Soils Laboratory Truck

WILL VISIT COUNTY AND TEST SOIL SAMPLES.

There is no longer any need to guess as to lime or fertilizer requirements. A simple reliable test can now be used to tell accurately the amount of lime required for the soil and the amount and kind of fertilizer to apply.

Visit the Soils Doctor who will be in Charlevoix County with the Soils Laboratory Truck from the Michigan State College on Monday, July 21st. The following two stops will be made: Monday forenoon, July 21st at 10 o'clock fast time at Chandler Hill Schoolhouse.

Monday afternoon, July 21, at 2:30 o'clock fast time, next to Herman Meyer's store in Boyne Falls.

The truck will be at each place for two hours. The program will be on the informal order with no set speeches. Each farmer is urged to bring in several samples of soil or manure to be tested for lime and fertilizer requirements. An individual prescription is then given showing just what and how much lime or fertilizer is required for the various crops to be grown.

In addition to the soil testing, there will be several exhibits showing the results obtained from the use of lime or fertilizer or both. Charts and posters will be used as illustrative material.

Your soil samples should be dry, and should be taken from various parts of the field, and from the different kinds of soil. Both surface soil and sub-soil samples should be taken. Keep samples separate, and be sure to label each sample.

Space does not permit any additional particulars, but in any case, plan to visit the Soils Doctor on July 21st.

B. C. MELLENCAMP,
County Agr'l Agent.

Lace Tweed Is Popular

Among the new fabrics lace tweed is destined for great popularity in the sports field. A pattern of this tweed is shown in the smartly flared suit in the illustration. It is made with a one-piece dress which outlines the figure to the knees, where it flares in circular flounces. The dress is topped with a short jacket showing the same flaring finish. While a belt further emphasizes the flared effect. The yellow and black combination is subdued by a small black beret, while black oxfords complete the costume.

Cheboygan—More than 300 delegates and visitors are expected here on August 6 and 7 at the annual convention of the Northern Michigan Road Commissioners association. Plans for the program and entertainment will be made at a meeting of a committee representing the association and a committee from the Cheboygan Boosters club here about two weeks before the convention.

Monroe—The board of supervisors here, by unanimous vote, decided to submit to the voters in November the question of bonding the county for $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a new unit to the county jail and remodeling the present building. The action followed notification from the state welfare commission that the present jail had outlived its usefulness and that if a new one were not provided, the prisoners be transferred to an adjacent county.

FAMOUS MEN PREACH IN EAST JORDAN

It is doubtful if there is another place in the country where as fine a galaxy of preachers can be heard in the summer as in East Jordan at the Presbyterian Church Sunday mornings at 10 o'clock central standard time.

Last Sunday morning, Dr. Selby Vance, of Pittsburg, preached. He is one of the outstanding theologians of the country and a man who has the happy faculty of presenting the deepest truths in a simple manner.

Next Sunday morning, Dr. Wm. Lampe of the West Side Presbyterian Church of St. Louis, Mo., will preach. Dr. Lampe is pastor of one of the large and aggressive churches of that section of the country.

On July 27, Dr. John Gardner, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Riverside, Calif., will preach. For some years Dr. Gardner was the outstanding Congregational preacher of Chicago, and now he is considered a prince of preachers in the Pacific region.

On August 3, Dr. George Buttrick, noted author, and Pastor of the Madison Ave., Presbyterian Church of New York City will preach. The Madison Avenue Church is one of the strongest churches in the country, and Dr. Buttrick is in demand for addresses to University audiences and at Bible Conferences.

It is possible that another name will be added to this list later on.

Wild Life Exhibits

TO BE SHOWN AT EAST JORDAN THIS FALL.

Lansing, July 16.—Wild life exhibits will be shown by the Department of Conservation at 27 of Michigan's Fairs during the coming fall, it has been announced by the Educational Division.

The Conservation Commission, in selecting the Fairs at which exhibits will be shown was guided not only by the applications for these exhibits, but by the aggregate attendance at these Fairs, the agreement of the Fair Boards to pay half of the cost, and the limited departmental funds available for the purpose.

The places at which Department exhibits will be shown this fall are: Upper Peninsula: Ironwood, Escanaba, Newberry, Marquette, Sault Ste Marie, Manistique, Houghton.

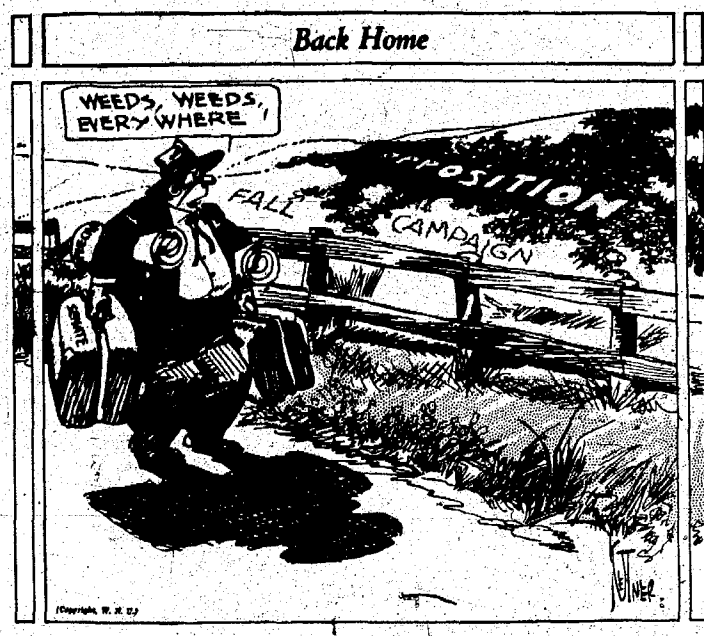

Lower Peninsula: Greenville, St. Johns, Ionia, Holland, Marshall, Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids, Bay City, Detroit, Jackson, Gaylord, Saginaw, Cadillac, Adrian, Alpena, Traverse City, East Jordan, Hillsdale, Bear Lake, Hartford.

"More than twice as many applications for exhibits were received than could be physically and financially accepted," according to Director George R. Hogarth of the Department of Conservation. "In some instances applications were received for exhibits at as many as seven and eight places in one week, whereas three or four is as many as it is possible to have during that period."

Dearborn—The Ford Motor Co. has installed a new aviation broadcasting station at the Ford Airport to keep pilots flying the airways in this vicinity informed of weather conditions. The station has been licensed by the Federal Radio Commission and given the call letters WQDW. The station maintains a regular daily broadcasting schedule, starting at 8:25 a. m. Weather conditions and directions to pilots are broadcast every 30 minutes until 4:25 p. m., on 393 kilocycles.

Detroit—For more than a hundred years, Massachusetts had more people than Michigan, but Michigan now has more than Massachusetts. In the 1930 line-up of the "big ten" states, their respective ratings will read: Michigan, population 4,828,371, a 31.3 per cent increase; Massachusetts, 4,364,972, a 13.3 per cent increase. The manufacturing census, still incomplete, probably will explain Michigan's increase. Of the world's output of 4,800,321 motor cars in 1925, 3,131,524 were made in Michigan.

Gaylord—A 19-year-old girl was burned to death in attempting to remove the furniture from her father's burning home, seven miles east of Vanderbilt. The girl was the daughter of Herman Miller, a farmer. Miller and a son had gone to Vanderbilt to purchase groceries and during their absence the house caught fire. The girl made sure that four other children in the family had gone outdoors, then began to carry out the furniture. She was overcome by smoke and fell inside the house. The house was destroyed.

ORCHARD TOUR WILL VISIT EVELINE ORCHARDS

(Ellsworth Tradesman) The orchard tour of the Michigan State Horticultural Society to be held this week Friday and Saturday, July 18 and 19 should prove attractive to Antrim County fruit growers.

This tour will be made up of fruit men from all of Michigan and this offers our fruit growers an excellent opportunity to "swap yarns" of orchard culture.

The Friday tour takes in orchards thru the Leelanau peninsula. The caravan will meet at the packing plant of the Michigan Cherry Growers.

The Saturday tour will meet at 9:00 at the Bay Lake Fruit Farm on the east shore of Torch Lake in Milton township. Here one will see the 90 acre apple and 45 acre cherry orchard being managed by Rolo Western.

From the Western orchard the tour will visit the Orchard Hill farms of F. H. Hemstreet and Co., west of Bellaire at 10:45. The noon day meal will be at Fisherman's Paradise at 12:00.

In the afternoon the tour will go to the Eveline Orchards in Charlevoix County at 2:30.

Fruit men new in the business as most of our 170 fruit growers are, will have an excellent opportunity to pick up on this tour some suggestions that will assist them in their orchard management problems.

At both the Eveline and Western orchards sweet clover is used as a cover and green manure crop. Suggestions on spraying methods and practices will also be gathered. No fruit grower can afford not to take part in this tour.

Remember the dates, Friday and Saturday, July 18 and 19.

In managing a wife—one good hint is the following—always be firm in making her do exactly what she wants to do.

75-PIECE BAND TO PLAY HERE NEXT WEDNESDAY

The Charlevoix and East Jordan School Bands will combine in a concert next Wednesday evening at the Band Stand on Main St., in this city. They will play a program including the Sousa Marches, they are to play at Interlochen on Sunday, July 27th.

This Friday evening our Band will go to Charlevoix for a like concert over there.

DALE WALTON DIES FROM HEART TROUBLE

Dale Richard Walton, son of Mrs. Beulah Walton passed away at his home on the West Side, this city, Sunday morning, July 13th, 1930, following an illness of over a year from heart trouble. He was born at Bellaire, Mich., August 29, 1923 and was nearly 7 years of age at the time of his death.

He is survived by his mother, also three brothers and one sister—Gerald, George and Donald Walton, at home, and Mrs. Fred Welcome of Flint.

Funeral services were held from the L. D. S. Church Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Elder Leonard Dudley. Interment at Bellaire.

CARD OF THANKS

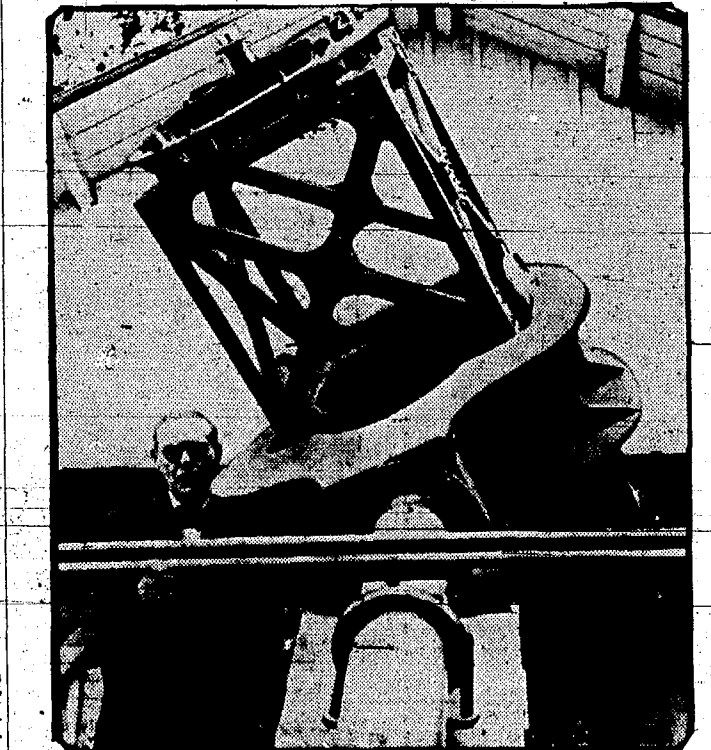

We wish to express our sincere appreciation of the many acts of kindness extended by friends and neighbors during the illness and death of Dale Walton.

Mrs. Beulah Walton and Family

New Type of Photographic Telescope

Prof. John Ritchie, noted American astronomer, with the new type of photographic telescope which he has invented jointly with Professor Chretien, French astronomer. The instrument, which is technically known as the Ritchie-Chretien Aplanatic telescope, is only 54 inches long and uses a mirror of but 20 inches in diameter, thereby considerably decreasing the cost of installation and operation. It is said to produce better results than do the 100-inch telescopes previously installed by Professor Ritchie at the Mt. Wilson observatory in California.

Next Pomona meeting will be held at South Arm Grange Hall on Wednesday, August 6th. Evening session only. Pot luck supper will be served before the meeting.

There were 6 granges represented with an attendance of 95 and three reinstatements. Deer Lake has the banner for this quarter.

Arrangements are being made for the Grange Tri-County Rally to be held at the High School Auditorium, Wednesday, August 20th. National and State officers will be on the program. Afternoon session will be open to the public and we hope for a large attendance. Further announcements will be published later.

Alice M. Smatts, Sec'y

Union City—Six Bellevue residents who opened the fishing season two days too early paid fines aggregating $210.

Battle Creek—Edward Lindsay, 9 years old, strangled to death on a piece of ham before his parents arrived at a hospital here with him.

Port Huron—Establishment of a harbor north of this city which would provide an anchorage for yachts and other craft on Lake Huron has been proposed.

Lansing—Edward N. Trigden, former Navy radio operator, has been appointed operator of the State Police radio station. The State station, at East Lansing, is expected to be ready for broadcasting about Sept. 1.

Port Huron—Seventh Street Bridge across Black river here was damaged when the barge R. L. Fryer, loaded with pulpwood, in tow of the tug William M. Hatch, crashed into the structure before the draw was opened.

Grand Rapids—Mrs. John A. Bassford, of Grand Rapids, was burned to death when her automobile left the road a mile west of Hudsonville and turned over in a ditch. Mrs. Bassford was alone in the car. She leaves her husband and three children.

Mr. Clemens—Maj. George H. Brett took up his duties as commandant at Selridge Field, succeeding Col. Charles H. Danforth, recently transferred to Washington. Maj. Brett came here from Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where he was attending the general staff school.

Grand Rapids—Burns suffered when the truck in which he was riding burst into flames after an explosion resulted in the death of Earl Marshall, high school senior, who was working for a dairy company during vacation. Clyde R. Shoemaker, who was driving the truck, is in a serious condition because of burns.

Detroit—A young woman who left to reside in Paris shortly after her marriage six years ago has returned with her two small children. One is a girl of 4; the other a boy of 2 1/2 years. Both children speak only French. In fact, neighbors say the baby cries even in French. The little girl has mastered one English word—ice cream.

Detroit—The Wayne County Road Commission's plan of extending within the City of Detroit 70 miles of 204-foot superhighways was presented to the Board of Supervisors of Wayne County. The supervisors, after hearing the plan read, referred it to the ways and means committee. The cost of right-of-way under the plan would be $100,000,000.

Bay City—Following a recheck, Bay City's 1930 population is announced as 47,359 by Dr. E. D. Crummer, sixth district census supervisor. The recheck was made after residents expressed surprise that the population was less than a decade ago. A loss is still shown from the 1920 figure, which was 47,554. The original 1930 population figure of 47,073 was increased by 286 to 47,359.

The stain of life is selfishness. The antidote is public spirit.

Hunting and Trapping Seasons

CHANGES MADE BY CONSERVATION COMMISSION AT JULY MEETING.

Lansing, July 14.—Shortening of the raccoon hunting season by 15 days; and increasing the partridge and prairie chicken open seasons in the lower peninsula by one day, were the principal changes made in the 1930 hunting and trapping seasons by the Conservation Commission at its July meeting.

The open seasons for the coming fall in which changes have been made are as follows:

Partridge: Closed in Upper Peninsula. Lower Peninsula, Oct. 15-20, inclusive.

Prairie chicken: Closed in Upper Peninsula. Lower Peninsula, Oct. 15-20, inclusive.

Raccoon: Trapping and hunting prohibited in Upper Peninsula. Lower Peninsula: Hunting, Nov. 1-15 inclusive. Trapping: North of Townline 16 and west of Saginaw Bay, Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, inc.; South of North line of Townline 16 and east of Saginaw Bay (thumb), Dec. 1 to Dec. 15, inclusive.

Seasons on all other animals and birds remain the same as during 1929.

The partridge season will be opened this year to coincide with the opening of the rabbit and woodcock seasons. Through this change a six days open season including a week end is permitted instead of five days as it was last year. According to a report from the Game Division of the Department of Conservation, deer and rabbit hunters last year found many birds had survived the open season and during the winter and spring favorable reports as to the supply of partridges have reached the Lansing office. Of a total of 35 upper peninsula officers who sent in partridge reports, 25 reported "more birds" than last year, but with one exception, favored a continued closed season this fall. In spite of an open season and a hard winter, 15 lower peninsula counties above townline 16 report "more birds" than last year.

The prairie chicken open season is changed to coincide with the open partridge season. Reports from local and district officers, both last year and this, indicate that prairie chicken are still comparatively scarce in their usual ranges of the Upper Peninsula, but locally abundant in the eastern part of the lower peninsula, especially in the counties west of Saginaw Bay. Reports show that this bird has increased quite steadily in Clare, Roscommon, Ogemaw and other neighboring counties, especially during the last few years.

The trapping season for raccoon in the lower peninsula remains the same as last year, corresponding as far as possible with the muskrat trapping seasons. Although raccoon are reported to be less abundant in many places of the lower peninsula than last year, reports indicate there are enough for a short open season this year, and so the hunting of 'coons was limited Nov. 1 to Nov. 15, inclusive. Last year the hunting season was from Nov. 1 to Nov. 30 inclusive in the lower peninsula.

Raccoons are scarce or absent in all upper peninsula counties except small areas in Menominee and Delta counties and there has been no decided increase after the closed season last year. This is probably a permanent condition, but the season will remain closed in the upper peninsula to protect the few 'coons there and to see whether there is any possibility of their increasing or extending their range.

Mink may be trapped this year only during the open muskrat trapping season, under an order of the Commission. This was done to give better protection to muskrats during the closed season and to avoid the trouble caused in catching rats and 'coons in mink sets. Mink may be taken or killed by other methods than traps during the entire year.

Muskrat trapping season, unchanged from 1929, is as follows: Upper Peninsula, Nov. 1 to 30, inc. Lower Peninsula, North of north line of Townline 16 and west of Saginaw Bay, Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, inc.; South of north line of Townline 16 and east of Saginaw Bay, Dec. 1 to Dec. 31, inclusive.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear son, Ganson Lavanway, who left us one year ago—July 15, 1929.

Call not back the dear departed Anchored safe where storms are o'er On the border land we left him, Soon to meet and part no more. When we leave this world of care, When we leave this world of care, We shall find our missing loved one In our Father's mansion fair.

"If I'm not there, darling, please wait. I'm so often late for my weddings."

Photographs

I saw an old-time photograph. As I contrast it with the new I pause to sigh and then to laugh. It looks so young—and foolish, too.

Just Came True

"I'm beginning to believe in fortune-telling."
"Why? Something come true?"
"Yes. A fortune-teller told me yesterday that I would have money left after paying my wife's dressmaker's bill."—Stray Stories.

Unanimous

Walter (to party of fourteen men)—Gentlemen, there is a lady here who says her husband promised to be home at midnight and she has come to fetch him.
All Fourteen Rising—Goodnight, old fellows—see you again soon.

Thrift

"What! You have given information to lead to the arrest of your fiancé so that you may get the reward?"
"Yes, we are going to get married on the money when he has finished his sentence."

Styles for the Family Man

Chief Afraid-of-His-Squaw—That's no way to wear a war bonnet. You're putting in on me upside down.
His Squaw—I know I am. You're going to carry the papoose in the hood.

EXPLAINED AT LAST

"How do you suppose that Chicago came to be such a great railroad center?"
"Why, to furnish a quick getaway for the bandits, of course."

Tear for Ellis

Shed a tear For Ellis Bree: The car he hit Was marked "F. D."

The First Message

Husband (seeing her off on the train)—Now, dear, as soon as you arrive you must telegraph.
Wife—Very well. How much shall I telegraph for?

Reward of Reticence

"But surely," cried Jenni, "you didn't tell him straight out that you loved him?"
"Goodness, no," Mildred said calmly. "He had to squeeze it out of me."

Safety First

She (anxiously)—Why are you going so quickly?
He—The brakes won't work, so I want to get home before we have an accident.

Limit of Trouble

"Do you have trouble with your car?"
"Trouble? I couldn't have more if I was married to the thing!"

Restaurant English

Patron—(tinning ham and yeggs).
Walter—Pardon me, you mean eggs, no doubt?
Patron—Yus, hard boiled.

Old Glory and the Big Guns

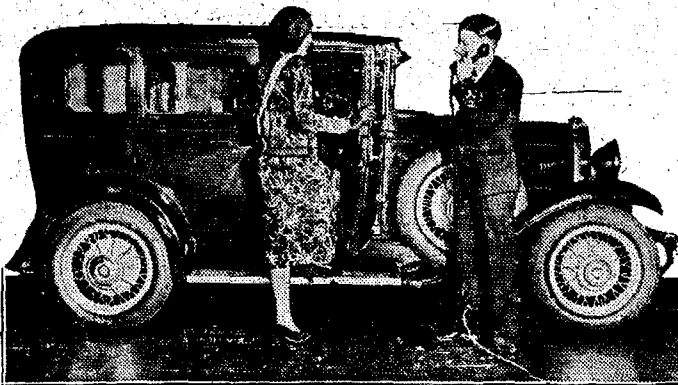

The American flag being raised for the first time on the U. S. S. Northampton at the Charlestown navy yard, Boston, with the three great guns of the forward turret as a frame. The newly christened cruiser was named after the home town of ex-President Coolidge.

POOR MAN'S AUTO THAT SELLS FOR $100

Hardly larger than a toy, this automobile attracted a great deal of attention at the Paris auto show. It is two and one-half horse power and attains a speed of over twenty miles an hour. The price is only $100.

AUTOMOBILES NOW CONTROLLED BY VOICE

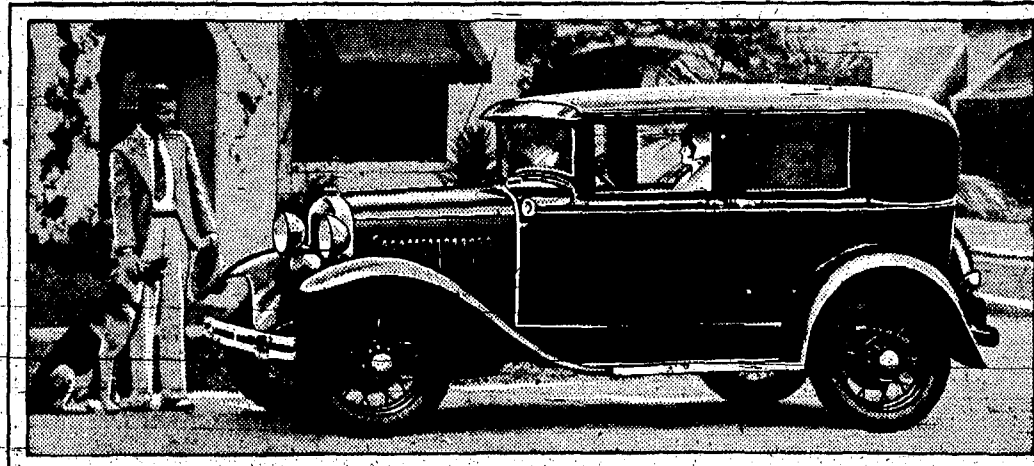

R. J. Wensley, engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, demonstrating how an auto works by "voice control," a new development of the "electric eye," a light-sensitive cell. By calling into the phone, "Go," "Stop" and "Back Up," the sound impulses were transferred into waves and are picked up by the electric eye, which in turn operated the car as directed. Traffic officials at the National Automobile show, where the demonstration took place, were favorably impressed.

Ford Offers New De Luxe Sedan

Ford De Luxe Sedan

THE De Luxe Sedan, recently added to the Ford line, is designed for those who desire distinctiveness and unusual comfort in an automobile. The interior is inviting and roomy with wide doors to both compartments. Absence of rear quarter windows gives the car a striking individuality and affords privacy to the occupants.
Interior trimmings and appointments are luxurious. Upholstery is either in brown mohair or a deep tan Bedford cord patterned after that used in high-priced cars.
Other refinements include arm rests for the rear seat, mahogany finished garnish moldings on the windows and beneath the windshield, flexible-robe-rail and hardware in an attractive pattern.
The front seat is adjustable within a range of four inches to suit the convenience and comfort of the driver. It is moved quickly and easily by a small, inconspicuous handle in the front center of the seat just above the floor.
The De Luxe Sedan, like other Ford body types, can be obtained in any one of several color combinations.

Community Building

Why Living in Small Towns Has Advantages

Prof. Walter B. Pitkin bases a prophecy as to the rosy future of the small town, which he makes in the Household Magazine on four things:

The healthier living conditions in small towns, the realization that the majority of city dwellers are as poor as their country brethren, the new shift of industry away from big cities, and the better opportunities for occupying one's leisure in the country.

Small towns, he says, have sunshine, quiet and freedom from smoke. Out of every thousand inhabitants of the big towns, you cannot find more than three or four who are better off in their jobs than the people you meet in Main street or around by the post office. And now comes the new American revolution! Industry begins shifting to the small towns. No man in his senses thinks of starting a factory in a metropolis nowadays unless he is making something which cannot be made elsewhere. And, finally, concludes Doctor Pitkin, "If you live far from the clamor of Broadway, you can pick and choose your leisure pursuits effectively. And, having picked them you can hold to your course with few distractions. And that, I maintain, is half of happiness. To do what you like, in the way of exercise, play, rest, reading, music, inventing, dreaming, or what not, without having a mob of peddlers yelling at you to do some thing else."

Development of City Depends on Planning

It was only ten or fifteen years ago that planning, and along with it zoning, came to be regarded as absolutely necessary in the larger cities of this country. It was soon evident that only by such means could haphazard growth be replaced by orderly development in the interest of rapidly increasing numbers of urban residents. The desirability of the same protection for suburban areas and smaller centers is a product of more recent years. The spread of this enterprise is an indication of the improved conditions which are a part of the modern city.

In giving the result of a recent survey of the situation, the Department of Commerce, through its division of building and housing, notes this fact: "Cities having planning commissions are believed to be more apt than others to exercise foresight and true economy in the laying out and improvement of streets, the location of parks, playgrounds and public works, the development of transit and transportation, provision for street traffic and in the equitable regulation of private use of land through zoning ordinances."

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Even the bus driver takes the family out riding on Sunday.

More than $2,500,000,000 was spent for road construction and maintenance in the United States during 1929.

A broken spring, on either the front or rear axle, will result in loss of control, and, sometimes, in a serious accident.

A slight pressure is all that is needed to bend the luggage carrier on the rear of the car. Do not use it for a bumper.

Plain, modern screwdrivers are best to work about the car. Painted handles are likely to cause blisters on the hand.

During the ten years ending with 1929, motorists in the United States scrapped 15,195,000 cars, for which was paid $12,156,000,000, or an average of $800 apiece.

Many-Colored Face Bricks

American face brick manufacturers have far outstripped the rest of the world in the wide range of color tones and textures presented to the home builder. Now the prospective home builder has offered for his consideration a whole sweep of colors, in smooth and rough textures, ranging from pure pearl grays or creams, through buff, golden and bronze tints to a descending scale of red, down to maroons, purples and even gun metal blacks.

Routing Highway Traffic

Some small towns have concluded that routing highway traffic through their main streets does not materially aid business, but only causes congestion, and the speed of the tourist cars adds to the danger of the streets.

Holland's Canals

The inland canals of Holland are almost as thickly populated as the waterways of China. Thousands of Dutch families live and die upon canal boats. Babies are born upon them, and many people never have any other homes. On a typical canal boat the freight cargo is carried in front, and the owner and his family live in the stern. In winter the boats are frozen tightly in the canals, but in summer they constantly move about from place to place.

BILL, THE BUS DRIVER SAYS

"There's a difference between an excuse and a reason. You can find plenty excuses, but not one bloomin' reason for bein' careless."

(By MARCUS A. DOW.)

If there's any one kind of a hick answerin' to the name of drivin' fool it's the bird who waves allibi at you whenever he gets in dutch and has an accident.

A party of my more or less remote acquaintance parked his speed buggy at the curb and went into a house. While he was gone it rolled away and collided with a sedan. In the sedan was a lady about thirty years old. She was a good lookin' dame, fair complected, brown hair and a cheery smilin' sort of face that spread sunshine wherever she went. Her sedan got a nasty rap and a piece of jagged glass cut a deep ugly gash on her pretty cheek, disfigurin' her for life. I wonder how does that thoughtless lunkhead that left his car parked in an unsafe manner feel about it down in his heart?

In his insurance report he wrote, "While I was in the house, the brakes on my car let go, which was the cause of the accident." Don't his allibi give you a laugh? As if that tin can of his had some ghostly power enabling it to let go and start up of its own free will and ram another car. Now you know and I know his brakes didn't just let go. The fact is this guy parked on a grade, forgot to cut his wheels to the curb, and left his engine running! The vibration of the engine jarred the brakes loose and that old bus of his rolled down hill. A natural outcome of this guy's damfool carelessness.

I heard of a guy workin' on a railroad who turned in an accident report like this: "John Smith, brakeman, got bit on the end of the finger while trying to split tobacco juice down a rattlesnake's throat." In answer to the question, "Who was to blame for the accident?" was written, "The rattlesnake."

Drivin' a bus or auto careless-like is the same as teusin' a rattlesnake. Don't blame the snake if it bites you. And believe me, I know a lot of folks this kick in the shins is meant for.

EUROPE IS AFTER SPEEDWAY HONORS

Manufacturers and Drivers Making Extensive Plans for 1931 Race.

Europe has definitely decided to wrest speedway honors of the world from the hands of American speed car builders and drivers—if not this year, certainly in 1931.

This is the observation of T. E. "Pop" Myers, general manager of the Indianapolis Motor speedway, who has just returned from a lengthy jaunt over the Old world gathering foreign entries for the International 500-mile race, which will be held here on May 30.

Plan for 1931 Race.

"In France, in England, in Germany and in Italy," says Myers, "manufacturers and drivers are casting their plans for competition in the Indianapolis classic. This year we are certain of the finest representation Europe can muster. But already, while they are planning for the 1930 race, they are making more elaborate and extensive preparations for the 1931 race."

"Europe took the measure of American speeds from 1913, when Jules Goux headed a foreign contingent that kept control of American speedways, until 1919, when the late Howdy Wilcox started a series of Yankee victories that kept foreign competition in the background."

"But just as England spent years and many thousands of dollars preparing for the successful shattering of the 156.04 miles an hour straight-away record of Tommy Milton, made in 1919, so is all Europe working to break the speed rule of America in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis, which is rightfully looked upon as the outstanding speed test for cars and drivers in the entire world."

"Whereas the foreign competition in May will be confined largely to individual entries, with possibly two teams of factory cars, it is definitely admitted that England, France, Germany and Italy will have one or more teams of national cars in the 1931 contest."

Importance of Preparation.

"Conscious of the importance of preparation for the gruelling test of man and metal in a 500-mile race running at Indianapolis, the speed car builders are content this year to permit individuals to carry on the task of representation. But the following year European factories will sponsor the cars which will carry their national colors in the big international race."

The survey recently made by Myers in his European trip indicates that there will be more foreign cars in the coming 500-mile race than any year since 1916. He anticipates that in 1931 at least half of the cars starting the race will be of foreign make.

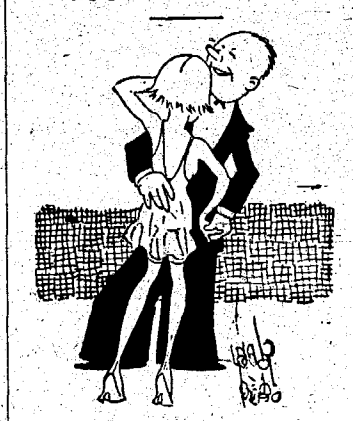

HIS DIFFICULTY

Little Billy, returning from dancing school, was asked by his mother, "How was the lesson?" to which Billy replied, "Not so good, Mummy." "How do you mean, 'not so good?'" "Well," said the contemplative four-year-old, "I couldn't get the step the teacher showed me." "Oh, so that was it. What do you think was the trouble?" "Well, Mummy, I've been thinking about it, and I think it was my feet."

New Ford Truck With Closed Cab

NEW Ford Model AA trucks and Model A light delivery cars were announced this week by the Ford Motor Company and are on display in the show rooms of Ford dealers.

Changes in the trucks are principally in the front end, which has been completely redesigned, and in the cab. The radiator is higher with more cooling surface, fenders are wide and flowing, and a black cowl strip adds a note of distinction.

The new Model AA trucks with the four-speed transmission introduced several months ago may be had with enclosed or open cab. The enclosed cab, shown above, is all steel, it is low in appearance yet with ample head room. The open cab is of black rubber top material and is easily removed. Both cabs are equipped with windshields of Triplex shatterproof glass and vacuum type windshield wipers. Model AA trucks may be had with a platform body, which can be equipped with stakes or a panel body. The chassis has many improvements, including the four-speed transmission, larger front brakes, stronger springs, power take-off opening and optional dual rear wheels.

The Model A line of new commercial cars comprises a light delivery truck with pick-up body, a deluxe delivery truck, a small panel truck and a station wagon. These cars have the smaller wheels and larger tires of the new Ford passenger cars.

RELIABILITY ECONOMY GOOD PERFORMANCE

THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

YOU are buying proved performance when you buy a Ford. You know it has been built for many thousands of miles of satisfactory, economical service.

Letters from users in every part of the world show the value of the sound design of the car, good materials and accuracy in manufacturing. You sense a feeling of sincere pride in the oft-repeated phrase—"Let me tell you what my new Ford did."

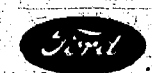

Further tribute to the sturdiness, reliability and general all-round performance of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by government bureaus, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most cases, the new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering speed and power, safety, comfort, ease of control, oil and gas consumption, low yearly depreciation, and low cost of up-keep.

Community's Big Task, to Avoid Deterioration

There is a fine element of enthusiasm in creating greatness, which too frequently fails in defending and maintaining greatness achieved, says a writer in the Detroit News. The principle works in the simplest phases of community life. The young couple with all-absorbing zeal toil to complete the new house and view with huge content its varnished floors and newly decorated walls and well-fenced garden. But too easily they slip into the relaxed mood with the sense of an objective reached. The varnish mars; the walls soil; the garden fence is broken and the owners lose the pride of possession which came to them in the struggle to obtain. Not different may be the fate of any civic enterprise however imposing and costly. There is "upkeep" to be reckoned as an essential with every community undertaking and the biggest task is to keep community enthusiasm up to the supporting point.

Too often with tremendous enthusiasm a people bring about changes in their government and establish it in conformity with high ideals; then, trusting too confidently to the perfected machine, forget their obligations. How quickly comes deterioration. "Neglect of the city's business by business men, explains many evils of which business men often complain," writes a critic of civic affairs.

The citizen forgets that "Keeping a city great is a bigger task than making it great."

The new minister arose on his first Sunday, beamed at the congregation, and said, "As I gaze about I see before me this morning many bright and shining faces."

Control of Bean and Pea Weevils

Fumigation Will Effectively
Stamp Out Harmful Pest.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every year when planting time comes many farmers and gardeners are surprised to find that their seed beans or peas are ruined by weevils even though the seed has been kept in tightly closed containers. At one time these was a popular belief that weevils developed spontaneously from the germ of the seed, but this idea has gradually given way as the facts in the life history of the weevil have become more generally known. These facts are fully explained in a revised publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin 1275-F, "Weevils in Beans and Peas."

Infested While Growing.
Beans and peas may become infested with weevils while growing in the field. Female weevils lay eggs in or on the pods, and the young grubs work their way into the seed by burrowing out a hole no larger than a pin-prick, too small to be seen by the unaided eye. After the seed is harvested and put in storage the weevil continue breeding at a rapid rate. Infested seeds in bulk usually heat, thus producing the temperature and moisture conditions most favorable for the rapid development and vigorous breeding of weevils.

Stamp Out Infestations.
Infestations in beans and peas can be quickly and effectively stamped out says the bulletin, by fumigation with carbon disulphide, carbon tetrachloride, or hydrocyanic acid gas, and by means of heat or cold storage. Weevils can be prevented from continuing to produce new generations in storage by mixing dust or air-slaked lime with the seeds. This remedy tends to dry out the seeds and kill the grubs within them. It also prevents those weevils that succeed in developing from leaving the seeds.

Copies of the bulletin, 1275-F, may be obtained, as long as there is a supply available for free distribution, from the office of information, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Experts Seek Control of White Grub Insect

Whereas the June bug, the parent of the white grub, always seeks the light on May and June evenings, agronomists, entomologists and soil experts at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture are going to turn the searchlight on the grub in an effort to learn his habits and to lay plans for his control.

The white grub causes a large part of Wisconsin's annual toll of $25,000,000 due to insect pests. The damage done by this particular one has been most severe where permanent pastures have borne the brunt of the attack, with corn and other crops also seriously affected.

Since it will be two years before the flight of the main brood of June bugs, the insect which lays the eggs that hatch the white grub, immediate efforts will be concerned with combating the damage to the crops now in the soil. For this work two farms each in Iowa, Grant and Lafayette counties, have been selected.

Immediate experimental work will be concerned with determining whether a resistance can be built up in blue grass pastures by fortifying the plants with additional food in the form of commercial fertilizers, various kinds and amounts of which will be applied.

Agricultural Hints

Sheet erosion moves the most fertile soil.

In the matter of soil conservation, live stock is of greatest importance.

The farmer with live stock is a manufacturer, as well as a producer of raw materials.

Many stock keepers fail to balance their rations because they feel it necessary to feed what they have at hand.

Potash is not needed so much on rolling yellow clay soils. Eroded soils need nitrogen and phosphate more than potash.

To be standard by common consent eggs should weigh 24 ounces to the dozen. They should be collected in cold weather before they freeze and during warm weather two or three times daily.

Due Warning

Cutie—My little brother will tell if he sees you kiss me.

Rudy—But I'm not kissing you.

Cutie—Anyhow, I thought I'd tell you.

Too Extravagant

"Don't be extravagant, dear. Your fortune will be quite enough."

COW CANNOT EAT ENOUGH PASTURE

Home Grown Feeds Will Fill Out Grain Ration.

(By J. C. NISBET, Extension Dairyman, Kansas State Agricultural College.)

Knowing the needs of dairy cows and what they eat when on pasture will add to the dollars from the milk bucket.

Green, succulent pasture is naturally high in protein but is low in total digestible nutrients. A cow milking over 20 pounds of milk a day cannot eat enough pasture to provide the necessary carbohydrates to maintain that production. Grain feeding of this cow on pasture is absolutely necessary. Her grain ration need not be high in protein—home-grown feeds will balance the pasture. A mixture of 400 pounds of corn and 200 pounds of oats should be fed at the rate of one pound of grain to every four and one-half pounds of milk from the Ayrshire Jersey and Guernsey, and one pound of grain to five pounds of milk from the Holstein.

Dry pasture contains about one-third as much protein as the green, succulent grass. An understanding of this fact makes the successful dairyman begin to add a high protein feed to his grain ration as soon as pasture starts to dry. The grain mix then is composed of 400 pounds of corn, 200 pounds of oats, and 100 pounds of cottonseed meal. The rate of feeding is changed to one pound of grain daily to every pound of fat produced a week.

Abundance of pasture is very important to the dairy cow. Being the hardest worked animal on the farm, she does not need a bare gymnasium for exercise. Every time she produces five gallons of milk she has used up more energy than a team of 1,500-pound horses plowing through an eight-hour day.

There are 40,000 muscles in an elephant's trunk and only 527 in a man's body.

We know a man who keeps his nose on the grindstone just so his wife can turn her's up at the neighbors.

At the annual meeting of Consolidated School Dist. No. 2, Charlevoix County, was held at the High School Auditorium in this city last Monday evening. For the office of Trustee, a total of some 259 votes were cast, Dr. C. H. Pray being elected to succeed himself by 116 votes. W. H. Sloan received 84 votes and R. G. Watson 58.

One of a number of delightful affairs given recently was a bridge tea sponsored by Mrs. John Porter, Mrs. W. G. Cornell and Mrs. R. G. Watson at the attractive summer home of Mrs. John Porter on Lake Charlevoix. Master Watson and little Miss Porter greeted the guests at the door with baskets containing place cards and the gracious hostesses welcomed them in the large living room, where a profusion of garden flowers were arranged which vied with the out-of-door surroundings of the home banked with every imaginable summer flower. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon which was played in the spacious game room where twelve tables were active. Honors for high score in the game were awarded to Miss Sidebotham and Mrs. George Carr, both of East Jordan. In the late afternoon tea was served in the sun parlor by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Howard Porter and Mrs. H. W. Dicken. Guests were included from Petoskey, Charlevoix and Boyne City.—Boyne Citizen.

State News in Brief

Portland—Mrs. Ray Moulter, who lives five miles west of here, was taken to a Lansing hospital, suffering from what is believed to be a rattlesnake bite. It was said the injury might necessitate amputation of a leg.

Nashville—Watson Walker achieved success when his home was burned. Walker spilled some kerosene on the floor. The best way to remove it, he thought, was to strike a match. Furniture valued at $150 was destroyed in the fire. Walker lived with his 70-year-old mother.

Bay City—A 38-mile pipe line, linking the Mt. Pleasant oil fields with the new tank farm of the Pure Oil company, at the mouth of the Saginaw river here, has been completed, it was announced by E. W. Winters, construction superintendent. When the first oil is pumped, two of eight tanks now under construction will be ready to receive it.

Rochester—Seven barns, which, with machinery they contained, were valued at $10,000, were destroyed by fire, one mile west of Washington. The fire spread from a bonfire built near one of the barns. The Rochester and Romeo fire departments devoted their attention to saving the residence, which was undamaged. The loss is covered by insurance.

Ionia—Mrs. Ruby Snell, of Fowler, who two years ago drowned her 6-year-old son, Paul, in a bath tub, ended her life at the Ionia State Hospital by hanging herself with a twisted sheet from a fire sprinkler in the women's building. Mrs. Snell was committed to the hospital Nov. 10, 1928, from Livingston County, following recommendation of a jury which acquitted her of killing her son.

Lansing—Michigan was fourth among the states in value of merchandise shipped abroad in 1927, according to comparative statistics given out at Washington, D. C., by the Commerce Department. Michigan's exports had a value of $355,300,020, compared with $367,253,146 in 1928 and $328,879,584 in 1927. During 1928 the State was excelled as an exporter only by New York, $871,741,399; Texas, $657,559,600; and California, $877,392,487.

Rochester—One man was killed and a man and boy injured when dynamite being prepared for blasting an artificial lake near here exploded prematurely. William Hummel, 60 years old, was killed. Willis Plassey, 10, and William Brode, a laborer, both living near Rochester, were injured. The boy is in a Pontiac hospital, with severe burns on the face and hands. Hummel was in a boat, examining the cap on the dynamite, when it exploded.

Lansing—Additional fire protection will be given two of the states' best known wild life sanctuaries through a decision of the forest fire division of the Department of Conservation to build more fire lines in Hartwick Pines and the Wilderness State park. These two sanctuaries contain some of the finest cover and most valuable virgin hardwood forests in the lower peninsula of Michigan. A forest fire recently ran dangerously near the Hartwick Pines before it could be halted.

Owosso—Pinned to the floor of his father's barn, face downward, when a heavy automobile tire and rim fell on him, James Szarka, 19 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gasper Szarka, of Bennington township, was smothered to death, according to Dr. C. A. Crane, county coroner. The tire was leaning against a partition and the boy, wandering into the barn, tipped it over on himself and was unable to extricate himself. The tire belonged to the car of relatives, who had come from Cleveland to visit the family.

Detroit—According to a report by President Hoover's Committee on Recent Economic Changes, Detroit is one of 14 principal cities which expended more on public school construction than on any other single item of municipal public works during the decade ended Dec. 31, 1928. The figures reveal that the Detroit outlay for educational buildings during the 10-year period amounted to $63,069,200, which was more than 30 per cent of the City's total public works expenditures during the decade, namely $208,124,000.

Lansing—Development of the Wolf Lake Hatchery for the hatching of trout has been authorized by the conservation commission. The commission, at its June meeting, authorized the construction of buildings, pipe line and trough equipment. While 200 troughs will be built immediately, the ultimate capacity of the hatchery will be 600 troughs. A caretaker's home will be constructed; an additional bass rearing pond will be built; a small amount of additional land will be purchased; and facilities for 200 trout troughs, each having a capacity of 6,000 fish will be provided for.

Lansing—Residents of and travelers through the deer country of the north are warned by conservation officials not to pick up small fawns even though they appear to have been deserted by their mothers. This practice is against the law and, in addition, is not a humane act. It is pointed out the small fawns often wander away from the does but are in no sense lost, for the mother will shortly pick them up. Attempting to rear them on a bottle, as is necessary with the youngsters, results usually in their deaths.

Marion—What promised at blossom time to be a bumper huckleberry crop is now nearly a total loss, according to growers of this vicinity. Frosts and storms have played havoc with the bushes.

Jackson—Lawrence Brown, 11-year-old son of Chester Brown of Napoleon, died in a hospital here as the result of internal injuries suffered when he was kicked by a horse on the farm of his uncle, Emmet Luce, one mile east of Napoleon.

Marquette—Jack Perkala, of Princeton, was killed instantly and two companions were injured, one seriously, when their roadster jumped a ditch on M-85, near Lathrop, and tore down about 150 feet of fence. Toivo Maki and a man named Hill were taken to the Ishpeming Hospital. Maki's arm may be amputated.

Ann Arbor—Rising costs in the administration of the health service for University of Michigan students was given as the reason for an increase of $5 in the tuition fees of all schools and colleges. Beginning with the fall semester, Sept. 29, a total of $15, instead of $10 as formerly, will be set aside from each student's fees to meet health service costs.

Moran—Inspector H. M. Alger of the Conservation Department was driving along near here recently. A number of cows were feeding near the right-of-way. Ahead he saw two animals feeding near the road. He watched them to determine whether they were going to walk out in front of his automobile. Alger was 100 yards away when he discovered they were not cows, but two full-grown moose. Both animals looked at him inquiringly and trotted off to the woods.

Grand Rapids—Louis Wasserman, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wasserman, was drowned in Bostwick Lake in which he and his cousin, Isadore Sernick, 16, also of this city, capsized. Jack Bunch, 18-year-old life guard at the lake, went to the aid of the pair and got a grip on each but was forced to release Wasserman in a struggle that ensued. He took Sernick 100 feet to shore and returned to Wasserman, but was unable to locate the body until 10 minutes later.

Manistee—More than 3,000,000 rainbow trout eggs were obtained at Junction Dam on the Manistee river this year for the propagation of rainbows at the various hatcheries. According to a report, 2,278 rainbow trout, yielding 3,522,700 eggs, were stripped as the fish came up the river to spawn. Of the trapped and stripped fish, 1,568 were females and 718 were males. After the stripping, 1,668 of the fish were placed over Junction Dam and the rest were placed over Stronach Dam.

Monroe—If anybody is offering a prize for sound sleeping, Ben Dubey, local fisherman, wants to get in touch with him. Dubey prefers that the prize be a pair of trousers in at least fair condition. One night, he told police, he owned a good pair of pants and had $800 in one of the pockets. He placed the garments under his mattress. The next morning the trousers and money were missing. Neither Dubey nor his wife was disturbed by the process of removing them from under the mattress.

Paw Paw—When their automobile went into a ditch east of here Mrs. George H. Easton, 60 years old, of Otsego, was burned to death and her husband, city clerk of Otsego, was injured seriously. The Eastons were going to Lake Cora, Van Buren County. Relatives following in other cars said that Easton lost control of the car and that after it turned over in a ditch it burst into flames. He was quickly extricated but his wife was pinned beneath the wreckage and rescuers were helpless.

Lansing—Michigan's state police radio system will be in operation before winter, Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety, asserted as plans were completed for the erection of aerial towers. The towers are being donated to the state by the Consumers Power company. Construction of a one-room building to house the broadcasting equipment is now under way in the rear of the police barracks in East Lansing. It will be completed within a few weeks, Olander expects, and the set will then be installed.

St. Clair—There's a home here protected by a three-story heavy wire fence, and supporting wooden posts, that looks for all the world like some kind of fortification. After the residents had lived in their home for years, the St. Clair River Country Club built a course in its vicinity. The house is surrounded on three sides by a golf fairway, and is in direct line with the tee where golfers boom their drives toward the house. After experiencing many broken windows, a shattered eave's trough, and a rain of golf balls on the porch, the home owner built the fence.

Dearborn—The beginning of construction on the new hotel at the Ford airport, announced recently by the Ford Motor Co., marked the first step in Detroit and one of the first in the United States to provide air travelers with hotel accommodations in conjunction with a passenger station. It was brought about by a constant increase in aerial traffic. There are to be 109 guest rooms, each with bath. Special features of the hotel include observation stations on the roof and large windows fronting on the airport.

RESPONSIBILITY

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

In "Green Pastures," the much-talked-of negro drama which ran in New York for some months this last winter and spring, there is a very human and material presentation of the goings on in heaven—a material heaven such as an illiterate and pious mind might imagine. It was not an easy job running the heavenly choir and keeping things going along regularly and peacefully, and one of the heavenly hosts is heard to say, "Sometimes it's hard, even bein' God."

Even omnipotence must carry heavy responsibilities, and it may be they are not easily borne. It was one of the Henrys who, worn out with the worries of his kingship, is quoted as saying: "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." It isn't all glory and gayest times being a king. Anyone who holds a high position must bear responsibility and pay dearly for the honor and the distinction which the position carries.

I thought that Weldon was having a pretty soft time. He lived in a beautiful house, he seemed to be free from financial worries, and he was president of the local bank. As far as I could see he came late to work and left early, but sometimes, perhaps, "It was hard bein' president of the bank."

He had been having a consultation with a man and his wife when I called on him last, and as they came out of his office they all three looked tense and worried. Things were not going right I could see.

"We don't have a very easy time these days, we bankers," he said. "Banks are going on the rocks everywhere, and we wonder when we wake up in the morning what's going to happen to us before night. Maybe there'll be a run on the bank, and we'll be closed up. It makes one old to carry such heavy responsibility. Sometimes I wonder if it is really worth the test. We pay for responsibility."

Dale had always looked forward to the time when he would be president of his fraternity. It was the greatest honor which could come to him in college, he felt. He has the job and it is weighing on him.

"We've a fellow over at the house," he said to me yesterday, "whom I like immensely, and yet I've got to break his pledge. He doesn't fit in; the fellows don't take to him, and the job of telling him is mine, of course. It isn't easy." His face was a little drawn; he was learning that honor carries responsibility.

Hobart was president of the school board. He liked the distinction and the prestige it gave him. The superintendent of schools had been in office for forty years. He was a kindly old man, gentle, lovable, kind-hearted, and he adored his work; but he was inefficient—he was far behind the times in his methods. There was only one thing to do and that was to ask him to resign. It was Hobart's job. He did it well, but he didn't run for office the next year. He didn't care for the responsibility.

Poison Potato Bugs

Soon as They Appear

Potato bugs, when present, should be poisoned without delay. Paris green may be used as a dust when diluted with about 30 parts of hydrated lime. Dry arsenate of lime is likewise satisfactory and may be diluted with about 10 parts of hydrated lime.

Dusts are applied easily by placing in coarse meshed sacks which may be shaken over the plants. Applications made to dew covered plants adhere readily.

Two poison applications will often be necessary. Egg deposits on the plants should be watched and when young bugs begin to appear the second poison dust should be used. The bugs are controlled easily in this stage before they have been able to do much damage.

Poisons can also be applied as liquid sprays. For this method, from two to three pounds of dry arsenate of lead should be used to 50 gallons of water. Only eight ounces of paris green will be required for the same amount of water but from two to three pounds of lime should be added to prevent possible burning of foliage.

Agricultural Notes

No weed should ever be allowed to go to seed in the garden.

A gardener's skill is reflected largely in the ability to mature vegetables early in the season.

Clean up the garden thoroughly before you get ready to plant. Bugs will harbor in old vegetation from last year.

Give carrots a fairly dry situation this year. They make better roots if not oversupplied with moisture, but they don't want drought.

Principle Laid Assured

There is, it is said, a small spot on Edinburgh castle near the entrance of the castle that is legally Nova Scotia under a law that has never been repealed, as told by H. V. Morton in his "In Search of Scotland." The explanation is that during the reign of Charles I this small area was declared Nova Scotian territory in order that newly made Nova Scotian baronets might "take seizen" of their lands without crossing the Atlantic to do so. It is an interesting fact, therefore, that this piece of wall and pavement in the heart of Edinburgh is legally in Canada.

"I suppose they ask a lot for the rent of this beautiful apartment?" "They asked me several times last month."

Novel System in Scotland

Perhaps the world's most used method for identifying criminals is the Bertillon system. It uses the following measurements: Body—height standing; height sitting, inches from finger tips to finger tips with outstretched arms; head—length and width; length and width of right ear; limbs—length of foot, left middle finger, little finger, and forearm.

Stretch Your Dollar

ADVERTISING helps you stretch your dollar.

You do not need to shop around all day to find what you want at the price you can afford to pay. The advertisements in the newspapers tell you where you can buy it at the lowest price. Advertisements save you time, save money, save physical effort. They make buying easy and sure.

Advertising enables the woman in the home to compare values without moving from her easy chair. She can shop comfortably in her own living-room. When she has decided what and where to buy it, it takes but little time and effort to complete the purchases.

Women appreciate the advantages of advertising. They trust it. They believe in the goods advertised—and buy them.

Keep within your budget by purchasing merchandise you see advertised in your newspaper.
