E. J. Band To Interlochen

SCHOOL BANDS TO PLAY UNDER JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, JULY 27.

The East Jordan and Charlevoix School Bands last week received an invitation to play in a massed Band Concert at the Interlochen Bowl on Sunday, July 27th.

John Philip Sousa is expected to direct this Band, which will play his favorite marches.

Included in this massed playing will be all bands out of district No. 5, which includes Manistee, Alpena and Cheboygan.

Last year this band included 300 High School boys and girls and played for an audience of 6,000 people. A larger band and a bigger crowd is expected this year, and it will be a fine experience and a great honor for our Band to play under this world known Bandmaster.

LOVE ROMANCE OF BIG TOP IS PATHE'S "SWING HIGH"

To those who think that the heyday of the circus has passed, Pathe's new musical circus romance—"Swing High" will particularly appeal. For this spectacular talkie deals with life under the Big Top as it existed in 1875—the most picturesque period in circus history.

In those days the circus had no machinery to put up and take down its tents, no mechanical contrivances for loading its paraphernalia on railway flat cars, no tractors to pull the heavy loads to and from shipping points.

Instead, its Big Top was erected and torn down by hardy, singing roustabouts who plied their sledge hammers with amazing skill. It moved from town to town by means of its own wagon train, bad weather often meaning mired wagons and a delay in the performance in the next town. When it was necessary to handle unusually heavy loads, elephants were employed.

The glamour and romance of the circus at its picturesque best is contained in "Swing High," which will be seen at the Temple Theatre this Saturday, Sunday and Monday. A complete circus troupe was engaged for its filming, with all the clowns, acrobats, bare-back riders, trapeze performers, wild animals, spangles and glitter that go to make up "the greatest show on earth" playing a part.

The cast includes, Chester Conklin, Ben Turpin, Dorothy Burgess, Bryant Washburn, George Fawcett, Helen Twelvetrees, Stepin Fetchit, Paphia Pollard, Robert Edeson, Fred Scott, John Sheehan, Mickey Bennett and Fred Langan.

Giants Get Hugh Critz

Hughie Critz, recently traded by the Cincinnati Reds to the New York Giants. The Reds got Pitcher Bentley in exchange.

Jackson—That the tract in the southwestern part of the city being transformed into a 500-acre park by the William and Matilda Sparks Foundation, contains the bones of a mastodon was indicated in a letter received by Capt. William Sparks, Jackson manufacturer, from E. C. Case, director of the museum of paleontology at the University of Michigan. Two large bones found in the excavation for an artificial lake in the park were sent to the museum. The bones were found at a depth of seven feet.

Grand Rapids—All places of historic and legendary interest in Western Michigan will be marked by highway signs during a tour June 19 to 22 by the Grand Rapids and Muskegon Associations of Commerce. Not only will places connected with pioneer history be marked, but also spots famous in Indian lore. It is planned to start the tour at Grand Rapids, go south and west to the state line, and then swing north on U. S. 131 and M-22 to Petoskey and Harbor Springs, returning to Grand Rapids on M-21 and U. S. 131.

CHEBOYGAN BANK CLOSED UP

The First National Bank of Cheboygan closed its doors Wednesday morning. The Board of Directors passed a resolution to that effect after a long session with national bank examiners.

The suicide of Savings teller, Clyde Milliken, aged 44, on Tuesday followed the bank examiners arrival on Monday.

The losses of the bank is reported in excess of the capital stock and surplus which totaled $81,387.14 March 27, 1930 and may reach the enormous sum of $308,000.00. How the money was used is not divulged. It is believed that Milliken worked alone and therefore no other officer is implicated, the despatches state.

The officers of the bank are Judge V. D. Sprague, President; I. H. Erratt, Vice-President and Cashier; Directors, James J. Shepherd, A. D. Shawl and William Childs.—Boyer Citizen.

CHERRY FRUIT FLY CAGE ERECTED IN COUNTY

Of interest to all growers of cherries in the county is the announcement that a cage was erected for the purpose of capturing the adult moth which causes the damage, in the orchard of Mrs. Louise Johnson, located west of the ferry road about four miles north of East Jordan.

In many sections the cherry fruit fly has done considerable damage, and the only way to cut down to a minimum the damage done by this insect, is to spray timely and properly. Ordinarily the moth or fly which lays the eggs emerges from the soil underneath the tree about the latter part of June. This fly feeds for a few days on the tree, and then deposits a large number of eggs inside the cherries. By using the cage and knowing exactly when the flies emerge, they can be sprayed and killed before they lay any eggs.

There will be around forty cages scattered throughout the State in the cherry areas, which enables farmers to get the exact time for spraying. We are highly gratified to state that there will be a considerable crop of cherries from Charlevoix County this year in spite of the three severe frosts we have had. Indications point to a larger crop than we had last year. Much less damage was done to the cherry crop on the Old Mission, near Traverse City, Antrim County and Charlevoix County, than in sections further south.

All cherry growers will be notified by County Agent Melencamp of the exact time to spray to control this cherry fruit fly, so please be on the lookout during the last few days of June for this information.

REV. C. R. HARPER TO SPEAK HERE

Rev. C. R. Harper, Missionary to Brazil is to speak at the Presbyterian Church in East Jordan next Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. Harper is supported entirely by the Presbyterian Church of East Jordan. So far as we are able to learn there is no other church in Michigan, north of Grand Rapids that assumes the entire support of a Missionary.

Mr. Harper is a graduate of Monmouth College, Ill., and of the 1924 class of the Theological School of Princeton, New Jersey. He went to Brazil in 1925. At first he was engaged in Evangelistic work in the interior province of Mato Grosso, but was later transferred to the work of training Brazilian young men for the ministry in the city of Sao Paulo.

He will speak at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock, and in the evening at 7:30. In the evening he will show some stereopticon views of Brazil.

Next week Mr. Harper will teach a class at the Young People's Conference at Wenquetonsing Hotel, Harbor Springs. On Wednesday noon he will address the Rotary Club of Petoskey, and the same afternoon he will speak before the Women's Missionary Society of Petoskey. On Thursday afternoon he will be the guest of the Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church of East Jordan, and on Friday afternoon he will address the Missionary Society of Harbor Springs.

Mr. Harper has made the City of East Jordan to be well known in many parts of Brazil, and it is a privilege to be able to have him with us for a short time.

"It's getting so a couple can't keep in public any more without being stared at."

"The boy friend and I have solved the problem. We take a suitcase and go down to the union station."

June Day Memories

SAFETY BULL PEN ERECTED

The second safety bull pen demonstration was held on Monday, June 2nd, at the farm of Arlo Wickersham.

Considerable interest was manifested at this demonstration by some fifteen farmers who watched the progress of its construction. By means of the safety bull breeding chute, which is an important feature of the demonstration, it is possible to own and take care of an aged bull without any chance of injury to the owner. Furthermore, the only way to know definitely how good the bull is, is to note the difference in the productive ability between his daughters and their dams. This means that the bull must be kept long enough for this to be carried out, and many times at a mature age they become very difficult to handle, but with a bull pen the owner never has to be within the same enclosure with the bull.

The cost of the construction is very low, and in the case of Arlo Wickersham the actual cost was less than three dollars. It is hoped that several other farmers in the county will build a safety bull pen within the near future, and in order to simplify matters, a complete plan is available to all who wish it. Just drop a line to County Agent Melencamp, and this plan will be gladly sent to you.

BARNETT BROS. CIRCUS

No doubt you are aware that a real honest-to-goodness Circus is the greatest entertainment of all amusements, and the only branch of the amusement world that does not need censoring. A visit to the Circus is a day of enjoyment for the old and young. It is a day that the kiddies always remember, and the older folks never forget.

Barnett Bros. is twice its former size this season and is now offering an unusual programme of sensation and merit, with more real novelties than all the other shows combined. A grand spectacle, "NATIONALITY" precedes the regular performance this season, over 100 men, women and animals take part. Miss B. Peasley is the prima-donna and is assisted by a large group of pretty girls. Barnett Bros. have spared no money to make this the most gorgeous spectacle ever produced. This is presented with the regular circus performance without extra charges, and is the talk of every town visited. The street parade this season is over one mile in length, and will pass over the principal streets. Beautiful Tableaux Trucks, four Bands of Music, steam calliope, funny clowns, pretty girls, prancing steeds, performers and animals from the far corners of the earth. Believe no false reports, Barnett Bros. Circus will positively exhibit; there can be no change in route or change of date, and, above all, this show will not be split; it will all be exhibited at the Fair Grounds, East Jordan on Thursday, June 26th.

Owosso—Business and professional men and their employes take 60 per cent of the parking space in the business district here, according to Mayor W. A. Seegmiller, who issued an appeal to them to park their cars on parking lots or back streets and give the room to shoppers.

To Meet Here This Month

GUERNSEY BREEDER'S ASS'N HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

The members of the Charlevoix County Guernsey Breeder's Ass'n at their last meeting held in East Jordan, made plans for their annual summer show and picnic, which will be held in East Jordan some time during the latter part of June. G. A. Bowling, Dairy Specialist of the Michigan State College, was present and outlined some important projects that could be sponsored by the organization. At a later date plans will be perfected to include the best sires in a county group, so that it will be possible for the owners to change sires from one group to another inexpensively, and to keep them long enough to find out the type and production of the offspring they have left behind.

An invitation has been sent to Prof. E. L. Anthony, head of our dairy department, to be present and to judge the exhibit. Indications show that there will be around thirty head of the most representable Guernsey cattle in the county at our summer exhibit.

VILLAGE OF CHARLES STAGES A COME-BACK

(The Republican News, St. Ignace.)

The beautiful little village of Charles, located one mile east from US-2 on St. Martin's Bay, has staged a come-back. Not of the lumbering days, but to the progressive days of road building.

The Steamer, Fred W. Green, owned by the Northwestern Sand & Gravel Company and manned by Captain John Rohn and his crew, a former St. Ignace boy, has completed an island in the bay, to the great surprise of Michigan State highway engineers, which they have pronounced a complete success.

The island will be used for a landing place for the sand and gravel to be used for the construction of the pavement on US-2, the work being done by the Rogers Construction Co., of East Jordan, Mich. This Company has to its credit better than sixty miles of fine concrete roads throughout the State.

The well known Wiggins store, located at Carp River, has been converted into a camp and Mrs. Wiggins is playing hostess to about 60 men employed on the road. A barber shop has also found its way into this camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bennett of East Jordan have arrived and have opened their eating house known by all road employes as Bennett's Camp. Here food is served like mother used to cook. They plan to feed at least 40 men.

Several small cottages have been erected to accommodate families employed by the firm. The company also has a fine office at the settlement. We who live here wonder what the lumbering days must have been.

The road from US-2 to the bay has been graded and graveled and put in fine shape for the heavy traffic of trucks used in hauling material to the main highway.

Work of paving will start as soon as material is obtained. A very busy season is expected. It is estimated that the Fred W. Green will unload about 55 cargoes, all told, for all the sand and gravel for the cement paving, is to come through Charles.

THINGS TO DO

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I knew Stephens for more than forty years, and the longer I knew him the more I marveled at the varied interests he had developed and the amount he was accomplishing. At eighty he was launching into a half dozen new investigations which would require a dozen years to bring to a successful conclusion. He went at his work like a boy of twenty—with force, enthusiasm, determination, and the keenest interest.

He read omnivorously. Every leisure moment seemed to be taken up with some new volume in which he found interest.

"Have you read this history of Chicago?" he asked me when I was calling on him.

"It's tremendously interesting. Take it home and look it over."

History, science, philosophy, biography, fiction—it made no difference what the subject was—he found something to engage his attention, something to stimulate his mind, something to widen his sympathies and his interests.

He was a fluent writer, also. Very few months passed without something coming from his pen—a new scientific theory advanced, the result of an investigation, or the discussion of a topic which was of general interest to the community or to the state. Most men would have been satisfied to pursue one line of scientific investigation and carry it to its conclusion.

He had a dozen and was considered authority in any one of them. He was interested in birds and knew more about them than any one I have ever known; he liked gardening and, long after most men have given up active life, he was planning a formal garden in his back yard and selecting trees and shrubs which it would take twenty years to bring to perfection.

He knew a half dozen languages and could read fluently in any one of them, and speak, too. He never lacked for something to do. He never grew old. I saw him in his last illness—eighty-six he was—but he still had the enthusiasms of a boy.

"I don't see what they are keeping me here for," he complained to me. "I think I am all right, and besides have so many things that I ought to be doing, and if I don't get at them soon, I may fall to finish."

He never finished the tasks, but until almost the last moment of his long and useful life the day held for him a score of tasks which he was eager to get at, pleasures yet untasted, enjoyments which had not lost their attraction. If he had lived to be a hundred there would have been for him always something worth while to do.

Martin retired at fifty, bored with his work, tired of the monotony of life, got able to find anything interesting in his work, or worth giving his attention to. He didn't care for reading, he had no interest in sports or music or the drama, nor did he find enjoyment in association with his neighbors. There just wasn't anything to do, and he died before sixty from sheer lack of interest in anything. Nothing to do.

Nothing circulates so quickly as a secret.

Visions that are turned into realities are the only ones that count.

Some people appreciate a gift so much that they often forget the giver.

If you are thinking of investing in a going concern—first make sure which way it is going.

The top is of the quick collapsing type, easily handled by one person, and folds flat. The windshield, of Triplex shatter-proof glass, is of the folding type and can be laid flat forward. The windshield wings fold over it, emphasizing the sport effect of the car.

Grand Rapids—Seven hours after her son, Ray H. Clark was buried here Mrs. Mary P. Clark died without knowing of his death. She had been ill to be told of his death.

Yale—Henry Wypcyk, 15 years old, employed on a farm in Brockway Township, was so seriously injured when he fell under a disc harrow that his left leg was amputated at a hospital in Fort Huron and his left arm may have to be amputated.

Reed City—Barring a spring frost, a large crop of blueberries is in prospect in Osceola County. The low-type bushes in the swamps and plains country have bloomed the heaviest in years. Weather conditions were favorable throughout the blossom period for a heavy set of fruit.

Detroit—There are 10,652 telephones in six office buildings, the Penobscot, the Union Trust, First National Bank, General Motors, Fisher and Michigan Bell Telephone. This total is 1,307 greater than the total of the entire country of Greece. The General Motors Building leads the Detroit list with 3,428 telephones. The total for Detroit is 554,000 telephones.

Detroit—She was hurrying through the Union Station. A paper wrapped package fell and broke. A yellow liquid ran out and several men snickered. The woman turned and glared. "That," she announced icily, "is or was my herb tonic. I'm a member of the W. C. T. U. and never had a drink of intoxicating liquor in my life." With a snort she turned and continued her trot for the train.

Monroe—Curiosity of a 3-year-old boy over a new electric percolator was responsible for a fire which ruined the interior of a home. Plugging in the electric cord as he had seen his mother do little Robert Mayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Mayes felt the percolator grow warm and then went to join his mother in the yard. Twenty minutes later the interior of the house was aflame. Firemen estimated the damage at $800.

West Branch—Not far from Dease Lake in Ogemaw County, an old car was left in an alley back of a cottage. Abandoned, the wind and sun weathered it, the glass of the window became broken and it was forsaken by all. Then came a robin, saw the possibilities of a home and began building a nest under the roof atop the windshield frame. Now while mother robin sets on the blue eggs daddy robin steps out for the worms.

Detroit—The Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago is the first in the world to add an ordinary milk cow to its collection of animals. The Detroit Zoological Park will go a step further and perhaps be the first to add a complete barnyard to its menagerie. Director John Millen is at present looking for a tumbledown barn to serve as the center of the exhibit. To the barn will be added a pig sty, and possibly a sheep pen. Cows and a horse or two will complete the picture.

Flint—Following completion of seven months' work on the books of the Union Industrial Bank after disclosures last October of large defalcations, a final statement was made public by C. S. Mott, the president, who came to the bank's rescue last fall and borrowed funds on his own credit to make good the shortages. The gross loss to the bank is placed at $3,594,266. Recoveries, through the liquidation of confiscated securities which had been bought by employees, total $550,483.

Reed City—A. L. Wallick, wealthy Columbus, O., hotel man, his chauffeur, Earl Peterson, and H. C. Baird, also of Columbus, paid fines and costs totaling $202 for violation of the fishing laws. They were arrested 16 miles north of here, when conservation officers stopped their car and found that it contained 101 trout. The limit for each man was 15. The 56 extra trout were seized. The men were taken before William A. McDowell, Tustin Justice of the peace, where they were fined $50 each.

Detroit—Here's one for the books: Floyd Calkins, pitcher for St. Charles high school, struck out seven men in one inning in a game with St. Paul's. Detroit, St. Paul's scoring three runs in the same inning without the aid of a hit. Collins struck out the first four men, but they galloped around the bases when Jack Lafayette, St. Charles' catcher, dropped the third strike each time. Then Collins hit the batter, again forcing in a run and walked the next man, allowing the third tally. The next three St. Paul's men were struck out, ending the wild inning.

Dearborn—Rose cottage, which from 1510 until it was carefully dismantled about a year ago, stood near Oxford-England, arrived in Dearborn recently, whither it was brought by Henry Ford. Re-erected in Dearborn, Rose cottage will appear exactly as it did during the centuries which have passed since its original construction. Every fragment of it was stowed aboard the steamship, the London Citizen when she cleared from London and every joint and stone will be placed in its original position.

Port Huron—The Y. M. C. A. has purchased the Masonic Club Building which is adjacent to the "Y" building.

Thompsonville—Isaiah Bailey, 14-year-old school boy, was drowned in Betsy river, near here, while he and other children were participating in a picnic marking the close of the school year.

Unionville—Peter Van de Castle, a farmer, killed himself at his home near here with a shotgun. His wife, Selma, is serving a two-year sentence in the Women's Federal Prison at Rutland, Va., for violating the prohibition laws and he had brooded over her conviction.

Ionia—While fishing off the Grand Trunk Railway trestle, which crosses Prairie creek just north of the city, Richard Pierce, 11, was killed. In company with two other lads, the boys saw the west-bound passenger train approaching. Pierce's chums managed to escape.

Benton Harbor—The sudden death of Landon Penwell, 73 years old, at his home in Three Oaks, near here, caused the abandonment of plans being made for celebration of the couple's golden wedding anniversary Friday, May 30. His wife is 70 years old. He is survived by five children.

Clayton—Daniel Roberts, 80, is recovering of an electric shock, suffered when a tree supporting a high tension wire was blown down in a violent wind storm. Battle Creek, with 51 points, placed second, and Holland, with 48, placed third.

Charlotte—Admittance to probate here of the will of Henry H. Hayes, of Benton Township, who left his estate valued at $190,000 to Miss Ellen Green, his housekeeper for many years, has resulted in Mrs. Sherman E. Wight, of Grand Rapids, and Dr. Fred H. Carpenter, of Denver, losing their fight to break the bequest of their uncle.

Lansing—The attorney-general ruled in favor of the golfers, when he held caddies may work outside of school hours without fear of interference from the State Department of Labor and Industry. Although many of them are minors their employment is not of such a nature as to require a permit, the opinion held. Harry Boardman, Jackson County prosecutor, asked for a ruling.

Lansing—Ignoring a ruling made by Judge Harry B. Keldan, of the Wayne Circuit court, that the state must collect a tax of $1.25 instead of 30 cents on each five gallons of wort, sold to home brewers, the attorney-general's department authorized the department of state to continue under the old schedule. In the meantime, Judge Keldan's decision is to be appealed to the state supreme court.

Pontiac—With all of Oakland County's 144 census units counted, D. D. Fisher, supervisor for this district, reports the population of the county as 210,401. This figure is subject to revision when the figures are compiled at Washington. The total is an increase of 324 per cent in 20 years and 132.4 per cent in the last 10 years. In 1910 the population of the county was 49,576 and in 1920 it was 90,050.

Battle Creek—A Circuit Court jury here awarded Charles Sweet, 87 years old, of Homer, plaintiff in a $15,000 alienation suit, $10,000 damages against William Knickerbocker, also 87, a friend of 50 years. The defendant, Sweet alleged, won the affections of the latter's wife, Etsey, 62, after a courtship which began in 1927 and which caused the Sweets to obtain a divorce two years later. Knickerbocker and Mrs. Sweet were married soon after the divorce.

Manistee—The Michigan Cannery Association, at a special meeting here, discounted reports of crop damage by recent heavy frosts in Michigan and Wisconsin. Cannery reports that in some sections almost normal yields were anticipated. The Northern Michigan region will yield from 80 to 100 per cent, it is expected. The southwestern area in Michigan expects a 35 to 40 per cent crop, while the Central Michigan crop should be from 40 to 50 per cent, it was announced.

Detroit—Further reductions in tolls for motor vehicles crossing Ambassador bridge were announced recently, the new rates becoming effective at once. Patrons who drive across the bridge regularly are able in future to secure a 25-cent rate by buying a book of 20 tickets for $5, the book to be used within one month from the date of issue. The rate for motor trucks is cut to 1 1/2 cents per 100 pounds for a first unit of 10 tons. The new rate applies also to horse drawn vehicles.

Olivet—The Vestling family had much to do with the commencement week program at Olivet High School. Dr. A. E. Vestling, president of Olivet College, gave the address at the commencement. Carl Vestling, his son, who graduates with the scholastic average of 96.8 for his four years in high school, and who has accumulated 395 honor points, gave the valedictory address at class day exercises. Louise Vestling, Carl's twin, with a school average of 92.8 and 335 honor points, gave the salutatory address.

NATION'S CLOCKS TO BE REPLACED

New Timepieces to Have Some Novel Features.

Washington.—In three airtight glass cases in Washington are the three master clocks which, of all clocks in the United States, run with the least variation. Maintained by and kept in the United States Naval observatory, they are the timepieces by which the nation lives, moves and has its being; they are the standard by which we set each watch and clock throughout the United States. Now, after many years, new clocks are to be installed in the observatory.

A Munich clock-maker named Riefler is the maker of the standard clocks now in use. Riefler's clocks derive their accuracy from the manner in which the pendulum is attached. In ordinary clocks the pendulum is attached to springs in the rigid clock frame. In Riefler's clocks, however, it is attached to springs connected to small tables which rock back and forth slightly. Electro magnets wind the springs every 80 seconds.

The new standard clocks which, according to Capt. C. S. Freeman, superintendent of the observatory, will be purchased soon include devices aimed at an accuracy superior to that of all other clocks. Known as "Short" clocks, they are constructed with the idea of freeing the pendulum of the job of unlocking the escapement. To do this, a secondary or "slave" clock is used which releases an impulse lever. Although the arrangement is complex, a high degree of perfection has been reached. The pendulum swings once every minute.

Taking care of the nation's timepieces involves an accurate care. The airtight cases holding them are kept in a double vault with automatic temperature control. Year in and year out the temperature in this vault is kept constant within one-tenth of one degree centigrade. Once a week the temperature vault is entered for inspection.

Any variation in the clocks is carefully recorded, since the hands are adjusted to the correct time only when overhauls are made—every four years. Wires running to various parts of the observatory grounds make it possible to keep check on the ticks in the time room and in the various telescopes.

European Gull Flies Over Atlantic Ocean

Boston, Mass.—A lone flyer, has apparently conquered the perilous westward traverse of the North Atlantic ocean, previously accomplished by only two craft, the German monoplane Bremen and the mighty Graf Zeppelin.

A European black-headed gull, the first of its species ever recorded in North America, was found consorting with native gulls at Newburyport on the north shore several weeks ago.

Ornithologists could offer no more logical explanation for the bird's presence here than that it winged its way over the Atlantic, succeeding where Nungesser, Coll, Izdickowski, and other brave aviators had failed.

The black-headed gull might have been driven out to sea in a gale and pointed out that it was not one of a maritime species which follow vessels for days.

The gull has been captured and placed on exhibition at the Museum of Natural History here.

Old Indian Fighter, 104, Enjoys Ride in Airplane

Elko, Nev.—Jim Mulligan enjoyed all the thrills of Indian fighting and other experiences of the early West, but he lived 104 years before he worked up enough courage to take an airplane ride. He celebrated his one hundred and fourth birthday with a ride in the skies, and he declared that thrill surpassed all others of his life. "We could have raised Ned with the Indians if we had one of these," he shouted to the pilot.

Indestructible Money
Paris.—A Swiss scientist, M. U. Schoop, has announced a method of making paper money which cannot be destroyed. His process consists of treating the paper pulp with a coating of tin. This coating, applied by an atomizer, is broken up into minute particles, thus giving the paper a flexibility and protection against tearing and burning.

No "Welcome" Here
Asheville, N. C.—Mrs. D. V. Lee filed suit against apartment house owners demanding $10,000 for injuries she received when she tripped over a worn door mat.

Fenimore Cooper's Letter Sold for $42

Paris.—A letter of James Fenimore Cooper to General Lafayette is worth only $42 on the Paris market. This sum was recently paid for an authentic letter of the novelist Cooper to the soldier Lafayette when it was put up for auction in one of the largest art auction rooms of Paris.

The letter was dated December 6, 1806, and conveyed the sorrow of the American novelist at the news of the death of the Lafayette's son-in-law.

Virginia Planning Tree Planting Along Roads

Plans for beautifying the highways of Virginia were discussed at a meeting called by Gov. Harry F. Byrd, at the request of the garden clubs of Virginia, and attended by many prominent women from various sections.

It was decided that the garden clubs would appoint a committee to co-operate with another committee to be appointed by Governor Byrd, and that these two bodies would formulate a program for preserving the trees and shrubs already growing along the state highways, and also for planting others. It was emphasized that the state will not be asked to pay for planting the trees.

William O'Byrne, extension forester at the Virginia polytechnic institute, suggested that nursery firms be planting along the highways be raised at the state farm by the convicts, and this proposal met with considerable favor.

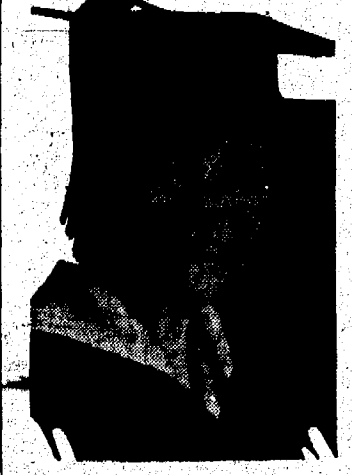

Another suggestion which was well received was that the fifty or more motorcycle police operating throughout Virginia under the division of motor vehicles, be especially instructed to keep an eye out for violators of the law forbidding promiscuous cutting of shrubs and trees.

On the Calendar

Mary, age six, was examining a calendar. Soon she called: "Mother, what does SMTWTFSS spell?"
Mother, reading, unconsciously, said: "Why, nothing, dear."
Mary replied: "But, mother, it does so, for it's right here at the top of each page on the calendar."

Generally, a man wants to know how a thing is done; a woman, why it is done.

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter and Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

Trees Have Large Place

in Town's Appearance
Colonel Sherrill is a lover of trees. He believes that a tree-adorned city will make for the health and happiness of its citizens. He is asking council to repose authority in him to have planted and cared for these friends of life, wherever possible, along the city streets. No gift of prevision is essential to the foretelling of what this would mean to the city from the present year through generations to come. To this latitude some of the noblest and most beautiful trees in the world are indigenous. Those cities far-heralded throughout the world as cities of charm and beauty are municipalities which have resolved tree planting, care, culture and preservation into terms of scientific practicality.

Cincinnati's environs are among the most beautiful in the world, with their prospects of artistic landscapes, their hills and wooded views, the silver gleams of reaching rivers. But arboreal and other natural loveliness need not be restricted to our hills and contiguous urban terrain. Why should a city's streets remain drab, dusty, desolate of fresh harmony of whispering foliage, the grace and symmetry of swaying branches?—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Air-Marking Towns

The problem of getting towns air-marked is quite ponderous and important. It is one that the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce has been wrestling with since it undertook the coordination of commercial aviation enterprises. The energy devoted to the solution has been far from wasted. It has resulted in the air-marking of several hundred communities.

Cross-country flying, however, has attained such a volume that it becomes obvious that the problem will not be fully solved until every hamlet, village, town and city points its name skyward. Consequently, reinforcing the efforts of the Commerce department branch, other agencies have thrown their concerted energies into the solution of the problem.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

The City Underground.
To me, one of the most fascinating tours of New York can be made for a nickel on the front platform of a subway train. From a front window the subway is not as dark as it appears farther back in the train, and there are numberless things to watch and puzzle over. There are the signal lights, and the accompanying automatic blocks that prevent a train from colliding with another. Every so often there are illuminated boards with the letters SB on them. I tried for months to figure out what SB meant, but finally had to give up and asked some one. It means section break, and indicates to the motorman that one current supply ends and another begins there. I believe he is supposed to shut off his motors at this point.

At first—or even hundredth—glance it appears that every inch of the subway system is used. Platforms are jammed with waiting passengers, and no room is wasted.

New York's Speedway.

Park avenue, one of the principal streets in New York running north and south through the heart of the city, is really a speedway. Broadened a few years ago, this thoroughfare carries most of the rush hour traffic and in order to speed it up the police insist on all cars driving at a very fast rate. Therefore it is nothing unusual to see traffic moving through the center of New York at the rate of forty to forty-five miles an hour, without any protest from the police, but rather with encouragement.

About Manhattan.

Last Sunday I took a six-hour walk of about twenty miles around Manhattan, starting on the fashionable upper east side and working down through the slums. The slums are dirty, right enough, and crowded. But all the children on the streets appear to be well-fed and are warmly clad. And there is no begging there. It wasn't until I reached Park avenue at the completion of my jaunt that beggars, clad worse than the slum dwellers, approached me.

Hope for Seafarers.

That awful curse of the Twentieth century seafaring man, the ship's concert, may finally become a relic of the past, instead of a pest of the present. The word has got out that the United States lines, faced with strong competition for summer trade from new ships of other lines, have decided to take on a cabaret crew. And why not? Summer hotels have recently been enormously successful in hiring Broadway players as masters of ceremony and generals of social activity. The Broadway players, weary of tramping up and down looking for jobs that don't exist, welcome these opportunities to get away from it all. They will even take smaller salary than is customary for the opportunity of sporting around in flannel trousers and summer dresses at the more expensive resorts.

Big City Flashlights.

A sign on Forty-first street: "Blank's Steer Sandwiches, 5 cents." . . . The curious crowd always gathered about a very bad taxidermy exhibit in a Greenwich Village window on Sixth avenue. . . . The gallant little figure of "Puck" still braving the elements in front of the old "Puck" building on Lafayette street. . . . The blinking owls that stand guard over New York university's downtown center on Washington square. . . . A crowd, standing in a pouring rain, watching a lightning sign-painter in a show window. White Men Use Indian Lodge as Courthouse

Tishomingo, Okla.—The white man's law is enforced in the same old granite building here where the Indian chiefs of the Chickasaw tribe made laws to govern their people many years ago. The building, constructed of native granite taken from the quarries on Pennington river, once served as the capitol of the old Chickasaw nation. When state government replaced the territorial government the building was sold by the United States to Johnston county and it was converted into a courthouse.

Tragic Static Cause

New Brunswick, N. J.—Attendants at the government radio station at Hadley flying field, attempting to discover the cause of static, found the body of Ernest R. Hood, electrician, lying electrocuted across a 2,000-volt wire.

Executions in Poland

Warsaw.—In the last five years 115 persons have been executed in Poland for capital crimes, according to a report issued by the minister of justice.

$16,000,000 Makes This Richest Town

Gerber, Cal.—For 20 minutes Gerber was the richest city of its size anywhere on earth. A train pulled into town with $16,000,000 worth of gold bullion, being shipped from Seattle to San Francisco.

TO HARNESS OZARK STREAMS FOR POWER

Electric Projects Begun on Water Courses.

Joplin, Mo.—From fiddles to phonographs, feuds to farming, mule back to flivver—the Ozarks have stepped along abreast of the times.

Natives now know what's in the newspapers and on the screen. Good roads and making the hill country into a summer playground have changed it all.

Now the thousands of miles of spring fed streams that twist through narrow gorges at the base of cliffs are soon to be harnessed and made to produce light and magic wealth.

While these Ozark people have always worked hard for their small comforts and pleasures, the era of hydro-electricity holds a future for the weekly pay check and its assurance of plenty of store clothes for the cross roads dandies.

Capable of 600,000 H. P. The streams are said to be capable of producing 600,000 horse power by construction of numerous dams.

Licenses have been granted covering erection of 500,000 horse power plants and work of developing more than 300,000 horse power is now well under way.

A happy, lazy land will soon be teeming with industry.

Actual building of dams across Ozark rivers is now in progress at Bagnell on the Osage, Table Rock on the White, and Lebanon on the Niangua.

The Bagnell-Osage project will cost $30,000,000 when completed and will create a lake covering 86 square miles. The dam will be 95 feet high and 1,000 feet long. About 125,000 horse power will be developed. This power already has been sold to the lead mines of southeast Missouri.

At Table Rock, on the White river, a dam 195 feet high and 2,000 feet long, costing $16,000,000, is to be started, and work now is in progress on the dam site. This lake will be 125 miles long and will cover 75,000 acres of land. The dam itself will generate 225,000 horse power.

Both the Osage and Table Rock lake will play important parts as resorts.

Other Undertakings.

Near Lebanon on the Niangua river a large force of men are boring a tunnel 1,000 feet long under a mountain and building a dam 600 feet long and 20 feet high to create a lake covering 1,000 acres to a depth of 20 feet. This project will cost $10,000,000 and will generate about 75,000 horse power. The electricity already has been sold to about ten Missouri towns.

On Current river a public utility has obtained a permit to construct two dams generating 60,000 horse power. On the Casconade river in central Missouri the Central Missouri Pacific company has preliminary permits to construct three dams. Preliminary surveys have been finished for a $10,000,000 water power project near Arlington on the Piney river, and another project on Black river near Leeper is contemplated, government permits having been obtained.

Pulmotor Squad Saves

Young Man Thought Dead

Seattle.—Into the land of death—and back.

That was the experience of John Abbenhous, seventeen-year-old automobile mechanic, who owes his life to the tireless efforts of a fire department rescue squad.

Young Abbenhous was overcome by carbon monoxide gas from an automobile on which he was working.

For hours he lay as dead until he was found slumped down in the front of the car by M. Dannwig, manager of the garage.

Although rescue appeared hopeless, an inhalator crew of truck company No. 10, directed by Fire Capt. Joseph R. Cook and Lieut. James Carey, went to work on the unconscious form. For more than an hour and a half they labored over him without the slightest sign of returning life.

Then, almost imperceptibly, the still body began a labored breathing. Life had won over death.

Radio Device "Saves"

London in Secret Raid

London.—Secret air maneuvers employing a new radio device have been carried on over London for the last two weeks by the full fighting complement of Royal Air Force planes. It is revealed. So effective was the defense that the attacking squadron broke through only once.

London now possesses virtually an impenetrable air protection, according to experts.

The British high command directed attempts to bomb the city and all nearby air centers were at full defensive strength to resist the invasion. For the first time a mysterious instrument of intercommunication between air and land bases was used, according to reports, speeding up the auxiliary land preparations as well as coordinating movements of planes.

Find X-Ray Cure

Vienna.—While taking X-ray photographs of abnormal children to ascertain whether their skulls were deformed, Viennese X-ray specialists discovered that the rays themselves caused both the mental and physical condition of the children to improve, the rays apparently having penetrated through the skull to the brain with beneficial results.

Good Roofing Material

Less Costly Than Poor

It is only natural for you to want your home to look beautiful. You want it to be the best looking house that money will buy. Even if it be a small bungalow, your pride demands that it should look well. You don't want to feel ashamed of it and you don't want it to look shabby after a year or two.

The roof usually has the largest and most prominent surface in the building, and therefore its color should strike the dominating note, says a writer in the Chicago Post. A roof of dull black or uninteresting gray gives a shabby appearance and destroys a beautiful effect that might otherwise be produced in harmony with properly designed walls and architectural ornaments.

The roof is the point where so many otherwise good looking and well built houses fail. So often the home builder cuts the corners on his roof, thinking that he will save money. In the end he usually finds his saving to be costly.

He ruins the beauty of his home through the use of roofing material which is flat and uninteresting, which lacks distinction and which soon loses its original color and freshness. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that he soon finds that the cost of repairing and replacing this roof costs more than a roof of beauty and permanence would have cost him in the first place. He has not only sacrificed beauty but has spent more money in doing so. This thing has happened time and again.

"Do the children understand the bedtime stories?"

"I dunno. Last night my little girl went to sleep very nicely on a hash recipe."

Life's Puzzles—If a man born in Poland is a Pole, why isn't a man born in Holland, a Hole?

CAREFUL MOTHERS KEEN ABOUT IT.

"Coughs never last long in our family, for we use Foley's Honey and Tar," says Mrs. J. M. Hill, Homer, Ga. "Foley's Honey and Tar has never failed to take care of coughs and colds in our family, and we have used it over 20 years," says Mrs. Ornstein, Green Bay, Wis. Dependable always, no opiates, no chloroform, nothing that a careful mother hesitates to give her children. That's why mothers endorse Foley's Honey and Tar. Ask for it. There seems to be a wide difference of opinion among residents of this city in regard to the huckleberry crop for this year. Some contend that the blueberries were nipped by the late frosts, while others hold that they were not affected and there will be a good crop. There is one thing certain, that raspberries and blackberries will be in abundance as the blossoms were not out at the time of the heavy frosts.—Cheboygan Tribune.

Spark Plugs Often May Cause Engine "Bucking"

Missing of the engine and "bucking" frequently blamed on the carburetor are often due to nothing more than improper adjustment of spark plug or breaker point gaps or both. Before making carburetor adjustment in high compression engines the car owner or mechanic should make sure that the plug gap is adjusted according to the car manufacturer's recommendations, and breaker contact points are fitted square and likewise adjusted. Dirty or worn out plugs also cause trouble often blamed on the carburetor, and spark plugs and breaker contact points should be examined at least twice a year.

Grand Rapids—Robert Greenfield, 17, was killed when his head struck bottom while he was diving in a swimming hole in Plaster Creek, near his home. The youth was unconscious when taken from the water and died before reaching a hospital.

Escanaba—Falling off a raft on which he was playing, Raymond Trotter, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Trotter, of Boney Falls, was drowned in the Escanaba River. His body was recovered. Raymond was one of the family of 11 children.

Owosso—Angered because his wife refused to permit him to use the family car to go to a ball game, Elmer Terry, 28 years old, Hazelton township, killed himself by blowing his head off with a shotgun. His wife said she refused to let him have the car because he had been drinking. He fired the shot while his wife was outdoors greeting relatives. His widow and two small children survive.

Bay City—A campaign for nomination of James E. Davidson, national Republican committeeman, shipbuilder and banker, as the Republican candidate for governor at the September primaries formally was launched here. Davidson authorized a group of Bay City citizens, meeting in the office of William L. Clements, regent of the University of Michigan, to perfect a governorship campaign organization.

Dearborn—The Dearborn high school orchestra was awarded first place among the class "B" orchestras at the National contest in Lincoln, Neb., sponsored by the National Orchestra association. The orchestra had been accorded second place in the state contest at Ann Arbor a few weeks ago. The Mt. Clemens high school orchestra, winner of first place in the state contest both this year and last, did not compete at Lincoln.

Saginaw—The War Department has asked for bids for widening several curves in the Saginaw River to permit the passage of 500-foot coal carriers to pass up the stream, according to notification received here. The bids will be received June 17, at the United States Engineer's office in Detroit. Specifications call for completion of the work within 60 days from the time the successful contractor is notified to proceed with the work.

Detroit—A dog owned by a Glynn court resident and whose young master has named Ty Cobb knows what he wants and how to get it. He sometimes is tied by a long rope in back of the house and allowed to romp and play without being watched by his owner. When Ty is tired of staying indoors he goes to the basement, gets the rope in his teeth and takes it upstairs where he drops it at the feet of one of the family and barks his request to be allowed to play.

Cheboygan—The combination of the safe in the Wolverine Savings Bank at Wolverine, near here, was wrecked by bank robbers, in an unsuccessful attempt to rob the bank. This was the second time in recent months that robbers had broken into the bank. On the first visit they got about $3,000. The yeggs apparently left in haste. Drills, bars, acetylene torches and acetylene tank and other tools were left behind. The men had obtained entrance by cutting through the door of the vault.

Jackson—Plans for a $3,000,000 Republican memorial building, prepared by Albert Kahn, Inc., of Detroit, have been given final approval by the Jackson Republican Memorial Committee. The project calls for the erection of the memorial building on the site of the first state Republican convention. The structure would include a central auditorium, rooms for each of the 48 states and two museum rooms. A statue of the leading Republican from each state would be placed in the room assigned to that state.

Mt. Clemens—John Young, of Detroit, who obtained $495.10 in rat-tail bounties from Macomb County during the last four months was arrested with three companions, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Officials became suspicious when Young appeared at the County Clerk's office with 420 rat tails and claimed the bounty of 10 cents each. Officers were sent with Young to learn where his traps were set in the county. He produced none, and finally confessed that his crusade against rats was being conducted in Detroit at the expense of Macomb County.

Lansing—Use of airplanes to locate forest fires in northern Michigan is to be proposed to Maj. Floyd E. Hyans, commander of the aero unit of the Michigan National Guard, by George R. Hogarth, director of conservation, at a conference here. Hogarth proposes that the guard fliers cover a triangular route from Grayling to Traverse City to Baldwin and back to the national guard field at Grayling. Whether the military planes, which are property of the federal government, can be used in this work, has not been determined.

LAKE SUPERIOR MAY GET NATIONAL PARK

Apostle Islands Named in Bill Before Congress

Ashland, Wis.—A group of islands, nestled like precious stones in a setting of natural charms on the edge of one of the most beautiful natural harbors in the world, may become the site of a new national park.

The islands, termed the Apostle group after a band of 12 rollicking brigands who called themselves the apostles and who preyed upon lone coursers de bois on Chequamegon bay of Lake Superior in the early Seventeenth century, are as wild, rugged and beautiful as in the earliest days of Wisconsin's civilization.

Already the mecca of hundreds of wealthy Americans who maintain summer homes upon Madeline island, the largest of the group, the Apostles are to be made a national park if the efforts of Wisconsin citizens are successful in congress.

Bill Pending in Congress.

A bill introduced by Congressman E. H. Peavey, Washburn, Wis., to establish a park, is pending before congress now.

At La Pointe, the population center of the sparsely settled islands, the first known dwelling in Wisconsin for white men was erected about 1658. Two Frenchmen, Pierre Radisson and Medard Chouart de Crosselliers, built the log habitation and, according to the history of the region, "were delighted with the country and Radisson described its beauties with an eloquent pen."

"The country was so pleasant, so beautiful and fruitful that it grieved me to see that the world could not discover such enticing countries to live in," wrote the French explorer.

Converted Indians.

The French remained in the region, colonizing and establishing trading posts, converting the Indians to Christianity and extending the boundaries of the French empire in Wisconsin and Minnesota. The islands remained a center of this work, the trading post at La Pointe, occupying a strategic position in the French fur trade.

Later, when the British obtained the territory, Madeline and the other islands flourished as local centers of the vast Northwest fur trade.

La Pointe at one time was the county seat of Ashland county, losing its identity shortly after the founding of Ashland. It still remains a center of fishing, trapping and has a population of several hundred summer residents.

Several of the islands are uninhabited but possess rare natural beauty in the form of sandstone caves and rock formations, cut into queer and fantastic shape by the waters of Lake Superior.

Boston University Has Typewriter Orchestra

Boston.—Almost any day if you stand within earshot of Boston university's college of practical arts and letters, you may hear a strange staccato rhythm, a novel interpretation of a currently popular tune.

Investigation will show that the weird melody, as fascinating as the dot-dash-dot of a telegraph instrument, emanates from what is probably the country's only typewriter orchestra.

Miss Elizabeth Carvell, instructor, inaugurated the plan recently, "to demonstrate the elasticity of the method of using rhythm in typing."

While a phonograph plays, for example, "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," or some other tune that lends itself to touch system interpretation, the 14 "musicians" sit in orchestral formation and tap out an obbligato.

One group devotes its technique to clicking out the melody, another to hammering out the second part, while a third punches away at the bass. The ultimate effect is surprisingly rhythmic.

"It may not necessarily speed up the words per minute," Miss Carvell explains, "but it gives a uniformity to the work which otherwise is often lacking. The second aim in using music is to give a new interest to the typewriting work and key up the girls to a new stride in their progress."

Model of Ex-Kaiser Is Target in Gallery

Trondhjem, Norway.—Trondhjem will be boycotted by German tourists unless the shooting gallery here ceases to use models of the ex-kaiser and the German crown prince as targets.

This step is threatened by the German Travelling association in a written protest demanding the demolition of the figures, but the populace of Trondhjem is having a good laugh, for investigation proved that the targets in question were made in Germany and exported to Norway.

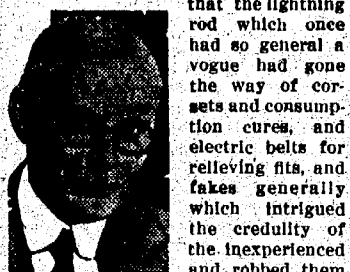

Wife in Poorhouse, Husband Asks Divorce

Great Falls, Mont.—One of the most unusual divorce cases ever filed in a Montana court comes to issue when Solomon T. Niles, eighty-one-year-old Civil war veteran, attempts to secure legal separation from Mrs. Johanna G. Niles, seventy-nine, on the ground of desertion. The wife, forced to live in the poor farm, denies her husband's allegations. In her answer, she asks that her husband be compelled either to take her back or to provide for her.

LIGHTNING RODS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I had supposed, until I made a trip to southern Illinois a few weeks ago, that the lightning rod which once had so general a vogue had gone the way of corsets and consumption cures, and electric belts for relieving fits, and fakes generally which intrigued the credulity of the inexperienced and robbed them of their money a generation or two ago.

All through the farming district, as we drove down toward Metropolis, we could see the work of the lightning rod dispenser. Every house; every barn, every outbuilding, from woodshed to chicken roost, was bristling with lightning rods. Fourteen I counted on one farmstead.

I could guess how it all happened. Some silver-tongued orator, rained in salesmanship at college, had dropped in on the Browns and had sold them the proposition. Safety, protection, freedom from sudden death were all to be gained by the simple investment in lightning rods—the more the better. They fell, and, being the most prominent people in the neighborhood, were followed suit by the neighbors as meekly as sheep following each other over the pasture fence.

If it isn't lightning rods it is something else quite as foolish that we all adopt. Two years ago all the big boys in college had coonskin coats. I knew a boy who waited table and fired furnaces in order to get himself one—and so he in style. Last year the coonskin coat was quite passe. All the real beau brummels had camel's hair. One just wasn't in it without a camel's hair coat. Next year it will be something else and the camel's hair coats will be thrown into the discard.

It was the same way with garters. Some one started the fashion of discarding garters and letting his socks hang in a discouraged way over his ankles and immediately every young fellow threw away his garters. We don't think so much for ourselves; we follow the fashion; we do as our neighbors do. If Mrs. Brown has long skirts or bobs her hair or goes in for antique furniture, then all the neighbors follow in quick order. If Brown puts a lightning rod on the hen house, immediately all the chicken houses in the township are furnished with lightning rods.

The story is told that in the late war a German private soldier was apprehended upon French territory and brought in to the American commander of the post. "See here," the American said, "You have no business here. What's going to happen to you is that you're going to be backed up against the fence and shot."

"Well," the German said, ready to adopt lightning rods if that was the style, "Vat'eff' iss de rule."

Another case of lightning rods.

Smart "Trotteur" Costume

One of the smartest "trotteur" costumes evolved by Schlank is shown above. The frock and scarf are of natural pongee hand-embroidered in shades of violet, while the coat is of white galyak with a matching band of fur on the chic cloche-hat.

Prodigal: "Father, I've a notion to settle down and go in for raising chickens."
Father: "Better try owls. Their hours would suit you better."

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Why Birds Do Not Get Lost

The migration of birds, even across seas, is often explained as "instinct," but it is more than that. Their uncanny ability to find their way from their winter to summer home, and vice versa, is said to be due to the training of the young birds by the older ones, and to the keen sense of direction possessed by birds.

TORMENTING KIDNEY RELEASING

Hard workers, whose full pay envelope is a necessity, whose good health is their only capital, must keep themselves constantly at their best. When Arthur O'Malley, Carson Hill, Calif., had to drag his aching weary body from a sleepless bed, he did a wise thing—took Foley Pils diuretic, and says: "Less than two bottles of Foley Pils diuretic relieved me entirely of my kidney and rheumatic troubles and put me on my feet and to work again. I want other workers to know about them." Guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for them. For Sale by Hite's Drug Store.

"YOU ARE WANTED ON THE PHONE"

YOU ARE PROMPT to respond to the ring of your phone. The very idea that some one has a personal message for you intrigues your interest.

Has it ever occurred to you that back of every advertisement in this paper there is some one with a personal message for you? More often than not these advertisements were written with you in mind. It is impossible for most merchants and manufacturers to give you a phone call about their goods, their wares, or their services. So they pay us for the privilege of calling these things to your attention in our advertising columns.

Give an advertisement the same attention you give to a phone call. Many of them are just as important to you—and just as interesting. They will help you to economize and keep posted on news of vital interest to you and your pocketbook.

Don't lay this paper aside, today, without reading the ADVERTISEMENTS

They are personal calls for you.
