Smelt Run On The Jordan

STARTED LAST FRIDAY AND ARE STILL RUNNING.

Several weeks ago some of our local fishermen realizing that smelt would probably run in the rivers and creeks near East Jordan, asked for and had J. W. LaLonde appointed a deputy conservation officer. The smelt run on the Jordan river was first discovered last Friday night, March 21st, but it is thought they had been running for several nights previous. Mr. LaLonde immediately notified Ed. Duell at Boyne City, who, with chief conservation officer Webber of Cheboygan, came over that night and opened the Jordan to smelt dipping.

Some of the rules governing the fishing are: Dipping starts at 8:00 p. m., each night, central standard time. Stream may be dipped from the East Jordan bridge to the junction of Deer Creek—a distance of about a mile. Boats may be used in deep water. Flashlights permissible. Handles of dip-nets may be any length and net must not be over five feet in circumference—approximately 18 inches diameter. Conservation officer Duell is in charge of the Jordan River run.

From 50 to 100 fishermen have been out each night since last Friday and the catches are good, some getting good-size pail-fuls.

Deer Creek was inspected but insufficient smelt were found to warrant opening that stream. Probably another year the Jordan will be screened off at the junction, turning the run up Deer Creek and opening that stream.

Boyne City opened the smelt sport season on St. Patrick's Day and enjoyed good-size crowds of fishermen from all parts of northern Michigan throughout the week. Porter Creek, near Advance, also has a run. Charlevoix County's other smelt stream—Stover Creek has not yet developed a run.

An optimist is a man who thinks two men can agree about farm relief. Be sure you are right and you will be pretty sure that everybody else is wrong.

If we always got what was coming to us what a lot of punishment some of us would have to take.

The long string of cars held back by a slow one-up front indicates that everything has speeded up except love.

STUDENTS WORKING ON HEALTH ESSAY CONTEST

Aided by material contained in two pamphlets distributed to them this week, East Jordan students in the 7th and 8th grades are beginning work on the health essay contest "Protecting Health in Youth" to be held from March 27 to April 9.

In addition to the two pamphlets, copies of which were provided by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association for each of the 120 children in the contest, three supplementary booklets have been given teachers for their pupils to refer to in writing the essays. Other materials for use in the contest have also been furnished by the Association, which is co-operating with the school in arranging for the contest as one of its Christmas seal activities.

Unusual interest is expected to be attached to the poster and figure exhibit that will be displayed from March 28 to April 4 in the window of the Michigan Public Service Company as an added feature of the contest. In writing their essays, students will be referred for information to this exhibit. It pictures graphically the "peak years" for tuberculosis deaths, and illustrates the fact that health measures taken in youth will prevent them.

The store will give the writer of the winning essay a prize, consisting of a table lamp, which will be shown in its window with the exhibit.

Farm Accounts In Charley's Co.

FORTY-FIVE FARMERS KEEPING ACCURATE FARM ACCOUNT RECORDS.

One of the most important, and in fact fundamental, projects to be carried on by Charlevoix County farmers is that of keeping farm records to enable them to find out the results of the year's work as well as to discover the relative efficiency of each part of the farm business.

Already one year's records have been finished as of March 1st, 1930 and the second year has been started. One of the greatest surprises that the cooperators have noted thus far is the large amount of money being handled during one year, just from the sale of eggs, dairy products and crop sales, and the cost of the feed and supply bills necessary to make the above income possible. Again it has been of great value to the farmer to actually take inventory of his land value, farm buildings, equipment and machinery, and feed and supplies on hand at the beginning. When this is done the cooperator begins to realize what a large business he is managing and the importance of having accurate knowledge of how efficient each farm department is toward the entire total.

Of a total of 31 farmers who started the project last year 25 actually finished the job and had completed books to be checked in by H. A. Berg, Farm Management Specialist of M. S. C., who spent March 10, 11, 12 and 13 in this county for this purpose. This is the largest percentage of finishers that any county has in Michigan and of ever greater significance is the fact that each of the 25 are continuing the second year.

The following farmers kept farm records last year and are continuing this year:

Charlevoix—Oakley Saunders, G. Meggison, H. C. Newman, Lee Snead; Richard Paddock, Mrs. Orson Cook, Ecklund Bros., W. K. Straw, Charles Withers.

Bay Shore—Wm. D. Hair.

East Jordan—Fred Larson, Orval Bennett, Dan Swanson, Douglas Tibbitts.

Boyne City—Harry Behling, Howard Stephens, Ben Gardner, Clyde Clute, Burt Lumley, Robert Tainter, Mrs. E. T. Davis, Frank A. W. Behling, Henry Korhase, Carl Bergman, T. J. Smith.

The following are starting their first year records:

Robert Sherman, Walter Heileman, Wm. Sanderson, Archie Murphy, Ray Loomis, Ole Omland, Art Nicloy, Sam Ulvund—East Jordan.

H. E. Somerville, Albert Bathke, Roy Hardy—Boyne City.

Carl Clark—Boyne Falls.

This list is complete to the present time, but more names may be added at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. George Todd Celebrate Their Golden Wedding

On February 28, 1930, Mr. and Mrs. George Todd of Durban, Manitoba celebrated their golden wedding. Relatives were present to help them enjoy the occasion and many congratulations and good wishes were received from distant relatives and friends. Both Mr. and Mrs. Todd were born in Ontario, and in early childhood, journeyed with their parents to northern Michigan, then an almost trackless wilderness.

Mrs. Todd's maiden name was Mary E. Brintnall. They were married near East Jordan, Charlevoix County, Michigan, in 1880, where they resided for a number of years. For the past fourteen years they have resided on the Duck Mts., near Durban, Manitoba, with their son, Orrin. Mr. Todd is past seventy-five years of age, is still quite active and strong, while Mrs. Todd still cares for the household duties.

Many friends have joined in wishing them much happiness and comfort in the years that are still to follow. Their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. James Saul of Saskatoon, Sask., whose anniversary occurs on the same date were present for the occasion.

Blackbirds Flies

Two colored gentlemen who had just reduced the population of a farmer's hen-roost were making a getaway.

"Laws, Mose," gasped Sam, "why you s'pose them flies follow us so close?"

"Keep gallopin', nigger, said Mose, "them aint flies, them's buckshot."

Reward should be in proportion to usefulness.

When a man boasts that he runs things at home—it's probably the vacuum cleaner.

Club Activities The Past Year

MANY THINGS ACCOMPLISHED BY THE BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB.

That the Business Men's Club of East Jordan is a dynamic factor in the life of East Jordan is seen by a glance the things that the Club sponsored and helped to effect last year.

An important, probably the most important purpose of the Club, is to be a channel through which activities may be directed for the welfare of East Jordan. There are many things that can be done if there is some way to initiate them; and some group of people to sponsor them. In this manner the Business Men's Club served the City of East Jordan very efficiently in many ways during the past year.

Judging from the immediate response the most popular thing as attested by the appreciation of the greatest number was

OPPORTUNITY NIGHT

For five Thursday evenings last summer after the close of the fine open air concert given by the Band, a free show was furnished by the business men at the Temple Theatre. The Theatre was always filled by an eager crowd that enjoyed the good, clean show that was given. On this evening the stores of the city were kept open and the size of the throngs on the streets indicated that almost every farmer and family in a radius of several miles came to town. This was a fine and a profitable venture that helped to build up community life.

QUERNSY BREEDERS' EXHIBITION.

For the second time the Business Men's Club invited the Quernsey Breeders' Association to hold an exhibition in East Jordan, and $30 was appropriated for prizes. This exhibition brought some fine specimens of cattle to East Jordan and emphasized the fact that this vicinity is becoming increasingly the center of excellent dairy stock.

BETTER YARDS AND GARDENS CONTEST.

Last summer the Club sponsored a Better Yards and Gardens Contest. At the outset prizes of $50 were offered, but as the interest grew the prizes were increased to $90. Many yards and gardens were improved and beautified, and the $90 given in prizes resulted in the appearance of East Jordan being improved to the value of several thousands of dollars. The large prize of $50, was divided equally between Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stueck and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brabant.

ROAD WORK

The Business Men's Club the previous year had obtained from the State the promise that Road 66 would be extended to East Jordan. Last year the Club secured the numbering of the road into East Jordan and the placing of the road on the State maps. Also an appropriation was made for the State to keep the snow removed from East Jordan to Cheboygan during this past winter. State surveying was also done last year between Mancelona and East Jordan. There is little doubt but that the work of the club will have 66 extended to Charlevoix. What the Club has done on road work alone more than repays for all the efforts of the Club since its organization.

BOYS' POTATO CLUB

Last Spring the Club sponsored a Boys' Potato Club. All the boys in the country that were willing to raise potatoes were financed by members of the Club, and prizes were awarded in the Fall. It was a happy sight to see the specimens of the potatoes raised by the boys, and the happy boys, and the still happier fathers of the boys at the supper at the Russell House on October 22nd. Specimens of the potatoes raised took high places at the Top 'O Michigan Potato Show, and at the State Exhibition. East Jordan is proud of the boys who took part in the potato growing contest. They demonstrated that this is a famous Potato country, and that the quality of our boys is equal to the best.

CHRISTMAS FUND

Again the Club sponsored the Community Christmas Fund through which the Churches and other organizations of East Jordan cleared their Christmas giving. The purpose was to see that no child in East Jordan should be "forgotten" at Christmas time. So far as we have been able to learn this purpose was accomplished. In addition many of the older growth were given fitting reminders of the kind hearts of the people of East Jordan. It is hoped the coming year that the PTA will see its way clear to take over this task of love so that it can be made more than a City affair and include the entire consolidated school district.

"THE VIKING," AT TEMPLE THEATRE

FRIDAY, APRIL 4

"The Viking," all-color film, will be shown at the Temple Theatre, Friday evening, April 4th, sponsored by the American Legion. Price 15c and 35c.

The story deals with an early discovery of America by northern sea rovers, and tells a romantic tale of love and adventure. Principal players include Pauline Starke, Donald Crisp, LeRoy Mason, Richard Alexander and Harry Lewis Woods.

From a semi-historic standpoint there are several underlying points of interest in this picture. One of these concerns the early spread of Christianity through the Icelandic region. Another the daring venture of a band of intrepid warriors into the unknown regions of the Atlantic in quest of a new land. The theory that the vikings actually did visit the shores of America is established thru a view of a monument erected presumably by them ere Columbus came, and still standing in Turo Park in the town of Newport, Rhode Island. Thus the tale purely imaginary has some substantiation in fact, and is rather adroitly tied up with the present at the close of the picture.

However, it is as a screen novelty that "The Viking" will most appeal. The period and place in which it is laid are absolutely new. Plot interest has not been sacrificed to a remote locale. Any audience will find inviting the romance between the Saxon nobleman, Alwin, and the defiant daughter of the Vikings, Helga, who buys him as a slave. There are some scenes of battle and contention, and a theme of sacrifice in which Leif Ericson commander of the expedition figures. In love with Helga himself Leif gives her up to Alwin, who saves his life during a mutiny of the superstitious crew on the voyage to an unknown world.

Club sponsored the establishment of an Information Bureau under the oversight of the City Treasurer in a section of the Russell Hotel. Tourists and people riding through stopped at the bureau for almost every conceivable type of information. Had there been a large number of desirable cottages for rent for tourists along our lake front they could all have been rented to people making inquiry for places at the bureau. That the bureau met a real need is shown by the fact that during three summer months there was an average of fourteen calls a day for information.

There are many other ways in which the Club was helpful. There were good talks on raspberries and on cherries and on other things that are of particular interest to this section. There were also talks and addresses that are of general cultural value. Some of the addresses given at the Club this past year were superior to anything that the writer has heard on the Lyceum platform in years, from the point of educational value.

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS

The largest single project with which the Club has been associated the past year was the Consolidation of Schools. In 1928 the Club invited in the officers of the outlying school districts to talk over the wisdom of Consolidation for this community. The thought at that time was that what was needed was not propaganda, but information; not action but time for reflection. The matter wisely rested for a year, and then on March 27, 1929 the Club appointed a committee to see if the time had not come for action.

The members of the Club wished the fullest information for themselves, and they desired all concerned to be fully advised; as to the State law, and as to the essential facts from which judgement had to be formed. A supper was held at the Russell Hotel with the officers of the interested school districts as invited guests. At the close of this supper a mass meeting was held at the High School Auditorium to which all interested in the schools had been invited. Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction Ford was present to explain the law and to answer all questions. This meeting made it possible for all to know what the issue involved; how the election was to be conducted and under what auspices; who was entitled to vote; and what signing the petitions for election meant. The law was fully explained and every question asked of Mr. Ford was frankly answered. The purpose of the meeting was splendidly fulfilled; all who desired had the opportunity to know the law and to have its details explained. Later in the summer consolidation was effected. The Business Men's Club does not take all the credit for this; no group of people can appropriate that credit. What the Club did was to initiate the movement and to make sure that everyone who wished could under-

Care of Lambs Increase Profits

SUCCESSFUL FARM FLOCK OWNERS REALIZE VALUE.

The most successful farm flock owners dock and castrate their lambs because they realize it means increased profits. These increased profits come through the advantages which docked and castrated lambs have over those which are entire. Some of the advantages of castrating lambs are listed below.

1. Wether lambs fatten better than ram lambs as general rule, making a 3 to 10% rapid gain.

2. Wether lambs produce a better carcass by putting on a larger proportion of flesh and on the parts which give the high priced cuts, such as the leg and the loin, while ram lambs develop more in the neck and shoulder.

3. Ram lambs soon become nervous and discontented and begin at an early age to annoy the ewe lambs.

4. A few ram lambs among the feeders make the whole flock restless, so no good feeder feeds ram lambs with ewes.

5. Buyers prefer a uniform bunch of lambs, ewes and wethers, over a mixed bunch containing some rams.

6. The quality of meat from large rams is strongly discriminated against by consumers. Marketing such meat has a tendency to discourage the demand for lamb and mutton.

7. Bucky lambs are high in cost of production but low in market value.

8. Castrate all lambs except good purebreds, then we are sure ewes will not be bred by or to scrub rams.

9. Ram lambs sell for less money.

The Advantages and Reasons for Docking:

1. Gives the flock a more uniform and blocky appearance.

2. Docked lambs are cleaner and less subject to maggots in moist hot weather.

3. Long tails interfere with breeding ewes with the result it is hard to sell long tailed ewes for breeding purposes.

4. Lambs with long tails are discriminated against by feeders.

5. Docked lambs is an indication of pride in your business.

6. Carcass has a neater appearance.

7. Tails give a draggy appearance to the lambs and distracts from their selling price.

8. Tails on domestic sheep serve no useful purpose and may actually become an impediment.

9. Remember the old saying "dock your lambs or the market will" is only too true.

The time to dock and castrate is when your lambs are seven to fourteen days old. When done with older lambs their is more danger from infection.

Docking and castrating indicates careful shepherding and flocks which are managed by men who regularly perform these two operations, are likely to be better bred, better fed and better managed in every way than are flocks whose owners neither dock nor castrate.

Losses can be prevented in docking and castrating if certain precautions are used. Lambs operated on on rainy dark days often die, pick out a bright day to perform the work. Never worry or excite lambs previous to the time as this has its ill effects. When done too suddenly lambs also often die. Always disinfect the instruments used as well as the wounds. Practice a general cleanliness in every detail. If left in the barn following the operation be sure to bed down the stall, this place should also be quiet. Watch so there is no excessive bleeding, this will seldom occur when young lambs are docked and castrated. Remember the best time is seven to fourteen days old.

PUBLIC LOVE MAKING

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

They are apparently more conservative and more conventional in China than we are here in America. The city government of Hankow has recently enacted a law prohibiting outdoor kissing even between husbands and wives, the reason for this seemingly radical enforcement of the law being perhaps that when one sees these public demonstrations of uncontrolled emotion it is impossible to tell without embarrassing inquiry just what the exact blood relationship, if any, there is between the osculating parties.

The first victims, according to reports, have been Mr. and Mrs. Chen, Chung-hang, a newly married pair. They were driving in an open carriage when a policeman saw Mr. Chen kiss his bride. Both were arrested.

Mr. Chen was fined $25, and he and his wife were forced to furnish bondsmen, who guaranteed that the newlyweds will not again offend the proprieties.

I believe that such a law might prove salutary in our own country. Husbands and wives do not seem to be our most serious offenders, but one need not go far to find others who use public places to do their love making.

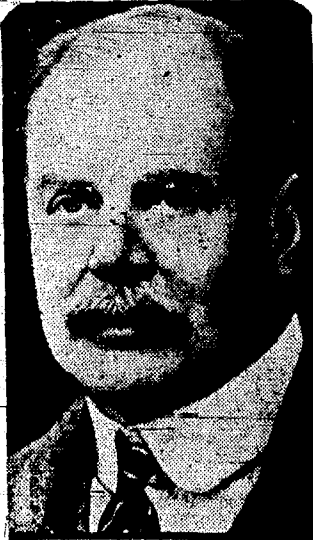

Once upon a time it was not considered good taste for young people, married or otherwise, to be seen on the street or in a public place of any sort, holding hands, or with their arms about each other's necks, but it is quite the common sight today.

It hardly attracts a moment's attention these days to come upon two lovers sitting contentedly in some frequented spot, their arms about each other's waists, or with a strange hold about the neck, nor does it deter or embarrass the lovers thus to be come upon. There is no relaxing of the pressure, nor the slightest change of countenance or color because they are discovered. They keep right on unabashed. "But why not?" you say, since there is no law in this country against it.

In the community in which I live I could easily pick out all the engaged couples. They go hand in hand down the street or across the park. They are never detached; each has tight hold upon the other like an officer of the law leading a convict to the "hoosegow." Even when they are going from one place to another in an automobile, she does not leave him free to guide the conveyance in an unnumbered way. She either throws herself upon his bosom or winds her arms about his neck in order that he may have no doubt that she loves him. One cannot drive these days along any public highway without meeting these entangled lovers at almost every cross-road.

Husbands and wives with us still in general confine their show of affection to the privacy of the home, but young lovers are gradually breaking down all reserve. One finds them everywhere—in some dark corner at a social function, in dimly lighted booths in confectioneries, in cars parked at the roadside, on unshaded porches, and out in the open glare of the mid-day sun exchanging their caresses. City treasuries would soon be filled if like China we should enforce a law against such unconventional practices. (© 1930, Western Newspaper Union.)

DAIRY TALK DAIRY

CLOVER GRAZING IS PROFITABLE

Two Fields Are Needed for Continuous Feeding.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

On soils that contain lime the most productive grazing crop known today is sweet clover, according to the experts in forage crops in the United States, Department of Agriculture. They point out that a good stand of second-season sweet clover can carry two head of cows per acre from early spring until mid-summer and cases are known where four head did not keep it down. Get the stock in early, they advise, when the clover is 6 inches high and put cattle enough on to keep it from blossoming; with only one cow to an acre the clover gets old too fast.

For continuous grazing, they point out, two fields of sweet clover are necessary, one that has just passed its first, winter and one starting its first season's growth. Turn cattle on the older field in the spring and keep them there until July 15-30. By this time the sweet clover will bloom and get too woody to be palatable and the clover on the new field should be 6 to 8 inches high. The new clover will carry only about half the stock the old field carried, and allowance must be made for that by having double the acreage or by having other pasture. An excess acreage in the fall is not a bad thing, as any field not needed for grazing the next season can be turned under the next spring for corn with great benefit to the corn.

After grazing stops on the older field the clover will make considerable growth and this can be plowed under in the fall with great benefit to any succeeding crop.

There is less danger from bloat with sweet clover than with other clovers, but cases have been known, and the usual precautions should be taken.

Mature Dairy Animals Are Needlessly Killed

A larger number of mature animals at the government dairy experiment farm, Beltsville, Md., have died from the effects of swallowing nails, wire, or similar material than from any other one cause, according to the bureau of dairy industry, United States Department of Agriculture. Autopsies made at this station showed that out of a total of 26 deaths over a period of years 12 were due to swallowing foreign objects, the most common of which was a sharp-pointed piece of wire two or three inches long. Such material follows in that part of the stomach known as the "honey comb" or reticulum. Some of the sharp-pointed objects may pass through the stomach wall and pierce the heart or other vital organ, with fatal results. Great care should, therefore, be exercised in handling and disposing of such materials as baling wire, nails, and rusted-out fencing.

Electric Current Used in Milking Any Herd

Five cents in the form of electricity will do a great many things. It has been figured out that a nickel's worth of electric current generated by a farm light plant will milk 10 cows, separate 1,400 pounds of milk, churn 20 pounds of butter, sharpen an axe or a scythe on the grindstone six times, pump a two-days' supply of water, run an electric sewing machine for five hours or do two large family washings.

According to the latest available information, nearly a million farms in the United States are electrified. While many of these farms have electric "high line" service, a large number are supplied by individual farm plants, particularly in communities where the "high lines" have not yet gone.

Maintain Fresh Water Supply for Dairy Cow

Plenty of pure, fresh water should be accessible to the dairy herd at all times. An average sized cow consumes from 50 to 100 pounds of water a day when dry. She will need four times this amount, or 200 to 400 pounds of water a day when in full flow of milk. Water supplies 87 per cent of the total content of milk and 56 per cent of the total body weight. Stagnant pools in the pasture should be filled or drained—dangerous intestinal parasites flourish around pond holes. Concrete water troughs, provided with drain pipes and floating valves, are practical.

Salt for Cows

The craving of dairy cattle for common salt is based upon a real need of the body. The dairy cow uses salt in proportion to the feed consumed; in other words, the high producer will need more than the low producer. The most common plan of supplying salt is to keep it before the animals at all times, either in the form of rock salt or ordinary stock salt. Other dairy-men prefer to mix it with the grain usually at the rate of one pound per 100 pounds of grain mixture.

Basque Peace Officers Kept Reasonably Busy

Unique is the miguelete. Every where in Spain, from the gates of the royal palace in Madrid out to the remotest, humblest hamlets, the civil guardsmen have the right of way—except in the Basque province of Guipuzcoa. The Basques have their own police, called migueletes, who wear a jaunty uniform of baggy red trousers, a blue tunic with a cape fixed to the shoulders and a red bolina on their heads (a contrast to the civil guards' yellow trappings and gray or black uniforms and shiny cocked hats, triangular and of oilskin). Although a soldier, armed and trained as such, the miguelete, instead of parading about in idleness, has many civilian duties. He carries all the official mail in the province, conveys lunatics to the modern asylum, inspects the roads, teaches the illiterates to read and write, collects telephone tolls and also taxes. A Basque is always ready with a bet, which is the common way of ending a dispute about handball, tree felling, grass mowing, stone lifting, swimming, about what weight his pair of oxen will drag or the fighting powers of a ram from his herd. On every bet a percentage is due and is collected by the miguelete. It is the miguelete also who takes charge of the savings bank accounts, and so great is the confidence he inspires among the peasantry that old and young hand over their hard-earned reales and pesetas to this red-legged cop. What prestige! Indeed, it has been proposed that the League of Nations study the corps with a view to making it a world organization.

France First Country to Organize Zouaves

Zouave is the name of a tribe of Berbers in Algeria. In 1831 the French recruited two battalions of Berber soldiers, who were uniformed in native costume. In about ten years they were converted into an infantry branch of the French army and the uniform retained. Before the World-war there were four regiments of zouaves, still in the French army. The first service that these troops saw outside Algeria was in the Crimean war. They attracted much attention because of their uniforms and their fighting qualities, and volunteer military organizations throughout the world adopted the uniform, or a modification of it, and the drills and tactics. There were several of these zouave companies in the Civil war, and they were taken into the army as organized.

Canadian Bituminous Sands

In what is known as the McMurray country in Canada, 300 miles north of Edmonton, are to be found extensive deposits of bituminous sand. The future commercial significance of these deposits is as yet not generally realized, it adds, although it is possible that eventually they may prove to be of real national importance.

It is thought the bituminous sand in Canada is in many respects similar to the oil shale in the United States and that the development of bituminous sand should be considered quite as seriously as that of the oil shales. Yield per ton from the latter will, in some instances, be higher than from bituminous sand, but, from the point of view of mining costs and certain other factors, the development of bituminous sands will probably have advantages over oil shales.

Put Health First

The views of students as to what makes life happy are revealed by a ballot competition conducted by the National Union of Students throughout the universities of England and Wales, says the London Observer. The following was the order of importance voted for the various attributes conducive to a happy life:

A sound constitution; a sense of humor; a congenial occupation; an assured future; a charming wife (or husband); a blameless reputation; £400 a year; a brilliant career; a thick skin; a good cook; a persuasive manner; a library and a poker face (equal); an artistic temperament; a schoolgirl complexion.

Tut-Tut!

All judicial humor, fortunately, is not retrospective. While some judges dig it up from the past, others are busy extracting it from the present. A little while ago it was stated before a well known judge that a company was to run a revue named "King Tut-Tut."

His honor rubbed his brow. "What does 'Tut-Tut' mean?" he inquired.

"It is an expression," replied counsel, "used on the golf links when a man misses his drive."

"You mean when the clergy are present," suggested the judge, amid laughter.—Birmingham (Eng.) Weekly Post.

Native of the Tropics

Avocadoes are available in a number of varieties from August and September on through to the first of the year, says Nature Magazine. The tree, clean and rather attractive, often growing to be from 50 to 60 feet high, is a native of Mexico, Central America and the mountains of Colombia. Thus, there are three main branches of the family, but the common, or West Indian avocado, extensively grown in south Florida, is the most tropical and bears the largest fruit. This fruit is covered with a leathery skin, which, when ripe, is green or, in some instances, a shade toward purple.

Trained Minds Needed for City Government

"The same rate of progress in municipal administration during the next twenty years as has occurred during the past 20," says a report of the Kansas City Public Service Institute, "will make the government of cities generally outstanding examples of successful, economical and efficient government." The stigma that once attached to democracy because of the mismanagement of city affairs seems about to be removed.

Recently attention has been called to the truth that the big business of big cities needs the same sort of big-minded, far-sighted management as insures the success of big private enterprises. There is need for research, for study by trained minds, for the services of men capable of meeting and dealing with big administrative problems.

The probability of getting this kind of public service is lessened in proportion as changes in the personnel of government are frequent and the choice of a multitude of public servants depends upon the haphazard methods of political nomination and election.

There is the central fact. Constant changes in the government make a mess. Continuity of policy must be secured to reach the desirable results.—Kansas City Times.

Home Ownership First on Road to Prosperity

Home ownership as the best road to the prosperity of the individual and the country was the keynote of a conference of representative retail lumber dealers from various sections of the United States, held at Chicago.

Organization of a council whose object will be to help some builders build better and more livable homes was the outcome of the gathering. The lumbermen met primarily to discuss many of their merchandising problems, but the home ownership theme was injected into the conference by Fred Ludwig of Reading, Pa.

"The fondest thing in America today is absolute home ownership," said Mr. Ludwig. "It is the keynote to the real prosperity of the individual. People should own a home before they own an automobile or a radio. A man who owns a home is a better citizen and a better influence for the community in which he lives."

Artistic Idea Grows

In some countries, where general surroundings are artistic, it seems to have become a natural habit to follow prevalent good examples. Perhaps we can look forward to this in America, and when once a sufficient amount of good precedents has been established, the habit of doing good things will grow.

Architectural design is applicable to all classes of building, the smallest as well as the largest, notwithstanding the general opinion of the past that such thought is applicable only to expensive construction. When we arrive at a proper appreciation of the artistic roadside, the architectural treatment of roadside structures will logically follow.

Proper Motor Ways

The modern need is for systems of motor ways which are unobstructed and straight and wide enough to accommodate slower moving commercial vehicles, into which traffic can come from the side roads, and then flow freely and rapidly to its destination. Modern motor traffic no more belongs on the main street of a village than the New York Central tracks belong on the main street of Syracuse. Until we realize this, and begin to plan largely for the future, we will go on destroying values it has taken two centuries to build up, and we will get very little but increasing traffic problems by way of compensation.—Exchange.

Plan to Beautify Prairie

Evergreens, distributed by the state forest extension service and planted by the farmers of Custer county, Neb., are to transform the barren prairies of this section into beauty spots in the spring of 1930.

The first county in Nebraska to perfect a definite program for tree planting and beautification, Custer will have the aid of the federal forest service, as well as the state forestry department, in reaching its goal.—Exchange.

Modernization Pays

Homes of beauty and comfort are easily acquired. The price for a pleasant place to live is low. The dollars and cents standpoint averages $2,000. Scattered over a term of years the monthly cost of modernizing the dwelling is decidedly less than the outlay in cash that goes with living in antiquated houses.

Wear on Roadways

Experience has shown that fine crushed rock and gravel roads are worn down at the rate of an inch a year by traffic of 500 vehicles a day.

Keeping Ahead

Every man ought to keep three or four blueprints ahead of his achievements.

COW REGISTERED BY PHOTOGRAPHS

Camera Useful in Studying Growth of Dairy Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The importance of a camera on livestock farms is emphasized by the recent decision of two dairy breed associations to accept photographs in lieu of the color sketches of animals intended for registration. The breeds concerned are Ayrshire and Holstein-Friesian.

Dairy specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture anticipate increased interest in animal photography as a result of this decision, and call attention to Department Circular 377-C, which discusses the use of the camera in studying the growth and development of dairy animals. This circular gives many practical suggestions, and may be obtained by writing the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

Photographs have been used by research workers in the Bureau of Dairy Industry for a number of years and it has been found that they furnish a prolific source of information which could hardly be secured by any other method of record keeping. These specialists are hopeful that the new ruling of the breed associations will stimulate a much wider use of the camera on dairy farms throughout the country.

CAREFUL MOTHERS KEEN ABOUT IT.

"Coughs never last long in our family, for we use Foley's Honey and Tar," says Mrs. J. M. Hill, Homer, Ga. "Foley's Honey and Tar has never failed to take care of coughs and colds in our family, and we have used it over 40 years," says Mrs. Ornstein, Green Bay, Wis. Dependable always, no opiates, no chloroform, nothing that a careful mother hesitates to give her children. That's why mothers endorse Foley's Honey and Tar. Ask for it. When Character and Habits Develop

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK, Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Mrs. Cline was delivering herself of a very scathing denunciation of the evil influences which college had exercised over her son. "He had come away from home," she averred, "clean-minded, honest, and temperate, and now she found him mixed up in every sort of irregularity. He had been caught cribbing; he had wasted his allowance in gambling, and he was known to be drinking, and involved in even more unsavory things, and college was to blame for it all."

I was myself not so sure of the fact that his derelictions could all be laid at the college doors, and I said so. I even went so far as to ask the boy himself, and he very frankly told me that he had learned nothing new in college. He had simply developed the tendencies and the habits which had had their beginnings in high school. Being away from home, he had been freer to follow his desires, and he was simply putting more energy and interest into his dissipations. The habits which dominate us through life, the principles of character which we follow are developed very early in life.

Rudyard Kipling in a recent address to a group of English school boys in southern England on the opening of a junior school in which they were students, expresses something of the same idea: "I am sure you have been told many times that your school gives you in miniature almost every problem and situation you may be called upon to meet later. Strange as it may seem, it is true because—perhaps you have been told this—very few men are more than sixteen years old when it comes to a pinch. "So if you can remember the style of a man's work, or better still, of play, you can make a close guess later on as to what he will do and how and why, and presently you will realize that men seldom do anything for the first time, except at school. It is not as if men were original creatures. They are boy products."

It is quite the truth. Men are only boy products, and they change little after boyhood.

Martin, shortly after he was out of college, was contemplating marriage, and he was discussing with me the great change which would be wrought in him by that ceremony. "I'm going to be a different man next year," he said. "How so?" I inquired. "She'll make me so," he replied confidently.

But she didn't. Martin is just as much a pessimist, a procrastinator, an irresponsible debtor as he was forty years ago. His habits and his character were formed during boyhood, and they have remained the same.

Possibly we are born with certain tendencies, possibly many of these are cultivated, but for most of us our habits and our characters are pretty well settled, while as youths we are under the influence of home.

TORMENTING KIDNEY AILMENTS RELIEVED.

Hard workers, whose full pay envelope is a necessity, whose good health is their only capital, must keep themselves constantly at their best. When Arthur O'Malley, Carson Hill, Calif., had to drag his aching weary body from a sleepless bed, he did a wise thing—looked for Foley's diuretic, and says: "Less than two bottles of Foley's Pills diuretic relieved me entirely of my kidney and rheumatic troubles and put me on my feet and to work again. I want other workers to know about them." Guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for them. For Sale by Hite's Drug Store.

Lansing—The Conservation Department announced that 1,000 trained men, scattered throughout the fire districts of Michigan are ready for the opening of the 1930 forest fire season. The department estimates the danger from forest fires in the lower peninsula will begin around April 1 and in the upper peninsula 10 days or two weeks later.

Boysie City—The season's first smelt run started here with thousands of fish bolting up the Boysie river in one of the earliest runs ever reported in Michigan. Word of the run spread across the countryside and residents rushed to the river with every available type of container to scoop fish. Deputy Game Warden Edward Duell was in charge. It is the first general run in this vicinity.

Pontiac—An aged couple, penniless and without hope for the future, carefully cleaned their home here, plugged cracks around the door, lay down together on a day bed and turned on the gas, neighbors discovered, when they found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Knox. They left a note for their son, Walter, in which they outlined plans for their funeral. Knox was 63 years old, and his wife 68.

Lansing—Hearing on the request of the Detroit, Toledo, and Ironport Railroad Company to abandon four miles of its old main line track between Durban and Dundee was set by the Utilities Commission for April 19. The railroad has built a new and shorter line from Dearborn to Durban, eliminating Dundee from its system. Dundee was formerly the transfer point for shipments going to other railroads.

Lansing—The administrative board has been asked to donate $5,000 to help defray the cost of a Polar Bear reunion in Detroit and the ceremonies Memorial day when the 85 bodies of American soldiers, returned recently from Russia, will be buried. The bodies were found and returned by a commission created by the last legislature. They are now in a vault. The request was referred to the board's finance committee.

Escanaba—The list of county property for sale to satisfy tax claims, this year, lists 3,287 parcels of Delta county land, a reduction of more than 23 per cent from last year's 4,292 parcels. Compared with other nearby upper peninsula counties, Delta's record is exceptional. Many counties are reporting marked increases in the parcels on the tax list, among them Dickinson, which has a total of more than 8,200 parcels, an increase of 3,000 over last year's delinquent roll.

East Lansing—A total of 2,406 boys and girls clubs with an enrollment of 24,174 was recorded in Michigan in 1929, according to A. G. Keitonen, state club leader. Clubs were organized during the year in 81 of the 88 counties of the state and 86.07 per cent of the members completed their projects. The number enrolled in agricultural projects was 12,283, and those enrolled in home economics projects totaled 11,891. Michigan now has 16 projects under supervision.

East Lansing—Football Coach Jimmie Crowley, of Michigan State, is starting early to bolster his forward passing game next year. Crowley believes the solid green jerseys of his men formed a handicap to visibility and he has ordered a change in uniform for the 1930 campaign. The new Jersey is to be white with green stiffer tape in parallel bars down the front. A green band will adorn each elbow. The player's number will be white on a green background on the reverse side.

Advantage in Favor of Spraying Potato Found More Efficient in Control of Diseases

For several seasons past experiments have been under way on the grounds of the New York State Agricultural Experiment station at Geneva to test the relative efficiency of a copper-lime dust and liquid bordeaux spray, which contains such the same ingredients as the dust mixture, for the control of insect pests and diseases of potatoes, particularly potato blight. The results of the tests show a decided advantage in favor of spraying over dusting.

In each of the four experiments, the spray gave much the better results, as shown both by the appearance of the foliage and by the yield of marketable tubers. Both early blight and late blight were controlled fairly well by dusting, but considerably better by spraying. For the control of tipburn or hopperburn, caused by leathoppers, the dust proved almost valueless, while the spray showed high efficiency. Since neither flea beetles nor Colorado potato beetles were important factors in any of the experiments, no data on the control of these insects were obtained.

Notwithstanding the lesser efficiency of the dust, its use may be advisable under certain conditions, for example, where water is difficult to obtain and in small fields where it is necessary to use hand machines.

Winter Sun Scald Quite Troublesome in Orchards

"Southwest" injury (sometimes called winter sun scald) was quite troublesome in many apple and cherry orchards last winter. This injury is said to occur late in the winter and results in a splitting of the bark down the southwest side of the trunk. The trouble can be prevented by shading the trunk during the winter. There are many ways of doing this, such as low-hanging branches, wrapping the trunk, leaning a board against the southwest side of the trunk. Some authorities recommend whitewashing the trunk. When the sun shines on the trunk of a fruit tree on a clear winter afternoon it warms the bark and the part just underneath, and possibly causes a rise of sap. Then, when the sun sinks below the horizon the warmed portion of the tree trunk turns cold very suddenly and the bark freezes and splits. Thus one can readily understand why shading the trunk from the direct rays of the winter sun is a preventative.

Eradication of Onions From Cultivated Land

The eradication of wild onions from cultivated land is a slow process, and can be accomplished only by the regular and systematic rotation of crops and the thoroughly clean cultivation whenever such crops as corn and soy beans come on the land in rotation. Late fall plowing by which the roots are exposed to freezing is also an essential means of eradication.

Wild onion is a pest in wheat fields. For the seed, or bulblets, are about the same size and weight of a grain of wheat, and it is impossible to clean them out in threshing even with the best sieves and fans. But if infested grain is kept for several months and subjected to cold, the onion seed dries and shrivels, becoming light enough to be fanned out with a good machine.

Thorough Cleaning Out Is Poultry House Need

The chicken house should be thoroughly cleaned out and the floor, walls, ceiling and fixtures thoroughly drenched with some powerful disinfectant at least twice a year, preferably the early spring and in the fall. A 3 per cent solution of a coal tar stock dip will serve. The litter kept in the house should be removed and replaced with fresh whenever it becomes so broken up that grain thrown out to the birds does not disappear so that the birds have to search it out to find it.

Agricultural Notes

Select the richest soil and the sunniest spot for the early spinach.

One of the most serious problems of the farmer is that of soil washing.

Barley should go into the ground between oat planting and corn planting time.

Leaching, soil washing and robbing of plant food are all working to destroy the productivity of mother earth.

People living in different districts of the country become accustomed to the particular flavor of honey common to that district and prefer it to others.

At the Ohio station a three-year average yield of 14.28 tons per acre of sunflowers has been secured while corn under similar conditions yielded 12.78.

Tests run at Iowa State college agronomy farm indicate that soy beans have a long planting period, that is, they may be grown successfully, with equal yields, if planted any time between April 19 and June 7.

DAIRY TALK

OVERFEEDING IS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Calf Often Given Too Much Milk or Alfalfa Hay.

Overfeeding of skim milk and alfalfa hay, or both in pens, mangers and feed buckets are the causes for most calf troubles, says E. A. Hanson, dairy extension specialist, University Farm, St. Paul. When scours appear, at once reduce the amount of milk and grain fed, advises Mr. Hanson, as well as changing to timothy hay, if alfalfa or clover is being fed. Falls and utensils for calf feeding should always be washed each day and placed in the sunlight.

Newborn calves should be allowed to have the first or colostrum milk from their dams, as this is an aid to the digestive system. Whole milk should be fed for the first three or four weeks. After this the change from whole milk to skim milk may be made by adding one pound of skim milk and taking away one pound of whole milk daily until all skim milk is being fed. Healthy, vigorous calves can take one pound of skim milk for each 10 pounds of live weight until they are consuming 16 pounds daily. After that, nothing is gained by the feeding of additional quantities, according to Mr. Hanson.

When eight or ten days old, calves will begin to nibble hay and should be given some clean, bright clover and timothy hay. Alfalfa is excellent for older calves, but frequently causes scours in young animals and therefore should be fed sparingly. Calves should be encouraged to eat grain early, as this will supply some of the food materials, such as fat, which are lacking in skim milk. A good feed mixture may be composed of 30 pounds ground oats, 30 pounds ground corn, 30 pounds bran, and 10 pounds linseed oilmeal. Calves under five months of age may be fed as much of this mixture as they will clean up twice a day. Older calves should be limited to 6 pounds or less, depending on their age and growth.

Record-Making Cows Are Now Milked by Machines

The prejudice which still exists against the milking-machine among some dairymen is entirely unjustified, says a dairy expert in the Farm Journal. Where better results are not obtained than by hand-milking, the explanation usually is not that the machine is at fault but that its user is careless in cleaning and caring for it, he observes.

Positive proof of the efficiency of the machine is offered by recent world records set by two Holstein cows. One of the cows, a Holstein owned by John G. Ellis, Lee, Mass., has made three world records by the mechanical-milker route. Her latest record is 701 pounds of fat in 305 days.

For six years Ellis has been doing machine milking, and in the past five years his cows have made 13 world records. He is producing grade A milk for the New York market.

The other record cow is a Holstein owned by Charles Hughes & Son, Neenah, Wis. As a four-year-old, she produced 642 pounds of fat, 20,114 pounds of milk, in 305 days. All this milk was drawn by a mechanical milker, twice-a-day milking.

Dairy Facts

A full dinner pail for the dairy cow means a full milk pail for the dairy man.

Cows like salt. Feed one pound of salt to every 100 pounds of grain mixture.

It takes all winter for a good cow to recover from the effects of a poor pasture and no grain.

Cows respond to good treatment, regularly of milking, careful management, and liberal feeding.

Children and young calves may contract bovine tuberculosis by drinking the milk from tuberculosis cows.

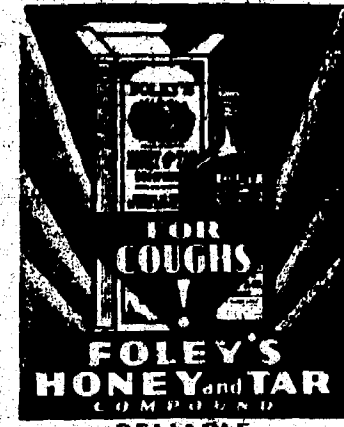

The tubercular cow should be removed from the milk supply. Safety cannot always be guaranteed by pasteurization.

Cows love water. Next to air, water is the cheapest food known for health. Water also aids digestion, manufactures blood, and is used to secrete milk.

Cool the cream after skimming and keep it cool by setting the can in cold water, changed three times during milking.

Stir the cream at least twice a day and don't mix warm cream with cold cream.

Slugs will be plentiful on most farms although the quality may be poor in many cases, the specialists believe. This is due to the early frosts and the wet weather during the all-filling season which caused a low quality of corn and some mold in the silage.

That it is a paying proposition to publish auction ads in The Herald was proven this week when a Herald subscriber came into our office for a copy of our last week's issue containing the Edward Thompson adv. The subscriber stated that he had mislaid his copy of The Herald and wanted to see a copy of the adv. That one subscriber alone may pay Mr. Thompson's expenditure in advertising in The Herald.

Farmers, Notice! An acre of good rich loam soil into pickles will add from $100 to $200 to the farm income. At the high prices being paid, East Jordan will have a large pickle acreage this year, and all good farmers should now make plans to grow some of this crop. Secure your contract early. adv.

Edward Thompson will hold an Auction Sale of live stock and farm implements at the Jasper Warden farm, 3 miles east and one-half mile north of East Jordan next Wednesday, April 2nd, commencing at 1:00 p. m. Another trouble with this world is that nowadays a girl reaches marriageable age before her "sweetie" attains a marriageable salary.

Mrs. A. F. Wilber of this city received a fractured right arm, below the elbow, Wednesday, when she fell as she was descending the cellar steps at her home.

Farmers—Besides the high prices being paid for pickles at East Jordan this year, the Pickle Company also offers an extra $100 in-cash prizes. Get your contract now. adv.

Jackson—Plans for a $7,000,000 memorial to the Republican party, to be built here from funds obtained in a nation-wide drive, were laid before a committee representing the Jackson chamber of commerce recently. Preliminary plans call for an amphitheater seating 6,000 persons. It is proposed that the amphitheater contain a separate room for each state, the interior to be finished in building products and furnishings from the state it represents.

Jackson—Mrs. Anna Best, who came to America from Germany 27 years ago, recently celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of her birth, at her home here. She has five children, 28 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren. Mrs. Best was born in eastern Germany, Feb. 21, 1830. She was twice married, her husbands having died in Germany. Mrs. Best is in good health and active in the care of her home.

Lansing—Neither the city of Farmington nor the Masonic Lodge has any legal claim on the township building which stands within the city limits. Atty. Gen. Wilber M. Brucker has advised Mayor Arthur G. Lamb. The Masons paid part of the cost of the original building and half the cost of an addition, receiving in return a 99-year lease on the second floor. Mr. Brucker holds that the lease is invalid, since township boards have no authority to lease public buildings. Despite the annexation to the city, the township still owns the hall, according to the opinion.

Marcellus—George Griffin, 101 years old, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Alexander, here. He was Cass County's oldest resident, and had lived here 78 years. Mr. Griffin, a retired farmer, was born in Reading, Eng., Dec. 22, 1828. He came to America in 1849 and located in Detroit. After a few months, he went to Pontiac with a brother, Thomas, and was employed in a mill. In 1852 he came to Cass County and obtained 40 acres of land, cleared the timber and built a house.

THE HAPPY FAMILY is the one that is free from financial worry. Freedom from financial worry comes only when there is a surplus laid aside for use in case of necessity—a surplus that will provide for the future—more comforts for father and mother; good educations for the children.

With a moderate income, any family can arrange its expenditures to permit laying aside a definite sum each month in a savings account.

JUNIOR HIGH

At 1:00 o'clock last Friday afternoon, a very peppy crowd of Junior High students, two members of the faculty, and a few High School students were packed into a Dodge bus. Perhaps you want to know just where they were going. It happened to be the Junior High Tournament at Charlevoix. The game between East Jordan and Charlevoix was played soon after the arrival of our team, and after a hard struggle, Charlevoix won the game—9 to 12.

HOME ECONOMICS

This week the ninth grade girls are learning
How to dress in excellent taste.
The tenth grade—how to mix quick breads
As fast as you make paste.
The third year girls are noting how Small children should appear.
And then, they're making dresses which
Look nice this time of year.
The Applied-arts girls are busy, too. Making colored posters, bright. For a famous Operetta which Will come off soon, some night.
That's all the news there seems to be From this one special place.
But Thursday there's a party,
As far as I can trace.

AGRICULTURAL NEWS

The laboratory experiment room has been turned into quite a "circus." Now, instead of only one, there are two field mice, in the little box-pen over in the corner of the room. One of these is the Buffalo type, the other a deer mouse. Then, in a sink that is filled with water over near the center of the room two small fish swim quite contentedly. One of the fish is a smelt, the other a perch.

Project Work Being Organized

A project is described in High School work as "that piece of constructive work a student begins himself, (whether it is raising crops or animals) keeping an accurate account of expenditures and carrying the project to completion. If the student borrows money to carry along his work, he is expected to repay that money, but the final profit is his. The value of this work can be summarized as follows:
1—It develops responsibility on the part of the student.
2—Develops business ability.
3—Teaches him how to keep accounts.
4—If carried on four years the student usually has a bank account when he needs it most.
5—He studies the job he has to do.
6—His project is large enough to challenge his best efforts.
7—Gives a wide representative experience.
8—It gives him something that he can call his own, consequently something in which to take a personal interest.

RAPID DICTATION

Thursday night, March 20th, members of the Shorthand class gathered in the High School Auditorium to take the dictation which was broadcasted over a radio that Mr. Clarence Healey had kindly installed for the purpose.
The contest was broadcasted from W. O. R. New York, but the class were unsuccessful in "tuning in" quite in time for any of the 30-word dictation, and, in fact, they missed a few lines of the 100-word dictation. However, the stenographers got what they could of it, and did fairly well considering the circumstances.

THE STENOGRAPHERS PARTY

The 25 girls who belong to the Commercial Club had a real party last Friday night—just ask them. It was held in the High School Auditorium, Miss Merritt being in charge. Through the courtesy and kind consideration of Mr. Healey, an excellent radio program was enjoyed.
The so-called "lunch" they served consisted of fruit salads, cakes, sandwiches, pickles, and coffee. Except for some imitation cream of flour and water which was meant to fool Miss Merritt, but which some of the girls got in their coffee, the "grub" was all good.
The Peanut Hunt caused a great deal of commotion, inciting a thorough search of the auditorium until the booty was found. Josephine Dolezel found the most peanuts and for this she was awarded a small prize.
The recreation period consisted of every exercise from dancing to three-deep-and-leap-frog. Some persons who were particularly gifted entertained the crowd by turning hand-springs.
But the party was not altogether idle and carefree. You should have seen Gloria, and Clara, and Dorothy, and others push the brooms around the floors to "clean up" the place, when they were through, while an industrious staff washed dishes by the hundred in the kitchen. And EVERYONE had a capital time.

GRADES

The first grade have but one comment to make this week and that is that they will positively have come real news for you next week. Be patient.

The second grade have a new pupil by the name of Leonard Hadix. This makes the total number of students forty-six in the second grade. The second division have now taken up the study of animals.

The third grade have taken up the study of "signs of spring." They earnestly believe that Spring is here.

An enthusiastic group are still pursuing the book contest. The girl who heads the list has read 36 books. Irene Brintnall is quite a little reader.
The fourth grade have started some posters. These contain pictures of birds, posted in the original bright colors. The color combinations are very attractive.

The fifth grade pupils winning the "Merritt" pins are: Jacklyn Cook, Thelma Looze, Katherine MacDonald, Anna Reich. Those receiving their first pins in penmanship are: Gladys Staley, Ruth Darbee, Ruth Hot, Stella Stallard, Lucille Crawford, Donald Johnson, Jane Davis.

The fifth grade have also begun a study of birds. Something very different has resulted in their collection of birds. They have on display many different kinds of birds nests, but, of course, they did not tear down the nests from trees, just for the sake of exhibiting them. This, of course, would be against their golden rule; the nests which they have are those which have been found on the ground, or some place like that.

The sixth grade have been taking many travels to different places of interest in the United States. Of course, these travels are all made in their imagination, but they have vivid imaginations, and are traveling some very interesting journeys.

The sixth grade "Young Eagle" team defeated the "Marines." The Captain of the Eagles is George Walton, and the Captain of the Marines is David Pray.

WEST SIDE

The Second graders have started reading the Billy Bang readers which they like very much. A while ago they read some other readers and learned about Billy Bangs. Now we hope to know Bill Bangs real well when we have finished these readers.
Fourth graders are making W. S. News Notebooks. Each person that writes the news is putting their sheet of news in their notebook. The boys and girls cut the news out of the paper every week.
The name of the ship the fifth graders are going on is the S. S. Resolute. The lowest price for traveling around the world is two thousand dollars. Miss Merritt's class is typing the applications for our passports.

Club Activities The Past Year

stand thoroughly before any petitions were signed the purpose and the details of the laws involved in the question.

If credit should be assigned a large portion would have to go to the parents of children in the country who desired the better roads that consolidation would bring, and who were eager that their children should have the privileges of the very best possible school that can be obtained.

This partial resume of the past year's work of the Business Men's Club has mentioned the name of no officer, nor the name of the chairman of any committee. The officers and chairmen of committees have worked for no personal glory nor preferment; they have worked for the welfare of East Jordan and surrounding region. In so far as they have been successful in this, they have been amply repaid.
The Business Men's Club has been a great asset to East Jordan. Every taxpayer is saved money on account of the activities of the Club. Our roads are better, our school is the gainer, the community life is richer, and the surrounding country is far better off because of the civic spirit and tireless activities of the Club during the past year.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF ECHO TOWNSHIP PASSES AWAY

John Montgomery Hawley, one of the most prominent and highly respected citizens of Echo Township passed away March 11th, 1936, at his farm home five miles south of East Jordan, where he has lived for the past 47 years.

Mr. Hawley was born in Van Buren County, Michigan, January 30th, 1889 and was one of the pioneer residents of Antrim County, coming to Echo Township in 1889 and purchased the farm in 1889 where he has since resided for nearly a half-century. Mr. Hawley's life was an influence for good in the community in which he lived, and to all of those with whom he came in contact.

His life work was farming and school teaching, he taught in the Public Schools of Antrim and Charlevoix Counties for 25 years. He served on the board of school examiners for Antrim County for a number of years. He was Supervisor and Treasurer of Echo Township numerous times, and was also Director of the school district in which he resided until failing health forced him to resign. He has been afflicted for the past 17 years, but has bore suffering and affliction bravely for he was a Christian, and had an ever abiding faith in a supreme being that carried him steadfastly through all of his many years of suffering and affliction.

He was united in marriage to Miss Mary A. Hackett on October 24th, 1888, who is left to mourn his loss as well as two children, Mrs. Ruth Taylor of East Jordan, Mich., and John P. Hawley of Center Line, Mich. Also four grandchildren, Ellen and Lloyd Taylor of East Jordan, and John Martin and Mary Lucile Hawley of Center Line, Mich. One brother, Eugene Hawley of Garnett, Kansas, several nieces and nephews, as well as a host of friends.

Funeral services were conducted Friday March 14th, at the farm home by Rev. Scott Bartholomew of Ashton, Mich., a one-time pupil in Mr. Hawley's school and a life-long friend, assisted by Rev. James Leitch of East Jordan. The pall bearers were all former pupils of Mr. Hawley. Interment in Morehouse cemetery of Echo Township.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Swat the Fly

One ordinary egg-laying female house fly would in six months, if all the eggs of herself and descendants matured, be the "mother" of more than 100,000,000,000,000,000 flies. Therefore, never pass up an opportunity to swat the fly. There are 40,000 known species of the fly.

STICK!

Men fail—because they begin something.
Men succeed—because they finish a definite thing.
Stick—that is the first law of winning.
Mistakes may mark you back. Men may misjudge you. The halfway spirit may tempt you. The fight may tire you.
But to win—push the thing thru, finish it—STICK!

Fair Enough

"Sir," said the maid, quite haughtily, "either take your arm from around my waist or keep it still. I'm no ukelele."

A safe bet is the one you were going to make and didn't.

TORMENTING KIDNEY AILMENTS RELIEVED.

Hard workers, whose full pay envelope is a necessity, whose good health is their only capital, must keep themselves constantly at their best. When Arthur O'Malley, Carson Hill, Calif., had to drag his aching weary body from a sleepless bed, he did a wise thing—took Foley Pills diuretic, and says: "Less than two bottles of Foley Pills diuretic relieved me entirely of my kidney and rheumatic troubles and put me on my feet and to work again. I want other workers to know about them." Guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for them. For Sale by Hite's Drug Store.

DON'T STUB YOUR TOE!

One dark night—so the story goes—a certain monarch placed a large boulder in the middle of the road. Thousands of his people, thereafter, severely stubbed their toes or troubled to walk around. At length, one lusty youth—wiser than the rest—seized the stone and heaved it from its path. And where it had rested, he found a bag of gold.

Are you stubbing your toe? Are you overlooking any bags of gold? How about the advertising in this paper? Do you read it—consistently? It is a bag of gold to many of our readers. In our columns you will find the advertisements of alert, progressive merchants and manufacturers who seek to tell you something they think you ought to know. This advertising is news about the very things that interest you most—articles that will save you money, lessen your work, or add materially to your comfort and well-being.

Thrifty men and women read advertising. To them it is a plain, every-day business proposition—a duty they owe themselves and their purses. It tells them where they can buy exactly what they want at a price they can afford to pay.

Advertising pays them. They make it pay.

IT WILL PAY YOU TOO. READ IT.
