"Beef Truck" To Visit County

REPRESENTATIVE SIRE OF BEEF BREEDS TO BE SHOWN.

Of great interest to all farmers of Charlevoix County who are engaged in the production of good quality beef is the visit of the "Beef Truck" to this county on Monday forenoon, June 23rd at 9:30 o'clock fast time. It will be held in back of the Boyne City Co-operative Co. building, which will permit plenty of room for showing the several different Sires and Steers carried on the truck.

You can be assured that there will be a Hereford, Aberdeen Angus, Beef Shorthorn, and Milking Shorthorn bull on the truck. Also, one or more good type steers will be shown, indicating the type of animal that brings the best price when sold to the butcher.

Mr. Delmer LaVoi, Specialist in Animal Husbandry of M. S. C., Mr. L. L. Drake, Dist. Extension Agent, and representatives from each of the breed associations will be present to demonstrate and discuss the selection of the herd sire, the importance of the pedigree, what constitutes type and quality, and other important factors that will interest you as a beef producer.

Several exhibits will be shown, one entitled "Two Steers of the Trial," others on grading, and selection, in addition to pictures, literature, and bulletins from the Breed Associations.

Are you good at guessing weights? If you are, guess how much each of the bulls weigh and win a prize. These prizes are being donated by local merchants.

This will be your first opportunity of seeing representative sires of the different breeds, and of comparing the difference between a good steer and the scrub.

If you are interested in buying a good sire or female for your herd let us know as we have a list of some 350 animals varying in price from $50 to $300 that can be purchased. Let one of the speakers help you in your selection.

Space does not permit giving any more of the details, but by all means make up your mind to come and let nothing stop you. This will be one of the most valuable demonstrations you have ever attended, so let us see you on Monday forenoon, June 23rd at the Boyne City Co-ops.

B. C. MELLENCAMP,
County Agr'l Agent.

RESTFUL EASE AFTER COUGHING.

"The result of using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for a dreadful cough that bothered me both day and night was a restful one for me," says Mrs. Anne Davison, Long Beach, Calif. "It eased my cough at once, felt so good to my irritated throat and was very agreeable to take. No more coughing for me so long as I can get Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." Your druggist sells and recommends it. Ask for it. For Sale by Hite's Drug Store adv.

Professor: "I take great pleasure in giving you 83 in mathematics." Student: "Make it 100 and enjoy yourself."

MISS ADELE GORMAN UNITED IN MARRIAGE TO FLOYD SCHNEIDER

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Latter Day Saints Church of this city, at 8 o'clock, Sunday morning, June 15th, when Miss Adele Gorman, daughter of Maurice Gorman, and Floyd Schneider, of Boyne City, were united in marriage by Elder Allen Schreur of Gaylord.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chiffon and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lillian Gorman, of Bay City, who wore a pretty pleated gown of coral. The groom was assisted by Vern Whiteford of this city.

The church was prettily decorated with yellow and white streamers and lovely white roses and lilies were arranged about the altar. A quartet of young ladies, who wore pastel shades, sang, "O, Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Hazel Carter of Boyne City, who played Mendelssohn Wedding March as the party neared the altar. Four young ladies ushered the guests to their places.

After a wedding breakfast served at the bride's home, the young couple left by motor for Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Flint and Bay City. They expect to return the latter part of this week and will be "at home" in the Gibb's property, corner of South Lake and East Lincoln Street, Boyne City.

The bride who has held a position in the local telephone office for a number of years, has many friends who extend sincere congratulations.

How Farmers Control Shooting

FARMERS AND HUNTERS PRAISE WILLIAMSTON TOWNSHIP TICKET SYSTEM.

Co-operative effort by farmers in Williamston township, Ingham Co., has evolved a method of handling the vexatious problem of trespass by pheasant hunters and others in a way that has made the Horton Anti-Trespass Act truly effective, and at the same time has won virtually unanimous praise from both farmers in the neighborhood and sportsmen as a definite forward step in game management, conservation and protection of farm property rights.

This conclusion was reached by Michigan State Farm Bureau representatives after an investigation made in the township.

Rules for Hunting Starting in early fall, 1929, with a mass meeting of protest at which about 300 farmers demanded organized effort to protect their farms from unwelcome intruders during the hunting season, an organization was created and by the opening of the hunting season about 16,000 acres of land, representing the holdings of two-thirds of the farmers in the township, was closed to all hunters except those admitted by members of the farmers' association and subject to the rules of their organization.

Under these rules, no farmer can admit more than four hunters per day, and each hunter must have a ticket from his host showing that he is entitled to hunt. However, any man holding such a ticket is entitled to hunt on any land included in the farmers' association provided he complies with three simple regulations. These are:

1. Close all gates after you.
2. Climb fences at posts.
3. Don't shoot toward stock or buildings.

Each farmer has full control of the disposal of his four tickets, and can dispose of them in any way he likes. Some farmers claim that under the farmers' agreement they are entitled to make a charge if they desire, but no instance is known where a charge was made. One farmer reported that a hunter insisted upon paying 50c for a day's hunting and some hunters gave a part of their bag to their hosts.

Good Results Immediately

As soon as the pheasant season opened it became apparent that the farmers had succeeded in bringing about a decrease in the number of hunters, and a better distribution of those hunting. One member reported that in a previous year he had arisen at daybreak on the first day of the season and counted 42 hunters in one field, with 16 in a second field just across the road. Last fall, however, with only four permits per farm available, there was no such concentration of hunters on a few acres.

The success of the Williamston farmers in eliminating excess numbers of hunters of the less desirable type seems to have been due largely to the publicity the township received among sportsmen. The impression was widespread that the Williamston farmers meant business, and they were given a wide berth by irresponsible gun toters. Guest hunters, thankful for the opportunity to obtain exceptionally good shooting, also assisted in some cases by acting as a volunteer police force. One life long resident of the township who was interviewed by a Farm Bureau representative told of being required to show his permit to a visiting hunter from Detroit who was jealously protecting the interests of the farmer who has given him permission to shoot over the lands of the farmers' association.

Property Damage Disappears Damage to livestock, fences and other property so common in past seasons, seems to have been entirely eliminated last year, and it is also believed in the neighborhood that there were very few who exceeded the legal bag limits. Hunters usually went to the home of a friend or acquaintance and secured permits; leaving their cars in the farm yard. At the close of the day it was necessary to return to the farm and hand back the permits before obtaining their cars. In this way the farmer had an opportunity to look over the day's kill and to note any infractions of the law. In addition the farmers made it a rule to be in the open during most of the season and hunters generally understood they were being closely watched.

The success of the farmers' association seems to be due largely to the leadership of its officers and to the willingness of farmers and hunters alike to co-operate in improving hunting conditions. The president, Harold G. King, is a well-known farmer, and the secretary, Theodore Thompson, is owner and publisher of the Williamston Enterprise, the local weekly paper.

Organization of the association was accomplished with a minimum of effort and expense. After the mass meeting officers were elected, and membership blanks and guest hunter permits were printed. Farmers called at the office of the Enterprise, signed a membership blank, secured their guest permits, and paid 25c to defray printing and other incidental expenses.

MRS. LOTTIE HEALEY PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Lottie Healey, formerly of this community, died at her home in Grand Rapids, Friday, June 6, 1930. The remains arrived in Central Lake Monday and were taken to Eastport where the funeral was held at the Baptist Church, Tuesday. She was laid to rest in Lake View cemetery.

Lottie Moore was born April 25, 1876 in Michigan and was married to Warren Healey in East Jordan at the age of 17, to which union was born six children. Those surviving are Verne, Vergne and Kenneth of Grand Rapids, and Melbourne of Chicago.

She leaves two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Harry Mason of Eastport, Mrs. Bert Danforth of East Jordan, and Floyd Moore of East Jordan. —Central Lake Torch.

Music Diploma at 3

Little Margaret Ann Guest, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Guest, of Baldwin City, Kan., with Dean Gaskill of the conservatory of music of Baker university, when she received her diploma in music. She is believed to be the youngest graduate of a music school in the country.

MODEL BUILDINGS TRUCK COMING TO THIS COUNTY

All farmers of Charlevoix County are cordially invited and urged to attend a series of demonstrations to be conducted on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 24th and 25th, when the Model Buildings Truck again visits this county.

For many years Agricultural Engineers throughout the country have tried to find some means of telling and showing the farm public how to remodel and build new farm buildings, realizing their inability of personally visiting the many farms. The model Buildings Truck has been devised for this purpose and is accomplishing splendid results throughout Michigan.

On this truck you can see 15 farm buildings model covering, barn frames, poultry and hog houses, self-feeders, insulation, storage, lime spreading, bull pens and machine sheds.

If you are planning on re-modeling any of your farm buildings, or on building new structures, you cannot afford to miss one of the following meetings:

Tuesday, June 24th, at 10 o'clock fast time, farm of Howard Stephens, one mile west of Horton's Bay. At 2:00 o'clock fast time, at Bay Shore. Demonstration will be held next to the store.

Wednesday, June 25th, at 10:00 o'clock fast time, farm of Orville Hilton, on M-31 just south of Hilton School. At 2:00 o'clock fast time, farm of George Meggison, about four miles south of Charlevoix on road going by the Belvedere Golf Links.

Plans will be gladly given on all farm buildings. If you have any personal problems, bring them with you. In any case, come.

B. C. MELLENCAMP,
County Agr'l Agent.

FRUIT FLIES DAMAGE UNSPRAYED CHERRIES

Michigan cherry growers who live north of the two southern tiers of counties are warned by the entomology department at Michigan State College to be prepared to spray their orchards for the control of the cherry fruit fly, which causes severe damage to unsprayed cherries.

The effectiveness of the spray depends almost entirely upon the timeliness of its application. The spray must be used after the adult flies emerge and before they lay their eggs upon the fruit.

Observation cages are maintained in several places in the State to enable the entomology department to determine the exact time that the flies attain the adult stage and are ready to lay eggs. As soon as this date is determined, warnings are broadcast to apply the spray before a certain day. County agricultural agents get these warnings directly from the entomology department.

The spray recommended for use on sour cherries which are to be washed or scrubbed before being used for food is two and one-half pounds of powdered arsenate of lead in 100 gallons of water to which the grower may add lime-sulphur if he wishes. Two and one-half gallons of lime sulphur in 100 gallons of water should be used for sour cherries which will not be washed. One-half gallon less of lime-sulphur per 100 gallons of water should be used for sweet cherries. No arsenate of lead should be used in any spray for cherries, which will not be washed before they are eaten.

OTTERS INCREASING IN NORTHERN PART OF MICHIGAN

Lansing, June 18.—Occasional reports received by the Department of Conservation from its field officers indicate that otter are increasing in the northern part of the State.

The most recent report, received from Ed. Duell, district conservation officer with headquarters at Boyne City, was of the presence of two young otters in the Pigeon River Forest Reserve east of Wolverine.

Duell and Conservation Officer George Liberty saw the two young otters on a small creek and within a few feet of them. The fact that they were young animals indicated the presence of a family of otter in the vicinity.

A few years ago otter were rare in the State, but now after a continuous closed season and careful protection, otter signs are occasionally seen along our northern streams.

It's easy to love your neighbor as yourself if they mind their own business.

It is a mistake to be in a hurry. If you bite a sandwich in a hurry, the middle goes out at both ends.

Fruit Growers To Visit Eveline Orchards

ON SATURDAY, JULY 19, TO CONVENE AT TRAVERSE CITY.

(Traverse City Record-Eagle) Southern Michigan fruit growers will spend two days in the Grand Traverse Region on the annual tour of the Michigan State Horticultural Society, visiting Leelanau and Antrim counties Friday and Saturday, July 18-19.

There had been hope that the Hort tour could be held during the Cherry Festival of July 9-10-11 but though officers of the society sought to arrange this the Festival dates were found too early to accommodate the downstate growers, who will be in the midst of their harvest the second week in July. The tour was definitely programmed for the Festival until the Festival committee advanced the celebration from the third week to the second to coincide with the opening days of the cherry harvest. The state horticultural society is one of the sponsors of the Festival.

The tour itinerary was announced today by Julius Chapin of Suttons Bay after conferring with Don Hootman, secretary of the society.

The visitors will convene at Traverse City at 8:30 the morning of the 18th, possibly about 50 cars of them. Heading into Leelanau county, their first stop will be at the Raftshol orchard, three miles north of Suttons Bay and their second at the Chapin orchard, a mile farther. They will have luncheon at Northport, visiting the Cherry Home canning factory and one or two orchards near the village. They will return to Traverse City via the scenic route of M-22, stopping enroute at the McClary orchard near Empire. The night will be spent in the city.

Leaving Traverse City at 8:30 the morning of the 19th the tour will make its first stop at the Rollo Western orchard northeast of Elk Rapids and its second at the Hemstreet orchard near Bellaire. Fisherman's Paradise will be the luncheon stop. In the afternoon the tour will visit the Eveline Orchards near East Jordan, disbanding there.

BARNETT BROS. CIRCUS HERE NEXT THURSDAY

If you have the pleasure of seeing the BARNETT BROS. CIRCUS this season, you will no doubt be surprised to see three great unusual pals that are constantly together from morning until night. Prince, a Canadian Great Dane Dog, who has won many cups and ribbons at various dog shows throughout the Dominion of Canada, and Snookie, a full grown horse, standing 34 inches in height and just one inch taller than his pal, Prince. Junie, the baby Elephant, and his pals present a unique and awe-inspiring display of almost human intelligence, consisting of various routines of dances, drills, poses, and other difficult execution rarely ever accomplished by animals.

The management of the circus has devoted a tremendous sum of money and time to secure the best trainers available to produce this act, which is the only one of its kind now before the public. This act is one of the feature animals acts of mixed groups and has no equal.

A special car has been provided to transport these three pals with trainers and attendants from town to town and can only be seen with Barnett Bros. Circus this year at the Fair Grounds, East Jordan on Thursday, June 26th.

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

The prosecuting attorney had encountered a rather difficult witness. At length, exasperated by the man's evasive answers, he asked him whether he was acquainted with any of the jury.

"Yes, sir," replied the witness. "More than half of them."

"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them?" demanded the man of law.

"If it comes to that," he replied, "I am willing to swear that I know more than all of 'em put together!"

FIRE-WALKING IS WIDELY PRACTICED

Queer Ceremonies Survive in Many Lands.

Washington.—"Amusement would appear on the face of the American hunter, fisherman, horseman or small boy, off for a day in the country, if he were confronted with a bold sign, 'No Fire-Walking Allowed on This Property,' as he often is with the 'No Trespassing' placard. This sort of a warning, however, will soon be placed on the gates and trees of Kedah, Malay peninsula," says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"This thriving city of Kedah with its population of more than 350,000 persons was destroyed by fire in 1611 and again in 1770. With that background of incendiarism, a majority of the rubber planters have voted to abolish fire-walking ceremonies on their estates.

Where Practice Persists.

"Fire-walking survives in many areas, notably in Polynesia, Bulgaria, Fiji islands, Japan, the straits settlements and India.

"Natives believe fire ceremonies have enabled sick men and beasts to walk, have saved souls, annihilated spiritual foes and made the sun shine. The details of the ritual and its objects vary in different lands, but one controlling idea remains, that the priests, fakirs and devotees pass barefoot over heated stones or ashes.

"The Persian fire-worshipping religion is older than Christianity, yet is now confined to the Parsis of Bombay and one or two small groups in Persia. Even today putting out a candle requires care and respect. An eastern Armenian who would bathe at night sears the malignant occupants of the lake or pool by casting a flaming torch into it.

"In the Fiji islands, the fibrous roots of the dracena tree are thrown into a crudely-built oven to bake, and this procedure is the occasion of a fire festival. The roots are baked on the hot stones for four days to extract sugar from them. At the moment the roots are placed on the stones a chosen few jump into the oven and walk amid the tongues of flame playing about their feet. Similar ceremonies are practiced in the Marquesas Island, Tahiti and the West Indian island of Trinidad.

Charred Wood Fed to Cattle.

"In the time of Kublai Khan, the Taoist Buddhists of China held festivals honoring the 'High Emperor of Sombre Heavens,' and, preceded by priests, walked barefoot through fires, bearing images of their gods. The procession passed thrice through the furnace. The populace carried off charred bits of wood to pound and add to the food of their cattle, believing that it fattened them.

"The sun god is feted by the Hindus of South India at the Feast of the Ingathering. Much ado is made in the hope of awakening him. Every street and lane has its fire. Young folk jump and leap over the flames and pile on fresh fuel, believing that they help rekindle the sun's light and heat. The festival lasts 18 days and on the last day a procession bearing images of gods passes over a furnace 40 feet long. The natives smear their bodies with saffron, and their heads are crowned with flowers. Some walk faster than others over the embers, according to their degree of religious fervor.

"The Kanda quarter of Tokyo formerly was the scene of a fire-walk twice each year. In a court of a temple a large bed of charcoal was covered with a deep layer of straw. The straw ignited, blazed up, and died down, leaving a bed of hot charcoal. Priests dressed in white cotton robes walked calmly down the middle of the fire on salt-covered feet."

Cape Hatteras Claims Three-Masted Vessel

Ocracoke, N. C.—Cape Hatteras has claimed another victim in the three-masted schooner Levinia M. Snow, pushed into the breakers and onto the beach by a "sou'easter."

The vessel will never sail the seas again. It has been sold for $450 to four Hatteras residents, who bid it in at auction.

Capt. John A. Stevens, the master, has returned to his home in Rockland, Maine, where the craft was built 37 years ago.

A coast guard cutter from Norfolk attempted to remove the Levinia M. Snow, but failed. The captain and his crew of five men were rescued by means of a breeches buoy.

The vessel will be stripped by its present owners.

Ronaldo Is Only Pupil in Cloverdale (Calif.) School

Cloverdale, Calif.—Ronaldo Albini is the total enrollment of the Lincoln grammar school here. Enrollment was normal when the term opened, but so many families moved away that finally Miss Mary Ziller, the teacher, and Ronaldo were the only persons left in the room. At the end of the term Ronaldo will be transferred to another school and the Lincoln school will be closed.

Electric Light Kills

Southend, England.—Andrew Berry 77, who sat down on an electric light bulb, died in a hospital from his injuries.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

Getting Service

A young New Yorker recently went to a famous mid-western hospital for a highly specialized operation, and has returned bearing word that, "out among the big things," he has been set down as a mental case. But it comes out even, for he thinks the nurses were a set of mental cases. He found, he said, that his $8 a day nurses would give him no service. If he asked for something, they replied, "You don't want that now." So he devised the scheme of holding a water pitcher high in the air and saying, "If you don't give me what I want I'll drop the pitcher." After the nurses had cleaned up two broken pitchers, his requests were granted, but the hospital officials set him down as a maniac.

Pet Clinic

Every Saturday afternoon, at a building in lower Seventh avenue, may be found a line-up of pet lovers at a free clinic for animals. Here, at the headquarters for the Humane society, come those who can't afford to pay for veterinary services, and those who can—for the reputation of the society's veterinarians is great. The other afternoon I dropped in to see Harry Moran, the superintendent, and to get a line on the sort of services dispensed.

Animals, Moran told me, have just about the same illnesses that human beings do. While I was there a woman arrived in her limousine, carrying a Sealyham terrier that was suffering from a case of nerves. And someone brought a billygoat that was suffering from—believe it or not—indigestion. One of the regular visitors is a cat with ingrowing toenails, brought in for a—tell me if I'm wrong—manicure.

New Game

Ultra smart New Yorkers who have tired of Guggenheim, anagrams, and other childish pastimes have devised a new means of amusement. It is the game of larceny. If you are invited to the Smiths for dinner, you snoop about the apartment looking for Smith's wallet or Mrs. Smith's pocket-book. You try to steal $5. You win the game, of course, if you get the $5 without being caught. Then, if you're an ultra smart New Yorker, you return the money a week later, accompanying it with a light jest.

Minor Upheaval

One of the minor upheavals caused by the waistline-and-long-skirt epidemic has been in the window display business. Store proprietors have found that their wax mannequins are completely out of touch with the mode, with their lack of feminine curves. So many a sculptor's work of art has been confined to the junk heap, and the sculptors are working night and day turning out mannequins with fuller figures.

True Story

I can't mention the name, without getting into trouble. But here is the story: A press agent for a well known producer was reading in bed the other night after a hard day's work giving out press passes, and he came upon a startling passage in his book. "Why!" he exclaimed, "That's my boss!" It read like one of those Broadway novels in which the characters have fictitious names but everyone knows who is meant. Not willing to trust his own imagination, the press agent took the book with him to the office next morning, and read the passage to close associates of the producer. "Who's this?" the press agent would say, and then would begin to read. "You don't need to go any further," the listener would reply shortly. "It's the boss. Somebody has been writing another Broadway novel."

The book the press agent read from was a scholarly biography of Cesare Borgia!

Chick Is Some Chicken; Crows When 2 Days Old

Blytheville, Ark.—A young chicken which began crowing at the age of two days is the prize possession of Mrs. Chuck Burns.

"Chickie," a handsome Plymouth Rock, recently startled the other barnyard fowl and his owner by crowing lustily in imitation of a grown rooster. Since then he rises early each morning, flaps his wings and greets the morning sun with a ringing crow.

Each time he performs this unusual feat he has an audience of several unbelievers who go away convinced "Chickie" is "some chicken."

Man Turns Robber to Pay for Divorce

San Francisco.—A "robbing Peter to pay Paul defense" failed Harry Schilder in Superior court here and he must serve one year to life in San Quentin penitentiary.

Schilder, a baker, told the court that he had held up a man in order to pay a divorce attorney fees.

"I had no other way to get the money," he said, "and court had ordered me to pay it."

WORTH MILLION AND FORGETS IT

Someone Fails to Claim Fortune in England.

London.—Could you forget that you had a million dollars? Someone in England has, and the sum total of fortunes that he and others have "overlooked" amounts to $20,000,000.

This vast sum lies in the hands of the officials of the national exchequer, which every year benefits to the extent of approximately $1,000,000 by the failure of an army of stockholders to claim the interest on their government stock.

That this figure is underestimated is admitted by the officials of the exchequer. It is done so purposely to avoid a flood of spurious claims. The present practice of the Bank of England is to wait until one claimant appears for a hitherto unclaimed stock, and then advertise for all other claimants to the same stock.

One reason that people forget such valuable property is that many stockholders go abroad and are never heard from again. Then there are aged or ailing persons, who forget that they possess stock, and there are the hundreds of persons, who when they die, neglect to leave any mention of their possessions.

A claim recently brought out the fact that an English woman, who had died at Marseilles at the age of ninety-eight, was entitled to $280,000 in stocks, and $100,000 in accumulated dividends, yet she had been constantly borrowing from her relatives.

The finance act of 1921 gives to the national exchequer all dividends unclaimed after five years, although the stocks remain in the holders' names for another ten years.

Dr. Carter to Seek Tomb of Alexander the Great

London.—Howard Carter, archaeologist and discoverer of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, plans to embark on his most sensational exploit—search for the tomb and body of Alexander the Great.

Upon completion of his work at the sepulchre of Tut-Ankh-Amen in Egypt he said in an interview with the Daily Mail, he will proceed with the infinitely more difficult attempt to find the resting-place of the young man who came out of Macedonia to conquer the entire known world of 22 centuries ago.

Alexander died at Babylon in 323 B. C., but one of his greatest generals, the satrap, Ptolemy I, later ruler of Egypt, contrived to procure the body and is said to have given it burial in a golden coffin at Alexandria. The discovery of his tomb, Carter believes, would far overshadow in importance the finding of Tut-Ankh-Amen's last resting place.

"According to Plutarch," he said, "the exact position of Alexander's tomb in Alexandria was unknown. However, it may possibly be found in one of the royal cemeteries, but I anticipate a long, difficult and expensive search."

The preliminary work, he said, will consist of probing the ground by sinking tubes and shafts, then working toward the center of the supposed royal cemetery.

Regarding Tut-Ankh-Amen, Carter admits there is still much work to be done, although he hopes to remove four great sirlines from the tomb in October, when the Egyptian excavation season begins.

Hardy Constitutions of Dogs Seen in Operations

London.—The cat is not the only member of the animal family which has nine lives. Through scientific aid and operations, the dog is now enjoying several lives. Many operations performed in the Royal Veterinary college have saved the lives of numerous canines which ordinarily would have expired. A recent operation was performed on a greyhound with a dislocated neck. Shortly afterward the dog resumed its racing. At the college dogs have been provided with false teeth and limbs and even rejuvenating operations have been performed on them.

Times Certainly Have Changed in Forty Years

Kansas City, Mo.—There has been a change of views in the last 40 years. The following item appeared 40 years ago in a Kansas City newspaper: "A peculiar incident happened at the public library today. A young woman reading a periodical at one of the tables had her left leg accidentally (?) exposed so that a pink stocking was visible up to her knee. She was quietly asked to leave."

Women Soldiers Unpopular With Reds

Moscow.—Women soldiers are unpopular in the eyes of the Russian government. "Female rifle squads" from the Red army were sent to the villages in discontented districts to protect communal farms from being plundered by opposition peasantry engaged in private enterprise. But, states the Soviet cabinet in its official announcement, "the rifle-women have fraternized with the peasantry."

"Parts of God's Estate"

There is a distinct joy in owning a piece of land unlike that which you have in money, in books, in pictures, or anything else which men have devised. Personal property brings you into society with men. But land is a part of God's estate in the globe; and when a parcel of ground is deeded to you, and you walk over it, and call it your own, it seems as if you had come into partnership with the original proprietor of the earth.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Sparkle of the City

The successes of a few in the cities dazzle the youth of the country, but it should not be overlooked that where a few achieve wealth and places of prominence, millions and millions plod along with a bare living and many scarcely are able to make that.—Houston Post-Dispatch.

Modernizing Reclaims Values

Many thousands of our old homes stretching from coast to coast, that are obsolete and out-of-date, inside and outside, will take on new life and beauty within the year. Modernization will bring about this great reclamation.

The Ostrich

The ostrich may be queer as sin, but do not notice that. For he has put a feather in full many a lady's hat.

Would Help a Lot

Featherstone—I wish you would come and help me select some trousers, old man. Ridgeway—I don't believe my taste is any better than yours. "No, but your credit is."

THE CULPRIT

"I had my pockets picked last night."
"Why, I didn't know you were living with your wife again."

Brotherhood

I value his successes new. Which fame is happy to discuss. And his mistakes I value, too. They prove he's human, just like us.

Proper Building Important

The architectural design and structural efficiency of office and factory buildings as well as homes have an important bearing on the health of America, notes the American Architect, commenting editorially on the recent estimate that the nation's annual loss from illness approximates $15,000,000.

"There are fewer greater causes of sickness than lack of ventilation, poor lighting, drafts and other such preventable factors," says the magazine, pointing out that false economy on the part of owners who insist on cheap construction often results in loss of workers' time of far greater value than the amount saved by reducing construction expense.

PROBATE ORDER

STATE OF MICHIGAN, The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the Matter of the Estate of Almeda Frances Lorraine, Deceased. At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said County, on the 10th day of June 1936.

Present: Ervan A. Ruegsegger, Probate Judge.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Bert L. Lorraine having been appointed Executor.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased, are required to present their claims to said Court, at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, on or before the 10th day of October 1936, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which time claims will be heard.

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix County Herald a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

ERVAN A. RUEGSEGGER, Judge of Probate.

Stop worrying or fretting about how hard you are toiling and keep your thought on the joy of real accomplishment. Then the task lightens.

If you your lips would keep from slips, five things observe with care; of whom you speak, to whom you speak, and how and when and where.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amanceas road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

CHURCHLY WAYS
LAND MAN IN JAIL

Is Recognized as Man Wanted on Bigamy Charge.

New York.—A man was arrested because he went to church recently and now is held in $3,000 bail. He faces the possibility of not attending church, outside prison walls, for quite a while.

John Willis, seventy-six, is a plous man. Being out of work he dropped in one week day afternoon to a session of the New York Methodist Episcopal conference, taking place in the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, eighty-sixth street and Park avenue. There Rev. L. B. Haines recognized Willis as a man for whom he performed a marriage November 23, 1928, a marriage he later learned was bigamous. Reverend Haines went outside and called a policeman who returned with him and arrested Willis. Willis' latest spouse appeared in court and signed the complaint against her husband.

Willis married Mrs. Molly Smith, then living at 573 Palisades avenue, Weehawken, July 3, 1917, according to the charges. He admitted to police that he left her because her grown son by an earlier marriage habitually abused him.

After marrying the later Mrs. Willis, who was then Mrs. Ella Acker, sixty-three years old, of 558 West One Hundred and Seventieth street, Willis said she found bills in his pocket addressed to his former wife. She confronted him with the bills and he admitted his earlier marriage. He then left the city, after six weeks of married life, and his wife had not heard from him until phoned by the minister who caused the arrest.

Willis, who is a former dry goods merchant, was loud in his praise of his most immediate wife and present complainant. He said he thought he should be punished for deserting her. His chances are excellent.

Anesthetic in Capsules

Being Tested by Doctors

New Orleans.—Doctors here have described a new anesthetic with which they had been experimenting during the last year.

"Take these," a hospital nurse may say, and give the patient three capsules that look like quinine but contain sodium amylal, the new sleep-inducing anesthetic.

After a comfortable sleep of five or six hours the patient may ask, "When is the doctor going to operate?" This will probably sound odd to the nurse, for the doctor has operated almost immediately after the capsule dosing. The new anesthetic has not been put on the market yet, but its continued success will bring a great demand for it soon, doctors said.

It is best used in combination with ether and some of the older anesthetics, it is explained. "This counteracts the spasmodic awakening that usually accompanies the use of amylal alone, and induces a long continued sleep."

"Its advantages are obvious," doctors claimed. "The patient misses the uncomfortable hours of nausea immediately following the operation. Amylal is sleep producing rather than pain resisting. It is a sort of hypnotic anesthetic."

Militant Pastor Routes

Bearers of Fiery Cross

City Bank, Mont.—Nocturnal raiders were ignominiously routed and their impressive standard, a fiery cross, was captured by an angry Presbyterian minister here recently.

When the city lights suddenly shut off Rev. A. M. Wilson glanced out the window of his home and noticed several figures dressed in white shrouds approaching his residence. They carried a flaming cross.

Righteously indignant, the militant minister of the gospel threw open his front door and made a rush toward the intruders. Amazed and dismayed, they dropped their flaming cross and scattered.

Martial Music Played

at Wedding Ceremony

Pittsburgh, Pa.—At a recent wedding when the Lohengrin wedding march proved too "slow" and something faster was demanded, the musicians obliged with Sousa's war march, "The Star and Stripes Forever."

Village Has No Debts

Ludington, Mich.—With a population of 1,045, according to the last census, Scottville, Mason county's second city, stands out in western Michigan as a municipality without a debt.

Barking of Dog Saves

Master But Costs $5

St. Louis.—It witnesses are to be believed Charles Curand, thirty, owes his life to his dog although it did cost him $5. Charles imbibed too much and laid down in a gutter. Sensing his owner's plight, the dog barked and pranced around the body causing the driver of a bus to halt his vehicle before it struck Curand.

Charles was paraded before a judge on a drunkenness charge. He paid $5.

OLD-TIMER RECALLS
STAGE COACH DAYS

Says 72 Miles 8 Hours Was Hard Work

Glacier Park, Mont.—Jack Brown, veteran Glacier park guide, used to "drive" on a western stagecoach line in the days of horse-drawn vehicles and he gives some interesting information about life in the West in those days. He says:

"When I came to Montana it was a territory and travel, of course, was all either by horseback or by the old horse stagecoach. All these coaches were Concordas, drawn by six horses. We lived on the old Holiday line. The coaches ran night and day from Helena to Corrine, Utah. As a boy I used to mingle with the drivers a good deal and when I was twelve years old I could pull the ribbons on a six better'n a green hand."

Changed Horses Often

"My first job at stage driving was on the old Allard line in 1891. We used to make the round trip, Ravalli to Polson Landing, which was seventy-two miles, in eight and one-half hours. We changed horses four times. That may look slow to automobile drivers today, but when you've sat perched up on one of those high coaches that distance and handled six horses that are nearly all bronchos, you'll find that the motorist at a wheel has a pretty easy time of it.

"I never was held up while driving stage, but I've had my piano players up several times in my life in the West and I know how it goes. I know that it's an occasion when even a woman wouldn't argue much.

"One time when driving stage I had a lady riding up on top with me, and she said: 'Mister Driver, how is it you've got such a ruddy complexion?' I just kicked a bottle of Old Crow from under a mail sack at my feet and said: 'There's the paint I use, lady.' It was rather a chilly day and I found that I had to paint her face several times before we got in. It just showed that all good drinking people in the West in those days weren't stage drivers. However, all good stage drivers were good drinking men. Seemed like it was the qualifications to drink, hold yer head and the hosses, as they used to say facetiously.

Horses Still Have Place

"Of course, the horse is out of date now in most places, but I still find lots of places in the old West where a good saddle horse is the best means of travel. Bad roads and trails have no terrors for the old cow pony. We had some good ones in the old cattle days in Montana. I rode one horse eighty-two miles in one day once. I guess even Teddy Roosevelt would've admitted that was too much for one horse, but when the sheriff don't like a fellow it makes it necessary to leave lots of country behind you. I made that ride in nine hours. I suppose the motorist of today would laugh at that as stew driving, but I swear I thought I got along at a lively clip.

"In the earlier frontier days of freer personal liberties the cowpunchers didn't think anything of riding forty miles across country to a dance. And we took the girls along with us. Guess they must've been tough girls, because I know now, when guiding tourists through Glacier Park in the summer time, after some of 'em have ridden nine miles they're ready to eat their supper off'n the mantel. But, then, these are automobile riding days and not many people are used to horseback riding."

Fountain Pen Pistol

Rouges Gotham Police

New York.—An innocent-appearing fountain pen pistol found on a Chinese could be converted into one of the deadliest of short range weapons by substituting a lead bullet for the tear gas cartridge the pistol was designed to shoot, Detective Harry Butts, police department ballistics expert, reported to Commissioner Whalen and Chief Inspector O'Brien, after an experiment.

A .38-calibre lead slug fired by the pistol was split in half, lengthwise, by a steel wire in the tube. At one foot the halves tore through a board seven-eighths of an inch thick. The effect was that of a dum-dum bullet, for the holes were larger at the point of exit. The holes were three inches apart.

The bullet is projected by a powerful spring. The wire is intended to break the gas cartridge, releasing its contents.

The pen-pistol is manufactured in Chicago, and sells for $7.50. Police intimated they would attempt to have the weapon barred from New York.

The pistol in the test was found on Yee Kim, who was arrested in the Bronx on March 15 by Detective Herman Rave. Detective Butts will demonstrate the gun in Bronx special session when Yee Kim goes on trial.

Holder of Nine-City

Jobs Has Lots of Work

Bell, Calif.—Employment rather than unemployment, confronts J. A. Hartman of this city. Hartman has nine jobs, all of them official.

He is the city license collector, ward officer, court bailiff, city hall janitor, traffic officer, official chauffeur, court investigator, assistant court clerk, and assistant switchboard operator for the Bell fire department.

"Outside of city work," Hartman says, "I have nothing to do."

Civic Barnacles Clog

Pathway to Progress

Barnacles attach themselves to the hulls of vessels and other submerged objects. They retard the speed and efficiency and cause loss of time and revenue, to say nothing of the loss of energy that could have been directed in a profitable way. Every so often a thorough cleaning is necessary by scraping off the barnacles and otherwise cleaning up the object, says the Miami (Fla.) Herald.

Civic clubs and other organizations may be likened to ships and therefore find it imperative to scrape off the "barnacled" members. After a most thorough and complete cleaning the organization presents a bright appearance. It is cleaner, brighter and carries a more wholesome spirit into the various endeavors by the membership.

As a result of this cleaning activity greater work can be done and the returns will be twofold; a better member and a better club that will serve more effectively the needs of the city. There might be a "Barnacle" day each year so that this cleaning process could be done all at one time.

Beautifying the Roadside

After an improved road has been made, little attention is paid as a rule to the roadside. From the point of view of the driver, the road may be a marvelous piece of work, but to the esthetically inclined passenger the outlook may be quite different. The average highway is lined with jagged cuts, homely banks, tree trunks and refuse of one kind or another. The Vermont Chamber of Commerce has started its road campaign to beautify the roads and roadides and is endeavoring to make it a nation-wide movement. Connecticut sets out rambler roses, woodbine and honeysuckle. Many other states set out trees in large numbers. This, together with the efforts being made to overcome the billboard nuisance, may have the effect of restoring the rural scenery to an acceptable condition.

Proper Planning Saves Money

"One of the greatest blights of our cities, one of the biggest and hardest problems to be solved, is that of the disfigurement and upset, to surrounding property caused by railroads and other transportation agencies. Great economic losses ensue, with depressing and deteriorating influence upon the poor creatures of humanity who generally drift to the depreciated neighborhoods along railroad rights of way. There is also the great loss of time and inconvenience to whole cities by misplaced or outgrown yards, terminals and other facilities. That proper cooperation and planning, on the part of public and carriers, should make wholesome, esthetic and compatible with the reasonable amenities of life.

Beauty Essential

To meet the demand of the present day, buildings must be not only efficiently planned and soundly built, but they must also be beautiful.

"It is being found that good architecture in commercial and apartment buildings is a real asset and a sound investment," Rollin C. Chapin of the Minnesota chapter of the American Institute of Architects pointed out.

Carefully Capping Silo

Will Prevent Big Loss

If there is any silage left in the silo, it will probably prove to be exceedingly useful during the summer months when the pastures become low. Careful capping of the silage will prevent excessive loss due to fermentation and decay.

A covering of roofing paper, cut to fit the inside of the silo and weighted down with silage or dirt, has proved to be satisfactory, according to the reports of many cow testers. The idea is to prevent evaporation of moisture. When the moisture evaporates, molds will form, thus destroying a portion of the silage if it is not covered.

Some men also recommend smoothing off the top of the silage, packing it tightly and sprinkling with salt. The salt helps to seal the surface layer and also helps to prevent molds and decay. A layer of old newspapers, tar paper or similar material will also serve the same purpose.

Making the Readjustment

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Some one has said that the chief value of education is to help one to meet the unexpected, to adjust himself to a new situation quickly and pleasantly. Whether or not education does give one this ability it is not for me to say, but it is a characteristic which should be cultivated whenever possible. Life brings to many of us quick changes, sudden calls for an absolutely new routine of daily life. It is the wise and happy man who can make these readjustments without wrecking his life or ruining his happiness.

I have noticed that when men who have reached or passed middle life come up against disaster or are compelled by circumstances to change their occupations or alter the regular routine which habit has established, most of them are unhappy and many of them die quickly.

Cornell, who had been a banker all his life and who had made some money, retired a dozen years ago or so, determined to take life easy. Having sold his business there was nothing regular for him to do. He could sleep late in the morning; he could loaf in the afternoon; he could go to bed as soon as dinner was over. Nobody would be upset, no business enterprise would be interfered with. He was miserable; he could not make the readjustment. He endured the agony for a few years and then bought out another business and settled happily back into the old routine. Had he not done so I am sure life would have soon ended for him.

Snyder is much more adjustable. He meets a new condition without mental or emotional disturbance. Snyder's business is real estate; his avocation was a young girl upon whom his affections were centered and whom he expected to marry. The girl for a time maintained the same viewpoint. But women's minds are subject to change, and Snyder's fiancée ran into another man more to her liking and she gave Snyder the gate, so to speak, and married the other man. Was he perturbed? Did he grow pale and slink into a decline? Not he. The girl was, of course, a loss, but her marriage opened up a chance for business. The newly married couple would have to live somewhere. Snyder had just the house and the location which would be perfect for them. He lied him at once to his rival and sold him a cottage quite to the girl's taste in a new addition which he had just opened up. He had lost the girl, but he had put over a good business deal at an interesting profit. There was no cause to worry.

I was going to have a quiet evening on Thursday after a tiresome day. I should go nowhere; I should see no one; I should lie in an easy chair before the wood fire and read a detective story; I would go to bed at nine. But it didn't turn out that way. Mrs. Guyer was having a riot with her lodgers and wanted to talk it over with me; Green's appendix had gone on a rampage and he wanted me to see it out. One thing after another happened and I got no rest. It was midnight when I got to bed. Well, fortunately I have learned happily to make the quick readjustment and still be happy.

Dairy Notes

A cheap bull is about the most expensive investment a live stock man can make.

Sanitation in the management and blood testing are the methods of controlling abortion.

Immediate and adequate cooling of milk is necessary to prevent souring. A temperature of less than 50° F. is unfavorable to the growth and reproduction of the injurious bacteria.

With feeding of dairy cows, the question of minerals in the ration receives additional prominence. A cow may produce milk for some time without having sufficient minerals in her ration by drawing on her reserves.

Cleanliness is important in preparing milk for exhibition just the same as in producing milk for sale. Clean cows, clean milkers, and clean utensils and containers keep down bacterial content and prevent spoiling.

Provide now for a better milk-producing inheritance in your future herd. Get a sire from a line of breeding better than your own.

There is nothing new under the sun. Even our good resolutions are mostly old ones made over.

Many a misguided fellow thinks he could support a wife when he could not even pay for her complexion.

Not one really great man has achieved greatness except by coming over a path of thorns, hardships, disappointments, and heartaches.

Liberty and Spuds at the Same Price

Bugs and Insects Always Ready to Bid for Crop.

Eternal vigilance is the price, not only of liberty, but of potatoes. What ever may be the attitude of the buyers on the potato market, bugs and insects are always ready and willing to bid for the potato crop. Early, frequent and persistent spraying is about the best answer to them, according to Dr. A. L. Pierstorff, extension plant pathologist for the Ohio State university.

"The first spray should be applied as soon as the potatoes are up or as soon as insects are found on them," says Doctor Pierstorff. "As much pressure as can be applied, up to 400 pounds, is desirable. Bordeaux mixture is the proper material, with two pounds of arsenate of lead for each 50 gallons of spray material.

"Growers should spray their potatoes at least every 10 days during the early part of the season, and every week during the latter part of July, and in August. Late potatoes need from 8 to 10 applications. Some growers find it profitable to apply as many as 13."

Small holes in potato leaves are caused by a black bug called a flea beetle, which lives and feeds on the under side of the leaves. To reach the flea beetles, with the spray it is necessary to adjust the nozzle to throw spray from the side and below the top of the plant.

Smuts of Small Grains

Discussed in Circular

"Smuts of Small Grains and Other Crops and Methods of Control," is the title of a new circular just published by the extension service of the Colorado Agricultural college, for free distribution to farmers. Anyone desiring a copy may obtain it by writing to the college.

Waldo Kidder, extension agronomy specialist, is the author of the circular, which explains the nature of smut, the damage it does to grain crops and the most approved methods of preventing smut.

Smut of oats and barley and their control are discussed. An illustration of a home-made barrel wheat duster is given, with directions how to make it.

All farmers are urged to "plant no small grain or cane or millet seed which has not been treated to control smut losses." Materials recommended to be used for killing the smut on grain seed without injuring the germination of the grain are copper carbonate and formaldehyde solution.

Copper carbonate is the best for treating wheat, bald barley, hull-less oats, cane, millet and sudan grass seed. Formaldehyde solution is the best to use with oats and barley. Methods of treating the various types of grain seed are described.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE NOTICE

Default—having been made in the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage made and executed by Edway B. Hite and Minnie M. Hite, his wife, of the township of South Arm, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, to the Peoples State Savings Bank, a Michigan corporation, having its principal office and place of business at the City of East Jordan, Charlevoix County, Michigan, which said mortgage bears date the 14th day of December, 1923, and was recorded on the 17th day of December, 1923, in Liber forty (40) of Mortgages, on page five hundred eight (508), in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, and that said mortgage is past due, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage the sum of one thousand four and 41/100 ($1,004.41) dollars at the date of this notice, including principal, interest, taxes and attorney fee, and no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and of the statute in such case made and provided, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Wednesday the 10th day of September, 1930, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, standard time, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for the county of Charlevoix is held, said Peoples State Savings Bank will sell at public auction to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage and all legal costs and attorney fee.

The premises described in said mortgage are as follows, to-wit: "The southwest quarter of the northwest quarter (SW 1/4 of NW 1/4) of section thirteen (13), township thirty-two (32) north, range seven (7) west, containing forty (40) acres of land, more or less."

State News in Brief

Port Huron—Work on a new bridge across Black River by the Pere Marquette Railway to replace an old structure has been started. The bridge will cost $500,000.

Monroe—Robert Carlyle, 23 years old, was burned to death when fire destroyed his farm home near Britton. The body was found in the ruins by neighbors and firemen. Mrs. Carlyle returned home to find the residence in ashes and her husband dead.

Blissfield—Lawrence Walters, 15, of Riga Township, is suffering of injuries incurred when he was struck by a bar roller. The boy was adjusting the collar on one of the horses dragging farm machinery, when he slipped and fell. The horses bolted, dragging the boy 100 yards.

Ferndale—A little decrease in a Missouri city, a big increase to a Michigan town—and they hit the same spot in the 1930 census, 20,796 population. The two coming so close to the 20,800 mark were Sedalia, Mo., decrease 1.6 per cent, and Ferndale, increase 687.7 per cent over their totals as reported in the 1920 census.

Kalamazoo—Plans for the erection of a $500,000 alumni union building on the campus of the Western State Teacher's College were announced here. The building will be built entirely by subscription, $2,000 being already offered. The structure is to be a place of entertainment for visiting alumni as well as student social activities.

Flint—Bids for the construction of Flint's new $650,000 postoffice are being advertised by the government with the completion of plans and specifications. The bids are to be opened at 3 p. m. on July 8, in the office of the supervising architect of the treasury department in Washington. The site of the building is on Church street between Second and Third streets.

Ann Arbor—By the will of William Wilson Cook, filed in New York, the University of Michigan receives the income of nearly his entire estate, whose present value is estimated in excess of $12,000,000. Gifts during the lifetime of Mr. Cook, bring his total benefactions to the University to about $20,000,000 and make Mr. Cook one of the foremost benefactors of education in the history of America.

Lansing—Five miles of gill nets, valued at more than $2,000, were confiscated by the Department of Conservation when the Commercial Fisheries Patrol No. 1, under command of Capt. Charles J. Allers, discovered the unlicensed nets in Michigan waters near the Beaver Islands. They were owned by Wisconsin fishermen and were seized because they were being used in Michigan water without the necessary commercial fishermen's license.

Ionia—Grief over the death of a son in a Government hospital is believed to have been the motive which led Mrs. May Belle Decker, 40 years old, to end her life at her home at Palo, near here. Mrs. Decker, who lived alone, hanged herself. On a bed beside the body was a package containing letters from her son, Harold Decker, written from the hospital where he died. The body was found by neighbors. Mrs. Decker had been dead several days.

South Lyon—Mr. and Mrs. John Monahan, of Green Oak Township, are believed to be the oldest married couple in this section. Their sixtieth wedding anniversary, celebrated recently was attended by 200 persons. The couple was presented with 60 pieces of gold. Monahan, who is 86 years old, was born on his present farm, which was cleared by his father a century ago. Mrs. Monahan is 81. They have a son, three grand children and three great grandchildren.

Oadellac—Several sections of the old wooden water main that was laid many years ago by Holden Green, father of Governor Fred W. Green, have been dug up on Hersey street by a paving crew. The pipe sections are about eight feet long and eight inches in diameter. A hole is bored through and the outside turned down on a lathe until uniform in size. The joints were mortised. Holden Green owned the first water works in Oadellac and all the original mains were of wood.

Potoskey—Charles Lathers, of Detroit, business man, sportsman and owner of the beautiful summer farm and estate on the shores of Maple Bay, Burt lake, was badly bruised and rushed when attacked by an angry bull at the Lather farm barnyard. Lathers was taken to the Potoskey hospital. He is expected to recover. He was assisting his farm manager, William Sydow, and the farmer's son, Clyde, 15 years old, drive the bull back into his pen in the barn when the attack occurred.

Lapeer—A gift of 102 1/2 acres, bordering on McKean lake, six miles northwest of Lapeer, as a summer camp site for the Girl Scouts of Flint by R. Spencer Bishop, vice-president of the Genesee County Savings bank, has been announced. The property borders on two sides of the lake and is almost a mile of water frontage, with a sandy beach the entire distance. Eighty acres of the property is woodland. Purchase of the property was made by Mr. Bishop from W. A. Green, of Lapeer, who has owned it for 22 years.

Coldwater—James M. Thorpe, 75, a farmer at Bronson, near here, died on the lawn of the County Jail here as he was about to enter the building to be questioned in connection with the alleged shooting of a neighbor's horse seven days before.

Baginaw—Overcome by jealousy, Joseph Zitko, 33-year-old factory employe, fatally wounded his sweetheart, Mrs. Mildred Yorks Fessler, 22-year-old divorcee, and then ended his own life. Zitko died instantly and Mrs. Fessler died an hour later at a hospital.

St. Clair—Mrs. Minnie Bark, 79 years old, ended her life by turning on the jets in a gas range at her home near St. Clair. Her body was found by her son and his wife when they returned from a party. She left two notes, in one of which she said she was tired of living.

Kalamazoo—H. A. Pierce, chapter head of the Izaak Walton League, announces the purchase of 45 acres on Wolfe Lake by the Conservation Department and the league, the first step in completion of a $25,000 hatchery. Kalamazoo chapter will provide a fund for the superintendent's house, hatch house and 14 rearing ponds.

Mt. Clemens—Otto Wissner, Detroit, died suddenly of heart disease while driving on Van Dyke road between the Fifteen and Sixteen Mile roads. He was with his wife and his son, 12 years old. Wissner apparently felt the attack coming on and slowed down the machine. The car went into the ditch but was not damaged.

Albion—Directors of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association at a meeting held here in connection with the annual M. I. A. A. field and track meet, voted to discontinue baseball permanently as a major sport. Golf was given favorable consideration in its place and will be sanctioned. It is expected at the December meeting of the board.

Detroit—An earnest plea that her wedding be postponed a day or two surprised a Detroit bride-to-be on the eve of her wedding. The request came from a delegation of the choir boys who were to sing at the ceremony. When the bride recovered sufficiently to inquire the reason, she was told, "Well, you see, the circus is coming to town on the day of your wedding."

Sault Ste. Marie—Chase S. Osborn formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Michigan. "I am a candidate for United States senator in Michigan to succeed James Couzens," the former governor announced. "As I see it, the nation cannot endure unless women and men who have fitness and taste for filling public positions offer themselves."

Big Rapids—Tharel Kanitz, for three years a mainstay of the University of Michigan's basketball team has been signed to head the athletic department of the high school here. He will assume his duties in September. Kanitz was an all star player in high school at Milan, Mich. He was recommended by Harry Kipke, football coach and George Veenker, basketball mentor for the position here.

Lansing—Michigan has no exile law and "cannot dump its criminals into other states," the supreme court ruled. Convicted of violating the prohibition law, Mrs. Eva Baum was sentenced by Judge Charles White, of the Berrien circuit court, to pay a fine of $500, costs of $500 and to leave the state for five years. She appealed and the high bench agreed that Judge White was exceeding his authority. A new trial was ordered.

Lansing—Michigan's supreme court refused to interfere with Detroit's parking problems and declined to rule that householders may govern parking in front of their homes. Annoyed by residents of a nearby apartment who leave their automobiles in front of his home, William E. Henze, Detroit attorney, filed a petition seeking authority to have the cars removed by the police when he so desired. His request was denied by the Wayne circuit court and he appealed.

Mt. Clemens—The board of commerce advocated that local signs in the Hebrew language and bearing the information that the places they advertise are "strictly kosher," be replaced with signs in English; "in fairness to everybody concerned." A letter to that effect was sent to all members of the board. The letters stated that about 98 per cent of the citizens here and many visitors are not of Hebrew extraction and therefore do not appreciate the Yiddish signs.

St. Joseph—Jacob Till, 38, tenant farm manager of Galien, and his employer, Henry Krugh, 45, of Chicago, are dead here in a double shooting in which Till killed Krugh and then committed suicide. Till had operated the farm at Galien for Krugh for several years. On a visit to his property Krugh took exception to the way the estate was managed and the two engaged in a bitter argument. Enraged, Till grabbed a shotgun, killed Krugh and then fled to the woods to end his own life.

Flint—The population of Flint is 166,422, compared with 91,599 in the 1920 census, an increase of 70.77 per cent, Otto P. Graff, supervisor for the Tenth District, announced. Flint's population in 1910 was 38,550. Twenty thousand additional persons live in the subdivisions within three miles of Flint, Mr. Graff said, making the population area 174,422. The population of Genesee County, including Flint, was announced as being 211,339 as compared with 125,868 in 1920, an increase of 68.17 per cent.

AMBITION

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

We are all, young and old, obsessed with secret ambition. What we are is nothing when compared with what we are going to be. Youth always has its daydreams, builds its castles in Spain, and while engaged in the dull routine of everyday life, lives another and more glorious existence in the realms of imagination. We have all intended to be what we are not.

Nelson, whom I knew as a boy, was going to congress. He pictured himself rising to oratorical fame, swaying the rulers of the nation with his fiery words, possibly landing finally in the Presidential chair. He died last week on a small farm in central Illinois, a good citizen but never having made a speech, never having had a political job in his life. Perhaps he developed a new ambition before he died. You, too, have had your secret ambition, and I mine, and see where we are today—as far from it as are the poles from each other.

Bryant across the street from me—thirteen years old he is—doesn't care for school. He would be an aviator and fly across the Andes. Walter sees himself on the stage—Charlie Chaplin or George Arliss or even one of the "Gang." Tom is going to be a great engineer and build great bridges rivaling the Tay bridge of which he has seen only the pictures. No one of them probably will ever do what he now imagines, for Bryant is a poor mechanic, Walter has no stage presence, and Tom is flunking arithmetic. It is curious how these secret ambitions cling to one even when middle age has been reached or long since passed. Saxton is sixty and an accomplished surgeon, and so far as one could guess will stay at his profession until he is carried out by the undertaker. What he would like to do, he says, and what he intends to do, is to quit his profession, buy up the old farm on which he was born in New England, and raise sheep—lamb for the spring market—he's always adored sheep and he knows he could make a go of it. The joke of it all is that Saxton really thinks that he will some day do it.

Gordon is a farmer, not a particularly aggressive farmer, but making a living and something more. He's fifty and has never written a paragraph for publication in his life. He tells me he is going to quit the farm some day and strike out as a newspaper reporter. He imagines that it would be a pleasant and easy life. Poor man; how he would be disillusioned!

Smith, who is teaching English in a small cottage, in a moment of confidence, told me the other day that some day he hoped to have saved a hundred thousand dollars. He is going down to Florida then and play golf on the Bellevue-Biltmore links. It is a good thing to have an ambition even though we never realize it; it keeps us going.

A Capelet Frock

Capelet frocks solve the summer wardrobe problem. The one shown here is a red and white print crepe that displays a chic shoulder cape.

Modern Girl: "Next week I'm going to the City for some clothes."
Mere Man: "I wondered where you had left them."

It is not much good having "Welcome" on the doormat if you haven't got it on your face.

When a man says it hurts him to borrow money, you can be pretty sure he'll want an anaesthetic when it comes to paying it back.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

The Raindrop
The raindrop is round instead of flat, or some other shape, because it is really a great mass of tiny little bits of round vapor particles, each complete in itself. One clings to another and thus a sort of "ball" is formed. When of sufficient weight the drop heads toward the earth.

NOTICE!

To the Electors of Charlevoix-Leelanau Legislative District: I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination of Representative to the State Legislature to be made at the Primary Election to be held on September 9th next. If chosen for this office it will be my earnest endeavor to actively and vigorously serve the interests of the whole district and its people to the best of my ability and understanding.
Sincerely yours,
ARTHUR L. FITCH.

FORGOTTEN SURETY ASSESSMENTS RELIEVED.

Hard workers, whose fall pay envelope is a necessity, whose good health is their only capital, must keep themselves constantly at their best. When Arthur O'Malley, Carson Hill, Calif., had to drag his aching weary body from a sleepless bed, he did a wise thing—took Foley's diuretic, and says: "Less than two bottles of Foley's diuretic relieved me entirely of my kidney and rheumatic troubles and put me on my feet and to work again. I want other workers to know about them." Guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for them. For Sale by Rids' Drug Store.

Stretch Your Dollar

ADVERTISING helps you stretch your dollar. You do not need to shop around all day to find what you want at the price you can afford to pay. The advertisements in the newspapers tell you where you can buy it at the lowest price. Advertisements save you time, save money, save physical effort. They make buying easy and sure.

Advertising enables the woman in the home to compare values without moving from her easy chair. She can shop comfortably in her own living-room. When she has decided what and where to buy it, it takes but little time and effort to complete the purchases.

Women appreciate the advantages of advertising. They trust it. They believe in the goods advertised—and buy them.

Keep within your budget by purchasing merchandise you see advertised in your newspaper.
