Extensive Additions Made To Canning Plant

EAST JORDAN CANNING CO. TO START IN FEW DAYS WITH SWEET CHERRIES.

Our City's canning industry—The East Jordan Canning Company—have built a large addition to their plant the past few months and installed considerable new machinery to care for the increased acreage of fruits and vegetables being grown for the Company this year.

The new addition is about 30x100 feet. In it is being installed a complete line of modern up-to-the-minute best canning machinery consisting of pre-grader, grader, steamer, peeler, slicer and dryer. A part of this addition will be used for beet storage.

Extensive changes have been made in cherry canning machinery. New tanks have been installed and old ones enlarged, giving the plant a capacity of sixty tons. The cherries will flow be flushed from the tanks into a new elevator and distributed to four picking tables by a new and modern conveying system.

Heavy-duty Fairbank's truck scales have been installed to speed up weighing of fruits and vegetables.

C. A. Larson of Northeast, Pa., an experienced canning factory man, has been engaged as Superintendent and is now in charge of the installation of machinery. Mr. Larson has been affiliated with the canning industry for many years—at one time as Supt. of the Oswego (N. Y.) Preserving Co. He is the inventor of the Huntley Blancher—a machine now used in canning plants throughout the country.

START IN FEW DAYS
Canning operations are expected to be started in a few days, the first product to be sweet cherries, and the sour cherries to start in a week or two.

Later reports indicate that the region around East Jordan will have about a 75 per cent sour-cherry crop. With many new orchards coming into bearing this year it is anticipated the crop to be handled this season will be considerably larger than heretofore.

About fifty per cent more red raspberries are expected to be carried this year than in previous years. The string bean acreage is much larger this year and a large tonnage of beets will be handled for the first time. According to the present outlook the canning season for East Jordan will run well into November.

The Michigan law requires that anyone below the age of (18) years must have a working permit which should be secured before applying for employment at the Canning Plant.

CHERRY GROWERS TO STURGEON BAY THIS SATURDAY

I have just received announcement that the annual Tour to Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, will take place this week Saturday, June 28th.

The group will leave Frankfort at 7:00 o'clock standard time a. m., and will return by midnight the same day. The round trip fare across Lake Michigan is $3.00.

All cherry growers and persons interested in cherry production are cordially invited to take advantage of this tour. You will enjoy seeing how they raise cherries in the noted Sturgeon Bay area. You will, also, be interested in their canning factory equipment. They have altogether different problems than we have in Michigan.

Make your own plans in so far as getting to Frankfort. See your friends and neighbors, and have the car filled up.

FOREST FIRES AVERAGE OVER 100 A. WEEK

Lansing, June 23.—With the number of forest fires through the State reported to the headquarters of the Forest Fire Division of the Department of Conservation, averaging more than 100 a week, 1,064 fires have been tabulated so far this season. Of this number 462 have been in the Upper Peninsula and 602 in the lower peninsula. Keweenaw is the only upper peninsula county in which no fire has been reported so far this year.

White figures have not been completed, the acreage burned over will aggregate approximately 40,000.

SUMMER CLUB PROGRAM IN FULL SWING

We have more Boy's and Girl's Clubs, and a larger enrollment than we have ever had in Charlevoix County. Also, a larger variety of projects, which makes the club program more attractive and of greater value to the members.

There are still, no doubt, many other rural boys and girls who would join this great farm organization, but in some cases we were unable to secure leaders, and in others, not enough members.

With both the summer and winter club enrollment, we will have approximately 300 boys and girls participating in club work. Each member of these groups is keeping accurate cost records, and doing the actual work in connection with their project, and will also show their work at an exhibit at later dates. Then again, each will submit a story covering their work and a final report indicating the net profits secured.

Surely the club program is accomplishing wonders, and is becoming of far greater interest to the rural communities. It is not possible for want of space to publish the names of all club members, but the following will indicate the various clubs and their leaders:

Potato Club—
Leader, Russell Eggert, East Jordan. Name of club, "East Jordan Potato Club." Seven members enrolled.

Corn Club—
Leader, Russell Eggert, East Jordan. Name of club, "East Jordan Corn Club." Six members enrolled.

Four Bean Clubs—
Leader, Milton Richardson, Charlevoix. Name of club, "Norwood Club." Five members enrolled.

Leader, Arthur O'Dell, Bay Shore. Name of club, "Bay Shore Club." Five members enrolled.

Leader, B. C. Mellescamp, Boyne City. Name of club, "Boyne City Club." Nine members enrolled.

One Pig Club—
Leader, Carlton Smith, Charlevoix. Name of club, "Barnard Club." 8 members enrolled.

Nine Canning Clubs—
1. Leader, Mrs. John Noble, East Jordan. Name of club, "Advance Cannery." Nine members.

2. Leader, Miss Sidney Lumley, and Miss Korhase. Name of club, "Deer Lake Workers." 7 members.

3. Leader, Mrs. Eva Wagner, Charlevoix. Name of club, "Norwood Club." Eight members.

8. Leader, Mrs. Robert Russell, Boyne Falls. Name of club, "Boyne Falls Club." Nine members.

9. Leader, Miss Bessie Straw. Name of club, "Marion Center Club." Five members.

The above list is subject to corrections as some of the Clubs do not have their complete membership lists, neither do they all have their selected names, so the above indicates the community more specifically.

Mancelona, With Antrim, Has Population of 1784

Antrim, spoken of many times in an explanatory way as a suburb of Mancelona, is in reality a part of Mancelona. There is nothing but a "Village Limits" sign-board to show where Mancelona ends as an incorporated village and Antrim begins. Mancelona is given a population of 1142 in the recent census, this including only the population within the corporation limits. George Lesher, census taker in the village and also the township, kept the Antrim population separate from the balance of the township, for his own information. He states the Antrim residents numbered 642. This properly gives Mancelona a population of 1784.—Mancelona Herald.

Going Long Distance for Short Job

Bevan's Sharpless, a young scientist of the Naval Observatory at Washington, has started on a 7,500-mile journey to the tiny island of Niuafo, where he will observe and photograph a total eclipse of the sun which will last only 1.5 minutes. The photograph shows him at work at the observatory preparing for the trip.

CITY TAX NOTICE

City Taxes for the City of East Jordan for the year 1930 are due and payable at my office in Russell Hotel during the month of July without penalty.

G. E. BOSWELL,
City Treasurer.

Cheboygan — The First National bank of Cheboygan closed its doors with an announcement of a $308,000 shortage in its savings department, the manager of which, Clyde Milliken, 44 years old, committed suicide. The bank was closed and placed in the hands of Henry F. Quinn, examiner, on orders of the board of directors, who issued a statement predicting that all depositors will be paid in full. The bank has been in business nearly half a century. Milliken had been connected with it for about 25 years.

Ishpeming — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Gill recently received the congratulations of friends on the celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding, the second such celebration in Mr. Gill's family. Mr. and Mrs. Gill were born in Cornwall, England, like so many other residents of the mining districts of the Upper Peninsula. They were married in Negaunee, Mich., June 4, 1870, and made their home in Ishpeming for 20 years. Mr. Gill's parents celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary in England 20 years ago.

Ann Arbor — Joe Truskowski, of Detroit, three-sport letterman at the University of Michigan, who will graduate this June, has accepted a position as foot ball coach at Olivet College for next fall. In addition to having charge of Olivet football team, Truskowski will also assist in the coaching of basketball. During his undergraduate career at Michigan, Truskowski won eight letters. He won three in football, three in basketball and two in baseball. He captained the Wolverine football eleven last fall.

Going to college is the easiest way I ever found to make a living.

Where Our State Taxes Go

CHARLEVOIX CO. GETS $2.43 FOR EVERY DOLLAR PAID.

[Note—The following article originally appeared in the Gaylord Herald-Times, and was re-published in last week's issue of the Mancelona Herald. As it is of more than passing interest to every person who pays "State Taxes," we are reprinting it in full.—Ed.]

When the general property tax payers walk up to their city, county, or township treasurer each December or January and pay their State tax, a great majority of them figure that they are paying just that much to the cost of upkeep of the State government, and get returns only in an indirect way.

When the automobile owner buys his annual automobile license, he figures it as only another added burden of taxation; this is also the case when he buys five gallons of gasoline and pays a 15 cent tax. But the facts are that if each county would pay its own expenses; that is, build its own roads and maintain them, pay the cost of its school systems, and maintain its own wards who are housed in State institutions, the State of Michigan would operate very nicely without any general property tax whatsoever.

The tax payers occasionally hear something about "federal aid" in road building and other tax matters but "state aid" is something the counties never heard about yet it is the real reason behind what many term as the high cost of taxes in Michigan.

The general property owner and the automobile owner are the two chief sources of revenue for the state but in reality the State is simply collecting the money to spend it for the counties.

And in addition to this the State in the year 1929-30 collected more than $22,000,000, which went directly back to the counties, and of which the State received not a penny. This money is what is termed the primary school fund which amounted to more than $20,000,000 and $2,000,000 collected from the general property districts.

The $20,000,000 came from a tax upon the utilities operating in Michigan; that is, utilities whose operations may be state wide, or covering a certain section of the state, such as railroads, telegraph and telephone companies, car loaning companies, and such corporations as insurance companies, which pay a specific tax to the State.

It would be practically impossible for each county to assess the railroad property within its limits, so the constitution provides that such utilities shall be assessed as a whole. While these utilities pay no local taxes directly, they do pay them indirectly, for their tax assessment is the average tax rate for the whole State. This average includes state, county, city, and school taxes, and is now around $30 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. But the state gets nothing from this fund, it all goes to the school districts prorated according to the number of children of school age in each district. In addition to this is the $2,000,000 raised by the general property tax under the Turner law, to aid the poorer school districts. During 1929, not including the $2,000,000 under the Turner law, 56 counties in Michigan received from the primary school money $1,451,000 more than they paid to the State treasury in general property tax.

The highway money, that is, funds collected from the weight and gasoline taxes, also goes directly back into the counties. From these two taxes the counties receive in cash an amount equal to one-half the weight tax collections. Of this 50 per cent, seven-eighths is distributed on a pro-rata basis in proportion to the weight tax receipts from each county, and one-eighth is divided equally among the 83 counties. Then from the remaining highway tax money, the State must pay the cost of constructing and maintaining all trunk lines, and provides for the highway sinking fund for the retirement of bonds issued in 1919.

As previously stated the weight, gasoline and general property taxes are the chief sources of state revenue, and here is how this money is divided among the counties. For every dollar paid into the state treasury in the year 1929, in taxes, five counties received back more than $6, one more than $7, four more than $5, and three more than $4. Likewise there are 14 counties receiving more than $3 for each dollar they pay into the treasury, 14 more than $2 and 28 more than $1, leaving but 16 of the 83 counties in the State which do not get back more than they pay, in the three forms of taxes.

In computing these figures, repayments by the State to counties include the county's share of the weight and gas tax money, the cost of maintaining the highways in the county, the cost of new construction, the primary school money returned, state highway rewards and what it costs the State to maintain the county's wards in State institutions.

The 16 counties which received back less than they paid into the treasury, and the amounts received in cents are: Washtenaw 58.8; Wayne 45.5; St. Joseph 82.1; Shiawassee 90.6; Ottawa 97; Oakland 78.6; Muskegon 99.4; Monroe 72.9; Lenawee 75; Kent 90; Jackson 93; Kalamazoo 97; Ingham 63; Hillsdale 83.3; Genesee 84, and Calhoun 90. These percentages will vary from year to year in the respective counties, depending upon the amount of trunk line construction in the respective counties for the year in question. This is the only item that would fluctuate materially from year to year. Naturally many of the counties that were low in 1929 will be higher in 1930.

The counties receiving in excess of $4 for each dollar they pay into the treasury are: Alger $6.65; Antrim $6.16; Arenac $7.26; Cheboygan $6.06; Crawford $5.59; Kalamazoo $5.15; Mackinac $5.17; Missaukee $6.14; Oscoda $6.84; Otsego $4.99; Roscommon $4.47, and Schoolcraft $4.46.

Counties receiving more than $3 for each dollar they pay in, are: Alcona $3.54; Baraga $3.94; Chippewa $2.19; Clare $3.65; Clinton $3.47; Emmet $3.98; Ionia $3.30; Iosco $3.66; Lake $3.72; Montcalm $3.65; Newago $3.20; Osceola $3.79; Ogemaw $3.31 and Ontonagon $3.24. Counties over $2 are Barry $2.99; Benzie $2.39; Charlevoix $2.43; Delta $2.34; Gladwin $2.39; Houghton $2.39; Isabella $2.64; Lapeer $2.39; Luce $2.47; Mecosta $2.59; Menominee $2.59; Presque Isle $2.21; Tuscola $2.33 and Wexford $2.59.

The 26 counties receiving back more than $1 and less than $2 are: Allegan $1.23; Bay $1.19; Berrien $1.33; Branch $1.59; Cass $1.79; Eaton $1.21; Gogebic $1.25; Grand Traverse $1.60; Gratiot $1.92; Huron $1.77; Iron $1.57; Keweenaw $1.85; Livingston $1.03; Macomb $1.69; Marquette $1.68; Mason $1.18; Midland $1.96; Montcalm $1.52; Oceana $1.43; Saginaw $1.11; Sanilac $1.72; Alpena $1.78; Dickinson $1.70; Manistee $1.42; St. Clair $1.19 and Van Buren $1.04.

It is interesting to note that 16 counties pay less in their total State tax than it costs the State to maintain these counties' wards in State institutions. In 11 other counties the State spends more on maintenance of highways each year than the combined total of weight, gasoline and general property tax paid, and likewise in 33 counties the State spent more money in new construction of highways than the total amount collected for the three taxes.

NATION'S CLOCKS TO BE REPLACED

New Timepieces to Have Some Novel Features.

Washington.—In three airtight glass cases in Washington are the three master clocks which, of all clocks in the United States, run with the least variation. Maintained by and kept in the United States Naval Observatory, they are the timepieces by which the nation lives, moves and has its being; they are the standard by which we set each watch and clock throughout the United States. Now, after many years, new clocks are to be installed in the observatory.

A Munich clock-maker named Riefler is the maker of the standard clocks now in use. Riefler's clocks derive their accuracy from the manner in which the pendulum is attached. In ordinary clocks the pendulum is attached to springs in the rigid clock frame. In Riefler's clocks, however, it is attached to springs connected to small tables which rock back and forth slightly. Electro magnets wind the springs every 30 seconds.

The new standard clocks which, according to Capt. C. S. Freeman, superintendent of the observatory, will be purchased soon include devices aimed at an accuracy superior to that of all other clocks. Known as "Short" clocks, they are constructed with the idea of freeing the pendulum of the job of unlocking the escapement. To do this, a secondary or "slave" clock is used which releases an impulse lever. Although the arrangement is complex, a high degree of perfection has been reached. The pendulum swings once every minute.

Taking care of the nation's timepieces involves an accurate care. The airtight cases holding them are kept in a double vault with automatic temperature control. Year in and year out the temperature in the vault is kept constant within one-tenth of one degree centigrade. Once a week the temperature vault is entered for inspection.

Any variation in the clocks is carefully recorded, since the hands are adjusted to the correct time only when overhauls are made—every four years. Wires running to various parts of the observatory grounds make it possible to keep check on the ticks in the time room and in the various telescopes.

European Gull Flies

Over Atlantic Ocean

Boston, Mass.—A lone flyer has apparently conquered the perilous westward traverse of the North Atlantic ocean, previously accomplished by only two craft, the German monoplane Bremen and the mighty Graf Zeppelin.

A European black headed gull, the first of its species ever recorded in North America, was found consorting with native gulls at Newburyport on the north shore several weeks ago.

Ornithologists could offer no more logical explanation for the bird's presence here than that it winged its way over the Atlantic, succeeding where Nungesser, Coll, Izickowski, and other brave aviators had failed.

They believed the gull might have been driven out to sea in a gale and pointed out that it was not one of a maritime species which follow vessels for days.

The gull has been captured and placed on exhibition at the Museum of Natural History here.

Old Indian Fighter, 104,

Enjoys Ride in Airplane

Elko, Nev.—Jim Mulligan enjoyed all the thrills of Indian fighting and other experiences of the early West, but he lived 104 years before he worked up enough courage to take an airplane ride. He celebrated his one hundred and fourth birthday with a ride in the skies, and he declared that thrill surpassed all others of his life. "We could have raised Ned with the Indians if we had one of these," he shouted to the pilot.

Indestructible Money

Paris.—A Swiss scientist, M. U. Schoop, has announced a method of making paper money which cannot be destroyed. His process consists of treating the paper pulp with a coating of tin. This coating, applied by an atomizer, is broken up into minute particles, thus giving the paper a flexibility and protection against tearing and burning.

The letter was dated December 5, 1826, and conveyed the sorrow of the American novelist at the news of the death of the Lafayette's son-in-law.

Pulmotor Squad Saves

Young Man Thought Dead

Seattle.—Into the land of death—and back.

That was the experience of John Abbenhous, seventeen-year-old automobile mechanic, who owes his life to the tireless efforts of a fire department rescue squad.

Young Abbenhous was overcome by carbon monoxide gas from an automobile on which he was working.

For hours he lay as dead until he was found slumped down in the front of the car by M. Dannwig, manager of the garage.

Although rescue appeared hopeless, an inhalator crew of truck company No. 10, directed by Fire Capt. Joseph R. Cook and Lieut. James Carey, went to work on the unconscious form. For more than an hour and a half they labored over him without the slightest sign of returning life.

Then, almost imperceptibly, the still body began a labored breathing. Life had won over death.

Radio Device "Saves"

London in Secret Raid

London.—Secret air maneuvers employing a new radio device have been carried on over London for the last two weeks by the full fighting complement of Royal Air Force planes. It is revealed. So effective was the defense that the attacking squadron broke through only once.

London now possesses virtually an impenetrable air protection, according to experts.

The British high command directed attempts to bomb the city and all nearby air centers were at full defensive strength to resist the invasion. For the first time a mysterious instrument of intercommunication between air and land bases was used, according to reports, speeding up the auxiliary land preparations as well as coordinating movements of planes.

Find X-Ray Cure

Vienna.—While taking X-ray photographs of abnormal children to ascertain whether their skulls were deformed, Viennese X-ray specialists discovered that the rays themselves caused both the mental and physical condition of the children to improve, the rays apparently having penetrated through the skull to the brain with beneficial results.

Eight countries in the world still have no railroads.

ARMY ASKS BIDS ON SIX FIGHTING TANKS

Wants Powerful But Light Armored Machines.

Washington, D. C.—Six fighting tanks of a type far superior to the World war machines with which the army now is equipped will be acquired by the War department within the next few months. Letters asking manufacturers to bid on contracts for constructing the new tanks and an armored car were sent out at the direction of Gen. Charles P. Summerall, army chief of staff. Delivery of these vehicles will give the army its first service-protected tanks since World war days.

The new machines will be modeled on the Christie combined wheel and track laying tank and armored car demonstrated to the army and members of congress last summer. The specifications call for tanks protected against projectiles from the service rifle. The armored car is to be protected by armor plate against steel jacketed bullets.

Speed and Stability Sought
The new machines are to be seven times as fast as the World war light tanks and will have at least four times as much fire power. They will have far greater mobility of action and more stability. Whereas World war tanks had to be overhauled every eighty miles, the new Christie vehicles are expected to travel more than 500 miles before needing repairs. They will travel on solid rubber tires on hard roads and on caterpillar tracks across country.

The specifications call for tanks which can travel 40 miles an hour over roads and 30 miles an hour over fields. They will have four speeds forward and one in reverse. They also must be able to operate at one mile an hour. The tanks will have eight wheels, be from 17 to 20 feet long, and have spring suspension tracks. Protection will be provided by nickel steel plating from one-half to five-eighths of an inch in thickness. Eighty-gallons of gas will be carried in specially protected tanks.

Engines to Be in Rear.
Because of trouble experienced with tanks not providing proper visibility for the drivers, the War department has directed that the new machines be built with the engine in the rear and the driver's place in front. The specifications call for a turret built so that the gunner can fire in any direction except directly up. A 37 millimeter semi-automatic, weapon capable of 30 to 40 rounds a minute and a 30 caliber machine gun will be installed in each tank.

Before being accepted the new tanks must show ability to cross ditches three feet in depth, climb a 35 degree dirt slope without detachable gears, and display ability to go through barbed wire. They must also run 100 miles on hard roads in eight successive hours.

Marriage Commissioner

Named by Richmond, Va.

Richmond, Va.—J. E. Binford Peay is Richmond's new marriage commissioner, succeeding the late "Parson" James D. Lyle, who died recently at the age of eighty-nine. Lyle succeeded "Parson" James Madison Macon, the first to hold the office. Macon was appointed to the post 20 years ago by the late Judge Sam Witt of Hastings court, for accommodation of couples regularly ordained ministers refused to marry because one or the other had been divorced.

"Parson" Macon advertised widely that he specialized in marrying divorced people. As a result, he did a land office business of matrimony.

"Parson" Lyle was more conservative, doing little advertising. He was the last survivor of a Richmond military company which did guard duty at Charles Town, W. Va., when John Brown, abolitionist, was hanged.

An Elopement Cure

Crops Up in Nagasaki

Nagasaki, Japan.—Because a young inspector of the Kobe customs house eloped with the wife of a millionaire brewer, local customs officials have ordered all young men in the service to have their hair cropped. Girls will not fall in love with young men with shaved heads, the customs chief believes.

Lost Glass Eye Used by

Boys as Marble Target

Brockton, Mass.—William T. P. Nelson, well known local character, lost his glass eye while being forcibly arrested for drunkenness recently, and when he again sighted the false optic it was target in a game of marbles. The youngsters who found the glass eye had won 500 marbles with it. Nelson redeemed it with a piece of silver.

Opentown—The romance of the

THE WAY WE MEET

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I'VE been "presented" many times to many folks in many climes, but I can't just recall today, just anyone I met that way. That is, not anyone, no doubt, I care so very much about. Or cares, as far as I can see, so very, very much for me.

It's strange, the people we recall. We never really "met" at all. For some we just were talking to, and knew before we hardly knew, and some we picked like picking flowers.

We liked their ways and they liked ours, and some our grief brought to our door and made them friends forevermore.

And so I never really fret if folks I've met or haven't met. If you're the kind I understand, I sort of like, then here's my hand. If I'm the kind, I hope that you will come right up and howdy-do. I've met a lot, all good friends now, but, my, I couldn't tell you how!

Why We Do What We Do

by M. E. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE HAVE A TEMPER

I KNOW only one man who does not seem to have a temper. I have known this man under all sorts of conditions. I have wintered and summered with him but I have never seen him ruffled. He is an exception I am sure. The overwhelming majority of human beings have temper.

Of course we do not all have the same kind of temper. Some have their temper pretty much under control and others let it get away with their judgment, while not a few apparently have no control at all.

Temper is usually regarded as an evil. But my calm and placid friend has taught me that the lack of temper may be a serious handicap. This man lacks the punch and pep that gives force and character to a normal personality. He is tasteless and colorless, like ginger with the taste of sawdust.

Temper, like all other inborn human traits of disposition, is a necessary ingredient of personality, but like any other ingredient there must be just the right amount—not too much or not too little. It is the abuse or the extreme display of temper that is bad as is the extreme of any trait likely to end in disaster.

Temper was more useful to our savage ancestors than it is to us, and yet we cannot dispense with it.

Temper under control is like a dynamo. It drives the personality and aids him to make something of himself. We have temper because on occasion we need to be aroused from our indifference and really to something violent, something strong and effective, something that will call forth every ounce of strength in our body.

Temper is violent because it needs to be for the purposes for which it was intended. It is too useful to eliminate or to let run wild. We need better and stronger tempers constantly under leash and harnessed to will and personality.

THE HOOPSMUH DEER

THE hoopsmuh deer, which formerly was quite plentiful around Jackson's Hole, Wyo., is named from the peculiar whooping-cough sound with which it calls its young. The fawns, imitating the hoopsnakes found in the vicinity, pass the time by taking their tails in their mouths and whirling at an amazing speed. Hunters become so dizzy that they fall to hit them, but by the time the tails are worn off, the adult deer, not having learned to be wary, fall an easy prey to the hunters.

We are here shown one of the few tailless adult deer that has survived, having single and double peanuts for head and body. Ears are popcorn and horns are cloves, and the legs are made of toothpicks. The parts are fastened together with chewing gum.

FIRE WALKING IS WIDELY PRACTICED

Queer Ceremonies Survive in Many Lands.

Washington.—"Amazement would appear on the face of the American hunter, fisherman, horseman or small boy, off for a day in the country, if he were confronted with a bold sign, 'No Fire-Walking Allowed on This Property,' as he often is with the 'No Trespassing' placard. This sort of a warning, however, will soon be placed on the gates and trees of Kedah, Malay peninsula," says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"This thriving city of Kedah with its population of more than 350,000 persons was destroyed by fire in 1611 and again in 1770. With that background of incendiaryism, a majority of the rubber planters have voted to abolish fire-walking ceremonies on their estates.

Where Practice Persists.

"Fire-walking survives in many areas, notably in Polynesia, Bulgaria, Fiji Islands, Japan, the straits settlements and India.

"Natives believe fire ceremonies have enabled sick men and beasts to walk, have saved souls, annihilated spiritual foes and made the sun shine. The details of the ritual and its objects vary in different lands, but one controlling idea remains, that the priests, fakirs and devotees pass barefoot over heated stones or ashes.

"The Persian fire-worshipping religion is older than Christianity, yet is now confined to the Parsis of Bombay and one or two small groups in Persia. Even today putting out a candle requires care and respect. An eastern Armenian who would bathe at night scares the malignant occupants of the lake or pool by casting a flaming torch into it.

"In the Fiji Islands, the fibrous roots of the dracena tree are thrown into a crudely-built oven to bake, and this procedure is the occasion of a fire festival. The roots are baked on the hot stones for four days to extract sugar from them. At the moment the roots are placed on the stones a chosen few jump into the oven and walk amid the tongues of flame playing about their feet. Similar ceremonies are practiced in the Marquesas Island, Tahiti and the West Indian island of Trinidad.

Charred Wood Fed to Cattle.

"In the time of Kublai Khan, the Taoist Buddhists of China held festivals honoring the 'High Emperor of Sombre Heavens,' and, preceded by priests, walked barefoot through fires, bearing images of their gods. The procession passed thrice through the furnace. The populace carried off charred bits of wood to pound and add to the food of their cattle, believing that it fattened them.

"The sun god is feted by the Hindus of South India at the Feast of the Ingathering. Much ado is made in the hope of awakening him. Every street and lane has its fire. Young folk jump and leap over the flames and pile on fresh fuel, believing that they help rekindle the sun's light and heat. The festival lasts 18 days and on the last day a procession bearing images of gods passes over a furnace trench 40 feet long. The natives smear their bodies with saffron, and their heads are crowned with flowers. Some walk faster than others over the embers, according to their degree of religious fervor.

"The Kanda quarter of Tokyo formerly was the scene of a fire-walk twice each year. In a court of a temple a large bed of charcoal was covered with a deep layer of straw. The straw ignited, blazed up, and died down, leaving a bed of hot charcoal. Priests dressed in white cotton robes walked calmly down the middle of the fire on salt-covered feet."

Cape Hatteras Claims

Three-Masted Vessel

Ocracoke, N. C.—Cape Hatteras has claimed another victim in the three-masted schooner Levinia M. Snow, pushed into the breakers and onto the beach by a "sou'easter."

The vessel will never sail the seas again. It has been sold for $450 to four Hatteras residents, who bid it in at auction.

Capt. John A. Stevens, the master, has returned to his home in Rockland, Maine, where the craft was built 37 years ago.

A coast guard cutter from Norfolk attempted to remove the Levinia M. Snow, but failed. The captain and his crew of five men were rescued by means of a breeches buoy.

The vessel will be stripped by its present owners.

Making Ford Steel Is Dramatic Process

This scene from the motion picture of a tour through the Ford plant shows one of the huge ladles from which molten steel is poured into the ingot moulds to be formed into ingots.

The moulds can be seen on the little cars made up into what the steel workers call "buggy trains." A train takes the entire heat from an open hearth furnace to the soaking pit building where a crane lifts the ingots from the moulds four at a time.

The motion picture, which depicts the manufacture of the Ford from the production of raw materials to the finished car, is being exhibited in the Ford show.

Tramp (who has just received a piece of pie for sawing some wood):
Madam! Do you mind if I saw the pie and eat some of that wood?

Smith: I sent my wife to the mountains for the holidays.
Smithers: What holidays?
Smith: Mine!

"Oh, see the troop of rangers!"
"Those aren't rangers; they're only farmers."
"But they range from large to small!"

Customer: I'd like some rat poison, please.
Clerk: Will you take it with you?
Customer: No, I'll send the rats over after it.

Bandit: One more crack outa yuh and I'll fill yuh fulla lead.
Victim: Sorry, but my name is Penn, not Pencil.

"I understand this car has a front wheel drive."
"Yes, they had to get it away from these back seat drivers."

"The result of using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for a dreadful cough that bothered me both day time and at nights was a restful one for me," says Mrs. Anne Davison, Long Beach, Calif. State News in Brief Bad Axe—Albert Fabner, of Pinebog, was seriously cut and bruised, when his tractor ran over him while he was fixing it in a field. Fabner is expected to recover.

Muskegon—A coffee can key which he swallowed while playing, was removed from the stomach of Hector C. Grant, Jr., 6 years old, by surgeons who operated on the child at a local hospital. The boy will recover.

Detroit—Approval was given by the Federal Radio commission to the application of the Detroit police department to shift its police radio wave length from 3,166 to 2,410 kilocycles. Authority to continue operating on 3,166 kilocycles for emergency purposes during the next 15 days also was granted.

Shelby—Plans are being made for a Sweet Cherry Festival to be held here the latter part of July. The date will not be set until it is known when the sweet cherries will be in their prime. While the most important fruit crop of Oceana County is sour cherries, the county also has thousands of trees of sweet cherries.

Merrill—The Saginaw County sheriff's office is seeking the hit-and-run driver who killed Ervin Morey, Gratiot County farmer, two miles northwest of here. Morey and De Forest Snyder, of Merrill, were on their way to summon help after the latter's automobile had broken down. Morey was struck from behind. He leaves a wife and five children.

Houghton—A joint committee representing Houghton and Keweenaw Counties has completed its survey of the site of the new two-county airport and grading work will be begun soon. The field to be located at Laurium on a site recommended by a Federal inspector. The grounds have been staked out for two runways in the shape of an L. Each is 1,320 feet long and 200 feet wide.

Bloomfield Hills—From now on, whenever J. F. Roberts, an archery fan, picks up his arrow after a shot, he is going to stop, look and listen. Roberts recently shot at a distant target on the Will-O-Way Farm course and when he went to get his arrow he found it had pinned a snake to the ground. The Will-O-Way is 1 1/2 miles west of Bloomfield Center on Long Shore road, and archers meet there weekly on Sunday to pursue their sport.

Lansing—Permanent licenses were granted to eight Michigan airports by the Michigan Board of Aeronautics. They went to the Matheson Airport, Detroit; the Saunders, Cadillac; the Ransom, Traverse City; the Trepanier, Ludington; the Grand Haven, Grand Haven; the Lake Shore Airways Field, Muskegon; and the Michigan Airway Field, East Lansing. Permanent licenses now are held by 36 fields. Temporary licenses have been issued to 68.

Lansing—The first official move by the city to acquire an airport was taken by the city council when a temporary lease from the State Administrative Board of the State-owned airport west of Lansing was ordered drawn and returned to the council for approval. If approved, the next Legislature will be asked to give the city a permanent lease. The airport at present is being operated under a State license in the name of a Lansing aviation firm.

Alpena—Because Alpena does not have a good landing field, Ed Dunn had to tow his new airplane all the way from Fort Wayne, Ind., to Alpena behind his auto. Dunn removed the wings from his light two-place ship, fastened them to the top of his auto and attached the tail of the plane to the rear of his car for the long drive. Since then he has been able to do some flying from a fairly level field 11 miles west of here. An airport is to be built near the city soon.

Hillsdale—Word has been received here of the death of Prof. Eric P. Jackson, at Grenoble, France, where he was on a year's leave of absence from Hillsdale College doing research work at the Sorbonne and the University of Grenoble, under an American Field Service Fellowship awarded in 1929. Prof. Jackson was returning from a trip and was riding on a motor truck when a huge boulder crashed down the mountain side and onto the truck, killing four persons.

Plainwell—Stephen Witter Dunwell, 87 years old, a pupil of James A. Garfield, who later became President of the United States, at Hiram College, in Ohio, died here recently. Dunwell had as prized possessions several class reports signed by Garfield. Dunwell, born in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, and Garfield were reared in adjoining districts and were well acquainted prior to their connection with the institution. Dunwell moved to Michigan in 1865. He had been a Mason since 1864.

Lansing—Purchase of 36 life boats to be stationed at all State-supervised bathing beaches will be recommended to the State Administrative Board as the major item in a drive to prevent fatalities this summer. P. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of State parks, announced. The boats will be equipped with life lines and rings and two pairs of oars. The boat, conspicuously marked, will be placed close to the shore for emergency purposes. Use of them for anything but lifesaving purposes will be a violation of the law.

SUPERSTITIONS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Sophie saw the new moon over her left shoulder the other night, and she has been restless and unhappy ever since. It never would have happened so if she had only realized that there was a new moon, but she had been busy, and the nights had been cloudy, and she had neglected to look at the calendar, and here she had done a thing that was sure to bring ill luck upon her. She was worried. Sophie is an intelligent girl, who has been to college, and she is not at all superstitious she avers, but to see the new moon over her left shoulder does just give her a chill. And why shouldn't it?

Simpkins has no superstitions either. He doesn't believe that if it rains on Easter Sunday we can expect rain on seven successive first days of the week. He would just as lief walk under a ladder as not, and black cats running across his path give him no cold chills. He laughs when anyone walks around his chair to bring himself good luck in a card game, but he knows perfectly well that if he doesn't plant his potatoes in the dark of the moon—or maybe it is the light of the moon; anyway it is one or the other—the crop will surely be a failure. You can believe it or not, but he has seen it happen too many times to give it no credence.

Gordon with his family rides out in his automobile every pleasant Sunday. He plays golf on occasion after he has been to the morning church service, but when his neighbor, who was behind with his spring work, finished sowing his oats on Sunday Gordon knew that the crop would be a failure, as it was. His own crop was no better, but there were other and sufficient reasons for his failure. When you do a thing like that you are sure to pay dearly for it later.

Drake gives laborious and careful attention to these imbecile chain letters that every one, I suppose, gets which purport to have been started by Colonel Lindbergh or President Coolidge or the Mayor of Pesotum, because he fears the calamities which are promised to those who break the chain and throw that sort of time waster into the discard. He doesn't see how it can bring disaster, but he is just a little afraid to risk it, though he asserts with real feeling that he is in no sense superstitious.

As for myself, I get no sensation excepting one of awkwardness when I spill the salt on the tablecloth—I always break the chain when asked to "write this message to nine of your friends" even though the King of England has initiated the menace, and I never expect anything to happen. If I were contemplating a second marriage, Friday or the thirteenth of the month or both together would not daunt me. When I start to do a thing and have to turn back, however, I always sit down; not because I am superstitious but just because it does seem a little safer.
