Guernsey Show Goes Over Big

27 GUERNSEYS EXHIBITED AND JUDGED.

The third annual Guernsey Summer Show and Picnic held in East Jordan last Saturday attracted a large audience of dairymen from all sections of the County. Over 75 sat down to a real picnic dinner at noon in the beautiful Tourist Park that East Jordan can well be proud of and did they eat; you know.

Headlining the program was the address by Prof. E. L. Anthony, Head of the Dairy Department of Michigan State College. His discussion of the dairy situation and other dairy topics was enthusiastically received. His remarks were well chosen and given in language that all dairymen know.

The next feature was the awarding of diplomas to some 22 dairymen who have herds averaging over 300 lbs. of butterfat as shown by the cow-testing association records.

Boys and Girls Club work came in for its share of attention when Carlton Smith and Robert Cummings gave a demonstration on "Fitting a Calf for the Show." They showed the proper manner of clipping of excess hair, polishing of the horns, blanketing, washing, and training of the calf as preparatory steps before entering the show ring.

The show itself was the best yet ever held in quality and correct Guernsey type. Every year the display indicates that real progress is being made by the Guernsey breeders of Charlevoix County and that in a very few years there will be a large number of high quality Guernseys owned by many dairymen.

The show was judged by Prof. Anthony in his very capable manner and attracted fully 150 people around the ring. The outstanding female of the show was owned by Murphy Bros. of East Jordan. This Guernsey was 5 years of age, and a splendidly built purebred.

The prize was a new sanitary milk pail, donated by the East Jordan Lumber Co. Store.

MICHIGAN STEPS OUT AS T-B FREE STATE

A "celebration" banquet, in recognition of Michigan's recent designation as a modified accredited area, free from tuberculosis in its dairy cattle, will be held at Michigan State College on September 19th.

Agricultural interests co-operating in staging the "T-B Free" meeting include: The Michigan Department of Agriculture; the U. S. Department of Agriculture; The Michigan Farm Bureau; Michigan State College; the U. S. Livestock Exchange, and many other organizations. Men of national reputation in the livestock and animal disease world are scheduled to speak at the banquet.

Michigan is said to be the first dairy State to be given the accredited ranking. North Carolina and Maine are two other States already accredited, but both have but a relatively small number of dairy cattle. Accreditation means that Bovine Tuberculosis infection has been reduced to less than one-half of one per cent for the entire State.

Tuberculosis eradication work was started in Michigan in 1917, according to E. L. Anthony, head of the M. S. C. dairy department. Since that time 185,000 herds numbering more than 1,500,000 head have been tested, with 58,324 reactors found and slaughtered during this time.

Aside from the health value to consumers of milk, dairy cattle from accredited areas are said to command higher prices. Professor Anthony estimates the value of dairy cattle sold from Michigan to other dairy centers at $1,500,000 annually. The demand for Michigan cattle because the State has been known to be relatively free from tuberculosis has been great, increasing the value of Michigan's dairy cattle at least 25 per cent, according to Professor Anthony.

COLD STORAGE AIDS WATER CORE APPLES

Apples which are so badly affected by water core that they are not readily merchantable can be brought to first class condition by storing them for periods of 90 days, it has been found in trials made by the horticultural department at Michigan State College.

The varieties upon which the trials were run were Delicious and Wagner which had been grown in orchards in Benzie and Leelanau counties in 1929. Ninety per cent of the Delicious had water core at picking time, and 50 to 75 per cent of the Wagners were similarly affected.

The apples were placed in cold storage and held at a temperature of 32 degrees Fahrenheit from October 23 to January 15. When examined at the expiration of this period none of the Delicious showed water core and only three of the Wagners had not cleared up.

Another trial in which the apples were placed in storage Oct. 29 and held to Jan. 15, showed similar results. Most of the apples in this lot showed no water core and when the condition was present the area involved was small.

Members of the horticultural department state that the storage of the apples restored 75 per cent of the affected apples to a good merchantable condition.

Roy Webster Passes Away

PROMINENT LOCAL MAN DIES SUDDENLY HERE TUESDAY MORNING.

The death early Tuesday morning of Roy E. Webster, 53 years old, following a cerebral hemorrhage Monday morning from which he never regained consciousness, came as a shock to local friends of the man. He was born in Mason County, May 22, 1877, and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Webster, moved to Mecosta County in 1882.

Mr. Webster taught in rural schools of Mecosta County for several terms, and when the family moved to Big Rapids in 1895, he studied a business course at the Ferris Institute. He was employed at the local postoffice for several years.

On October 23, 1907, Mr. Webster married Mabel Fay, and the family later moved to East Jordan in 1910, where Mr. Webster was office manager for the Michigan Iron & Chemical Company for around 19 years, until the Company ceased operations in East Jordan.

In the fall of 1928, the Webster family returned to Big Rapids, at which time Mr. Webster purchased the abstract business of Mecosta County. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, uniting when he was 16 years old, and has held various church offices. Mr. Webster was also identified with civic enterprises, and was President of the Board of Education at East Jordan for several years. He also was a member of bands, both in East Jordan and Big Rapids.

Besides the widow, and two daughters, Dorothy and Evelyn, Mr. Webster leaves his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Webster of Big Rapids, and a brother, Charles, of South Bend, Indiana, who is at present in Calgary, Alberta.

Mr. Webster died at 1:45 a. m., Tuesday, after being ill less than 42 hours. He left the family home of North Warren Monday morning on his way to the abstract office, but returned immediately, Dr. Gordon H. Yeo, who was called, said that the illness was very serious, and Mr. Webster failed to regain consciousness, apparently suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. Just a year ago, he became ill similarly while in Bay City.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 p. m., from the home, 228 North Warren. Rev. Henry Liddicoat will officiate and burial will be in Highland View Cemetery.—The Big Rapids Pioneer.

Rev. and Mrs. James Leitch and others from this city plan to attend the funeral services, today.

Dr. Gervers to Return To Bellaire in Two Weeks

Dr. J. H. R. Gervers, who was shot when officiating as a member of a posse hunting the bank robbers that held up the Antrim County State Savings Bank here June 2, expects to return to his home at Bellaire in about two weeks.

The doctor has not regained the use of his legs, being still paralyzed from his hips down as the result of the shot fired by another posseman, which grazed his spine in crossing from the left side of his neck and lodging back of his left shoulder. Surgeons hold out no hopes of his ever regaining the use of his legs, even those at the Mayo Brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he went for examination a short time after being shot.

The doctor is in good spirits, and his friends hope he can at least take care of his office practice after returning to his home at Bellaire.—Mancelona Herald.

KNOWING HOW TO SPELL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

newspaper reporters, public officials—held a spelling contest not long ago, the words being given out by a statesman, who used an old-fashioned spelling book such as we were familiar with sixty years ago in the district schools of the country. It didn't take long to floor the whole lot, and they went down like a row of untrained soldiers, facing the fire of machine guns. The simple truth is we don't know how to spell. If a misspelled word creeps into our correspondence, we blame the error upon our stenographers.

It is rather interesting to see what common words floored the statesmen—"salable," and "mortise," and "tranquillity" and "lullial." Words which one should expect every intelligent person to be able to manage were too much for them.

In my own experience there are a dozen simple words in common use which more than half the high school graduates who come to college are likely to stumble on—"Sophomore" and "laboratory" and "athlete" and "truly" and "receive" and "embarrassment" and "judgment" are quite commonly too much for the young student. "Accommodate" and "transferred" are more often misspelled than spelled correctly. Even in railway stations I see "Pullman Accommodations" in gold letters.

It seems now to be no disgrace not to know how to spell.

"Oh, I can't spell," a healthy, intelligent sophomore says to me, and that with him seems to end it. He admits the fact and feels no obligation apparently to strengthen his orthographic weaknesses. I had a brief note last week from a high school boy who managed in a short page to misspell seven words. Pretty good, I thought, considering the opportunity which he had.

In the old days there were two or three things which we did learn in school—quick arithmetical calculation, the grammatical construction of sentences, and spelling. Not to be able to work all the problems in Ray's Third Part Arithmetic was a disgrace. If one could not diagram, analyze and parse the words in any sentence which came along he was anathema, and spelling was the chief indoor sport. We drove miles on winter evenings to demonstrate our ability in spelling contests. I was the pride of the community once when I was fifteen, for I entered a spelling match at the Burrill schoolhouse a dozen miles from home and spelled down seven school teachers. It would not be so much of a task today, I suspect, nor so much of an honor.

It still gives me a shock to get a letter from a man of standing and to find in it misspelled words. It suggests carelessness, inaccuracy, inexcusable ignorance. I had always thought well of Carson. He is a graduate of one of the great educational institutions of the country, and he goes into good society. I had a letter from him last week in which in three distinct places he speaks of the "alumnae" of an organization to which he belongs. Carson doesn't know how to spell.

Adrian—The crying of a baby probably saved the lives of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fayling, living three and one-half miles southeast of Ottawa Lake. The child's cries awakened Mrs. Fayling who found the house in flames. The members of the family were forced to flee in their night clothing. The house with contents of furnishings and clothing was destroyed.

Detroit—Alton D. Spencer, exchange editor of The News, died recently in Cottage Hospital, Grosse Pointe, after a month's illness. Mr. Spencer, who would shortly have been 89 years old, had been employed by newspapers in Bay City, Battle Creek and Grand Rapids and Columbus, O., before going to The News five years ago. The body was taken to Battle Creek for burial.

Lansing—Robert Kurtz, 18 years old, son of William Kurtz, route 5, was drowned while swimming in the Leonard gravel pit, two miles south of Lansing. He was seen to suffer an attack of cramps and friends went to his assistance and pulled him from the water. He was breathing when rescued but died while efforts were being made to revive him.

Double Vocal Chords

One of the rarest of nature's human phenomena has found expression in six-year-old Gerald Kay of Newman, Ill. Gerald surprised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Kay, when he was a baby by whistling before he could talk. It appeared that he was equipped with a double set of vocal cords, the extra set being known as the "robin" or "bird" type. Now, at the age of six, Gerald is able to whistle or warble in his throat, while eating any kind of food.

Pontiac—A reduction of 20 per cent in the amount of milk received at Oakland County creameries has been reported during recent weeks as a result of the drought. Milk production dropped 10 per cent in July and has decreased another 10 per cent thus far in August, but distributors say there is still plenty to supply local needs, owing to a drop in consumption.

Detroit—Three boys were burned slightly when a lantern exploded in a shack where they were going to spend the night. The boys are: Harold Brake, 13 years old; Fred Brandt, 11, and his brother, Francis, 9. They were taken to the Redford branch of Receiving Hospital with burns on the arms. The boys told police the Brake boy was filling the lantern when it exploded.

Detroit—The Motor Wheel corporation must pay Roscoe C. Hoffman, 40 years old, $206,747.75 for infringing his patent on disc automobile wheels. This sum represents a royalty of 15 cents on each of 1,267,905 wheels manufactured between January 1, 1922, and November 14, 1928, or a total of $190,185.75. Together with interest of $16,562, this will bring the total amount to be received by Hoffman to $206,747.75.

State News in Brief

Coldwater—Harold Munger, 17, was severely injured when he was struck in the chest by a hay hook while helping with the hay harvest.

Muskegon—According to a recent report, Muskegon is to have its first arcade building. The structure will include 15 stores and cost a quarter of a million dollars.

St. Ignace—Plans are being prepared for a ramp which will accommodate seaplanes and amphibians. This will be operated in connection with airports, already well known in the north country.

Detroit—Vera Brown, a newspaper reporter, and one of the few women in Michigan holding an airplane pilot's license, was injured when she made a forced landing from 2,000 feet on the surface of Lake St. Clair.

Detroit—A deaf mute accused by police of having been involved in five accidents in the three weeks he has owned an automobile, and of taking his hands from his steering wheel in order to converse with passengers while he drives, was found guilty of reckless driving.

Grand Rapids—Plans for construction of a new $35,000 unit of the Kent county infirmary have been approved, and authority given to proceed with repairs for the old buildings. A committee appointed by the board reported the institution as overcrowded, unsanitary and a fire trap.

Rochester—To guard against a shortage of water such as compelled restriction of its use this summer, a driller has been engaged and new wells will be sunk this year. Villagers have been permitted to use water only one hour a day to water lawns and gardens, as the result of an alarming decrease in the reservoirs.

Lansing—Like the man who held 13 spades and bid one no trump, Samuel S. Hargraves, is lucky and unlucky at the same time. Hargraves made a hole in one—but it was the wrong hole. Playing with E. A. Tansey, at the Crystal Lake course, Hargraves teed off No. 3 but it was a slice and rolled directly into the cup on No. 1 green.

Ann Arbor—More than a quarter of a million dollars has been involved in a contract for paving eleven miles of U. S. 23 highway between here and Milan. The contract was awarded Grace Construction and Supply Company of Marshall. Paving will probably start in the Fall, and upon completion, will provide a direct all-paved route from here to Toledo.

Lansing—Immediate purchase of all lands needed for widening Gratiot avenue between Detroit and Mt. Clemens is to be made by Highway Department agents, following a conference between the highway committee of the administrative board and the communities along the trunk line. The administrative board has set aside $500,000 for purchase of the right of way.

Bay City—The granary and two barns of the Bay County Poor Farm burned to the ground, causing a loss estimated at more than $30,000 and imperiling the main building a few hundred feet away. Thousands of bushels of grain, hay and straw were burned, as were all implements. A spark from a threshing machine is believed to have ignited a strawstack, where the fire was first discovered. All livestock was saved.

Monroe—A family of seven was rescued by neighbors from its burning home in Whitford Township, southwest of here. The house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Falen and five children was burned to the ground with a loss of more than $5,000. The lower part of the house was in flames when neighbors discovered the fire. They rushed through the flames to the second floor and carried the family to safety only a few moments before the roof caved in.

Pontiac—Bankers have warned businessman that a number of forged Detroit Edison company pay checks are in circulation. The forgeries are not copies of the check form used by the company but a number of them have been successfully passed. The number of worthless checks issued in the city increased sharply for a few weeks, presumably because of the shutdown of automobile factories for a vacation period, with a resulting shortage of funds for many workers.

Fernalde—Grace Wells, 14-year-old Campfire girl living at Oak Park, saved the lives of two girls, 12 and 10 years of age when she swam to their rescue in Middle Straights Lake in State Park No. 1. The two girls were playing with a large water ball which the wind carried beyond the reach of the younger one. Her companion swam to her assistance but was unable to reach her. Grace Wells took the one to shore and supported the other in deep water until help arrived.

Houghton—Discovery of 25 lakes which do not appear on any map, and several scores of uncharted rivers and streams on Isle Royale was announced by Talbert Abrams, an aviator who is surveying the island for the Government and State. The lakes, densely wooded, lie in the interior of the island. Some are nearly a mile in length. Many rivers and streams, although short are several rods in width and rush over rocky ledges to Lake Superior, creating waterfalls and gorges of great beauty.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

Harold Russell Ryder, the broker who spent millions on Broadway before he crashed, has, according to close friends, a most extraordinary and puzzling personality. They describe him as a man with a mixture of a delusion of grandeur, a kindness complex, a total financial irresponsibility and a Robin Hood desire to aid the needy. Ryder never, in his spending, was of the loud-voiced aggressive type. Always courteous and gentle, he spoke in almost husky tones.

"May I please have another good table tonight?" he would say to a head waiter, and then to a bus boy. "Will you see that all my guests have plenty of water?"

Then he might give the head waiter $100, and the bus boy $10. He knew the waiters in the places he frequented by name; knew their family history; asked concerning their wives and children. He always tipped lavishly, but if any of the waiters was in trouble, he would hand him a big enough bill to help him out.

Those who knew Ryder tell me he had a mania for helping persons financially. Waiters, taxi-drivers, musicians—he always has been fond of music—scrubwomen, actresses, chorus girls, any of them could get money from him if he thought they needed it. His friends declare that this gave him a reputation he didn't deserve; that he was no roue; didn't especially care about women—unless they were broke. His beneficent, caliph-of-Bagdad complex started working immediately to demand his aid and protection for anyone who did not appear to have any money. It was his pleasure to fill their pockets.

All the night clubs know Ryder; the night club workers are for him to the last man. Why not? Ryder is said to have spent over $40,000 on Broadway in a month. Some few were grateful. One man sat in Ryder's office two hours to see him. When he finally did see him, he gave him a hand-made wooden cigarette case.

"I made this for you," he said. "It was the only way I could show my gratitude."

"Where did I see you and what did I ever do for you?" asked Ryder. "Don't you remember me?" said the man. "I'm a waiter. One night you asked me about myself. I told you my wife was to have a child and I had saved no money. I didn't know what to do. You gave me $200. I cannot tell you how that helped."

Wherever Ryder got the money, he certainly spent it, and largely on others; although he did own half a dozen expensive cars and had a suite of seven rooms at an expensive country club, where he kept a couple of Japanese valets to wait on his guests. But he visited humbler places of entertainment. They say that one afternoon, in a small Greenwich Village restaurant, he heard and liked a male quartet.

"Why haven't you a piano?" he asked one of the villagers. "We can't afford one," was the frank reply.

Ryder immediately called up one of the big piano concerns; told who he was; asked them to keep open until he arrived. When he got there he bought a piano which cost several thousand dollars, put it on a truck and had it delivered in Greenwich Village.

"Here is a piano," he said mildly to members of the quartet. "You sing well, but I like songs better with instrumental accompaniment."

On another occasion Ryder paid $7,000 for a radio and a piano and gave them away. A taxi man he helped in Paris constituted himself Ryder's bodyguard. If he took another car, this driver would follow with his taxi, until such time as Ryder got safely back to his hotel. Ryder did everything in the grand manner, even offering any friend he was sending home a choice of several makes of cars.

Two Girls Burned to Death in Wrecked Auto

Columbus, N. J.—Trapped in roaring flames, Louise Pergolino, sixteen, and Lena Sabatino, twenty-two, both of Trenton, were burned to death when a car driven by Frank Palotto, also of Trenton, crashed into a glass gas tank outside a roadside service station near Grovesville last night. Gasoline sprayed from the broken tank and, striking the heated engine, burst into a blanket of flames which prevented would-be rescuers from reaching the imprisoned girls. Palotto, who was hurried through a window to the roadside, escaped uninjured. He was held on a technical charge of manslaughter pending investigation of the accident.

New Grave Discloses Overripe Egg Burial

Modesto, Calif.—Dave Bishop, tender of a bridge on the San Joaquin river not far from where three men were killed in cold blood April 28 by an itinerant laborer, found what looked like a new grave near the bridge. He hurried to a telephone and summoned deputy sheriffs. When the "grave" was opened it was found to contain several dozen incubator turkey eggs—a farmer had buried after they reached a ripe old age without producing turkeys.

Seed Marketing Not Favored for Farmer

Success Depends on Careful Attention to Details.

By careful purchase of better seeds farmers may save money and at the same time enlarge their returns by bigger yields, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1232-F, "Seed Marketing Hints for the Farmer," recently reprinted by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Farmers obtain their seeds, George C. Edler, the author, points out, from three sources—their own farms, from other farmers, or from dealers. Early purchasers usually have an advantage. If a great quantity of seeds is needed, it is wise to get samples which should be tested for purity and germination. Better grades generally pay and purchase by weight is considered preferable.

Success of the farmer who grows seeds for sale depends largely on the care given to threshing, cleaning, sacking, sampling, testing, tagging and storing, the author points out. He may sell seeds to neighbors, to local dealers or shippers, to traveling seed buyers, to distant seedsmen or by advance growing contracts. His price will depend on supply, demand, quality, general business conditions and his ability to find the best outlet. There should usually be a good demand for fancy quality and superior strains of seeds.

Hydrated Lime Checks Clubroot of Cabbage

At least three-quarters of a ton of hydrated lime per acre is necessary to check clubroot of cabbage in thoroughly infested soils and it takes at least two tons to produce a commercially satisfactory control, the United States Department of Agriculture has found.

As a result of experiments, now reported in technical bulletin 181-T, "Clubroot of Crucifers," published by the United States Department of Agriculture, it was determined that alkalinity of soil alone was not the controlling factor, unless the right alkali was present. The disease persisted in one soil made alkaline with calcium carbonate, but diminished in another less alkaline soil treated with calcium hydroxide. Very heavy applications of ground limestone did not retard the disease and air-slaked lime was found to be of questionable value.

Cabbage seedlings are often diseased in the seed bed without showing disease above ground and may thus transfer the disease to the field. Later in the field the tops wilt and the plants may die or fall to produce heads. Heavy treatment of soils with hydrated lime may prevent clubroot from gaining a foothold. The disease is present in 36 states and in 21 of them is important to truck growers.

Eradicate Wild Garlic on Cultivated Soils

A little garlic is all right in soup, if you like it, but the flavor in flour or milk is decidedly undesirable. Plowing late each fall and again in early spring, followed by the growing of a thoroughly cultivated row crop, is thus far the best known method of killing wild garlic on cultivated land, but this method must be followed for three years or more in order to clean up the weed, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. Fairly deep plowing should be started in the fall in time to destroy young late-summer plants before they produce new bulbs. This work should be done as a rule in October or November in the South and about a month later in the North. The garlic tops must be plowed under completely or else they will keep on growing.

Farm Hints

Spring, summer and fall are good times to spread limestone.

To eliminate the bad taste of cod liver oil: Feed it to the hens and eat the eggs they lay.

There were 5,761,000 cases of eggs in storage May 1 compared with 8,962,000 cases a year ago.

A trench silo is not as good as the usual upright silo but it is a very good substitute for one in an emergency or as a temporary proposition.

Artificial brooding of turkeys is a means of avoiding worms, lice, mites, and possibly blackhead, if the poulters are kept from infested areas.

A width of 22 to 36 feet, outside dimensions, is most satisfactory for the dairy barn. Thirty feet is too narrow for convenience and more than 36 feet is likely to result in a cold, damp stable.

Dipping the sheep after shearing will save feed later because the operation will kill lice and ticks which annoy the lambs and keep them from making proper gains. Any good comb preparation or stock dip can be used.

There seems to be general agreement that religion in itself is wrong if it helps the other side. A seaside town proposes to have a carillon. Other coastal resorts require carillons. The chief difference is that high-brow tells you what, somebody else thinks.

Parasites Harm All Live Stock

Pests Are Tenacious and Able to Withstand Many Attacks

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If it were possible to quantify the damage done by parasites to the live stock industry, the total loss would appear as tall bamboos and small trees growing in a dense forest. It would be the kind of forest where the trees are so close together that the sunlight is almost entirely excluded.

Parasites are Tenacious of Live Stock

Such a "parasitic" pasture would stand "overgrown" with the kind of parasites that infest the live stock. These parasites are tenacious of live stock and are able to withstand many attacks.

Lead Arsenate Checks Harmful Cabbage Worms

Lead arsenate, either as dust or spray, is undoubtedly the most effective poison for controlling the cabbage worm. For spraying, mix one ounce of powder with two gallons of water.

FARM FACTS

Experiments show that potato yields are greatly increased by the use of a large sized seed piece.

Now is the time to inspect the binder for needed repairs. If the knotter books are rusty, polish it with fine emery paper.

Superphosphate is equally well adapted for use on the dropping boards of the poultry house as in the gutters of the dairy farm.

The wild bacteria that destroy cucumbers and muskmelons winter over and are disseminated in the field by cucumber beetles.

Spray or paint the perches and nests of the poultry house with carbollinum, crank case oil, or white wash to control red mites.

When we discuss bull associations, we speak of the individual additions to a program of breeding and start a neighborhood or community program.

Good breeding stock and proper care help to grow a litter of nine or more pigs to a weight of 2,000 pounds in six months.

Jerusalem artichokes, found valuable in many districts, are usually planted in the spring. A deep, rich soil is needed here, similar to that for potatoes.

The early garden crops are the best for succession plantings and should be planted without interfering with the main crop which will occupy adjoining rows all the season.

It is an excellent practice to cover the soil with a layer of straw, timothy and orchard grass, or other similar material.

All oat grass, timothy and clover are used. Sow in spring, on a fine, firm seed bed.

To the Voters of Charlevoix County

I wish to announce my candidacy on the Republican ticket for the office of County Clerk. Since being appointed to office of County Clerk in July 1929, I have given all the duties of said office faithful attention. I am unable to see each voter in the county personally as the duties of office prohibit me from making such a campaign, but I respectfully solicit your vote and support at the Primaries Sept. 9th, and if nominated and elected I shall continue to perform the duties of County Clerk in a prompt, efficient and courteous manner.

FENTON R. BULOW

For Judge of Probate
[X] Ervan A. Ruessegger

A cross placed before my name on the ballot at the coming Primary Election will help to continue me in that office to which I was appointed by Governor Green last winter to fill vacancy after resignation of Judge Correll. Thank you.

FRANK P. BOHN

Candidate on the Republican Ticket

CONGRESSMAN

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

At the Primaries
September 9, 1930

He represents ALL the people of his district.

He has consistently worked and voted for ALL increases in veterans legislation.

He has been always on the job; alert to guard the best interests of his constituents; ever ready to listen to their counsels and carry out their mandates.

He is asking for your support on his past record of faithful and efficient service.

Louis E. Anderson
Your Representative In State Legislature

By the unwritten law of the Republican Party, is entitled to a second term.

Your favorable consideration at the September Primaries will be genuinely appreciated.

Announcement

I will be a candidate at the Republican Primary Election Sept. 9, for the office of REGISTER OF DEEDS.

I have lived in Charlevoix County for the past 23 years, 13 years in Banking, and 10 years in the Garage and Auto business.

If the voters of Charlevoix County honor me by election to the office of Register of Deeds, I shall endeavor to perform the duties of the office in a prompt, courteous, and efficient manner.

Your support now, and your vote Sept. 9 will be greatly appreciated.

Sabin Hooper

ARTHUR L. FITCH FOR REPRESENTATIVE

IN THE STATE LEGISLATURE
FOR THE CHARLEVOIX-LELANAU DISTRICT.

STANDS FOR—

1. Reduction of the tax burden on real property. Believes that the home, occupied by the owner as a homestead, whether it be a place in town or forty acres of the farm, should have a proper exemption from taxation. Insists that unless action is taken soon the average taxpayer will be unable to pay.

2. Better highways for the district, and its share of concrete roads. Says that Trunk line 66 must be something more than a line of survey stakes. Its completion means a conservative estimate of $100,000 annually to the City of East Jordan alone and of still greater increase of business to the county. Believes that the Representative in the Legislature should be the leader in the work and not leave it to private committees.

3. Adequate protection of the rapidly growing cherry industry. Permanent appropriation for state inspection against fly infection and disease.

4. Amendment of the 1929 fish law which operates against our local interests by depriving the permanent residents of sport and needed food from hook and line fishing and spearing through the ice; imposes a nuisance tax of $10 before such fish may be sold or given to a neighbor, restricts the taking of Mackinaw trout in Lake Charlevoix in April, the only season in which they can be taken with any success, only to permit this fish to pass out into Lake Michigan to be taken in gill and pound nets. Lake Charlevoix is not an inland lake and the law must recognize that fact.

5. The re-apportionment of congressional districts is likely to injure Charlevoix County particularly, which is on the border line of proposed changes. Construction of federal buildings and harbor improvements now in prospect may go by the board unless we arouse ourselves and look after our own interests.

The claim of a second term by his opponent based on what he calls "unwritten law" of the Republican Party, is not based on fact. There is no such law. Return to public office like a re-hiring in private employment must depend on service rendered and it must be earned, and it is for the people to say whether it has been earned. If there is such a law, his opponent himself ignored it by becoming a candidate in 1928 against a man who has served the district but one term. He served Charlevoix County alone one term but had but one term in the new district. Mr. Fitch says that he is not concerned with bygone elections, but the fact remains just the same. It is a case of inconsistency—the shoe pinching another foot.

The people will make no mistake in choosing Mr. Fitch to represent them. More important matters will come before the next legislature than at any time in 25 years. Every voter should investigate for himself and herself and then vote for the man who will best look after their interests. Mr. Fitch is active, energetic, fearless and sincere. He has many times demonstrated his ability. He always has been a booster for Charlevoix County. During six years as Prosecuting Attorney he discharged his duty without fear or favor as he saw it. Never wavered because of influence from any source and never sought to defend himself against unjust criticism preferring to leave that to the people and his conscience.

Muskegon—The Wabash Railway System has purchased 400 feet frontage on Muskegon Lake to be developed as its terminal in the operation of car ferries between Muskegon and Milwaukee. The Wabash has filed an application with the Interstate Commerce Commission asking permission to use the Grand Trunk tracks between Ashley and Muskegon. It is over this road that it hopes to reach the lake and provide the service from Milwaukee.

Bay City — Marathon contests are out in Bay City. The Chief of Police has issued a ukase that endurance attempts of all kinds are taboo, saying that they were the worst nonsense ever heard of. The first effect of the order was the stopping of a day and night marathon roller skating attempt participated in by six girls. An array of tree sitters had already deserted their leafy quarters when the order came out. Plans for a bicycle marathon also were disrupted.

Ypsilanti—Trying to "beat the light" at the intersection of Michigan avenue and Washington street, cost John Kubick, Detroit, $53 besides the damage to his own car. Kubick was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and was fined $25 in Municipal Court. He also was required to pay damages of $11 to Mrs. C. R. Williams and $17 to Christ Bilakos, both of this city, for damage done to their cars when he crashed into them while attempting to get across the intersection before the amber light changed.
