EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1930.

NUMBER 27

Primary School Fund Boosted

INCREASE FOR YEAR WILL BE $3,000,000 OVER THAT OF 1929.

(From Petoskey News)
Lansing, July 1.—The State of Michigan completed its fiscal year yesterday with a cash balance in all funds of $37,271,307, an increase of $5,200,972 over last year, State Treasurer Frank McKay reported.

Yesterday's collections, principally in specific taxes paid by large utilities operating in the State, reached a record total for a single day when the treasury received $12,860,580.

From the $5,200,000 increase, however, approximately $3,000,000 must be subtracted as the normal increase in the primary school fund which must be paid over to the counties this fall for educational purposes. Yesterday's figures showed the primary school fund total at $24,100,074.

At the close of the fiscal year yesterday afternoon the general fund was "in the red" $738,358 but the deficit was more than made up by credits from the special funds. A year ago the general fund was in the red $1,323,543. The majority of the rotary funds this year showed deficits.

The soldiers bonus bond retirement fund was reported with $2,952,008 to its credit and the highway bond sinking fund was $2,597,288. The report also shows $2,395,804 in gas tax receipts and $2,260,034 in weight taxes, a portion of which must be returned to the counties before the close of the year. The only special fund in the red was the highway fund with a deficit of $20,525.

Of the rotary funds which show deficits are the State prison industries "in the red" $370,544; Michigan State Institute for the Blind, $34,248; assessment district road fund, $50,914; Chelsea cement plant $752,725; Michigan State Fair, $217,536; and Upper Peninsula Fair, $102,965.

Motorists Pay More
Michigan motorists paid $336,978 more to the State for automobile licenses during the first six months of 1930 than they did in the same period last year, John S. Haggerty, Secretary of State, announced today. The number of passenger autos licensed, however, declined 8,520.

Receipts this year for the six month period totalled $20,314,131 and were for licenses used on 1,288,820 vehicles. During the first six months of 1929 licenses were issued for 1,292,811 vehicles. Of this year's registration, 1,098,240 has been passenger cars.

The State has received during the first half of 1930 in weight tax collections $15,298,246 on passenger cars and $578,450 on commercial vehicles alone.

Promoters Offering Fraudulent Stocks in New Ford Companies

A warning against fraudulent brokers and promoters who are offering stock in foreign Ford motor companies has been issued by the Better Business Bureau of Detroit in conjunction with the National Better Business Bureau and affiliated offices throughout the United States and Canada.

Relying on the goodwill and integrity of the Ford name, thousands of persons throughout the country have purchased stocks which either turned out to be spurious or were not delivered at all, the warning said. There is no way of estimating the financial loss involved.

"There are a number of fraudulent concerns in various parts of the country that represent themselves as brokerage houses and that offer stocks in various foreign Ford companies," the statement from the Better Business Bureau said.

"Several of these companies sell on the partial payment plan. They offer stock for stipulated down payment and a fixed sum per month. Before the final payment becomes due and before the stock is delivered to the purchaser, the company goes out of business and its officers disappear only to begin operations at another place and under another name.

"Stocks of the Ford Motor Company of England, Ltd., and the Ford Motor Company of France are listed on the New York Curb market and the prices at which they are currently selling are printed in the financial pages of the newspapers. Nevertheless many persons are being led by unscrupulous brokers to pay far in excess of the market prices.

"The majority of stock brokers, of course, are honest. Our warning is directed solely against the fraudulent concerns that carry on their fleecing of the public under the guise of reputable concerns. Anyone contemplating the purchase of stocks should first consult his local Better Business Bureau or bank."—Mancelona Herald.

Chief Weikel had spent many years in Charlevoix County, being its first deputy sheriff at East Jordan, and in public life for over half a century. When he failed to answer his telephone, friends broke into the house and found him dead.

In addition to being in police work he was active in fraternal circles and in Northern Michigan politics. CUT-OVER LAND WILL PRODUCE BEEF HERDS

Sections of Michigan cut-over lands where sweet clover and alfalfa can be grown for winter forage are suitable areas for the production of beef calves, according to members of the animal husbandry department of Michigan State College.

The Michigan producer of feeder calves has the advantages of being near good markets for this class of stock. The cut-over sections have abundant rainfall and there is more natural protection for the cattle than on the western ranges. The Michigan land will carry more cattle per acre than much of the western range.

Beef cows can be carried through the winter in good condition by feeding only alfalfa or sweet clover hay. This furnishes a market for this forage and makes it possible to carry the cow herd at a low feed cost. Figures compiled by the U. S. Department of agriculture show that beef cows can be kept through a year at a cost of 25 to 35 dollars each by wintering them on legume hay.

Beef calves should be dropped in the spring and they can be marketed as feeders in the fall or, if grain is available, they can be finished and sold as baby beef. It is also possible to carry the steers through the winter on alfalfa, run on grass the next summer, and market in the fall.

BEEF TRUCK ATTRACTS LARGE ATTENDANCE

One of the most interesting demonstrations, as well as instructive, conducted this year was the visit of the Beef Truck last Monday, June 23.

The forty-five people in attendance, in the majority of cases, had their first opportunity of seeing high class representatives of the different beef breeds. No doubt, the highest quality bull was Aberdeen Angus, and was good enough to show at any Fair. A large number of charts and other illustrated material was used by Mr. LaVoi, the main speaker, in bringing out the many points in his talk on the beef situation.

Of great interest to all was the weight guessing contest, which everyone was eligible to try their luck at. A $2.00 prize was awarded the person guessing most closely the correct weight of the five animals on the truck, and a $1.00 prize to those who came the nearest to the actual weight of the four bulls. Earl Ruhling of East Jordan was the lucky one to receive the $2.00 prize. John Struthers of Charlevoix won a dollar on the Aberdeen Angus, T. J. Smith, Boyne City, on the Shorthorn Bull, and Wm. Shapton, Charlevoix won on both the Hereford and Milking Shorthorn.

Several farmers are highly interested in buying good representatives of the beef breeds, and as a result of this demonstration we expect to have three or four bulls in use in the county, which will go a long way toward improving the beef cattle.

Adrian—Without a record vote, the Lenawee County board of supervisors adopted a recommendation of the county road commission for a holiday in road improvement to extend through 1931. Reasons for the recommendation are agricultural depression and high taxes. The board rejected a proposal for a pavement to be laid this year along the west shore of Devils Lake and took steps to rescind previous action for a pavement from Addison to Devils Lake, to be laid in 1931.

Lansing—When forest fire wardens answered a call to the banks of the Manistee river, they found a deserted fishing camp, burned. The tent was in ashes. Two fish rods and reels were scorched. A pan of fish and a pan of beans over the abandoned camp fire had been charred to cinders. Two anglers, frightened when their camp fire got out of their control just as they were preparing a meal, ran away. The fire they had permitted to start burned over 10 acres before it was placed under control.

Lansing—Michigan was one of the four states in the registration area showing an increase in the number of births last year, according to statistics issued by the census bureau at Washington, D. C. The other three states were Arizona, Montana, and Tennessee. The number of births reported for Michigan in 1929 was 99,136, compared with 97,797 in 1928. Deaths reported were 56,118, compared with 54,794 the previous year. There was a lowering in the infant mortality rate from 69.4 per thousand births to 66.4.

Big Air Circus Will Be Held Sunday, July 13

EVENT IS SECOND ANNUAL MICHIGAN AIR TOUR DAY AT EMMET AIRPORT.

The greatest air circus in history will pay a visit to the Emmet county airport on Sunday, July 13, remaining there 24 hours and giving the most thrilling exhibition of stunt, exhibition flying and passenger carrying ever witnessed there. Assurance of this was given recently to the Petoskey-Harbor Springs committee at its session at Hotel Wagoning. At this meeting plans for entertaining the tour passengers and officials who may want to get away from the field Sunday afternoon and evening, were made.

Most of the hundred pilots and mechanics will remain at the field all day and evening. The sixty or more planes will be on exhibition and the crowds will be allowed to inspect them, and the pilots and mechanics will explain the good points of each. It is expected that there will be no two planes alike. All of them will take to the air during the day, giving the crowds thrills such as they never before witnessed. The admission to the field is to be free and automobile parking at the field will be handled by the Michigan State police. A charge for parking the cars will be made to cover cost of the day's program. The parking ticket is for the entire 24 hours and the car may come and go as often as the party desires.

The runways on the field are to be leveled up and the landing circle painted and put in condition for the big day and the rest of the season. The information bureau will be at the field house on the north side of the field. An Indian village also will be installed there as a part of the entertainment program.

Those who want to see the world famous Lake Shore drive will be given that opportunity. It is expected the passengers and tour officials may want to get down for a ground ride and spend a few hours on this great drive. They will be taken to Cross Village and back over the same route, cars being supplied them free by the Petoskey-Harbor Springs committee.

A barbecue lunch will be served the touring party and pilots at noon at the field, according to plans made last week. The guests will be housed at the hotels of the two places for Sunday night and for their Sunday dinner and Monday breakfast. It appears likely that all of the hotels will have their quota of these guests.

At last week's meeting the committee of business men headed by Manager Davis of the hotel, discussed for some time permanent improvements at the landing field and the future of aviation. It was agreed the field should receive considerable attention from the county as a whole and that good runways should be constructed soon and other improvements made.

The field is now used more extensively than any other airport in Northern Michigan.

"HOLD EVERYTHING" AT TEMPLE THEATRE

Those who have applauded the dance routines in the successful musical comedy Vitaphone hit, "Gold Diggers of Broadway," will have an opportunity to again judge of the graceful expertness of a Hollywood chorus when Warner Bros. production, "Hold Everything," goes on view at the Temple Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, July 9-10. For the dance presentations in both the "Gold Diggers" and the new motion picture are the work of Larry Ceballos, a young South American who has become one of the best known improvisors of ensembles and ballets in the United States.

OLD-TIMER RECALLS STAGE COACH DAYS

Says 72 Miles 8 Hours Was Hard Work

Glacier Park, Mont.—Jack Brown, veteran Glacier park guide, used to "drive" on a western stagecoach line in the days of horse-drawn vehicles and he gives some interesting information about life in the West in those days. He says:

"When I came to Montana it was a territory and travel, of course, was all either by horseback or by the old horse stagecoach. All these coaches were Concord, drawn by six horses. We lived on the old Holiday line. The coaches ran night and day from Helena to Corrine, Utah. As a boy I used to mingle with the drivers a good deal and when I was twelve years old I could pull the ribbons on a six better'n a green hand.

Changed Horses Often. "My first job at stage driving was on the old Allard line in 1891. We used to make the round trip, Ravalli to Polson Landing, which was seventy-two miles, in eight and one-half hours. We changed horses four times. That may look slow to automobile drivers today, but when you've sat perched up on one of those high coaches that are nearly all bronchos, you'll find that the motorist at a wheel has a pretty easy time of it.

"I never was held up while driving stage, but I've had my piano players up several times in my life in the West and I know how it goes. I know that it's an occasion when even a woman wouldn't argue much.

"One time when driving stage I had a lady riding up on top with me, and she said: 'Mister Driver, how is it you've got such a ruddy complexion?' I just kicked a bottle of Old Crow from under a mail sack at my feet and said: 'There's the paint I use, lady.' It was rather a chilly day and I found that I had to paint her face several times before we got in. It just showed that all good drinking people in the West in those days weren't stage drivers. However, all good stage drivers were good drinking men. Seemed like it was the qualifications to drink, hold yer head and the horses, as they used to say facetiously.

Horses Still Have Place. "Of course, the horse is out of date now in most places, but I still find lots of places in the old West where a good saddle horse is the best means of travel. Bad roads and trails have no terrors for the old cow pony. We had some good ones in the old cattle days in Montana. I rode one horse eighty-two miles in one day once. I guess even Teddy Roosevelt would've admitted that was too much for one horse, but when the sheriff don't like a fellow it makes it necessary to leave lots of country behind you. I made that ride in nine hours. I suppose the motorist of today would laugh at that as slow driving, but I swear I thought I got along at a lively clip.

"In the earlier frontier days of freer personal liberties the cowpunchers didn't think anything of riding forty miles across country to a dance. And we took the girls along with us. Guess they must've been tough girls, because I know now, when guiding tourists through Glacier Park in the summer time, after some of 'em have ridden nine miles they're ready to eat their supper off'n the mantel. But, then, these are automobile riding days and not many people are used to horseback riding."

Fountain Pen Pistol Rouses Gotham Police

New York.—An innocent-appearing fountain pen pistol found on a Chinese could be converted into one of the deadliest of short range weapons by substituting a lead bullet for the tear gas cartridge the pistol was designed to shoot, Detective Harry Butts, police-department ballistics expert, reported to Commissioner Whalen and Chief Inspector O'Brien, after an experiment.

A 38-calibre lead slug fired by the pistol was split in half, lengthwise, by a steel wire in the tube. At one foot the halves tore through a board seven-eighths of an inch thick. The effect was that of a dum-dum bullet, for the holes were larger at the point of exit. The holes were three inches apart.

The bullet is projected by a powerful spring. The wire is intended to break the gas cartridge, releasing its contents.

The pen-pistol is manufactured in Chicago, and sells for $7.50. Police intimated they would attempt to have the weapon barred from New York.

The pistol in the test was found on Yee Kim, who was arrested in the Bronx on March 15 by Detective Herman Rave. Detective Butts will demonstrate the gun in Bronx special sessions, when Yee Kim goes on trial.

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

THE CENSUS

THE census which is being taken this year by the federal government will be more than a mere counting of noses. Twenty-four questions are asked of each person, among which the most interesting are: "Do you own your own home?" "Have you a radio?" "What is your age?" "When were you married?" "What is your occupation?" "Are you now employed?" When the figures are all compiled they will furnish most interesting and valuable information regarding many questions upon which public opinion seems to differ.

It has been estimated that in addition to the regular staff of 3,000 persons employed by the United States census bureau 100,000 persons will have been employed before the census is completed and the cost will be about forty million dollars. The first announcement will come about June first and will be a statement of the population. The task of tabulating all the information will take several years.

In the office of the census bureau at Washington there is a clock which records the estimated increase in population—"One birth every thirteen seconds, one death every twenty-three seconds, one immigrant entering the country every one and one-half minutes and one emigrant leaving the country every five minutes. The increase in population is one every thirty-three seconds."

The total population which the census will record has been estimated at 120 million. This will be an increase of about ten to fifteen million during the last ten years. The national bureau of economic research estimates that between 1909 and 1914 the increase was about eight million and between 1923 and 1925 about seven million. The rate of increase according to these figures would be about a million and a half a year.

President Hoover expressed the wish that every person would help to make the 1930 census a success. He said: "The values which flow from the census are of paramount importance from the point of view of both of economic advancement and of social determinations, and every person in this country has an interest in making it absolutely effective."

LAKE SUPERIOR MAY GET NATIONAL PARK

Apostle Islands Named in Bill Before Congress

Ashland, Wis., group of islands, nestled like peaceful oases in a setting of natural drama on the edge of one of the most beautiful natural harbors in the world, may become the site of a new national park.

The islands, termed the Apostle group after a band of 12 rolicking brigands who called themselves "the apostles and who preyed upon lone couriers de bois on Chequamegon bay of Lake Superior in the early Seventeenth century, are as wild, rugged and beautiful as in the earliest days of Wisconsin's civilization.

Already the seats of hundreds of wealthy Americans who maintain summer homes upon Madeline Island, the largest of the group, the Apostles are to be made a national park if the efforts of Wisconsin citizens are successful in Congress.

Bill Pending in Congress.
A bill introduced by Congressman H. H. Peavey, Washburn, Wis., to establish a park, is pending before Congress now.

At La Pointe, the population center of the sparsely settled islands, the first known dwelling in Wisconsin for white men was erected about 1658. Two Frenchmen, Pierre Radisson and Medard Chouart de Crosselliers, built the log habitation and, according to the history of the region, "were delighted with the country and Radisson described its beauties with an eloquent pen."

"The country was so pleasant, so beautiful and fruitful that it grieved me to see that the world could not discover such enticing countries to live in," wrote the French explorer.

Converted Indians.
The French remained in the region, colonizing and establishing trading posts, converting the Indians to Christianity and extending the boundaries of the French empire in Wisconsin and Minnesota. The islands remained a center of this work, the trading post at La Pointe, occupying a strategic position in the French fur trade.

Later, when the British obtained the territory, Madeline and the other islands flourished as local centers of the vast Northwest fur trade.

La Pointe at one time was the county seat of Ashland county, losing its identity shortly after the founding of Ashland. It still remains a center of fishing, trapping and has a population of several hundred summer residents.

Several of the islands are uninhabited but possess rare natural beauty in the form of sandstone caves and rock formations, cut into queer and fantastic shape by the waters of Lake Superior.

Boston University Has Typewriter Orchestra

Boston.—Almost any day, if you stand within earshot of Boston university's college of practical arts and letters, you may hear a strange staccato rhythm, a novel interpretation of a currently popular tune.

Investigation will show that the weird melody, as fascinating as the dot-dash-dot of a telegraph instrument, emanates from what is probably the country's only typewriter orchestra.

Miss Elizabeth Carvell, instructor, inaugurated the plan recently "to demonstrate the elasticity of the method of using rhythm in typing."

While a phonograph plays, for example, "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," or some other tune that lends itself to touch system interpretation, the 14 "musicians" sit in orchestral formation and tap out an obbligato.

One group devotes its technique to clicking out the melody, another to hammering out the second part, while a third punches away at the bass. The ultimate effect is surprisingly rhythmic.

Model of Ex-Kaiser Is Target in Gallery

Trondhjem, Norway.—Trondhjem will be boycotted by German tourists unless the shooting gallery here ceases to use models of the ex-kaiser and the German crown prince as targets.

This step is threatened by the German Traveling association in a written protest demanding the demolition of the figures, but the populace of Trondhjem is having a good laugh, for investigation proved that the targets in question were made in Germany and exported to Norway.

Wife in Poorhouse, Husband Asks Divorce

Great Falls, Mont.—One of the most unusual divorce cases ever filed in a Montana court comes to issue when Solomon T. Niles, eighty-one-year-old Civil War veteran, attempts to secure legal separation from Mrs. Johanna G. Niles, seventy-nine, on the ground of desertion. The wife, forced to live in the poor farm, denies her husband's allegations. In her answer, she asks that her husband be compelled either to take her back or to provide for her.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

The City Underground

To me, one of the most fascinating tours of New York can be made for a nickel on the front platform of a subway train. From a front window the subway is not as dark as it appears farther back in the train, and there are numberless things to watch and puzzle over.

There are the signal lights, and the accompanying automatic blocks that prevent a train from colliding with another. Every so often there are illuminated boards with the letters SB on them. I tried for months to figure out what SB meant, but finally had to give up and asked some one. It means section break, and indicates to the motorman that one current supply ends and another begins there. I believe he is supposed to shut off his motors at this point.

At first—or even hundredth—glance it appears that every inch of the subway system is used. Platforms are jammed with waiting passengers, and no room is wasted.

New York's Speedway

Park avenue, one of the principal streets in New York running north and south through the heart of the city, is really a speedway. Broadened a few years ago, this thoroughfare carries most of the rush hour traffic and in order to speed it up the police insist on all cars driving at a very fast rate. "Therefore it is nothing unusual to see traffic moving through the center of New York at the rate of forty to forty-five miles an hour, without any protest from the police, but rather with encouragement."

About Manhattan

Last Sunday I took a six-hour walk of about twenty miles around Manhattan, starting on the fashionable upper east side and working down through the slums. The slums are dirty, right enough, and crowded. But all the children on the streets appear to be well-fed and are warmly clad. And there is no begging there. It wasn't until I reached Park avenue at the completion of my jaunt that beggars, clad worse than the slum dwellers, approached me.

Hope for Seafarers

That awful curse of the Twentieth century seafaring man, the ship's concert, may finally become a relic of the past, instead of a pest of the present. The word has got out that the United States lines, faced with strong competition for summer trade from new ships of other lines, have decided to take on a cabaret crew. And why not? Summer hotels have recently been enormously successful in hiring Broadway players as masters of ceremony and generals of social activity. The Broadway players, weary of tramping up and down looking for jobs that don't exist, welcome these opportunities to get away from it all. They will even take smaller salary than is customary for the opportunity of sporting around in flannel trousers and summer dresses at the more expensive resorts.

Big City Flashlights

A sign on Forty-first street: "Blank's Steer Sandwiches, 5 cents." . . . The curious crowd always gathered about a very bad taxidermy exhibit in a Greenwich Village window on Sixth avenue. . . . The gallant little figure of "Puck" still braving the elements in front of the old "Puck" building on Lafayette street. . . . The blinking owls that stand guard over New York university's downtown center on Washington square. . . . A crowd, standing in a pouring rain, watching a lightning sign-painter in a show window.

White Men Use Indian Lodge as Courthouse

Tishomingo, Okla.—The white man's law is enforced in the same old granite building here where the Indian chiefs of the Chickasaw tribe made laws to govern their people many years ago. The building, constructed of native granite taken from the quarries on Pennington river, once served as the capitol of the old Chickasaw nation. When state government replaced the territorial government the building was sold by the United States to Johnston county and it was converted into a courthouse.

WORTH MILLION AND FORGETS IT

Someone Fails to Claim Fortune in England

London.—Could you forget that you had a million dollars? Someone in England has, and the sum total of fortunes that he and others have "overlooked" amounts to $20,000,000.

This vast sum lies in the hands of the officials of the national exchequer, which every year benefits to the extent of approximately $1,000,000 by the failure of an army of stockholders to claim the interest on their government stock.

That this figure is underestimated is admitted by the officials of the exchequer. It is done so purposely to avoid a flood of spurious claims. The present practice of the Bank of England is to wait until one claimant appears for a hitherto unclaimed stock, and then advertise for all other claimants to the same stock.

One reason that people forget such valuable property is that many stockholders go abroad and are never heard from again. Then there are aged or ailing persons, who forget that they possess stock, and there are the hundreds of persons, who when they die, neglect to leave any mention of their possessions.

A claim recently brought out the fact that an English woman, who had died at Marseilles at the age of ninety-eight, was entitled to $280,000 in stocks, and $100,000 in accumulated dividends, yet she had been constantly borrowing from her relatives.

The finance act of 1921 gives to the national exchequer all dividends unclaimed after five years, although the stocks remain in the holders' names for another ten years.

Dr. Carter to Seek Tomb of Alexander the Great

London.—Howard Carter, archeologist and discoverer of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, plans to embark on his most sensational exploit—search for the tomb and body of Alexander the Great.

Upon completion of his work at the sepulchre of Tut-Ankh-Amen in Egypt he said in an interview with the Daily Mail, he will proceed with the infinitely more difficult attempt to find the resting place of the young man who came out of Macedonia to conquer the entire known world of 22 centuries ago.

Alexander died at Babylon in 323 B. C., but one of his greatest generals, the satrap Ptolemy I, later ruler of Egypt, contrived to procure the body and is said to have given it burial in a golden coffin at Alexandria. The discovery of his tomb, Carter believes, would far overshadow in importance the finding of Tut-Ankh-Amen's last resting place.

"According to Plutarch," he said, "the exact position of Alexander's tomb in Alexandria was unknown. However, it may possibly be found in one of the royal cemeteries, but I anticipate a long, difficult and expensive search."

The preliminary work, he said, will consist of probing the ground by sinking tubes and shafts, then working toward the center of the supposed royal cemetery.

Regarding Tut-Ankh-Amen, Carter admits there is still much work to be done, although he hopes to remove four great shrines from the tomb in October, when the Egyptian excavation season begins.

Hardy Constitutions of Dogs Seen in Operations

London.—The cat is not the only member of the animal family which has nine lives. Through scientific aid and operations, the dog is now enjoying several lives. Many operations performed in the Royal Veterinary college have saved the lives of numerous canines which ordinarily would have expired. A recent operation was performed on a greyhound with a dislocated neck. Shortly afterward the dog resumed its racing. At the college dogs have been provided with false teeth and limbs and even rejuvenating operations have been performed on them.

Times Certainly Have Changed in Forty Years

Kansas City, Mo.—There has been a change of views in the last 40 years. The following item appeared 40 years ago in a Kansas City newspaper: "A peculiar incident happened at the public library today. A young woman reading a periodical at one of the tables had her left leg accidentally (?) exposed so that a pink stocking was visible up to her knee. She was quietly asked to leave."

Women Soldiers Unpopular With Reds

Moscow.—Women soldiers are unpopular in the eyes of the Russian government. "Female rifle squads" from the Red army were sent to the villages in disintegrated districts to protect communal farms from being plundered by opposition peasantry engaged in private enterprise. But, states the Soviet cabinet in an official announcement, "the rifle-women have fraternized with the peasantry."

The net earnings from 217,000 telephones were required to pay the Michigan Bell Telephone company's total 1929 tax bill of $3,966,000. It was indicated when the state of Michigan received its portion, $3,227,943.37 on June 30. The company's state tax was paid in the form of a check to Auditor General O. B. Fuller, and goes into the Michigan primary school fund. The total tax payment represents $6.02 for each telephone in service during 1929.

Since 1911, the Michigan Bell Telephone company has paid into the state treasury more than $20,250,000, of which $12,254,000 has been paid during the last five years, the records show. The tax paid the state by the telephone company this year was $428,870.97 larger than that paid a year ago.

In addition to the state tax, federal taxes paid by the company this year amounted to more than $700,000, and miscellaneous local taxes totaled approximately $10,000.

Assessed valuation of the company was set at $102,017,500, an increase of $10,017,500 over the 1928 assessment. Of that total, $17,500 represents the assessment on three small companies purchased by the Michigan Bell company this year. The tax rate was $31.64 per $1,000, the highest ever levied.

The state tax paid this year is the largest in the telephone company's history. The total tax paid by the company for 1929 amounts to $10,866 per day.

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

Skirmishing in Warfare

Between Bugs and Humans
Heavy skirmishing in the warfare between insects and human beings, which some more or less imaginative scientists are predicting, is already under way in Ohio. Entomologists of the agricultural extension service of the Ohio State university constitute a flying squadron which has been called into action numberless times during the past year, to identify some insect which is committing mayhem upon clothes, corn, cucumbers or cabbage, and to suggest to agitated farmers, gardeners or householders, how to hold the line. Sixteen different malignant bugs have been the causes of these emergency calls during the year. They are: corn bill bugs, striped stalk borers, zebra caterpillars, cabbage weevils, asparagus beetles, oriental fruit moths, spring grain aphids, granary weevils, powderpost beetles, fleas, clothes moths, termites, ants, striped cucumber beetles, and flea beetles. And the corn borer and hessian fly, like the poor, are always in evidence. The entomologists gave advice on dealing with all these pests, and in some cases conducted demonstrations in their extermination.

Careful Planning for Two Vegetable Crops

By careful planning at least two good crops of vegetables may be taken off the same ground in one season. This system of succession cropping enables the gardener with limited space to supply a large quantity of palatable products throughout the season with little extra work. Early crops, such as green onions, spinach, lettuce, peas, etc., may be followed by a second crop of the same kind or by beans, sweet corn, turnips, cabbage, cauliflower, carrots, beets, etc., according to A. M. Binkley, associate horticulturist at the Colorado agricultural college. Many of these vegetables, when maturing in the fall, have the flavor and quality of those grown in the early spring.

Pulverize the soil from which the first crop was taken, make new rows and plant the seed or set out the plants as the case may be. Extra care in irrigating and cultivating should be given these late crops during the hot weather.

Agricultural Hints

Corn is the great feed grain of the north central United States.

Other things being equal, it is better to buy baby chicks as near home as possible.

Soy bean pasture may be used in late summer and early fall when perennial pastures are short.

Early cabbage, head lettuce and onions are early crops that should be planted as early as possible.

Manistique—What is claimed to be the largest brook trout hatching house in the United States has recently been completed here by the division of fisheries of the State Conservation Department. The building contains 250 standard fish hatchery troughs with a capacity of three and one-half million eggs. The trout hatched here will be distributed to rearing stations each Spring. The output this Spring was 3,225,000 brook trout and 521,000 brown trout fry.

Detroit—Detroit's tax rate for the coming fiscal year will be $20.18 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This figure was announced simultaneously with the statement of the board of assessors that the valuation of the city had been increased $93,079,970 over that of last year. Announcement of the increase in values came as a surprise, because all members of the assessing body had previously declared that no material increase would be made this year.

Big Rapids—Contests of log birling, an almost forgotten sport of lumbering days in Michigan, will feature the diamond jubilee celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Big Rapids, to be held here the first week in July. Two veteran woodsmen have already entered the contest. Birling consists of a contest between two men, balancing opposite ends of a smooth, barkless 16-foot log, each trying to dump the other into the water without losing his own balance. The contests will be held July 4.

THE FINEST ORNAMENT

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I STILL insist—while women are inclined to favor this or that—There's nothing like a cookie jar To ornament a house or flat. Mahogany and polychrome Are not what makes a house a home. It's just a jar, through thick or thin, That always has some cookies in.

Some favor vases, silver ones, To candlesticks some women cling. But ask their husbands and their sons: They'll say about the finest thing Is just to follow that old plan And have within the reach of man A jar upon a certain shelf Where anyone can help himself.

A house can be a house without, A sort of home a sort-of way, But really there should be about A jar of cookies, as I say. A jar you needn't look to find. An old stone jar—you know the kind— One friend at least a fellow's met Who never failed a fellow yet. (© 1935, Douglas Malloch.)

Dear Editor:

WHEN you get to Hot Springs, Ark., your faith in the Volstead act is revived. Here are people drinking nothing but water!

It comes out of the ground 145 degrees hot. Public drinking fountains furnish you the hot drinking water free. It's piped into hotel lobbies, cold and hot. The water is radio-active, has no sulphur smell, and isn't bad to take.

The government controls the bath houses, holding the price down to a dollar and requiring a doctor's examination before you take a course of treatments.

I looked over several beautiful bath houses and then went back to the hotel and bathed in the tub. Let the bath houses exist for fat men who can't scrub their own ears or dry their own backs.—Fred Barton. (Copyright.)

ON SCIENTIFIC AUTHORITY

ONE is just as likely to have dyspepsia from the nagging of a wife or husband as from gastric ulcer!"

That was given among the findings of eminent British physicians recently. "Often it is not real misfortune which disturbs the health, but the trifling nothings, the petty annoyances, the pin-pricks of life which cause emotional reactions and by their constant repetition produce nervous exhaustion.

"Anxiety emasculates its victims; faith, hope, and courage assist in strengthening the body.

"The man of violent temper gives himself a dose of poison just as if he had swallowed one.

"The toxin produced by fear, acting on the brain and sympathetic system, is one of the most powerful poisons introduced into the blood."

Of course this merely gives scientific authenticity to facts which observers of people and life have been preaching to us for years.

Some of us who won't listen to anything else will listen to scientific authority.

And passing on such information as the above will be superfluous only when people no longer die of sickness which is a direct result of nagging, worry, temper or fear. (© by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WORK

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Ex-President Coolidge is quoted as saying that "One of the greatest mysteries in the world is the success that lies in conscientious work."

Mr. Coolidge is an incurable worker who illustrates in his own life the theory which he promulgated. It was regular, persistent work which made him a successful lawyer, which raised him to the governorship of Massachusetts, and which ultimately landed him in the Presidential chair. He has depended less upon pull and oratory and personal influence to get him preferred than most men and this characteristic has brought him success.

He has never contemplated anything but work. Most men when they have been through with the Presidency have been content to go into retirement, to rest on their laurels, and to live on the reputation and the savings which they had acquired during their sojourn in the chair of the Chief Executive. Mr. Coolidge seems to be quite completely sold on the efficiency of work, and before he was out of the President's chair he had made up his mind to go back to his home town and to his old job. He had enough work planned to keep him going for the next forty years. He sees, as too few men have seen, that hard work paves the road to happiness and success.

Clayton is forty-five, but he has never gotten far along the road to success—and you can make your own definition of the word. He is barely hanging on to a job which brings him neither fame nor fortune. He is not particularly sold on work. Neither in theory nor practice does it mean much to him. Fate hasn't so far treated him with much kindness, he thinks, but the future looks brighter. He knows a man high in political circles with whom he has a drag. Jones is going to get him something pretty nice one of these days. All he has to do is to sit tight, and the soft job will ultimately be his, and that is the theory he has been working on for twenty years. Why work when a pull will bring one what he wants? Clayton's boy feels the same way. He has no job; he is loafing around until dad, who has a drag with some one, lands him in an easy berth. It has never occurred either to Clayton or his son that conscientious work might be a surer road to a good job than the pull they are striving so hard to cultivate. The hard conscientious worker seldom loses a job and seldom falls of promotion.

Clay cultivated his instructor in economics with unflinching persistence last semester. He engaged him in conversation after class, and he had him over to the fraternity house for dinner just before finals.

"Do you think I'll get an 'A' in your course, Mr. Fox?" he inquired of the instructor.

"Well, if you work at your books as hard as you have worked me," was the reply, "I'm sure you will."

That's the answer—hard work. (© 1936, Western Newspaper Union.)

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

IMMORTALITY

"If a man die shall he live again?"

This has been the universal quest. Job of old asked this question, so did the philosophers and the poets. Every person has at some time wondered—what comes after death. The philosopher, Fisk, said there must be something worth while in the world to come, for surely this wonderful human being would not have been made just for the purpose of tumbling it down. Even the Indian buried in the grave with the departed one the dog and gun, that the loved one might be perfectly happy in the unseen hunting ground, for such was his conception of heaven.

The poet, Byron, who died at thirty-six, wrote: "I feel my immortality o'er sweeps—all pains, all tears, all time, all fears and all perils—Like the eternal thunders of the deep—Into my ears this truth: Thou livest forever." Tennyson wrote: "Thou wilt not leave us in the dust—Thou madest man, he knows not why—He thinks he was not made to die—And Thou hast made him; Thou art just." Shakespeare's last will convinces us that he believed in immortality—"I commend my soul into the hands of God to be made perfect in the life everlasting."

Many ask for definite proofs of immortality. Frankly there are none. No one ever came back to tell us what it is like or where it is. Science is powerless if asked for evidences produced from its laboratories. The evidences lie within one's thinking and feeling. Cicero argued that there must be an immortality of life or why should we so greatly desire it. Whence the desire if it has no foundation in fact? What is death? What causes it? The answer is simple enough—breaking down of the bodily tissues. When the organs of the body no longer function death results; regardless of what causes the breakdown. It is the same law as in all nature. The body dies just like all material substances die. Death does not destroy the spiritual realities. Love, goodness, integrity, in short—character are not of the body and are not dependent upon it. Building up the character, or personality, as some call it, is the most important thing in the world.

The stars shall fade away, the sun grow dim with age; And nature sink in years; But thou, O Soul, shall flourish in immortal youth. Unhurt amid the war of elements, The wreck of matter and the crush of worlds. (© 1936, Western Newspaper Union.)

Dear Editor:

THE other day I met a novelist. What kind of a typewriter do you suppose he uses? An old 1904 model where you lift up the carriage to see what's been written.

I've noticed several other well-to-do writers still cling to some old typewriter of their youth. They seem to feel it's friendly and will be patient with them if the thoughts don't come right at first.

Many a good idea has been jotted down on the back of an envelope; many more, probably, than on any new-fangled desk memo pad. An idea is a weak, timid thing to start with; it needs to be encouraged. Even Lincoln's Gettysburg address was written on a scrap of paper. If he'd had to use embossed stationery the thing never would have been written at all.—Fred Barton. (Copyright.)

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Where Sand Comes From
Every grain of sand is a separate piece of mineral matter formed millions of years ago. Sand is the result of the wearing away by nature's processes of sandstone, or even granite, the powdered waste being carried by wind or river to sea level. This granite could only have been originally formed by great heat and pressure in the depths of the earth. (© 1936, Western Newspaper Union.)

Undesirable
"You have had many opportunities to marry."
"Not opportunities," answered Miss Cayenne. "Narrow escapes."

Father: "You should think of the future."
Son: "I can't. It's my girl's birthday, and I have to think of the present."

Declined
"Tom, we really haven't anything in the house. Wouldn't you like a kiss for breakfast?"
"Not from that cook."

Some people have had a grouch on so long that they wouldn't feel dressed up if they left it off.

TORMENTING KIDNEY AILMENTS RELIEVED.

Hard workers, whose fall pay envelope is their only capital, must keep themselves constantly at their best. When Arthur O'Malley, Carson Hill, Calif., had to drag his aching-weary body from a sleepless bed, he did a wise thing—took Foley Pills diuretic, and says: "Less than two bottles of Foley Pills diuretic relieved me entirely of my kidney and rheumatic troubles and put me on my feet and to work again. I want other workers to know about them." Guaranteed to give satisfaction. Ask for them. For Sale by Hite's Drug Store.
