Much Work On Tourist Park Accomplished

SEVERAL HUNDRED MEN AND BOYS WORK LIKE BEAVERS.

East Jordan Free From All Indebtedness.

All Bonded Indebtedness of Our City and School District Now Retired.

In response to Mayor Dicken's proclamation, setting aside Wednesday, April 27th, as a Civic Holiday, practically every place of business in East Jordan, as well as our Public Schools, were closed for that day, and every man and boy who could possibly do so, wended their way to the recently acquired site of a Tourist Park for East Jordan.

By eight o'clock a. m. a good-sized crowd of workers were present armed with proper implements, and within an hour or so between 300 and 500 men and boys were at work on the first big project of the day—that of digging a ditch for the water mains for a distance of some three blocks. Business and professional men, as well as workmen in every other line and school boys, all dug in with a hearty will and by noon the ditch was ready for the water-mains to be laid. As one observer put it—"more dirt was moved in a given time than he ever saw before."

Throughout the day, men with teams and scrapers were busy grading the premises. Others were occupied in cleaning up brush and logs and burning same. And an extension of electric light poles and wires were erected.

One of the larger projects for the day, was the placing on skids and moving the Boy Scout building at Monroe Creek to the new Tourist Park site. This was duly accomplished, although the work was rather strenuous.

A majority of those participating were working under the head of new business, and on Thursday there were many with lame backs and blistered hands—an attest to the willingness of our citizens to provide a suitable camping place for our tourist-friends, and incidentally save the tax-payers considerable money that would have had to be expended for hired labor.

CITY FREE OF DEBT

This day also marked an epoch in the history of the City of East Jordan and our School District. Both of these are now free from all bonded and other indebtedness. With the tendency throughout our country to go heavier into debt rather than retire present obligations, this is a remarkable achievement that we as a community may well feel proud of, and one which very few municipalities or school districts in Michigan can boast.

Fifth State Normal Bobs Up Again

Daily newspapers of Wednesday, contained the following item from activities in our State Legislature at Lansing:

Senator Calvin A. Campbell of Indian River introduced an appropriation bill for a fifth normal school to be constructed under the act of the 1925 legislature. His measure asks for $500,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, and $150,000 for the following fiscal year.

Lansing—The House has passed a bill creating a separate traffic court for Detroit, and sent the measure to the Senate. The act provides for one or more judges to have jurisdiction over all traffic felonies, misdemeanors or ordinance violations. The judge or judges are to be named by the council, and the council is to determine their compensation. The bill introduced by Robert D. Wardell of Detroit, is an enabling act lacking authority unless approved by the people at any general election.

Grand Rapids—Albert Stickle, Grand Rapids furniture manufacturer, has invited Governor Fred W. Green to offer to President Coolidge the use of his famous Upper Peninsula camp and lodge "Mesbak" near Stickle, for use as a "summer capitol." The camp is located in the heart of the virgin timber district in the upper peninsula, midway between Lakes Michigan and Superior, and stands in the center of a 50-acre clearing, 120 feet above Beaton Lake in Gogebic County. It is 11 miles west of Watersmeet.

A. R. Ostrander Civil War Veteran Passes Away

A. R. Ostrander passed away at the Charlevoix hospital, Tuesday morning, April 26th, where he had gone for treatment for dropsy. He has been ailing for some three years.

Alexander Robert Ostrander was among the few remaining Civil War veterans residing in East Jordan. Born in Canada April 8, 1846, he came to the United States when a boy, and at the age of 18 years, enlisted at Pontiac, Mich., April 22, 1864, serving as Private in Company E, First Regiment of Michigan Cavalry. He received his discharge March 10th 1866, and immediately re-enlisted in the U. S. Army, going West where he served as guard for stage coaches running between Omaha, Neb., and San Francisco, Calif. He received his discharge in 1868.

He was united in marriage in Canada to Mandy Melvina Warner. Three daughters survive by this marriage, viz.—Mrs. Leona Bates of Tennessee; Mrs. Louella Couch of Coshocuton, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Maddock of Toronto, Ont. The wife died, and on July 6th, 1881, he was married to Lucy Maria Ostrander at Waltham, Sanilac Co., Mich. Two sons and three daughters, together with the wife and mother survive, viz.—Casper L. Ostrander of Wallow Lake; McKinley Ostrander of Boyne City; Mrs. Mandy McCarnay, Mrs. Ada Knapp and Mrs. Chloe Conway, of Flint. He is also survived by two brothers—Andrew, of Canada; and George, of Zion City, Ill.

Following his second marriage, they went from Waltham, Mich., to Dixon, Tenn., residing there for a number of years. They located in East Jordan some sixteen years ago and have since made this city their home. Mr. Ostrander was a blacksmith by trade, and was a member of the G. A. R. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon from the Holiness Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. B. E. Manker. Interment will be at Sunset Hill.

H. S. Operetta Next Thursday

"Sylvia" Will Be This Year's Offering To The Public.

Judging by the attendance of High School operettas in the past it would seem only necessary to call the public's attention to the fact that the operetta "Sylvia" will be given by the High School Thursday evening, May 6th, at 7:30 standard. The price of admission will be 25c and 35c. The operetta is a very pretty pastoral comedy. It tells the story of a princess, who becoming tired of court life, wanted to change places with a rural maid that involved a change of sweethearts as well as costumes. They agree to try the new life for a day. The operetta itself will tell the pretty story better than it can be told here. We will leave the rest of the story to your imagination. Scarcely do the high school boys and girls fail to give you your money's worth in an operetta. This will also be Miss Dorothy Kelley's first experience in presenting an operetta to the East Jordan public.

The cast is as follows:—
Sylvia (Soprano) Bethrothed to DeLacey
Margaret Gunderson
Betty (Alto) Bethrothed to William
Margaret Bowen
Sir Bertram DeLacey (Tenor) The Court Poet
Howard Snyder
William (Bass) An honest farmer
Harold Clark
Prince Tobbytum (Baritone) A man of consequence
Howard Baker
Arabella—A lady in waiting at the court
Henrietta Severance
Araminta—Her sister
Louise Hipp.
Robin, A country lad, Geo. Secord
Molly
Isabel Lintner
Polly
Fredricka Shaw
Dolly
Margaret Sherman
Farmers' daughters, friends of Betty.

There will also be a chorus of farmer lads and farmer's daughters and also a large chorus of hay-makers. The piano accompaniment will be played by Viola Snyder.

First Nail-Making Machine
On December 28, 1810, was patented the first machine for making wrought iron nails. Seth Boyden of Foxboro, Mass., was the inventor. The invention was of great importance, because prior to this time nails were made by hand.

The Spirit of Spring

School Notes

HIGH SCHOOL ASSEMBLY
Miss Ruth Stokoe of Grand Rapids entertained the Assembly last week with a group of piano selections. She beautifully interpreted "The Song of the Lark" by Tchaikovsky; "The Old Refrain" by Kreisler; "Awakening of Spring" by Sindling, and "Fifth Nocturne" by Leybach.

Miss Stokoe is an instructor in mathematics in South High School, Grand Rapids. She and her sister, Miss Dorothy Stokoe, were guests of Miss Campbell last week.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE
With the opening of spring football practice there were among the veterans to report—Captain Barnette, "Buck" Weaver, LaPeer, Pray, St. Charles and Shepard. The reserve men who are looking for a regular job this year are Rosenthal, 168 pound guard, Lintner, and "Red" Muma. The loss of such men as Danforth, Amberg, Gleason, Whiteford and Carr will be keenly felt, although the successful season of last fall has brought out many new aspirants and the places left by these men look to be only a temporary vacancy.

Among the new men who have been working for a regular place are "Bob" Darbee, the speed demon, Blossie, Severance, Meredith, Holstad, Dennis, McKinnon, Peters and Baker.

The local high school pigskin chasers have been getting three regular workouts each week. At the end of the four week period of training there will be a regular schedule game between next year's prospects and the "has-beens" of the high school. This game will be played at the Fair Grounds, Friday afternoon, May 6. It should prove not only interesting to the high school students but also to the townspeople, so we are inviting all who wish, to be present.

TWO NEW TENNIS COURTS
The High School is building two fine new tennis courts adjoining the football field. There has been a long felt want in the school for tennis courts. It looks now as though the dream would be realized. Surely there are plenty of athletes for the boys but as a rule schools do not provide anything with the exception of a little basketball, for the girls. This will give them a chance to take part in a form of athletics that is considered valuable not only to the girls but to the boys as well. The school is being assisted by help from the city in the way of men and the necessary implements, such as scrapers, rollers, etc. Mayor Dicken is co-operating in this work. The courts will be finished with asphalt so that they will be easily kept up and ready to play on almost as soon as the rain is over.

The new tennis courts will make it possible to hold tennis tournaments in the very near future, possibly next spring, as Charlevoix, Petoskey, Boyne City and many other towns have had tennis courts for some time. These courts will be open to the public as well as to the High School students and will give a very pleasing and valuable pastime to anyone who considers his health important.

Saginaw—Whether the Saginaw Sand, which a few weeks ago was the source of a near-gusher, the first in the Saginaw oil field and which followed with a well that now is producing 800 barrels of oil every 24 hours, will prove a source of oil riches still remains an unanswered question. A well drilled midway between the Etalierde well that started with an initial production of 500 barrels daily, and the Labuda Well, that has been producing 300 barrels daily, proved to be a dry hole.

Soils-Fertilizer-Alfalfa Campaign in Charlevoix County

During the period of May 9-13 Specialist from the Michigan State College will be in Charlevoix County co-operating with the County Agent, Mr. Mellenkamp, in putting on an intensive Soils and Legume Campaign. The meetings in this campaign will be held in barns and will be informal discussions in which tried and proven methods in soil improvement and alfalfa growing will be emphasized.

Over 56 Counties have already conducted campaigns of a similar nature and all of them have resulted in a remarkable increase in profitable alfalfa growing, to the point that Michigan today, is the leading State east of the Mississippi River. The average acre of alfalfa in 1926, figured solely on its cash crop value, has been worth fully $25 more than an average acre of other hay. 15,000 acres of alfalfa, a very reasonable goal in a County like Charlevoix, would in a year such as 1926, add nearly one half million dollars to the agricultural income of the County.

The foundation of all successful agriculture lies in the fertility of her soils. Unfortunately our soils today are not as fertile as many years ago, due to continuous cropping and insufficient consideration to the matter of maintaining soil fertility. During this campaign, special emphasis will be placed on ways and means of improving the soil. The importance of lime will be discussed. Lime is used every year by many farmers, who have noted the wonderful results. It is far cheaper than other plant food to buy and here in Charlevoix County we have unlimited supplies available in the form of marl. No other County in the State has a higher quality of marl and few, if any, any larger quantities. The use of fertilizer will be discussed in detail, especially the amounts and analysis to be used for various crops.

These many subjects that will be considered in the big campaign are by far the most important that you as a farmer come in contact with and so plan on attending one of these meetings the week of May 9th. Schedule of meetings will appear in next week's issue, so please watch for same.

Co. Agr'l Agent.

Baldwin—Five hundred trout fishermen, meeting here recently, expressed to Leigh J. Young, director of the State Department of Conservation, their disapproval of last year's ban on the use of bait and spinners in the Perw Marquette and Pine Rivers with the result that the director announced he would recommend the department remove the restriction.

Lansing—The metropolitan district amendment enabling Detroit and neighboring towns to combine for construction of a jointly owned rapid transit system, sewage disposal plant and other utilities, was ratified by a majority of 10,000 out of a total vote of 300,000, according to official figures on the recent Spring election submitted to the State Board of canvassers.

Lansing—The Detroit House of Correction bill, amended by both House and Senate to provide that the state administration adjust claims, was returned to the governor, who planned to veto it as originally passed. With the amendments the bill is satisfactory to Green. It provides that the state pay for state prisoners in the Detroit institution.

The average politician can tell you who put the "oon" in contract.

Lansing—A bill banning the sale of all fireworks in Michigan has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate. Immediate effect was not attached, however, so that the act will not become operative until July 4, 1928.

Greenville—Mrs. William Wilson was burned while assisting in removing cattle from a barn on her husband's farm during a fire which did $10,000 damage. The fire spread to the farmhouse and barn on the Chambers farm nearby and destroyed both.

Pontiac—Twenty million fish, counted before they are hatched, will be released in Oakland county's lakes this spring, to restock the places where thousands of Detroiters enjoy fishing each season. The fish will be hatched at the Drayton Plains state fish hatchery, and include perch, blue gill, and bass.

Lansing—Sen. Seth Q. Pulver, has introduced a new amendment to the workmen's compensation act. It would provide that when the widow of a man killed in industry remarries, she no longer would receive compensation, but the compensation would be paid to her children until they became 20 years old.

Lansing—The House bill to double the privilege fee for all trucks, buses and other common carriers in Michigan is unconstitutional, Attorney General Potter held in an opinion requested by Representative William G. Walters, of Detroit. The bill exempts trucks used by farmers' organizations and dairies. Potter holds that the one is class legislation.

Live moderately and live long; see what happens in the world.

E. J. H. S. Band To Participate

Forty Michigan Bands Entered in State School Contest.

East Lansing, April 25th—Close to forty bands, from every section of the State, are entered in the Michigan State school band contest to be held here on May 17th, it is announced by Carl R. Kuhlmann, director of the Michigan State College Band, who is in charge of the arrangements for the musical event. The winning band will be eligible to the National School Band Contest which is to be held at Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 27 and 28.

Among the school bands entered in the contest to date with Mr. Kuhlmann are: South High Grand Rapids, Flint, North Branch, Lansing Central, Lansing Pattengill Junior High, Lansing Vocational, Eaton Rapids, Saginaw, Holly, Hesperia, East Jordan, Owosso, Niles, Marshall, Allegan, Highland Park, Port Huron, Redford, Grand Haven, Petoskey, Lincoln High, Ferndale, Lincoln Consolidated School, Ypsilanti, St. Joseph, Roosevelt High, Wyandotte, Greenville, Lawrence, City of Fordson, Paw Paw, St. John Convent, Jackson, Albion, Big Rapids, Bay City, Flint Junior High, Ellsworth, Lansing West Junior, Rockford and Muskegon. The band contest is intended to stimulate greater interest in music in the schools of the State and to raise the standards of performance, according to Mr. Kuhlmann. The value of music in the curriculum is becoming increasingly apparent and the band and orchestra contests offer the schools a splendid opportunity to see how they measure up in comparison with other schools. They give pupils the advantage of public appearance under suitable conditions, and those who excel are given the credit they deserve.

Twenty-five schools took part in last year's Michigan band contest, also held at East Lansing under the auspices of the Michigan Agricultural College. The winners were—Class A, South High School, Grand Rapids, first; Flint High School, second; Class B, Paw Paw High School, first; Lansing Vocational School, second; Class C, Flint Junior High School, first, and Redfern High School, second.

The National School Band Contest at Council Bluffs will be conducted under the joint auspices of the Committee on Instrumental Affairs of the Music Supervisors' National Conference, and the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music. ## Long-Row Garden Big Labor Saver

Greatly Increases Amount of Vegetables One Man Can Tend Properly.

One of the things that helps the American farmer produce half of the world's food supply with one-tenth of the world's man-power is the long-row vegetable garden, says B. L. Weaver of the olericulture division, college of agriculture, University of Illinois. "The chief item in vegetable production is man labor. Long rows spaced to allow the use of horse or tractor-drawn tools greatly increases the amount of vegetables that one man can tend properly. If sod strips are left at the ends of farm gardens, almost all hand labor may be eliminated. For the small, long-row garden the wheel hoe will greatly facilitate cultivation. Enthusiasm Lacking.

"Accustomed to out-of-door tasks, the farmer lacks the enthusiasm that his city brother manifests in gardening. The farmer is inclined to look upon the garden as a necessary evil, and often confines it to a poorly chosen site of inadequate area, and leaves the care of it to the wife. The value of a garden should give it the best site available and an area sufficient to supply the needs of the family throughout the season.

"In a Missouri experiment with a large and a small garden, over a three-year period, net yearly average returns were: for the large garden, one-fourth acre, $134.17; for the small garden, one-twentieth acre, $47.28. On the basis of man labor, these gardens paid $1.70 and $1.63 respectively for every hour spent in their care. In addition to its economic value, the garden furnishes a supply of healthful, nutritious food of the highest quality available for consumption.

Adequate Plan Essential.
 "The best results cannot be obtained without an adequate plan for the garden operations. Such a plan is given in Circular 278 of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. Approximate planting dates, the kinds and varieties to use, the amounts of seed required, and a detailed plan are given. By a little study, the plan may be adapted to gardens of varying size and shape.

"Variety selection, companion and succession cropping, good seed and good plants, soil fertility, cultivation and insect and disease control are all factors in the making of a productive long-row garden on the farm or the city lot. Neglect of one or more of the factors mentioned will decrease the productivity of the garden. A good site, a good season, plus a little study and work assures a garden that one can be proud of."

Ideal Outfit for Both Motoring and Flying

A red leather coat with a red and brown checked woolen skirt make up the outfit which May McAvoy, Warner Bros. star, wears for motoring and flying.

Destructive Avalanches
 Twenty-three years ago at Frank, Alberta, half a square mile of Turtle mountain broke off and came sliding down on the little town, sweeping away great forests as if they were mere handfuls of hay. Over much of the square mile of the township which was buried the chaos of rock lies 400 feet deep.

 Vitamins is a term proposed by C. Funk to include the peculiar health-giving and disease-preventing element in the rice grain. It is probable that other vitamins will be discovered by future investigations.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Brains Never Idle
 Contrary to the common belief, our brains are not entirely inactive when we sleep. If such were the case, sleep would mean death. Really our brains are never idle, for those portions of the human mind which control our breathing and our heart pulsations must necessarily always be functioning until death occurs. ### MAKING THE BEST OF LIFE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
 Dean of Men, University of Illinois

REED had always wanted to fly. As a little boy he watched the airplanes high up in the clouds as they came down from Chanute field, and he dreamed of the time when he should be sailing along like a bird and playing tricks in the air. He made miniature airplanes; he talked of nothing else, and once he went up in a plane and felt the sensation of the earth crawling away from him as he seemed to be standing still.

He visited the field whenever it was possible and he talked to the officers, and picked up a good deal of the technique of flying and the lingo that goes with every job or profession. When he was twenty he thought himself ready to join the flying corps, and he took the examination preliminary to enlistment. To his surprise and utter disappointment he was rejected. His eyes were faulty; his sense of equilibrium was inadequate; he could never fly. There were many other things open to him, but he could not see them. He seemed to have no powers of readjustment. He became melancholy and one morning his mother found him lying on the floor of his room with a bullet through his brain. He had planned on one thing and when that failed, there was nothing more in life for him so far as he could see.

The furtious have plenty of money and a more than comfortable house in which to live. They are not old as most people rate age, and yet they might as well be a hundred. She is rather frail and anemic and he has indigestion, and they sit at home and make the most of their physical irregularities. They could travel if they would, but they don't like sleeping cars, and it annoys Fulton to eat in a strange place. They never go anywhere at night for fear of catching cold or getting their feet wet or neglecting the cat or the furnace. They find nothing to interest them excepting their own physical frailties. There is much recreation and pleasure within their reach, but they have never learned to make the best of life, but magnify their ills, slight their opportunities for happiness, and complain because they are not like other people. They are blind to the fact that the world is full of a number of things and they in spite of their handicaps should be as happy as kings.

When Jane Griffith was approaching middle-age she knew that she had a painful and incurable disease. There was no hope, but she determined to make the best of life. She did not tell her friends; she did not complain; she simply went about as she had done before, getting out of life whatever joy there was in it. She traveled a little; she went out to social gatherings; she entertained her friends who hardly recognized the fact that she was growing pale and thinner as the years went on. Up to the week of her death she got the most of life that there was in it for herself and for her friends. She held that she would have been a coward not to have done so. POULTRY

THAWING FROZEN COMBS IS EASY

"Thaw frozen combs on poultry by applying snow or ice water," say poultrymen at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. "Carbolated grease, which may be purchased at most drug stores, will do the trick. A New Jersey agricultural bulletin suggests the following ointment: Five parts of refined petroleum, three parts of glycerin, and one part of turpentine by volume. This should be applied gently and rubbed in fairly well. Remove the black dead tissue from badly frozen combs, so that they will heal more quickly.

"At this time of year many flocks suffer from frozen combs. This trouble is particularly bad with roosters of the single-comb White Leghorn breed because their combs are so big. If a rooster's comb is badly frozen, it seriously affects his vigor and impairs his usefulness in the flock."

Poultrymen at the state college say that the best farmers in the state put their roosters in the breeding pens early in the winter and watch them carefully during the coldest weather so as to minimize the danger of freezing. The college recommends curtains in front of the roost on very cold nights in narry houses. This is not recommended in houses that are wider than 15 feet. Another suggestion is the use of wooden floats with 1-inch holes in them to be placed in the drinking vessels. This reduces the danger of freezing, as it keeps the birds from dipping their wattles in the water when they drink.

In exceptional cases, it may be well to grease the combs and wattles of especially valuable birds during cold weather. The pens should be kept well ventilated at all times.

Sprouted Oats for Hens Is Most Excellent Plan

There is nothing in the world that will make the old hens feel as much like spring is here as a box of sprouted oats every day, experienced poultrymen say. Sprouting oats is not necessarily expensive or a lot of bother. Equipment may be homemade. A tub or keg will do to soak the oats in. Five or six boxes about 4 inches deep will do for the trays. A room which ranges from 50 to 80 degrees in temperature all the time is satisfactory. Soak the oats 12 hours in the tub or keg. Drain them and put them in a box where they should be kept moist until the sprouts are about 1/2 inch long. Feed them at that time, which is usually about five days after they are put to soak. Five or six boxes will make it possible to start a box each day and weed one regularly.

Green Feed Is Perfect for Poultry in Winter

Many poultry raisers are now feeding mash to their hens, but a lack of palatable, succulent feed is too often the limiting factor in winter poultry rations. Sprouted oats are one of the finest forms of succulence. The Nebraska Agricultural college poultrymen offer the following suggestions: Good heavy oats with strong germinating power produce best results. Soak the oats for about 24 hours. Drain off excess moisture. Turn into lard tub or candy pail which has holes in bottom to allow excess moisture to drain off. Add moisture later if necessary. Keep in fairly even moderate temperature. Feed when the sprouts are one-half to one inch long ("greening" is unnecessary).

Ration for Goslings

A ration recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture for goslings up to eight weeks of age is equal parts by measure of bran, middlings and steamed cut clover or cooked vegetables. Feed morning, noon and night. If it is desirable to fatten them at this age or at ten weeks of age, they should be placed in the pen where they will not exercise too much, and fed corn meal mixed to a dry crumbly state, and beef scrap amounting to 20 per cent of the bulk of the corn meal.

Culling in the Spring

A little more-culling in the spring may take out a few hens that do not look as good as breeders and layers as they did last fall. Sometimes a few hens become too fat. Maybe one or two will be heavy and listless and fall to scratch for grain or come from the roost promptly in the morning. A little about the condition of a flock can be told by opening the house suddenly on a sunny day. Watch the good hens flock out and begin to enjoy the range.

Better Hatching Eggs

A new requirement which must be met before eggs will hatch well, even under the best care, is called to the attention of poultry raisers by the investigators at the Missouri College of Agriculture. This new requirement is that the eggs must be from hens that have been fed a ration containing certain vitamins. Though not fully understood, the vitamins are substances that have a very important effect on the animal that eats the foods.

The Y DAIRY

COTTONSEED MEAL GOOD DAIRY FEED

When a ton of cotton seed is exchanged for a ton of prime cottonseed meal and the meal converted into butterfat by feeding to dairy cattle, the feeding value of the meal is obtained free of charge.

"This may seem like a far-fetched statement at first glimpse," says John A. Arey, dairy extension specialist at the North Carolina State college, "but it's true, certainly, if the manure is handled properly. A ton of prime cottonseed meal has a fertilizing value of about $28. Only about one-fourth of this is lost when passing through the cow. The remaining three-fourths of the fertilizing material, with a value of $21, remains on the farm for soil enrichment. This amount is only $7 less than the original market value of the ton of cotton seed which was exchanged for the meal."

Mr. Arey states that as a source of cheap protein, the cottonseed meal leads all other feeds. The protein is furnished at three cents per unit when meal is secured at the exchange price of cotton seed. The seed are selling now for about $22 per ton. When protein is obtained from soy-bean meal, it will cost 4.8 cents per unit, as good soy-bean meal is selling for about $47 per ton. When the protein is obtained from wheat bran at $38 per ton, it will cost 12 cents per unit.

The cost of the total digestible nutrients in cottonseed meal is the lowest of all feeds, with corn next.

This shows, states Mr. Arey, that cottonseed meal is not only an economical feed but that it also contains large amounts of valuable fertilizing material which are obtained at a low cost when the meal is fed through cows. Yet, in spite of all this, thousands of tons of this, our most valuable feed, is being shipped to other states annually for cattle feeding and is enriching their soils at the expense of ours.

Good Winter Feeding of Dairy Cattle Pays Best

Underfeeding the stock, especially the dairy cow, is one of the most common mistakes made by Oklahoma farmers, A. D. Burke, dairy specialist of the Oklahoma A. and M. college, declares. "In cold weather a cow more than at any other time, needs a full supply of good feed, properly balanced, if she is to stay in condition and produce milk. It pays to take good care of the dairy cow in the winter, however, for many comparisons of summer and winter dairying show that the winter work makes the most profit.

Cows that freshen in the fall produce more milk and also more butterfat when the price is highest. However, cows cannot produce unless they are getting the proper feed and are being kept under good conditions. Burke quotes a list of the most common mistakes made in feeding dairy cattle. They run as follows:

1. Poor combination of feeds.
2. Underfeeding.
3. Insufficient protein.
4. Lack of water.
5. Lack of legume hay.
6. Sudden changes in feeding.
7. Poor housing.
8. Parasites and pests.
9. Insufficient salt.
10. Waste of water.
11. Poor equipment.
12. Overfeeding.

Buying Cull Dairy Cows Very Risky Proposition

Because there is a demand for good dairy cows, many culls are being sold to unsuspecting men. This situation has become so serious in Indiana that E. A. Gannon of the dairy extension department at Purdue warns all buyers to be on their guard, and advises them to buy their cows from clean, local herds when possible.

A recent investigation in Indiana showed that of several carloads sold only about two cows out of every twenty-six could be recommended as profitable producers. Out of one carload of heifers fifteen aborted and were eventually slaughtered. Many clean herds were thus infected with contagious abortion which will retard their progress for years. One man bought four cows brought in by a dealer. Three proved unprofitable and the fourth was slaughtered because of udder trouble. Most of the cows brought in are reported as undersized, in poor condition, and lacking in dairy type, constitution and breeding.

Organized effort among farm leaders resulted in an educational campaign in the local papers, and by other means available. Bankers refused to assist in financing such sales of cattle. Much benefit has resulted from the campaign.

Deficiency in Minerals

When the milk-secreting organs of the cow are stimulated through liberal feeding to produce a given quantity of milk the cow responds, and not being able to produce milk with less mineral matter than a certain normal minimum, there is only one thing for her to do and that is to draw upon the mineral matter in her own bones and put that into her milk. That is exactly what she does and the greater the capacity to produce milk, the more she draws upon her own bones.

THE COOLIE COAT
By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois

NORA wanted a Coolie coat, and in a moment of daring and generosity I had promised to buy her one the next time I was in New York. Why she should be possessed of this desire is not a vital part of the story—possibly because Nancy had one, or maybe because Jane's mother had picked up a striking-looking one for her when she was coming through Washington in the fall. We usually want what others have, and anyway she wanted one.

Least you be as ignorant as were some of the sales people with whom I had words on the subject, I may as well explain that a Coolie coat is a loose-fitting, highly colored Chinese garment, made in Fall River, possibly, and resembling in some respects a mandarin coat. It fits anybody and may be worn morning or evening, indoors or out, or, for that matter, in bed or on top. You see, its adaptability is wide.

I started down Thirty-second street from the hotel, stopping at the first respectable-looking store where negligees were displayed.

"Have you Coolie coats?" I inquired of a bobbed-haired attendant of about sixty years. She looked at me with a dumb unintelligent gaze.

"We have some very nice cashmere coats and fur coats marked low. What are Coolie coats?"

"You don't have them, I am sure, or you would know," I rejoined. "Thank you very much."

The next saleswoman tried to pain out on me some highly colored silk pajamas, but I knew better than that. What I wanted was a Coolie coat, and I would take no substitutes.

I moved on to another street number and propounded the same query. "Oh, no, we don't have anything like that," was the response with a strong emphasis on the last word, and with a look that signified volumes of criticism for asking such an imbecile question.

I found the coats at the next place but in stripes only—wide stripes like outing flannel. I wanted chrysanthemums or cherry blossoms, or moons rising behind low mountains. "I'm quite sure they're not made with flowers," the saleswoman urged, but I knew better. I'd seen Jane's. I moved on. I was determined to find a flowered Coolie coat if I explored New York from One Hundred and Sixteenth street to the Battery. I got all sorts of advice in my wanderings. I was offered all sorts of substitutes. I was all but persuaded that the thing I was after never had existed, but I was persistent.

"I know what you want," an intelligent salesman at last said to me. "but we don't carry it, but I'm sure you'll find it at Macy's, over two blocks and one block to your right, and I'm sure they have beautiful flowered ones."

They did, and marked down too, and within the price I wanted to pay. Nora was pleased and so was I, for I dislike being frustrated in anything I attempt.

The only moral of this story is that if you keep at a thing long enough, you can usually put it over.

The thing that puzzles us, as we read of the numerous automobile accidents is how prudent, careful and slow-driving folks always have the collisions.

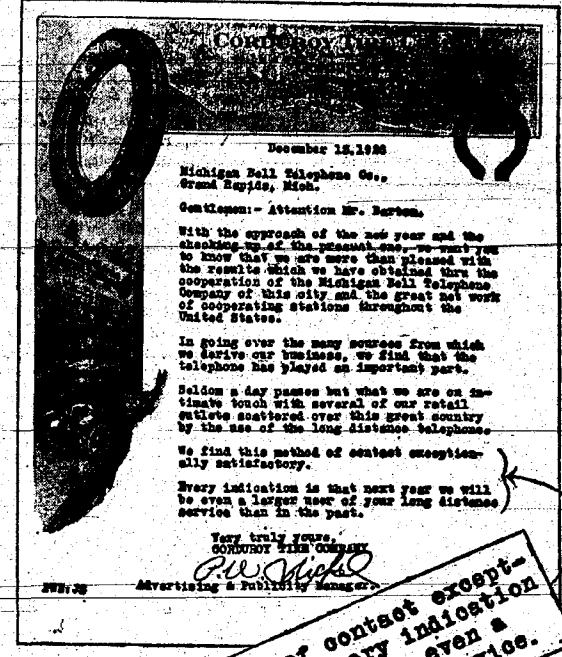

One hundred years ago the first matches were offered for sale in London. In two years only 250 boxes were sold. Nowadays it takes at least a box to every pipeful of tobacco.

Buying and Planting to Improve Highways

Roadside planting seems to be undergoing the discussion stage and that is well in a way because it demonstrates interest in the subject. Some states have regulated roadside planting by law and others have shown how trees or shrubbery might be set out and have warned that tall trees might cast enough shade on adjoining fields to hamper crop growth. As the matter stands now whatever might be done would be unofficial. The highway commission exercises authority over the right of way on all state roads and local authorities have jurisdiction on county and township highways. Officials of that body offer cooperation, but are not in a position to offer anything else. They have no funds that can be used for the purpose of buying trees or planting them. Roadside planting extends beyond the influence of any single community because it contemplates lining highways with trees from one city or town to another. This requires singleness of purpose on the part of various clubs, societies and interests. If the trees are to be set out those interested in the work may well get together shortly and discuss their plans so that some well-defined program can be outlined and followed. The expense should not be a bar. Many a club would be willing to be responsible for a specified strip of highway.—Indianapolis News.

Small Towns Lacking in Public Utilities

While 93 per cent of the small towns of America have public libraries, and while radios, automobiles, movies and other elements of enjoyment and education are almost universal, more than 40 per cent of the smaller towns are without public water, sewer systems and running water in the homes, said Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

This situation was revealed as the result of a survey recently completed under the direction of the federation, covering the urban population of the entire country and accounting for more than one-fourth of the urban homes.

The total number of towns, some of which have population as great as 10,000, which lacked all or some of the elements regarded as modern sanitary essentials, was more than 8,500. More than 4,000 towns with populations less than 5,000, said Mrs. Sherman, have no public water supply.

These towns, she said, contain more than a million homes, and the housewives in them must carry annually more than 20,000,000 tons of water from wells to the house.

Economy in Old Brick

In the construction of a house recently, a saving of $564 was effected by the use of old brick that had been acquired when an old building was razed. It was found that 18,000 bricks had gone into the house at a cost of $12 a thousand, whereas face brick would have cost about $33 a thousand. An additional saving was made in laying the old bricks, which did not have to be laid with the precision required in the laying of face brick.

Besides the monetary saving, the owners feel they have carried out better the characteristics of the type of house they were building, which was modeled on the old English cottage plan.

Planning Small House

The small house is typically American. Thousands are being built every year, many of them on the supposition that the art of small house architecture is independent of its material. Sense of proportion and the laws of structure are based in great part on the material employed.

The material, in turn, has an important bearing upon the design. Since lumber will continue to be the favorite material for small house construction, those who build small houses should be familiar with the best practices in planning and designing.

Know Your Child's School

Parents should visit schools for two reasons. First, to understand something of modern school methods. Second, to make the acquaintance of the teacher who is so very important in the child's life.

Much criticism of modern education is due to lack of information. Teaching methods change constantly and they usually change for the better, but some of us find it easier to criticize than to find out what is really going on.—Robert E. Simon in Children.

Slate Roofing in Colors

Slate roofings come in many colors, forms and sizes and are adapted to all architectural or structural requirements. They may be used on any type of roof—sloping or flat. They may be obtained in dull, bright, mottled or variegated colors, permanent or weathering, and in any thickness desired.

Never Important Citizen

The man who is actuated by selfish impulses only isn't of much value to a community.

Community Building

Small Towns Taking Pride in Appearance

According to the municipal experts of various kinds—the era of the small city and town is arriving. It is now seen that a city can actually grow bigger than is good for it, and some authorities are claiming that the great metropolis will in time arrive at the stage where it will be impossible physically to grow, in extent of territory at least.

There are perhaps many reasons why the smaller community is coming into its own.

The city or town with muddy streets is rarely found in this day of good roads and automobiles. Civic pride has grown in the smaller as well as the larger cities. Ramshackle buildings are being eliminated everywhere, and the smaller communities now have fine public buildings, including adequate schools and libraries, up-to-date hospitals, and so on. They are all coming to have fine parks, too, parks that would do credit to some of the largest cities of the country.

Yes, the era of the smaller city has arrived. Ours is one of them. It's one of the best places in America to live. Why not all pull together to make it even better? If it's good enough to raise our children in it's good enough to boost.—Rushville Republican.

Making Country Life Attractive to Youth

Now that good roads are becoming more common and traffic between cities and country districts has become easier, it has been suggested that money should be set aside by the legislatures so that traveling motion picture shows can frequently visit small places.

The suggestion has also been made that the state ought to organize various country clubs in which young people can meet and enjoy the amenities of social life.

Probably no other single agency is as likely to allure city people to country life as such an assembling of farm cattle and produce of the choicest kinds as was evident at the royal winter fair in Toronto.

Certainly nothing is more likely to stir up country people to the emulation which is a full step better than contentment with their lot, than the view the royal fair afforded of what judges of the highest reputation have decided were the best of their kind in fruits, vegetables, grains, swine, poultry, sheep, cattle and horses.

Half the time it is simply ignorance only dissipated by costly experience that keeps people off the land in, and sends others to, the cities.—Montreal Family Herald.

Small Town's Advantage

There is more than one privilege and pleasure about living in a small town. One of them is in going in your shirt sleeves; another is in sitting on the shady side of a business house in the summer time and the sunny side in the winter. If you want to speak to a friend three blocks away, you can yell and squall at him and you can carry on a loud, hollering conversation, you can always find a place to park; you can turn around in the middle of the block; you have a lot of friends, and when you are with one of them you can talk about all the balance; you can keep up with everybody else's business except your own, and many, many others, but they are too numerous to mention.—Gaffney Ledger.

Property Manager's Value

The Value of the Property Manager to the Community was the subject of a talk before the property management division of the Detroit Real Estate board by Carlton Schultz of Cleveland, chairman of the property management division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"The property manager," Mr. Schultz said, "through his knowledge of operating costs of any type of property, gives a service to the owner that in the end pays him a greater return on his investment than he can usually receive by personal management."

If all properties were placed under the control of competent management firms the public would find a more stabilized condition in rents."

Duty to Schools

Let us all remember our duty to the schools. The best teacher in the county needs the sympathetic co-operation of his patrons. The more co-operation the better will be the school, and the greater will be the opportunity for the boys and girls.—Shelby County (Ala.) Reporter.

Unnecessary Mortgages

A farm heavily infested with noxious weeds is already mortgaged, just as a poorly managed business in town is mortgaged. If salaried people spend more than they earn, their future is mortgaged. Avoid the mortgage, no matter what line you are in, or what walk of life you follow.—Aitchison Globe.

Paint Is Cleanliness

Cleanliness is the prerequisite in the work of making a healthful home and to accomplish this much use is made of paint.

Street Costume That Is Simple, but Very Smart

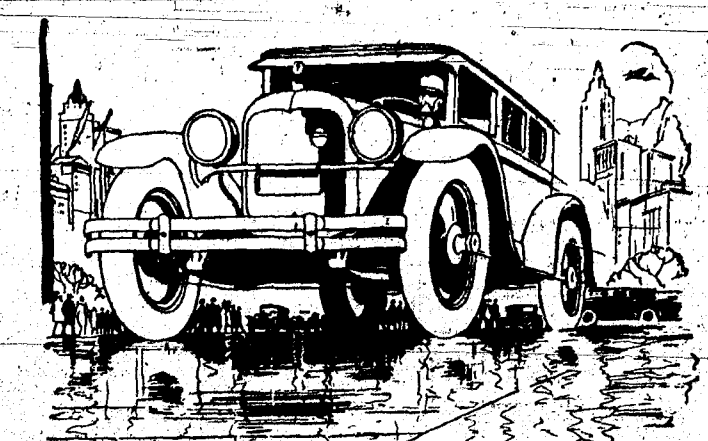

Conservatively simple, but very smart is this street costume worn by Dorothy Mackall, First National featured player. The belted coat is of dull green kasha, collared in platinum fox. With it is worn a modified beret of dull green silk embroidered in bright tones.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even if itchy, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

STOP, START, and STEER better!

JUST four small points of contact—four areas of only a few square inches each where tires and pavement meet—how all important they are to the safety and comfort of driver and riders alike!

Did you ever think that you cannot stop, start, or steer your car without perfect contact of tires and pavement? Portland Cement concrete pavement affords the best surface for rubber tire contact.

Your city needs more concrete streets.

All persons are forbidden to haul used lumber, containing nails, through the streets or alleys of the City of East Jordan.

Harry Hartz—America's Champion Race Driver says of the Studebaker Commander:

"Based on my experience driving my personal Studebaker Commander and in making the recent record run at Culver City Speedway with a Studebaker Commander strictly stock model, it is my opinion that it will maintain any given speed, up to sixty-five miles per hour, longer, more smoothly, and at less expense per hour traveled, for gasoline, oil and repairs, than any other stock automobile now being built in the United States."

IN a sensational test made at Culver City, California, under the auspices of the American Automobile Association, The Commander, a strictly stock enclosed car, ran 5,000 miles in 4,509 minutes, total elapsed time—better than mile-a-minute speed for 81 consecutive hours and 49 minutes—the fastest speed for the farthest distance ever attained by any stock car!

Repairs Negligible
This is equivalent in stress and strain to 25,000 miles of ordinary driving. Yet in establishing this and nine intervening world records, the only replacements and repairs necessary on The Commander were three grease cups (damaged by hasty greasing), one spark plug, and one tire change.
Harry Hartz had bought a Commander Victoria for his personal car prior to his participation in the establishment of ten new world records. So there is real knowledge back of his statement that The Studebaker Commander will "maintain any given speed up to sixty-five miles per hour, longer, more smoothly and at less expense per hour traveled for gasoline, oil, and repairs than any other stock automobile now being built in the United States."

Drive Commander Yourself
To know the real thrill of Studebaker Big Six performance, its flashing speed, giant power, and finger-tip ease of handling, you must drive a Commander yourself. Only with your own hands on the wheel, your own foot on the throttle, can you fully appreciate why the Studebaker Big Six now far out-sells the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower—why we say and how we prove that The Commander will out-perform and out-live any other car, six or eight, selling for less than $2500.
An exact duplicate of the champion Commander is waiting for you at our showroom. See it—drive it—today.

Commander Models and their One-Price Prices: Sedan $1585; Victoria $1575 (with Broadcloth upholstery $1645); Coupe $1545 (with rumble seat $1645). Prices f. o. b. factory, including front and rear bumpers, snubbers and $100 worth of extra equipment. Other Studebaker and Erskine models range in price from $945 to $2245.

Dizziness and Height

The dizziness experienced when looking down from great heights may have a dual explanation. Either the fear of falling disrupts the proper working of the mind, upon which our sense of balance depends, or else our eyes, accustomed to looking at the ground at close range, are unable to immediately focus themselves on the ground, and we feel a resultant insecurity.

Lansing—Agitation not only for lifting of the speed limit of 35 miles an hour on the highways of the state but the establishment of a minimum rate to hurry traffic along, appears to be growing in the legislature. Several members are understood to be preparing amendments along these lines to be tacked to the general highway code, when that is opened up for discussion by amendatory action with respect to gasoline and weight taxes.

Lansing—Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. properties used for profit are exempt from taxation under a bill passed unanimously by the House and sent to Governor Green for approval. State Tax Commissioner George Lord, some time ago held that "Y" property was subject to tax where used for hotel or restaurant purposes. The bill passed specifically exempts these properties, making the law sufficiently clear to permit of only one interpretation.

in Brief

Lansing—The House has passed the Senate "Smell Warrant Bill" which has been sent to Governor Green. The measure permits officers to swear out search warrants in prohibition cases on the strength of what their noses tell them.

Detroit—Two Detroit airmen, Major Thomas G. Lanphier and Lieutenant George R. Pond, will participate in the American attempt to make the first non-stop flight from New York to Paris this year in competition for the $25,000 Orteig prize.

Ann Arbor—An appropriation of $4,925,000 covering the school years of 1928 and 1929 is requested of the legislature in a bulletin issued by the board of regents of the University of Michigan through its president, Dr. Clarence Cook Little.

Kalamazoo—Lightning did its first toll of the spring season here when a bolt crashed through the roof of the home of Herman Daniells, firing the residence and stunning members of the family. Daniells revived in time to send in a fire alarm and the home was saved.

Bay City—The body of 10-year-old Irene Berry was found the following morning in a field at Pinconning where she had been herding cattle the night before. The child's neck was broken and officials who investigated expressed the opinion she had been trampled by the cattle.

Pontiac—Oakland county officers are investigating the death of Benjamin H. Grimes, Pontiac Township resident, who died suddenly after eating a part of a root from his garden. Grimes was seized with a violent illness soon after eating the root and died in an hour, according to members of his family.

Marshall—The Wittmer Oil & Gas Properties of Pittsburgh, Pa., filed with Register of Deeds Eddy 177 leases of farms in Bedford, Convis and Pennfield townships. Each lease runs for 15 years. The leases give the company the right to set equipment on the land to drill for gas and oil within two years.

Muskegon—Confirmation of recent report that "Old Ironsides," historic frigate now being reconditioned in an eastern navy yard, would visit Muskegon and other lake ports, has been received here from Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. The vessel will be exhibited at many ports on the scheduled journey to Chicago.

Lansing—The whipping post bill for bank bandits and burglars has been approved by the Senate. The punishment, however, was adopted in milder form than passed in the House a few weeks ago. Instead of 10 lashes every six months, the Senate approved six lashes not oftener than six months and left it up to the discretion of the judge.

Almont—The Almont school board will propose at the next election the flotation of a $100,000 bond issue for a new high school building to take the place of the 45-year-old structure burned by an incendiary as a sequel to a row which split the village into two warring factions. In the meantime the 90 or so students of the high school will attend classes in the town hall. All school equipment was destroyed.

Grand Rapids—Confessions made by Earl Childs, 29 years old, former truck driver, have paved the way for action by the state to prosecute those who officers charge participated in the plot which led to the $350,000 Macataw Park summer resort fire. Childs said he poured oil upon a pile of mattresses which were then fired with a slow wick. Childs also made the statement that James L. Eckert, a former restaurant owner here, had engaged him to set the fire.

Owosso—Missing and believed dead for 23 years, Harry Van Broeklin, 38 years old, is back here visiting relatives. He disappeared in 1904, and during his travels throughout the western half of North America, failed to communicate with relatives. Repeated efforts were made to find him and during the war draft records were searched but without avail. Van Broeklin said he left because he "wanted to see the world" and came back "because he got lonesome."

Bad Axe—A $100,000 storm of cyclonic proportions swept across four Huron County townships recently, demolishing barns and killing cattle, in a path a dozen miles long and from two to three miles in width. Orchards were uprooted and barns unroofed and twisted into heaps of boards and timbers, burying live stock in the ruins. A 12-year-old Paris township schoolboy, was lifted a dozen feet in the air, carried 30 or forty feet and dropped in a plowed field. No human lives were lost.

Lansing—Appropriation of $400,000 for the construction of a new psychopathic hospital at Ann Arbor has been approved unanimously by the House. The bill, offered by Representative Richard W. McLain, of Quincy, would grant $200,000 annually for the next two years for the purpose. The house passed the measure with a tax clause, in spite of the fact that Governor Green has asked that the tax clauses be stricken from all measures except those "absolutely necessary."

Why Balls Bounce

Balls, whether solid or hollow, bounce because of their elasticity. That is, when they are pressed out of shape they tend to force themselves back to their original shape. This rebound gives the ball enough energy to bounce on the floor, or object struck. The rebound becomes less each time and the bouncing ceases.
