"Open House" Well Attended

FINE PROGRAM PRESENTED TO WELL-FILLED AUDITORIUM.

The High School and Grade Building were scenes of unusual activity Wednesday evening when the teach-ers held "Open House," under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association.

As the busses and cars arrived the rooms were soon filled with interested parents, eager to see the rooms where their children work, inspect the work on display, and confer with the teachers regarding the personal problems of the pupils.

One needed but to note the carnestness of the latter phase, to realize the importance of the P. T. A. in solving those same problems.

- After visiting the various rooms and departments, everyone assembled CALENDAR OF POSTPONED FEB. in the Auditorium where a fine program, presided over by Principal Snelenberger, and illustrating the practical value of what is being taught in our schools, in it's relation Circuit Court for Charlevoix County to the afterschool life of the student, will convene at the county seat Monwas given the P. T. A. Membership Drive in which was which the various rooms have dis- R. Bulow: played keen rivalry to win the prize, a two dollar picture, the subject to be selected by the winning room.

The result, as announced by Mr. Snelenberger was: First-West Side Fourth Grade, Leatha Cox, teacher, percentage 229. Second—East Side Fifth Grade, Rose Provost, teacher, percentage 179.

Third-East Side Fourth Grade, Jessie Hager, teacher, percentage 126†

The P. T. A. now has a total membership of 230, and it is estimated Peter O. McCauley, Peaine Twr. that at least 300 people were present Clarence Heise, Norwood Twp. Wednesday evening.

One feature that aroused keen interest was the Rest Rooms the P. T. A. have provided for emergency illness or accident, well cases of equipped with cots, mattresses and pillows. There is one in each of the school buildings.

The program opened with com-munity singing, led by Mr. Snelenberger, with Miss Chandler at the piano.

Many a mother who saw "The Awakening of Amy Brant," as presented by Miss Crofoot's Home Economics girls will be led to study more thoroughly the laws of diet and nutrition, to see that their growing boys and girls eat as well balanced rations as the farmer feeds his growing live stock.

It is easy to look ahead to the benefit the next generation will reap from the training our girls are receiving under Miss Crofoot's efficient supervision. The next number given by the Rythmn Band from the east side Fourth Grade demonstrated one of the many phases of Miss Ghandler's work in the Music department, showing how, from the very first of a child's school life, the sense of rythmn is developed, to be translated, later on, into the broader fields of chorus, glee club, orchestra, or band, well as in the gymnasium, and again one visions the home of the future where children will reap the harvest of musical appreciation because of the training our children are receiving today in our schools. This is the first Rythmn Band our chool has had and everyone enjoyed watching them as they kept time to the piano with their wooden blocks, sythmn sticks, tamborines, triangles, Cymbals, clogs, and exlophone. Mr. Eggert's Physics and Horticulture classes were represented by a clearly stated and demonstrated lesson in the expansion of metals by heat, given by William Kitsman, and a fine exposition of the laws governing the proper storage of apples, given by Frank Severance.

Ed. Gook and daughter, Bernice, Ed. Weldy and family, Bert Lenosky and family, and Karl Heller and fam-ily were all dinner guests of the A. J. eldys, Sunday.

Guests from Midland, visiting at the home of Ray Nowland Sunday left their car on the north road, being unable to get through the drifts. During their absence someone, released the brake letting the car roll backward into the ditch. They were put to some trouble dragging it up on the road before their departure. Mrs. George Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hardy, S. R. Nowland and Miss Ruby Hardy all attended the funeral of Jerry Saunders at Charlevoix on Friday.

Harry Sloop and family spent Sunay with Mrs. Sloop's sister, Mrs. Stallard.

About twenty friends surprised Miss Sidney Lumley Thursday night, that day being her birthday. She received a number of beautiful gifts. The evening was spent in playing pedro and a delicious lunch was served at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartelson, Mr. and Mrs. L. Henderson and son, Mrs. Priscilla Spohn, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Sutton all made up a radio party at the home of Chas. Hott Sunday evening.

of Advance Sunday afternoon. Anson Hull of Petoskey spent the week end at the home of Clark Colver.

PLEASANT HILL

(Edited by Mrs. Vernon Vance.)

On Wednesday, March 5th about 25 relatives and friends surprised Mrs. John Carney and spent the day visiting and tied a quilt. All did ample justice to the pot luck dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ruckle have moved back to their farm after having spent the winter in East Jordan Mr. Crowell will now have two more pupils on the bus.

John M. Hawley passed away at his home here Tuesday morning after an illness of several years. He had been a resident of this community for nearly fifty years. He leaves to mourn his passing, his wife, a son, John, of Detroit, a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Taylor of Mt. Pleasant, and 4 grandchildren, besides many friends. The funeral will be held from his late home on Friday at 2:00 p. m., fast time, with interment at Morehouse cemetery. Our heartfelt sympathy goes to the bereaved family.

Vernon Vance attended the Farm Accounts school at Ellsworth, Thursday, completing his first year's work and enrolling for the second year. A class of ten beginners was formed for this year.

A man decided he and his son would take a drive in their new car. As they entered the car, the father said to the boy: "Now, if you see a motor cycle cop coming behind us, you tell Papa."

They settled down to driving and the car crept up to 30 miles, 35, 40, 45, 50, 55 and finally to 60 miles an hour. Suddenly the little boy cried: "Papa, the man you were expecting is here."—Pacific Power and Light Builetin.

THINK OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE IN TERMS OF TOMORROW

Ultimate cost is as importanț as first cost in the purchase of an automobile

WHEN you purchase an automobile you are making an investment of a considerable amount of money. It is essential, therefore, that you give careful thought to the best selection and know what you are getting for your automobile dollars.

The first cost is important because it may mean an immediate, satisfactory saving. Of equal importance is the ultimate cost after thousands of miles of service. This ultimate cost is the true measure of automobile value.

THE first cost of the new Ford is unusually low not only because of economies in manufacturing, but because the same principles that inspire these savings are extended to every other step that means greater service to the public. It is easy to see that economies in production would be of little value if they were sacrificed later through high charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories.

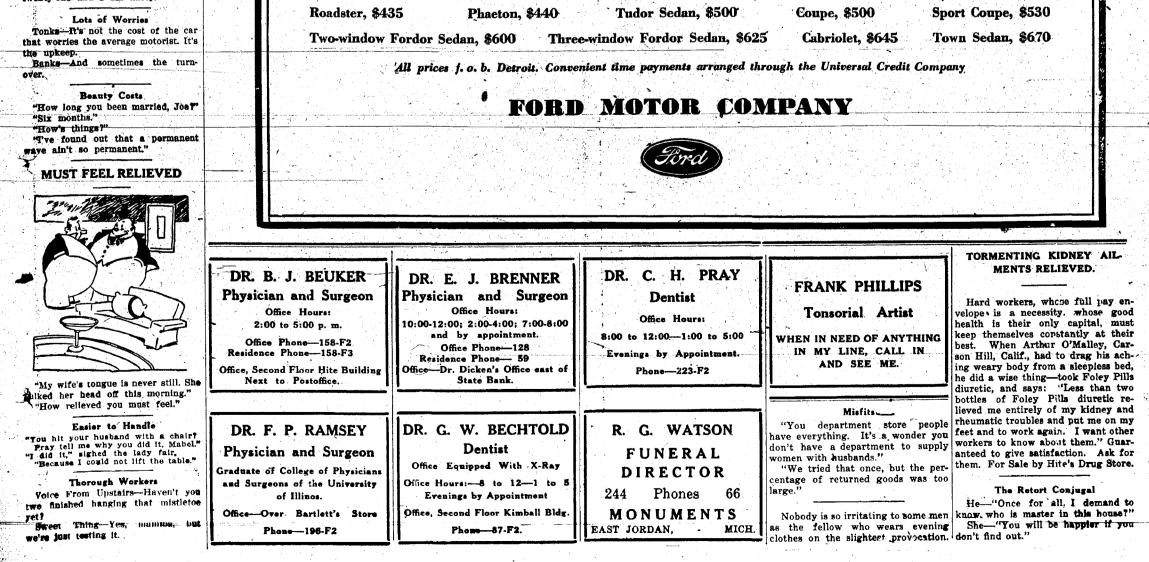

The Ford dealer, therefore, does business on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company. His discount or commission is twenty-five to fifty per cent lower than that of any other automobile dealer. You gain because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales. The difference in selling cost, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, amounts to at least $50 to $75 on each car. This is as important as economies in production in keeping down the price you pay for the new Ford.

THE low ultimate cost of the new Ford is the result of sound design, quality of material and unusual care in manufacturing. Friction and wear are reduced by the accuracy with which each part is made and assembled.

These factors combine to decrease the cost of operation and add months and years to the useful life of the car. The good performance and low yearly depreciation of the new Ford are indicative of the enduring quality built into it at the factory.

SERVICE charges are on the same fair, economical basis as the making and selling of the car and replacement parts are always available at low prices through all Ford dealers. In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost.

Think in terms of tomorrow, therefore, when you purchase an automobile. For tomorrow will reveal its true worth.

CLEANLINESS IS BEST FOR CALF

Every Utensil Should Be Washed and Sterilized.

To have a runt among the calves usually means that some one has failed at the calf management job. Perhaps one of the most over-looked tasks is that of cleanliness of quar-

"Cleanliness is one of the most es sential things in the whole process of feeding the calf," relates James W. Linn, extension dairyman, Kansas State Agricultural college, by way of cautioning dairymen against the ills of unclean quarters and feed. "Especially is this true as long as it is necessary to feed whole milk or milk substitutes."

Every utensil, including the bucket. dipper, separator, and can, should be washed and sterilized et every feeding, recommends the extension specialist. Such a practice will insure against foreign material or bacteria getting in the milk.

Temperature and quantity of milk are important considerations to be given calf management. It will pay dairymen to use a thermometer and see that the milk is kept as near the normal temperature at production time as possible. It is essential to feed the calf its milk at the same temperature each feeding.

Linn recommends weighing to the tenth of a pound the milk fed the calf. His formula calls for one pound of milk to each ten pounds of live weight of calf until 16 pounds daily is reached. Do not increase above that amount

Proper Feeding Rule to Follow in Cold Weather

It is a good rule in winter feeding to allow one pound of grain or concentrate feed per day to cows for each four pounds of milk they produce testing 8 to 31/2 per cent fat: or one pound per day for each three pounds of milk if it tests 5 per cent or more of fat. This rule may be used as a guide to determine how much grain to feed during the pas ture season. With the grass still in fairly good condition one-third as much grain as is required in the winter season will ordinarily be enough, but as the season advances and the grass shortens and dries a gradual increase becomes necessary.

Judgment, however, must be the main rule always. The aim should be to maintain production and the condition of the cows. Cows in the advanced stages of their milking periods that are only producing 10 to 15 pounds daily will not ordinarily require concentrate feeds during the pasture season.

Cream Will Deteriorate

Even in Winter Season Cool weather does not mean that cream can be held several days without damaging its quality, points out J. O. Barkman, in charge of dairy manufacturers at the experiment station of the University of Kentucky. Sweet cream held at a temperature of 50 degrees for a week or ten days makes a poor grade of butter .- Such cream may be of low acidity and sweet to the taste when churned, but the resulting butter will have an old flavor.

CITY OF EAST JORDAN vide by its charter or by resolution  OLD THINGS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK Dean of Men, University of Illinoia

We called on Kate, Nancy and I. when we were in Pasadena. She had gone out there shortly after she had graduated from college, to live with an aunt of her mother's. and she was liv ing in a new house of which she seemed very proud. I had never before in my life seen a house and its appointments so com pletely and distressingly new. It was as if two people without a stick of anything to which they could claim ownership had suddenly fallen heir to a fortune, and had decided to build a house and set up housekeeping.

The house itself had just been built, and it simply shone and smelled inside and out of varnish and fresh paint. Now fresh paint has a very healthy smell, I am told. Everything inside the house was new-the china, the sliver, the furniture, the pictures, the rugs, the linen. There wasn't even an old knife or a cracked or a broken dish in the kitchen. Nothing about the place had any pleasant memories. I felt lonesome all the time I was-there.

As for me, I like old things. There is a softness of coloring in old mahogany, a certain romance about an old chair or an old piece of china. The little oak armchair in my bedroom father cut out with a saw and fashioned with a spoke shave more than eighty years ago. It was the first chair he and mother had after they came to America. It has stood the wear and tear of hard usage and frequent moving, and is still as solid as when father put it together. The old mahogany clock which ticks away on our mantelpiece was waiting to welcome Nancy's mother, when as a bille of sixteen, she was taken to the log cabin which her husband had proudly prepared for her. It is still doing a good job of keeping time in spite of its eighty-five years of service. It seems so much more companionable than a shiny brand-new clock would seem. The little mirror over my dresser mother brought from England, and the chest of drawers in Nancy's bedroom came across the mountains in a lumber wagon from New England, when Nancy's great grandmother started on a pioneering journey to the wild Illinois country. They traveled slowly in those days, and the old dresser is none the worse for its hegira of a thousand miles.

There is an oak chest standing in our hallway as a sort of catch-all for the things which have to be put away somewhere. Its rope handles and old brass lock are still intact. My Uncle Thomas kept his clothing in it when as an adventurous common sailor he fared around the world a hundred years ago. There is mother's wedding china, and grandmother's silver spoons, and the counterpanes that Aunt Aurelia wore, and the thousand and one precious things which have come down from our ancestors. Each one has its own particular memories which new things could never call up. (@, 1980, Western Newspaper, Upion.)

Winter cream kept in cellars where such vegetables as onions and cabbage are stored will have a had flavor. Likewise, cream kept in the kitchen is exposed to the odors of foods being cooked, and to the heat of the stove. Cream should not be allowed to freeze, as frozen cream makes an oily butter of poor quality.

Dairy Facts ******

Live stock farming is often said to be one of the most satisfactory ways of maintaining soil fertility.

Watch the position of the cream or skim milk screw in the cream separa Any change in this screw will affect the cream test.

So far as investigations have gone, there are no cases that have shown that the calves from a tuberculosis bull or even from a cow inherit tubercuiosia

Cows continue in much better physical condition and maintain their milk flow at a higher level throughout the winter months when legume hays are fed in place of non-legumes.

Trouble with stringy milk may usually be svercome by thoroughly boiling and disinfecting all utensils, according to dairy experts at University Farm, St. Paul.

See that the calves' bowels are in normal condition and their appetites keen. If off feed, it is apt to be from indigestion or impure milk.

Keep the dairy cows in the barn on all cold, stormy days. The additional milk obtained will pay for the extra feed and care.

and handed a ticket as I was coming down Western avenue, not long ago, which cost me ten dollars and an hour's delay when, if I had gone more deliberately I should have saved my money and arrived home in adequate time to meet the engagement which I was making unfortunate haste to keep. But there is such a thing as taking too much time, of dawdling along and getting nothing done; of watching the pictures on the wall when we should be having the eyes on the book or the problem.

Thomas Arnold, the great master of Rughy, enjoyed the out-of-doors and one of his chief out-of-door delights consisted in taking long walks. His biographer says of him: "He hated loitering," and quite as feelingly he disliked going alone. Mrs. Arnold was not so young as her husband; nor was she as fleet of foot, but she always went with her husband. Since she could not walk as fast as he, she rode a little gray pony and one of the stipulations had to be that the pony should, without urging, be able to get least four miles an hour. The two could often be seen together on the roads about Ambleside and Grasmere; she sitting upright upon the little active beast and he striding along beside her, with no loitering on the Way It was a characteristic of Arnold to go at things with energy and push whatever he undertook quickly through to completion. If he did not like loitering when he was out for a walk, he disliked it equally when it came to any other task or problem which was his for accomplishment or solution "Get a thing done when "Get a thing done, when solution. you have undertaken it," was Arnold's slogan.

It was the loitering of the hare which caused him to lose the race with the tortoise. He was by far the better runner and could have won "hands down." as we now say, but, having begun his task, he lay down in the furrow and went to sleep, and so was beaten.

Men do their work so today. Ben son told me twenty years ago that he had a book underway, but he is a loiterer and it is, not yet written. Gouid has been going to improve his business house and bring his equipment and his methods up to date, but he loiters on the job and in the meantime his competitors have gotten the edge on him. Rusk is behind with his work; not because he has school lacked time. He has dawdled along; he has loitered and the result is dis-

The young farmers were boasting about the size of the vegetables they had grown. Finally, one of them turned to Uncle Seth.

"What was the biggest thing you raised this year, Uncle Seth?" "A squash." "Well, how big was it?"

"We never measured it," drawled Uncle Seth, "but we used the seeds for snowshoes."-Boston Transcript.

BIG KERNELS IN SMALL SHELLS

IN ADDITION to the advertisements of the big department stores, of the grocery and hardware stores, of the millinery, clothing and shoe stores, there is another kind of advertising that is being read more and more by readers of this newspaper. That kind of advertising is the Classified Columns.

A man or woman wants a job. They read the "Help Wanted" columns and probably insert an advertisement of their own under "Positions Wanted." Employer and job seeker soon get together to the benefit of both. A man may want an automobilepossibly he cannot afford a new car, so he looks in the "Used Car" columns and finds just the car at the price he can afford to pay. Some one has lost a pocketbook, valuable papers or even a pet dog. The "Lost and Found" columns soon bring loser and finder together.

The Classified Columns ar eso arranged that any one can readily find what he seeks quickly - business news, machinery and tools, household goods, horses, dogs, cats, canaries, etc. They enable you to locate what you are looking for in short order. So in reading advertising do not overlook the classified columns-the individual advertisements do not take up much room, but like the meaty nut they may contain a big kernel in a small shell—just for you.
