To Preserve Wild Life

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TAKE ACTION AT MEETING, WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

At a meeting of the Knights of Pythias, Wednesday evening, the attention of the Lodge was called to the fact that a great deal of game abounds within the city limits.

It was suggested by Mayor Gidley that the City was making a definite effort to preserve the muskrat, ducks, pheasants, and mink found in more or less abundance at the head of the lake extending nearly a mile up the Jordan from the city. Many of the gentlemen present being especially anxious to see this suggestion carried out asked and had a resolution passed in favor of asking local hunters and trappers to not kill any game within the city limits and on the territory referred to above.

A committee composed of Ira Bartlett, chairman, Joe Courier, and James Gidley was appointed to take it up with the Conservation Department immediately to have the above territory closed to hunters.

Perhaps many of the citizens do not realize that as short a time as two or three years ago literally hundreds of muskrat and many mink families were living in this territory. Sometimes as many as 50 or 100 muskrat were seen playing at one time just beyond the Red Mill on Main Street. It was also mentioned that one or two strong colonies of beaver had made their appearance within a short distance of the city limits. In the past at least many pheasants were in this same territory but along with the muskrats have been largely whittled out through excessive trapping and the above group of men including many of East Jordan's leading citizens as well as the City would like to urge upon those people who trap and hunt to kindly remember that most of the people, even some that are interested in trapping and in the fur, concur in the above sentiment.

HOME MANAGEMENT CLUB ORGANIZED IN CHADDOCK DIST.

Meeting of organization of the Home Management Club was held at the home of Mrs. Louise DeMaio, Wednesday, Nov. 5th.

The meeting was called to order by the Leader, Mrs. Frances Looze. Mrs. Anna Ruhling was elected chairman, Miss Marie DeMaio, Secretary-Treasurer.

Business meeting was conducted by the Chairman, and "Merry Workers" was selected as the name for the club.

Lessons were then presented by the Leader, and the Goals in Home Making were taken up.

The meeting was adjourned by the Chairman.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Robert Gunsolus on Friday, Nov. 21, at 1:00 o'clock fast time.

ODDFELLOWS HELD HUNT SUPPER TUESDAY, NOV. 4th

The annual hunt supper of the I. O. O. F. was held at their hall Tuesday evening, Nov. 4th. The game was very plentiful and even though the chicken yard was raided, there was an abundance of everything.

A splendid program was arranged by the entertainment committee—J. K. Bader and M. J. Williams.

About 100 partook of all the good things provided by the Rebekahs, for which they are famous.

Following the supper and program the balance of the evening was spent with a social hour and cards.

THE KNIGHTS AND LADIES OF THE MACCABEES

Will hold a public meeting in the Odd Fellow Hall, Tuesday evening, Nov. 18th, at 7:30 p. m. Charles Thompson, assistant Great Commander of Traverse City and a representative from headquarters will be present to present the benefits that are offered in the order. Come and bring your friends.

LEADERS IN HOME MANAGEMENT TO HOLD MEETING

Modern housewives are not ladies of leisure according to a survey made by the Bureau of Home Economics, Washington, D. C. More than half of the homemakers are spending six, eight hour days a week. The average homemaker spends six, eight hour days with seven hours left over for Sunday. Charlevoix County homemakers will discuss at their next project leaders' training meetings in Home Management how to use time. They will discuss methods of planning time, how to save time, how to divide the work of the home—several types of family bulletin boards will be shown.

The Charlevoix Group will hold their meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 18th, in the Charlevoix Community Rooms, at 10:30 eastern standard time. The Boyne City Group will hold their meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 19th, in the Boyne City Library, at 10:00 fast time.

This project is under the direction of Miss Oona Stautz, Home Management Specialist from the Home Economics Extension Department of Michigan State College. 175 women are enrolled in this work, organized by B. C. Mellencamp, County Agr'l Agent.

Boyne City Wins Football Game

BY SCORE 19-0. LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL LOSES TO RIVALS.

After a lapse of five years, football relations were resumed with Boyne City last Saturday. The last football game played between the two Charlevoix County schools was won by Boyne City and the first one on the new program Saturday again went to Boyne City, 19-0.

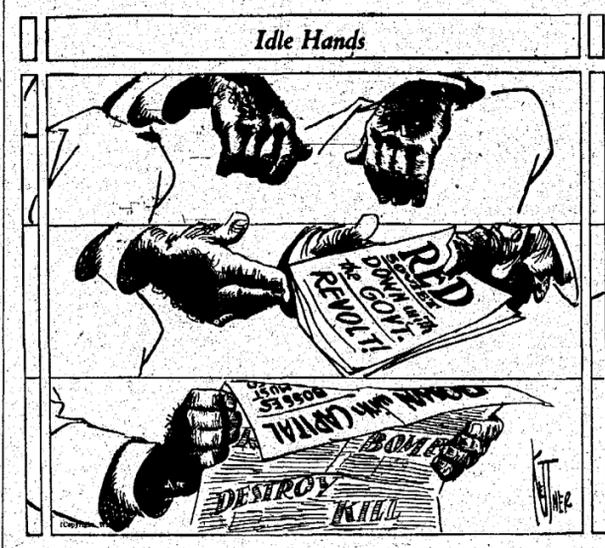

Coach Brotherston's team showed experience, coaching, co-ordination, besides having weight to spare. However the score does not indicate that the struggle was easy for Boyne. The local boys put up a scrap from whistle to whistle, and most of the breaks went to the more alert and experienced team, making East Jordan look worse than they really were. This does not take anything from Boyne City for they deserved to win on all round football ability. Boyne had the better team.

Boyne City received to open the game at the east goal. A Boyne man was tackled on his 15 yard line. They immediately proceeded to make first down on four successful line plunges but were held on the next try for downs. Booting the ball 35 yards to LaLonde where he was dropped in his tracks on East Jordan's 30 yard line. East Jordan tried a couple of plays without success and booted the ball back to Boyne's 30 yard line. Boyne made another first down and were again held by the aggressive tackling of the local boys, especially Gunderson and Halstad. By the way, Roy Gunderson acted as Captain in the Boyne game because of his fine all-round aggressive football playing of late. Boyne booted the ball to East Jordan's 35 yard line where LaLonde dropped the ball. A Boyne man recovering. Encouraged by this break Boyne made a march for the Jordan goal. It was slow, but steady, the locals contesting every inch of ground but the line smashing and off tackle play of Doyle and Sandel were not to be denied. Boyne kicked goal eleven minutes after the opening whistle. Boyne again received and until well into the second quarter the game was played between the 30 yard strips, both teams punting repeatedly. The defensive work of Halstad, Gunderson, Brooks and Dennis—in fact nearly the whole East Jordan line stood out. Most of the time the teams were playing rather evenly. East Jordan completed some pretty passes under the combination of Hegerberg and Somerville. Finally on a punt to East Jordan's 7 yard line the locals showed a lack of football judgment and experience by trying a forward pass on their own 7 yard line. Football fans on the side, lines held their breath when they saw what they were attempting and the expected happened. The pass was grabbed by a Boyne City man and with about six men ahead of him, running interference, crossed the Jordan goal line for a second touch-down. The half ended with the score 13-0 in favor of Boyne City.

The second half opened with the

There is some talk of men's pants ending above the knees next summer. Next summer will be soon enough.

The American people seem to be able to remember and commemorate all kinds of dates, except the ones when their bills come due.

East Jordan team taking the aggressive and it was all that Boyne could do to stop them scoring on one or two occasions. Coach Cohen's boys carried the ball to Boyne's 14 yard line only to lose it on an attempted pass. The game in the third quarter was largely in Boyne's territory with East Jordan on the aggressive. The local boys showed themselves, first class fighters and at times a real football team. In the fourth quarter another break gave Boyne their third and last touch down. Sandel received a kick on his own 40 yard line, and ran nearly 60 yards down the side lines through the East Jordan team for a touch down, a very pretty piece of work. This same boy made Boyne City's first touchdown, while Doyle, the other outstanding star for the Boyne team made the other. After the final touchdown, East Jordan took the ball on their own 35 yard line and went nearly 40 yards down the field on three or four successive first downs with Halstad doing most of the ball toting in most approved football style only to be checked as they threatened the Boyne goal. This was the last effort on the part of either team to score and the game soon ended in the middle of the field.

Boyne showed again that they have a good football team. Local fans were satisfied with the showing the boys made on this occasion for they played a most scrappy game. Many boys deserve mention. In fact most of the Jordan line played well. Midget Dale Clark perhaps made the outstanding tackle of the game when he went behind the Boyne line and threw one of the ball carriers for a 12 yard loss. Halstad was the all-round offensive and defensive star on either team. This was Bill's last game of football and he left a good finish to his high school football that many of the fans will remember as did also Roy Gunderson. Azne and Peter Hegerberg also played good football in their last game. Hegerberg tossed some beautiful passes and otherwise played very good football. Alba Brooks played his very limit, playing against a man who outweighed him twenty pounds to the man and never quit once. East Jordan fans are good sportsmen and when they lose to a better team, as long as the boys put up a scrap that good football men should, they have no objection to losing—as long as they make a good fight. East Jordan has only congratulations for Boyne

City and some of their men played real football—this includes back field men Sandel and Doyle and in the line, Tompkins at tackle played a stellar game. Ham White played his usual good game but the above three men were Boyne's all-round stars on this occasion. Boyne's center, Aldead, also played a very good game on the line, putting scrap in Boyne's team on his quick return to position after being in the huddle, helped materially to keep the Boyne team pepped up. He not only led the team snappily to position but blocked an East Jordan punt and batted down a forward pass which perhaps made him Boyne's best defensive star.

MICHIGAN CHERRIES A GIFT TO THE WORLD

The announcement that a store is to be opened in Chicago to spread the fame of Michigan cherry pies should not be misunderstood. We are sure that its promoters are inspired by more than a sordid merchandising motive. Anyone who has tasted a real Michigan cherry pie will not find it hard to attribute their project to a charitable impulse to pass a good thing on.

Thanksgiving boasts its pumpkin pie, Christmas its mince and New England its apple pie; but the succulent cherry pie that Michigan mothers have been making for generations tops them all. Wolverines have known that all along. A stranger now and then has stolen the secret and spread the just fame of pie par excellence in his particular locality. The whole world is now to be made Michigan's debtor. Stores dedicated to its cherry pies are to be opened in other cities than Chicago.

The results are assured in advance. A confection that needs only to be tasted to be loved needs only to be introduced to be adopted.—Editorial in Detroit Free Press, Nov. 7th.

HOUSE AND SENATE JOURNALS FREE FOR THE ASKING

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 15, 1930
My Dear Editor:—

I am preparing a mailing list of those who desire to receive the House and Senate Journals during the coming session of the Legislature. I feel that those who have a real need for the Journals should receive them promptly and regularly, and by having the mailing list ready in advance, I can start mailing from the first day of the session.

It occurred to me that if newspapers would make mention of the fact that anyone desiring the Journals could send in a request, giving name and address in full, I could render this service promptly to those who really wanted the Journals. Particular attention should be called to the fact that not only individuals and corporations, but Libraries, Granges, Local Arborists of Gleaners, Farmers' Clubs, Public Schools, etc., may receive the Journals.

I am planning on having a mailing list of all Prosecuting Attorneys, Circuit Judges and Probate Judges who will receive the Journals without making request, and they will also receive copies of bills as printed, and especially copies of bills that are passed, signed by the Governor and given immediate effect. I presume that the entire membership of the bar would also like to have this service, but there never is enough bills printed to accommodate the entire list. It might be a good service, however, to render to the press.

Very truly yours,
Myles P. Gray, Clerk,
House of Representatives.

Traverse City Wins Debate

Speaking before an audience of almost four hundred in the Traverse City High School Auditorium, Thursday night, Nov. 6th, Rea Healey, Guinevere Gay, and Victor Milliman began their debating careers when they represented East Jordan speaking on the Negative side of the question, "Resolved: That National Chain Grocery Stores Operating in the State of Michigan are Detrimental to the People of the State."

Traverse City's team was composed of Mary Kneeland and Richard Wysong, veteran debaters, and Willis Wysong. These people were effective and convincing in delivery, and proving that practice makes for perfection, the two first named debaters, showed marked improvement over last year's work.

Carroll P. Lahman, head of the Speech Department and Debate Coach at Western State Teachers College at Kalamazoo, acted as expert judge, giving his analysis and criticism of the debate at its close. He pointed out the fact that although Traverse City's debating as a whole was superior to East Jordan's, yet the Traverse City team should have given more specific data and facts rather than so many general arguments. In this regard he rated East Jordan superior. It was interesting to note that Professor Lahman did not realize that East Jordan's team was made up of inexperienced debaters entirely. This suggests the really splendid work done by these young people, their first time debating.

East Jordan had the privilege of meeting not only a fine team from the standpoint of debating, but also from the standpoint of sportsmanship. It is as difficult to win gracefully as to lose gracefully and this thing our people were able to observe as well as to exhibit. This statement, quoted from the account of the debate, appearing in the Traverse City Record-Eagle shows this fair and genial spirit: "East Jordan presented an able defense of the grocery chains but with an entirely new team, the visiting school was at a disadvantage against Traverse City's experienced team."

The large audience at the debate points to the fact that this year's question is an interesting one and also that those people of the community interested in school activities are becoming increasingly interested in such a praise-worthy one as debating. In a survey conducted recently among business men a surprisingly large majority indicated that of the subjects taught in school that had helped them most, they placed English and Debating first, while to the question "what subjects do you regret not to have studied," the answers indicated that Public Speaking and Psychology were missed most.

Debating should be kept in mind as an educational project. The contest side of it makes the winning of debates seem of first importance. Well, why not? Isn't it perfectly human to desire to win? Yet let us not fail to realize that through debating, as a form of public speaking, a student can gain such values as these: development in accuracy of expression, a knowledge of what is reliable and what is unreliable in evidence and argument, a development in breadth of mind, interest in public questions, improvement in personality, development in mental flexibility and skill in the analysis and solving of problems. In other words, he is acquiring habits and attitudes of great importance in living.

East Jordan's team is not discouraged at this first defeat, but is working harder than ever in preparation for the next debate, Nov. 21, at Alba. This is the date for the second debate of the preliminary series, when the 276 high schools all over the State engage in debate on the chair pot question. This is the largest enrollment the State Debating League has had, which is another proof that the sense of the worth of debating is growing in the minds of people.

Remember the date—Nov. 21, and the place—Alba.

Taxicab Driver Helps Bandits Escape Police

Detroit—Charles Mason, a taxicab driver, admitted wrecking a police scout car with his own cab in order that two bandits might escape, but he was not prosecuted.

Mason drove alongside the police car as it careened down the street in pursuit of a car containing two youthful bandits. They had just held up a store. Mason shouted to the officers asking them not to shoot.

As they continued their headlong pace Mason forced the police car over the curb and the bandits escaped.

In court he explained his action. He recognized his "kid brother" in the bandit car.

He Has To
The more liberal a man is in spending money on a vacation, the tighter he becomes when he returns home.

The great trouble with the people who don't like us is that they have such poor taste.

Jackson—William Gady, 10 years old, died of injuries suffered when he was run over by a Michigan Central train in the yards near Cooper street.

The boy and several companions were riding on cars being shifted by a switch engine.

Battle Creek—Mrs. Hilda Avers was smothered to death when an automobile in which she was riding, driven by Eb Zirul, overturned on Evergreen road at Camp Custer. They and two companions were pinned beneath the car for two hours.

Battle Creek—Marion, 3-year-old daughter of Charles Laing, of Marshall Township, was killed instantly when a shotgun in the kitchen of the home fell and was discharged. The charge entered her side. She knocked over the gun while playing.

Lansing—A warning to Michigan residents that Christmas seals closely imitating the authorized tuberculosis Christmas seals already have been placed on sale in various parts of the state, has been issued by T. J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Detroit—One-year-old Vincent Gian-none, is recovering in Receiving hospital from a midnight operation which resulted in the removal of a peanut from his throat. The boy, while at play in his home, swallowed the peanut unchucked. Shortly before midnight his repeated crying alarmed his parents who took him to the hospital.

Mt. Clemens—For cutting down a tree to rob a bees' nest of honey, four men were fined a total of $70.80 by Alton H. Noe, Justice of the peace. The four were placed on probation for a year. They are Albert Green, Newton Gassew, and Harvey and Joe Welch, all of Macomb County. The farmer who caused their arrest was Louis Schultz Chesterfield Township.

Mt. Clemens—Wrecking of Macomb County's 48-year-old courthouse, to make way for a new 12-story county building, is under way. County offices are being moved into store rooms throughout the downtown section. The wrecking is to be completed in 30 days. Construction work will be started this winter if possible, so the building may be completed late next summer.

Lansing—The career of Michigan's foremost tree sitter, Edgar Slicker, came to an abrupt end when Halloween enthusiasts climbed to his perch and pulled him from the branches of the 35-year-old maple that had been his sole companion for 2,448 hours. Edgar, who had been up for the equivalent of 102 days, "took off" July 21 and since then had built sufficient shelter to ward off winter winds.

Montgomery—A lone bandit obtained $3,200 in a holdup of the State Bank here. The bandit, a man about 25, entered the bank just before closing time. He ordered W. G. Lash, cashier, and Mrs. Lawrence Hayes, assistant cashier, to face the wall. The gunman then stripped the cash box of $800 and rifled the safe of $2,400 more. He drove south from Montgomery in an escaping, in a car bearing an Indiana license.

Escanaba—Establishment of a 3,200-acre colonization project in Ensign and Bay De Noc townships, which will bring 100 Finnish families into Delta county within the next few months, has been announced by the Sampo Co-operative farm association. Dairying will be the main objective of the colony, secondary plans including a summer resort. The colonists will own their own homes, but machinery and land will be co-operatively owned and worked.

Detroit—Permission has been sought from the Interstate Commerce commission at Washington, by the Michigan Central and New York Central railroads to abandon the East Jordan branch of the M. C. extending six and a half miles from Marble to East Jordan in Antrim and Charlevoix counties. The application explains that the branch was originally built "to serve vast holdings of timber contiguous thereto," but that it all has been removed and there is no prospect of any other traffic.

Muskegon—School days appear over for six boys and girls in District No. 3, Lake County, unless some means can be found to relieve the distressed financial condition of the district. There is no money; the district is in debt; the school is closed and no one can be found who will serve on the school board. At a recent meeting no one would take the job of treasurer, while the director resigned and turned the books over to the township board. There is over $1,000 due teachers for back pay.

Pontiac—Three brothers, Ore Leslie, 18 years old; Irving Leslie, 22, and Charles William Leslie, 20, were injured when their automobile crashed through a guard rail on the Dixie highway, 18 miles north of Pontiac, and rolled down a 30-foot embankment. Attendants at the St. Joseph Mercy hospital stated that they would all recover. Charles, the driver, was seriously injured. His skull was fractured and his left leg broken. The others suffered cuts and bruises and shock.

Benton Harbor—Mrs. Alice Miller and her two-year-old son recently look probably the fastest trans-state hitch-hiking tour on record. Out of work, and with only two cents, Mrs. Miller left Benton Harbor with her baby, to go to Detroit in search of a woman friend. On arrival she learned her friend had moved away. They were given shelter by the Salvation Army overnight and next morning started home, arriving 48 hours after departure and still possessing the two cents after hitch-hiking and walking the entire 400 miles.

Psychologists say an affliction spurs men on to win. And some cynic will remark that most men who attain to greatness are married.

For a long time, now, we have heard that foods are rich in this and rich in that—and unless something happens to improve American prosperity soon, food will only be for the rich.

Kalamazoo—Frank Cupp, proprietor of a lunch stand, saved $100 in a money bag when he fought off three masked men who tried to rob him after he had parked his car in his garage. When two of the men, flourishing guns, ordered him to "stick 'em up," he struck both with his fists. He was struck on the head himself with the butt end of a revolver by the three men, who then fled in an automobile.

Marquette—Ground has been broken for the $80,000 Upper Peninsula Children's Clinic, funds for which are provided by Senator Couzens. The clinic will be north of St. Luke's hospital and will be operated in conjunction with the hospital. A month ago trustees of the Couzens fund and St. Luke's Hospital entered an agreement for operating the clinic and hospital together. The building will be ready March 1.

Grand Rapids—Property on the west bank of Grand River on Front avenue at the foot of Pearl street has been selected by the Grand Rapids city commission as the site for the city's $1,500,000 auditorium and convention hall. The commission's action climaxes a city-wide debate waged since last April when a bond issue was voted for the project. The property is to cost approximately $500,000.

Flint—Edward Halligan, 33 years old, suffered leg fractures as the result of an unusual accident. As Halligan left his home at 138 Stewart avenue to go to work, a city street car, operated by Nicholas Renda, motor-man, jumped the tracks and careened 30 feet to Halligan's yard. Halligan was pinned between the car's bumper and the terrace in front of his home. He was dug out and removed to the hospital.

Detroit—An amendment to Detroit's lotterizing ordinance, drafted by Judge W. McKay Skillman with the object of keeping disreputable attorneys, bondsmen and their "runners" out of the courts and other public buildings, has been approved by members of the recorder's court bench. Penalty for violation is set at a $500 fine, 90 days' imprisonment, or both. The amendment is the outcome of recent conferences of judges called with a view of eliminating the abuses in court and police procedure attributed to unethical attorneys and bondsmen.

TAKING THE GUESS OUT OF BUSINESS

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

BANKERS and business men err in not adopting more universally the tactics of the scientist. When the scientist wishes to fathom the mysteries of the universe or resolve things into their component parts he calls to his assistance the magnifying power of the microscope.

John G. Lonsdale

There before him, like an open book, lie the secrets of nature which unaided eyes cannot observe. The uncanny power of the microscope's all-seeing eye has revealed countless secrets for the material and intellectual progress of humanity. It has enabled us to study the processes of growing cells in plant and animal life, trace the causes of disease and successfully combat the ills of mankind; it has aided the engineer in his search for stronger and more serviceable materials, giving us taller, lighter and more sanitary structures, and better highways; it has disclosed the defects in steel rails and brought us an era of safer railway travel; it has added to the food supply of the nation; in fact, it has affected favorably nearly every activity of the human race, whether it apply to production, distribution or consumption, in time of peace or in time of war.

In the business and banking world, economic research and analysis serve as the microscope through which we are enabled to see basic factors more clearly and thus determine the causes of success and failure. Only recently have we begun to realize the full value of research and analysis and apply them in such a way as to eliminate the guesswork that was characteristic of industry a few years ago. "Eliminate the guess and reach success," might well be a motto for all of us.

Banking Conducting Continual Research

The American Bankers Association is daily submitting every phase and every department of banking to searching scrutiny and study, says John G. Lonsdale, president of this the world's greatest financial association. The findings of these investigations are made available to the 20,000 members of the organization for their guidance.

"It is a fine tribute to the spirit of cooperation among bankers that it is able to carry on this work," he says. "Bankers from one end of the country to the other are constantly giving freely and unselfishly of their skill and experience so that the association may produce the truly great results that are being accomplished."

Statistical information on national and state banks, savings institutions, trust companies and trust departments, clearing house groups and general banking is prepared after exhaustive inquiry and distributed for the use of all bankers. The organization's investigations have resulted in the passage of beneficial legislation, revision of banking practices and innumerable changes for a stronger and more efficient banking structure. It has set up an educational system through its affiliated American Institute of Banking, where 45,000 ambitious young bank men and women are now availing themselves of the opportunity to advance in the banking field.

"It has been well said that the American Bankers Association, exclusive of the Federal Reserve System, has been the greatest single nationwide source of stability and improved conditions for banking in the United States," Mr. Lonsdale says.

Banking Grows More Complicated

DENVER, Colo.—The increase in the technicalities of the banking business in the past dozen years was shown by a speaker before the American Institute of Banking which held its annual convention here recently when he pointed out that in 1918, when the institute last met in this city, it gave only three courses, while today it gives 10, with more subjects in preparation. At the earlier date, he said, the curriculum of the institute consisted of elementary banking, commercial and banking law, and money and banking, whereas today it consists of banking fundamentals, commercial law, negotiable instruments, standard economics, standard banking, credits, investments, trust functions, analyzing financial statements, and public speaking, while the two new subjects of bank operation and organization, and bank management are to be added.

The New Pace of Business Change
Business evolution used to move slowly—it measured off its gradual changes almost invisibly, like the hour hand on the clock. But today its tempo is that of the second hand. The movement of evolution that is quickening business with rapid changes is alarmingly visible and makes it difficult to keep up with them.—R. S. Hecht.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

By WALTER THUMSBULL

It was John Oliver La Gorce who, on his last trip to New York, told me about "Old Sow." He had been fishing and on this trip heard the story. Sacketts Harbor nestles on the shore of Lake Ontario, across from the mouth of the St. Lawrence and the Thousand Islands. Here, on July 12, was fought the first battle of the War of 1812. The British attacked from the water with five ships, the largest of which was the Royal George, carrying twenty-four guns and 280 men. The other four ships carried eighty guns.

The defenders on shore had only one gun. They called it "Old Sow." It was a thirty-two pounder, and had proved to be too big for a small Yankee schooner, so it had been brought ashore and left for months in the mud. But, when it looked as if it would be needed for defense, Colonel Bellinger mounted it in a field facing the water.

There was no dearth of powder, but all the cannon balls on hand were intended for a twenty-four instead of a thirty-two pound gun. This was like having only 22-caliber cartridges for a 32-caliber revolver, but the old inhabitants of Sacketts Harbor were a resourceful lot. They wrapped the cannon balls in pieces of carpet, which they tore up for the purpose, and in this manner were able to fire them.

Still, that artifice doesn't appear to have improved their aim. For around two hours, the ships shot at the shore and the shore shot at the ships with small damage on either side. The shore had the better of it, because ships offer a large target, while "Old Sow," at which the sailor gunners undoubtedly were firing, offered a small target indeed, especially with guns of that day.

Finally, the Royal George almost got the range, and with a thirty-two pound shot it buried itself in the ground near "Old Sow" and the defenders dug it out, probably with great rejoicing. They at last had a cannonball which would fit their gun. They chucked it in the muzzle, rammed it home, and aimed with great care. Their former practice must at least have given them the needed data, since they hit a ship fairly on the deck, where the crew were gathered thickest. That one shot killed fourteen men and wounded eighteen, and the British fleet retired. At least, that is what the people of Sacketts Harbor say, and it is their story, so they are entitled to stick to it. (Note: Historians will please not write.)

But their gratitude to "Old Sow" does not appear to have been profound, for there the old gun rests in sun and rain, with never a tablet or a monument to tell of past accomplishment. The grass and weeds grow high around it and the only road to it is an overgrown and rutted wagon track. To be sure, Sacketts Harbor is no financial center; but these associated sons and daughters of various wars are always concerning themselves with some sort of memorial. It seems as if they might make a proper road to "Old Sow," and give her a bit of smooth lawn on which to rest, and rub away a little of the dust and rust of years. In the face of odds, she did her stuff and she rates a little recognition.

Astrologists are doing an immense business in New York. They are consulted by almost every class of people. You might expect that theatrical people and other types prone to superstition would be potential customers, but hard-headed business men want to know what the stars say about their ventures. The majority of the astrologists are women, and some do not only a local but a mail order business. They tell me that there is one who gets thousands of letters a day. Some of those who go to the astrologists take up the study for themselves. Mary Hay, the actress, is considered a fine amateur astrologist, and there are many more.

But there is one new stunt in connection with astrology of which I have heard only recently. There is a woman who owns some well known kennels who has the horoscopes of blooded puppies cast as soon as they are born. This leads to arguments with the manager of the kennels, who does not believe in astrology and does believe in his own knowledge and experience of dogs.

George Gershwin, the famous composer, is a golfer of long standing and, until recently, of high scores. But Mr. Gershwin is improving. The other day, playing the Lakeville course, he not only, for the first time in his life, broke 100, but shot an 85. From now forever more, any time Mr. Gershwin falls to shoot in the low eighties, he will be off his game.

Stock market crashes and unemployment bring strange results. The army, for example, never had less trouble getting enlistments. The same is true of the other branch of the service. The slogan now seems to be: "Join the navy and see three square meals a day."

ALWAYS LATE

By Douglas Malloch.

WATCH the ships sail past the town, and past the pier, and past the light. The night will very soon come down, and, oh, it will be dark tonight. This house will have an empty chair, that house will have an empty bed—

There always are the women there with eyes of mist and hearts of lead. Yes, youth will proudly sail away, and think how fine a ship she is; I think about a mother gray, perhaps a little wife of his. Not all the countries he shall find are worth, their waiting months or years. Are worth the sorrow left behind, a sweetheart's sighs, a mother's tears.

And there are sailors on the land, as there are sailors on the sea. Who do not seem to understand how long a wait a wait can be—

Not all the world of waiting wives must wait upon the shore Until some wanderer arrives, until some husband seeks his door.

And so I say to you, O men who sail the land or sail the foam. As soon as God will let you, then, if God will let you come, come home.

It always seems that men delay, it always seems that women wait. And, if a season or a day, returning ships are always late.

Why We Do What We Do

By M. K. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE ARE NEVER SATISFIED

NONE of us is completely satisfied. Before we get what we want we think we are going to be thoroughly happy, but always there is something ahead of us that we are looking forward to.

Complete satisfaction means stagnation, death and decay. There is no greater spur to achievement than the desire to reach a notch higher in the social scale, in one's profession, in expanding a business, in making money, or whatever it is that we are striving for.

We are never satisfied, because we live in an imperfect world. No matter how far we may go in any line of activity there is always room for improvement.

The average man thinks he would be satisfied if he could run a hundred yards in ten seconds. But the athlete who can run it even a little under ten seconds is all the more eager to run it just a little faster.

The more we have the more we want; the more we can do the more we want to do.

Dissatisfaction is a mark of ability and ambition. It is often the mark of progress. The man who aims at a target on the ground close by may hit it with ease while the man who aims at the sun shoots much higher although he will miss his target by a big margin.

There is less chance for perfect satisfaction for a man of skill and ability than for the poor fellow who has nothing and can do nothing. The English philosopher, James S. Mill, must have sensed this psychological truth when he said, "It is better to be a human being dissatisfied than a pig satisfied; it is better to be a Socrates dissatisfied than a fool satisfied."

NUTTY NATURAL HISTORY

THE APPALACHIAN OWK

TRAVELERS often catch sight of this solitary bird of prey, soaring from some lonely crag overlooking a tobacco field. It is the chief enemy of the snipe, which is found in abundance along the well-frequented highways in this district. When an unsuspecting snipe is sighted the owk dives headlong at it and carries it off in its strong talons to its lair to cool off.

Besides the snipe the owk subsists on well-done breaded veal cutlets.

The writer luckily got this picture of the owk while watching a live snipe in the process of cooling. Its head is a single peanut and is fastened at the upper front end of a brazil nut. The wings are split almond shells and the feet split peanuts. Short pieces of toothpick are fastened to the peanuts with chewing gum to form talons.

The Belt Is a Feature of Travel and Sports Coats

Coats for the grandstand and for travel are more "sporty" looking than ever. Made of sturdy weather-defying materials, they glory in generous sleeves of novel cut, in odd shaped pockets, intriguing capes, an abundance of intricate and designful seamwork and the belt is seldom omitted.

Velvet Suits Accent Elegance of the Mode

Fur-lined velvet suits proclaim an era of a mode elegant for fall and winter 1930-1931. The handsome model in the picture is typical of costumes designed for afternoon wear. It is of deep wine-red velvet. Its flaring-peplum is a distinctive feature. The fur is gray krimmer.

"Somebody to See You!"

IF EVERYBODY with something to interest you should come and ring your bell, what a nuisance it would be! Think of the swarming, jostling crowd, the stamping of feet on your porch and carpets!

Every day we know of many callers who come to see you. They never jangle the bell—they don't take up your whole day trying to get your attention. Instead, they do it in a way that is most considerate of your privacy and your convenience. They advertise in your newspaper!

In this way you have only to listen to those you know at a glance have something that interests you. They make it short, too, so you can gather quickly just what you want to know. You can receive and hear them all without noise or confusion in comparatively few minutes.

In fairness to yourself look over all the advertisements. The smallest and the largest—you never can be sure which one will tell something you really want to know.

FOUR NEW NATIONAL FLAGS ARE ADOPTED

Designs Selected by States of the Levant.

Geneva, Switzerland.—Four more national flags have been added to the rainbow of banners which must be kept by all governments and warships to be flown on state occasions.

France carved up the Levant into four sovereign states, under the mandate of the League of Nations. Each has now picked its own flag. The republic of Lebanon adopted the red, white and blue tricolor of France, with the addition of a green cedar of Lebanon in the middle of the white band.

The state of Syria has adopted three green, white and black horizontal stripes, with three red five-pointed stars on the white band.

The flag of the state of Latakia, formerly the state of Alauittes, resembles somewhat that of Japan. It is a golden sun with 11 rays rising out of the center of a white flag. In one corner is a tiny French tricolor and in the other corners are three red triangles.

The government of Jebel-Druze has perhaps the gaudiest flag in the world, with five colors worked into a difficult composition. In the top left corner is a red, white and blue rectangle, and the remainder is like the American flag, with stripes. There are five stripes—green, red yellow, blue and white.

Man Bites Dog; Town Breaks into the News

London.—For one brief afternoon the seaside town of Herne Bay broke into the front pages of the London afternoon papers because real news happened there.

In other words, a man bit a dog in Herne Bay. Hundreds of bathers were astonished to see the owner of a dog which had been running about the beach barking and snapping at people, suddenly pick up the dog and give it a good hard bite.

The dog gave one startled yelp and tore off down the beach. A moment later it returned to its owner and docilely trotted at his heels.

"I have tried all sorts of remedies to keep the pup from snapping at people but none of them worked," said its owner. "So I thought I'd show him what it felt like to be snapped at himself. It was a last-measure remedy but it seems to have worked."

Man Seeking to Beat Solomon's Nuptial Mark

That's what Bruce W. Steele, dashing young El Paso plumber, says in his ambition. He has just asked the courts to dissolve his fourteenth matrimonial alliance. Of course, he's got a long way to go to overhaul the ancient wise man—but he's got a fair start.

"Not one of my wives left me because she ceased to love me," Steele brags. "They simply went away because they were jealous of my success with other women. "Winning women is the easiest thing in the world—once you know how. All you have to do is find out a woman's weakness, play up to that—and you've got her!"

"Executed" Man Observes His 89th Anniversary

Kington, Mo.—It's a matter of record that E. G. Wallace, who is usually to be seen relaxing in the shade of the courthouse trees here, is dead. But recently he celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday.

Wallace, captured with three other men during the Civil war, was convicted of participation in guerrilla warfare and sentenced to die.

The men were lined up, rifles cracked and they fell forward. Wallace said his companions were dead, but he, unhurt, fell from fright. The execution squad came near and fired a bullet at the head of each man to make certain of death. The bullet intended for Wallace pierced his hat, grooved his skull. The scar remains today as proof of his story.

Seeks Divorce 13 Days After Golden Wedding

Provo, Utah.—Thirteen days after an elaborate celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Mrs. Francis M. Barney, mother of 14 children, all married, filed suit for divorce. She alleges her husband came home drunk a few days after their fiftieth anniversary party, choked her and threatened to kill her.

Girl Bites Passerby After Dog Bites Her

Berlin.—A young woman who was bitten by a mad dog ran into the streets two hours later and bit and scratched 15 pedestrians in Galtz, Rumania, recently. The hydrophobic woman died. Two of the persons she attacked were in critical condition.

Pony Pushes Baby Cab When Parents Are Busy

Buckinghamshire, England.—While the owner and his wife are busy with other chores, Post Boy, a pony, owned by a farmer, pushes about a perambulator carrying the baby.

NEEDS FOR RED CROSS SERVICE ON INCREASE, SAYS CHAIRMAN PAYNE

Disaster Relief and Service to War Veterans Make Heavy Demands—First Aid on Highways New Plan.

Demands upon the public services that the American Red Cross is organized to give are increasingly heavy, and will continue to be so in the future, John Barton Payne, chairman, has announced.

The two major services of the society—service to war veterans and their dependents, and relief in disasters—show each year a greater number of persons helped by the Red Cross.

Pension legislation passed recently for World War Veterans, and increased allotments to all Spanish-American War Veterans, have given to Chapters and the national society many thousands of additional cases to handle, Judge Payne said.

In the past year help was given in 108 disasters. Ninety of these were in the United States, twelve in foreign possessions and six were in foreign countries.

Health activities of the Red Cross also are being extended, especially in the rural communities where all health authorities agree the greatest need exists. Red Cross, with 794 nurses in its employ, is the greatest employer of public health nurses in rural areas in the United States.

In its campaign against accidental deaths, begun twenty years ago with its life saving and first aid programs, the Red Cross now has adopted an additional program—that of combating the huge toll of life from automobile accidents on the highways.

Expenditures of the Red Cross in the past year were $4,254,795.34, of which $1,208,151.09 was spent in disaster relief, the chairman pointed out.

"The Red Cross depends upon the public for its support, through their memberships enrolled once each year in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day," Judge Payne said.

"We do not receive any support from the Government, or through other taxation, although as the President of the United States is president of the society, and one-third of its governing members are representatives of U. S. Departments, it ranks as a semi-governmental agency.

"By joining as a member, in the local Red Cross Chapter, once each year, during the annual Roll Call, every citizen will have a part in carrying on this great humanitarian task."

Motor Injuries Treated By Red Cross First Aid

In line with its work for the preservation of life and prevention of accidental death, the American Red Cross has adopted a new program of emergency first aid stations on the highways of the nation, where victims of automobile injuries will be helped.

In the last year 31,000 persons were killed as the result of automobile accidents and more than 1,000,000 were injured. As its contribution to the nation wide safety campaigns of other organizations, the Red Cross will aid through the emergency stations. A number already are in operation by Chapters on such important traffic arteries as the Westchester County, N. Y., park system, the Valley Forge and Gettysburg highways in Pennsylvania and the White Horse Pike in New Jersey, connecting with Atlantic City.

Saving Mothers and Babies Is Important Red Cross Task

Saving mothers' lives and better babies were important features during the past year of the Public Health Nursing Service of the American Red Cross. About four-fifths of the 794 nurses in the Red Cross work made more than 100,000 prenatal and maternal visits, in addition to assisting doctors in the examination of 1,309,409 school children.

Statistics reveal that the lives of two out of three American women who die in maternity cases could be saved if they received proper medical and nursing care. As more than 15,000 women die in the United States each year from various diseases of the maternal state, this means that more than 10,000 of these deaths are preventable.

Gay patterned cretonne bags, or comfort kits, containing articles useful and amusing, are sent by the Red Cross to 40,000 soldiers, sailors and Marines, on foreign service, as Christmas remembrances.

The little gift bags are donated and packed by women in Red Cross Chapters all over the country. They are despatched by Army transport in the early autumn in order to reach the foreign ports and posts of the U. S. services in time to be hung on the Christmas trees. Giving the remembrances from home is the outgrowth of a plan adopted by the Red Cross prior to the World War when so many National Guard regiments were on the Mexican border.

David Rollins

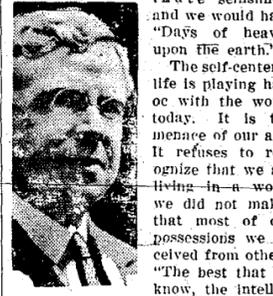

School dramas in his earlier days were responsible in a measure for handsome David Rollins being a screen actor. He was born in Kansas City in 1909. He first worked in a bank after finishing high school. Later he played extra parts in the motion pictures. He is a good swimmer and rider. He has black hair and blue eyes. He has been seen to excellent advantage in numerous pictures.

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

THE MENACE OF OUR AGE

DEATH is the result of breaking contact with environment. When it is cut down—the tree dies. Sever the flower from the stem and it will wither. If, in the world of moral values, you destroy the nerves leading to sacrifice and service—the result will be death to one's ideals. The death of the moral ideals of sacrifice and service is caused by selfishness. Eliminate selfishness and we would have "Days of heaven upon the earth."

L. A. Barrett.

The self-centered life is playing havoc with the world today. It is the menace of our age. It refuses to recognize that we are living in a world we did not make; that most of our possessions we received from others. "The best that we know, the intellectual treasures of humanity, the language we speak, the songs we sing, the truths we possess, the views of life we cherish—all these did not spring from our care for our private selves alone, but from the great, all-prevailing impulse to live and labor for others." With this statement selfishness would not agree. Selfishness builds palaces and in imagination enthrones itself in power. A price is paid for a coveted prize which in many cases spells ruin of self and destruction of the higher ideals of responsibility for our common humanity. Selfishness cries in terms of the old Epicurean philosophy, "Let us eat, drink and be merry; for tomorrow we die." Selfishness is always endeavoring to gain sufficient power to enable it to say, "The world owes me a debt, let it pay." Against this reversal of the true logic of service and an honest philosophy of life, John Ruskin wrote in his "Modern Painters," "Shall one by breath and sweep gather some branch of the commerce of the country into one great cobweb of which he himself is to be the master spider? Shall the Industrial and political giant say, 'Here is the power in my hands, weakness owes me a debt? Build a mound here for me to be throned upon, come, weave tapestries purple, dance before me that I may be glad, and sing sweetly to me that I may slumber. So shall I live in joy and die in honor.'"

This may serve as the creed of an anarchist whose object is to overthrow the government and establish by force that form of discipline which dominates Russia today. It is the law of the jungle, where death rules, not the law of liberty which secures for us a national as well as an individual peace, prosperity and happiness.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

You never can tell in New York, who a casual acquaintance may turn out to be. Henry Clapp Smith tells me that a quiet appearing man came into a book store and ordered about $30 worth of books. He gave his name and asked that they be shipped to him with the bill. As he talked as if he might purchase more books, the firm thought it as well to get a rating on him. The word that came back from the credit house was: "This man is good for $1,000,000."

Will Rogers is reported to have signed a year's movie contract at $18,000 a week. If that report is correct, he should be able to keep himself in ropes and chewing gum. In the 52 weeks the movie men expect to make four pictures, with Rogers as the star of each.

Mrs. Wallace Irwin is working on a comedy, which probably will be seen on Broadway next winter. It is nothing new for Mrs. Irwin to write plays, but most of them have been a bit somber. We are glad she has turned to comedy. Laughter is about the best tonic any of us know.

A New Yorker has been interesting herself in a woman whose family life has not always run smoothly. Seeing her the other day, the New Yorker was more than surprised to be told that she had married again. "But I don't understand," she said. "You are not divorced." "Oh, that's all right, lady," said the woman. "I married this one in New Jersey."

Almost anywhere in New York's shopping districts you can see windows filled with perfume bottles of all shapes and sizes. The perfume business has grown into a large industry and many, starting in a small way, have made a fortune out of it. Even those men who do not like scent, but do like glassware may be seen looking in windows, fascinated by the bottles. They tell me that in England the fashions in scents are going back to the old flower perfumes. The heavier oriental scents are, for the moment, in disfavor. One of the most necessary ingredients for scent is said to be civet.

Jack Gardner, who lives in the Fifties, was directed as an engineer. Later he was an English naval aviator in the war. Now he is an inventor. He has invented a machine which strips and shreds flax. They used to have to let flax rot, degum it and bleach it before they spun it. Flax fiber comes in lengths of from 12 to 24 inches. Sea island cotton, which I am told, is the best grade, has about a 2 1/2-inch fiber. By the Gardner method, flax can be cut into short lengths and fed to cotton machines, many of which have been idle. This, I understand, will cause a big saving in the cost of linen.

Holland, the land of his birth, still has the largest number of paintings by Rembrandt, but the United States is rapidly gaining on the Netherlands in the grand total of Rembrandt canvases hung in galleries and private homes. The first generation of Rembrandt collectors on this side of the water included, among others, H. O. Havemeyer, who was interested almost wholly in the painter's earlier works. Other collectors here also went in for the earlier period. Then came a sudden change in taste and Rembrandts of the later period became the fashion. Many Rembrandts purchased in recent years hang in Detroit. The automobile aristocracy bought Rembrandt canvases, and most of those which traveled West brought tremendous prices. John Ringling has three splendid Rembrandts in his art museum in Sarasota, Fla.

Over the huge green lawn came a flock of sheep. Keeping them moving and bunched was a dog, while a man followed. The sheep came to a roadway where thousands of cars pass daily. Things looked a bit precarious, but suddenly a policeman stepped forward, held up his hand and the traffic halted. For half a mile back you could see it piling up. Unhurriedly, the sheep, guided by the dog, crossed the road. This was in Central park, at Sixty-sixth street, where the sheep pen is located. Father Knickerbocker uses these sheep to keep wide areas of grass close clipped.

Among the snappiest dressers in New York are Mayor Walker, Damon Runyon, and Walter Winchell. The latter goes to his daily toll in a double-breasted, beautifully tailored, white suit, black-and-white shoes and a Panama hat. Damon Runyon has a blue felt hat, which is the envy of my existence. James Montgomery Flagg has for years worn a coat and vest of one color and, trousers of another, a style which has recently become very smart.

Joseph Cummings Chase did a head of practically every general and many of the privates in the late war, but the man who has drawn more celebrities than any other artist is James Montgomery Flagg. Many of them he has painted. One of his most recent paintings is of Abraham Lincoln. He did it from a figure model and the Lincoln death mask. It is a striking thing and one which, once seen, you don't forget.

WORLD OF FRIENDS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I HAVE a friend who has a friend, another friend of his. For that's the way it is with friends—how wonderful it is! If I should meet that other man I'd pass without a sign. Although, if he's a friend of his, then he's a friend of mine.

I'm sure of this, I shouldn't hate, I mustn't if I can, For he may be a friend of friends of mine, that other man. I cannot hurt another man, I cannot make him fall. For I may hurt some friend of mine I'd hate to hurt at all.

Yes, even if we aren't friends the strangers on the street, They may be friends of friends of mine, although we never meet. I guess they all are friends of ours, the way that God intends— Although we push, although we crowd, we're just a world of friends. (© 1930, Douglas Malloch.)

Through a Woman's Eyes

By Jean Newton

ON SISTERS CUTTING EACH OTHER UP OVER A MAN

DOWN in Mexico City two sisters fought a duel over a man.

Their names are Dominga and Angela Ayala and they literally fought a duel with knives, wounding each other so severely that they had to be taken to a hospital, where they are lying in adjoining beds. Let us hope that when their wounds heal and they regain their strength there will be nothing around their beds that might serve as a weapon!

But to go back to the story; the duel followed a party at the home of Angela's sweetheart, whom Dominga also loved. Up to that time she had concealed her emotions, but took occasion during the festivities to voice them—whereupon her sister challenged her, the victor to get the man.

The sisters went into the kitchen of the house, we learn, and fought desperately with knives until both fell, many times wounded. But according to the news dispatches, the question of who will get the man is still unsettled.

Probably neither will get him. It was silly of those sisters to imagine that two women fighting over a man could decide which one should have him. After all the man has some say in the matter.

And it's in such terribly poor taste. To say nothing of the fact that it will probably make the man feel too important, so that whoever gets him is unlikely to have much joy out of him. Indeed those women ought to be ashamed of themselves. It should be pointed out that you don't see brothers cutting each other up over a woman. No indeed. You hear of such things as men fighting over a woman, of course, but they are usually strangers, fighting, say, in a brawl. But brothers—or indeed even friends, don't let a mere woman break their friendship, to say nothing of cutting each other up!

No, there's very little that can be said for those two sisters in Mexico City.

NUTTY NATURAL HISTORY

BY HUGH HUTTON

THE SOFT-SHELLED GINGERSNAPPER

THIS pestilent creature is rather plentiful in the dairying regions, where it inhabits the streams running through cow pastures. The unwary cow that wanders within reach of its powerful jaws is likely as not to have the lower part of her legs snapped off. The first time is not so bad, but as a cow does not learn from experience, the legs are lopped off again from time to time. In some districts the cows have become too short legged to milk, and, not being beef cows, the only use for them is to train them as ferrets to chase jack rabbits out of their holes. The gingersnapper is mainly constructed from an ordinary gingersnapper with clove legs and horns attached. The head is a single peanut with pen and ink expression, and the tail is a toothpick broken here and there. The beast, however, is rather too dangerous for a house pet.

Men Are Judged By Their Banking Connection

The old proverb that "A man is judged by the company he keeps" is applicable to financial standing, as well. Nowadays, men are very largely judged by their banking connection.

A Checking Account in this bank gives you prestige and standing entirely aside from providing you with facilities for the payment of your bills. Your account, large or small is cordially invited.

"THE BANK ON THE CORNER"

Thomas St. Charles left last week for Waukesha, Wis., where he will take treatment at a hospital there.

Mrs. W. A. Loveday is expected home this week end from a two weeks visit at Lansing and Detroit.

If it hurts your eyes to look at pretty dishes—don't look in the Lumber Company's window. adv.

Heaters from $1.65 up, on easy payments at C. J. Malpass Hdwe. Co., and you can trade in your old one. adv.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hitchcock, Mrs. Josephine Vogel, and Lyle Wilson are spending the week end at Lansing and Howell.

You'll see Ann Harding in "Condemned," Sunday and Monday night, Nov. 16-17 at Temple Theatre. Do not miss it! adv.

Patrick Flannery of Montreal, Canada, was here the past week for a visit at the home of his brother, John Flannery. They have not met in 46 years.

Clarence Healey and family are moving into their new home at corner of Williams and Third streets, after making extensive improvements to the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dubas of Jordan township celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last Sunday. About 60 guests partook of a delicious dinner.

Can you match this? Six boxes of matches for .75, and with each 12 box covers returned you get four 5-cent packages of Teaberry gum. The East Jordan Lumber Co. adv.

A. K. Hill of this city, Rural Mail Carrier on East Jordan Route 4, and Mrs. Meda O. Baker of Traverse City were united in marriage Saturday, Oct. 25th, at the Congregational parsonage by Rev. D. Cochlin, at Traverse City.

Miss Marian Sedgman daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sedgman of Newberry, and Lyle Sumner, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sumner of Muskegon, were united in marriage at Muskegon latter part of October. The Sedgman and Sumner families were former East Jordan residents.

The Knights of Pythias Wednesday night voted to co-operate with the City and State in the protection of "Wild Life" along our lake in the city limits, and after partaking of a delicious oyster supper prepared by member "Jim" Williams, some twenty-odd stepped over to the new "Indoor Golf" course and spent an interesting half hour.

Ripe strawberries grown outdoors in East Jordan during November speaks well of Northern Michigan's climate. On Thursday Nov. 13th, Andrew Sackett, residing on Bowen's Addition, brought to The Herald office some ripe berries picked that morning. They were the Everbearing strain and the vines have been producing since last June.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Dunlap who recently purchased the Healey property have started some extensive landscape gardening, and plan other changes in the property which will make it one of the most attractive little homes in East Jordan. We are fortunate in the Dunlaps deciding to make East Jordan their permanent home, for they will be good "boosters."

Operation of the Ironton Ferry, which has been under control of the County Road Commission, was taken over Nov. 1st by the County Board of Supervisors. The change was in accordance with action of the Supervisors at their last meeting. Little, if any change in operation, is anticipated. Supervisors on the ferry committee are William H. Sanderson, Charles Reidel and Frank Partridge. —Petoskey News.

Ralph Larson, 13-year-old son of Mrs. Ed. Larson of this city, was badly injured about the head and face last Saturday afternoon at Central Lake. He started to cross the street and was struck by a car, which knocked him unconscious. He was taken to a physician at once and then removed to the home of Mrs. Hodge, a nurse, where he remained until Wednesday, when he was brought to his home here.

Francis Votruba had his tonsils removed by Dr. Parks at Petoskey last Friday.

GRADES

Kindergarten—We are now taking an interest in airplanes. Some of us are making monoplanes, some biplanes, and others seaplanes.

Do you know what the airplane man says when he turns the propeller? The Kindergarten children do.

First Grade—A town is now being built on our sand table.

Second Grade—One group is reading baby animal books. We are now making curtains with Thanksgiving turkeys on them. The Kindergarten, First and Second grades enjoyed a program which was held in the Kindergarten room.

Third Grade—We have turkey books for Thanksgiving and now we are making a booklet on Journeys of Health Land.

Fourth Grade—Those having 100 in spelling are: Albert Clark, Irene Brintnall, Marie Essenberg, Francis Holland, Anna Kraemer, Buddy Porter, John Pray, Betty Sturgill, Elaine Collins, Beatrice Valencourt, Melvin Gould.

The fourth graders are preparing historical stories for Thanksgiving. They are studying about the Pilgrims and are making a Pilgrim poster.

Sixth Grade—Nineteen pupils had 100 in spelling every day last week. The following had 100 in arithmetic: Ruth Hott, Henry Rinehart, Ernest

The third, fourth fifth and sixth grades had an Armistice Day assembly, Monday. Mr. Duncanson gave them a address, and Jane Davis and Lorena Brintnall gave recitations.

Nature Study

One of the sixth graders brought in a block of clay filled with mud wasps. We also have an Ichneumon fly which was found penetrating a piece of birch bark. In our collection we have a Cicropia cocoon which is unusually large. Besides these we have a large Star fish, fifteen inches in diameter, and a twig which has a double row of insect eggs one inch long.

State News in Brief

Detroit—Leo J. Fitzpatrick, manager of station WJR, has announced that an application has been filed with the federal radio commission at Washington for permission to increase the station's power from 5,000 watts to 50,000 watts.

St. Joseph—Alleging the teacher struck him with his fist before 30 students, as a reprimand, Joseph Wright, 18 years old, high school senior, filed suit for $10,000 against Ralph C. Rossman, assistant football coach, instructor in boxing and wrestling and history.

Charlotte—The body of Clarence B. Raigle, 21 years old, was found in his automobile on a road near Bennett Park. Death was caused by carbon monoxide gas fumes from an improvised heater. Officials believe the youth died while sleeping in his car. Raigle had been living in Kewanee, Ill. He had planned a visit with his parents at Charlotte.

Port Huron—Eight children who attend the Roosevelt school narrowly escaped serious injuries when an automobile driven by Mrs. Herbert Parrott, in which they were riding, struck a truck driven by John Andrew and went over the curb and struck a tree. All of the children suffered minor injuries, four being given first aid and the rest taken to the Port Huron hospital for treatment.

Lansing—Voters, in the recent election, decisively defeated the proposed constitutional amendment which would have given Wayne and other populous counties representation in the Legislature proportionate to their population. The cigaret tax law, initiated by Gov. Green to relieve the tax burden of real estate was condemned by the voters more than two to one.

Pontiac—If the "wages of sin are death," 10 members of the congregation of the Central Methodist church hope that one sinner does not go unpaid. He is the person who entered the vestibule of the church during services and left with 10 overcoats. The members shivered and shook their way into the police station and two detectives were assigned to the task of seeking the culprit.

Lansing—Establishment of a bean inspection and standardization office here has been announced by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics at Washington. The Lansing office is created in response to a growing demand by Michigan producers for Federal inspection and certification of the state's bean crop. Inspections, for the present, will be made at Lansing and nearby points, but the service is to be extended to other shipping points in the state as the demand develops.

Portland—Through the heroism and presence of mind of their mother, four children were saved from their burning home. Addy Halford had left for his work at a gasoline station and Mrs. Halford, leaving her four children asleep in bed, had started to visit a neighbor next door when she discovered the top of the house in flames. She ran back into the house, that was rapidly filling with smoke and fire, awoke the children and carried them outside just as the roof fell in.

Big Rapids—When the automobile in which he was riding side-swiped a wagon, Frank S. Chesley, Grand Rapids automobile dealer and a partner in an accounting firm, was injured fatally. The wagon, driven by Carl Stephan, of Reed City, was without lights, officials reported. Chesley died of a skull fracture soon after being admitted to a hospital. His companion, the driver of the car, A. R. Donaldson, also of Grand Rapids, was hurt slightly.

Port Huron—The St. Clair county board of supervisors has authorized funds to equip the St. Clair county jail and the sheriff's department cars with radio receivers. Anticipating such action the sheriff had already commenced the erection of aerials on the roof of the county jail. An arrangement between the sheriff's office and the telephone company also has been made for fast telephone communication between the state police headquarters at Lansing and the office here.

East Lansing—Extension of programs from station WKAR, Michigan State College, East Lansing, to include a morning and afternoon broadcast of interest both to farmers and city dwellers, with material presented by members of the college faculty, is announced. The two special programs will be in addition to the regular noon broadcast which features short talks of interest particularly to farmer. Station WKAR operates on a frequency of 1,040 kilocycles and a wave length of 288.3 meters.

Lansing—Michigan stood firmly Republican again in the recent election with all of the party's state and congressional ticket victorious by decisive margins in an election marked by a demonstration of superiority in rural over urban voting strength. It was the rural vote that gave the Republican ticket its huge majority, United States Senator James Couzens whipping over Thomas E. Weadock by nearly 400,000, and Attorney General Wilber M. Brucker defeating William A. Comstock for the governorship by more than 110,000.

Canals

There are about 24,000 miles of canals for navigation in the world, of which 18,300 are in Europe. The first canal was built about 1000 B. C. The first canal in America was the Erie canal across New York state, begun in 1817 and completed in 1825. Several others followed although some are little used today.

GOOD NEWS TRAVELS FAST!

BAD NEWS used to have the reputation for speed. But such is the demand for the good things of life today that good news travels even faster.

The carriers of many of the good tidings that every one is eager to hear are right before you. They are the advertisements in this newspaper. They bring good news about soap and cereals, sedans and cigarettes. Good news for the housewife. Good news for the business man. Good news for every one who believes in comfort and happiness.

Let an automobile maker in Detroit or an orange grower in Florida develop a finer product. You will hear about it—not in a couple of years, not just 'some time.' The whole new story will be rushed to you on the wings of the greatest good-news service in the world—advertising.

Advertisements are filled with the kind of good words you like to find. They tell you of new products, new improvements in well-known merchandise, new values and new ways to increase your well-being. And always they tell you not only where and how to purchase goods of assured merit, but also the way to be certain of obtaining 100 cents' worth of value for every dollar you spend. Read them—and get their good news regularly!
