had forgotten. Would you like my head on a charger, or anything like that?"

She studied him thoughtfully. "Almost from the first," she said,

"and except for an occasional minute or two, you have refused to be serious. That interests me. Why is it? Aren't you willing to realize that there are real troubles in the world, terrible troubles, that the bravest go down under?"

"Of course." He was serious now. He had begun to realize that fully. "It's my unfortunate manner, I suppose," he defended himself. "I've never taken anything seriously for very long. It's hard to form the habit, all of a sudden."

"You will have to take me seriously," he made a large gesture of acceptance.

"All right," he promised. "That brings us back to where we were. Tell me the truth. If there's anything in it that really menaces you, you'll find me serious enough."

Before answering, she rose and opened the studio door, on which he observed with approval, a strong new lock and an inside bolt had already been placed. He saw her peer up and down the hall. Then she closed and bolted the door, and returned to her chair. The precaution brought before him a mental vision of Herbert Ransome Shaw prowling about the dim corridor. He spoke incredulously.

"Are you really afraid of that chap?"

"I have good reason to be," she said quietly. She sat down in her chair again, rested her elbows on the table and her chin in her hands, in the pose already so familiar to him, and added quietly, "He is the source of all my present trouble."

She stopped and turned her head to listen.

"Do you hear anything moving in the hall?" she asked, almost in a whisper.

"No. Shall I look?"

She shook her head. "Don't unbolt the door."

"You're nervous. I'm sure there's nothing there. Please go on," he urged. "Our little friend Bertie—"

Seeing her expression, he stopped short. "Forgive me," he said, humbly. "But the plain truth is, it's awfully hard for me to take that fellow seriously. Oh, I know he's venomous," he conceded, "but I can't help feeling that he hasn't as much power over you as you think he has."

He realized that she was listening, but not to him.

"There is some one outside that door!" she whispered.

Laurie leaped to the door as noiselessly as a cat, unbolted it, and flung it open. He had an instantaneous impression that something as silent as a moving shadow had vanished around the staircase at the far end, but when he reached the spot he saw nothing save the descending iron spirals of successive stairways. He returned to his companion, smiling reassuringly.

"It's our nerves," he said. "In a few minutes more I shall be worrying about Bertie, myself."

"Bolt the door again," she directed.

He obeyed. She went on as if there had been no interruption to their talk.

"It isn't what he is," she admitted. "He himself is nothing, as you say. It's what is back of him that frightens me! Why don't you smoke?" she interrupted herself to ask.

Laurie automatically selected and lit another cigarette.

"I know what's going to be back of Bertie pretty soon," he darkly predicted. "Whoever he is, and whatever he is doing, he's a big job coming to him, and it's coming fast."

He laid down the cigarette and turned to her with his most charming expression, a wonderfully sweet smile, half-shy, wholly boyish. Before this look, any one who loved Laurence Devon was helpless.

"Come," he said gently, "tell me the whole story. You know it's not curiosity that makes me ask. But how can I help you when I'm working in the dark?"

As she hesitated, his brilliant eyes, so softened now, continued to hold hers.

"And I want to help you," he added. "I want that privilege more than I want anything else in the world."

For a long moment she sat still, as if considering his words, her eyes on her hands, folded in her lap. The strange, deep flush he had noticed once before again, stained her face. At last she straightened up with a quick movement, throwing back her shoulders as if to take on again some burden they had almost cast off.

"I am sorry to seem so mysterious," she said, "and so unresponsive. I will tell you this much, and it is more than I ought to say. In the situation we are in, I am in his power, horribly so. He can crush me at any time he chooses."

"Then why doesn't he?"

The gentleness of her caller's voice softened the brusqueness of his words. "Because—" She stopped again. For the first time she had become embarrassed and self-conscious. She made her climax in a rush: "Lately he insists that he has fallen in love with me!"

Laurie uttered an ejaculation. It was not a pretty one, but it nicely fitted the emergency.

"He has hoped that to save myself, and others, I will marry him, the contemptible, crawling snake!"

The listener was impressed by her comparison. Certainly there was something oppidant about Shaw. He himself had noticed it.

"Then, for the time being, you're really safe?" he suggested.

"No. His patience is exhausted. He is beginning to realize that I'd rather die."

"The police can stop all this nonsense." But Laurie spoke without his customary authority.

(Continued on 4th Page)

WONDERFUL HEALTH REPAYS WISE FORETHOUGHT.

Mrs. Wm. C. Fischer, 2009 Woodbourne Ave., Louisville, Ky., occasionally takes Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, which helped her, over a quite severe ailment. "Yes," she says, "I still take Foley Pills, diuretic, at times, whenever I feel I need them, and as a result my health is wonderful." Not surprising, for Foley Pills, diuretic, are a reliable, valuable, tonic medicine, constantly in use over 25 years, promoting that satisfactory cleansing flow so necessary to good health. Try them.—Hite's Drug Store, adv.

Hugh W. Dicken
Physician and Surgeon
East Jordan, Mich. Phone No. 128
Office Hours:
11:00 to 12:00 a. m.
2:00 to 4:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 p. m.

Dr. B. J. BEUKER
Physician and Surgeon
Office second floor Kimball Bldg., next to Peoples Bank.
Office Phone—158-J
Residence Phone—158-M
Office hours: 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.
7:00 to 8:00 p. m.

Dr. F. P. Ramsey
Physician and Surgeon.
Graduate of College of Physicians and Surgeons of the University of Illinois.
OFFICE E. J. LUMBER CO. BLOCK
East Jordan, Mich.
Phone No. 196.

Office Equipped With X-Ray
Dr. G. W. Bechtold
DENTIST
Office Hours: 8:00 to 12:00 a. m.
1:00 to 5:00 p. m.
Evenings by Appointment.
Office, Second Floor of Kimball Block.

Dr. C. H. Pray
Dentist
Office Hours:
8 to 12 a. m. 4 to 5 p. m.
And Evenings.
Phone No. 223.

L. R. HARDY
D. C. Ph. C.
Palmer Graduate
Chiropractor
OFFICE HOURS: Standard Time
DAILY—2:00 to 5:00 p. m.
7:00 to 8:00 p. m.
Phone No. 17
OVER HITE'S DRUG STORE.
Main St. East Jordan, Mich.

R. G. Watson
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
244 Phone 66
EAST JORDAN

W. H. FULLER & SON
Painters and Decorators
Phone 132
East Jordan, Mich.

Frank Phillips
Tonsorial Artist.
When in need of anything, in my line call in and see me.

C. E. Merchant
Watches, Clocks, and Jewellery
REPAIRING
Tousch's Shoe Store
State St. East Jordan

Buying at home has been repeated so often that some people think it is an old joke.

THE GIRL IN THE MIRROR

Continued From 3rd Page)

"Don't imagine that. The police know nothing about this matter, and they never will." A sudden thought struck her and she rose almost with a spring. He rose, too, staring at her in bewilderment. She caught his shoulders and held them tightly, in a grip wholly free from self-consciousness.

"If you warn the police," she said swiftly, "if you draw them into this, you will ruin everything. You will do me a harm that could never be undone. Give me your word that you won't. Please, please!"

She was almost shaking him now. Under the clasp of her hands on his shoulders Laurie paled a little, but his black eyes held hers steadily.

"Of course I promise," he said, slowly, "as you make such a point of it."

She removed her hands and stepped back. "Please go now."

"So soon? Why, I've only just come!"

"I know—but I'm tired."

There was no mistaking the sincerity of this. It was a poignant outcry. Clearly, she was at the breaking-point. He took both her hands.

"This whole experience gives me the oddest feeling," he told her gently. "In one way, I seem to be dreaming it. Under it all there's a conviction that I'm on the track of the mystery; that everything will be cleared up, for us both, in another minute or two. It's merely an instinct. I can't explain it. But one thing I know. Sooner or later—sooner, I hope—I shall be able to work it out for you."

She seemed suddenly to remember that he was holding her hands. Finishing, she gently withdrew them. Then she turned, and with a brusque gesture walked away from him.

"I'm sorry I got you into this," she cried.

"Don't worry about me." He smiled at her from the door he was holding open. "May I come and take you to lunch tomorrow?"

"Not tomorrow. The next day, perhaps."

"We've got to look for that job, you know."

"With all this?" She indicated with the toe of her slipper a significant spot on the rug.

Laurie regarded the slipper with approval. It was a beautiful slipper, on a charming foot. It so diverted his mind from the main issue of the conversation that he was in the elevator and half-way down to the ground floor before he recalled that issue. He was not disturbed. Doris had enough to go on with; and certainly he himself had sufficient scope for thought in the revelations she had just made.

As he walked down the outer steps of the studio building and emerged on the sidewalk, a figure detached itself from the shadow of a low iron fence and stealthily followed him. It was a short figure, overcoated out of recognition. It carried its hands in its pockets, and its head was thrust forward in a peculiar way. It kept a dozen feet behind him, until he reached the pretentious entrance of

As He Walked Down the Outer Steps of the Studio Building and Emerged on the Sidewalk a Figure Detached Itself From the Shadows.

RED PEPPER FOR RHEUMATIC PAIN

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the same Rowles on each package.

The apartment building where he dwelt.

Here, in the glaring light of two huge electric globes, conveniently held aloft for him by a pair of bronze warriors, Laurie turned suddenly, warned by the inner sense that tells us we are watched. The figure behind ducked modestly into the background, but not until he had recognized the round face and projecting eyes of Herbert Ransome Shaw.

Laurie checked a passionate impulse to hurl himself upon the lurking and unpleasant shape. Slowly but surely he was learning self-control. Martin, the elevator operator, and Griggs, the night hall man, were already bidding him good evening and regarding him with friendly and interested eyes. To see him suddenly fall upon and beat a shabby stranger would surprise and pain them, besides unpleasantly stirring up the neighborhood. A better opportunity would present itself, or could be made.

In the meantime, however, he must convey to Herbert Ransome Shaw some idea of the utter contempt in which he held him. Taking Griggs confidentially by the arm, Laurie pointed out the skulking shadow.

"See that?" he asked in ringing tones.

Griggs was a Goliath in proportions and deliberate in his movements. He took his time to discover the object young Devon indicated. In the shadow the object stirred restlessly.

"Yes sir," Griggs then said, uncertainly. "It's—it's a man, sir."

"Is it?" asked Laurie with interest, and still in loud, clear tones. "I'm afraid you're mistaken. But whatever it is, step on it!"

He entered the elevator after this crisp instruction, and was waited up to his rooms. The hall man moved hesitatingly down the building's three steps to the sidewalk. One never knew exactly what young Devon was getting at. Still, if he really wanted Griggs to step on anything—

Griggs stopped. A slight sensation of disappointment swept over him. He was a conscientious man who desired to do his duty. But there was absolutely nothing for him to step on, except the snow-covered and otherwise inoffensive pavement.

CHAPTER VIII

Samuel Plays a New Game

The next morning Laurie awoke from troubled dreams with a vague feeling that life was getting a rise out of him, a feeling that the absent morning greeting of Rodney Bangs did not help to dissipate.

Without realizing it, young Devon had rather sunned himself in the adulation of his chum. When this adulation was removed, he missed it; and for the present, at least, there was no question that adulation was lacking.

Not that Bangs failed in any of the outward forms of friendship, but his manner had changed. He was increasingly preoccupied. When Laurie spoke, Bangs had the effect of coming to him from a long distance, and even of having one foot extended, as it were, for the return journey.

The two young men breakfasted together, for the first time in several days; and over their coffee and cigarettes Laurie confided to his friend his new anxiety about Mrs. Ordway. Bangs at once became human. Indeed, he showed a degree of solicitude that surprised his friend. It was suddenly clear that Rodney was vastly interested in Louise. He had even ventured to call on her, though Laurie did not yet know this; for the first call was made, as it happened, on the afternoon of the day when the two young men had indulged in their first serious quarrel.

Bangs, usually the most modest and self-conscious of youths, had abruptly lost his shyness under the urge of a need to talk about his chum to some one who would understand. And Louise had understood, quite surprisingly. Recalling the long talk he and she had had, the help she had given him, the plans they had made, Rodney grew very serious.

"It's lucky Sonya's in town," he said, when this further fact had been revealed. "Let's go over to the hotel and see her right after breakfast. Perhaps we ought to cable to Warren. Sonya will know."

He spoke with such studied carelessness that Laurie flashed a sudden look at him. Under it Bangs flushed to the roots of his burnished pompadour.

"Well, well," murmured Laurie, "this is interesting! Odd I didn't notice it before."

Whatever "it" was, he gave his whole attention to it now. Leaning forward, he ostentatiously studied Bangs, with an expression at once indulgent and amazed.

"A flush on his cheek, too," he mused aloud.

"Shut up!" Bangs clenched his teeth, while the flush deepened.

"Easily irritated; respiration slightly irregular, all the familiar symptoms."

"For God's sake, Laurie, don't be an ass!" begged Bangs.

"All the familiar symptoms—of a heavy cold," murmured Laurie, sympathetically. "A hot bath and a dose of quinine might help at this stage. But if it gets worse—" Laurie reflected, anxiously shaking his head—"if it gets worse I'll send for Sonya." he finished brightly.

He rose, dodged the roll Rodney hurried at him, and straight out of the room, opening the door again to add an afterthought that suddenly occurred to him.

"Don't risk your life by going to the hotel, old man," he added, kindly. "Take your quinine, and I will call on Sonya."

"She'll tell us whether or not to cable for Warren," repeated Bangs, with great dignity.

But Sonya, when she came into her hotel sitting-room an hour later, did not immediately solve this problem. For the moment her mind was wholly on the infant Samuel, who was to have his adenoids cut out that morning, and who had been encouraged to look forward to the experience as a new delight. While they were expressing fitting interest, Samuel himself entered the room, alone, but with all the effect of a juvenile procession. By the left leg he dragged his most cherished possession, a battered and dim-featured rag doll. Hospitably greeting the two young men, he solemnly presented the doll to Bangs.

"What's this?" asked Rodney, with a friendly impulse to adapt his conversation to the young.

"Hullen," affirmed Samuel. "Hullen, R. J."

"What does that mean?" Bangs appealed to Sonya.

"It's the doll's name. He gave it to her himself," Hullen, I suppose, means Helen, and Mr. Warren's initials, you know, are R. J. Evidently Samuel liked the sound of them."

Samuel retrieved Hullen R. J.

"Hullen R. J. go home! wiv Sammy," he further announced.

"She will," corroborated Sonya. "He never stirs without her, and she sleeps in his bed every night."

Laurie turned a shocked gaze on Samuel, and Sonya laughed, then gulped.

"I'm horribly nervous this morning," she admitted. "I wish it were over. You see, a certain cherub isn't going to like matters at all after they really begin at the host's. And his mother will be more of a burden than a help."

Bangs had an inspiration.

"Suppose I go with you," he suggested. "Then if you need a strong man to hold the cherub—"

"Two strong men," corrected Laurie. "Do you imagine that I'm going to desert Samuel in his hour of need? Besides, I've got to keep an eye on Bangs," he added sweetly, and was rewarded by a glare from that overwrought young man.

"Noticed anything odd about Bangs lately?" Laurie asked Sonya. She turned on Rodney the dark gaze of her serene eyes.

"Why, no."

"You will," Laurie predicted, with a mournful shake of the head. "Watch him closely, and call on me if there are alarming symptoms that you don't understand."

Bangs rushed into confused speech. "He thinks I've got a cold," he gulped. "His nonsense, of course. Nothing in the world the matter with me. Er—how soon do we start?"

Laurie, helpless with laughter, rolled the ecstatic Samuel on the floor. Samuel's voice took on an added note of jubilation. Sonya, his mother, Hullen R. J., "Lawrie" and "Missus Bangs" all going with him to the host's—it was almost too much pleasure! Samuel became slightly intoxicated.

"He wants to sing," remarked Laurie, with masculine understanding of a fellow heart. "All right, old man," he encouraged. "How about that beautiful hymn I taught you at Bab's wedding?"

With considerable help Samuel recalled the ditty:

Hey, hey, we gangall here,
Whalhaloo we care,
Whalhaloo we care,
Now—wow—wow—WOW—WOW!

"Laurie!"

Sonya spoke with sudden austerity. "It's a relief from his mental strain," Laurie explained. "Any doctor will tell you that."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

The average man does not believe he is a criminal, even if he does fludge on a few of the laws of the land.

Many a bright football team has concluded by this time that the game is not what it is supposed to be, and that the best team always loses.

Used by People of Refinement—
Because Wrigley's, besides being a delightful confection, affords beneficial exercise to the teeth and clears them of food particles.
Also it aids digestion. After Every Meal

East Jordan City Water Works Inventory

East Jordan, Michigan, October 27, 1926.

To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the Common Council of the City of East Jordan, Michigan.

Gentlemen:—
Complying with your instructions and in accordance with Act No. 88 of the Public Acts of 1925 relative to the owning and operating of public utilities, I have installed for the City of East Jordan a uniform system of accounts for the water works utility. The water works inventory, based on present-year less various fixed depreciations reverting to 1920, is as follows:—

	Present Cost	Depreciation	Pres. Value
18 Wells	$ 5400.00	$ 648.00	$ 4752.00
10 in. Iron Pipe	5333.99	320.04	5013.95
8 in. Iron Pipe	2045.86	122.72	1923.14
6 in. Iron Pipe	10337.77	620.27	19717.50
4 in. Iron Pipe	4343.18	260.59	4082.59
2 in. Galvanized Pipe	1411.22	282.24	1128.98
1 in. Galvanized Pipe	31.42	26.28	25.14
1/2 in. Galv. Pipe	87.52	17.50	70.02
Hydrants	2782.00	278.20	2503.80
Valves	1092.92	90.26	912.66
Meters	2772.00	851.60	1940.40
Construction & Maintenance (Water Mains)	11978.90	2894.78	9579.12
Water Tank (Reservoir)	4000.00	480.00	3520.00
Pumping Station	2500.00	300.00	2200.00
34 H. P. Gas Engine (junk) (10 ton - $38.00 per ton)			80.00
Pump (8 1/2 - 10)	2400.00	432.00	1968.00
Pump (9 - 10)	2600.00	468.00	2132.00
35 H. P. Elec. Engine	450.00	90.00	360.00
Total			$61,908.80

Hereafter, the following depreciations should be allowed annually:—

Structures	2.21%
Pumps	3.15%
Galvanized pipe	4.02%
Cast Iron pipe	1.20%
Valves	2.41%
Hydrants	2.52%
Meters	6.28%
Maintenance & Construction	12.18%
Wells	2.68%

The present-cost figures as shown in the inventory have been computed by reliable and able men to whom I am grateful for services rendered. I wish to thank in particular the City Treasurer and the City Clerk for their hearty co-operation in my behalf.

Very truly yours,
W. NACHAZEL, Auditor.

Making Floats for Beauty Pageant

Great preparations are being made at Atlantic City, N. J., for the national bathing beauty pageant and contest in which "Miss America" for 1926 will be selected. The construction of some of the floats is shown in this picture.

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuritis Lumbago
Pain Neuralgia Toothache Rheumatism

DOES NOT AFFECT THE HEART

Safe Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.
Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets. Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.
Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticester of Salicylic

Children Cry for

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Charles H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere, recommend it.

A Foundation

Men who have won their place in the business world hold the saving account in highest esteem. Many of them claim that such an account is the foundation of their success. All of them agree that the habit of thrift is an essential of real success. By saving a portion of your income regularly, you are following in the foot-steps of men who have achieved.

Start a systematic savings account at this safe State Bank. Accumulate for your needs.

"The Bank With The Chime Clock."

Briefs of the Week

Mr. and Mrs. Sanger of Muskegon have located in our city.

Mrs. Pearl McHale was a Grand Rapids visitor last week.

Stamped House Dress for 79c at Eff an Dee Variety. adv.

Mrs. W. C. Dunson of Bellaire is visiting Mrs. George Jaquays.

Mrs. Roscoe Mackey was at Detroit first of the week to visit her son Robert Mackey.

Mrs. M. J. Kiley returned home last Saturday from a two weeks' visit at Chessaning.

Mrs. Rose Steffes of Flint was here first of the week visiting her brother, Jack Shier.

Mrs. Fred Richards returned home last week from a visit with her daughter at Chicago.

Mrs. E. J. Steffens returned to Leland, Tuesday, after a visit here with Miss Agnes Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Burney leave by auto this Friday for Flint, where they plan to spend the winter.

Mrs. C. G. Mills of New York City is here for a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. James Howard.

George Jaquays left Tuesday for Grand Rapids to serve as U. S. juror, Western District of Michigan.

Allan Keefe of Kalamazoo was here last week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Evans.

Baked Goods Sale given by the Ladies of the Church of God at Bartlett's Store, Saturday, Nov. 13.

The Presbyterian Ladies will hold their annual Bazaar and Cafeteria Supper at the Church on Dec. 8th, adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dudley, who have visited relatives at Lansing the past two weeks, returned home, Wednesday.

Special prices on Ladies' and Children's Coats for Friday and Saturday at the East Jordan Lumber Co. Store. adv.

We are showing 55 different shades in Boll-Proof Embroidery Floss. Just arrived. Eff an Dee Variety. adv.

Mrs. Henry Smith and son left Wednesday for Muskegon, where she will join her husband, who has employment there.

Have your eyes properly cared for by G. O. Searle, Optometrist, at Palmer's Jewelry Store, Friday, Nov. 12th, adv.

Rev. Roy L. Harris, pastor of the Church of God, with family, were at Flint last week attending a Ministerial Conference.

For Sale—Household Furniture, also Piano and Victrola. Will be sold very cheap. Inquire of A. Danto, East Jordan. adv.

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. Kate Bretz, Friday, Nov. 12th. Mrs. W. E. Malpass will assist in entertaining.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Stewart of Caulderwood, Mich., a daughter, Iris Edna—Oct. 26th. Mr. Stewart is son of Mrs. Josephine Stewart of this city.

Stamping free. If you have Hemstitching done. Ask at the Co. Store. adv.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fortune of Frankfort, Ind., were here recently for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sloan. Mr. Fortune is a brother of G. W. Fortune of this city.

Mrs. Kate Lemieux with son, Ed. Hosler and two children came home last week from Detroit. Mrs. Hosler is expected here next week. Mr. Hosler has been very ill at his home in Detroit, but since coming to East Jordan, his health is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Fortune, Mrs. A. E. Bean and Mrs. Margaret Ruddock of Ludington were here first of the week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fuller, and Mrs. Ruddock's sister, Mrs. Wm. Harrington.

A surprise and farewell party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. George Pringle at their home last Saturday evening. About twenty of their friends were present. The evening was spent in visiting and playing cards, after which a pot luck supper was served. They were presented with a thermos bottle. Mr. and Mrs. Pringle will leave first of next week for Flint, where they will spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Addison Stewart.

Pleating and Hemstitching. We take orders. Co. Store. adv.

R. G. Watson was a Chicago business visitor first of the week.

You can't always tell where you are traveling if you depend on road maps.

You can pay out your money a lot faster than you can collect what is due you.

Duncan McMillan is here from Detroit for a visit with former acquaintances.

You can now get Embroidery Rope in 24 different colors at the Eff an Dee Variety. adv.

A lot of folks took advantage of our bargains last week. See the Lumber Co.'s adv. this week.

G. O. Searle, Optometrist, will test eyes all day and evening at Palmer's Jewelry Store, Friday, Nov. 12. adv.

Mrs. Emil Noffert returned to her home at Detroit, Tuesday, after a week's visit at the home of her sister Mrs. A. K. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Kamradt with children and the former's sister, Miss Doris, left Wednesday for a visit with relatives in Southern Michigan.

A. K. Hill was a Lansing visitor latter part of last week, attending a meeting of the executive board of the Michigan Rural Letter Carrier's Ass'n, which met in that city, Saturday.

Water Plants, Shells and Ornaments for Fish Globes. Eff an Dee Variety. adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin McGowan and daughter, Miss Bernice, were here from Sparta, Mich., over the week end for a visit with Mrs. McGowan's mother, Mrs. Robert Webster, and to renew former acquaintances.

Fish Globes and Stands. 1 gal. and 2 gal. size. Eff an Dee Variety. adv.

The baseball season, being over, the winter leagues will proceed to win all the pennants before the race begins next spring.

A "Homey," Friendly Bank Under State Supervision.

Founded on Security. STATE BANK OF EAST JORDAN Built by Service.

AN EXTRA MEASURE OF SERVICE

At this bank we feel that our customers are entitled to more than the usual routine banking service.

For this reason, we are willing to go out of our way to render unusual service, whenever it is possible to do so.

If you do not maintain an account with us, we cordially invite you to open one today.

State Bank of East Jordan
"THE BANK ON THE CORNER"
"Strength and Ability Plus the Willingness to Serve."

Detroit—As the result of cranking his automobile while in gear, Henry Elsing, 47 years old was run over and instantly killed here recently. His daughter, Irene, 9 years old, was in the automobile.

Pontiac—James Battley, drain inspector for the county on the Royal Oak drain at Southfield and Thirteenth and One-half Mile roads, was instantly killed near here recently when a big crane fell on him.

Albion—Albion college, according to its president, Dr. John L. Seaton, now has on hand $300,000 in securities for the erection of a new campus building, but will not take steps toward putting up the structure until the increase in student body demands it.

Lansing—Reading about 5,000 letters a day to ascertain which of 18 divisions each should go has been the work for 30 years of Clayton W. Loring, in charge of the mailing division of the Michigan Department of State. Mr. Loring, now 80 years old, retired here recently.

Detroit—For the first time in the history of the event, the National Flower Show will be held in Detroit next spring. The show is held biennially. The show never has been held in Detroit before because of the tradition that this was not a city interested in such things.

Sturgis—David Lakay, 77 years old, for 40 years an ardent hunter, set out with his gun at the opening of the squirrel season but shortly after ended up with part of his hand shot off as the result of an attempt to pull his gun through a fence after he had climbed over it.

Houghton—Improvement in the copper mining industry in Houghton county is shown by the report of Mine Inspector Alfred James for the fiscal year ending September 30. A total of 7,784 men were employed by the mining companies during the year, an increase of 870 over the preceding year.

Owosso—The first hunting accident of the season in this vicinity happened here recently when Otto Wartenberg, 46 years old, of Flint, was shot by Douglas Blair, of this city, while the two were hunting pheasants eight miles south of Owosso. Wartenberg received the full charge of shot in the shoulder and face.

Detroit—Within a year, practically Detroit has become a city of hotels. In that space of time 31 hostleries either have been completed or are in course of construction. This activity has added more than 4,500 rooms to the city's accommodations and the buildings represent an aggregate investment of approximately $35,000,000.

Well, the weather is getting too cold for your uncle's b. v. d's.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Anyone trespassing in the Sid Hayden orchard, which is just north of Whiting Park, and fenced in, will be prosecuted.

ESTHER HAYDEN, Overseer.

NO OPIATES, NO CHLOROFORM, PREFERRED BY CAREFUL MOTHERS.

A mother soon learns to choose those simple, safe family remedies that she knows can be safely and wisely given the children. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has ever been the favorite cough medicine of careful mothers. It contains no chloroform, no opiates, and the list of ingredients is plainly printed on the package. Children like it and it checks chilly feverish colds, stops coughs, croup (spasmodic), bronchial coughs, whooping cough, and annoying night coughs. Mothers, accept only Foley's Honey and Tar, the safe reliable family cough medicine. Hite's Drug Store.

Presbyterian Church
C. W. Sidebotham, Pastor.
C. R. Harper, Foreign Pastor.

"A Church for Folks."
Sunday, November 7, 1926.
10:00 a. m.—Morning Worship.
Morning Sermon—"Christian Irreverence."
11:15 a. m.—Sunday School.
6:30 p. m.—Evening meeting. The young people have the first thirty minutes and the Pastor has charge of the remainder of the time.

The postponed party of the Young People will be held next Wednesday evening from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

First M. E. Church
Victor J. Hutton, Pastor.

Sunday, November 7, 1926.
Standard Time.
Services at High School Auditorium.
10:00 a. m.—Morning Service. Topic—"Heaven."
11:00 a. m.—Sunday School.
6:00 p. m.—Epworth League at the parsonage.
Choir practice and Prayer Meeting at the Parsonage, Thursday.
Dr. Randall, Dist. Supt. will hold Quarterly Conference on Tuesday, Nov. 16th.

Pilgrim Holiness Church
Rev. B. E. Manker, Pastor.

Fast Time
11:00 a. m.—Sunday School.
8:00 p. m.—General Service.
8:00 p. m., Friday night—Prayer Meeting.
The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Latter Day Saints Church
L. Dudley, Pastor.

9:00 a. m.—Sunday School.
10:10 a. m.—Social Service.
7:00 p. m.—Evening Service.
7:00 p. m., Wednesday, Prayer Meeting.
7:00 p. m., Thursday—Religio.
All are welcome to attend these services.

Church of God
Rev. Roy L. Harris, Pastor.

Central Standard Time
10:00 a. m.—Sunday School.
11:00 a. m.—Preaching Service.
8:00 p. m.—Young People Meet.
7:00 p. m.—Evening Service.
Mid-Week Prayer Meeting, Wednesday, at 7:00 p. m.

TEMPLE THEATRE

Program for week beginning Saturday, Nov. 6th.

SATURDAY - Nov. 6th.

HOOT GIBSON in popular novel
"Chip of the Flying U"
The only "HOOT" in his finest picture.
COMEDY—"Scandal Hunters"
Admission—10c and 25c

SUNDAY and MONDAY - Nov. 7-8

RAYMOND GRIFFITH in
"YOU'D BE SURPRISED"
The High Hat Comedy King as the Mystery-Solving Comic Coroner.
FOX NEWS PATHE COMEDY.
Admission—10c and 25c

TUESDAY, Nov. 9 - FAMILY NIGHT
2 for 1 with Merchant Tickets.

BEN LYON and ANNA Q. NILSSON in "ONE WAY STREET"
Chapter 1—"THE RADIO DETECTIVE"
Serial of adventure and mystery featuring Boy Scouts, starring Jack Daugherty.
Admission—10c and 25c

WED. THURS. FRI. - Nov. 10-11-12
NORMA SHEARER in her latest picture
"UPSTAGE"
NORMA SHEARER as an impish, mischievous Parisian mademoiselle in a story of a traveling vaudeville troupe.
—COMEDY—
Admission—10c and 25c

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fortune of Frankfort, Ind., were here recently for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sloan. Mr. Fortune is a brother of G. W. Fortune of this city.

Mrs. Kate Lemieux with son, Ed. Hosler and two children came home last week from Detroit. Mrs. Hosler is expected here next week. Mr. Hosler has been very ill at his home in Detroit, but since coming to East Jordan, his health is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Fortune, Mrs. A. E. Bean and Mrs. Margaret Ruddock of Ludington were here first of the week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fuller, and Mrs. Ruddock's sister, Mrs. Wm. Harrington.

A surprise and farewell party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. George Pringle at their home last Saturday evening. About twenty of their friends were present. The evening was spent in visiting and playing cards, after which a pot luck supper was served. They were presented with a thermos bottle. Mr. and Mrs. Pringle will leave first of next week for Flint, where they will spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Addison Stewart.

Pleating and Hemstitching. We take orders. Co. Store. adv.

Regular Communication of East Jordan Lodge No. 879, F. & A. M. next Tuesday evening, Nov. 9th, commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

EAST JORDAN LUMBER CO.

Combination Mantle Alarm Clock
REGULAR $6.00 VALUE
Ten Dollars in trade in any part of store during the next 35 days entitles you to one of the clocks at
ONLY $2.98
They Would Make a Very Neat Christmas Present.

Friday and Saturday Specials

GROCERY SPECIALS

A Four-pound package Seedless Raisins.....42c
Three packages Jelly Powder21c
Five pounds Yellow Corn Meal.....20c
Five pounds Stone Ground Graham.....25c
Five pounds Self-rising Pancake Flour.....30c

HARDWARE SPECIALS

7-inch File for.....9c 8-inch File for.....10c
A regular $2.50 value Enamel Roaster, self-basting, with tray.....For Only $1.00

DRY GOODS SPECIALS

36-inch Chally.....20c
Three-pound Comfort-size Batt.....$1.00—Hercules

MEN'S CLOTHING SPECIALS

1 Lot Men's Fancy Silk Socks, 75c grade47c
1 Lot Men's Heavy Part Wool Union Suits $2.50 quality.....$1.98

EAST JORDAN LUMBER CO.

EAGLE
MIKADO
The YELLOW PENCIL
with the RED BAND
EAGLE PENCIL CO. NEW YORK, U.S.A.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Colds Ended overnight

There's a way to end colds so quick and efficient that we paid $1,000,000 for it. That way is HILL'S. It stops colds in 24 hours, checks fever, opens the bowels, then tones the entire system. Millions employ it because it brings such prompt, complete results. Go try it now.

HILL'S Coughs, Croup, Quins, No sure you get HILL'S in the red box with portrait. At all druggists—30c.

What has become of the old man who used to get up early in the morning and work hard all through the day?

Many a woman urges her hubby to buy a new overcoat without being urged, in turn, to purchase a new cloak.

Going to church never makes a man a saint, but it will do more towards that goal than staying at home on Sundays.

PROBATE ORDER

STATE OF MICHIGAN, The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the city of Charlevoix in said County, on the 29th day of October A. D. 1926.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of John Cameron, Deceased.

John J. Mikula having filed in said court his petition, praying for license to sell the interest of said estate in certain real estate therein described.

It is Ordered, That the 26th day of November A. D. 1926 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, he and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition, and that all persons interested in said estate appear before said court, at said time and place, to show cause why a license to sell the interest of said estate in said real estate should not be granted.

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix County Herald a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

SERVETUS A. CORRELL, Judge of Probate

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage made and executed by Wellington Baker, a single man, of East Jordan, Michigan, to Fred Martin of East Jordan, Michigan, which said mortgage bears date the 19th day of September, 1925, and was recorded on the 25th day of September, 1925, in Liber 67 of Mortgages, on page 48, in the office of the Registrar of Deeds in and for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan; that said mortgage is past due and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage the sum of Six Hundred Eleven and 10-100 ($611.10) Dollars, at the date of this notice including principal interest and attorney fee; that no suit or proceedings at law or in equity have been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage and of the statute in such case made and provided NOTICE is hereby given that on Monday the 31st day of January, 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, standard time, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held) said Fred Martin will sell at public auction to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage and all legal costs.

The premises described in said mortgage are as follows:

"The South-east quarter (1/4) of the South-east quarter (1/4) of Section Twenty (20), Township Thirty-two (32) North, Range Seven (7) West, containing Forty (40) acres of land, more or less."

FRED MARTIN, Mortgagee. CLINK & WILLIAMS, Attorneys for Mortgagee, Business Address, East Jordan, Mich. (First publication Nov. 5th, 1926.)

GERMAN GUNS READY AGAIN, FRANCE SAYS

Interallied Commission Asserts Disarmament Pact Has Been Violated.

Paris.—The disarmament provisions of the treaty of Versailles are not being carried out by Germany, and the next conference of ambassadors will hear Marshal Foch of France, "who will have something to say on the subject," as well as a demand for some action from this body, according to information in Paris.

Foreign Minister Briand recently received Doctor von Hoersch, the German ambassador, but not until after the ambassador and other foreign office officials had been confronted with the latest report of the interallied control commission which shows:

First, that Germany, in defiance of the treaty, has constructed 63 well-prepared and carefully camouflaged gun emplacements facing the Polish frontier.

Secondly, that at Kuytyn, facing the Polish line, some miles beyond the old fortress built by Frederick the Great, the control commission discovered an extensive fortified position.

Thirdly, that the reich government's promise to disband secret military associations, especially those known as "Vikings" and "Leop Garons," has not been complied with.

As a result, so far from Franco-German relations becoming closer, there is every indication that they will become more strained.

Leading Paris newspapers treated the Briand-von Hoersch interview as an effort on the part of the ambassador to restore the Treaty negotiations upon some common ground, but the latest developments have led to some undisciplined comments from official sources here that, until Germany is ready to carry out faithfully disarmament in accordance with the treaty, there can be neither a Franco-German rapprochement nor a complete evacuation of the Rhineland.

Increase in Exports for Last Fiscal Year

Washington.—Though the United States has had to become a purveyor of manufactured goods to world trade rather than a source of raw materials and agricultural products, since the war, it has managed substantially to increase its exports. Dr. Julius Klein, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, pointed out in his annual report.

"The exports of finished and partly finished manufacture in the fiscal year 1925-26 reached the huge sum of $2,572,000,000," he said. "Finished manufactures show even greater growth than partly manufactured goods."

High quality and low cost of production in the quantity output of American goods was the cause assigned for the showing.

"The cumulation of these forces has increased our national efficiency to a degree which I hesitate to express statistically, lest we appear to exaggerate," he continued. "While we have increased our population 16 or 17 per cent in a dozen years, we have swelled the productivity of the nation by something like 80 or 85 per cent. This is why we are able to sell goods of high quality, produced under the highest test wages in the world, in competition with goods produced under lower standards of living. These methods are no secret; but they are rooted in social conceptions which not only promise greatly for the future in our standards of living at home, but provide the basic assurance of our continuing growth in foreign trade."

Texas Cotton Pool Is Approved by Bankers

Dallas, Texas.—With arrival here of Eugene Meyer, Jr., chairman of President Coolidge's special committee on cotton, a committee of the Texas Bankers' association adopted plans for the formation of a $5,000,000 finance corporation to hold 1,250,000 bales of cotton from the market for 18 months or until normal conditions are restored.

As in other states the local corporation is to receive ten times the value of its capitalization in credit from the federal intermediate credit bank.

Accidents to Workers Cost Nation Millions

Detroit, Mich.—Industrial and automobile accidents to workers cost the nation millions of dollars and result in 1,000,000 persons being "cast on the scrap heap as permanently disabled each year," Dr. Henry E. Mock of Chicago told the National Safety Council here.

Mexico to Buy in Germany
San Antonio, Texas.—Consul General Alejandro P. Carrillo announced that Mexico shortly will purchase arms and farm machinery as well as other goods from Germany, to the value of 1,800,000 pesos.

Red Cross Workers to Bahamas
West Palm Beach, Fla.—Relief workers of the National Red Cross, including two doctors, left here for Nassau in the Bahamas, to minister to storm sufferers.

"MOVIE" ACTOR AT 61

Count Ilya Tolstoy, who will impersonate his dead father, Count Leo Tolstoy, author of many novels, including "Resurrection," in the prologue to the film version of that story soon to be produced at Hollywood. The count will celebrate his sixty-first birthday this week.

COAL SHIPMENT IS LARGEST IN YEARS

Record Movement Is Handled Without Difficulty.

Washington.—Bituminous coal shipments are the largest this fall they have been at this time of year in the last five years, according to reports filed by the railroads with the car-service division of the American Railway association.

This heavy movement is being handled by the railroads without transportation difficulties, however, the railroads for the week ended October 16 having had a daily average of 16,468 surplus open-top cars in serviceable condition. A few local car shortages in isolated instances have been reported.

From September 1 to October 16 this year loading of bituminous coal totaled 1,423,135 cars, or 81,183,000 tons, an increase of 50,814 cars or 3,802,000 tons over the same period last year. For the week ended October 16 bituminous coal loadings amounted to 217,478 cars, or 12,973,000 tons, which exceeded the corresponding week in any previous five years.

From September 1 to October 16 this year loading of anthracite coal totaled 273,226 cars, or 14,987,000 tons. For the week ended October 16 it amounted to 41,087 cars, or 2,093,000 tons, the highest for the same week in any year since 1917.

Movement of coal by water to points on the Great Lakes has been especially heavy this year, bituminous coal dumped into vessels at Lake Erie ports totaling 24,270,937 tons from January 1 to October 16. Bituminous coal dumping this year exceeds the corresponding period last year by more than 2,090,000 tons.

Shipment by rail of anthracite coal to New England is now the greatest in six years.

European Dealer Invests in Coal From Illinois

Chicago.—For the first time in the history of the Illinois coal industry a continental European buyer has placed a substantial noncancelable order with a southern Illinois operator. It was a protest against the soaring prices on eastern coals for export at the Atlantic coastal points. The order calls for 65,000 tons of mine run at a reported price of $2.75 a ton for shipment via New Orleans over one of the finest docks in the world. The coal will carry a special freight rate of $2.50 a ton, applying on shipments for export or bunker. The regular rate from southern Illinois to New Orleans is $2.55.

To Fight Mail Bandits With Own Type of Guns

Washington.—Mail bandits are to be fought with their own type of weapon. Postmaster General New has purchased 250 Thompson machine guns for immediate delivery to the marines on guard at various mail centers and has ordered an additional supply. The gun is an improved model of the kind used by the Elizabeth (N. J.) bandits recently.

Government Offers Coal Leases

Washington.—The Interior department has authorized the sale of coal leases at public auction on three tracts in the states of Montana, Wyoming and Colorado.

Gets Record Potato Yield

Bloomsburg, Pa.—A new world's record for potato production is set by Ray Briggs of Nesquehanna township, who harvested 644 1/2 bushels from one acre. Briggs also held the former record of 637 1/4 bushels, harvested in 1924.

U. S. Supreme Court to Recess

Washington.—The United States Supreme court has announced a recess from November 1 to November 22.

AUCTION SALE!

The undersigned will sell at the Wm. Crosby farm located north of East Jordan and two miles north of the County Farm, near Three Bells School House, on WEDNESDAY, Nov. 10th

Commencing at 1:00 o'clock p. m., fast time, the following described property, to-wit:—

- | | |
|--|---|
| Jersey Cow 7 yrs. old, fresh about May 7. | Pair Bob Sleighs. |
| Jersey & Guernsey Cow 5 yrs. old fresh about April 20. | Double Section Spiked-tooth Drag. |
| Jersey & Guernsey Cow 4 yrs. old, fresh about April 23. | Five-shovel Corn Cultivator. |
| Jersey & Guernsey Cow 2 yrs. old, fresh about April 25. | Garden Drill and Cultivator. |
| Jersey and Guernsey Heifer, 1 yr. old, fresh about May 12. | Sickle and Tool Combination Grinder. |
| Jersey Cow, 11 yrs. old, Farrow. | Potato Scoop. 2 Potato Forks |
| About 40 Thoroughbred Wyandottes and Leghorns. | 3 Hay Forks. Crow Bar. |
| Black Mare, 13 yrs. old, weight about 900 | Several Mowing Scythes and Snathes. |
| Single Light Harness. | Post Hole Digger. 2 Heavy Tables. |
| About 15 Tons Loose Hay. | DeLaval Separator, No. 15. |
| Studebaker Wagon, 3 in. tire, nearly as good as new. | Sharples Separator. 2 Cream Cans. |
| Double Wagon Box, nearly good as new. | Two 20-Gal. Crocks. Several smaller Crocks. |
| Metal Wheel Truck Wagon. | Mission Dining Room Set, consisting of round extension Table, Buffet and 8 Chairs with genuine leather seats. |
| Top Buggy-Cutter. | 9 x 12 Rug, very good. Book Case. |
| | 2 Rockers. Library Table. |
| | Kitchen Cabinet. Quantity of Dishes. |
| | Pictures and Picture Frames. |

Terms of Sale Sums of $10.00 and under, cash; over $10, 1 year's time per cent interest, payable at the Peoples State Savings Bank, of East Jordan, Mich. Five per cent discount for cash on sums over $10. No property to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

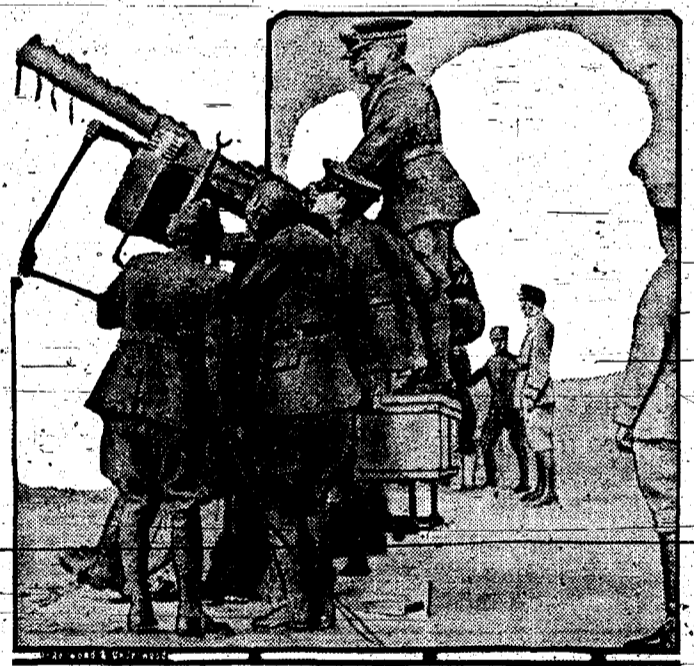

WM. CROSBY and JEAN C. LEHMANN, Propr's
BYERS & BOSS, Auctioneers W. G. CORNEIL, Clerk

Grid Captain Leads Men

Photograph shows Captain Wickhorst of the Navy eleven making a plunge during practice. The skipper of the Navy eleven is setting a good example for his men by working hard during the training period.

Firing a New Antiaircraft Gun

One of the interesting features of the Army Ordnance association's demonstration at the Aberdeen (Md.) proving ground was the firing of the new antiaircraft gun. Four 50-caliber machine guns in a multiple mount, with a single trigger control and capable of complete rotation and extreme angles elevation, makes a dangerous weapon against aircraft.

SUCH IS LIFE
By Charles Squires
A COAL DEALER

SO LONG, KID, IF YOU GOTTA GO IN THE HOUSE

GOODBYE, SHOOTIE - GLAD I MET YA

NOW, WHO IS THAT FRIEND OF YOURS? IS HE A NICE BOY?

ALL I KNOW IS, HIS NAME'S SHOOTIE AND HIS PAW IS IN THE COAL BUSINESS

I DON'T KNOW A COAL DEALER IN TOWN WITH A SON THAT AGE - ARE YOU SURE IT WAS THE COAL BUSINESS?

HEP! HIS PAW HAULS TH' ASHES

SECTION OF

Charlevoix County Herald

EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1926.

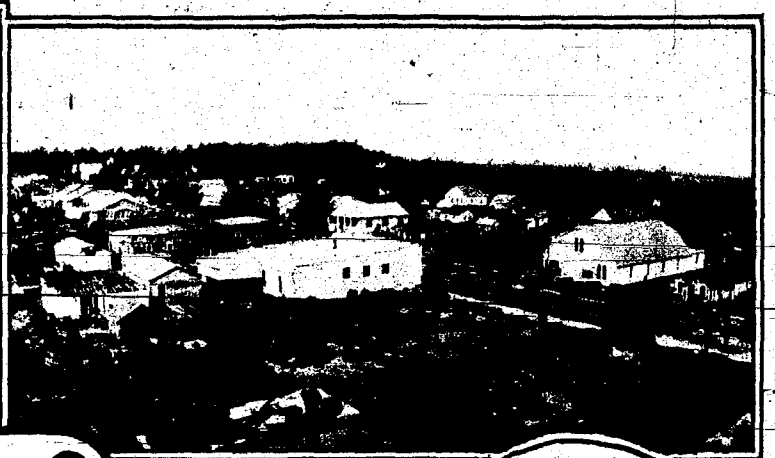

AMERICAN RED CROSS

Serves Humanity

A mid-western community demolished by a tornado. When disasters like this occur the American Red Cross, the nation's agency for relief, speeds to the scene.

A tornado swept town six months after the disaster. With the Red Cross as the agency of relief the people are in new homes, and community life is getting back to normal.

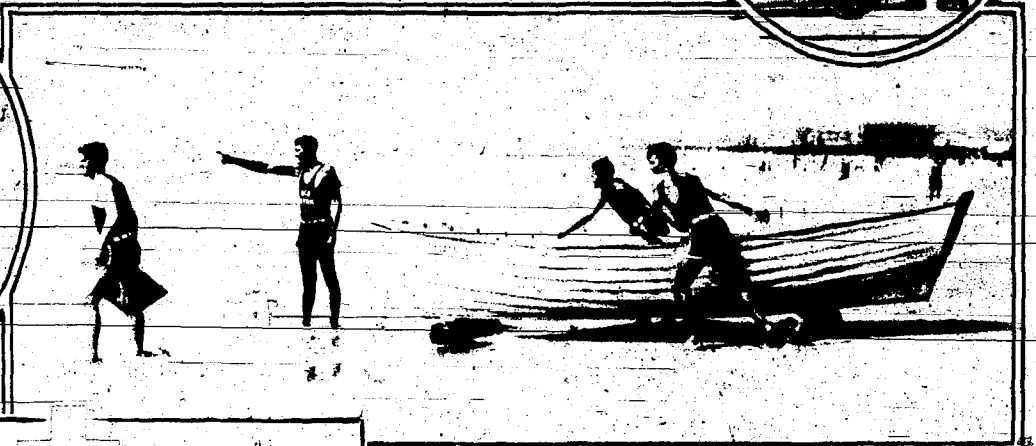

The American Red Cross in Action

A daily health conference for mothers and children conducted by an American Red Cross Chapter in one of the island territories.

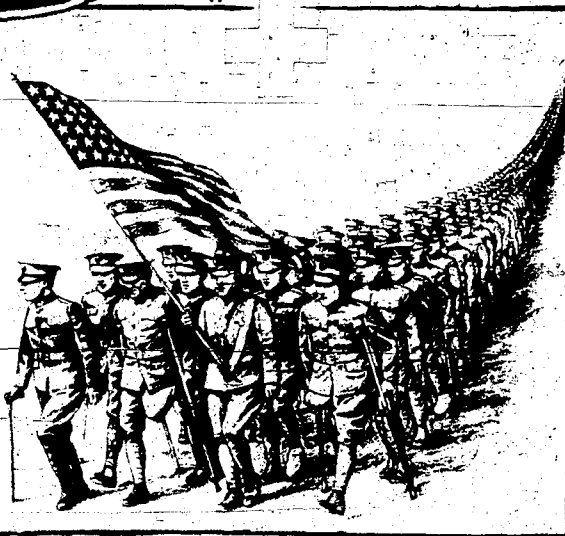

A class of girls learning the essentials of the proper care of a baby as part of their training in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick.

Members of an American Red Cross Life Saving Corps going to the rescue of a drowning bather.

A solemn Red Cross obligation — an army of 75,000 sick and disabled men eight years after the Armistice.

Police officers, trained in Red Cross First Aid, reviving by prone pressure method a man rescued from the harbor waters.

A Red Cross Nutritionist telling a class of children, all Junior Red Cross members, what food is best to keep them healthy.

A Red Cross Public Health Nurse advising a father what his children need to keep them sturdy. Grandfather is an interested listener.