Turn On The Water

VISIT THE HOME CONVENIENCE TRUCK, AUG. 13-19.

Ask any woman what she wants first in improving an unhandy house and she will say "running water and a drain in the kitchen."

A septic tank is so arranged on the truck that everyone can see the actual work done by the tank. A glass front has been erected in the construction which gives a detailed view of the interior arrangement and how it operates.

Women in Charlevoix County will have an opportunity to see two model kitchens on the Home Convenience Truck when it stops at the following places:

1st—Horton's Bay, next to the store at 2:00 p. m. fast time on Thursday, Aug. 18th.

2nd—W. K. Straw, 2 miles south of Charlevoix at 9:30 a. m. fast time on Friday, Aug. 19th.

3rd—Dan Swanson, 4 miles north of East Jordan on Charlevoix road at 2:00 p. m., fast time on Friday, Aug. 19th.

No room is of more pride to a good housekeeper than her kitchen when it is both convenient to work in and pleasing to look at.

How to make a handy work shop from a badly arranged room is the problem that is the despair of many a housewife. Floors that are not injured by the grease, water and dust of daily traffic over them, and are yet pleasing to look at and comfortable to stand on, are an important beginning toward the ideal kitchen.

How shall we finish the walls so they are easy to clean and yet add to the beauty of the kitchen?

The correct placing of a cupboard, the re-location of the stove or the making of a new window for light in a dark corner will many times turn a dreary room into a pleasant one which architect has figured that in preparatory steps for the housekeeper. An ing 1085 meals a year; a woman will travel 200 miles, if the distance from the range to the dining room is 25 ft.

Lectures explaining the water system and cost of installing, how to lay linoleum, and suitable wall finishes for the kitchen will be given by the home economics and agricultural engineering specialists who will accompany the truck.

Don't forget to mark the dates on the calendar now and see the traveling kitchen at your nearest stop.

Lansing—Twelve state police officers have been detailed to aid the public utilities commission to enforce the laws relative to the operation of motor vehicle busses, and common carrier trucks. Violations have become so numerous that the utility force of inspectors is unable to cope with the situation. The most frequent violations are disregard of village and city ordinances, excessive speed, failure to stop at railroad crossings, and contempt for road courtesies.

Lapeer—William Sharpe, father of nine children, was instantly killed when 50 pounds of dynamite exploded. Ripley White, owner of a farm near Lapeer, hired Sharpe, a neighbor, to blast a narrow strip of land separating two artificial lakes on his farm. Sharpe fitted caps to the dynamite, put in a rowboat and started across one of the lakes. He was out in the middle when a terrific explosion was heard. White on investigating found nothing but fragments of the boat floating on the lake.

Greenville—Two thousand persons paid tribute at a picnic recently to the Rev. Ole Amble, of Gowen, 80-year-old Lutheran minister, who is preparing to retire after 55 years' continuous service in the churches of this district. The minister told his well wishers he had performed 303 marriage ceremonies, of which only 15 ended in the divorce courts. His records show he has christened 2,650 children and confirmed 1,500. Mr. Amble at present is pastor of five rural churches in Montcalm county.

Lansing—The state board of equalization meets formally to fix valuations for the state August 15. If recommendations are approved then, Wayne next year will pay more than half of the total state tax. The exact percentage will be 51.01. The present percentage being paid by Wayne county is 47.66. The increase would amount approximately to $800,626,000. Only two other counties in the state are asked to pay an increased share of the total state tax. They are Oakland and Macomb, Wayne's neighbors.

Most telegrams could be replaced with letters except for the fact that the sender thinks he is in a hurry.

Pomona Grange Will Meet With Wilson

Pomona Grange will meet with Wilson Grange this Saturday, August 13. It is hoped that a large crowd will be present, as an interesting program is being prepared.

Eugene Kurchinski, leader of the Boyne City Band, is going to have several numbers by a part of the band.

Arthur Secord and B. C. Mellenkamp are going to debate on the McNary-Hangen Bill.

Several monologues and recitations are being prepared.

Mrs. Dora Stockman, State Grange Lecturer, plans to be with us. She always has something worthwhile to give.

It is also hoped that Miss Jennie Tuell, Continuing Education Specialist of M. S. C., can be persuaded to stop on her way from the U. P.

It is possible that Miss May L. Stewart, ex-County School Comm'r., will be present.

Let's make this meeting a record meeting in attendance and helpfulness.

Benton L. Caukins Dies Suddenly

Benton L. Caukins passed away very suddenly at his home in Jordan Township last Saturday morning, Aug. 6th, aged 77 years. He had been at his work, surveying, on Friday and retired that evening in seemingly usual health. He was found dead in bed the following morning.

Deceased was born in Kent Co., Michigan, Oct. 24, 1849, and has been a resident of this region for nearly half a century. Some 40 years ago he taught school in Jordan, and for several years past has been County Surveyor of Antrim County.

On April 16th, 1884 he was united in marriage to Miss Ida M. Tower at Oakfield, Kent County. He is survived by the wife and two daughters—Mrs. Frances Rosewig of Saginaw, and Miss Prudy Caukins at home.

Funeral services were held from the Rockery schoolhouse, Monday, conducted by Rev. Sidebotham of the Presbyterian Church of East Jordan. Interment at Elmwood cemetery near there.

Few people get mad with a newspaper for making a funny mistake with somebody else's name.

Lansing—Back payments to counties for road maintenance are to be made at once, according to the State Highway Department. Frank D. Fitzgerald, business manager of the department, said $712,000 is to be paid for non-trunk line maintenance for the years 1924 and 1925 and $321,000 for trunk line maintenance during 1925 and 1926. The 1926 non-trunk line costs will be met next year.

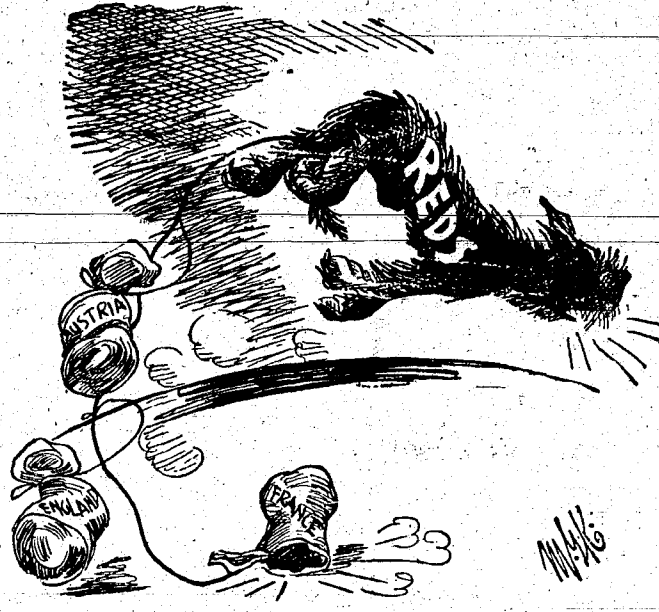

Ann Arbor—Work of building the Michigan Intra-Mural field house on Ferry field has commenced. Engineers have started boring test holes to determine water levels, foundation needs, and locating the outside limits of the building. Excavation work starts immediately. Michigan ground keepers have also started laying a protecting cover over the running track, double planking it all the way along the length of the new building.

Luther—Gerald, 12-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hutchinson, of Luther, accidentally blew his head off with a shotgun. The father is working in Detroit and Mrs. Hutchinson, with Gerald, Donald, 10, and a baby of two years, are here. The four were in the yard when Gerald left and went into the house alone. The mother heard the shot and rushed in to find the child dead. It is thought he took the gun to play with and it was accidentally discharged.

Lansing—Because of an unusual number of fatal accidents the State Highway Department has taken steps to remove hazards on the roads. It was announced by G. C. Dillman, deputy highway commissioner. The practice of operating scrapers and trucks along the left side of the road was prohibited and orders were issued to eliminate bad turns, narrow culverts and dangerous bridges. Dillman estimated there are about 150 such places on the trunk lines.

Benton Harbor—The $4,000,000 advertising campaign to stimulate the consumption of American apples in the United States, will start by January, John W. Gorby, of Chicago, in charge of the campaign, announced here at the close of the midsummer orchard tour of the Michigan State Horticultural Society. The executive committee of the horticultural society has decided to shift the 1927 convention from Grand Rapids to Benton Harbor. It will be held Dec. 6 to 8.

Dog Days

Peddlers by Airplane

The first aerial peddler has been licensed by the United States government. He is probably the fore-runner of many others who in future years will land in East Jordan to sell goods.

Under the doctrine of inter-state commerce no small town or city can charge peddlers a license. The man who knocks at your front door to sell you goods that will be sent by mail for cash is protected by the United States government. He does nothing to assist in the growth or development of East Jordan. The air peddler will accentuate this.

The commercial growth of a community depends largely upon the extent of the stocks kept by its merchants. People do not come to a town to buy what the merchants do not sell. No merchant can enlarge his stocks until there is a demand for the goods. Merchandise bought from peddlers fails to create any demand.

Every local citizen should buy everything at home that is possible. Dollars sent away by money orders, or checks, seldom get back to home circulation. The carpenter who buys his tools by mail seldom thinks that a better business for the hardware merchant might mean more building activity. Every man and woman, working for a living in East Jordan, depends upon the money kept at home for pay day prosperity.

Appreciated Northern Michigan

The following line was recently received by Sherman Conway from his brother, George, of Fairmont, W. Va., who visited East Jordan recently: "We really didn't begin to appreciate the beauty of Michigan until we were well on our way home, then we missed everyone and everything very much. Mayme cried to turn back and mother cried, but would not say why. I think she wanted to turn back too, but was homesick."

Almost every sweet young thing looks good on the beach.

You can get your name in print by many methods but one sure way is to send in a check for five years subscription in advance.

Modern parents complaining about modern youth would have less cause to worry if they had filled the young minds with something worthwhile.

Kenyon Appreciates School Band Work

Mackinac Island, Aug. 6, 1927. Dr. C. H. Pray, East Jordan, Michigan.

Dear Doctor:— I wish to express to you, Mr. Ter-Wee, the High School Band, and the people of East Jordan, my appreciation of the Band coming to Mackinac Island during the Governor's Conference.

The boys performed an excellent service, in the music they rendered, their personal appearance, and their conduct while here.

Many words of praise came to me complimenting the band in every way. I was proud to proclaim them as coming "From My Home Town" of East Jordan.

The support of this organization is most worthy of the cost, and I hope it will always be kept up.

Again thanking you, I am Most sincerely, FRANK KENYON.

Uncle George Has a Queer Coincidence

A queer coincidence happened this morning. I have a business transaction to perform today which may possibly be unpleasant, and as I was thinking it over how to proceed and what to say, I picked up my little book 'Daily Strength for Daily Needs' which I have been reading for about 45 years. I turned to August 1st and there read as follows:

"Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry; for anger resteth in the bosom of fools." Eccles. vii. 29.

"Let not the sun go down upon thee when thou art offended; or annoyed by others, suffer thy thoughts to dwell thereon, or on anything relating to them. For example, 'that they ought not so to have treated thee; who they are, or whom they think themselves to be; or the like; for all this is fuel and kindling of wrath, anger and hatred.'" L. Scupoll.

"Struggle diligent against your impatience, and strive to be amiable and gentle, in season and out of season, towards everyone, however much they may vex and annoy you, and be sure God will bless your efforts." Francis De Sales.

While the business end of the transaction was not all that it should have been, the interview was sufficient to show me that the morning lesson was well filled with good, "as has been those of preceding years."

To be able to possess my soul with patience on occasions of this kind is accomplishing much.

You will observe that I have said nothing about concrete roads this time. Well, it is not necessary for there is not a man, woman or child in Charlevoix County who does not know that they are the best and the cheapest in the long run and also that they should be built, but there is still another road which everyone is traveling, to which little or no attention is being paid until they run up against a snag or something as I have.

This lesson does not belong to any church or creed. It is only a common sense every day business proposition. None are so good that they can afford to turn it down and none so bad who would not be made better for reading it even if only momentarily.

The Bible tells us that the Kingdom of Heaven is within you—and every good you do is a taste of it.

Sincerely yours, Uncle George Van Pelt.

Kalamazoo—William Vanderbrook, 80 years old, was killed when he fell into a coal chute at a laundry where he was employed and a ton of coal dropped on him.

Marshall—Lawrence Kirk, 23 years old, of Jackson, Michigan Central brakeman, fell from the cab of a locomotive of a freight train on the Air-line division at Homer recently and was instantly killed.

Lansing—The State Supreme Court has denied the petition of Hersey for an injunction to prevent the moving of the county seat of Osceola County to Reed City. The voters recently favored the change. Hersey said the ballot boxes were not sealed in certain townships. The court held the election was valid.

Pigeon—This town, with Gov. Fred W. Green as a guest, dedicated the first fire truck Pigeon has ever had recently. The new truck, which will be manned by the volunteer firemen, has a capacity of 400 gallons per minute and is a combination chemical and water machine. A pageant, with sport events and a long program of entertainment, marked the exercises. Green gave an address.

Scouting For The Barberry

FEDERAL FIELD MEN WORKING IN CHARLEVOIX AND ANTRIM COUNTIES.

Boyne City and the surrounding territory is now being scouted for common barberry by the Federal field men. So far, they report that only a few of the bushes have been found in the city. In the country they have completed Bay Township and Wilson township and have found very few of the bushes. This territory is decidedly different from that around Charlevoix and East Jordan where there were numerous common barberries including one of the largest areas in the world, which is located in the vicinity of the Loeb farms. This large area was completely cleaned up last year.

The common barberry spreads the black stem rust to oats, wheat, barley, rye and other grains and grasses. This rust is very predominant in all of the thirteen principal grain growing States of the Union and destroys millions of dollars worth of grain every year. The campaign against the common barberry is being carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the State Department and Michigan State College.

It is interesting to note that Antrim and Charlevoix Counties have been chosen for the last two years as the best place to obtain rusted barberry leaves. These leaves are used for educational work being placed in glass frontal envelopes and then distributed to all of the rural schools throughout the United States. At the present time over 150,000 specimens have been mounted of the plant which is located this year near Central Lake.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Falling Stars

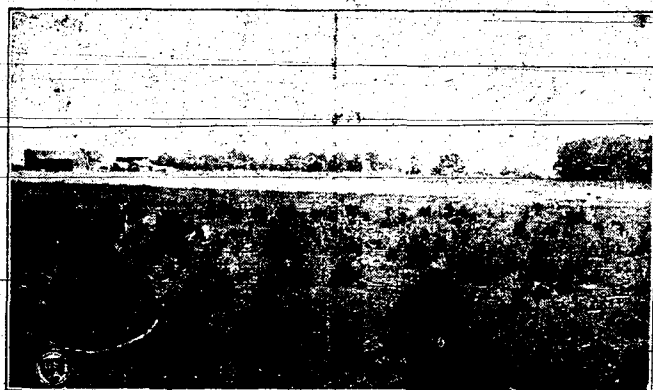

The lighted bodies we see darting through the heavens are not always stars. If they were, the earth would long since have been destroyed. What we do see are small particles, such as hot stones, which are broken into fine particles by the earth's atmosphere, and most of them never reach the ground.

Deer Lake Grange met last Saturday night with 18 members present. During the business session, Helen Hardy was elected Lady Ass't. Steward to fill vacancy. Visiting members were present from Boyne River, Ironton, Wilson, Rock Elm, South Arm and Peninsula Granges, making a total of 54 visitors. The main feature of the literary program was an interesting talk from Mrs. Dora Stockman, who with her husband are engaged in a tour of the Northern Granges. At the close of the session ice cream and cake was served by the ladies, and a pleasant evening was voted by all present.

A Word of Warning

The Standard Oil Company [Indiana] feels in duty bound to warn its thousands of patrons in the Middle West to beware of "bootleg" gasoline.

Due to an overproduction of crude oil the market is flooded with unbranded gasoline sold at a cheap price. It is high at any price. It is neither uniform nor dependable.

When you buy gasoline you are buying transportation for yourself and your family. We suggest that you buy dependable transportation.

Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline will give you a maximum of power, flexibility and speed. It costs a few cents more per gallon but it "knocks out that knock".

Our famous economy fuel, Red Crown Gasoline will give you a maximum of power at a minimum of cost.

Both products are sold everywhere in the Middle West and everywhere the same—at a price which is fair, just and equitable, consistent with quality, uniformity and dependability.

MISSOURI TOWN BANISHES CRIME

Village Has No Courts, Taxes or Government.

St. Louis.—A town without crime, in which there are no courts, no taxes, and no government, is being operated at the foothills of the Ozark mountains, in Missouri, by Charles L. Delbridge, a St. Louis book publisher. The town is named Delbridge. The town, which has been on the map for about a year, is an experiment to prove Mr. Delbridge's theory that the nation has too many laws, courts and lawyers.

Mr. Delbridge bought the land on which the town is located, built homes and business buildings, and then invited colonists to move in. Every building is rented, and citizens may remain in the town only so long as they obey the laws and observe the Golden Rule. Every business is run on a nonprofit basis.

The general store in the center of the town, has counters a city block in length. Patrons come from a radius of 80 miles on all sides. Other business interests in the town are thriving.

Because the town has no crime and no courts, Mr. Delbridge says, the cost of living has dropped 25 per cent and taxes have been found unnecessary. The citizens, in rents for their homes, have paid 25 per cent of the expenses of the town and its industries, and the other 75 per cent has been saved because there is no waste due to crime and its punishment.

But the most astonishing thing of all, Mr. Delbridge says, is the fact that not one citizen has been ejected from the town for misbehavior.

High Requisite for Marketing

Standardization Affords a Basis for Pooling of Various Products.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Standardization of farm products as a fundamental factor in successful marketing was stressed by Lloyd S. Tenny, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, addressing the Pan-American Standardization conference at Washington. "Standardization," Mr. Tenny said, "is the definite foundation on which rests most of the individual functions which make up the whole process of marketing. It is essential to the maintenance of the bureau's nationwide market news service; it is basic to the use of credit; it is the one safe basis for advertising.

Facilitates Settling Disputes. Standardization facilitates the settling of disputes as between shippers and dealers; it is the only safe basis upon which equitable inspection services can be built at shipping points and markets; it is especially useful in co-operative marketing by affording a basis for pooling the products of various growers; it is a prime requisite in administering the United States warehouse act."

Mr. Tenny described the development of the bureau's standardization program since 1914 when a market news service on fruits and vegetables was established. Standards for more than 50 different farm products have been established by the bureau and are in wide use, the cotton and wool standards being applied internationally.

Certificate of Quality.

The grading and stamping of beef at leading slaughter markets so that consumers may have what is practically a government certificate of quality stamped on commercial cuts is the bureau's development in standardization. Prime and choice grades of beef are stamped by the bureau's inspectors, and should the system prove practicable it may be extended later to other grades of beef.

Delegates to the standardization congress visited the bureau's laboratories May 10 to see a demonstration of farm products standards, especially those for cotton, hay, wool, fruits and vegetables, tobacco and eggs.

Sprays Not Practical to Use on Perennial Weeds

Chemical sprays, because of the apparent ease of application, have for a long time attracted attention and aroused the interest of farmers as a control for weeds. Up to now, however, the cost of application, when the effectiveness of the sprays has been considered, has made the use of poison sprays on weeds unprofitable.

Most sprays quickly kill the parts exposed, says Charles F. Rogers, deputy to the Colorado state entomologist for weed control. Results of work at the Colorado experiment station with a number of different arsenical compounds indicate, however, that they are practically useless against the root systems of perennial weeds. The cost of repeated sprayings with the possible damage to the soil gives the advantage, so far at least, to the mechanical means of weed eradication.

Salt in large enough quantities will kill any weed pest, according to Mr. Rogers. It can be used profitably on small patches where it is necessary to check the spread of a serious weed pest. It is expensive, however, and damages the soil unless it can be washed out quickly after the plants have been killed.

Winter Vetch and Rye Make Early Hog Pasture

Rye sown during August or early in September will make a very satisfactory early crop. Winter vetch can be sown with the rye and make still a better combination, says a writer in the Indiana Farmers' Guide. If vetch has never been grown on the farm from 25 to 30 pounds of vetch seed and 3 to 5 pecks of rye would be a suitable amount to sow.

In the spring as soon as the ground is suitable to work, Canada field peas and oats can be sown to come on when the rye has passed its stage of usefulness as pasturage. If rape seed is sown with the peas and oats it will provide grazing for a longer period as the rape will come on after the oats and peas have matured.

Agricultural Items

Sunshine should be mixed liberally with the ration for growing chicks.

Duck eggs are larger than hen eggs and a higher price may be obtained for them in a commercial market.

In the early days destroying the forests was a problem; now destroying the forests creates a problem.

Club boys and girls, in living up to their slogan, "Make the best better," are setting a fine example to their parents.

When a sow farrows she should be given only a limited amount of litter and the pen should have guard rails around the sides about eight or ten inches from the floor to protect the pigs when she lies down.

Horse and Mule Shortage Seen

Impending Shrinkage of Vital Interest to Farmers All Over.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Work stock—horses and mules—is the one class of animals in which practically every farmer is concerned whether he is a stock farmer, cotton planter, wheat grower, or cane raiser. The approaching shortage of good work stock is, therefore, of vital concern to all farmers, says John O. Williams, in charge of horse and mule investigations for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Decrease in Animals.

Estimates of all horses and mules on farms the first of this year showed a total of 21,013,000 head, a decline in work stock population of 17 per cent since 1920. It is practically certain that the next five years will show a reduction of the present numbers by 30 or 40 per cent unless breeding is resumed. This rapid reduction is expected to develop into an acute shortage in those states where the animals on farms are the oldest and where fewest colts are coming on as replacements. There are more horses over ten years of age in the northeastern and southeastern states than elsewhere. The southeastern states have the largest percentage of mules over ten years of age.

Although the average age of horses has increased considerably the average value during the past three years has not changed much. The present low prices may not be expected to continue indefinitely. In fact, there is a definite market demand at present for high-class draft geldings and saddle horses of merit at good prices. Inferior horses of all types will undoubtedly continue to be a drag on the market.

Make Type Fit Demand.

Farmers in the corn belt where surplus work stock has previously been raised should consider the possibility of increasing the production of the types of horses and mules that are suitable to meet the expected demand from the eastern and southern states. Furthermore, says Mr. Williams, it is important that farmers thoroughly study the relative advantages of animal and mechanical power for their own conditions in order to convince themselves of the necessity of planning to raise colts for replacement purposes before the inevitable shortage in desirable work stock occurs.

Common Salt and Iodine

Used to Prevent Goiter

Frequently one hears some one claim that animals do not need salt. The man who makes such a claim is ignorant of the animal body and its requirement. All farm animals need salt—and must have it. In addition, extra iodine is frequently needed to prevent goiter—big necked calves—and hairless pigs. There are some firms in the United States producing iodized salt for farm stock. When salt is so made it must, of course, be sold at a price above that paid for good farm salt, but where goiter, hairless pigs, and other such troubles exist, this method of securing iodine is exceedingly satisfactory, since iodized salt is usually only twice as expensive as ordinary salt. One hundred pounds of such salt would feed ten head of cattle—two ounces of salt for each individual daily—approximately three months.

Hints for Farm Success

Given by Dean Mumford

Dean Mumford of the University of Illinois gives the following pointers:

1. Adjustment of productive efficiency and activity to demand.
2. More satisfactory means of anticipating the economic need for changes both in kind and quantity of agricultural production.
3. Increase of efforts to reduce cost of production by use of scientific and improved methods.
4. Attention to the problem of the redirection of use of marginal lands and utilization of labor of marginal farmers.
5. More careful study of business organization on the farm.
6. Co-operation on an ever-increasing scale among farmers, more specifically to organization in production and marketing.

Agricultural Items

The mowing machine is the natural weed eradicator.

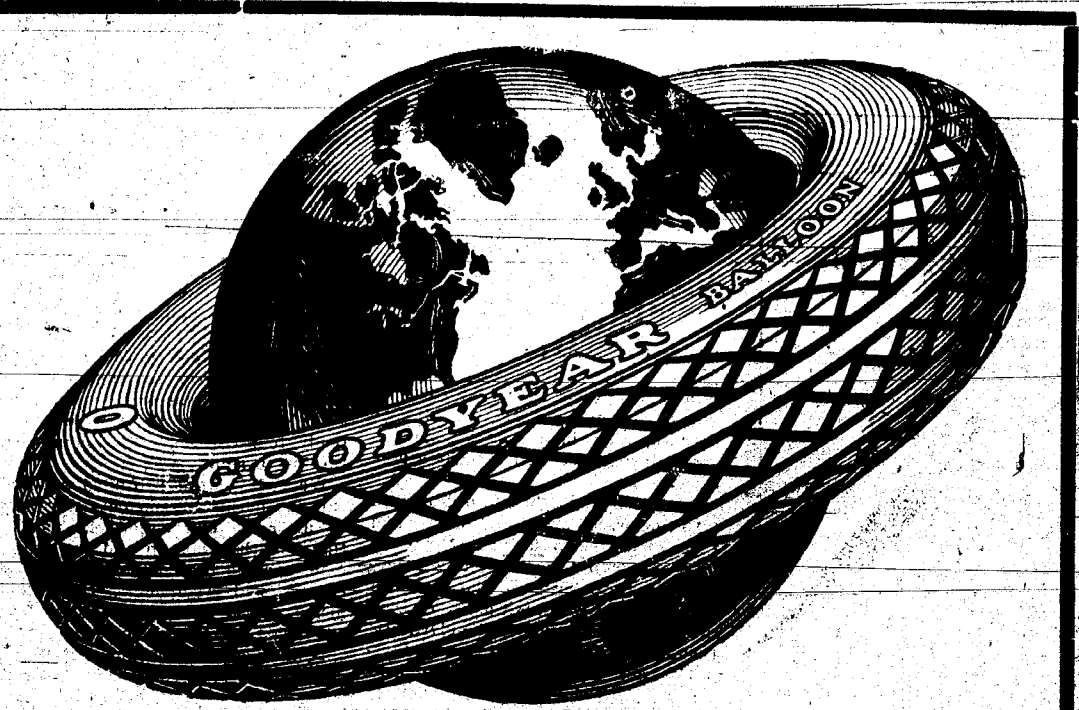

Only the farmer himself, not legislators, can make farming safe for the farmer.

Doing the essentials only never made a man successful. It's the details that count.

Chickens will utilize a lot of fruit if they can get it. Watch them eat the melon rinds about the yard.

The banker who favors the live-at-home diversifying farmer shows patriotism as well as business sense.

Watch for bugs. This is their best season and once they get a start they are hard to eliminate. Use arsenate of lead and nicotine sprays freely.

WITCH-HAZEL FLOWERS

"IN THE fall of the year," said the Sandman, "there are yellow flowers to be seen on bushes which have large and thick leaves.

"These flowers are alongside of the twigs of these bushes and they are known as the Witch-Hazel flowers.

"There are some that flower in the spring but the ones of which I'm speaking flower in the fall.

"Miss Witch-Hazel Bush was dressed up in her very best, and very, very proud was she.

"I'm going to have an exciting time next summer," she said.

"Instead of wearing a flower dress I shall think only of fruit and I will shoot forth seeds as my fruit pods burst and in this way more witch-hazel shrubs will be able to grow up.

"I really live for that wonderful time when I can shoot forth these seeds. I shoot them some distance. It is most exciting.

"I hope you will always be able to recognize me—which means that I hope you will always be able to know who I am when my leaves are falling.

"My leaves are broad and have straight veins. My leaves and bark go to make up my namesake in the medicine chest.

"Yes, you've all heard of witch-hazel. Well, witch-hazel got its name from our family, for we make witch-hazel.

"We're not the kind either that creatures turn up their noses at as they do at old castor oil and some of those disagreeable things.

"We're not to be swallowed. No indeed. That's where we are so nice.

"We don't get about with that manner which castor oil has as though to say:

"You'll be sick if you don't take us. Maybe we'll make you sick for a while, but in the end we will make you well."

"We don't make anyone sick first. No, we're not like that. As I said, we don't want to be swallowed—I mean my Medicine Closet relative doesn't want to be swallowed.

"Witch-hazel was never supposed to be swallowed. No, it can be used for burns and sprains and all kinds of sore places. But it is never to be swallowed. Never, never.

"We help gentlemen after shaving—they can put our Medicine Closet Cousin over their faces and so keep their faces from feeling rough.

"Oh, we're very useful. Homes, in my opinion, aren't homes without us.

"We help headaches. We don't do people any harm either the way some horrid medicines will do.

"No, we're cool and pleasant when some of the drops of the Witch-Hazel family are put upon a big handkerchief and then put upon the aching head.

"No horrible swallowing of us! We're to be used outside and not taken inside!"

"So," said the Sandman, "you may see Witch-Hazel shrubs some day and you will know that it is from the witch-hazel plants that witch-hazel comes—and that Miss Witch-Hazel is going to shoot forth seeds from her fruit pods this summer. And, too, that she is already looking forward to that day!"

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

By JOSEPH KAYE

At 21—Tom Masson Was a Traveling Salesman.

ABOUT this time I was a traveling salesman, and I believe, one of the worst salesmen that ever happened.

I was always ambitious to edit a humorous paper and I particularly wanted to edit Life, but I did not take any aggressive action. I contributed very frequently to the paper when it was started by Mr. Mitchell and it happened that occasionally some of my items were misplaced, or something else would happen, and then they would send for me to come to the office to straighten things out.

One day, after such a visit, Mr. Mitchell asked me to edit the paper. I asked why he had thought to offer me the position when I had not asked for it and he replied that I had shown such a readiness to locate the little troubles regarding manuscripts, and such ability to get things right that he decided I had the type of mind to keep the office going smoothly.

Thomas L. Masson. TODAY: Mr. Masson bears the enviable reputation of being America's premier jokesmith, having written literally thousands of jokes. He was the editor of Life for over a quarter of a century and has produced many books on humor. As a creator of the jokes you read in newspapers and magazines he has few peers in the world.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

GOATS AND HEALTH

A SUPERSTITION fairly common in this country and practically universal in England as well as in certain continental countries of Europe, is that, if one keeps other animals, it is a good thing to have a goat or two around also. The goats keep the other animals healthy.

This is in accordance with the character assigned the goat as a bearer of the afflictions and sins of others from time immemorial. Witness the scapegoat of the Jews. Among the early races of India goats were sacrificed by the thousand at certain festivals as offerings to the deities of the lower cult and the goat as a substitute for the human sacrifice of a boy was offered to Dionysus, the wine-god, by the Greeks. In being thus sacrificed it will be seen the goat played his characteristic part, a part well expressed by a modern slang phrase voicing an old idea. When anyone is made to bear the blame for the derelictions of others we say, "He is the goat," or "It seems I am the goat."

So we can see why it is well to have a goat or two about the place to take upon themselves the diseases which otherwise might be attached to the other domestic animals and to absorb our bad luck. And the goat is especially dedicated to "being the goat" for animals from the fact that he is sacred to the great god Pan, the god of the fields and farms and of the flocks and herds. In fact Pan was represented in Greek art as having the upper part of his body like that of an elderly man while the lower part was like the hind quarters of a goat.

HUMAN STORAGE BATTERIES

THE battery refused to turn the engine over. The wiring was found to be in first-class condition, all contacts were properly made, and yet the engine would not start. Of course not; the battery had run down. One thing about an electric storage battery—you can get out of it only what you put into it.

Some persons start the venture in life with the idea that all depends upon luck and chance. If one succeeds in life's undertakings it is because favorable circumstances created opportunities. Failure is due to the absence of a chance; and that chance is a matter of sheer luck.

Those who have succeeded in life know the folly of this argument. Their experience has taught them that opportunities are not created for people so much as people create their own opportunities. The man who sits down and waits for something to turn up soon finds failure staring him in the face.

The person who succeeds in life is the one who is prepared to seize the opportunity after he creates it. Many persons have splendid chances but they lack the ability to take advantage of them. The successful man is the ready man, ready with the necessary materials at his hand.

Fifteen minutes of time have decided the fate of many an adventurer. Opportunities come on the wing, in the flush of the moment, sometimes only after a long period of time spent in creating them. He is a wise man who is able to recognize an opportunity even after he has succeeded in creating it.

Whatever is worth having in this world costs something. The most expensive price one can pay for life's success lies not in creating an opportunity but in preparation for it. There is no short cut to the shining goal of success. This preparation consists not only in becoming conversant with the principles of our chosen profession and how to apply them, but in making human contacts. In order to succeed with people we must first know them. Much time is given to the study of arts and sciences, but too little to the study of personality or which some call the human soul. This is a basic value, for upon it everything else depends. We get out of life no more than we put into it.

The Thoughtless Spark that Costs Millions

FIRE PREVENTION METHODS

1. Matches—Be sure your match is out. Break it in two before you throw it away.
2. Tobacco—Be sure that pipe ashes and cigar or cigarette stubs are dead before throwing them away. Never throw them into brush, leaves or needles.
3. Making Camp—Before building a fire scrape away all inflammable material from a spot 10 feet in diameter. Dig a hole in the center and in it build your camp fire. Keep your fire small. Never build a camp fire on logs or near brush.
4. Breaking Camp—Never break camp until your fire is dead out.
5. Brush Burning—Never burn brush or brush in windy weather or while there is the slightest danger that the fire will get away.

No one would knowingly cause forest fires. Yet 725,928 acres of timber land were burned last year, in Michigan alone. Thoughtlessness caused practically all of it.

Every resident of Michigan and every visitor to Michigan enjoys and profits by Michigan's resources. And everybody loses when timber, one of the greatest of these resources, is destroyed.

Three great losses come from timber fires: (1) The timber loss itself, (2) the cost of fire suppression, (3) the loss of beauty,—wooded lands are despoiled of their attractiveness, and this in turn causes partial drying up of lakes and streams.

You can help by making these facts more widely understood. Then care will replace thoughtlessness. Our forests will be used and enjoyed but not destroyed.
