EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1931.

NUMBER 10

SMELT RUN HAS STARTED ON DEER CREEK

Those who have been keeping watch for the run of smelt at the head of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix and up into Deer Creek were rewarded Wednesday night by the sight of the start of the run.

Thursday night quite a large crowd of enthusiasts were on the scene and were rewarded by a liberal run of the fish. Many secured more than enough for their own use and passed them on to friends. Leslie Miles secured upward of 500.

"SOILS MANAGEMENT" SPECIAL TO VISIT CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

As a conclusion to a six weeks' campaign emphasizing the value of Lime and Fertilizer in any program of Soils Rehabilitation for Western Michigan, the Soils Department of the Michigan State College co-operating with the County Agricultural Agent in each county is fostering the operation of a "Soils Management" Special over the Grand Rapids Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, April 17th to May 2nd.

All matters of detail have not been entirely worked out, but plans call for all day stops at nearly every place. The forenoon will be spent in analyzing soil samples for Calcium content, soils for acidity and phosphate availability, and the asking of definite recommendations for that particular type of soil and the farm from which it came.

The afternoon program will take the form of a conference attended by specially appointed delegates meeting in an attempt to determine the greatest factor affecting soil fertility in the community they represent and what should be done in an attempt to improve the condition. Following is the schedule for the immediate vicinity, and all meetings will start at 9:00 a. m., and close at 4:00 p. m., central standard time.

The End of the 71st Congress

An Article On Capital Punishment

A GOOD ARGUMENT, WHETHER OR NOT YOU AGREE.

A friend of The Herald handed in the following article the past week. As it looks now, this proposition will be presented to the voter's decision at the general spring election, April 6th. The Herald takes no position at this time as to the merits or demerits of the proposed new legislation. We are simply re-publishing this for our reader's consideration.—Ed.

Rep. Charles Reed of Clio has answered the questionnaire sent by the American League to Abolish Capital Punishment in its poll of legislative sentiment. Says he without hesitation:

"I am opposed to one form of capital punishment—that which has been inflicted without cause and without trial upon some five or six hundred worthy citizens of Michigan within the past year by conscienceless murderers. I do not know the number of these executions in the United States but I think the assumption reasonable that it may reach ten thousand.

"Among these victims were women with babes at their breasts, gray haired mothers who had given their lives to loving service, beautiful girls who died in a fruitless effort to preserve their purity, fathers with families of little children dependent upon them, even babes who were butchered to satisfy the hellish lust of some beast in human form. I am entirely opposed to that kind of capital punishment and I am sorry to say that I have yet to learn of a national organization with illustrious names upon its roster which is engaged in a serious effort to abolish it. Strangely enough as it seems to me, our sympathy and effort are all directed to the tried and convicted executioner.

"You speak of the deterrent effect of capital punishment. I believe it has a distinctly deterrent effect. If the effect of punishment is not deterrent why punish at all? Why not sentence the red handed murderer to three months at the Ritz-Carlton instead of ten years in Sing-Sing? I must admit that I think the deterrent effect would be more marked if the punishment had a more consistent application. By the same token it would have a wider application were it not for a comparatively few rascally lawyers who employ their talents to strip the protective force of the law from the people who clothed them with the advantages they now enjoy.

"But let me be frank. From the standpoint of primitive justice alone, from the standpoint of fitting the punishment to the offense, if I could have my way in the State of Michigan, I would kill the wilful and malicious killers."

ORCHARD BAY FARM ENTERS STATEWIDE SHEEP CONTEST

Charlevoix County's leading sheep ranch will compete for State honors this year in competition with some 150 sheep owners from all sections of the State.

The object of the contest is to locate the most efficient sheep raiser and to demonstrate the most effective methods of breeding, feeding and management. Any sheep raiser having at least twenty or more ewes lambing within the period from Feb. 1st to May 31st, is eligible to compete. All ewes must be sired by a purebred ram or one that can be proven to be purebred. The exact birth of lambs must be recorded. They must be docked and castrated. The feeding program must be outlined and weights fed recorded. The awards are based on the average number of pounds of lamb produced per ewe. They are weighed in when they average 135 days in age.

This contest was won last year by a sheep breeder in Alcona County by the name of Port Caville. Of 53 lambs dropped 51 were raised. He had a 156% lamb crop and each lamb weighed 94.5 pounds at 135 days of age. Including the number of twins each ewe in his flock produced 145.91 pounds of lamb.

There is no cost in entering this contest and it is hoped that several more Charlevoix County sheep raisers will compete for State recognition. Over $300 in prize money will be awarded the ten highest records. Just send in your name and address and your County Agent will be only too glad to furnish further information and details of the contest. Come on, try your luck.

They Wouldn't Let Him Quit Banking

W. N. Weeks of Augusta, Ga., president of the Weeks Banking company, wants to get out of the banking business and become a grocer, but his depositors won't let him do so. All of them refuse to withdraw their funds from his bank, behaving like Miss Lucille Kneeland, who is seen above declining to receive her deposit from Mr. Weeks.

OVER EIGHTY K. P.'S HERE WEDNESDAY

The Central Lake and Charlevoix Knights of Pythias arrived Wednesday afternoon to join with the South Lake Lodge of East Jordan in one of their big annual dinners and conventions. The Knight's degree was conferred on William Shepard of East Jordan and Elmer Hawley of Central Lake, using the new ritual and Pluto scene for the first time.

The local Knights of Pythias degree team made a fine impression on the visiting brothers. The local team was in charge of Ira Bartlett, ably assisted by C. F. Snelberger, Nell Bowen, Joe Evans, Jim Williams, William Sloan and others.

The above lodges are enthusiastic organizations and a mutual good time is had at least twice in each place during the year.

Over eighty plates were laid for the 6:30 banquet, followed by a social time.

The Central Lake lodge challenged the ten best East Jordan and Charlevoix cribbage players to meet twenty of their stars a week from Tuesday night. All other members are invited. This usually means a big steak supper—that is a steak supper.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Beal was celebrated at their home in Pleasant Valley, Echo Township, Antrim Co., Monday evening, March 2nd.

Following an old-time "chat" which lasted two hours, Rev. Baker of Bellaire re-read the marriage service. Mr. and Mrs. Beal gave an interesting talk on their early marriage days. Some of the remarks were as follows:

After being married in Traverse City, March 2, 1881 they started on their honeymoon south. On returning Mr. Beal built their little log home by the lake. A few years later their son, Pearl came. Their home was wrecked by a severe wind storm. They soon built another house near there, but it wasn't considered a real home by them. While they lived in this house their daughter, now Mrs. Dingman of Bellaire, arrived to keep company with her brother.

Trials, of course, had to come. One big one was the California fever. Many of their friends were moving West. They were tempted but Mrs. Beal said "stay," so stay it was. They later moved to a real home in which they still live. Living there during most of their married life they have very many friends in that region. They came Monday night from Mancelona, Bellaire, Central Lake, and friends of the neighborhood. There were about 100 present.

Greetings were sent from one of their friends that got the California "fever" and moved west. The program was closed with the song, "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver," sung by their granddaughter, Miss Aves Dingman of Bellaire.

A pot luck supper was served, followed by a long visit. Everyone left wishing them fifty more years of married happiness.

K. P. TEAM DRUBS AM. LEGION

While Masons Are Playing Santa to the Men of Iron.

Realizing that if they won from the Foundry that the flag would be cinched and all interest in the baseball race would wane, the "Old Men of the Masons" proceeded to hand out a few Xmas presents and permitted the Malpassites to give them a real trimming to the tune of 21-14.

When the smoke of the battle had cleared away and the spectators realized that the core-workers had risen to the height of their ambition—pandemonium broke loose. "Get your baskets" some one shouted. As yet no one has been able to find out just who tongued such a mean phrase, but by the process of Reductio ad Absurdum it is thought to have been either Mrs. "Red" Griffin or Mrs. Frank Woodcock. Truly it was worth the price.

In the second affair the Athletics defeated the American Legionnaires by virtue of their superior hitting. Next Monday night the K. P.'s play the Foundry and the Masons the American Legion.

DARING CAPERS

IN "FEET FIRST"

Harold Lloyd has accomplished what he set out to do! In "Feet First," his laugh-a-minute, thrill-a-second comedy which will be shown at the Temple Theatre, East Jordan, Thursday and Friday, March 12 and 13th, he has surpassed the thrills of "Safety Last," the all-time criterion for fair-raising moving pictures. This time Lloyd has done it in talking pictures. He has made an all-dialog film that's action from start to finish with no time out for conversation.

"Feet First" is a joyous romance filled with convulsing Lloyd gags, according to West Coast critics who have viewed first rushes of the picture. Lloyd, as an ambitious but blundering shoe clerk, falls in love with Barbara Kent, social secretary to his wealthy employer's wife, and, mistaking her for a fashionable heiress, he turns himself inside out to reach a social plane which will permit him to make love to her.

His ambitious social climb carries him to the top of an unfinished skyscraper, projects him from a sky-lofty window, makes him a stowaway on an ocean-going liner, and, generally, provides him with enough dare-devil comedy situations to keep young and old laughing continuously during the progress of the story.

The Spring Trotteur

The spring trotteur is a one-piece frock, preferably done in tweeds. The dress in the picture is of green and white mixture, with touches of white plique at the neckline and cuffs.

Tramp: Have you a piece of cake, lady, to give a poor man who hasn't had a bite for two days?

"Cake? Isn't bread good enough for you?"
Tramp: Ordinarily, yes, ma'am, but this is my birthday.

CHARLEVOIX H. S.

DEFEATS LOCALS
BY 23-12 SCORE

Handicapped by the loss of William Halstad, Clifford Dennis and Walter Ellis; the local High School court team did well at Charlevoix. Charlevoix was but two points ahead four minutes before the end of the game. Up to that time it was a nip and tuck affair. East Jordan playing them to a stand still. With the full team in there, there isn't much question in the mind of local fans that they would have taken Charlevoix into camp.

The all-round star of the game was Arne Hegerberg. Arne is a good basketball player and keeps in A-1 condition. A great deal is expected of him. He comes through. Arne made twelve points—the total number scored by East Jordan. This is a unique record. George Sherman played an outstanding game. George never lets up one minute. You can bank on him and he also is a first rate trainer.

If the East Jordan lads keep themselves in the best condition for the Tournament, they should make any Class C team in the north hustle from whistle to whistle. Ance, Center for Charlevoix was the stellar performer for the resort town team. Novak of course is always a strong player. The spurt at the end of the game, after a change in the line-up for East Jordan seemed to turn the tide entirely Charlevoix's way and though it looks like a one-sided game, it was a warm one throughout. Much more so than the score would indicate.

The next game is Friday afternoon against the game team at Boyne City. Should East Jordan win this game it puts them immediately into the Petoskey Regional Tournament where, if as suggested above, the boys do first rate job with training it would be worth while seeing them play.

THE STORY

ABOUT THE BEARS

"ONE of my babies is with me," said Mother Black Bear to Billie Brownie, who had gone to call on her in the heart of the great mountain forests.

"The other two are at yonder camp," she said.

"You know that the most seasoned and fearless hunter will tremble if he even imagines a mother grizzly with her young is nearby.

"A mother grizzly is so devoted to her young, so intense in her desire to protect, that any mother grizzly is dangerous because she looks upon all men as enemies of her children.

"I Shall Tell My Friends What You Say," Said Billie Brownie.

"With us it is quite different. Often campers will capture some of our young to amuse and entertain them throughout the summer.

"There is nothing quite so cunning as a bear cub, nor so amusing and appealing and funny, and jolly.

"Of course at times a bear cub is cross, but he is cunning even then.

"My two were captured when I was driven up a tree by a dog belonging to yonder campers. I had, as I've told you, three little ones, two black and one brown.

"They left one of the black ones with me, this one you see.

"Throughout the season they played and frisked about and were left off their leashes to go up the trees for naps.

"Then the campers would go up after them and they'd come hurrying down like naughty children who know they have stayed out too long.

"Every evening I went to the camp, and my little one, just to see that all was well.

"I would not venture too near. I was afraid of that dog. Naturally I would be.

"And I haven't been able to get over that fear.

"But I liked to see that all was going well and to keep a mother bear's eye on my young.

"I can't fight as a grizzly with a grim, relentless, fierce power.

"I am the kind of a mother bear that I am.

"But I am looking after the baby I have with me—really, he is no longer a baby.

"You will see if you stay around long enough that he grows, and grows.

"In fact, it is lucky that his skin and fur grows, too, so that he is always well covered, as, if it weren't for that, I don't know how I'd keep him in clothes—he grows so.

"I've heard campers saying that their children just grew out of their clothes, and it was so hard to keep getting them new things.

"That I can well understand. But they should have bear ways.

"When our children grow in size their coats grow with them.

"Surely that is sensible. In fact, animals have many sensible ways which people have not."

"That is true," Billie Brownie said.

"I shall tell my friends what you say. I feel that they will agree with you.

"And I think, too, they will agree that a little bear cub is about the dearest little thing in the world."

Billie Brownie hadn't long to stay. He had many engagements to keep, but he promised Mother Black Bear that he would be back again and see how her children grew.

"They grow right before your very eyes," said Mother Black Bear.

But, as Billie Brownie went off, he said to himself:

"Mother Grizzly is a dangerous lady, but she loves her children more than Mother Black Bear does—that is certain."

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

TO MAKE BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW

FOR several thousand years this phrase has been used in a great many languages and always in the same sense—that of undertaking a task which is either impossible or, one which is rendered difficult in the extreme because of the failure to be supplied with some material or aid that is vital to the accomplishment of the matter in hand.

As many of our readers may be aware, this line, like many others in daily use, comes to us from the Bible.

We have it from the book of Exodus, in which is described in detail the trials and tribulations of the Israelites during their enslavement by the Egyptians, one of which was the burden imposed upon them of making bricks without straw.

This, incidentally, was the straw which, figuratively speaking, broke the camel's back and which led to the infliction upon the Egyptians of the series of plagues, culminating in the long trek of the Israelites to the Promised Land and the decline and fall of the empire of the pharaohs.

DAIRY

MILK PRODUCTION MOST IMPORTANT

Poor Economy to Substitute Feed for Shelter.

Feed given the dairy cow should be used for milk production and body maintenance rather than as a substitute for proper housing.

"When cows are unduly exposed to bad weather, a large part of their ration is used to keep their bodies warm, leaving only a small portion for milk production," asserts John A. Aray, dairy extension specialist at the North Carolina State college. "Every effort should be made to keep the cows comfortable during the disagreeable periods. If this is not done, profits will be reduced. It is poor economy to substitute feed for shelter at any time."

Aray believes the cow stall should be well lighted, nicely bedded and properly ventilated but free from air currents. He says he has seen many cow barns and sheds in the state of such poor construction that they afford little protection against the cold winter wind. The sides of the barn or shelter should be made tight with the air being admitted through properly located windows.

The practice also of requiring cows to wade through mud and ice to secure drinking water is expensive. This kind of exposure chills the cow's body and prevents her from drinking the amount of water needed for good milk production. A cow weighing from 800 to 900 pounds and producing about 30 pounds of milk a day needs from 80 to 90 pounds of water each day. She will not drink this amount unless it is convenient and of medium temperature, says Mr. Aray.

Practical Dairyman Is Admirer of Modern Barn

The modern dairy barn is so far removed almost from the old cow stable in use a third of a century ago as its mechanical power from that furnished by a yoke of oxen in pioneer days. A well ventilated, well lighted barn equipped with a concrete floor, adjustable stalls that can easily be kept clean and in strictly sanitary condition, truly is an inspiration to the practical dairyman. With proper ventilation, not only can the foul air be removed, but also the excess moisture that used to accumulate in the old stables. This means better herd health and more economical use of feed by the cows. Plenty of sunshine and fresh pure air are two of the most important factors not only for the health of the cow, but also for the conversion by her of feed into milk and butterfat.

Colostrum Is Helpful to Newborn Calves

A new-born calf should always be given the opportunity to suck its dam at least once so as to get the colostrum which nature has especially prepared for it. This colostrum is laxative in character and also contains some stimulating products which help to start the digestive system into activity. If for any reason it is impossible to give the colostrum to the calf, it should be given one ounce of castor oil shortly after birth and before it is given any food. After that the calf may be given milk from any cow if the mother's milk is not available.

Give Cows Free Access to Water to Help Yield

Giving cows free access to water any time they want it, increased milk yield 6 per cent and the butter yield 12 per cent. Cows which had access to water took a drink an average of 10.3 times in each 24 hours and drank over 18 per cent more water than cows which were fed exactly the same but watered outside. These are the results of tests conducted by C. Y. Cannon of Iowa State college. They indicate that there are thousands of dairymen who could greatly increase their profits by using drinking cups.

Dairy Facts

Water is the cheapest and one of the most important dairy feeds. If we can class it as a feed.

When several small calves are kept together small stanchions are a great convenience at feeding time.

Where skim milk is left on the farm the raising of calves is comparatively simple if supplemental feeds are used.

About 87 per cent of milk is water. For plenty of milk, don't forget to give the cow all the water she cares to drink.

Cows give more milk if milked three times a day instead of twice. In observed cases the increase has been from 10 to 25 per cent.

The life of an average woven wire fence when posts are replaced and the fence is restretched, is 18 to 27 years, according to estimates made by 146 Iowa farmers.

Mystic Orders Banned by Rulers in China

Shanghai.—"Superstitions and unlawful organizations" of Chinese farmers and peasants have come under ban of the national government.

Such organizations include those for the purpose of making periodical sacrifices to the spirits and the Red and White Spear societies.

While the religious and superstitious groups are not for the most part harmful the Red Spear organizations in particular have developed into close knit peasant militia at some points and the government finds them hard to control.

The government announcement says that secret organizations have been taken advantage of "by persons with ulterior motives who utilize them to further their own sinister ends."

Find Gold Nugget in California Hen's Claw

Los Angeles.—Somewhere nearby a rancher is raising chickens on feed worth its weight in gold—whether he knows it or not.

For Donie Kuykendall of this city while dressing a chicken found a nugget of gold in its claw.

The fowl came from a meat store on San Francisco road. The nugget was nearly as large as a pea, according to Kuykendall.

Cat Came 600 Miles

Pittsburgh, Calif.—Tony Melrose banished his cat, Peggy, to Eugene, Ore., when she developed a fondness for canaries, but the other day Peggy came wandering home, having made the 600-mile journey from Eugene here by foot. The feat is considered a remarkable one as a mountain range lies between Pittsburgh and the Oregon city.

SCANDAL OF GREINA GREEN STIRS CLERGY

Abuse of Scottish Marriage Law Grows Apace.

Glasgow, Scotland.—The generation-old controversy that has centered about marriages at Greina Green is again engaging the attention of the Scottish ministers and authorities. It seems that there is little they can do about a situation that is now widely referred to as "the scandal of Greina Green."

Figures show that there are more marriages performed at Greina Green at the present time than in the old days of high romance.

Scottish Law of Greina Green.

According to Scottish law any couple may be married at Greina with or without the consent of their parents and whether or not they are minors. One of the parties is required to have lived in Scotland for at least three weeks before the wedding, but inasmuch as a statement of residence signed by a witness is the only proof required, it is not difficult to circumvent that requirement. Then, unless the marriage is registered, it is no marriage at all. It may be repudiated at any time and in point of fact, after the expiration of the three months registration period, might just as well not have taken place so far as the authorities are concerned.

Few bother about registrations. Time was when a marriage at Greina was looked upon by the parties to it as a tie as binding as an English ceremony. But today the knots tied there are slip knots. Out of 260 marriages performed in the early part of this year only 44 were registered.

Denounced by Clergy.

Out of 275 marriages performed in 1928 only 18 were registered. The Scotch clergy have stigmatized the practice as a "commercialized traffic designated to make life easy for the bigamist and the man who wishes to decoy a girl into a spurious marriage." But Greina's customs and sanctions remain unchanged.

Greina Green has been a flourishing center for hasty nuptials since 1754, when an act was passed by parliament preventing clandestine marriages in England. Being just over the border from England, in Dumfriesshire, Scotland, Greina's bureaus for marrying eloping English girls and boys began to do a heavier business immediately. The poor and the rich, high and low, bent their steps toward the little village across the Sark. According to Scotch law, any one might officiate at the ceremony so long as he swore that he had witnessed the mutual pledges of fidelity, between the prospective bride and groom.

Romance still clings to Greina and because of it many couples are attracted there annually. But the commercialized aspects of its activities are serving to bring the village into bad repute, and the unhappiness that comes to hundreds of young English girls yearly because of the looseness of this state sponsored system is stirring up a controversy beside which the companionate marriage controversy seems parvenu and puny.

Cuban Army Officer Perfects New Air Bomb

Havana.—A new type of bomb for airplanes, invented by Lieut. Florindo Fernandez Preto, explosive expert of the Cuban army, uses a novel explosive compound may up of chlorate of potash and sugar. The bomb is the result of more than two years of experimenting. It weighs 18 pounds, of which 3 are the explosive charge. Recent tests made by one of the army planes at an altitude of 1,500 feet resulted in ripping the center of the ground target 4 feet in diameter and 1 foot deep.

Cranes in Denmark Carry Own Songbirds

Copenhagen.—Cranes in Denmark are so musical that they carry their songbirds with them when they fly. The Berlingske Tidene reports that one of its sharp-eyed ornithologists turned his field glasses skyward the other day and saw a flock of eight road cranes carrying several wagtails on their backs as they flew. The wagtails soared off from time to time, just to keep their wings limbered up, but always returned to their "private passenger planes" before they could get out of range.

Has Quake a Day

Innsbruck, Austria.—For some time a mysterious earthquake near Reutte has been shaking the ground three or four times a day.

Famous Lion Dead

London.—"Toto," famous lion at the zoo, who could be petted by visitors, is dead.

Loom 300 Years Old Is Still in Service

Pomeroy, Ohio.—A loom, relic of pioneer days, said to be almost three hundred years old, is still being used by Mrs. Henry Seldenable, sixty, of Pomeroy. She has used it nearly all her life for weaving fine linens and still prefers it to the patented looms of modern make. The loom was originally from Rutland township, near here.

It is a glorious privilege to live, to know, to act, to listen, to behold, to love. To look up at the blue summer sky; to see the sun sink slowly beyond the line of the horizon; to watch the worlds come twinkling into view, first one by one, and the myriads that no man can count, and let the universe be white with them; and you and I are here.—Marco Morow.

OLD FRENCH FAVORITES

FRENCH cooking has in times past been considered the sine qua non of that art. However, America is beginning to notice that our cooking is quite excellent, and worth talking about. We must give the French cooks the honor due them in being masters of economy, something in this country we have yet to learn. The business of the French cook is to extract the utmost possibility from every article of food on the menu, and then present it in the most attractive form. A worthwhile business for every cook to master.

At Marseilles where the following dish is to be had in perfection, several sorts of fish are used, all of the more delicate varieties. With us any of the fine-grained fish will answer, as well as cod or mackerel.

Bouillabaisse a La Provencale.
Take three pounds of fish, mince two onions, and one parsnip and cook in oil until light brown. Add two large tomatoes, a clove of garlic, the juice of a lemon, one-half teaspoonful of powdered saffron, some sprigs of parsley and a bay leaf. Add one quart of water and a cupful of white grape juice, cover closely and cook 20 minutes. This is usually served all together in a soup tureen, with sliced toasted bread placed in the bottom of the tureen.

Burgundian Pate.

For this dish the breast of two chickens will be required. Pound them to a paste. Add one cupful of fresh bread crumbs well mixed with half a cupful of melted butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne and five well-beaten eggs. Cook six livers and six gizzards until tender, in chicken stock, add a cupful of chopped cooked ham and one cupful of mushrooms. Cook all a few minutes, then cool. Line a pate mold with puff paste, fill with the mixture, cover with an ornamental top of pastry and bake in a moderate oven. Cover with paper, if the pate seems to be browning too fast. Pour in a little stock through the opening in the lid. Serve hot or cold.

GOSSIP

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I'VE heard it said that some one said that some one said to him—
But as to who or when or where my memory is dim—
That somewhere else some other time—
—it's true as like as not—
Back East, out West, or somewhere—he a reputation got
For—well, for something that was wrong—I don't remember what.

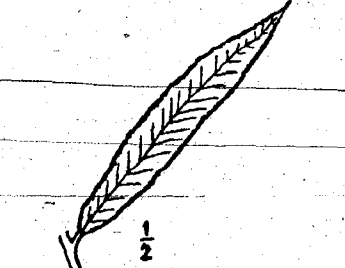

They say some fellow sued him—no, he sued some other man—I don't know what it was about or how it all began—
But, anyway, some things came out that sounded pretty bad
Concerning him, concerning what he tried to do, or had—
If I had heard particulars to tell you I'd be glad.

I'm not a man who likes to knock, or gossip to relate,
But I have heard that some one said he wasn't really straight.
I don't know what it was he did, or what the records show.
When he was sued—or started suit—
—back somewhere long ago—
I don't know what they said he did—but probably it's so.

KNOWING THE TREES

WEEPING WILLOW

(Salix Babylónica)
The weeping willow is a large, gracefully drooping tree with light, soft wood. The bark is dark gray and rough. The leaves are long, narrow, and taper to a sharp point.
While the weeping willow is not subject to many important diseases, there are a few leaf diseases which may cause defoliation. However, the mottled willow borer frequently causes serious injury to the trunks and branches.

The weeping willow has little commercial value, but is cultivated extensively as an ornamental tree. It can easily be distinguished by its drooping branches.

Through a Woman's Eyes

IS BEAUTY ENOUGH?

I HAVE two letters asking my opinion on beauty contests. I am going to quote for you, first, what the famous British artist, C. R. W. Nevinson, who has served as a judge in such contests, has to say:

"I believe that these beauty competitions originated with the real estate agents of America, who used the female of some small town to boost the female of some smaller town, and so advertised the locality in which they intended to speculate. These beauty competitions are indirectly encouraging unfortunate women to imagine that beauty is sufficient, in spite of the fact that every day we have proofs that any woman who dares to face the mad scramble in any form of public life must be equipped with a brain as sharp as a needle, a ruthless opportunism and a skin as thick as a rhinoceros."

"The Mohammedans are possibly kinder to women than we are. They prevent this natural and adolescent mania for self-exhibition, by compelling their women to hide themselves behind a veil."

From which we gather that Mr. Nevinson does not approve of beauty competitions. And while I do not agree with him that Mohammedan women are better off than we, I do believe that he has hit at the crux of the matter when he points out the danger of leading girls to believe that beauty is all-sufficient.

Since beauty, even in its day, is not sufficient without such qualities as intelligence, wit, a sense of humor, interest in things, and some individuality of personality, how leaky a bark it must prove to the girl who wants to set out in it without equipment, on the sea of life. For whatever the degree of beauty with which we may be gifted, there is one phase of it that is universal and indisputable. And that is its transiency.

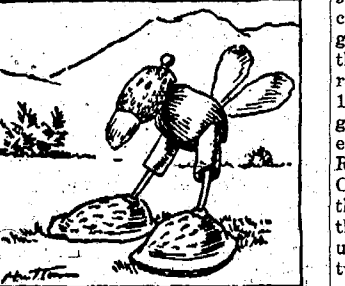

Beauty fades—inevitably. The years which enrich other qualities take constant toll from this gift which they must inevitably impoverish and destroy. Therefore it is wise for a girl not to overestimate its powers or exaggerate its importance to the point of overlooking the cultivation of deeper and more permanent qualities.

THE HIGHLAND HOOT-MONGOOSE

THIS curious creature can be heard hooting during the evening in the mountainous regions of Scotland. The young hootmongoose is born with these trousers, so is not forced to wear kilts like the Scotchmen whose feet are too big to go through trouser legs. The hootmongoose goes hunting for the Farthing, the Scottish pest, with untiring zeal. When a Farthing is cornered, the hootmongoose strangles it and puts it in its hip pocket. Dead hootmongooses have been found with as many as 900 Farthings in their hip pockets. Here is a young one out on his first Farthing hunt.

FOREIGN MAGAZINES

THERE is always something interesting about periodicals published for women from foreign countries—whether you can read the language in which they are written or not. If you have just the usual reading knowledge of French—one of the most agreeable ways of improving it is to subscribe to one of the inexpensive weeklies or monthly magazines published for women in Paris, and then to make a practice of reading it through. Words that are unfamiliar to you are often explained by the illustrations or by the context.

In reading women's magazines from other countries one is always impressed by their likeness in some respects to similar publications in this country, and just as much impressed by their difference in other respects.

FARM ACCOUNT RECORDS BEING CLOSED THIS WEEK

Mr. H. A. Berg, in charge of Farm Management Extension Work of the Michigan State College, is in the County this week inspecting the farm records of some 38 different farmers who have kept accurate farm records during the past year. This work is gaining in popularity each year and for the new year starting March 1st over fifty farmers in the County will know more about their farm situation. Two years ago 25 records were completed for the year, last year 38, and for the new year I believe there will be at least 45.

This project is carried on in a real businesslike manner. The work is first carefully outlined, second, each co-operator is visited on his own farm once during the year by Mr. Berg, and third, each book is carefully checked when closed. This means that our farms are placed on the same uniform base and therefore the comparison between farms are on the same scale.

It is not too late for farmers who would like to know what they are doing, to enroll for the year. While March 1st is the opening date, during any time within two or three weeks of that date the records can be accurately placed in the book. Phone or write your County Agent if interested.

B. C. MELLENCAMP, County Agr'l Agent.

The Life of Eli Root, by Helen Bayliss and Carl Umior.

The Life of Theodore Roosevelt, by Gwendolyn Malpass and Roy Gunderson.

The Life of William Bryant, by Christine DeMaio and Ozello Scofield.

SPORTS

Friday, Feb'y 27th was the last Basketball game of the season at Charlevoix.

Our boys played their very best at Charlevoix and until the last quarter were ahead. Then Charlevoix aroused their spirit and gained upon us and when the whistle blew the score was 23-13. The boys fought hard right to the end.

The second team showed some skill and they did some real fighting at Charlevoix last Friday and won.

The boys have been saying they will win at the Tournament in Boyne City this week end. We all hope it holds true. The students and faculty are behind the team.

"Come On, Let's Win the Tournament." Rah! Rah! Rah!

MATHEMATICS

The Algebra classes are taking up factoring, and have studied the removal of parenthesis. Some seem to enjoy it and get pretty good marks.

The students in Geometry are making notebooks which have drawings of all the prepositions they study. We find some to be real neat drawers.

ECONOMICS

The Economics class had rather a vacation Friday and Monday on account of the absence of Mr. Snelberger. They are studying "Marginal Utility," and business corporations and uses of schedules and graphs.

—Eloise Davis

CAN YOU IMAGINE?

Jack Bowman being in a hurry?

Could Pinney without his alibi?

Edward Bishaw without his hands?

James Lilak without Albert Petus and Cecil Hitchcock to "chin" away some time during 6th and 7th periods?

Milton Brooks actually working?

MANUAL ARTS

Because Gould Pinney wanted to be adjusted once and for all times to his piano while doing such 'extensive' practicing, he has decided to make a piano bench. The piano bench is to be made of white oak, carefully patterned after a unique design.

HOME ECONOMICS DEP'T.

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade girls are now very busy engaged in studying suitable breakfast menus. They are much interested in preparing and trying out new receipts.

Freshmen

Having completed the study of furnishing their bed rooms, the 9th grade girls have now started clothing work. First they had to learn how to use the sewing machines. Next how to cut simple patterns and use commercial patterns. The girls are all doing very good work and some of them have finished their first garment already.

Sophomores

The tenth grade girls have finished a study of the exterior of their homes and how to make the surroundings more interesting and attractive by correct placing and use of flowers, shrubs and trees. Mr. Eggert gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the simple rules of landscaping.

Now the girls are starting Child study work and at present are observing children and reading to learn the best methods of helping children to develop normally.

ENGLISH

For the last few days the first year English class have been studying the life of Sir Walter Scott. Now they are prepared to read the "Lady of the Lake," written by him. They think they will find it very interesting. We hear them say, "The title sounds good."

Papers! Papers!

The third year English class have been writing papers similar to the Decoverley papers. Miss Perkins found the papers very interesting.

Selections! Selections!

The fourth year English class have been reading selections by Arnold and other authors of that time. There has also been some studies written analyzing the style of different authors.

PRAISE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Should one be praised for doing things well? The Good Book does not seem to encourage it always. The man who has kept the entire law has done only what was his duty to do, and so is entitled to no particular commendation, we are told. Why should a man be praised for doing what he ought to be expected to do?

However that may be, I have always enjoyed a little praise when I have done something difficult or well. It stimulates me to greater effort; it kindles my imagination, and often makes it possible for me to do something even better than I had done the first time.

Praise does not always act as a stimulant, however. I recall two brothers whom I once had in class when I was trying to teach English composition. They were both red-headed and both lazy and temperamental. If Walter did something good and you told him about it, he would break his neck to do better. Not so with George. If he were praised he preened his feathers, as it were, and sat contentedly and lazily in the sun. Praise stagnated him. If he were his good as I had said, he saw no reason for being any better. It made him self-satisfied.

The effect of praise often depends upon the source from which it comes, and the intregency with which it is given.

It is said of G. F. Swift, the former head of the great packing establishment of Swift & Co., that he never praised anyone. He held that praise weakened a man, inhibited his ambition and set for him the ultimate aim of his effort. He rewarded successful effort by promotions or raises in salary, but he seldom if ever told a man in so many words that he had done any piece of outstanding work.

He held that praise tended to make a man self-satisfied, it led to an overestimate of his worth, and slowed him down in his efforts. When he thought a man had stuff and possibilities in him, he called him into the office and pointed out to him his faults.

Maybe that's the best way to stimulate a man, but I like a little praise once in a while.

Salt

While at one time most salt came from the evaporation of sea water, today most of it is mined as rock salt. The United States and Canada have large deposits, the former notably in Michigan, New York, Ohio, and Kansas. Even though about three-eighths of a pound of salt is in each gallon of sea water, the mined product has economic advantages.
