Commencement June 13

TWENTY-SIX TO GRADUATE
FROM LOCAL SCHOOL.

Professor F. S. Goodrich of Albion to give Commencement Address.

The East Jordan High School graduation exercises will take place the week of June 9. The regular Baccalaureate service will be at the High School Auditorium at 7:30 on June 9. Rev. James Leitch will be the speaker. Rev. C. W. Sidebotham, Chaplain. There will be special music at this service. The public of course is invited to this service as well as all other exercises of the week.

Class Day comes Wednesday, June 12. The Class Day program is always interesting not only to the Seniors and their friends but to all others who are acquainted with different members of the out-going class.

Commencement Exercises take place Thursday, June 13 at 7:30. There are twenty-six Seniors graduating. A rather remarkable coincidence to think that the exercises are also on June 13 and the class with twenty-six members is divided into thirteen girls and thirteen boys.

Frederick S. Goodrich, Professor of English of Albion College will give the Commencement address. Mr. Goodrich is one of the best Commencement speakers in the State and without question will give an appropriate address for the occasion. His subject will possibly be given in next week's Herald.

The Valedictorian this year is Henrietta Severance. Salutatorian, Dorothy Cook. These two girls have been very close friends in High School and this again is an unusual situation. Other members of the class have made unusual records. These will be mentioned at the Commencement exercises.

A definite program of the Commencement exercises will likely appear in next week's Herald. It is the intention of those in charge to make the programs as short and to the point as possible.

Following is the roll of the Seniors of 1928-29.

SENIORS—1928-29

TO FACILITATE YOUR MAIL DELIVERY

Notice To Patrons on Rural Mail Routes emanating from East Jordan: In regards to Mail and new Mail Boxes.

Patrons on Rural Mail Routes from East Jordan when in the City any afternoon during the week (except Sunday) may call at the Postoffice General Delivery Window for their letter mail and daily newspapers, which arrive via new Star Route from Boyne City at 11:00 a. m. This mail will be held in main office until 4:30 p. m., after which you may call at Carrier Room.

The patrons on Rural Mail Routes should take advantage of this added good mail service—you may have an important letter waiting for you. If you are a subscriber of a daily newspaper, by calling for your mail you can read the Saturday edition on Saturday instead of Monday.

The No. 2 (Large Size) Mail Box only will be provided and erected by patrons of Rural and Star Routes on and after July 1, 1929.

All approved rural mail boxes now in use on rural and star routes will be continued in use so long as they remain weatherproof and serviceable.

Patrons on new routes, new patrons on existing routes or extensions thereof, or patrons desiring to provide boxes of sufficient capacity to contain parcel-post mail will be required to furnish the No. 2 large size box after July 1, 1929.

Standard Oil Demonstration

RUSSELL HOTEL NEXT THURSDAY-EVENING.

B. A. Powell of Grand Rapids, representing the Standard Oil Co., products, will hold a public demonstration at the Russell Hotel, East Jordan, Thursday, June 6th, commencing at 7:30 p. m.

In addition to the regular RED CROWN Ethyl demonstration he will run a distillation on Gasoline showing how their gasoline compares with government specifications and also make a doctor test, showing the difference between sweet and sour gasoline and explaining how this difference in Gasoline effects the use in automobiles.

All auto owners, garage men, tractor and fleet owners are invited to be present. A motor will be used in demonstrating.

If you have a skelton in your closet make no bones of it.

Some people are never satisfied until they find out something that makes them dissatisfied.

CALF CLUB WORK

Plans were made at a meeting held at the Barnard Grange on May 23rd to organize a Calf Club in that locality. A large attendance of interested boys were present and a complete outline of the calf club program was given by the County Agent. Of the 14 boys present, eight stated they would be mighty glad to join and had already gotten permission from their parents to participate. Six other boys were anxious to join and would confer with their parents.

Another meeting will be held soon at which time the club will be organized.

LANDSCAPE DEMONSTRATIONS

Two splendid Landscape demonstrations were conducted last week, under the supervision of O. I. Gregg, Specialist of the Michigan State College.

The first was on the farm of W. K. Straw, Charlevoix, on Wednesday May 22, and the second at the home of Ben Gardner, Boyne City, on Friday, May 24th. At each demonstration a fine attendance saw the actual planting of the shrubs, the kind that were used, and the manner of planting. Each farm home was landscaped by Mr. Gregg at a previous visit, and the work carried out according to the plans left.

With the expenditure of a small sum of money, a great difference can be made in the attractiveness and natural beauty of the farm home. Nothing can be done that will add more to human happiness and enjoyment than to have an attractive home to live in and beautiful surroundings. Whenever you drive by these demonstrations, be sure to stop and see the work which has been done.

GUERNSEYS

During the last week three high quality purebred Guernsey bulls have been secured by Charlevoix County farmers to improve their herds.

As a result of a co-operative agreement between the State Guernsey Breeder's Ass'n and the Charlevoix County Association two splendid well-bred bulls will be placed in communities where the farmers are desiring to use better sires than they have ever used before. One of the bulls will be kept by Clyde Smith, and the other by Robert Gregory & Son, both of Charlevoix.

The third bull has been purchased by Bert Lumley of Boyne City. This bull has splendid production back of him, having the 6 nearest dams producing 700 lbs. of butterfat. At the present there are 16 purebred Guernsey bulls being used in the County. Within a very few years wonderful improvement will take place.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Charlevoix County's Nutrition Project Series II closed May 23, 1929 with a very successful Achievement Day held in the Presbyterian Church in Boyne City. In spite of a down-pouring rain there was a splendid crowd and most of the groups were represented at Roll Call. The Peninsular group responded with 14 present. The forenoon meeting was called to order by the County Chairman, Mrs. Maude Kightlinger. Community singing led by Miss Dundas accompanied by Mrs. Charles Mascho of Charlevoix. Miss Dundas, Specialist of E. Lansing then gave a fine report for the County.

There were 13 groups and all completed the course. There were 145 members enrolled at the beginning and a high percentage completed the course. From nine to eighty-five per group were helped outside of groups. Deer Lake being the finest group of helping eighty-five outsiders. 302 members talked to others about Nutrition. Many members agreed the course to have been helpful in learning to economize in time and money and also was very practical. Many defects among school children have been discovered and corrected by this study course.

Mrs. J. R. Furman of the entertaining-committee in her very clever way grouped the diners by tagging them into delectable menus from "frog legs" to "prune dumplings," which caused much merriment and was the means of introducing many who would not have otherwise become acquainted. About 90 guests sat down to a balanced banquet at 1:15. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanderson of Ironton, very graciously left their dinner to entertain with two fine musical selections. Thanks! The meeting again adjourned at 2:15 eastern standard time in the main auditorium of the church with 100 or more attending. Group singing was again enjoyed, followed by a pleasant surprise when a mixed quartet (Mrs. G. C. Conkle, Mrs. F. D. Thompson, S. Arbuckle, and E. V. Rueggeger) rendered two beautiful selections, accompanied by Mrs. C. Bissell at the piano. Mr. O. I. Gregg, East Lansing Landscape Specialist, was then introduced and held the crowd in raptures while he converted an entire group of dilapidated old farm buildings into a scene of grandeur, all the while telling the story of an ambitious home loving couple who had foreseen the possibilities of altering it from a run-down property into a beautiful modern home inside and out. It was a wonderful demonstration.

Mrs. Louise Campbell, State Home Demonstrator Leader, was introduced and also held the audience enthralled with her heart-to-heart talk in "Home Makers of Tomorrow." Mrs. Campbell makes one feel enthused to get started on the new project. She reported 1314 local project-leaders in Michigan—88% finishers. These Leaders have extended the "cream of college work" to 12,000 women within the 49 counties who have sponsored the work with an average of 500 women-per county who have extended it to 24,000 others. Isn't that a fine record and how much we should appreciate our M. S. C., Boards of Supervisors, and County Agents. Mr. B. C. Mellencamp has been untiring in helping to make a success of the several projects in the County.

The exhibits were fine and showed thoughtful study and planning.

The properly appointed table was much admired both for its beauty and simplicity. The leaders were made to feel that their labors had been repaid with the co-operation and assistance of their group members. Many were heard to say "it's the best Achievement Day we've had" and the Leaders hope to have an increase in membership for the new project, "Home Management."

EAST JORDAN POTATO CLUB

The members of the East Jordan Potato Club had a very interesting and instructive meeting on May 22 with 12 members present in addition to several of the senior partners. Much useful information was given to the members pertaining to their project. The boys are working hard to get their fields in shape and preparing to get their seed in preparation for the seed treatment.

The most interesting feature of the meeting was the election of officers, which was conducted by the members themselves. It is highly gratifying that these young boys and girls actually carried the meeting through in a splendid manner. The following is the result:

President—Ralph Shepard, East Jordan.
Vice-President—Gardelle Nice,

WEST SIDE STUDENTS TO GIVE OPERETTA AT AUDITORIUM

"The Quest of the Pink Parasol," an Operetta in three short acts will be given in the High School Auditorium on Friday, June 7, at 12:30 o'clock.

This assembly program will be given by the children of the West Side School instead of the customary outdoor pageant.

The Queen of the Fairies allows a discontented little poppy and a discontented little girl to change places. The Poppy-Maid goes in search of a Pink Parasol, and Ruth shares the Poppies fun, and later misfortune. Each finds the new life a disappointment, and the Queen, convinced that they have learned the evil effects of vanity and discontent, restores to all the Poppies their original places in Fairyland. Ruth, again a mortal, receives the Pink Parasol "for remembrance."

Jean Carney as Ruth, Helen Burbank as the Poppy Maid, Emma Jane Clark, taking the part of the Fairy Queen, and Henry Reinhart as the gardener, carry the leading parts.

A section of the auditorium will be reserved for parents and visitors and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Adjourned regular meeting of the Common Council of the City of East Jordan held at the Council Rooms, Monday evening, May 27, 1929.

Meeting was called to order by the Mayor. Present: Mayor Gidley, and Aldermen Taylor, Watson, Severance, and Williams. Absent: Aldermen Clark and Mayville.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Moved by Alderman Watson, supported by Alderman Severance, that C. J. Malpass or his agents, upon making a deposit of $25.00 with the City Clerk, be granted permission to move a building from Bowen's Addition through Bowen Street to State Street, through State Street to Maple Street, and through Maple Street to city limits. Motion carried.

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Williams, who moved its adoption; seconded by Alderman Watson:

Resolved, that the sum of $20,336.10 be raised by a general tax on the real and personal estate of the City of East Jordan for all purposes for the year 1929.

Adopted by the Council of the City of East Jordan on the twenty-seventh day of May, 1929, by an aye and nay vote as follows:

Ayes—Taylor, Watson, Severance, Williams and Gidley.

Nays—None.

The items and appropriations covered by the foregoing tax levy are as follows:

Loans	$ 5,000.00
Salaries	2,890.00
Street and Sewer Fund	1,500.00
Library Fund	1,500.00
Cemetery Fund	1,500.00
Advertising	600.00
Tourist Park	300.00
Twelve Band Concerts	300.00
Band Instructor, 3 months	150.00
St. Lighting & Incidentals	6,596.10
Total	$20,336.10

On motion by Alderman Severance, meeting was adjourned.

OTIS J. SMITH, City Clerk.

East Jordan.
Secretary—Alma Dougherty, East Jordan.

In addition an advisory committee was selected consisting of three of the business men.

BOYNE CITY POTATO CLUB

The second Potato Club organized for this year is the one sponsored and supported by several business men of Boyne City co-operating with the Boyne City Progressive Club and the County Agent. There are eight farm boys already enrolled with an equal number of business men who are acting as senior partners. Each boy will grow approximately one-half acre plot and will use good certified seed, fertilizer, approved seed treatment, as well as proper spraying of the crop throughout the growing season. In addition, each member will keep accurate reports of all costs and expenses and will have a potato exhibit later in the summer.

The last meeting was held on May 14th and at which time the following subjects were discussed: Fertilizing the field, seed treatment, cutting of the seed, spacing distances, and depth of planting.

Following is the membership:—

Invited To Emmet Show

NEIGHBORING COUNTY WILL DEDICATE HER AIRPORT
ON JUNE 13TH.

People of East Jordan, Charlevoix County, and all Northern Michigan have been invited to be present when Emmet County dedicates her new County Airport on the forenoon of Thursday, June 13th. Emmet expects to be the first county in Michigan to dedicate a field under the provisions of the new Michigan aviation law, and Gov. Green, who with Mrs. Green will be on the Michigan Air Tour which will conduct the service, has been asked to speak. Department of Commerce officials also will speak. Robert Tripp, chairman of the Emmet County Board of Supervisors airport committee, will be chairman.

The Michigan Air Tour will land at the airport the afternoon of Wednesday, June 12th, the 50 planes coming down one at a time to be parked in position by Homer Zipp, Petoskey, former world war flyer, who is the officiator. They are booked to arrive at 4:30 o'clock, eastern standard time at the field, which is about six miles north of Petoskey on the road from Harbor Springs.

Visitors will be admitted to the field for the landing of the planes, reception of the Tour officials, Gov. Green and government officials and visiting tourists. Parking tags are being provided for automobiles, and the car with its entire party may be driven right onto the field. Car parking tickets are already on sale in East Jordan at 50c each. There is no admission charge and the car parking ticket is good for as many visits to the field on June 12 and 13 as the car party cares to make.

Wednesday evening, June 12th, a big banquet will be held at the Hotel Perry in Petoskey, where places will be arranged for 300 at a very delightful dinner. Tickets are on sale at the Petoskey and Harbor Springs Chambers of Commerce at $2.00 per plate. A number of government officials and Gov. Green have been invited to speak.

The Emmet County Airport is located halfway between Petoskey and Harbor Springs on the concrete paved highway. It is between the highway and Lake Michigan, with the land so arranged that no matter what direction the wind, planes may take off properly. The field is being properly marked, telephones installed and other conveniences arranged. For the dedication it will be fenced, so that the spectators will not get out onto the runways. The field will be open Wednesday evening for inspection and it is understood that plane pilots will be there to explain the fine points of their machines. Airplane rides also are being arranged for.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of my darling mother, Nellie Ribble, who passed away one year ago—May 27, 1928.

Surrounded by friends I am lonesome,
In the midst of pleasures I'm blue
With a smile on my face, but my heart aches
Longing dear mother for you.
Sadly missed by her daughter—

E. J. H. S. STUDENTS WIN STATE HONORS.

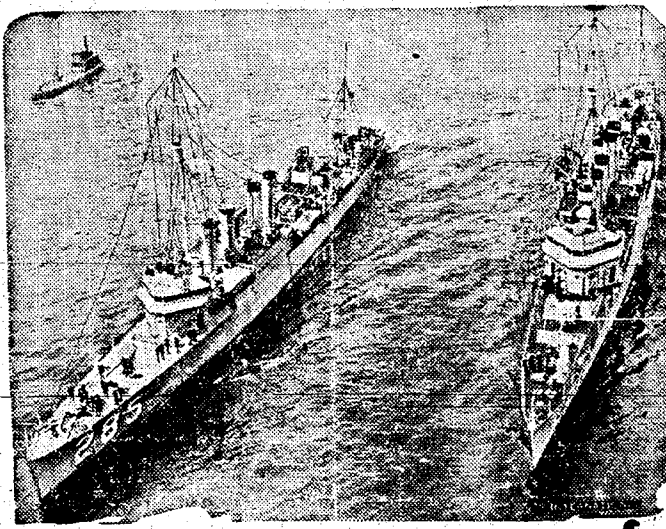

Through the able coaching of Miss Dorothy Merritt, in charge of the Commercial work of East Jordan High School, the above two students won signal honors in recent first-year Typing Contests. In the District Contest, Miss Boswell took first, and Miss Wangeman second. At the Scholastic Contest held at Mt. Pleasant they won again in the same order, Miss Boswell having a speed of 62 words per minute and Miss Wangeman 57. At the State Contest held at Kalamazoo these two won place over representatives from nineteen districts including such schools as Lansing, Cadillac, Saginaw, Flint, Monroe, Battle Creek and Grand Rapids. Here Katherine Wangeman won second place with a speed of 59 words per minute and Bea Boswell won fourth place with a speed of 55 words per minute. This means that East Jordan has the second and fourth best first-year typists in Michigan. They are honor students in other classes as well.

RENEW DISCARDED PIECES OF FURNITURE

Corner of Farm Home Living Room, Showing Upholstered and Refinished Furniture.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Reupholstering furniture at home is not a difficult matter. A woman who has reasonable skill in using a hammer and tacks, and who can cut out garments according to a pattern, will usually find no great difficulty in doing over some of the upholstered pieces that need new covers. Sometimes a chair or a sofa that has been consigned to the attic as too shabby for use can be redeemed by a little furniture polish and a new dress.

The old cover is usually removed to serve as a pattern for the new one and also to permit an inspection of the stuffing already in the furniture. If there is the slightest evidence of the presence of such insects as moths, tobacco beetles, or carpet beetles, all the old stuffing should be discarded and destroyed. The wooden framework should be thoroughly scrubbed with very hot water. If a treatment with gasoline can be given out-of-doors, it will still further reduce the chances of unobserved insect eggs surviving to do later damage. Sometimes furniture can be fumigated to get rid of troublesome insects, but this is difficult to do under home conditions, and most fumigants should be handled by persons experienced in their use.

After the framework is thoroughly free from the possibility of harboring insects or eggs, the supporting webbing should be tightened and springs examined and placed in the right positions. Clean new stuffing of the desired kind should be used. The bureau of entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture suggests still another precaution against moth damage. As moth larvae do not feed on cotton, some furniture makers cover the inside stuffing with a complete unbroken layer of cotton batting, fitted closely over the stuffing material and brought to the exact edges of the covering fabric. This layer prevents moth larvae from nesting in the porous vegetable fibers next to the wool or hair covers and eating them from inside. Surface damage can be largely prevented by any good housewife who goes over her furniture watchfully at frequent intervals. If the layer of cotton batting is pulled thin in fitting, or broken at any point, the chances of protection will be lessened.

The illustration shows a small sofa and a hair rocker which were successfully covered by a farm woman in Iowa, following the suggestions of the county home demonstration agent. Extension workers have found women eager to learn how they can refinish woodwork and renew upholstery. A great many discarded pieces of furniture have thus been brought from dusty attic hiding places and restored to usefulness.

An optimist is one who calls his invention fool-proof.

We still do not know of anything you can get less of for a lot of money than a navy.

The wise man knows how little he knows of what may be known.

The less the average man knows about a thing the more he wants to talk about it.

NOWLAND HILL

Wilson Township
(Edited by Mrs. C. M. Nowland)

Eugene Kurchinski and family moved out from Boyne City to their farm on the Hill last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Clute called at the Mrs. Wm. Deadman farm last Friday evening, purchasing two pigs from a litter of 17 nice pigs, only losing one from 18, unusual record.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Nowland entertained on the evening of May 17th with a pedro party in honor of their son, Charles Nowland's 40th birthday. Lunch was served at a late hour.

Percy Batterbee of Lansing spent the week end here a week ago.

Mrs. John Keenan returned Sunday, May 19th with her son, Ted, to Midland, after a week's visit with her niece, Mrs. Ray Nowland.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shepard visited their daughter, Mrs. Joe Leu and new baby, of the Peninsula.

Over 100 attended Wilson Township School Day at the Deer Lake Grange Hall. Knop School received the largest number of 1st prizes. Slaughter school none, Afton won 1st in races and 1st in 7th grade.

Slaughter School with Virgil Wise, teacher, closed May 27 for summer vacation. Knop School, Elgie Dow, teacher closes May 31, Deer Lake, Vera Halverson, teacher, closed May 15th, Afton school, Mrs. Esther Miles teacher, closes June 5th.

The Ladies Aid of the Wilson Lutheran Church meet next Sunday June 2nd at the home of Mrs. Frank Behling Sr.

Mrs. Bradford left Tuesday to visit her daughter at Plainwell, near Kalamazoo, after spending the past nine months with her daughter, Mrs. Mike Stack.

Peter Keisler visited his niece, Mrs. Victor Peck the past week. Sunday Mr. Peck's took him to his home near Alanson. While here they had a birthday supper on Thursday in honor of his 80th anniversary.

Harry Eaton and John Martin of Wilson Township received telegrams last week of the death of the former's mother and latter's sister, Mrs. Augusta Argetsinger at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Kline at Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. Argetsinger was married to Tony Eaton in Wilson.

Two children, Harry and Luella were born to that union. Later she was married to Clyde Argetsinger. One son, Floyd was born to them. (She was divorced from both men who live in Boyne City.) She was a resident of East Jordan, Wilson and Boyne City, going to Ohio about two years ago. Three brothers survive—Fred, of South Arm, John of Wilson, Louis Martin of Pellston.

Notice is hereby given that the meeting of the Board of Review of South Arm Township, will be held at the Town Hall on Monday, June 10th.

Painted Ladies in Vogue

Painted ladies will be in the mode this summer. Red, orange, blue and green, will be the most popular color schemes that will be worked on chiffons, linens and silk. The picture shows a coat of natural linen painted in futuristic designs, over a frock of silk.

Community Building

Areas of Industry on City's Outskirts

The larger industries are not afraid to go farther away on the outskirts of the city than was considered desirable in the past, and there is a tendency among the smaller industries which are looking to the future to do likewise, according to H. Findley French, director of the industrial bureau of Baltimore.

This means that it is now necessary for the man who is specializing in finding the proper location for industrial plants to reconsider constantly various tracts of land that have been passed over in the previous general industrial development of the city because they have lacked various facilities or because of the character of the ground itself.

In looking ahead ten years to the probable industrial development of the city, as the industrial recruiter must do, conditions which brought about the rejection of certain areas for industrial purposes are found to have now been offset by other factors, Mr. French pointed out and tracts which have been passed over can now be brought into use and will be found to hold exceptional opportunities for profitable development.

For industrial buildings in good condition, not overspecialized in their plans, there is always some market provided they are situated in a growing community.

In the sale or rental of industrial buildings, 85 or more per cent of the prospects in any town will come from the town itself.

Prune Grapes in Winter to Get Best Results

Winter is the season for pruning grapes—anytime when the wood isn't frozen, for then the vines are brittle and will snap off if handled.

Pruning grapes is in reality thinning the crop. The idea is to remove enough wood so that the strength of the vine will be thrown into fewer bunches, and make them larger and finer. In general this result will be best gained by pruning the vine to about 30 or 40 buds distributed over four or five canes.

The size of the canes is important. According to Michigan studies the best yields are from canes about one-fourth of an inch thick, measured between the fifth and sixth buds. Big canes have spent their strength in producing wood and are poor producers of buds.

There are several different systems of pruning and training grapes, and your agricultural college will be glad to give you the best advice for your section.

Cut Out Over-Wintering Cankers to Cure Blight

Get after the fire-blight during the dormant season by cutting out the over-wintering cankers, for they are the sources of next year's infection. The cankers are often found at the base of blighted twigs and are dark-sunken areas in the bark. The cankers should be cut out beyond the discolored part of the inner bark. The wound should be disinfected with corrosive sublimate and painted over with white lead paint, or coal tar. Blighted twigs and branches should be cut off during the growing season about six inches below the blighted part and the stub disinfected. The disinfesting can be quickly done with a swab on the end of a stick which is carried in a bottle of disinfectant. A fast growing tree is more susceptible to fire-blight than a slow-growing one, and a tree in full bearing is usually less susceptible than a young tree.

Around the Farm

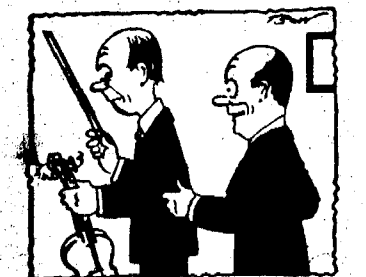

All work and no play generally makes a grouch.

An inch of compost manure put on your lawn now will give good green grass next spring.

Cutting the weed trees in the farm woodlot will improve the quality of the stand in future years.

Tree-Lined Highways Well Worth the Cost

Cincinnati's city manager is planting trees along the city streets, and of course arranging to have them cared for. In Indianapolis, the News of that city remarks, we are cutting them down in wholesale fashion. We should mend our ways. Wherever the widening of streets makes the removal of trees necessary—and many valuable ones have been lost in this way—new ones should be set out immediately. None of those now standing should be cut down except under the pressure of absolute necessity. They are not only beautifiers—and beautiful in themselves—but most useful. A wide expanse of asphalt roadway and concrete sidewalks exposed to a scorching sun, entirely unshaded, is not pleasant to think about even in zero weather.

Here beauty and utility combine, as they do not always do. The widened streets will be just as wide if bordered with trees, or, better yet, over-arched by them. They will be just as wide, and vastly more comfortable for the people who travel them. The question of cost is important, and will have to be taken into account. We could well afford to economize in other directions if it were necessary to bring to pass this great reform.

Move to Beautify Roads

The act passed at the last session of congress permitting the federal government to pay half the cost of wayside planting along federal-aid highways will give considerable impetus to the movement long fostered by women's clubs and other social organizations. Its effect soon will be evident in an improvement of the appearance of the main interstate roads, according to the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Latest available figures show that 25 states have no laws governing tree and shrub planting along highways. A few of the remaining 23 have good laws, but the majority have indifferent ones.

Importance of Roofing

"Consider the difference between the expressions, 'beautify my roof, and within my walls, and you will see how important a part of the house the roof must always be to the mind as well as to the eye."

These words of the great Ruskin set our thoughts a-roofing.

There was a time when the roof was looked upon as nothing more than a shelter from the elements, but today it is regarded as one of the first essentials of good architectural style. More and more its form and material are receiving the best thought of the foremost architects, and the most successful home builders.

Regulating Highway Signs

Billboard and other advertising signs along the Kansas highways must come down by the first of next year. That order has been issued by the Kansas state highway commission.

The commission's order grows out of an act adopted by the Kansas legislature last winter to the effect that no signs of any kind shall be permitted along the highways except officially authorized standard road markers. Both convenience and safety in travel as well as the appearance of the highways were factors in the legislation.

A special provision of the act was a ban on billboards within 1,000 feet of a highway intersection or railroad grade crossing. Signs that conflict with the rule must be pulled down and destroyed or placed farther back from the highways.

Build to Suit Needs

The wise builder will forget style and by building to suit his needs along common-sense lines can be reasonably sure of a satisfying result. The ideal home appears to have grown on its lot quite cheerfully and naturally. The cost of keeping it in repair is slight. It is a source of lasting pride and satisfaction and a family is the better for having lived in it. Whoever builds this kind of a house secures two things—the most and best for his money.

Economical Construction

First-class construction, including materials and workmanship, for both interior and exterior, is absolutely essential. Otherwise what may appear on the surface to be a well-built building may deteriorate after a few years, and become a costly burden because of heavy repair bills, maintenance costs and loss of tenants. Materials and types of construction should be used which will suffer the least possible wear and tear.

Really Important Point

There is a wealth of wisdom and a key to happiness in these words voiced at the opening of a meeting of the Massachusetts state committee for better homes: "It is not so important to own your own home as it is to make the most of the one you already have."—Exchange.

Community Building

Time Has Shown Value of Garden Contests

Nearly all cities with a fine sense of civic pride have inaugurated city beautiful or civic improvement movements. These usually are undertaken by clubs or other civic organizations while neighborhood interests are looked after by garden clubs. Efforts to stimulate interest in flower and vegetable growing are usually one of the most important phases of this movement.

Garden contests managed and promoted by such organizations have proved popular. It has been found most satisfactory to choose judges from outside towns. The work in cities where the competitions have proved most successful and popular is usually apportioned to committees. One committee takes charge of receiving entries and soliciting them. Another committee takes charge of publicity, seeking newspaper notices and circulating garden literature.

Another committee has the work of taking photographs of the various gardens, one of the attractive features being the throwing of the garden on a screen when the winners are announced, the winners being kept secret until slides of their gardens are exhibited.

Another committee is named to visit the gardens to give advice from time to time. The result is, these garden contests have been found to net a real cash value to the contestants in food supplies and flowers for the beautification of home and yard.

PORK CHOPS WITH APPLES ARE GOOD

Excellent for Winter Dinner Menu When Stuffed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Delicious for a winter dinner menu are these stuffed pork chops, cooked and served with the apple that tradition seems to require with pork in any form. Buttered cabbage or Brussels sprouts would be a good choice of vegetable to accompany these chops, with something else a little crisp in texture, such as raw celery, or raw Jerusalem artichokes, sliced very thin, or a plain lettuce salad with French dressing, suggests the bureau of home economics.

- 1 1/2 lbs. pork chops, 1/2 lbs. minced onion
- 1/2 cups fine bread crumbs, 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley, 1/4 tsp. seasoning
- 1 tbs. chopped parsley, 1 large red apple, sliced
- 1 tbs. butter.

After the rib chops are cut 1 1/2 inches thick, have the butcher slit the meat portion in half, cutting from the outer rim of fat toward the bone, so that a layer of stuffing can be inserted. Be careful, however, not to cut so that the meat is separated from the bone. Or, if preferred, the pockets for stuffing the chops can easily be cut at home with a sharp knife.

Make a stuffing of the bread crumbs, celery, and other ingredients listed, except the apples. Cook the celery, onion, and parsley in the butter for 5 minutes. Add the bread crumbs and seasoning, and stir until well mixed.

Sprinkle the chops lightly with salt, pepper, and flour. Have a heavy skillet very hot and sear the chops until lightly browned on both sides. Then fill each chop with the stuffing and insert toothpicks to hold the edges together. Put the chops on a rack in a baking dish or pan with cover. On the top of each chop place, skin side up, one-half of an apple which has been cored but not pared. Cover and bake in a moderate oven from 1/2 to 3/4 of an hour, or until the meat is tender. Lift out the chops from the pan onto a hot platter and remove the toothpick skewers. Be careful to keep the apples in place on top of the chops. Garnish with parsley and serve at once.

Celery Fritters.

Wash and scrape one bunch of celery, cut in inch pieces and cook for five minutes in boiling salted water. Drain and cool slightly. Mix and sift two-thirds cupful of flour with one-third teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper. Mix one well beaten egg with half a cupful of milk and stir into the dry ingredients. Beat until smooth, add the celery and drop from a teaspoon into deep fat that is hot enough to brown a cube of bread in one minute. Cook until golden brown, drain on soft paper and serve with tomato sauce.

See Home as It Will Be

Architectural service is not an extravagance, not even an expense—it is an investment and a genuine saving.

Always build from plans, and before going ahead have a picture made of what the plans call for; in that way avoiding disappointment later when the building is up.

The expense of a rendered perspective sketch is small, and it often reveals the need of changes here and there. These can be easily made in the plans.

Color Treatment of House Is Important

Just as light colors make a house appear larger, so dark colors make a house appear smaller. When a large house is surrounded by dense foliage which throws it in shadow, warm grays and tans provide an interesting treatment. Tall narrow houses look shorter and in better proportion when painted a light color with a dark contrasting trim. A two-color body treatment for the tall, narrow house is also good, though it is well to remember that light colors and dark colors are greatly accentuated when used together.

The upper portion may be painted a darker color, and a medium color used for the trim, will, if properly chosen, help to relate the two body colors. In selecting a color for the trim undue emphasis should be avoided on uninteresting architectural lines. This can be accomplished by keeping the trim color fairly close to the particular tint selected for the body treatment.

For instance, in a yellow house, a light cream trim would not overemphasize unimportant structural lines, but should the house be green, application of this particular trim color would cause each individual detail to appear to the observer in bold relief.

Playground Seen as Aid to Child Welfare

More and more the great nations of the world are acting upon their realization that the strength of their future citizenry depends upon the welfare of the children of today and that fresh air and exercise are important factors in the development of healthy children.

Those who best understand the problems of child welfare realize the necessity of playgrounds for the children of the cities and are leading the movement to preserve these plots of ground for the children.

In England the duke of York, president of the National Playing Field association, is leading an intensive campaign to secure sufficient recreation grounds for the 4,000,000 boys and girls who, at present, have no place but the streets in which to enjoy their games. He has emphasized that the rapidly-increasing population makes the immediate procuring of the property a necessity.

The ideal of the association is to provide a minimum standard of five acres for every thousand persons. Organizations have been formed throughout the country to support the work of the association.—Welfare Magazine.

Years of service in MODEL T FORDS

THE Model T was so strongly and sturdily built that it is still rendering reliable, economical service to motorists in every section of the country. Millions of these cars can be put in shape for two, three and five more years of use at very small cost.

So that you may have this work done economically and satisfactorily, the Ford Motor Company is still devoting a considerable section of its plants to the manufacture of Model T parts. It will continue to do so as long as they are needed by Model T owners. The following list gives the approximate labor charges for reconditioning the Model T Ford:—

Engine
Tune motor (including replacement of commutator case, brush and vibrator points if necessary)	$1.00
Grind valves and clean carbon	$3.75 to 4.00
Overhaul carburetor	1.50
Reline detachable car transmission bands	1.50
Install new pistons or connecting rods	6.00
Tighten all main bearings	6.00
Overhaul motor and transmission	$20.00 to 25.00
Rear System
Replace rear axle assembly	2.50
Install universal joint	3.00
Reline brake shoes	1.50
Replace rear axle shaft, drive shaft pinion, or drive gear	5.00
Overhaul complete rear axle assembly	$5.75 to 7.00
Rebush spring and perches	1.75
Oil and graphite springs	3.00
Front System
Overhaul front axle	$4.00 to 5.00
Rebush spindle bodies and arms (both sides)	2.50
Replace or straighten spindle connecting rod	.75
Tighten radius rod or steering ball cap	.60
Tighten all sockets and joints of front end	1.50
Replace front spring tie bolt or new leaf	2.50
Straighten front axle	3.00
Chassis
Replace rear fender	1.75
Overhaul steering gear	3.50
Repair muffler	1.00
Overhaul radiator	7.50
Repaint Coupe	25.00
Repaint Sedan	25.00
Repaint Touring Car	20.00
Reupholster Runabout	8.00
Reupholster Touring Car	15.00
Replace top deck (Coupe or Sedan)	4.00
Overhaul starting motor	3.00
Overhaul generator	2.60

These prices are approximate and are for labor only, because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The charge for these parts is low, however, because of the established Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

The SANDMAN STORY

ABOUT THE LIONS

"THEY think," said King Lion to one of the other lions, "that we lions do not feel the need of change in the spring."
"Of course the keepers understand, but the people who come to the zoo don't understand at all."
"They say:
"Dear, dear, but I do feel restless. I feel as though I would like to go away on a holiday or take a few days off just doing nothing."
"And then they look at us as though to say:
"Spring means nothing at all to lions."
"But that is where they are wrong. Spring means something to lions."
"Of course, it would mean more if we could wander—it might even mean

The Keepers Gave Me this Great Log.

danger. But even in the zoo we celebrate the spring."
"Of course we do," said the other lions.
"My spring celebration," continued King Lion, "might not be the kind of a celebration others might have."
"They might think it was a strange kind of celebration."
"But I do not have to mind what others think. I'm above gossip."
"Just suppose some one said:
"King Lion looks young for his age, do you suppose it would bother me?"

"No. It would not bother in the least. And so I do not care what they think of my spring celebration. The keepers help me with it."
"Yes, no sooner had spring shown it was on the way this year than the keepers gave me this great log in the yards of my zoo home."
"Then I began my celebration. I sharpened my claws and put them in fine shape for the season."
"It was all in honor of the spring that I did this. Of course, too, it was in honor of my claws!"
The other lion growled a little with amusement.
"Greatly in honor of your claws, I should say," he remarked.
"True! True!" exclaimed King Lion.

"Now, people," he went on after a while, "may not call their spring cleaning a celebration, but they look upon it as something of great importance, and sharpening my claws is the same way with me, though I make a celebration of it, too."
"I like to go in for a spring cleaning. I like to freshen myself up and look spick and span for this season of the year."
"Just as people get themselves new hats and gloves and coats and so forth, so do I spruce up—only I give all attention to my claws."
"Why shouldn't I? My claws are so handsome, so powerful, so beautiful."
"People haven't wonderful claws such as I have. They have no such beauty."
"In the spring with them they clean their houses and throw away old boxes and old papers and old rubbish, but I just settle down by my nice old log and have a splendid time of it."

"I feel sorry for people not having claws. It is true my claws are not of such great use to me here, but even so, I shall not lose my self-respect."
"I shall continue to make them look their best."
"It is just the way I feel," the other lion said. "Just exactly the way I feel."
"And the feelings of a lion are so important," King Lion added.
"Particularly," he said, with a grin, "to a lion!"

TREES

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

We were rushing along through the flat semi-barren lands of Montana. Great stretches of prairie land, gray with sage brush, spread out before us, with here and there a green patch of fresh growing grain. The farmyards with the low two or three roomed dwelling houses stood bare and treeless under the burning sun.

There was an unobstructed view across the plain to the rocky buttes along the horizon. To a middle-westerner used to trees and gardens gay with flowers it was a cheerless, almost depressing scene.
A man from Alaska was sitting across the aisle from me looking out gloomily upon the waste of bad lands.
"They can have the whole d-d place for all of me," he remarked to me finally. "I don't want none of it. I've got to have trees."
I had supposed, ignorantly, of course, never having been farther north than Prince Rupert, that gold and icebergs constituted the chief products of Alaska, but my neighbor assured me that there are all sorts of trees in Alaska. His statement made me want more than ever to go there, for, like him, I don't see quite how I could get on without trees. A house without trees about it stands out naked and unadorned, beaten by the winter winds and scorched by the burning sun of midsummer.

When we moved from a wooded farm to the prairies when I was seven, the first thing father did after the house was built was to surround the place with trees brought from the timber lands along the Vermilion—maples and quick growing poplars, and elms and sycamores and little tapering red cedars, which he kept trimmed into curious geometrical shapes. The place did not seem like home until there were trees about it. He liked them so well that he dropped seeds of the soft maple in the hedge rows about the farm, so that it was not long until there was a row of maples shooting up all along the roadway. We seemed safer; we were more contented, the place took on a greater air of comfort and homelikeness with the trees about.
When Nancy and I came to build our house there was a huge maple tree standing in the middle of the lot just where the house would naturally sit. We gazed at it towering up into the sky and the longer we looked the more impossible it seemed for us to sacrifice it. The house stands today farther back from the street than any other, and in front of it stands the old maple like a guardian angel, its branches spreading out and furnishing cool shade during the hot summer.

"Why did you build your house so far back?" every one asked us. It was for the sake of the tree. It would have seemed sacrilege to have cut it down after it had been growing in strength and beauty for so many years.
There is a question that we have to settle now. We have so many trees that it is difficult to have flowers, for flowers insist on sunshine. But I think the trees will stand and we shall be content with grass. The trees seem like old tried friends whom we cannot do without.

PRICELESS POSSESSIONS

THE department of health of the city of New York recently estimated the annual loss to that city from smoke at $96,000,000. An estimate of the value of tobacco consumed by self-indulgent Americans in 1928 has been placed at $2,000,000,000. A few years ago a copy of Gutenberg's Bible was purchased for $120,000. Recently a number of volumes of Shakespeare were donated to Harvard university which cost the donor $500,000.

The tendency to estimate, in terms of dollars, many of our priceless possessions may be necessary for certain purposes but the question still remains, is this the most important method of arriving at an estimate of their real worth? For instance, by what law of computation can a department of health measure, in terms of cash values, the loss to a big city by the smoke nuisance; or, the ultimate effect upon human life created by consumption of $2,000,000,000 worth of tobacco in one year; or, who can measure the real loss to our country should the congressional library at Washington be destroyed; or, estimate the assets of Harvard university as increased by so many dollars through the addition to its library of priceless manuscripts?

Are there no standards of value to be considered other than monetary? What is the value of a home? What is its cost in cash, or the insurable value in case of fire? What is a library worth? What is its actual cost to purchase the books? What is the ultimate value of a great painting, or manuscript of music or literature? What some one was willing and able to pay for their possession? What is the affection of a loved one worth? Everything or nothing depending upon reciprocal heart values.

Cash values may be very necessary and important in their place but the ultimate worth of one's possessions, as they affect the art of living, cannot be evaluated in terms of cash. They are priceless because they represent values upon which depend the permanence of civilization and the lasting and effective development of human life.

THE CIRCUS

WHAT a thrill for the youngsters in the announcement, "The circus is in town!" And grown-up, too, are its eager patrons. The circus is a relic of a form of entertainment of the ancient Romans from whom it takes its name. The Latin "circus," meaning ring or circle, was the name given by the Romans to the space in which they held chariot races and contests.

It is a far cry, however, between the modern circus and the circus ring of ancient Rome, to which its ultimate origin is traced. The circus as we know it today did not come into existence until a few hundred years ago. The nearest approach to it up to that time is found in roving entertainers, acrobats, jugglers, exhibitors of skilled animals called in England "gleemen" presumably from the fact that they were supposed to produce joy and glee.

The circus came into its modern form with Phillip Astley, born in 1742 at Newcastle-Under-Lyme. Originally a horseman of extraordinary skill, Astley built for his exhibitions the first modern circus ring in England, a great empty space surrounded by unroofed seats, and met with such great success in the venture that he became known as the "father of the modern circus."

The famous circus man in America, of course, was Barnum. But though Barnum developed the circus to an extent never before known, he was not, as was Astley in England, its originator here. The first circus performance showman was one Thomas Pool.

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their roads and streets at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars. In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new pavements—of permanent construction.

There are communities, however, which know the cheapest is not always the best. Many of these also built roads and streets several years ago. And they built for permanence with concrete.

These concrete pavements, built in accordance with approved standards of construction, are in as good condition today as when they were built.

Which of these communities will yours be?

Fry half a cupful of finely sliced onion slowly in butter until brown, then add one pint of canned tomatoes and simmer for a while. A pinch or two of salt, a teaspoonful of sugar and a little pepper will add to the flavor, or rather bring out the flavor. Break four or more eggs carefully into a saucer and slip each one gently into the mixture, taking care not to let the eggs touch each other. Take from the fire and put into a hot oven until the eggs are cooked. When done remove and place the eggs on hot toast, pouring the sauce over the top.

PANSIES

The large Oregon Pansies are now ready at THE GARDENS OF MO-KO-TON. adv. 21-3

Muskegon—Weak construction of a home-made monoplane caused the deaths here of two of its builders, George F. King, 28 years old, and Morris R. Mellinger, 25, both of Muskegon. King, a licensed pilot, and Mellinger were killed in a crash from a height of 1,500 feet, after a wing of the plane was torn from the fuselage while King was pulling out of a voluntary nose dive. The crash occurred near Mona lake, four miles from here.

Lansing—In order that the flow of gas and oil from the wells at Muskegon may be put under immediate control, the State Administrative Board released $5,000 to finance a survey of the field by a pro-rata committee, to include representatives of the Conservation Department, the oil and gas operators and the United States Bureau of Mines. A bill, recently approved by the Governor, puts control of the oil and gas industry in the hands of the Conservation Department.

Owosso—Enough farmers have signed up for the use of prison labor in the sugar beet fields here, to make it virtually certain that the convicts will be employed, H. R. Martini, manager of the local branch of the Michigan Sugar Co. said here. The convicts will be used to cultivate 500 acres. Warden Harry H. Jackson, of Jackson prison, has already completed arrangements for the transfer of 100 of the prisoners to the Ovid road camp 10 miles west of here, where the beet workers will be housed.

Escanaba—Fire of undetermined origin here destroyed the foundry of the Chatfield Machinery & Foundry Co., and damaged the fire station, a dance hall and seven residences. The loss is estimated at $18,000. The blaze broke out in the foundry and was followed by an explosion which scattered burning embers on the roofs of nine other buildings within a radius of two blocks. Fire fighting equipment from Gladstone, seven miles away, was brought here to assist the Escanaba department.

Stambaugh—Two Michigan iron mines won first prizes in the national safety competition conducted by the Bureau of Mines in 1928. It was announced at Washington. The Berkshire iron mine of the Brule Mining Co., Stambaugh, was the winner in the metal mine group. This mine employed an average of 177 men, working 403,487 man-hours, without a serious accident. Among the quarries and open-pit mines, the winner was the Wakefield Iron Mine of the Wakefield Iron Co., which employed 125 men, 283,680 man-hours, without a "loss-time" accident.

Ann Arbor—Statistics compiled by the Michigan Municipal League, formerly the Michigan League of Municipalities, with headquarters here, show that Pontiac, with a rate of $50.61 per $1,000, has the highest tax rate among 39 representative cities of the state, while Hamtramck, with a rate of $27.05, pays the lowest assessment. Pontiac's rate is nearly $2 above that of the second highest, Escanaba, with $48.91, while Hamtramck's rate is only 25 cents a thousand lower than its closest neighbor, Detroit.

Mexican Jumping Bean
A Mexican tree develops three-cornered pod, in one which an insect egg develops. When it hatches it curls and huris itself against the side of its "house," carrying the house with it. Thus it is not the bean that jumps but the insect inside it. Thus it sleeps in cold weather but becomes active with heat. (© 1929, Western Newsper Union)

State News in Brief

Charlotte—Betty Lou Root, 4-year-old daughter of Alfred Root, living near here, was injured fatally when she was struck by an automobile. She became confused in crossing the road and stopped in front of a car driven by W. O. Writty, proprietor of a resort at Crystal Lake.

Lansing—The Palmer bill, creating a state board of aeronautics, has been signed by Governor Green. The new board has power to govern airports and is authorized to enforce the federal regulations governing airplanes and pilots. Another measure signed gives railroads the right to operate airplane lines.

East Tawas—The Lake Huron fish house and dock, owned by the Lake Huron Fish company, L. Kowman, manager, was destroyed by fire recently. The fire was caused by the hot tar used for dipping nets. The building is partially covered by insurance and the damage is estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000.

Traverse City—The 1929 Michigan cherry festival will be held here July 18 and 19, the executive committee announced following a conference with Gov. Fred W. Green. Gov. and Mrs. Green will be present and he will crown the queen, according to tradition. Parades, boat races and pageantry are scheduled in celebration of the state's $3,000,000 cherry harvest.

Kalamazoo—Floyd Simons, a farmer living 12 miles southwest of Kalamazoo, was hunting mushrooms when he was attracted by an apparently deserted house boarded up. Looking through a crack in the wall he discovered the body of Louis Trask, 62, who had apparently died in his chair in the old dwelling. Doctors said Trask had died of natural causes, at least three weeks before.

Jackson—After slashing his estranged wife with a razor, Elmer G. Horn, 34 years old, a laborer, threw himself in front of a freight train at the Blackstone street crossing and died as the train struck him. The attack took place at the home of Michael Seeco, father of Horn's wife, Marie, after Horn had called at the home and asked the woman to return to him. She refused. Horn had two children.

Battle Creek—Edward Sharp, of Bay City, was elected president of the Michigan District of the International Lions Clubs at the closing session of the annual convention here. He succeeds Phillip A. Callahan, Detroit, councilman. No other officers were named. The Michigan Lions took definite steps toward the establishment of an endowment fund to support the Braille publications for the blind. Kalamazoo was selected for the 1930 meeting.

Lansing—Governor Fred W. Green recently signed the Bielawski bill, which sets up the legal machinery for excess condemnations. The law is an enabling act necessary under a constitutional amendment adopted by the voters last year, which allows municipalities to condemn more property than is necessary for any civic project. Detroit was especially interested in the measure because of its application to a number of street widenings to be started this year.

Lansing—J. F. Lathrop, owner of large tracts of land along U. S. 16, Grand River avenue, from Farmington to Brighton, recently told the State Administrative Board he would dedicate a 204-foot right-of-way for the proposed rerouting of the highway around Farmington, and also would construct the drainage system at a cost of $58,000. Another property holder has offered to put in $10,000, he said. The matter was referred to the highway committee of the board.

Lansing—The organization of the Ford Communication Co., a subsidiary of the Ford Motor Co., to operate a radio broadcasting station has been approved by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission. An issue of $100,000 in securities was authorized. The company plans to enter the commercial radio business. According to its articles, it will establish and operate a general radio communication service for the dissemination of messages, news, programs and advertising in this and foreign countries.

Lansing—A million-dollar school building in Ironwood will break in two pieces if the Oliver Mining company continues its present workings, the state department of public instruction was advised. The mine extends beneath the new school and the earth is settling in two directions. As mining companies are responsible for damage on the surface caused by their operations officials of the company have not decided whether it will be less expensive to stop work of that vein or give the town a new school.

Detroit—A big snake, estimated to be from 10 to 15 feet in length, has been reported in the vicinity of Nine-Mile and Lahser roads for several years. The snake is believed to have escaped from a circus or menagerie, as no native Michigan reptile attains the proportions credited to this one. The head is said to be as big as a human hand. The snake's body, according to those who have seen it, is thicker than the end of a base ball bat. Several farmers living in the vicinity have seen it.

THE NON-CONFORMIST

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Speaking of one of our well-known political leaders who has constantly been on the other side no matter what issue was being considered or what action was being advocated, one writer says of him:

"He is a non-conformist and proud of it. His cue is to find out what those associated with him think is wise, and then to do his best in embarrassing them in realizing the success of their undertaking. He is of the team but never with it. He never wants to go in the same direction as the rest, at the same time. It seems though he makes it his business to find out what his supposed friends and allies want to do, and then opposes it."

A great many people feel that it shows wisdom to find fault with whatever is being done, to pick flaws in whatever seems to have in it virtue or merit, to pull in the opposite direction. They have no idea of the meaning of co-operation; they have never realized the power of team work.

Robbins is a nonconformist. He thinks most of our social customs poppy-cock, and he considers it a virtue to ignore them. For years he refused to wear a necktie. It was only when golfers and young sportsmen began running about with their shirt collars open that Robbins took to cravats. No one has ever been able to get him into evening clothes. He wears an old-fashioned cut-a-way coat while doing his chores about the house, and gets into a business suit when he is dressing for any formal function. He eats his salad with a spoon and drinks tea from a saucer, and considers himself a reformer, while other people look upon him as something of a boob.

Young Spradling is another variety of the nonconformist. He thinks Mr. Volstead is crazy when he conceived prohibition; he pays no attention to the law. Nothing gives him so great a thrill as to drink publicly and copiously. Thirty-five miles an hour, the limit prescribed by law for motoring along the highway, is a snail's pace, and Spradling hits twice that pace with impunity. When he is arrested he rails against the injustice of limiting his progress with stop signs and traffic laws. Anything which attempts to keep Sunday quiet and orderly puts him into a frenzy. Why is Sunday better than any other day, he'd like to know? Any such conventions as chaperons and early hours for retiring, and midvictorian proprieties he consigns to the lower regions.

Jones was trying out for the basket ball team last winter. He had a theory of his own as to how the game should be played, a theory which was quite at variance with the ideas of the coach. He wanted to play his own game in his own way, and so far as he could see, the other fellows were all wet, which is merely another way of saying that they didn't know what they were doing. Jones didn't make the team because he refused to conform.

It is true in life that the nonconformist usually is relegated to the side lines.

RADIO IS SPREADING RAPIDLY OVER WORLD

Half of World's 20,000,000 Sets Are in U. S.

Washington.—Radio communication, once a plaything of scientists in their laboratories, is becoming the universal medium of entertainment and transference of thought, according to a world survey recently concluded by the Commerce department.

Broadcasting stations, the report shows, are operating near the Arctic circle, on the equator, and far down in the Southern hemisphere. From Greenland to Ceylon and from Yugoslavia to China radio sets are being tuned in to catch practically the same type of programs given in the United States.

In the short decade since the conquest of the ether for popular use began, more than 20,000,000 radio sets have been placed in homes all over the world, the report states.

European Fans Pay.—Though the United States uses nearly half these sets, Great Britain and Germany have 2,500,000 each; France has 11,250,000; Japan, 550,000, and Argentina, 630,000. Sweden, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Italy each have more than 250,000.

While American radio fans are entertained by programs provided by advertisers, in most European countries the government owns the broadcasting stations and pays entertainers by taxing the man at the loud speaker.

These taxes, the report says, range from 5 cents per radio set in France to $18 in Salvador. The British tax is $2.45; the German, $5.70; and Australian, $5.85, and the Japanese, $9.

European stations generally outrank those of this country in power. It was said. Russia and Finland each maintain stations with 40,000 watts power; Sweden has two stations of 30,000 and 20,000 watts each; France has one of 20,000; while the largest British station is rated at 16,000 watts. There are more than 200 broadcasting stations in Europe. South America has 62; Australia, 25, and Japan, 7.

U. S. Exports Radio.—American industry, the department said, manufactures a large share of the world's radio equipment. Approximately 90 per cent of the world's output is made in America, Germany and Great Britain.

United States exports of radio apparatus have been increasing steadily in the last decade. In 1928, they reached a value of $12,000,000, a record figure.

During the last seven years, it was said, more than $50,000,000 worth of radio equipment and supplies have been sold by America to foreign markets.

Canada is our most important customer for radio material, taking 44 per cent of this country total shipment in 1928. Argentina ranked second, taking 13 per cent, and Australia, third, buying 9 per cent.

Find Liver Grows Back After Being Removed

Rochester, Minn.—Modern scientists are wondering if the ancients knew something of the so-called regenerative powers of the liver. There is the ancient myth of Prometheus, whose liver, torn out by a vulture, grew in time to be torn out again on each succeeding day.

Investigators at the Mayo clinic had elsewhere have found that the liver has great powers of regeneration. It will not grow again every night. However, from 65 to 70 per cent of the liver can be removed and the remaining portions will begin to grow larger. In six to eight weeks these overgrown portions will almost replace the lost parts.

The practical application of these findings is in disease of the liver in man. Certain diseases destroy liver tissue, but with this power of regeneration the patient with an injured liver can continue to live and in many cases to work along quite happily. It is hoped that by further work along these lines investigators will be able to protect the injured liver from further injury and thus to save life. Some of these life-saving measures already are in use.

Collection of Ancient Coins Goes to Museum

Udine, Italy.—One of the finest private collections of ancient coins, comprising numerous examples of gold and silver moneys of the Roman emperors, as well as Greek coins from the Hellenistic settlements in southern Italy, has been bequeathed to the municipal museum here by Count Augusto de Brandis, a native of this town.

The count's collection also included a well chosen selection of Etruscan vases, with examples of the principal periods from archaic to Hellenistic. These vases have been placed together with the coins in the Udine museum in a special room dedicated to the founder's memory.

If your credit is healthy, you made it so; if it is unhealthy the chances are you have no one to blame but yourself. When it comes to your own credit standing—

You're the doctor.

Every time you open a new account; every time you secure credit from any source you have an opportunity to build up or to undermine your Credit Health.

The rating after YOUR name is the result of one thing only, the manner in which you pay your bills. A prompt rating results from prompt pay; a slow rating from slow pay.

A Prompt Rating is worth the effort.

Pay Your Bills Promptly And Keep Your Credit Rating Healthy.

Old-Timer—"When I was your age I thought nothing of walking 10 miles to school."

Modern Boy—"I don't think much of it, either."

"To what family does the whale belong?"

"I don't know, teacher. No family in our neighborhood has one."

TOOK SODA 20 YEARS FOR GAS—STOPS NOW

"For 20 years I took soda for indigestion and stomach gas. One bottle of Adlerika brought me complete relief."—John B. Hardy.

Adlerika relieves gas and sour stomach at once. Acting on BOTH upper and lower bowel, it removes old waste matter you never thought was in your system. Let Adlerika give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleaning and see how good you feel! Overcomes constipation. GIDLEY & MAC, Druggists. adv.

Grocer (after filling jug): "Here's your molasses, sonny; where's your dime?"

Bright Boy: "I left it in the jug."
