MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET A BIG SUCCESS

The third annual Mother and Daughter Banquet given by Jasmine Rebekah Lodge No. 365 at the High School Auditorium last Friday evening, March 28th was a big success.

Tables were decorated with the colors and rosebuds were favors. Plates were laid for 165. Following the banquet, the following program was presented:

Toast to Daughters—Mrs. James Leitch.
Toast to Mothers—Helen Severance.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. J. P. Seiler.
Saxophone Duet—Misses Cathol Lorraine and Moreen Bulow.
Address—Mrs. G. W. Kitsman.

The feeling of comradeship was uppermost and everyone went away the better for coming.
A great deal of thanks is expressed by the lodge to Mrs. Kitsman for rendering her speech in the manner she did, and also to the others who made the program the success it was.

START POISON PLOT AGAINST FRUIT-FLY

Two fruit-flies which differ in their color scheme but which are similar in their taste for Michigan cherries are going to have a hard season if the advice given by the entomology department at Michigan State College, East Lansing, is accepted by orchard owners in the State.

The few days which intervene between the time when these flies emerge from their underground pupal cases and the time when they start laying eggs on cherries is sufficient to insure the control of the pests if a spray of two and one-half pounds of powdered arsenate of lead to 100 gallons of water, with or without two gallons of liquid lime sulphur is used promptly.

This spray can not be used on cherries which are not going to be thoroughly washed before they are eaten. Lead arsenate is poisonous to people as well as flies and the residue of the poison which remains on the cherries must be washed off before they are used as food.

The spray has to be applied immediately after the flies emerge as adults and, as this time varies in the different sections of Michigan, observing stations are used in each area to find the exact time when the spraying should start. Newspapers, extension workers, the radio, and other agencies aid in getting the warning to the growers.

Circular bulletin No. 131 recently published by the College gives detailed instructions for cherry fruit-fly control.

THOMAS ZESS AGED SIXTY-FIVE COMMITTS SUICIDE

Thomas Zess, residing on the East Jordan-Deer Lake road, committed suicide recently by shooting the top of his head off with a shot gun. He had been missed for several days and neighbors investigating his home last Saturday afternoon found his body in an upstairs room with the gun in his hand.

He was aged about 65 years and was living alone. Officers were notified but decided an inquest was unnecessary. The remains were taken to Boyne City for burial.

A daughter, Mrs. Charles Wheaton is the only known relative, and her whereabouts is not known.

MR. & MRS. G. JENSEN CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. G. Jensen celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their farm home near Ellsworth, Mich., March 30th, 1930.

They were married in the Lutheran Church at Tvedstrand, Norway, March 16th, 1880. They came to America in 1889. Nine children were born to them, four in Norway and five in this country. The eldest died in infancy.

Three daughters—Mrs. Joseph Hyatt of Detroit, Mrs. Roy Gunther of Frederic, and Miss Josie Jensen of Ellsworth, and five sons, Thomas and Timothy of Detroit, Elmer, Lawrence and Norman of Ellsworth, and six grandchildren were all home for the celebration. Also Mrs. Jensen's oldest brother, Anton Hanson, who was present at the wedding in Norway.

Other guests were Joseph Hyatt, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Lawton, Jesse Lawton, Mr. and Mrs. Ireland and Mr. N. Nicholas, and Mrs. L. Metz.

A bountiful dinner was served. A large pink and white wedding cake and two vases of pink and white carnations decorated the table.

The occasion was enjoyed by all present and all wished them many more years of happiness together.

"For fifty years in rain and shine, You've walked together down life's way,
To find that love and loyalty are gifts that never fade away.
The truest gold the world can hold, Is in your hearts this happy day."
—Mrs. A. B. Lawton

Lansing—A concentrated war against crime by the state police at a cost of nearly $700,000 a year, with the proposed police radio as its nucleus, was outlined by Commissioner Oscar G. Olander. The commissioner revealed that, although he believes his present personnel and equipment sufficient to make the radio war workable, he will seek a permanent appropriation of $200,000 a year for additional men and automobiles and to finance a more thorough patrol system.

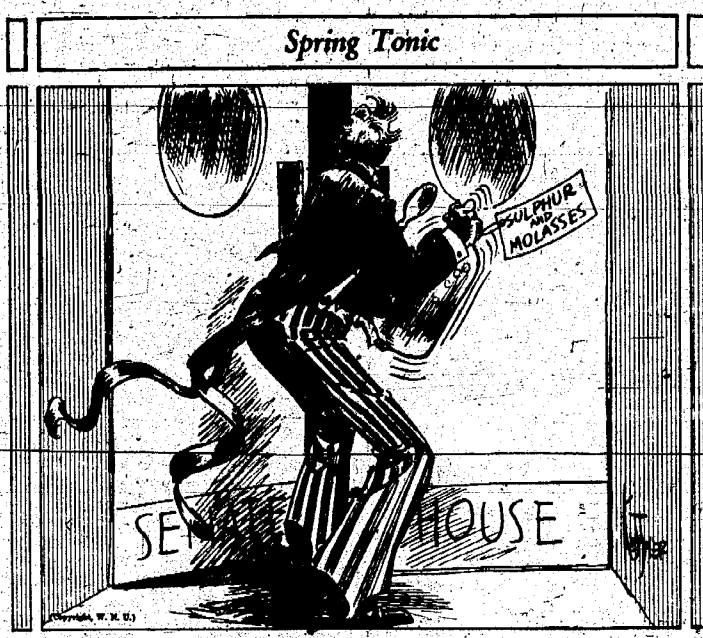

Jackson—A collie saved the life of Maxie Lettow, 4-year-old son of Oscar Lettow, at Vandercook Lake. Maxie and the dog had been playing in the yard of the Lettow home, which borders a brook. The father ran from the house when attracted by the barking of the dog. He found Maxie lying in the brook. Neighbors called a physician and the fire department resuscitation squad, while the father worked over the boy. The physician had revived the child before the firemen appeared.

Bay City—After being in operation 20 years, the Beaver Mine, owned by the Beaver Coal Co. has been shut down and is being dismantled. About 200 miners were thrown out of work. During its operation, 1,500,000 tons of soft coal was taken from the mine. It was estimated by Charles A. Correll of the Gage Coal Co., which controls the Beaver Coal Co. There is only one other coal mine in Bay County, the Wolverine No. 2, owned by a Saginaw firm, which has not been operated for four years.

Jonesville—Lowell Durtley and Cecile Nye, Jonesville high school students who disappeared one night recently, were found dead in Durtley's automobile in the cemetery here. The two students, each of whom was 17 years old, had been the object of a country-wide search, since they left a football banquet at the high school and failed to return to their homes. Officers said they believed the students had succumbed to carbon monoxide poisoning, as the lights were on in the car and the gas tank dry.

Boy: "When I eat an apple the worms must look out for themselves."

Keep Smelt Out of Game Streams

STATE PROHIBITS PLANTING IN ANY MORE LAKES.

Conservation officers were recently instructed by George R. Hogarth, conservation director, to prevent introduction of smelt into any streams or lakes which the fish have not invaded. Hogarth said the order was issued to protect other species of fish which are crowded out by waters inhabited by smelt.

The order was given out after R. A. Murphy, conservation officer stationed at Beulah, wired Hogarth asking if he should issue a permit to make a transfer from Cold Creek into Blue Lantern Lake in Muskegon Co.

"While there is argument on the question of the harm which smelt do to waters in which they are planted," Hogarth stated, "evidence points to substantiate belief that other species cannot exist where they do."

"Smelt multiply rapidly as is proven by the tons of them which are annually taken out of Cold Creek and other places where they now exist. They cannot be caught with hook and line except for a few weeks during the winter, and therefore are almost useless as a game fish."

Smelt were originally introduced in Michigan waters to provide food for whitefish, but have found their way into several inland lakes and streams.

Further recognition will be given the winning essays by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, which will print the two first place papers in its publication, "Michigan Out-of-Doors."

Lansing—Regardless of the failure of the Federal Radio Commission to grant a license, the Michigan state police will go ahead immediately in establishing a state-wide radio hook-up for use in police work, it was announced by Gov. Lansing—One Great Northern pike, caught in Houghton Lake, had 90 small bass and bluegills in its stomach. The fish division of the Department of Conservation has received from Dr. Frank Alger of Ithaca a report of a pike speared in Houghton Lake during February. With the head of the pike, Doctor Alger sent 68 small bass and bluegills found in the stomach. About two dozen additional small fish had been partly digested.

Detroit—The unbelievable has come to pass. Women smoke cigars in restaurants, hotels and in their automobiles, and sometimes puff them upon the streets. Detroiters have become accustomed to this. But not to the startling innovation at Woodward and Adams avenues the other night. This woman strode along unconcernedly smoking a pipe. It was smaller than the regulation briar, but a pipe nevertheless, and held a thimbleful of tobacco.

Grand Rapids—The collapse of a sidewalk in the business district here injured two women. Mrs. Harry Reddy and Mrs. Fay Chubb, neighbors, who were shopping, clung to the edge of the hole left by the collapse until passersby pulled them to safety. They suffered leg injuries. The section which fell was several feet square and left a hole 10 feet deep leading to the basement of a store. It is believed the walk was weakened by water leaking from a main.

TORMENTING KIDNEY AIL- MENTS RELIEVED.

Hard workers, whose full pay envelope is a necessity, whose good health is their only capital, must keep themselves constantly at their best. When Arthur O'Malley, Carson Hill, Calif., had to drag his aching weary body from a sleepless bed, he did a wise thing—took Foley Pills diuretic, and says: "Less than two bottles of Foley Pills diuretic relieved me entirely of my kidney and rheumatic troubles and put me on my feet and to work again. I want other workers to know about them." Guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for them. For Sale by Hite's Drug Store.

The Home Censor

Happiness, you know, is only a "relative term." But the relatives very seldom include the in-laws. A spider's web has no commercial value, we are told. Too bad the stuff's too heavy for women's clothes. The girl who boasts that she has never been kissed can eat all the onions she wants to. The true optimist is one who turns into the detour and reflects happily that it has no billboards.

State News in Brief

Grand Rapids—A state-wide check of drug stores to see that a registered pharmacist is on duty at all times will be undertaken soon by the Michigan Board of Pharmacy, G. W. Benedict, director, announced.

Saginaw—Wandering into a dry kiln here while in an intoxicated condition, Dan McLean, who had no home, laid his head against a steam pipe and was killed by the terrific heat. The body was found several hours later.

Jackson—Sale of the track and trolley on the Jackson-Battle Creek division of the former Michigan Electric Railway to the Joseph Schonthal Co., of Columbus, O., is announced by the Michigan Electric Shares Corporation. The price was not made public.

Marquette—A wife and son who left Hungary March 4 expecting to join the husband here will make their long journey in vain. George Bock, of McFarlane, believed to be the victim of a hit-and-run driver, was found injured beside the highway in McFarlane and died a few hours later.

Clare—Joseph Youman, 92, Clare's oldest citizen, and a newlywed bride took unto himself a 86-year-old bride in December, is back in politics. He is Republican nominee for constable, a position he says he is "plenty spry enough" to fill. "If elected," he adds, "I will perform the duties of my office without fear or favor."

Sturgis—Duane Yetter, 20 years old, of Sturgis, must serve one to five years at the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia for theft of a loaf of bread and half pound of bacon. Yetter was sentenced on his plea of guilty before Judge C. C. Johnson, at Centerville, to breaking and entering the home of Joseph Chamberlain, of Chamberlain, near here.

Lansing—The Conservation Department announced that 1,000 trained men scattered throughout the fire districts of Michigan are ready for the opening of the 1930 forest fire season. The department estimates the danger from forest fires in the lower peninsula will begin around April 1 and in the upper peninsula 10 days or two weeks later.

Boyer City—The season's first smelt run started here with thousands of fish bolting up the Boyer river in one of the earliest runs ever reported in Michigan. Word of the run spread across the countryside and residents rushed to the river with every available type of container to scoop fish. Deputy Game Warden Edward Duell was in charge. It is the first general run in this vicinity.

Pontiac—An aged couple, penniless and without hope for the future, carefully cleaned their home here, blugged cracks around the door, lay down together on a day bed and turned on the gas, neighbors discovered, when they found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Knox. They left a note for their son, Walter, in which they outlined plans for their funeral. Knox was 63 years old, and his wife 68.

Lansing—Hearing on the request of the Detroit, Toledo, and Ironton Railroad Company to abandon four miles of its old main line track between Durban and Dundee was set by the Utilities Commission for April 19. The railroad has built a new and shorter line from Dearborn to Durban, eliminating Dundee from its system. Dundee was formerly the transfer point for shipments going to other railroads.

Lansing—The administrative board has been asked to donate $5,000 to help defray the cost of a Polar Bear reunion in Detroit and the ceremonies Memorial day when the 55 bodies of American soldiers, returned recently from Russia, will be buried. The bodies were found and returned by a commission created by the last legislature. They are now in a vault. The request was referred to the board's finance committee.

Escanaba—The list of county property for sale to satisfy tax claims, this year, lists 3,287 parcels of Delta county land, a reduction of more than 23 per cent from last year's 4,292 parcels. Compared with other nearby upper peninsula counties, Delta's record is exceptional. Many counties are reporting marked increases in the parcels on the tax list, among them Dickinson, which has a total of more than 8,200 parcels, an increase of 2,000 over last year's delinquent roll.

East Lansing—A total of 2,406 boys' and girls' clubs with an enrollment of 24,174 was recorded in Michigan in 1929, according to A. G. Kettunen, state club leader. Clubs were organized during the year in 81 of the 83 counties of the state and 80.07 per cent of the members completed their projects. The number enrolled in agricultural projects was 12,283, and those enrolled in home economics projects totaled 11,591. Michigan now has 16 projects under supervision.

East Lansing—Football Coach Jimmie Crowley, of Michigan State, is starting early to bolster his forward passing game next year. Crowley believes the solid green jerseys of his men formed a handicap to visibility and he has ordered a change in uniform for the 1930 campaign. The new jersey is to be white with green sticker tape in parallel bars down the front. A green band will adorn each elbow. The player's number will be white on a green background on the reverse side.

Growing Tree Stock to Order Best Plan

Nurseryman Knows in Advance What Is Wanted.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the new ideas in fruit growing is that of having nursery stock grown according to specification. It is true that orchardists now specify the particular varieties they want, but other than that they know very little about the stock they plant. Closer co-operation between fruit growers and nurserymen would make it possible for the growers to get stock from the producing strains and at the same time would allow the nurseryman to know in advance what stock will be wanted.

Such an arrangement would be highly advantageous to the nurseryman since a large amount of nursery stock is annually consigned to the trash pile for the simple reason that it is impossible to predict the demand for all types of stock. If growers placed their orders far enough in advance so the nurseryman could grow the desired stock for delivery two or three years later it would guarantee sale of the lot and justify special attention to it.

Mower Is Continuously Operated at High Speed

One of the farm machines which must continuously operate at high speed and under adverse conditions is the mower. Under the most favorable mowing conditions, the mower is under constant strain. Because it is called upon to do a variety of jobs from cutting heavy hay in the field to cleaning weeds out of a fence row or along a ditch, it is highly important that the mower be in perfect working condition. Checking the alignment of the cutter bar, seeing that the knives are centered properly on the guards and giving careful attention to lubrication often help to lighten its draft and to improve the quality of work done.

A type of mower has been developed which can be operated at either of two speeds, at high speed in heavy hay where the going is hard, or at low speed when the hay is tight and the cutting easy. This 2-speed mower operates on the same principle as the transmission on an automobile. It can be operated with either tractor power or horse power.

Continuous Corn Land Helped by Using Manure

Results from the use of manure on farm land are measured mainly by increases in crop yields. This, however, is not the only benefit derived. A good illustration is had from the Morrow soil fertility plots at the Illinois experiment station. A comparison is made of land that has been in continuous corn since 1876, one plot receiving manure, the other receiving no manure. Aside from increased yield in favor of the manure, the most striking comparison was of the physical condition of the soil. With both plots fall plowed, the land that had no manure was puddled and run together the following spring, whereas the land that had manure was ready to work 10 to 14 days earlier.

Agricultural Squibs

Spraying potatoes to control blight and insects pays well.

High quality potato seed can become ordinary seed as a result of poor storage.

Business farmers will answer letters just as promptly as will any other business men.

It does not pay to treat black locust pests since this species is already very durable in contact with the soil.

Grease is better than oil for protecting the plowshares from rust when they are stored for the winter, as the grease stays where it is put.

That a farmer is ahead in applying a preservative treatment to his fence posts has been clearly demonstrated from the dollars and cents viewpoint.

Every farmer who keeps chickens should study the winter needs of his poultry flock and will find it worth while to take time to supply these needs.

Duck eggs are successfully hatched in incubators at about the same temperature as hen eggs. The main thing is to provide plenty of moisture, which seems difficult sometimes.

The incubator is a success, which has come to stay and which should be considered as necessary upon the farm as a plow or separator. Its operation calls for no heavy manual labor and so remains a degree of skill.

AN EXPENSIVE ITEM

"How is your new land getting on?" asked Farmer Giles, when he met Farmer Jones during an evening stroll to the village hotel.

"He broke two spade handles yesterday," replied Farmer Jones. "What! Is he working as hard as that?" exclaimed Giles in surprise. "But Jones made things clearer as he said bitter. 'No; leaning on them.'"

His Business
"Then if I buy a house on this estate, can you guarantee that the roads will be properly made up and the foot-paths paved?"
"Oh, yes, sir. That is already arranged."

Prehistoric Styles
Filtrator (the barber)—Just trim the end of I's spouse. I remember you said your bride liked to toy with your crisp curls.
Bonescraper (the bridegroom)—That was before we were married. Clip it close to the scalp so she can't get a grip on it.

Damaged the Bridge Work
Hortense—And they say he is a fellow who makes violent love to a girl.
Marjorie—I'll say he does! Why, last evening he kissed me four times right on the bridge.
Hortense—Goodness gracious! And now you will have to go to the dentist to have the bridge repaired, of course.

Verification
"Do you take care to verify all you say?"
"Invariably," answered Senator Sorghum. "Even if something I announce isn't yet true, I put it in the form of a prediction and try to make it come true later on."

NOT CONGENIAL
"Why does Tom seem to shun the society of ladies?"
"Well, you see, he doesn't smoke."

Sure Is
When you have got a car that's new and sporty, it's doggone hard to keep it down to "forty."

Would Be Worth It
"I'd give anything if you would kiss me."
"But the scientists says that kisses breed disease."
"Oh, never mind that. Go ahead, and make me an invalid for life."

Fine, Indeed!
Ruskin Bill was in court charged with exceeding the auto speed limit. "What's the matter with you," asked the judge. "Didn't you read the signs along the road?"
"Sure," replied Bill. "They read 'Fine for Speeding.'"

No Head for Business
"I don't know what to do with this mongrel," moaned Jones. "I've done my best to give him away."
"Give him away?" protested his up-and-doing wife. "That's no way to get rid of a dog. Ask $25 for him."

PARTLY TRUE

"Why, you don't even know what economy is."
"Sure I do! It's a way of spending money without getting any fun out of it."

All for Efficiency
I eat my peas with honey. I've done it all my life. They do taste kind of funny. But it keeps them on the knife.

No Reason at All
"What caused your husband to leave home?"
"I haven't the least idea. He just parked up and left the morning after my mother and two sisters cause to spend the winter with us."

Berries Without Thorns Promised

Blackberries and Dewberries Being Tested by Many Scientists.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Blackberries and dewberries without thorns has been a subject of interest to plant breeders for a number of years. Doubtless those who have picked either of these fruits are in sympathy with the efforts of the scientists to eliminate the thorns, and it now looks as if it were to be done, according to George M. Darrow, of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Two thornless varieties—the Cory blackberry and the Austh thornless dewberry—placed on the market in recent years have met with fairly good success. These thornless types are adapted to certain southern localities only.

Recent Developments.
One of the most recent developments in the production of thornless fruits is the work of E. L. Pollard, a fruit grower of California. In the summer of 1928 he observed thornless sports of the Young dewberry on his place. He tested six of these this year and all but one proved to be worthless. The one exception proved to be apparently as good in every way as the original Young, and all propagations of this sort were thornless.

"The success of this grower in finding a productive thornless sport of the Young dewberry," says Mr. Darrow, "calls attention to the desirability of finding similar sports of the standard blackberries of each section. All thornless sports should be propagated and tested for their productiveness."

Many Advantages.
"Thornlessness in the dewberry is advantageous not only in lowering the cost of training, but what is more important, also in reducing thorn injury to the canes themselves. Even greater advantages might be obtained with thornless Oregon Evergreen and Himalaya blackberries."

Investigations looking to the development of thornless blackberries and dewberries are now being conducted by the department and by a number of workers at state experiment stations.

Giving Himself Up
"Officer, you'd better lock me up. Just hit my wife over the head with a club."
"Did you kill her?"
"Don't think so. Thash why I want to be locked up."

There are a lot of things every man would like to forget if his wife would let him.

Finds Chicago First to Call Policemen 'Coppers'

New York.—A member of the police force is a "bobby" or a "copper," according to where you were born. But he is seldom a policeman, except in the elegant forms of daily speech. It may surprise many to learn that the term copper is a Chicago invention.

Lloyd Lewis and Henry Justin Smith tell of the origin of the word in "Chicago: The History of Its Reputation," just published. The "cop" dates back to the fifties, when Chicago was young. But even in its youth Chicago was a hard-boiled village. One of its mayors at the time was John C. Haines, known as "Copperstock" Haines, because he played the stock market. His busy police were nicknamed by the Chicago citizens "coppers"—and soon after the whole country adopted the term in speaking of their guardians of the law.

If life were too simple we'd all be bored with it.

English Law Demanded

Attendance at Church
Sunday holiday makers and trippers will be interested to know that a statutory law in England years ago prohibited such frivolity, says the London Daily Mail. The Act of Uniformity, 1562, requires: All persons, except those dissenting from the worship or doctrines of the Church of England and usually attending some place of worship not belonging to the Church of England, are, if they have no lawful or reasonable excuse for absence, to endeavor to attend their parish church or accustomed chapel, or, if reasonably prevented from so doing, some other place where the divine service of the Church of England is performed, on all Sundays and other days ordained and used to be kept as holy days, and to abide there orderly and soberly during the time of common prayer, preaching, or other divine services there performed. Failure to observe this law renders the offending "parishioner or inhabitant of a parish" who is not legally exempt from attendance at divine service on Sundays and holy days "liable in proceedings taken against him in the ecclesiastical courts to be censured for the offense, admonished as to his attendance in the future, and to be condemned in the costs of the proceedings."

Ancient Builders' Idea of Humor Quite Modern

The builders of the old churches in England were not so serious but that they now and then perpetrated a joke, even in stone. On more than one of their creations they carved in relief a scene representing a monk preaching solemnly to a flock of geese. The same humorous spirit is sometimes to be detected in the domestic architecture of early times.

Just upon the boundaries of Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire formerly stood an old rambling farmhouse. The living-room was long and low, and on the center beam that went across the ceiling was inscribed this legend: "If you are cold, go to Hertfordshire."

This seemingly inhospitable invitation was explained by the fact that one-half of the room was in one county and one-half in the other. The fireplace was in Hertfordshire.

Disdainful of Physicians

Disraeli affected to regard all doctors with a sovereign disdain, writes a columnist in the Manchester Guardian. "Gull is all froth and words," he declared at seventy-three. "They are all alike. First of all they throw it on the weather; then there must be a change of scene; so Sir W. Jenner, after blundering and plundering in the usual way, sent me to Bournemouth, and Gull wants to send me to Ems; I should like to send both of them to Jericho." And Joseph Chamberlain's insistence that to go up to bed and to come down again constituted exercise enough for any man must have been a sore trial to his doctors.

Afraid of Life

"You're not afraid of life, are you?" she asks him, and Finch is startled into truth. "Yes, I am. I'm awfully afraid of it."

She reared her head from the pillow. "Afraid of life. What nonsense. I won't have it. You mustn't be afraid of life. Take it by the horns. Take it by the tail. Grasp it where the hair is short. Make it afraid of you. That's the way I did. Do you think I'd have been talking to you this night—if I'd been afraid of life? Look at this nose of mine. These eyes. Do they look afraid of life? And my mouth—when my teeth are in—it's not afraid either."—Kansas City Star.

Sunrise on the Moon

The transition from night to day on the moon is very rapid, for the moon has no atmosphere; no rosy tints paint its mountain tops at dawn. There are no graduations between darkness and night, no twilight with color-tinted clouds. Before the sun comes there is blank, black darkness, deeper and blacker than anything experienced on our earth. As the sunshine moves across its surface the first peaks to catch its rays stand suddenly out, fully defined in a harsh, untempered glare and in sharp contrast to the dense blackness of the nearby terrain, where it is still night.

Food Requirements

According to Prof. V. H. Mottram, an adult woman needs but 2,500 calories a day. An adult man engaged in sedentary occupation requires 3,000 calories daily. A man doing hard work should have 5,000 calories. The physiological reason given is that the feminine organism utilizes food more economically than man. A child's food should not be proportioned according to his age, as he requires more than half the food of an adult. Boys and girls of fourteen are to be considered as adults in food utilization.

Sanity in the Madhouse

I should imagine that a madhouse would be an excellent place to be sane in. I'd a long sight rather live in a nice, quiet, secluded madhouse than in intellectual clubs full of un-intellectual people, all chattering nonsense about the newest book of philosophy; or in some of those earnest, elbowing sort of Movements that want you to go in for Service and help to take away somebody else's toys.—Frederic "The Poet and the Lunatics," by G. K. Chesterton.

The Embarrassment of Riches

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

The impression which one gets of Hawaii, almost before the boat has docked at Honolulu, is that it is a garden of flowers. Friends come running up the ship's gangplank with wreaths of carnations and gardenias, and fragrant ginger and roses and throw them around one's neck even before one has landed. Our eyes are blinded almost as we drive down the street with the brilliance of the coloring. Croton hedges which seem unreal, painted, so bright a scarlet are they. Long rows of shower trees line the street covered with flowers—scarlet, yellow, pink and a combination of rainbow tints which make one think he is in fairy land. Great masses of hibiscus are everywhere showing a thousand tints and colors and combination of colors. I had never before seen such a variety of flowers and such a riot of color. And the sky was blue with soft white clouds drifting lazily across it, and the air was only mildly warm, and out there was the ocean glistening in the sun and showing every opalescent tint that imagination could conceive of. It seemed an ideal place to live—flowers everywhere and a blue sky and sunshine and the air filled with a thousand sweet odors.

In the morning I was awakened by a regular scratching sound outside my bungalow. I looked out of the window and saw Suki sweeping the lawn with a long handled rattan broom. A half dozen huge hau trees stood back of the hotel, yellow with big bell-like blossoms, in the daytime. During the night the flowers had faded and dropped, and the ground underneath the trees was littered with them. So, too, with the brilliant hibiscus; and under the red shower trees there was a carpet of faded petals. Suki was raking them into piles and carrying them away and burning them. Even flowers, it seems, involve labor and responsibility, and are not an unmixed delight. There is an embarrassment in a riches of flowers as I suppose there is in every sort of riches.

A woman in San Francisco has just applied for a divorce. She was married to a man who after their marriage had become suddenly rich through the discovery of oil on some of his property. The luxury amid which the woman suddenly found herself was an embarrassment to her; she longed for the old simple life.

"Poverty grants to those she loves," she wrote to her husband, "the only urge of life—the boon of desire. With nothing to wish for, nothing to work for, with every want satisfied, life would no doubt pall upon us. We can have too many flowers, too much sunshine. For even flowers and sunshine might in time become a real embarrassment of riches."

"I sometimes long to be a poor man's wife," a wealthy woman once said to me. "There would be less responsibility for me in such a position, more freedom, more joy to which I could look forward."

If the removal is from one ward to another, the elector's name shall at the same time, be registered in the book of the ward to which such elector has removed. Any false entry by the clerk of the word "dead" or "removed" opposite an elector's name shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and shall not impair the qualifications of said elector, and his or her name shall be registered anew. Separate registration books shall be kept for each ward.

Scotch To The End

Mies: "Well, old Gene Mac-Donough remained Scotch to the last breath."

Plyes: "What do you mean?"

Mies: "When he felt a heart attack coming on he managed to fall in front of a passing auto, so the insurance company would have to pay his widow double indemnity."

MANY ROADS Which One Shall I Take?

When the long road dips sweetly down a hill and ends up in a blank and puzzled amazement at a jumble of cross-roads, unless you know your way, you'll push down hard on the brakes! And then look around to see where you're going.

Five roads jutting off in various directions of the compass. One road is yours. Four to lead you astray. But a brief glance—and you're off. On the right road. For a sign was over each road to direct your way!

Just as the directions point out the way in a maze of roads, so does modern advertising guide you in the right direction through the multitude of products offered in present-day markets.

Advertising points the way, straight and clear, to economical and advantageous marketing. It distinguishes the good product. It directs your way by indicating the article best adapted to your needs.

Read the advertisements in this paper as carefully as you would the signs above the cross-roads. They point out your buying road as surely and as safely.

Here's a good one! About ten days ago a man stepped into a Cassopolis grocery and bought 4 dozen eggs which he had the clerk charge to his account. He then took the eggs down to Tim Bishop's place and sold them for cash, and with the cash he bought enough gasoline to keep his car running for a while longer. Is the man a financier? We'll say he is. —Cassopolis Vigilant.

A reduction of nearly 66 per cent in the number of deaths in the State from diphtheria in the years between 1921 and 1928 is reported in an article by Dr. Don M. Griswold, deputy state health commissioner, in the department's monthly publication, "Public Health." In 1928 he said that there were 3,724 cases, 384 deaths, making a fatality rate of 8.3 per 10,000.

An exchange says that a Vermontville girl recently played a cruel joke on her mother and this is how it happened. She accidentally found a love letter that her father had written to her mother in the halcyon days of their courtship. She read the letter to her mother, substituting her own name and the name of her lover. The mother raved with anger and stamped her foot in disgust, forbidding her to have anything to do with a man that would write such nonsensical stuff to a girl. The girl then gave the letter to her mother to read, and the house became so suddenly quiet she could hear the snowflakes falling in the back yard.

The shipment was made in two carload lots, one to Manistique and the other to Frankfort. Unusually warm weather brought the water down to a hatchery temperature, and hastened maturity of eggs.

School News and Chatter

BRIGHT SUGGESTIONS

We, collectors of news, chatter, and reliable gossip for this noted column, have recently acquired several keen intellectual ideas which we wish to present to the Public School System of East Jordan, believing in the utmost earnestness, that we are exhibiting our true patriotism in so doing.

First, for the benefit of the Student Council, let us present, by way of suggestion the law of forcing all girls to wear hoop skirts. This will thus prevent their walking through the halls double file, and eliminate the need for the traffic policeman on each corner. The boys, also, may try this, if they wish.

Second, in view of the great Chewing Gum Question. One can readily see that there is a shameful waste of this product, where the student is forced to cast a freshly chewed stick of gum into the waste paper basket. This is a disgraceful detriment—for a school that preaches Economy.

Of course, there are two sides to the question, and the chewing of gum is disturbing to some people, especially teachers. Let us suggest, therefore, that each student who wishes to chew gum wear a mask in the form of a gag over his mouth. This will prevent the disturbance, I am sure.

Third, a great deal of time is being wasted in the Study Hall by conversationalists who travel back and forth from their own desk to that of their friends, for the sake of visiting. Let us suggest, in a modest way, that some sort of aerial system be installed in the Study room, so that the student may transmit his message from his own seat. The student might, to show his appreciation of this service, broadcast his message in monosyllables, so that the "line" would not be busy when someone else wished to speak.

We have offered these suggestions meekly, sincerely believing that they are for the good of everyone involved. We hope that we haven't made too bold in so doing, but that our ideas for reform will be given due consideration.

Yours for success,
News Staff.

LIBRARY

The library play put on a week ago Wednesday in assembly was a complete success. It certainly proved to be a lively play, with plenty of humor that won the "universal" appeal. Students who took part in it were: Carl Weaver, William Kitman, Minnie MacDonald, Ethel Staley, Clara Leu, Alice Keat, Selma Thorsen.

The rest of the entertainment consisted of music. The Girls Glee Club sang. A splendid clarinet quartet was rendered. Marcella Muma and Ruth Clark gave a clog dance. There was other music also. Miss Chandler played two beautiful piano solos which were very much appreciated.

GRADES

First Grade—The first grade have been very busy with their meadow. You will wonder how they come to have a meadow in the room. It is this way folks. They have planted oats in their sand table and they are just now peeping through the ground.

Third Grade—The third grade are now starting their decorations for Easter. They have been making some very attractive bunnies which are made of different colored oil cloth.

Sixth Grade—The policemen of the hall this week are all boys. The boys have now organized a foot ball team. They feel this will be one of the main events on the athletic program.

WEST SIDE

The second and third graders have each made a March poster of a little boy flying a kite. Each one drew his own pattern free hand.

This week they have decided to make an April poster of a little girl and her dog out in the rain. They are also starting on a health ship. Everyone is taking along the right kind of food and obeying the health rules.

Friday, the boys and girls of both grades had an Arithmetic review. Out of the third grade, Jean Carney, Lucinda Moore had perfect papers. Out of the second grade John Craig, Mary Kotovich, Armetta Vermillion and Joey Lilak.

The fourth graders have their picture now. They like it very much. Two of our fourth graders got their Merritt pins. They are Mary Lilak and Eleanor Severance. Three of the fourth graders got Palmer Method buttons. They are Leonard Smith, Helen Burbank and Jessie McDonald. We are trying to get the Merritt pins for Penmanship.

Two pupils in the fifth grade got their Palmer Method pins. They are Winifred Zoulek and Emma Jane Clark.

We are reviewing Europe in Geography.

Next to a womanly man, we most heartily dislike a manly woman. The average woman laughs when she can and weeps when she will.

State News in Brief

Sporee—In a pinocle game, here, Fred Reimer, 55 years old, a foreman for the Detroit & Toledo Shore line railroad company, living in Frenchtown, held a hand with 1,500 in clubs, took every trick and scored 1,840 points.

Port Huron—H. W. Malnea, deputy game warden, stated that persons using dip nets in the St. Clair river for the purpose of catching fish for sale will be prosecuted, as this practice is illegal unless the catch is for personal use only.

Muskegon—One of the last wishes of William G. Ramsey, veteran of the Spanish-American and World Wars, could not be carried out—in the will of Mr. Ramsey, who died, he provided that he was to be buried upright. A State law prohibits such a burial.

Grand Rapids—Streptococcal infection contracted some days ago from a pin prick received while treating a patient proved fatal to Dr. Russell V. Gladieux, 27-year-old osteopath who had practiced here for three years. Dr. Gladieux leaves his wife and two young daughters.

Owosso—Eighty-four Hungarian partridges, imported by members of the Shilwassee Conservation Association from England, were liberated recently north of Owosso. The only other place in Michigan in which the Hungarian partridge is found is in Lenawee County, to which they have migrated from Ohio.

Detroit—Men passengers on the buses crossing the Ambassador bridge to Detroit, are being given a surprise by a new search order put in effect by the United States customs officers. They are required to open their coats, "either here or in the waiting room." A majority of them consented to the search being made in the buses.

Saginaw—Thirty school children escaped injury when the bus on which they were homeward bound from Central Junior high school, collided with a sedan, mowed down a fire hydrant and plunged into the terrace lawn of a residence. Several of the children on the bus were thrown from their seats and rolled to the rear of the vehicle as it climbed the terrace.

Benton Harbor—Arrangements were completed here for the eighth annual "Michigan Bud Fete," to be held in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor May 7 to 18. Final selection of the "Queen of the Festival" will be made April 17. Twelve Benton Harbor beauties will compete for the honor April 9. Other nearby cities will hold elimination contests, starting March 25. Features of the pageant include: a float parade, air circus, water regatta and climaxing with the "Queen's Ball."

Ann Arbor—Struck on the head by a mail crane while his train was traveling at high speed through Chelsea, Floyd Finch, of Jackson, passenger engineer on the Michigan Central Railroad, was injured fatally. Finch, who was leaning out of the cab window, watching the track ahead, when the accident occurred, slumped forward. The fireman, R. H. Van Order, of Grass Lake, found him unconscious and brought the Detroit-bound train into Ann Arbor. Finch died at University hospital.

Marshall—A jug of gold was found under an old building on the farm of Charles Budlong, near here, by William Caffrey, employed by Budlong to clean the premises. Caffrey found the jug while tearing down an old shed. His shovel struck the jug and the top broke off, disclosing the gold and silver coins, worth more than $1,000. The dates on the coins range from 1850 to 1891. Years ago, a man named Lee owned the farm. He died supposedly wealthy. Very little of his wealth ever was found.

Detroit—"All this talk about fat men being less susceptible to pain than a slim one is largely bosh," remarked a Detroit dentist, "and I ought to know. I have been practicing for 20 years, and during that time I have had fat men and women; slim men and women, and there is no difference when they get in a chair and the old drill starts humming. Fat men are just as touchy as slim men, and the same applies to women. One of the worst patients I ever had was a man weighing about 250 pounds."

Lansing—The federal radio commission at Washington, D. C., announced it has set for hearing application of WBOC, James E. Davidson, Bay City, for modification of his license from frequency on 1,400 kilocycles to 920 kilocycles and an increase in power from 500 watts to one kilowatt. Hearings also will be held on application of Pere Marquette Railroad company for renewal of its license at Ludington, and of the Ann Arbor Railroad company, for renewal of its license at Manistiquette, Frankfort and Monominee.

St. Johns—The farm home of the man whose maniacal fury brought Michigan its greatest tragedy has been sold. The 80-acre farm of Andrew Kehoe, who blew up the Bath schoolhouse May 18, 1927, killing 48 children and maiming others for life, was placed on the auction block here. Mrs. Julia A. Price, of Lansing, holder of the mortgage, obtained the property for $4,900. Kehoe, a member of the village school board, killed his wife and then set fire to his house, planted with dynamite, just before the schoolhouse tragedy.

RAIN

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

It is raining as I write this—a gentle rain that sinks into the ground and disappears as it falls. Nothing else is so restful as a rain; nothing so quieting to the nerves. I should not like to live in a place where it does not rain regularly. I have just been reading an article in praise of the climate of California.

"Picture to yourself," it says, "what a difference is made in your habits, your moods, your whole adjustment to life, when you know that for at least four months of the year—June to October—no rain will fall."

I have the picture. Dust in the air, hillsides brown and sear; vegetation everywhere drying up excepting as some one stands with a hose in his hands and sprinkles the lawn and the flower beds. A hot sun beating down upon one and no hope of rain for four months to cool off the atmosphere; grass, and shrubs, and flowers burned brown and dead excepting where some faithful hand gives them regular attention! A dry wind blowing the yellow dust into one's eyes! It makes no appeal to me. I like variety; I like the soft mist against my face; I like to hear the drops beating upon the roof or against the window panes; I thoroughly enjoy rain, and some way, in spite of the absence of rubbers and rain coats and umbrellas, I seldom seem to get wet.

Nothing artificial can ever refresh the vegetable world as a good rain does. The air smells better, tastes better, and seems to penetrate more deeply into the lungs after a rain. I can work with more enthusiasm, with more concentration and with more energy during a rain. When the rain is falling outside it gives opportunity to finish the uncompleted task; to settle down to something that has been waiting for attention for days or weeks.

When I was a boy on the farm a rainy day was a period to be looked forward to. Before the hard work of farm life had fastened itself upon me, a rainy day was a play day. We cut all sorts of capers in the hay loft as the rain pattered down upon the roof above us; or we went fishing. It was thought that the fish would bite more ravenously upon a rainy day. It may have been, but anyway it was rare sport to sit upon the bank of the creek and watch the corks on our fishing lines bobbing up and down.

I have always liked to read, and as I look back upon the years that have passed it seems to me that much of the reading that I have done since the time I was ten years old has been done while the rain was coming down outside and other tasks for the time being were aside.

No one like sunshine and I take pleasure in clear weather, but I don't want to live where it doesn't rain. Absence of rain would take away half the pleasure of life.

Chic Afternoon Gown

Tollmann demonstrates the new line of chic for afternoon in this black and white printed chiton with fitted bodice, three-quarter ruffled sleeves and skirt of floating fallings. Black suede gloves and a long straw hat complete the ensemble.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

The Polar Spin

If people grided at, or on, the North and South poles, they would get much less of a "ride" each twenty-four hours than those at the equator.

A circle at the pole might be only a foot in circumference, while at the equator the earth is 25,000 miles in girth. As the whole earth revolves once daily, the polar resident gets the shorter ride.

TO THE VOTERS OF SOUTH ARM TOWNSHIP

I wish to announce that I am a candidate for re-election to the office of Township Clerk.

As the Treasurer is changed every two years I believe it is advisable to leave the Clerk's work in the hands of some experienced person.

I appreciate the support you have given me in the past election and for the support you will give me at this election.

BEAUTIFUL, LAST AFTER NOON

"The result of using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for a dreadful cough that bothered me both day and night was a restful one for me," says Mrs. Anne Davison, Long Beach, Calif. DON'T STUB YOUR TOE!

One dark night—so the story goes—a certain monarch placed a large boulder in the middle of the road. Thousands of his people, thereafter, severely stubbed their toes or troubled to walk around. At length, one lusty youth—wiser than the rest—seized the stone and heaved it from its path. And where it had rested, he found a bag of gold.

Are you stubbing your toe? Are you overlooking any bags of gold? How about the advertising in this paper? Do you read it—consistently? It is a bag of gold to many of our readers. In our columns you will find the advertisements of alert, progressive merchants and manufacturers who seek to tell you something they think you ought to know. This advertising is news about the very things that interest you most—articles that will save you money, lessen your work, or add materially to your comfort and well-being.

Thrifty men and women read advertising. To them it is a plain, every-day business proposition—a duty they owe themselves and their purses. It tells them where they can buy exactly what they want at a price they can afford to pay.

Advertising pays them. They make it pay.

IT WILL PAY YOU TOO. READ IT.
