EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1928.

NUMBER 8

Large Number At F-S Banquet

OVER 200 MEN AND BOYS TOOK SEATS AROUND BOUNTIFULLY FILLED TABLES.

About the best way to describe the fine Methodist Fellowship Club Father and Son Banquet of Tuesday evening, is to say that it was up to the usual high standard banquets of this nature put on by this progressive Men's Club. Although they were the moving spirit in the affair they want it understood that it has really developed into a community undertaking for so many different people aided in its success, and success it was. Two hundred and sixteen men and boys taking seats around bountifully filled tables surrounded by most appropriate decorations, with Washington's picture set in a canopy of flags in a prominent place on the wall. This is a very generous attitude on the part of the Methodist Fellowship Club and members. At the same time the Washington's Father and Son Banquet of Tuesday evening was an affair of which the community can well be proud.

After music by the High School Orchestra, followed by community singing, led by John Seiler, the banqueters feasted, and it really was a feast and a tribute to the Methodist ladies and their friends. Chief among the ladies in making this part of the evening a success was Mrs. Len Swafford, chairman for the dining room, and Mrs. Wright Carr and Mrs. Bert Fuller, assisted by Miss Hazel Crofoot of the Home Economics Dept., in charge of the kitchen, as well as a large number of the ladies, teachers, and high school girls who acted as waitresses. After a bounteous repast, Mr. Vern Barnett, President of the Fellowship Club made a few remarks on the co-operation that made the banquet successful, and introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Mr. Charles Rogers of the English Department of the High School, who did a very creditable job in this capacity. After the usual introductory remarks, he introduced the speaker of the evening, A. E. Byrum, State Y. M. C. A. secretary of boys work, who gave a very interesting and valuable talk on the importance of each father and son living up to his best heritage and the son especially, making it even better. Among other things he emphasized the importance of clean life.

Immediately following the speech, the men's double quartet sang two appropriate numbers. It would be difficult to mention all who took part in making the Washington's birthday banquet a success. Chief among them was the program committee, composed of E. H. Clark, Roy E. Webster and W. H. Sloan. Committee on arrangements, Ed. Bogart, James Ross, W. S. Snyder and Len Swafford. It is such a regular thing to have M. J. Williams arrange appropriate decorations as they were on this occasion that we almost forget to mention it. Miss Bryant and her commercial department typed the programs and helped to carry out the scheme of patriotic songs by having the community song books made in red and tied with blue ribbon.

The Fellowship Club committee want to thank any others who took part in the successful banquet of Tuesday evening. Should they be left unmentioned here it is unintentional as the committee was very profuse in expressing its appreciation of all who took part.

One or two little interesting features of the banquet was the fact that the oldest boy was 91, and the youngest 3 years. The oldest boy being Mr. Townsend, and the youngest, Bernard Sturgell, son of Everett Sturgell. The combined age of the oldest couple was one hundred fifty-seven years.

May everyone be able to attend as successful a banquet a year from now.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Egyptians Good Dentists

The science of dentistry was far advanced in the age of the ancient Egyptians. Mummies have been found with gold fillings in their teeth, crowns and even bridgework. The art, however, was lost later and unknown until comparatively recent years. The first American school of dentistry had its beginning in Baltimore, in 1838. (A. 1928. Western Newspaper Union.)

"Never put off what you can do today," said the mother, and the bright young lad said, "give me the other slice of pie."

ALEX BASHAW WAS E. J. RESIDENT 49 YRS.

Alexander Bashaw passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry St. John, in East Jordan, Wednesday, Feb'y 15th, 1928, following an illness from diabetes.

Deceased was born in Norwood, St. Lawrence County, New York, Dec. 10th, 1852, his parents being David Bashaw and Matilda Baker-Bashaw. On Dec. 29th, 1872, he was united in marriage to Julia Vincourt at Gouverneur, N. Y. They came to Michigan and located in East Jordan, August 15th, 1879—some 49 years ago—where they have since made their home, Mr. Bashaw following the occupation of farmer. Mrs. Bashaw died Aug. 19th, 1917.

Deceased is survived by one son and one daughter—David Bashaw of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Henry St. John of East Jordan. Also by one brother, Lewis Bashaw of East Jordan, and a number of nephews and nieces, located in this city, in Cleveland, and in New York State.

Funeral services were held from the Latter Day Saints Church, Friday afternoon, Feb'y 17th, conducted by Elder Leonard Dudley. Interment at Sunset Hill.

DETROIT-EAST JORDAN ANNUAL DANCE.

The following postal card has been sent to all known former residents of East Jordan residing in and near Detroit.

"Tell all East Jordanites that space will be reserved for them and their friends at the East Jordan Annual Dance, Saturday night, March 10th, at Northwestern Community Hall, Corner Grand River and Wreford Ave., one block north of McGraw. Meet your old cronies. Dancing for the lean and talking for the fat. Will all see each other there so that's that."

M. S. C. STOPS SALE OF LEGUME CULTURES.

East Lansing, Feb'y 21.—Rapid increase in the number of cultures used for the inoculation of legume seeds by Michigan farmers has made a change necessary in the Michigan State College policy of manufacture and sale of these cultures, according to a statement by the bacteriological department of the college.

Expansion of the acreage of alfalfa and sweet clover in Michigan has been a contributory cause to the increased use of the cultures, and the laboratory facilities available at the college for the preparation of the cultures are now inadequate to supply the demand.

This year the cultures will be prepared by S. F. Edwards, in charge of legume cultures for the college, at his laboratory in Lansing. Mr. Edwards is a graduate of Michigan State College, and will work under the supervision of the bacteriology department.

Manistique—Sheriff J. M. Hewitt, of Manistique, has bared the details of a poison plot, in which Joseph Smithers, 63 years old, Hiawatha farmer, is accused of attempting to kill George McCasle, 23, who he claims is a rival for the affections of Gertie Monroe, 17, daughter of a neighboring farmer. Smithers is held as the sender of a parcel of poisoned candy, received through the mail by McCasle January 6, and which nearly cost the lives of four persons. In the box was enclosed the printed name of "Anna," 7-year-old sister of Gertie.

Lansing—More active campaigns for state reforestation work and increased protection of woodlands against forest fires were urged in resolutions adopted by the Michigan Conservation Council at its annual meeting. The council called on Michigan's delegation in Congress to support the Woodruff-McNary bill under which the federal government would spend $40,000,000 on reforestation. It urged the Highway Department to post signs advising tourists that the uprooting of trees and plants is a violation of state law.

Ann Arbor—Ornamental gates costing $2,000 are to be erected at the entrance of the University of Michigan Arboretum on Geddes avenue, according to the park superintendent, who announced the plan on authorization from the board of regents. Graduates of the university know the arboretum better as the "boulevard" a winding country road running from a ridge to meet the Huron River behind the University Hospital. The gates will be closed at sundown, according to an agreement between park officials and the regents.

Attack on the Reformers

Fun is the cheapest sick that has bin discovered yet and the easiest to take.—Josh Billings.

SMILE AND THE WORLD SMILES WITH YOU

A TRUER statement was never made. Test it out for yourself. When you get up in the morning, get up with a smile, meet your family, and friends with a smile—see what a big improvement it makes in your day.

Smiling will get work done quickly and efficiently. Smiling is so much easier to do than frowning. The frown of determination may well and profitably be replaced by the smile of willingness to serve.

Smile at Neighbor Jones and he will smile at you.

Smiles tend toward happiness in the home and in the community. It carries with it its own reward—a knowledge that each day we are doing our share toward making this a better and happier place in which to live.

Smiles make little troubles out of big ones, and little troubles disappear entirely when met with a smile.

Let's make this a town of miles and miles of smiles.

Visit East Jordan Schools

The citizens of East Jordan and Charlevoix County should take it upon themselves to show their interest in the local schools by visiting them. We feel sure that teachers and school officials will be glad to see the parents of the pupils, and there will be a better understanding all around.

Few grown people take enough interest in the work of the schools. There is no more important activity in this community. The teachers who train our children are wielding great influence upon the future of East Jordan. Luckily, most of them are extremely conscientious in their work, but that does not mean they would not be glad to see that the nature of their task is appreciated.

NOTICE!

Candidates seeking nomination to any City Office should file their petitions with the City Clerk on or before March 5, 1928.

OTIS J. SMITH, City Clerk.

CHARLEVOIX TO GET FIVE DELEGATES.

The Republican State Central Committee meeting held at Lansing, Thursday, Feb'y 16th decided to hold the State Republican Convention in Detroit this year. The date was advanced to May 3, which had been set tentatively to April 25th.

The procedure advanced the date for county conventions to April 11th. Philip T. Colgrave of Hastings will make the keynote speech at the State Convention.

The State Convention will elect seven delegates at large and seven alternates to the National Convention at Kansas City, June 12th.

District Conventions will be called by the congressional district committees to select two delegates and two alternates to the national convention.

The apportionment of county delegates to the State Convention, totaling in all 1,894, is in part as follows:

Charlevoix 5; Alpena 7; Cheboygan 8; Emmet 7; Grand Traverse 7; Manistee 9; Wexford 7.

E. J. H. Team Lose 2 Games

ELK RAPIDS AND CHARLEVOIX BOTH DOWN LOCALS.

The High School Basketball team is still in an apparent slump, losing two additional basketball games the past week. Against Elk Rapids they played a very good game in the first half and continued to play a good game in the third quarter, but in the latter part of the game they just seemed to watch Elk Rapids substitute, Vernie, shoot baskets. It looked as though East Jordan had the game on ice at the end of the half for the score at that time was 15 to 5 in the locals favor. But as the half ended Elk Rapids sprung a surprise in a blond youngster by the name of Vernie, who won the game almost single handed by shooting 18 points, or nine field baskets in the second half. He may never repeat such a performance, but in justice to this young man the writer thinks it was the most sensational basket shooting he has ever seen anywhere. When you consider that two of these baskets were two-thirds of the way down the floor, five more around or beyond the center, the above statement is not extravagant. The game ended 29 to 20 in favor of Elk Rapids.

Elk Rapids' big center, Monroe, gave his forwards great support, in breaking up plays around East Jordan's basket. It would be difficult to pick out a star on the East Jordan side, however, it is only fair to remark that Barnette, played one of the best games in a long time. We are confident that they are going to come back with a rush in the tournament at Boyne City. Hallett of Charlevoix refereed a good game.

The locals surely were hoodooed on their own floor, for although they won from Charlevoix, quite handsily earlier in the season, they lost 21 to 17 Monday night to the Resort town boys. It perhaps was the slowest game seen on the local floor in some time, due largely to the referee who called a foul on almost everything in sight, which is far worse for a basketball game than if he called too few. Imagine 31 personal fouls being called in a basketball game as was done Monday night—too many fouls to please any spectator.

One side suffered as much as the other and does not account for the loss of the game to East Jordan as Charlevoix just played enough better basketball to win on the merits of the encounter. Perhaps young Cliff Dennis, inexperienced as he is, played as good a game as any man on the floor. Beadoin with five baskets, two foul shots for twelve points, and B. Novak with three baskets and a foul for seven points, were the stars for Charlevoix. Taylor was the high scorer for East Jordan with three baskets and five foul shots for eleven points.

Referee—Burkett, Gaylord.

Imperfect Rubber Goods

Many were the troubles that early manufacturers of rubber goods experienced on account of the propensity of rubber to expand and contract with the heat. Daniel Webster, who was Mr. Goodyear's counsel in his patent litigation, humorously referred to a fine cloak of India rubber he once owned, stating that in cold weather it stood well by itself, and that he often set it out on the porch surrounded by his hat, many persons passing by mistaking it for the Sage of Marshfield himself!

Most any young flapper of East Jordan can tell you a few of the mistakes her mother made.

Illicit Fur Dealers In Michigan

MAJORITY OF PERSONS HAVE SECURED LICENSES.

Approximately 207 arrests and about the same number of convictions of dealers operating without proper license as required by law, and others trading in illicit furs has been reported by the Law Enforcement Division of the Conservation Department so far during the present fur season, according to George R. Hogarth, Acting Director.

The 1927 Legislature passed an Act (number 185) which requires all persons, firms and corporations engaged in the business of selling or dealing in the furs, hides, and pelts of fur-bearing animals to procure from the Conservation Department a license to operate. All moneys received from the sale of such licenses go to the game and fish protective fund. Fees are set at from one dollar for a local resident fur buyer's license to fifty dollars for a wholesaler's license. A fee of fifty dollars for a non-resident local or traveling dealer is required, while a resident traveling license costs ten dollars.

"For the most part," says Mr. Hogarth, the majority of persons engaging in the fur industry promptly secured licenses, and have kept themselves clear from charges of handling Michigan fur on which there is a closed season, while some have had to face judges and pay heavy fines for being delinquent before they believed that the Department intends to strictly enforce the law. There is no excuse for handling illicit fur in Michigan, nor is sound reason why the renewal of annual licenses should be delayed.

"Bootleg" fur dealers have found when arrested that hair-splitting technicalities, flimsy excuses and cunning methods of operations don't work. Buying illicit furs, sending them to some "fence" in a nearby State and having them shipped back to Michigan as "Ohio" or "Wisconsin" pelts, and other equally dishonest methods have been discovered and stopped.

Fear was expressed some time ago by certain members of the Michigan Fur Dealers Ass'n that the Department's order closing the trapping season on mink and muskrats until March 1929 would tempt dealers in bordering States to handle Michigan furs, and thus create unfair competition for law-abiding Michigan firms. To prevent this, the Department immediately directed, not only District and local Conservation Officers of the State to take extra precaution, but the Federal officers in the Michigan district as well, and assured the fearful members of the Association that the Department would exercise every means within its power to prevent such trading.

Michigan fur is comparatively easy to distinguish from other fur, many dishonest dealers have found, to their sorrow, expense and revocation of their license and forfeiture of their one thousand dollar bonds as required by law, and some have lost valuable furs that have been confiscated by the Department.

Once arrested and convicted, adverse publicity and loss of reputation among legitimate fur dealers makes "hard sledding" for the person or firm who expects to further engage in what the Department of Conservation and honest dealers intend shall be a reputable business. Wholehearted co-operation on the part of local and county law enforcement officials is an indication that citizens throughout the whole State frown upon violations of game, fish and fur laws. If the Department's policy of "eternal vigilance" can bring so many arrests in so short a time, and if legitimate trappers and dealers will lend their assistance, "bootleg" fur business in Michigan will be reduced to the very minimum, and trappers and buyers of out-of-season animals and pelts and procrastinating license purchasers will move on to "easier territory."

ANNOUNCEMENT

To The Voters of Wilson Township: I am a candidate for the office of Township Treasurer and solicit your support at the Caucus, Monday, Mar. 12th.

DEER CREEK DISTRICT
(Edited by Mrs. Tom Kiser)

Geo. Etcher called on Tom Kiser, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Etcher were visitors at Jos. Martineks a week ago Sunday.

Barney Bayliss and family moved to the Dam last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Etcher and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kiser spent Saturday evening with Dalton Gay and family.

Miss Leona Smith called on Miss Isabel Murray Saturday evening.

Miss Ellen Murray spent last week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Jack Carney.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Carson and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Carson were callers at the home of Kit Carson, a week ago last Sunday.

CENTRAL LAKE
(Edited by Jessé Morse)

The roads were badly blocked again Monday.

Lyle Morse is stopping with Dr. Pecumiar in town and attending high school.

Dr. Armstrong, we understand, came down and vaccinated the remainder of the school for smallpox.

Dr. Duffie now rides a motorcycle with a side car that has a runner on instead of a wheel.

The Snyders have finished moving into the Roman store and have been putting on a sale to make up for lost time.

Sunday was a poor day for Church and Sunday School attendance. Zion City, Ill., that had 1539 in Sunday School a week ago last Sunday, had but 1,000 last Sunday, according to radio.

Chris Roberts captured a seven pound trout one day last week, and Curgy Arnold got a pike and three lawyers. Many fish houses are on Intermediate and Torch Lakes.

Quite a sight were the ten aeroplanes that flew over our town last Saturday. They were probably the army planes, scheduled for a little earlier in the week for Traverse City.

Smallpox has broken out in town again, according to reports. This time one or Ora Vandenberg's children has it, we hear. If all persons had been vaccinated, there is little doubt but what the town would have been free of it by this time.

We should have said Frank Hooper last week, instead of John Hooper in the car collision with Edwin Bowers.

It is funny when a man who does not believe in advertising asks the newspaper not to publish the fact that his son was arrested for disorderly conduct.

Arguments are funny but it remained for the stenographers to put the "gum" in argument.

Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickly by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur

FETCHING AND YOUTHFUL

The vogue for printed fabrics for next season's spring and summer frocks has included, varied striped materials. Stripes horizontal, diagonal, vertical and almost every other kind will be used in fashioning or trimming some of the new sports frocks.

For the slender person who can afford to wear horizontal stripes, the frock shown above is very fetching and youthful. The skirt is of black satin, plaited all around and the striped blouse is of red and white. Note the smart little collar, cuffs and pocket ornaments fashioned of white grosgrain-ribbon edged with the red.

It is worn by Marceline Day, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player.

Aipena—The ice harvest for this city and adjacent lakes has been completed with a finer quality of ice than in several years, it is reported. Johlke Bros. have stored 5,350 tons.

Romeo—The Sikes school, two miles south of here, has been closed because of a threatened scarlet fever epidemic. Miss Ida Wooster, the teacher, is one of those ill of the disease.

Milford—A cousin of the famous showman, P. T. Barnum, Mrs. Virginia Shirliff, 94 years old, and a life-long resident of Oakland county, is dead here. She is survived by two sons, four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Grand Rapids—William Vogt, after a year's practice, has learned to light a match with a trout fly flicked a distance of 50 feet with a six-ounce rod. Extinguishing a match with a fly has long been included in Vogt's bag of tricks, but the lighting stunt is a new one.

Mt. Clemens—A 10-day dog quarantine for Macomb County was announced here recently by Dr. William Black, a state veterinarian. Several cases of rabies have been reported. All dogs must be vaccinated and kept muzzled or tied up for 10 days, it is announced. All not tied or muzzled will be shot.

Romeo—After March 1, the rural mail routes out of Capac will be rearranged because the postal department says, when the routes were made out a number of years ago, the horse and buggy was the method of transportation. With the coming of the automobile the time required to cover the routes has been shortened each year. As many patrons will be served under the new order as previously.

Pontiac—Some idea of the advancement in farm values in Oakland county during the past few years is to be gathered from a suit for accounting filed in the circuit court here. Antonio Derin is a partner with Ignio Galar in the purchase of a farm in Independence township, which Derin says was purchased for $22,000 in 1921, and which is now estimated to be worth "upwards of $100,000."

Clarion—Theodore Bennett, a farmer living a mile from Clarion, is dead from chill and exhaustion after taking two involuntary plunges in the Bear River. He tried to rescue a horse from the river after it had broken through the ice, and fell into the same hole. Later, while riding another horse home, both he and the horse broke through the ice. Friends pulled him out but he died while being taken home.

Traverse City—An aquarium for native fish is expected to be one of Traverse City's best tourist attractions this year. Arthur Winnie, manufacturer of trout flies, headed the movement and obtained the support of 125 members of the Chamber of Commerce. Pamphlets will be handed out, describing the fish and telling where in the vicinity of Traverse City the various species can be caught, according to Winnie's plans.

Grand Rapids—Two schoolmates in a little old red school house near Leslie 70 years ago were recently reunited when U. L. Prine, of Ingham county, a Civil War veteran, becoming lonesome after the death of his wife, attempted to seek out his childhood playmates. After some effort he located Mrs. H. A. Deeter, 83 years old, of Cedar Springs, and the two, in many long visits, have related interesting experiences. Prine is also 83 years old.

SNAP JUDGMENT

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

HIGDON was taking issue with me as to certain statements which he alleged I had made in one of my lectures. He took the other side and argued fluently for his point.

"I don't believe what you say; I think you are wrong in your conclusions."

"Well, what are my conclusions?" I inquired, for it began to dawn upon me that Higdon was more than a little vague as to what I had been trying to elucidate. He hesitated, and stumbled in his attempt and got rather red in the face.

"When did you read my book?" I asked finally, "and how carefully did you do it?"

"I've never read it at all," he finally confessed. "I heard some of the fellows talking about it, and I formed my opinions from what they said."

I laughed, and Higdon's method of forming a snap judgment from few data is not uncommon.

Brown makes no secret of the fact that he doesn't put any faith in the Bible either as history, literature, or as the basis of a religious faith. He laughs when anyone cites the scriptures as authority for anything. He talks flippantly about it but with an assumption of thorough conversance with its contents. Now the truth is that Brown has never read the Bible. Excepting for a desultory acquaintance with its general external appearance and the recollection of some scattered verses which he learned as golden texts during his brief acquaintance with Sunday school he knows nothing about the Bible.

He couldn't find the ten commandments in half an hour. He doesn't know whether it was Moses or William Jennings Bryan who led the children of Israel out of Egypt, and if you would ask him to turn to the book of Micah he would not know whether it is in the front or the back of the book. The wisdom and the poetry of the Old Testament he has no acquaintance with, and the life and doctrines of the greatest Teacher who has ever lived as recorded in the New Testament he has really never given any serious attention to, and yet he throws over the whole thing and will have none of it.

Snap judgment, and unwarranted! Jordan tells me that he does not care for either Dickens or Robert Louis Stevenson as writers. There are others who would reach the same conclusion, so that I am not shocked at Jordan's statement, but only curious: "What have you read of Dickens?"

I inquire: "Oh, I started 'Dombey and Son,' but I couldn't get very far into it. It didn't interest me."

"He knew nothing of the 'Pickwick Papers,' or 'David Copperfield,' or 'Martin Chuzzlewit,' or 'Bleak House,' or best of all I think, 'Great Expectations.' He had read a chapter or two of a great author and not liking it had condemned all the rest. It was the same way with Stevenson. Of all the infinite varieties that that charming author had written he had read scarcely one volume."

It is the way we judge people sometimes. From one chance meeting, or from the conversation of a few moments we form settled opinions and promulgate them.

Avoid the Cynic

If you want to retain a wholesome view of life, if you want to hold your faith in mankind, if you want to have enduring peace of mind keep away from cynics. Should any such be among your acquaintance, give them a wide berth. They may be bright, clever, entertaining people. Cynics often are. But they are poisonous people.—Chicago News.

SHORT TALKS BY THOUGHTFUL MOTHERS

A New England Mother says, "Our children are very susceptible to coughs and colds. Being located some distance from town, we felt the need of a good dependable cough medicine, and when our druggist recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as the best in his experience, we accepted his judgment gladly. For coughs, croup, whooping cough, troublesome night coughs, bronchial coughs, we have tried it time and again, always with complete satisfaction."—Hite's Drug Store. adv.

The rates quoted above are Station-to-Station night rates, effective from 8:30 p. m. to 4:30 a. m.

A Station-to-Station call is one that is made to a certain telephone, rather than to some person in particular.

If you do not know the number of the distant telephone, give the operator the name and address and specify that you will talk with "anyone" who answers at the called telephone.

Day rates, 4:30 a. m. to 7 p. m., and evening rates, 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m., are higher than night rates.

A Person-to-Person call, because more work is involved, costs more than a Station-to-Station call. The rate on a Person-to-Person call is the same at all hours.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT
By F. A. WALKER

CO-OPERATION

IT IS a common thing to regard the forty years passed by the Children of Israel in their wanderings as so much punishment inflicted on them for their sins.

To take this view is to overlook the necessary part that that experience had, in turning them from a mob into an organized, co-operative nation.

O. H. Mickel, in the Inland Printer, suggests as "the truth about Moses" that the great lawgiver did not lead the Children of Israel "out of the wilderness."

On the contrary, he kept them "in the wilderness," for the wilderness was what they needed.

The Israelites had been softened by a long period of Egyptian servitude. Their spirits had been broken by having to make bricks without straw and all sorts of indignities.

If they had been led straight to the Land of Canaan, they would have had to face the Ammonites, the Hittites and a dozen other well-disciplined and warlike tribes, prepared to defend their land flowing with milk and honey, with all the resources of their civilization.

By the time that Joshua took over the direction of affairs from Moses, a great change had taken place. The people had been made strong by a strenuous environment of mountains and deserts by proofs of Divine favor and direction.

The generation that had known the brickyards, the fleshpots and the idols of Egypt had passed away. In its place was a hardy army of men who had learned how to fight, who were a match for the Canaanites and were ready for the fulfillment of their destiny.

But not only were they fit to conquer the promised land, they were also fit to establish a strong centralized government with definite tribal rights, when they had taken possession.

For it was in the course of the forty years in the wilderness that they received the Mosaic code, which put them in a position of superiority to the other people in that part of the world.

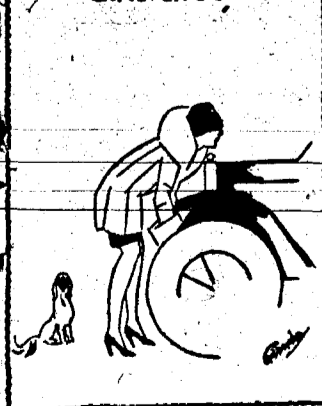

It is no wonder that throughout the following centuries the recollection of those forty years was never out of the minds of the rulers, the prophets and the poets of the nation.

In all this there is a lesson for the rest of the world. There is no short cut to any promised land for individuals or for the nation.

Every man and every nation destined to amount to anything must go through the wilderness. That is the only way that they can be made fit for what is before them. Above all that is the way co-operation is learned.

Disinfection Is Best for Scab

Kills Organisms on Tuber and Prevents Introduction Into Soil.

The importance of seed disinfection in the growing of a clean crop of potatoes is much greater than the average grower realizes. Potato specialists at the college of agriculture in New Brunswick point out that in tests conducted in 1920 disinfecting seed showed an increase of 33.9 bushels per acre over untreated seed. In addition to the increase in yield there was a considerable reduction in the number of scabby potatoes.

Kills Organisms

Not only will disinfection kill organisms on the tuber, but it prevents their introduction into the soil as well. This is especially true of scab organisms. Unquestionably, if seed treatment had been more generally adopted in the past, more growers would not now be growing scabby potatoes.

There are two chemicals commonly recommended for seed treatment for scab, formaldehyde and corrosive sublimate. Formaldehyde does not give as efficient control of scab, so the use of corrosive sublimate is advised. This material is a poison and must be kept away from animals; furthermore, it corrodes metal and must be made up and used in wooden containers.

Mix Corrosive Sublimate.

Mix corrosive sublimate at the rate of 4 ounces to 30 gallons of water. The potatoes should be soaked in this solution for at least one-half hour, but if heavily infected with scab or rhizoctonia, continue the treatment one hour. As soon as potatoes are treated they should be removed from the solution and dried. Corrosive sublimate is removed from the solution by the potatoes, so measures must be adopted to keep it up to original strength. This may be done by adding one-half ounce of dissolved corrosive sublimate after treating every four bushels. Seed can be treated for from four to five cents a bushel.

Swine Flu Exceedingly Expensive to Breeders

Since the introduction of preventive measures for hog cholera, greater loss is sustained by hog producers from flu than from cholera. Flu undoubtedly causes greater financial loss to the producer of hogs than any other single disease. While many hogs actually die from flu the main damage occasioned by this disease is the result of loss in condition of the herd. When a herd is infected with the flu, even though recovery is secured without loss from death, there is a tremendous waste of feed, for the porkers do not only fail to gain in weight while affected with the disease, but generally they also lose weight. When brood sows become affected with the flu, the problem is still more serious because it very often causes abortion and if not, many of the pigs will be born dead, so that the average number of pigs raised per sow, even though no sows are lost, may be reduced by 100 per cent, which makes the pigs very expensive. The thing to do is to institute preventive measures against this disease by supplying good, well ventilated sleeping quarters, kept well bedded.

Take Vigorous Measures Against Pest of Rodents

With rats and mice in evidence in large numbers, farmers will do well to begin vigorous control measures against these filthy, destructive pests. Powdered barium carbonate, mixed with various types of food on a basis of one part of the poison to four parts of the selected food, has proved very effective.

In the control of large rats, which are especially destructive to young poultry, a rabbit carcass with the poison worked into knife cuts, has given unusually good results. The poison should be worked into the cuts in the proportion of one part to four of the flesh, and the carcass placed where rats will have ready access, but poultry and other domestic animals will not be endangered. Securing the carcass firmly with wire will prevent large rats from dragging it away.

Short Farm Notes

Scrub seed should not be allowed to reproduce themselves.

Look up last year's garden plan and study it for improvements.

Plan your plantings so all your work won't come at the same time.

Sweet clover seed should not be sown too late in the spring or it may not give a good stand.

Look over the lists of new garden tools. They turn out new and more efficient tools every year.

Time spent selecting and testing seed corn will pay the farmer many dollars per hour for his labor.

Early potatoes may be secured by early planting of early varieties in deep, rich, warm soil, followed by thorough cultivation or mulching with manure.

Heavy Oat Yield Costs Few Cents

At Least Five Additional Bushels to Acre May Be Had by Testing Seed.

Two and a half cents worth of formaldehyde may add at least five additional bushels to the acre oat yields on many farms.

This is the average cost of treating for smut enough seed oats to sow an acre. This disease causes a large annual damage to the crops, taking a toll on some farms of as much as 10 out of every 100 bushels of grain, according to R. E. Vaughan, plant disease specialist at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Treat Barley for Smut.

Barley may also be treated with formaldehyde for smut. A pint of pound of the formaldehyde, obtainable at most drug stores, is added to 35 gallons of water. This solution may be sprinkled on the seed or the seed may be soaked in it for five minutes. Both methods give satisfactory results, Vaughan reports.

When preparing the seed for treatment, it should be thoroughly fanned in order to remove the light-blighted kernels, smut spores and dirt. After treating, the grain should be covered for two hours and then dried by spreading in on a clean strip of canvas. While the seed is damp, Vaughan cautions that care should be taken that it does not freeze nor heat, as either one of these conditions injure its germination power.

Seed Ready to Sow.

The seed is ready to sow in 12 to 24 hours after treatment. If freshly treated seed is sown, Vaughan says the seeder should be opened so that three-fourths bushel more oats and one-half bushel more barley are sown to an acre than usual, this due to the fact that the seed has swollen during the treating process.

Feed Fowls Yellow Corn for Production of Eggs

Yellow corn is proving superior to white corn in rations for egg production. It is also much better for growing chicks. The beneficial effects of yellow corn are thought to be due to the fact that it is richer than white corn in vitamin A, a substance essential for normal growth of chickens.

When the hen's ration is deficient in vitamin A she is likely to develop eye trouble similar to roup, and lay fewer eggs which would hatch poorly if incubated.

If white corn is fed, the vitamin A deficiency may be corrected in a ration for hens by feeding green feed at the rate of one cubic inch per hen per day. Baby chicks cannot eat enough green feed to completely correct the vitamin A deficiency if white corn is fed. The deficiency can be supplied to chicks by adding cod-liver oil to the mash at the rate of 2 per cent by weight.

Narrow Type of Shed Is Useful for Implements

At this time of year every farm machine or piece of equipment needed should be under shelter with a card showing what adjustments and repairs are needed. Even a well-roofed straw shed is better than none, but often a shed does not give full protection.

Consider annual cost over a period of years rather than first cost, and use the materials at hand which will give the longest life and least upkeep at the lowest first cost. Reinforced concrete, concrete blocks, hollow clay tile, galvanized iron, lumber, and so on, should all be considered. The long narrow type of shed is most usable and convenient about moving machines in and out. Square sheds waste space, especially if a driveway must be kept open. Round sheds are even less desirable. Long narrow sheds can be started small and added to as needed.

Agricultural Squibs

Clean the grain before you use it for seed.

The cardinal principle in the dairyman's creed is cleanliness.

The farm workshop should be the popular place to work these days.

Winter egg production is often cut short by a limited supply of water.

To insure a good flow of milk, a cow should be in good condition at freshening.

Tremendous losses are incurred by planting poor seed. Test before seeding is the best rule to follow.

Winter onions come up just after the snow disappears and perhaps are the first vegetable that will come from the garden.

Milk which is not immediately removed from the barn is very apt to absorb the characteristic odor, no matter how sanitary the barn may be.

Potatoes which are stored in bins should be watched for rot. It pays to examine the stored tubers from time to time and remove all rotten potatoes.

NEW American Edition of STUDEBAKER'S ERSKINE SIX $795

40 miles per hour—when NEW 62-mile speed later!

DUE to advanced engineering, precision workmanship and fine quality materials, the new American Edition of the Erskine Six may be driven at 40-mile speed the day it is delivered to you—62-miles-an-hour later on.

This means far more to you as an Erskine owner than simply eliminating the tedious driving of a new car at 20-miles-an-hour for the first 500 to 1,000 miles. It means that Erskine engines are carefully seasoned on the dynamometer—that every part is subjected to the most rigid inspections—that your Erskine has been assembled with fine-car precision. Such cars heretofore have been found only in the luxury-price class!

Proof of these qualities of construction is found in the performance of the new American Edition of the Erskine Six at the Atlantic City Speedway. Here a stock Erskine sedan traveled better than 54 miles per hour for 24 consecutive hours, establishing itself as champion of its price class. No stock car priced under $1,000 has ever equalled this record.

Try out this new Erskine Six for yourself! A bigger, roomier car—doors nearly a yard wide—rear seats 4 feet wide—shock absorbers. A more powerful car—brilliant 6-cylinder performance with thrifty gas and oil consumption—amplified action 4-wheel brakes.

A sensational, low-priced, fine-car value worthy of the 76-year-old Studebaker tradition.

The Week-End

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I VISITED a college a year or so ago situated within an hour's ride of a big city. Few of the students live outside of the state in which the institution is situated and most of them live within a radius of forty miles. There are no classes on Saturday and Sunday, of course, is a holiday. When the last class exercise on Friday is ended, the campus is all but deserted. There is a mad rush for trolley cars, and motor busses and broken-down flivvers and suburban trains, and the pseudo student is off for a week-end at home.

The student likes to go home, because the duties and opportunities which home affords frees him from any college or scholastic duties. He may take a book or two home, but he seldom looks into them; or if he is better fed at home, he can sleep later in the morning—mother sees to that—he has a better time. Parents are gratified to have him at home. He is safer, they think, better looked after, and the weekly visit keeps him from immediate weaning from the home influences, and keeps alive the sentiment for the home girl.

There is no spirit in a college of this sort, however. The students of such an institution are not going to college in reality; they are picking up a few stray crumbs of information while still living at home. They come back to their work Monday morning weary, bored with the thought that they will have to hit the books again. By the time they get settled down to work another week-end has arrived and it is time to go home. There is little organization in such an institution, little class feeling, fraternities are mere boarding houses, college activities arouse no interest, and there is little or no reading, or thoughtful discussion, excepting what is absolutely necessary to meet class requirements.

No man, not even a college student, can desert his business to go off on a pleasure jaunt every week-end and have it amount to much. He must give it some serious thought and attention even when he is away from it if he is to get on. The week-ender is a poor business man and an indifferent student.

"But one should drop the worries of business when he closes his office doors at night," you say. There is a good deal of truth in such a statement, but there are always incidental things to be done, unexpected occurrences which must be attended to and one must be at hand to do this—not fifty or a hundred or a thousand miles away. One must associate with business men and learn business ways, and get into the spirit of what he is doing, and this is true in college quite as much as in any other business. There are long vacations at Thanksgiving and Christmas and Easter and during the summer when complete freedom from academic obligations may be enjoyed, and these are quite adequate. The student who wants to go home every week-end and the parents who encourage him to do so are to that extent weakening his college interest.

State News in Brief

Petoskey—Carl Werden, 37, farmer living near Conway, is in Lockwood Hospital here suffering the loss of his right arm. The member was nearly jerked off while Werden was buzz sawing wood when it became wound up on the drive shaft of the machine.

East Jordan—The Charlevoix County Fair Association, which always has held its fair the second week in September, has set the date for the 1928 fair ahead to Aug. 28, 29 and 30. A new grandstand and dance hall are to be erected. F. R. Bulow, of East Jordan, is president.

Ann Arbor—The University of Michigan Alumni Club of Ann Arbor, with a membership of 242, ranks fourth in the alumni clubs throughout the United States, according to T. Hawley Tapping, field secretary and business manager of the alumni association. Detroit has the largest club with more than 1,300 members.

Lansing—Appointment of William W. Potter, attorney-general, as member of the state supreme court by Governor Fred W. Green excited interest as to who would succeed him as head of the state's legal department. Potter takes the judicial office made vacant by the death of Justice John E. Bird, who also had served the state as attorney-general. Potter will be sworn in following the appointment of his successor.

Adrian—An unidentified and infectious disease that has caused the deaths of several persons, mostly children, within the past few weeks, has caused alarm in the eastern part of Adrian. Physicians said they do not expect spread of the disease. Precautions taken include the closing of a part of St. Joseph's Parochial school. In some cases the disease has been called intestinal influenza, but its first symptom is a sore throat.

Saginaw—Officials of the Michigan Sugar company said here that they have contracted for 35,000 acres of sugar beets and expect the total to reach 70,000 to 80,000 by June 1. Contracts provide a minimum price of $7 a ton at way stations or $8 a ton for beets delivered at the company's plants, with a sliding scale giving the growers an additional amount if the price of sugar exceeds that specified in the contract. The rate is the same as last year.

Lansing—The Republican State Convention, which will name seven delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention, will be held in Detroit April 25, the Republican State Central Committee decided at a meeting here. The Republican National Convention will be held in Kansas City, June 12. Republican county conventions will be held throughout the state April 11. The state convention will be held in the Cass Technical High school building.

Saginaw—The Standard Oil company of Indiana has reduced the price of crude oil in the Saginaw field from $1.95 a barrel to $1.79 a barrel. This cut is in conformity with the reduction of crude oil in the Lima district. No announcement of a reduction had been made by the Sun Oil company at this writing, the principal purchaser of Saginaw's crude output. The Standard officials said the cut was made in accordance with the general tendency of the market.

Flint—Screaming and fighting, Katherine Volker, 10 years old, recently prevented the kidnapping of her sister, Janet, 8 years old, by two men driving a large gray truck. The children, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Volker, were on their way home from school when the men stopped them. The men seized Janet and tried to drag her into the truck, when Katherine commenced screaming and fought the men until they released Janet and drove away.

Owosso—Three persons were injured seriously when a gas plant exploded in the farm home of Mrs. Mary Maugh in Bennington Township, six miles south of here, wrecking the residence. The injured are: Mrs. Waugh, 55 years old; Fred Buckelew, 55, a neighbor, and Robert Buckelew, 16. The explosion blew the kitchen and dining room to kindling wood. The wreckage caught fire, but was extinguished by Owosso firemen. The blast could be heard in Owosso, six miles away.

Lansing—The average rate of taxation in Michigan during 1927, on which railroads and telephone companies will pay their 1928 tax, was $30.87, according to a report issued by the State Tax Commission. The new rate is an increase of $1.56 over the 1926 average on which the utilities paid their taxes in 1927. Companies paying their taxes into the primary school fund under this rate are railroad, telephone, telegraph, car loading and some interurban utilities. Gas and electric companies pay local taxes.

Escanaba—Suffering from a fractured leg, Amos Labelle, 84 years old, of St. Paul, employed in a lumber camp near Watson, dragged himself on his hands and knees more than a mile and a half before he was found. Labelle and a companion, Fred Dupre, were on their way home, heavily burdened with groceries, when Labelle slipped and fractured his leg below the knee. His companion was ahead and did not know of Labelle's plight. When found Labelle was nearly frozen. His condition is

Begin Preparations for Spring Planting

If Plans Are Well Laid Better Crop Will Result.

"Now is the right time to begin preparations for the spring rush of planting," says E. C. Blair, extension agronomist at the North Carolina State college. "If plans are well laid now and put into action without delay, a better crop will result. There are many important factors that contribute to a good yield, such as soil fertility, proper fertilization, good seed, good cultivation, and good seasons; but other things being nearly equal, the crop that is planted on time will always outyield one planted too late.

"Fall and winter plowing is the first step to take. All fields not growing cover crops should be well broken as soon as soil conditions will permit. Winter freezes will pulverize these fields much better and cheaper than can be done with harrows in the spring.

"The farmer who is following a definite crop rotation already knows how many acres of each crop he will have in the spring, and on what fields each crop is to be planted. This practice should be followed by all farmers to enable them to plan intelligently."

Find Phosphate Trebles Crop Yield in Missouri

How six bushels of wheat were added to the acre yields each time that 200 pounds of acid phosphate were applied to the field is strikingly illustrated in the report of M. B. Ditty, county agent, to the Missouri College of Agriculture.

Previous to 1924, the six and one-half acre field of S. W. Vivion, Lafayette county (Mo.) farmer near Mayview, returned only six bushels of wheat to the acre. That fall, he applied 200 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate per acre when the wheat was sown. In 1925 he harvested 12 bushels from this "six-bushel" field.

A second planting of wheat, on the same field, in the fall with an additional 200 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate, increased the yield to 18 bushels. A mixture of alsike, red and sweet clover, sown on the 1926 wheat, returned 15 tons of cured hay this season from the six and one-half acres.

At present car lot prices, the 400 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate cost $5.29 for each acre, but returned six more bushels of wheat the first year and 12 more bushels the second year, a total of 18 bushels to the acre. If the wheat is valued at $1 a bushel the returns for this labor approximate $12 more to the acre. As the clover crop was also doubled, the net returns for labor are even greater.

Three Points Spelling Success or a Failure

Farmers who intend to plant apple orchards should remember that if an orchard has a good site, if the soil is good, and if good varieties are planted, there is a good chance for success. But if these three points are unfavorable, even the most industrious and best-informed fruit grower may not be able to make money, according to the New York State College of Agriculture.

Varieties must, of course, be adapted to the site and soil, but also to the present market demands. The future market preferences must also be anticipated. The trees, themselves, should be heavy producers, for large yields are produced at less cost for each bushel or each barrel.

Quality of the fruit is another point that must be considered, for the fruit must be in demand on the market and must sell for a good price. As time goes on, quality is going to be more and more important, largely due to present-day transportation and storage facilities.

Perishable McIntosh may now be kept in cold storage until April if carefully handled. Thus they compete directly with better keeping but lower-quality varieties which formerly enjoyed a ready sale when earlier sorts were gone.

According to a recent survey in New England, 50 per cent of the apples for household use are used raw, and this tendency will undoubtedly increase.

Much Experimental Work Made on Dairy Wastes

Much experimental work on dairy wastes has been made by the following institutions: United States public health service, Washington; college of agriculture, Madison, Wis.; Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa; college of agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.; and each of these have available bulletins and suggestions.

In general, the use of a septic tank will take care nicely of wastes from washing milk bottles, utensils, tanks, floors and so on. The tank should be of fairly good size, but built in the same manner as recommended for household use. In fact, the same tank can be used for both if of good size. The sludge formed has a tendency to get rather solid and it may be necessary to remove some sludge every year or so. Apparently a reasonable use of washing powders does not seriously interfere with the action of the septic tank. Large quantities of skim milk, whey or buttermilk will seriously interfere with the action of the septic tank. Milk wastes will quickly clog up any cesspool, even in gravel soil.

Two Church Designations

The word "protest" includes many churches, the Protestant Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal among them. The word "protestant" came into use at the time of the Reformation both in England and on the continent. It stood for a protest against the Roman Catholic church. The name is not particularly significant at this time when all of the churches are drawing closer together.—Brooklyn Eagle.
