EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1928.

NUMBER 42

Road Men Meet Here

DIRECTOR'S MEETING BRING OVER ONE HUNDRED.

At the Director's Meeting of the Northern Michigan Road Commissioner's Association held in East Jordan, Thursday, Oct. 18th, about one hundred and twenty-five men were present, representing practically every one of the thirty-one counties. The object of the meeting in the main was to receive and adopt the report of the Committee on Trunk Lines that was appointed at the annual meeting at Cadillac a few months ago. This report will be submitted to the State Administrative Board. Snow removal for the coming winter, and dust laying for next summer were discussed. Manufacturers of snow plows and other road machinery had representatives here with outfits for demonstration.

For the occasion, East Jordan put on its holiday togs, and, during the noon hour our School Band furnished music on Main Street.

Madison—Lenawee County Pomona Grange has voted for a county agricultural agent's office in Adrian.

Battle Creek—The Nichols & Shepard Threshing Machine Co. here has let a contract for a new $500,000 factory building.

Fremont—Milo White, of Fremont, was elected president of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies in convention at Milwaukee recently.

Holland—Funeral services were held recently for Mrs. Fred Van Wieren, 51 years old, whose death is said to have been traceable to rattlesnake bite, inflicted two years ago. She never recovered from the effects of the poison.

Manistee—Hauls of four to five tons of carp are being taken daily from Manistee lake under direction of Edward Oswald, of Spring Lake, Mich., operating under a special permit from the state conservation department. The carp are shipped to eastern markets.

Ann Arbor—Following Ohio Wesleyan's startling upset of the Wolverines here, an interesting deluge of "congratulatory" telegrams poured into town. A typical one was such as this: "Ohio Wesleyan seventeen, Michigan seven. How do you explain this?" Another one, supposedly from a small Ohio school, was of a more unique nature. It asked to book a game with the Wolverines next year.

Caledonia—Farmers in southwestern Michigan swamped the state's first farmer convenience train with demands for agricultural bulletins on its recent 16-day trip from Michigan State college. Three times the train's supply of bulletins were exhausted, it was revealed here, when Professor F. J. Phippeny, agricultural engineer, radioed the college publication department for an increased supply.

Lansing—Dr. W. O. Hotchkiss, president of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, has appealed to the State Administrative Board for additional funds with which to meet operating expenses for the current fiscal year. The enrollment of the college three years ago was 155. With the addition of courses in mechanical, electrical and civil engineering it has grown to 390. Dr. Hotchkiss said the appropriation was insufficient by $35,000.

Houghton—County officers are investigating the fatal shooting of Richard Niemela, 12-year-old son of Herman Niemela, a farmer residing four miles north of Hancock. The shooting occurred at the home of a neighbor. Members of the family said the boy was shot when a .22 caliber rifle accidentally fell to the floor and was discharged. Other children, however, said that a youth fired the rifle at the boy. The bullet entered the boy's forehead, resulting in death two hours later.

Owosso—The plant of the St. Johns Mutual Gas Company has been purchased by the Federated Utilities corporation, which operates a plant here, serving Owosso and Corunna. The St. Johns plant will be shut down and that city will be served by a high pressure pipe line. The Federated Utilities is a subsidiary of the Central Public Service corporation, which operates in 18 states. It expects to erect a larger and more modern gas plant here and serve all of the surrounding villages.

NUTRITION PROJECT FOR LADIES STARTS WITH BANG

The first meeting for Leaders carrying on the Nutrition Project, available through the County Extension Service was held in Boyne City, last Wednesday, Oct. 10th with a splendid attendance and much pep.

At this early date at least eleven communities scattered all through the County were represented with Leaders as well as several visitors, who are receiving the instruction from Miss Muriel Dundas, Nutrition Specialist of M. S. C. and then holding similar meetings in their respective communities and giving the instruction to their friends and neighbors.

The first meeting was devoted to organization matters in the forenoon, and to giving the first lesson on table etiquette and table manners, in the afternoon. With a subject of such vital interest to every lady, is it any wonder that some 100 and more ladies have already enrolled in the work and are anxious to get the three other meetings yet to be held. The greatest wonder is why are not more communities represented.

Owing to the fact many changes will no doubt take place before the next meeting, a complete list of leaders and communities represented will not be given until a later date.

However we cordially invite communities that are interested but not as yet organized to get in touch with the County Agent at Boyne City and assistance will be only too gladly given toward making the project available.

Republican Rally At East Jordan

NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT, OCT. 23. TORCH LIGHT PARADE.

A good old-fashioned Republican Rally will be held in East Jordan next Tuesday night with torch light parade, possibly three Bands, and an address at the High School Auditorium by Judge Philip T. Colgrove. At the present writing all the details have not as yet been arranged, but if possible the Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan Bands will all three be in the parade. The address will be given at 8:00 o'clock standard time. At Charlevoix, Tuesday night, one of the biggest Republican demonstrations ever held in Northern Michigan was staged. In spite of inclement weather over 1500 people were assembled and the Gym at that city was taxed beyond capacity to care for the audience. Prior to this, a torch light parade was staged, East Jordan's City Band furnishing music for the occasion.

Recently at Charlevoix the members of the Charlevoix County Republican Committee met and organized a Hoover-Green Club with officers as follows:—President, Herman C. Myers, Boyne Falls; Secretary, Kit Carson, East Jordan; Treasurer, Mrs. Saltonstall, Charlevoix.

PEOPLES BANK CELEBRATES 18TH ANNIVERSARY

On Wednesday, Oct. 17th, the Peoples State Savings Bank celebrated its 18th Anniversary, by holding a birthday party. The Bank was organized on Oct. 17, 1910. Favours were given to every one calling at the bank during the day and prizes were given to those bringing in birthday cakes. Mrs. Kenneth Hathaway won the $10.00 prize for the most appropriate and attractive cake, and Mrs. Chas. Shedina won the $10.00 prize for the largest cake. At 3:00 o'clock all cakes were sold at auction and the returns, over $30.00 placed in the East Jordan Community Charity Fund.

The bank was decorated in roses, baby Chrysanthemums and Autumn leaves.

Walter Fred Dudley Dies From Tuberculosis

Walter Fred Dudley was born July 10, 1900 at Harrison, Mich., his parents being Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dudley. At the age of four years he came with his parents to East Jordan where he resided until 1916, when he went to Lansing. First Orang Born in America

A picture of maternal protection and solicitude is shown above in the case of "Maggie," the huge orangutan, and her baby born recently at the Philadelphia zoo, the first to be born in America. At no time is the tiny infant away from her mother's protective arms.

NEW SPARTAN BARLEY AVAILABLE

The latest variety of barley developed by the Michigan State College during the last two years is now available to Charlevoix County farmers and will gradually replace the other varieties commonly raised as they become more familiar with its many advantages.

Spartan Barley was placed in many counties this year in small amounts and placed in the hands of hand selected farmers for the purpose of comparing its yield with other varieties and to have a supply available for local farmers to obtain to better their own seed.

Jay Adams of Charlevoix is our first farmer to secure this new variety and on a very small acreage threshed something like 70 bushels which has been registered by the Michigan Crop Improvement Ass'n, and can be eligible for re-inspection, or in other words sold as certified seed by new growers.

Spartan barley is Michigan's outstanding barley, excelling by reason of its smooth awns, high productivity, early maturity, stiff straw and adaptation to a wide variety of soil types. There is no reason in the world why this should not be used locally either as a foundation stock for certified seed or as a means of improving your own commercial crop by securing a small quantity for next year, and used as seed plot.

If interested speak early and place your order with either Mr. Adams of Charlevoix or your local County Agent at Boyne City.

B. C. MELLENCAMP, County Agr'l Agent.

Community Confidence Is a Valued Asset

Upon the confidence which the people of this community have in its present and its future, depends the growth and the prosperity of each one of us.

Confidence leads on to all worthy developments which tend toward making this community a better place in which to live.

Confidence in the ability of the local business men to supply our needs with reliable merchandise at reasonable prices, is likewise a most important factor in the prosperity of the community. Since it is of such vital import to all of us to keep our confidence in our neighbors and their confidence in us, let us each do every possible thing to warrant confidence. It will help us to build our home community into a busy, prospering town, a home town of which we will all be proud.

FINEST COURSE EVER PRESENTED IN THIS SECTION.

"PRIVATE PEAT"

Monday, Oct. 29th
Private Peat, who emerged from the crucible of the World War, a dynamic youth with a new vision, has become one of the greatest speakers on the platform. As a platform envoy it is doubtful if he has an equal. His new talk, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," which he will give here, is compounded out of his personal experiences during the great conflict and in the eleven eventful years which have since passed.

The tag which the Red Cross tied on Private Peat was marked "hopeless" when he was picked up on the battlefield in the early days of the war. He lived, however, to write and speak about the war. His articles have been syndicated all over the world. He was the chief speaker of the Fuel Administration throughout the United States and had an important part in negotiations which prevented a menacing strike in the coal fields. His books, "Private Peat" and "The Inexhaustible Lie," have been read all over the English-speaking world.

During the last thirteen years Private Peat has been studying and thinking. He has been thinking of the why of war and he has evolved a philosophy of war and peace which startles as it convinces his hearers.

There is a marching rhythm to the speech of Private Peat. He visualizes the drama of war as few soldiers have done.

Single admission, 50c.

"ABRAHAM LINCOLN"

Thursday, Nov. 8th.
John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" is the dramatic sensation of a decade. This famous play gives a picture of the Great Emancipator unbelievably real and gripping. It is a drama of character, powerful, simple, moving. Drinkwater reveals the very soul of Lincoln.

The play is arranged in six scenes, and will be presented by a cast of 12 New York actors, chosen especially for their ability to fit into the historical characters they portray.

This play was originally produced in Birmingham, England, with great success and later scored a phenomenal triumph in London. It proved an instantaneous success in America and has been acclaimed as a great achievement in the American theatre.

John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" is now an American institution. Single Admission, $1.50.

DI GIORGIO ORCHESTRA

Tuesday, Dec. 4th.
This capable family of musicians, each of whom is a genuine artist, have made of the DiGiorgio Orchestra one of the most popular concert companies in the field.

Headed by Signor Thomas DiGiorgio, former soloist with the Minneapolis-Symphony Orchestra and a well-known artist on the trombone, Alpine horn and guitar, the orchestra consists of Signora DiGiorgio, cornetist and cellist, Signorina Fortunata DiGiorgio, mandolin virtuoso, pianist accordionist and xylophonist, and Signorina Adelina DiGiorgio, solo violinist.

Single admission, 75c.

A single ticket would cost at least $5.00 anywhere in one of our larger cities for the play alone. The committee is not asking $5.00 for this play, but $2.00 for the whole course of three numbers, and $1.00 for all school students. It is doubtful if any person in our community can afford not to take in at least the play—"Abraham Lincoln." The single admission alone is very near as much as the whole course. "Private Peat's" lecture and the Orchestra production will be at the High School Auditorium; the play at the Temple Theatre on Nov. 8th.

NIGHT COUGHS QUICKLY RELIEVED.

Coughs and colds usually grow worse at nightfall. Most coughing is caused by an irritation of the throat or bronchial tubes, which continued coughing only aggravates. Such coughs are quickly stopped and controlled by Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Hold the dose for a time, low in the throat as for a gargle, then swallow. Relief follows at once. Effective alike for children and grown persons. Try it.—Hite's Drug Store. adv.

Truth is stranger than fiction to many people, but they don't care for an introduction.

If people had to express all their thoughts in words or keep quiet, conversation would become a lost art.

Persons seeking Trappers' Licenses which are being issued for the first time this year, must make their application through their local conservation officer. This announcement was made by the game law enforcement division of the State conservation department this week. As there are only 25,000 of the licenses available, the department did not have sufficient information on hand as to wanted sources of distribution to warrant sending them around the State. In some instances, seekers of the trapping licenses have believed they could be obtained from sporting good stores and other points as is the case in the matter of hunting and fishing licenses. Some confusion has resulted.

Charming Fall Coat

Velvets, broadcloths and woolen mixtures are the favored fabrics for fall coats.

Colors are an extremely important item in chic. Light and dark shades of blue and dark browns, beige and black being the most popular at the beginning of the season.

Doris Dawson appears in a very new and charming version of the fall mode in the film, "Heart Trouble." It is of gray broadcloth smartly cut and trimmed with platinum gray fox. A wide suede belt of gray lends an air of youth and dash that is most pleasing.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Hiccoughs

Hiccoughing is just the opposite to coughing; that is, you breathe in rather than out. It is caused by a disturbance of the diaphragm—generally something in the stomach. By expelling the breath as far as possible, holding it there, and breathing only when necessary, is said to be a very good way to stop hiccoughs.

Architects in Move for Creative Beauty

With the prime motive of improving upon the nation's architecture, a plan has been proposed by the American Institute of Architects by which the efforts of the various artists will be united to produce a perfect work of art in each building. This plan advises collaboration among architects, sculptors, mural painters, landscape architects and craftsmen, which is believed will bring about a notable advance in architectural expression.

C. Merrick Hammond, of Chicago, president of the American Institute of Architects, in a report, says: "The world in which we live is essentially a collaborative creation. We who are living in it find ourselves surrounded by conditions which have come about as a result of the adjustment of forces, some of them creative, some of them destructive, some of them making for order and durability and beauty, and some of them tending to confusion, instability and ugliness. No lasting element in our environment is the result of purely individual effort. Collaboration has been a continuous creative influence in every great human undertaking."

"Every architect realizes his dependence upon the results of collaborative effort in those phases of his work that are classed as structural and in all those matters in regard to which the specialist must be called in, but in the matter of ethics he has become more and more an individualist, less and less appreciative of the adjustments between master minds that have made possible the great achievements of the past."

Co-Operation Helps to Bring in Industries

Co-operation between the Toledo (Ohio) real estate board and the industrial department of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce has been sufficiently successful to be made the subject of a special letter sent out from the chamber of commerce to each individual member of the real estate board. Inquiries from industries which are contemplating a new location are, usually, of course, made in confidence. Where such inquiries are made to the industrial department of the chamber of commerce a letter is sent out from the president of the real estate board in his capacity as a member of the industrial committee of the chamber in this letter pledge of the real estate men of Toledo is given to cooperate with any new concern coming into the city.

Where open requests for information are received from industries, the chamber of commerce sends copies to any real estate men having on file property that fits into the request.

Architectural Changes

"A building," an architect explains, "is only enclosed space, or a combination of spaces. The shape and size of the desired space are factors in determining the outline of the building. There is a reason for every architectural form. The Egyptians, the Greeks, and the Romans, had their own peculiar needs, for which spaces were enclosed, and sheltered from the elements."

"The ornamentation of the past had as its purpose the telling of stories. Most of the people could not read. Religion and patriotism were conveyed to them through likenesses and symbols. Princes who wished to glorify themselves had the stories of their exploits done so that their subjects might see and appreciate their greatness."

"Today, printing and reading have taken the place of this decoration. People no longer observe and study such details. They are unnecessary. Things which are unnecessary tend to disappear."

Fighting City Congestion

An attempt to limit the density of population in residence areas is made in a unique building code restriction adopted by the city of Madison, N. J., a suburban community which is attempting to protect itself against the piling up of congestion in its residence sections. An amendment to the building code prohibits the erection in any part of that community of buildings to house more than one family for each 2,500 square feet of lot area. This is equivalent to limiting the maximum density of population to 17 families to the acre.

Consider Neighborhood

While a family may think that it would like to live close to relatives and friends, this factor should not be given too much weight. Nevertheless the general type of people living in the neighborhood is important, especially if there are children in the family, who should be brought up in the right kind of surroundings.

Appearance Counts

Keeping up the exterior appearance of one's home keeps up the real estate value of the grounds as well as the building. One home, fallen into dilapidated condition, not only depreciates tremendously in its own value but tends to lower the value of all the homes along the street.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

They are slipping the hospital gown upon the patient just previous to rolling him up to the operating room to be anesthetized. There is a look of concern on his face as he is presented by the cartoonist. He is worried, not about the operation, but about the seriousness of it. "Listen, Doc," he says to the surgeon standing over him, "is this operation going to be something worth while to talk about?"

It is a matter of grave concern, this operation business. Surgical operations have grown so common and so simple that there is often little opportunity offered for lurid description and thrilling conversation. Half the pleasure of the experience is taken away when it furnishes nothing worth while to talk about. There was a time when having one's tonsils out was enough to stir the neighborhood in its emotional and conversational depths and when the removal of an appendix was as stimulative of talk as the events connected with a cyclone. Not so in these days. It takes almost complete deletion of one's visera today to arouse any excited talk. A friend of mine last year lost his appendix, had his stomach patched and a few minor repairs made in his pancreas all at one sitting, and it didn't cause a ripple in the community.

We are not satisfied these days to talk about the ordinary or the commonplace, we demand the unusual and the sensational. An ordinary operation or event or crime does not stimulate thought or interest any more. We insist upon the glaring headlines. Mrs. Graves and Mrs. Simpson were conversing in low tones behind their hands with their eyes turned furtively toward their neighbors. They had something very interesting, very risqué, no doubt to talk about. There was a scandal in the neighborhood—something unusual had happened, somebody had gone wrong, the irregularity for which they had been looking, or hoping almost, perhaps, had been discovered, and they had something worth while to talk about.

It is a curious characteristic of human beings that we more often than otherwise find pleasure in talking about the abnormal, the disagreeable, the event discreditible to the person concerned.

In one of the high schools of the state, I saw it mentioned lately they are giving to the young women (who need it less than men, I believe) a course in conversation. The young people are taught to find in the commonplace affairs of everyday life matters which lend themselves to being talked about, and they are shown how to work these topics up sufficiently to make them interesting. It is a good idea. We teach young people almost everything these days. Why not give them a little idea of conversation so that it will not be necessary to have an earthquake or a cyclone or an operation for gall stones in the community before they will be able to think up something worth while talking about.

Came Out of War Clean

"Herbert Hoover came out of the war clean," declared Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, of Nebraska, in the Senate in 1919. "He came out having rendered a great service to the American people. He came out at the head of a great army of volunteer citizens—men, women and children—who had, at his request, saved and skinned, and had thus helped him to conserve the food that was necessary to win the war."

Poison Gophers During Autumn

Best Time to Apply Preventive Measures to Keep Pests Away.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The attitude of many farmers toward pocket-gopher control is much like that of the man with the leaky roof: In dry weather the roof didn't need repairing, and when it was raining it was too wet to fix it. Pocket gophers damage such cultivated crops as potatoes, sweet potatoes, and other root crops in the field during the early summer, but one of the most favorable times to apply preventive measures is late in fall, after the potatoes have been harvested and the pocket gophers largely forgotten.

Soil is Firmer.
At this time the soil is firmer and does not cave in and fill up the runways, so that it is easier to locate the runways and install poison bait in them with a fair chance of the pests traveling frequently over the same route and getting them. During the growing season this is not usually the case. New runways are continually made in the soft, loose soil, and the animals less frequently return to the used tunnels, many of which have caved in and are blocked up. If there are very many pocket gophers at that season, it is a most difficult task to eradicate them without injuring the crops one wishes to save.

Next Planting Free of Pests.
The biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture urges that attention be given to cleaning up fields infested with pocket-gophers, using two or three applications of poisoned bait if necessary, so that next spring's planting will be free of these pests.

Dry Roughage for Dairy Cows Furnishes Protein

The best kinds of dry roughage to be fed to the dairy cow, in connection with corn silage or roots, are leguminous-hays, such as alfalfa, red clover, or alsike clover and soy-bean or cowpea hay. While corn silage is an excellent feed, it is not a balanced one, as it does not contain sufficient protein and mineral matter to meet fully the requirements of the cow. The leguminous hays, in addition to being very palatable, have a tendency to correct this deficiency. They are also one of the best and cheapest sources of protein. One or more of these hays can be grown on any farm, and in addition to their value for feeding purposes, they improve the soil in which they are grown. Hay from Canada field peas, sown with oats to prevent the peas from lodging, also makes an excellent roughage. Corn stover, coarse hay, etc., also find a good market through the dairy cow. This class of roughage is low in protein, however, and when it is used the grain ration must be richer in protein.

Fall Sowing of Alfalfa Will Give Good Results

Where alfalfa patches are cultivated for dairy cattle, farmers will find they can obtain the best results by sowing early in the fall so the crop may get a start before the frost sets in or in the spring after the frost has passed. George P. Grout, professor of dairy husbandry, A. and M. college of Texas, has pointed out.
In this connection, Professor Grout cites results obtained in the cultivation of alfalfa on the college dairy farm, a project conducted in co-operation with the experiment station. Following recent inspection of the two-acre field given over to this project, Professor Grout reports a fine yield of alfalfa. It was planted last January.

For the dry-land belt, sowing in rows to permit irrigation so that all measures possible may be taken to retain moisture and to keep the grass from choking out the crop, is recommended.

Agricultural Hints

When the lambs have reached the age of four or five months, they should be weaned and separated from the ewes.
Fat chickens are in demand, and those with full, plump bodies, and limbs do not remain on the market very long.
It is advisable to feed the lambs at certain definite times daily. The lambs soon learn to look for the grain at definite times.

It is very important in producing prime lambs that the ewes be heavy milkers and that they be fed so as to produce to their full capacity.
Since the ewes milk is the most important item in the food supply of the young lambs it is easy to see that a very definite relation exists between the milk producing capacity of the ewes and the rate of growth of the lambs.

The lime that is in the soil is subject to a continual loss through leaching out in the drainage water. The capability with which it leaches out varies with the amount in the soil, the amount of rainfall, the soil texture, and the kind of covering on the soil.

Business and Utility Crowding Out Beauty

Relative to esthetic elements in city building projects, an authority has said: "The gradual disappearance of the private residential dwelling with its spacious lawns and beautiful foliage within the confines of the city limits, has measurably lowered esthetic considerations in practically every large and progressive American city. Business and utility are crowding out beauty and design. Property values are soaring higher and higher in direct ratio to the upward economic trend."

"Municipal art commissions or other public bodies of similar character must bestir themselves now if we would prevent the total extinction of the rustic in the city home of the future."

Efficiency of space and economy of investment are the factors which have been given most heed in building construction, he pointed out.

"In fostering building development in any large city, the welfare of the latter is also closely bound up in the regional planning within city limits and with areas adjacent thereto. To that end conferences should be held, with representatives of adjacent cities and towns to work out jointly and to correlate the problems of neighboring smaller communities in the environs of the larger municipalities."

"In this connection it may be well for state legislative bodies throughout the country to pattern legislation after the New York state law which permits the creation by counties of regional advisory boards, a single board for all of the New York state counties within the metropolitan area, and another for outside counties."

Points to Consider When Planning Home

The average person building a home today is not careful enough about picking out the contractor who is to do the work for him or the materials the contractor will put in his home.

When one builds a home he expects to live in it for several years at least, and the home that has the least yearly amount of upkeep will be the home that eventually will be the cheapest and best investment in the long run.

A contractor may be a good workman, but if the owner picks cheap materials the result will show it. On the other hand, good materials can be ruined and the home spoiled beyond imagination by a poor contractor. In either case the value of the completed home suffers and the home builder does not get what he is eventually paying for. Here is a great deal of difference in the ability of contractors and the quality of building materials.

If more people realized how important it is to get the best of everything there would be more better homes built today for less money and with less annoyance and expense in upkeep and repairs.

Make for Friendliness

Where people who dwell in the country have gardens, we in the city have only tiny window boxes—and these at sadly rare intervals. Yet I have noticed that if a neighbor pushes forth a window box with bright geraniums, or even simple drooping ivy, some one across the street will do the same. It is as if people remote to one another's consciousness suddenly became acquainted over the chasm that divided them. Such a gesture causes those of us who are city pent to realize that there is a friendliness, a desire to become acquainted, even in the dingiest street.—Charles Hanson Towne in Harper's Bazar.

Citizens Above Average

The home owner becomes valuable to the community; is appreciated by his employers and the banks. He becomes a better citizen than the man who is content all of his life to be a tenant.

The stability of the nation is based on the freedom of home ownership. Give us a country of home owners and we need never to worry about those social cataclysms that shake tenant nations to their ruin. The red flag is rarely found flying from the ridge pole of a house owned by the man who lives in it.—Exchange.

Joy Found in Garden

For city men who have the time and the ground space to devote to it, gardening offers opportunities not to be found in any ordinary form of sport. Besides the exercise and the recreation is the chance to learn a technique more intricate and more interesting than that of golf, for example, and the satisfaction of making flowers or vegetables contribute notably to the joy of living.

Trees Gone; Towns Gone

There are many towns in our country that are mere ghosts of their former selves because the forests have gone and industry has gone with them. Says the American Tree association: Just as the mining town has been left to rot when the vein "pays out," so have these communities decayed when the forests "pays out." Timber should, if possible, be grown near where it is to be used.

Home Gardens Need Proper Fertilizer

Apply Manure at Rate of 10 to 20 Tons Per Acre.

Fertilizer for the typical home garden usually should consist of manure supplemented with a complete vegetable fertilizer or with superphosphate, says F. O. Underwood of the vegetable garden department at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. Manure should be applied at the rate of 10 to 20 tons to an acre, or, on the basis of smaller areas, 50 to 100 pounds to 100 square feet of space.

The supplementary fertilizers should be applied at the rate of two to three pounds to 100 square feet of garden. On rich soils, it is often advisable to not manure too heavily as tomatoes and root crops may produce excessive top growth at the expense of fruit and roots. Under such conditions either superphosphate or a complete commercial garden fertilizer will usually overcome the difficulty. If manure is not available, leaves, lawn clippings and similar plant refuse may be used as a source of humus. These should be supplemented with two to four pounds of a high-grade garden fertilizer for each 100 square feet.

Where the soil is sour, many vegetable benefit by an application of lime. Six pounds of ground limestone, or half as much hydrated lime, may be used for each 100 square feet where there is an indication that lime is needed. Applications may be made every three or four years. Home gardeners should be cautioned, however, that the organism causing scab of potatoes is more active in limed soils, Professor Underwood says.

One way to avoid this difficulty where lime is needed is to put lime on part of the garden at a time and on this part plant vegetables other than potatoes or beets, he points out.

Egg Marketing Methods Described in Bulletin

Egg marketing in this country is the subject of a revised bulletin just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. It covers the conditions under which market eggs are produced and the methods used in marketing them.

The bulletin, prepared by Rob R. Slocum, marketing specialist of the bureau of agricultural economics, emphasizes the fragile, delicate nature of the egg as a food product and the need for proper handling and speed of delivery to insure the consumer the best possible quality.

Eggs are produced for market on specialized poultry farms of the Atlantic and Pacific coast regions, but in greatest volume on the general farms of the Middle West. In these sections they are concentrated at shipping points and transported by express or by refrigerated freight where they go into immediate consumption or are placed in cold storage to take care of seasonal fluctuations in the rate of production. The marketing channels through which the eggs pass vary greatly in their relative complexity, says the author, depending upon how direct the contacts are between producer and consumer or through how many different hands the eggs pass during their journey to market. Constant effort has been made to improve methods of handling and marketing, including better care on the farms, more frequent marketing, more favorable temperatures by the use of chill rooms, better packing materials, better grading, and more efficient distribution, all of which is resulting in a gradual raising of the level of quality of eggs reaching consuming markets and a reduction in breakage.

Copies of the publication, Farmers Bulletin No. 1378-F, Marketing Eggs, may be obtained free from the Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Best Time to Cut Sudan Grass for Crop of Seed

The best time to cut Sudan grass for seed is when most of the heads are fully ripe. At that time many of the early heads will shatter, but as the plant tillers abundantly, it is not possible to catch all of the heads at the same stage of maturity.

The seed crop is generally cut with a grain binder and is cured in shocks. Sometimes a corn binder is used when the crop has been planted in rows on rich land and has grown very large and coarse, but ordinarily a grain binder is better. A grain separator will thresh and clean the seed perfectly if the seed is plump and ripe when harvested, but if the seed is cut too early it will be light and some of it will be blown over in the straw. For threshing light seed a clover huller is probably better than a grain separator.

When Pasture Is Short Feed Corn Meal Mash

If the pasture is short, or if it is desirable to force the goslings for an early market, a mash composed of corn meal, wheat middlings and ground oats in equal parts by weight, mixed with 5 per cent of meat scraps will make an excellent feed. Grit and oyster shell should be available as well as a good supply of water. Mature geese can be handled in a similar manner. Unless they are being confined for some special reason, they will secure most of their living from good range. During the breeding season they should receive a mash similar to that enumerated above.

Regular Cleaning Up for American Cities

American cities are getting their faces scrubbed, and a new industry is rapidly assuming very interesting proportions, says Merle Thorpe in Nation's Business Magazine. Send your office building to the laundry, and get it back by Saturday night, nicely washed and ironed! Washington, a number of northern municipalities, and, in the South, Atlanta, and other cities, are going in for cleanliness, and as the dingy buildings shake off their soot and dust, and emerge with shining facades, all dolled up and well-lathered behind the ears, one has to rub his eyes to recognize his own home town.

In Washington, for example, a new white city, spick and span, is coming into view by the magic of soap and water, and within the past year, the artistic beauty of the nation's capital has been greatly enhanced. It costs around $2,500 to steam clean and press an office building of average size, while the job of spick and spanning up the treasury or the Union station might run up as high as $12,000. It is worth it. Beauty and cleanliness are real assets to any community.

Retain Roadside in Its Natural Beauty

The problems of attractive communities in advertising their recreational and residence advantages should be linked up in the mind of the community authorities with the advisability of protecting the town's beauty by keeping the roadsides approaching it free from everything but their natural beauty, according to a report which has just been made by the Division of Housing and Town Planning for the commonwealth of Massachusetts. The building of a new main highway is not merely an engineering problem. On the contrary, it is primarily a social and economic problem, a problem of killing or making the region, the report holds.

"A region rendered uninhabited except by filling stations, hot-dog stands and billboards is blighted, not helped," the report says. "Let a town, particularly what we call a good summer town, protect every residence by a good zoning plan, and keep its roadsides free from everything but their natural beauty, and the whole country will know that town. No town differently treated can compete with it."—Detroit News.

Beauty in Common Brick

No other exterior material offers such a rich variety of colors as the common brick. And color is imperative in present-day homes. Nor is any other so adaptable in the working out of softened textural effects. The common brick is in a class by itself in this respect. Other brick stress their uniformity of color and texture. Common brick are never alike; always there is a pronounced variation not only in color tones but in texture and form. They burn unevenly, their lines are irregular, their fire flashings never the same. And in these ever-present variations lie their greatest charm.—Building Economy.

Prohibits Overcrowding

An attempt to limit the density of population in residence areas is made in a unique building code restriction adopted by the city of Madison, N. J., a suburban community which is attempting to protect itself against the piling up of congestion in its residence sections.

An amendment to the building code prohibits the erection in any part of that community, of buildings to house more than one family for each 2,500 square feet of lot area. This is equivalent to limiting the maximum density of population to 17 families to the acre.

Qualities Needed in Roof

A roof that is tricky is to be despised. It is to be made over. It can't go on with its undependable character. The worst thing about a defective roof is that its meanness will show when least expected and least desired.

There are artistic roofs that endure. Beauty and utility will be found the winning team in any building proposition. Nothing sets off a domicile to such good advantage as a top that is picturesque. But it must be waterproof and fire-resisting as well.

Eliminate Excess Signs

The North Shore (Illinois) Real Estate board is working to eliminate excess "For Sale" signs or North shore properties. The board recommends that in order to prevent the injury to the sale value of properties occasioned by the presence of ten to fifteen signs on a single lot, as is sometimes seen in a site facing a highway, the present signs be removed and a single sign put in its place reading: "See Your Realtor."—Chicago Daily News.

Electric fountains, in addition to beautifying the home, are an extremely healthful feature.

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

Wherever you live, you will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

Mercy a Ratification

Herbert Hoover's popularity is growing at a rate that foreca. another Republican tidal wave in November. Mr. Hoover's quiet dignity and reserve and lack of political bombast has already won for him the confidence of the nation. The election will be merely in the nature of a ratification.—Lynn Item.

TROUBLE BEGINS WHEN KIDNEYS FAIL.

A slow but sure poisoning of the system follows when impaired kidney action allows poisonous waste matter to remain in the blood stream. F. M. Platte, Secy, Switchmen's Union, Peoria, Ill., says: "Two bottles of Foley Pills diuretic removed all symptoms of my kidney trouble, stopping backache, correcting irregular kidney action, clearing the secretions. Foley Pills diuretic have my heartiest recommendations." Satisfaction guaranteed. Men and women everywhere use and recommend them.—Hite's Drug Store. adv.

AUTUMN DAYS

Autumn days should be saving days.

It is the season when all animal life is making preparation for the unproductive season of snow and cold.

Man should look even farther ahead than the one season and prepare for the days when sickness, accident, or age will reduce earning power.

On October 17, 1913, by a vote of 43 to 12, the Court of Impeachment voted to remove William Sulzer from the office of governor of the State of New York. It was the first time in the history of the state that a governor has ever been impeached, and its most powerful lesson was the power of a Tammany Boss's wrath.—M. R. Werner in Tammany Hall.
